Red River Water Quality Control Study Lists Two Area Dam Sites

The Arkansas-Red River Basin Water Quality Control Study, Part II, authorized by Congress in the Flood Control Act of 1970, Public Law 91-611, has been released by the Dept. of the Army Tulsa District, Corps of Engineers. The Study Contains a detailed plan for activities in this area.

The Red River Basin projects cover five areas of brine (salt) concentration. Plans call for these five concentrations to be controlled by various means, the study shows. The five include:

1. A subsurface collection system with a pipeline and brine lake to be built along the Elm Fork of the Red River, in Oklahoma.
2. A subsurface collection system with a pipeline and brine lake to be built on the North Pease River and Middle Pease River tributaries of the Red River, south of Childress and between Quanah and Crowell.
3. Subsurface collection systems with a pipeline and brine lake to be built on Jonah Creek arms of Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River, east of Memphis and east of Estelline.
4. A brine lake to be constructed on the Little Red River to impound salt brine in the upper reaches of the river, north and east of Turkey.

The projects are designed to control a maximum of natural salt solution of the Red River tributaries while minimizing the loss of fresh water. Col. Vernon Pinkney, Dist. Engineer, said.

Approximately 23,000 acres of land will be needed for the projects the Corps of Engineers estimate.

Area roads and highways affected by the lakes would be relocated so that as nearly as practicable equivalent access will be provided after the lakes are in operation. Affected public utilities and cemeteries in the areas will be altered or relocated prior to impounding of water in the lakes.

Funds for initiation of detailed project planning have not been appropriated by Congress, the report states. After initial planning funds are made available and plans for the first construction items are complete, the beginning date for on-site construction work depends upon future appropriations of construction funds by Congress. After construction funds are available, about five years will be required to build the projects, the reports stated.

The two projects which affect this area include the proposed dam on Little Red, just west of the Oxbow bridge river crossing, impounding water from Oxbow Creek and Turkey Creek. The upper end of this lake would reach to Hwy. 70. Maximum brine storage elevation is 2034.6. At maximum the lake would be six miles long.

The other project would capture water from Jonah Creek which drains the area just east of Memphis, where Jonah Creek meets Red River in Childress County, and another which would capture water from Dry, Wet, and East Salt

The Memphis Independent School District this month has paid off the 1959 bond issue, three years early, after the board of trustees voted to do so in June session.

Curtis M. Watts To Be Reassigned County As Social Security Rep.

Curtis M. Watts has been assigned as field representative for Hall County effective July 1, according to Travis Briggs, social security district manager in Amarillo.

Mr. Watts has served as field representative here before and has many friends in this area.

who will be happy to have him back in this area.

He will be in Memphis every other Wednesday of each month.

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Hall County at a rate of $111,000 a month at the close of 1970, Mr. Briggs said.

A benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on March 17 raises the monthly rate of payment by 10 per cent for most of the 1,304 social security beneficiaries in Hall County, Briggs added. A small number of beneficiaries over age 72 who are not receiving regular social security cash benefits will get a 5 per cent increase.

The increased benefit amounts were made effective back to Jan. 1, 1971. First checks in the new monthly rate probably reached beneficiaries on about June 3, Briggs said. Separate checks representing the amount of the increase for the months of January through April will be mailed later in June.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Hall County, 886 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 289 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 100 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Briggs pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Hall County, 221 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each

A Day To Honor America

The 4th of July weekend offers time for a taste of recreation, a bit of fun popping off fireworks, maybe a thought or two about that old-fashioned virtue patriotism, and innovative ways to honor America.

Pondering over patriotism—real patriotism—we inevitably reach the conclusion that this country just didn't happen to flourish. Much of the toil and struggle that helped make the United States strong and free represented someone's contribution in self-sacrifice, either in peace or in war.

Carrying this train of thought a bit further, many of us can't ignore the indications that America didn't wax robust from material sources alone. The idea of reverence of a Supreme Being is intertwined with the nation's development since the day the country was founded 195 years ago.

This year the birthday of the United States falls on Sunday, the first day of the week, observed by Christians as the Lord's Day. Many Americans will use the July 4th weekend to plan some kind of outing, a trip to a lake, beach, or to just spend a lazy weekend. But regardless of what our plans may be they could be altered slightly to allow us to go to church.

When we go to church we are privileged to listen to men in the pulpits reading the Scriptures and discussing the truths that weathered the test of time for centuries before 1776.

Obviously, most of us are aware—often—we're not allowed to forget—that separation of Church and State is a fundamental principle in the United States. This premise in an official sense, and undoubtedly has steered the nation away from some grave pitfalls.

But individually, throughout the country's history most leaders have been influenced by the Judeo-Christian ethics, the source of the Ten Commandments. Anyone familiar with American tradition will observe the concept of divine guidance was seldom far from the minds of those who played significant roles in shaping United States' destiny.

Here are a smattering of instances in which reverence for Sacred Providence was indicated. The list could be much more extensive.

On the day of this country's birth, the Founding Fathers wrote into the preamble of the Declaration of Independence "... and to assume among the powers of the earth that separate and equal station to which the laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitles them ..."

As school children or adults, when we pledge allegiance to the flag we recite the words "I pledge allegiance to the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation under God ..."

Since then we've seen the motto "In God We Trust" on our money so frequently, we've virtually forgotten it exists.

On the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery is carved the inscription "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

So the idea of a religious observance on this Independence Day weekend assumes validity. Both Church and State today are confronted with new perplexities that the Founding Fathers never dreamed of. Consequently, religious bodies are assuming increasingly activist roles.

The questions leap out at us. What can we do about peace in Vietnam and the world? Threats to the environment? Drug addiction and disillusioned youth? Disadvantaged minorities? Unemployment? Poor housing? Hunger? Education?

There is an ironic footnote to current religious activism. Karl Marx contended that organized religions—particularly Christianity—diverted man's attention from the problems at hand by insisting that was mankind's lot on earth and salvation could be found only in the hereafter.

But events in recent years have shown that religion is abandoning this ostrich posture and is trying to cope with temporal affairs. There is room for you to share in these programs.

We, as citizens of this nation, often fear for the future for we read and hear those who point to signs of pending disaster. The spiritual strength of the citizens or this nation can always stand some improving. It is a matter of individual priorities. And in this matter of priorities, let's make a list of our own. Putting first things first, the allotting of some time for religious contemplation this holiday weekend should be tops on the schedule.

On School Taxes

Those who have voiced the wish that a shift could be made in school taxes from local level to state level might profit by taking a second look. At first thought, it would be a relief to do away with local taxes on property and let the state take care of financing the schools. But with this shift would most certainly come a shift from local control to state control over the operation of the schools. And we doubt if people in this community would like taxes assessed and collected like is being done in Kansas provides for a uniform assessment and valuation on property for all tax purposes and this means that the state sets the values. In Kansas, the directive are issued from Topeka and the State Property Valuation Director has the power to order county tax equalization boards to make changes in the taxable valuations on property if these values do not correspond to the state schedule.

In Kansas, we have been hearing in the Southwest Daily Times about crews of inspectors from the state tax office moving into communities and checking inventories of merchants and listing property on the farms to be sure everything is rendered for tax properly. Instead of the local tax assessor, however, it is a state man doing it. Personal property has to be rendered in Wichita, for example, to the extent that assessors go through the house, making a list of clothing, furniture, jewelry, dishes, appliances and everything else of taxable value. We in Texas might have a tax problem, but we also have a lot to be thankful for, it appears to us.

Pillars of Wisdom

After years of research, Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom have come into being, and are being printed here as food for thought in a world where big government is thought of as the answer to all problems:

1. Nothing in our material world can come from nowhere or go nowhere, nor can it be free; everything in our economic life has a source, a destination and a cost that must be paid.
2. Government is never a source of goods. Everything produced is produced by the people, and everything that government gives to the people, it must first take from the people.
3. The only valuable money that government has to spend is that money taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government decides to spend more than it has thus received, that extra unearned money is created out of thin air, through the banks, and when spent, takes on value only by reducing the value of all money, savings and insurance.

4. In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment come from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security; if there are no customers, there can be no payroll and no jobs.

5. Customer security can be achieved by the worker only when he operates with management in doing the things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only in the spirit of understanding and cooperation.

6. Because wages are the principle cost of everything, widespread wage increase, without corresponding increases in production, simply increase the cost of everybody's living.

7. The greatest good for the greatest number means, in its material sense, the greatest goods for the greatest number which, in turn, means the greatest productivity per worker.

8. All productivity is based on three factors: a. Natural resources, whose form, place and condition are changed by the expenditure of b. human energy, both muscular and mental, with the aid of c. tools.

9. Tools are the only one of these three factors that man can increase without limit, and tools come into being in a free society only when there is a reward for the temporary self-denial that people must practice in order to channel part of their earnings away from purchases that produce immediate comfort and pleasure and into new tools of production. Proper payment for the use of tools is essential to their creation.

10. The productivity of the tools—that is the efficiency of the human energy applied in connection with their use, has always been highest in a competitive society in which the economic decisions are made by millions of progress-seeking individuals, rather than in a state-planned society in which these decisions are made by a handful of all-powerful people, regardless of how well meaning, unselfish, sincere and intelligent those people may be.

That Grand Old Flag

It's been taking a lot of abuse, lately. We're sorry that some people who are dissatisfied with some of the things happening in this country see fit to take out their displeasure on the Stars and Stripes. Sure, we've got lots of problems . . . But the flag stands for an ideal that we all believe in. Let's keep that ideal before us . . . let's fly the flag proudly!

Indian Visits Here On Bicycle Trip Around World, Saturday, June 19

By BILL COMBS
Raguhbir Singh, 27, came riding up to the front of our newspaper office at 11:55 a.m. Saturday, June 19 got off his Indian-made bicycle, and asked me for a drink of water, after introductions were made.

Instinctively, I knew I was talking to a man from another country, around the world from the Texas Panhandle, for he wore his native clothing, turban, etc.

Raguhbir Singh is riding his bicycle around the world, approximately 100,000 miles. He left India three years ago and has ridden 47,000 miles.

"Why" this editor asked him? "To promote peace and good will among nations," he answered.

Singh is a political science graduate from Tribhuvan University in India. He believes strongly in the principle that there is just one race, the human race.

He hopes to write a book, "My Experiences With People," and organize a group called the "Commonwealth of World Citizens." His main office in the U. S. is at 1321 Geranium NW, Washington, D. C.

Raguhbir left New Delhi, India, in October, 1968. He was captured twice by the Communist forces in Vietnam, managed to get released once and escaped once. Now his pedaling has brought him through Memphis, Texas.

Raguhbir rested approximately 50 minutes at The Democrat Office, following his trip to Memphis from Hollis, Okla. where he spent Friday night.

"There wasn't even a service station between Hollis and here," he said. "It made me feel a little uneasy." The Indian said in flawless English.

"Have you had a language problem?" I asked. "Not really," he said, "I speak 21 languages."

Raguhbir is a vegetarian, does not like soft drinks unless they are low in sugar, but he drank an orange soft drink after enjoying two glasses of water.

His plans included riding to Claude to spend Saturday night, and to be in Amarillo Sunday, but leave Amarillo before evening so he could spend the night in some small town.

"I like small towns," he said, "the police are so friendly, and helpful, I always stop by the Police Dept., and the newspaper office."

But most amazing, Raguhbir chose a bicycle, with three speed transmission, to ride around the world. "The bicycle is a common man's vehicle," he said. He has all ready worn out 25 sets of tires, replaced several hubs, and had to do repairs, but he is still making 100 miles per day.

About the remainder of the trip, "I'm going to Phoenix, then down the coast of Mexico to Mexico City, then to South America, then to Africa, and then across Africa and back to India," he outlined.

Will Raguhbir Singh survive this grueling trek? This editor thinks so. He makes no bones about why he rides.

"There are wars and social injustices throughout the world," he said. "This is an era of challenge and victory. We have explored the moon, developed vast industries, cured previously deadly diseases, and yet we have not met the challenge of peace which man must attain to survive."

What did Singh do during the 50-minute stay in the Democrat office. He wrote two letters on paper we supplied, but refused our envelopes, accepted two postage stamps from us, which we offered, discussed routes to Amarillo and beyond.

Raguhbir Singh, when he finishes his trek, will have seen the world as no man has ever seen it, astride a bicycle.

This editor has only one regret, he could not stay here but a short while, before going on to whatever lies ahead. He made it to Amarillo, on schedule Sunday, according to news reports.

USA Team Coach Redin Announces 12 Members Of Pan Am. Games Team

PLAINVIEW—The selection of 12 players, including six members of the Hutcherson Flying Queens, to compose the USA team in the Pan American Games at Cali, Colombia, July 30-Aug. 13, was announced today by Harley Redin.

The U. S. Olympic Committee selected Redin, coach of the Flying Queens and a former Pan American coach, to direct the American entry this year.

Redin chose a nucleus of the national champion Flying Queens for qualities he has always stressed in his players—quickness, defensive ability and ballhandling. "This may sound a little funny, though" said the veteran coach who has been mentor of the Flying Queen for 16 years, "because most of the teams in the Pan American Games, aside from Canada, will be small and quick."

But Brazil is rated a solid favorite to win the tourney because of experience and good height. Brazil recently finished third behind Russia and Czechoslovakia in the World Tournament.

Redin will have five of the players who competed on the USA team that finished eighth in the World Tournament, including 3 Flying Queens, Cherri Rapp, Carolyn Dornak and Marcia Shieldknight and Ouachita Baptist U. stars Carol Bollinger and Lyn Gamble.

The team will first meet for a camp at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, July 7-18 and will report to Miami, Fla. for a staging area July 19 with other Pan American entries. The USA team is to arrive in Cali on July 20 with games starting July 30. Return to the U. S. is slated Aug. 14.

Redin said the USA team hopes to play several games against the Canadian team at Vancouver, B. C., July 13-14-15.

In describing members of the USA team, Cherri Rapp of Estelina was described: "5-11, forward from Estelina, Tex., quick, talented and aggressive. Cherri is generally regarded as the top all-around player in the USA. She has played on two USA teams touring South America the past two summers. She will be a senior on Harley Redin's team next year."

When was the last time you read the list of ingredients on that package of instant casserole or off-brand can of beans you've been buying at the local supermarket lately? Chances are you haven't. Buy you should, for the label on that jar of orange juice or that package of fresh oysters could tell you a lot, whether it is frozen juice or imitation orange drink, or if those oysters were prepared and packed by a manufacturer approved by health inspectors working for the state or federal government.

The Texas Health Department has long had food and drug inspectors who take seriously their responsibility of protecting the consumer through enforcement of food and drug laws. The purposes of these laws are to protect the consumer against adulterated or misbranded foods, drugs, cosmetics, and to require informative labeling of substances intended for household use. Texas Health Department official James M. Doughty believes there is a growing trend in the country to put greater emphasis on the importance of labeling all consumer products, especially food and drugs. He is now drafting a new national policy concerning labeling, one that sets guidelines for particular nutrients and how much of one should be, and how much of another, included in each of food.

For an idea of the effect of food labeling might have on the food industry, consider what happened to hot dogs. Back in 1969, the U. S. Department of Agriculture set 30 per cent of fat in frankfurters. Those you who were buying hot dogs back before World War II remember when you could get all-American food with as little as 17 per cent fat content, then certain manufacturers reduced the content until it reached 51 per cent by weight—and 80 per cent by caloric proportion. Now if frankfurters had been labeled in terms of per cent fat, per cent fat, and total calories the government probably would not have had to impose the per cent limit. Competition would have taken care of the problem before the eyes of a weight-conscious nation.

Competition would probably so affect the proportions of saturated or polyunsaturated quantities were stated on labels, as would probably be the case with chemical preservatives and other synthetic chemical additives.

A person normally has two pairs of ribs.

Thirty-three years usually constitute a generation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moreman of Hedley visited in Heritage the past week. Also Annie Bolden of Amarillo and Dianne Griffin of Globe, Ariz. In conversation with Clinton Srygley a few days ago, he was giving some comments of a lady who lived in California and who had car trouble here and while they were fixing her car she decided to have her two boys get a hair cut and while this lady was waiting for the hair cuts, she made the remarks that "this was a very friendly place and very accommodating". She also said she would like to live in a place with people like we had here. Our filling stations, motels, cafes, and other businesses or the store windows of our town, and the reflections of the kind of people you have is evidence of the county show to their customers. In the passing away last week of Roy Guthrie brought back memories of his greeting to customers for 20 years in the bank and 15 years in the post-office. He always had this greeting "We thank you!" Even though a check was hot or a postoffice customer ask him to lick stamps he would still say, "thank you!" We do not realize how many visitors we have in our town traveling on Hwy. 287. The past week I checked with our local motels and found out we had visitors here from the following states: Georgia, Alabama, Calif., Nebraska, Utah, Colorado, Washington, Oregon, Florida, North Carolina, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Indiana, Tenn., Pennsylmuch surprised at the displays we had. Mrs. Tommy McLain of Manahans, Texas visited in Heritage Hall with her son Tommy, age 7 and DeAnne age 5. We hope to have the McLains as our home town people in a few months. Debbie Day of Hedley and Weldon Day of Lelia Lake (they are the grandchildren of Frank Murry of Hedaly) were also visitors. Frank's grandfather was Capt. Murry who first moved to this part of the state in about 1890 from Tenn. We expect to get a history in the Murry family from Frank who has never lived any farther away from where he was born than 10 miles! John Wolfe had as his guest in Heritage Hall his father Ford Wolfe of Morrill, Nev. He reports a good wheat crop. A quote from Mr. Wolfe in regard to Heritage Hall "A good thing for your county. More of the counties should do this to take care of their heritage". Gladys (Mixon) Turner and son Buddy of Sacramento, Calif. visited. She married C. A. Turner of Amarillo who is in the Civil Service for the Air Force. They have one other child, Donna now age 18. Gladys, the daughter of the late C. L. and Mrs. Mixon of Clarendon graduated from M. H. S. in 1945. The Mixon family reunion was held in Amarillo Sunday, June 27th. Mrs. Sim Reeves had as her guest in Heritage Hall her granddaughter, Shannon Bell of Floydada, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moreman of Hedley visited in Heritage the past week. Also Annie Bolden of Amarillo and Dianne Griffin of Globe, Ariz. vania, Illinois, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas.

In looking over the "motel topics" which is published in Arlington, Texas, we find the following statement: That in some states they came up with the figures of 100 tourists gave 100 new jobs, increased the back deposits 130 thousand and made enough extra tax money to educate 42 children besides the extra pay roll. Our tourist business seems to be growing, and our motels, eating places, and service stations of the highway are making good show window displays for our town, as we hear of some of the courtesies shown our visitors.

Hubert Dennis needs the names of the valedictorians and salutatorians in each graduating class from 1900 to 1943. Please give him this information.

In checking back in an old record we find that one of the first newspapers in Hall County was the "Newlin Times" published by a Mr. Hegdol. Mrs. Van Crow was the first woman in that community who had a newspaper career. She was the daughter of Rev. Will Horn who was one of the early day pastors of the Newlin church. This first shop was housed in a half-dugout on the Morrison place, where she had composed the type once each 2 weeks to publish the "Panhandle Baptist Herald," as assistant to the Rev. J. L. Pyle who was editor. Mrs. Van Crow later worked for the "Hall County Herald". We received a letter from Geo. Stanley giving his address as Hotel Sunnyside, 24 Bird Street Part Elizabeth, C. P. Republic of South Africa. George is hard to keep up with as when school is over his feet get to itching. Then he is on the go and you never know when until he arrives at some other country. George is putting in his time as a tourist and also doing research in the Libraries. He usually accidentally meets old friends on these trips. I wonder who it will be on this trip. Good to hear from George and am sure he will know more about South Africa when he returns.

Some of our young men are doing different kinds of work before their college days start. If you see any sparks flying off Randy Dale, they would be from the R. E. A. as that is where he is for the summer. Bob Cosby is spending his summer in Washington D. C. He is a salesman and not supposed to be studying any books, but I think there are some "pages" he is looking over and that is the new (female) pages in the Senate.

Tommy Greene has been in-culcated with so much big baling and hauling this summer and he already has his guitar, so I am now watching television to see if he is on "Hee-haw."

Lee Tull says "The cost of living is getting ridiculous. I asked for 50 cents worth of swiss cheese, and they wrapped up 8 holes!"

Shopping is getting pretty complicated as I was in a local store for spray deodorant and they could sell me right guard, but were out of the left guard, luckily, I am right-handed!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbors for your kindness to us in our sad hour. Thanks, to Dr. Stevenson, and those of the hospital staff, who helped us while our loved one was in the hospital. You were so kind and thoughtful. Thanks to those who visited at the hospital and our home, for the flowers, the many dishes of food and other thoughtful deeds extended to us. Mrs. Jeff Aduddell & family Louis Blierot first flew the English Channel in 1909.

SPORTS CORNER

By BILL COMBS
Memphis golfers have been very busy over the past week, as everyone seems to be in on golfing activities.

Tuesday, Bob Giese, one of Amarillo's really fine golfers, gave lessons at the County Club course here, and he was a mighty busy man, as a lot of the women and men took advantage of the opportunity to try and improve on their scores.

Having been a "golfer" since high school days, I can certainly have sympathy for the frustrations which go with the learning of the sport. Golf has been a part of the scene in Memphis since the early 1920's, or possibly even before that, and because our town has had an active country club, Memphis and this area has some really fine golfers.

Last week and weekend, two golf tournaments attracted a lot of local participation. The Texas and Oklahoma Junior Tournament held at Wichita Falls' Weeks Park Golf Club, last week, was the attraction for four of the younger golfers. Eddie Foxhall, Mack Miller, Alan McNally and Phillip Bray participated in the T-O, and three of these made the finals. Eddie Foxhall was the only one to bring home a trophy, taking second place in his flight. Eddie, Mack Miller and Alan McNally each won their first two matches to make the finals. Phillip Bray lost out in the early rounds of his flight. The boys, at least three of them, Eddie, Alan and Mack, stayed in the home of Foster Watkins, while Phillip stayed with another family there. The Wichita Falls folks open their homes to provide beds for the 436 boys participating in the T-O Jr. tourney. The Memphis boys reported they had a real good time.

Last weekend, Alan McNally, Danny Scarborough, Dennis Ward, Barry Ward, Hiram Crawford, C. E. Voyles, Bill Gibson, Dana Gibson, and myself all entered the Clarendon Invitational. Barry Ward, Hiram Crawford and Dana Gibson, all ended up winning prizes in their respective flights. Barry took first place in the second flight, Dana took fourth in the first flight, and Hiram took fourth in the lower flight. The Clarendon Club course played fairly easy the first day, Friday, but with winds whipping up to 30 mph Saturday and much higher Sunday, scores of local golfers climbed accordingly.

Most golfers who play in this area are used to playing golf in the wind. Personally, I usually play the local course best when there is a southwest breeze blowing.

ing. But the winds at Clarendon Sunday, blowing off a white capped lake, were so strong they would blow your completely off balance while trying to swing. Whenever this occurs, missed shots pile up, frustration sets in, and the score climbs. Clarendon's course will be a real fine layout, with huge greens, and abundance of dogleg holes, when the young trees grow to size and become hazardous. One major advantage the course has is the abundance of water.

Ken Bailey of Amarillo, who won the Memphis tourney this year, took second at Clarendon, one over par. I had a nice chat with Ken and his wife at supper. He said he certainly enjoyed the Memphis tournament.

This weekend, the Vernon Invitational will have at least three local golfers in it. Danny Scarborough, Dr. Roddy Bice and C. E. Voyles have indicated they will participate at Vernon. Vernon has a beautiful course, and a real fine tournament each year. It attracts many of the state's top amateur golfers, especially those playing in collegiate ranks.

Next weekend, July 10 and 11, the local club will have the annual club championship, the tournament which decides the club's champion each year. Danny Scarborough is the defending champ, two year's running, and looks like the favorite again this season. Local golfers like to win the club's tournament, due to the prestige which goes with the title. No one, though, has won as many club titles as Frank Foxhall.

Creeks. Water from these two creeks would be pumped north and westward through a 20" pipeline into a Brine lake with the dam constructed just north of State Hwy. 256 approximately six miles east of Memphis. Part of this lake would be in Hall County, part in Collingsworth County and part in Childress County. maximum brine storage elevation would be 2020.0 the map shows.

Purchase of land will start upon receipt of construction funds. The land will be appraised to determine the amount to be used as the basis of negotiations. Property owners will be contacted, and actual, practical and realistic negotiations will be conducted to acquire the property at a price considered just and reasonable.

If negotiations are not successful, the Government will acquire title to property through the Federal Court which will determine just compensation the report states.

In addition to and separate from, the amount paid for the land, owners and tenants will be reimbursed for certain expenses and losses incurred in moving themselves, their families, and their possessions as a result of the Government's acquisition of the land.

Owners and tenants will be eligible for payment of these expenses regardless of method of acquisition, the report said.

According to Col. Vernon Pinkney, District Engineer, inquiries relative to the constructions of these projects should be made to the District Engineer, Tulsa District, Corps of Engineers, P. O. Box 61, Tulsa, Okla., 74102.

Both plates of proposed brine dams are published in this issue, which affects this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Massey of Dallas and Mrs. Ouida Bradshaw and children visited with their grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Massey, over the weekend.

month. Nearly 136 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits. Most of the nine beneficiaries in Hall County between 18 and 22 years of age, are getting students social security law permitting the benefits under a provision in the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Briggs said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages. A number are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting. The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to their mothers if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Briggs said that another relatively small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving benefits as disabled workers. Social security disability payments can be paid to a person who becomes disabled for work even if he has less than 5 years of work under social security. As little as one and one-half years of work is required in the case of a worker who became disabled before age 24.

Mrs. Chester Rodgers, Mrs. Jim Cook and Mrs. Elmer J. Murdock of Memphis went to Okla., Saturday for a few days visit with Mrs. Murdock's mother, Mrs. Edith West, who lives in Davis, and with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Palmer in Ratliff City. En route they stopped in Snyder, Okla., for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. O. I. Cook.
