J. L. Richburg, Retired Farmer Buried Saturday

Joshua Lee Richburg, 88, longtime resident of Hall County and retired farmer, died Thursday, July 1, in Hall County Hospital. Funeral services for Mr. Richburg were conducted at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Tommy Nelson, pastor, and the Rev. E. H. Martin, pastor of the Lakeview Methodist Church officiating.

Burial was in the Hulver Cemetery with arrangements under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home.

Born in Alabama, he married Miss Julia Izora Stout on Oct. 16, 1904 in Wise County.

The couple moved to Hall County in 1906, where Mr. Richburg was engaged in farming in the Hulver, Turkey, and Lakeview communities. He retired in 1955 and they moved to Memphis.

Mr. Richburg was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Cecil Adams of Estelline, Mrs. James Spencer of Houston and Mrs. R. H. Belew of Earth; three sons, Clinton of Paris, Ark., Byron of Neosho, Mo., and James of Lakeview; two brothers, J. M. of El Paso and L. C. of Estelline; two sisters, Mrs. Ollie Dunlap of Springtown and Mrs. Viola Stroup of Paradise; 15 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Pall bearers were Gus Orcutt, W. M. Gowdy, Jr., Lura E. Marcum, Wendell Harrison, Linton Gardenhire, Joe Eddins, Billy Thompson and J. B. Byars.

Estelline Superintendent, Principal Resign To Accept Other School Posts

The Estelline I. S. D. board of trustees accepted resignations of the Estelline Schools administrators Tuesday night, as both Supt. Aubrey Spear and High School Principal Albert Motsenbocker have accepted employment with other school districts.

Supt and Mrs. Spear both resigned, as Mr. Spear has accepted the position of Superintendent of the Follett School District. Mrs. Spear was special education teacher for the Estelline School.

Principal Motsenbocker, who has been with the Estelline School for the past three years, handed in his resignation two weeks ago to accept a Principal position with the Gould, Okla., Schools. Albert has also served as girls basketball coach at Estelline.

Supt Spear said his resignation would become effective August 1, and he would continue to work with the Estelline trustees until a suitable administrator was found.

The Memphis City Council Tuesday evening adopted the budget for the City of Memphis with a total expenditure of $192,950.00 for the year beginning Oct. 1, 1971.

This is a $7,000.00 budget increase over the 1970-71 budget which was set at $185,950.00 in expenditures and $188,800.00 in estimated receipts.

City Secretary A. L. Gailey, after the Memphis City Council approved the budget, said the major portion of the increase in the new budget is in the employment of one additional workman in the street department, plus normal inflationary increases of approximately $2,000.00.

"The City is facing a major problem of doing something about street repairs," the City Secretary said.

The new budget calls for the expenditure of the following in the various departments:

- General Administration, $31,095.00; Street, $42,680.00; Police, $19,680.00; Fire, $21,680.00; Health and Sanitation, $10,870.00; Carnegie Library and Park, $3,515.00; City Park, $1,200.00; Cemetery, $6,380.00; Swimming Pool, $5,600.00; Community Bldg., $5,650.00; Interest and Sinking Funded, bonds and warrants, $38,600.00.

These total $192,950.00.

To cover these expenditures, the City of Memphis tax rate was set at the same figure $1.35 per $100 valuation, by the council Tuesday night.

If the City of Memphis could collect 100 per cent of the ad valorem taxes, this would bring in $106,419.66, but past history reveals the estimated loss to delinquency will be 8 per cent of this figure so the City can expect to collect $98,900.00 from ad valorem taxes.

The City Sales tax is estimated to bring in $36,000.00, and the gross receipts tax, $13,200.00. All other sources of income, including sewer service charge of $26,000.00, swimming pool, cemetery, police and rentals and permits are expected to bring in a total $19,800.00, for an overall of $950,000, the budget shows.

In other action by the City Council, the low bid from Foxhall Motor Co. of $2,584.28 was accepted for the purchase of a new police vehicle.

The council handled other items of routine nature before adjourning.

Mr. Posey was born Feb. 16, 1893, in Blountville, Ala., and at the age of seven moved with his family to Grandview, Tex., where he finished high school. At the age of 21 he moved to Hall County and was engaged in farming until 1925 when he went into the trucking business which he owned and operated.

Posey, age 27, married the former Miss Katie Lois Simmons on Feb. 9, 1920 in Childress. They celebrated their 50th anniversary last year. All of the Posey children were born and reared in Memphis. Mr. and Mrs. Posey and their youngest daughter moved to Monte Vista, Colo., in 1943, where he continued the trucking business. They moved to Grand Junction, Colo., in 1958.

Mr. Sinclair said FHA will fund the project in four phases with loans and grants to the Thirsty Water System.

Cards Are Mailed To Potential Thirsty Water Meter Customers

The Farm Home Administration, Childress County office, has mailed out cards Tuesday to all original people who applied for connections on the Thirsty Water System, from Memphis to Newlin and from Estelline to Turkey, in Hall County.

Chester L. Sinclair, County Supervisor of Childress, requested those who received the cards to please fill them out and return them as soon as possible.

"What we're interested in knowing is how many meter connections will be on the system," he said.

There were 43 meter requests on the Memphis to Newlin portion, and approximately 100 on the Estelline to Turkey, and other portions of the system in this county. Cards have been mailed to these, he said.

"The sooner the cards are mailed back the sooner FHA can proceed with the funding of the project," Sinclair said.

The project of the Thirsty Water System, under the Red River Authority, is being established in six counties, Hall Childress, Hardeman, Foard, Cottle, and Wilbarger.

In all, the project will add 385 miles of pipe line, and 528 more meter connections to a system which already has 197 customers now.

Initial Detail Survey Studies To Begin On Lakeview Project

Initial detail studies for the Lakeview Watershed Project will begin this week, according to J. E. Foster, Secretary of the Hall-Donley WCID.

Mr. Byars received a letter from Clyde W. Graham, State Conservationist, the last of June, which stated that a Lakeview Watershed Project's initial detail studies will begin during 1971 for future installation of floodwater retarding structures Sites 3, 4, and 5 during fiscal year 1972.

J. E. FOSTER, Construction Inspector

According to Byars, the letter stated that the installation of these structures is dependent upon the availability of funds for this purpose. Funds are available, we are proposing to contract Site 4 on or about May 1972 and Sites 3 and 5 about June 15, 1972.

J. E. Foster, a Construction Inspector for the Soil Conser., reports he is expecting surveys here this weekend to work on the initial detailed studies.

The Lakeview Watershed Project is under sponsorship of the Hall-Donley Counties Water Control and Improvement District and Counties of Hall and Donley, has been ready for initial detail studies before final construction for several months but funds have not been available.

The Hall-Donley WCID wrote Mr. Graham on June 21, seeking information on the status of the project. The State Conservationist answered, "Your letter of June 21, 1971 in regard to your interest in getting construction started on the Lakeview watershed project is appreciated. Your interest in the project and your effort in continuing to obtain the necessary easements for future construction is an outstanding example of such projects being carried on by local people."

Watershed Issue Is Reaffirmed By U. S. House Vote

Citizens in this area who became vitally concerned about a proposal in Washington to withhold funds in fiscal year 1972 from upstream watershed projects containing channel improvements will be relieved to learn that the House of Representatives rejected this proposal.

The vote on what is being called the Watershed Moratorium was 278-129. The vote came on Wednesday, June 23, and was in support of Rep. George Mahon's Appropriation Committee which took "strong issue" with the moratorium proposal and said, "action to modify this work program would help destroy rather than improve our environment."

Of the 50 Congressmen who took the floor to debate the issue, 11 favored the moratorium and 39 opposed it.

Rep. Henry Reuss (Wis.) introduced the amendment which stated: "No part of the funds appropriated by this Act shall be used for engineering or construction of any stream channelization measure under any program administered by the Secretary of the Interior."

Open America (Guest Editorial)

Chief Gatsha Buthelezi, on his return to Zululand from a tour of America, says he is most impressed with the open nature and friendliness of Americans. He is also impressed with their civil rights record and progressive achievements after the downfall of segregation in the South.

Chief Buthelezi is simply saying what any impartial visitor to America would say—particularly a man of colour coming from a apartheid society.

For there are two Americas—the America of reality and the America of the South African Nationalist imagination.

The latter imaginary state is one in which America is slipping backwards in a welter of drugs, rioting, hippie anarchy, student violence and permissiveness.

The truth is somewhat different. In the real America, progress in all spheres is a perceptible and marked process.

In civil rights, the record speaks for itself. After some initial and predictable unrest, there is now a healthy atmosphere of stability and tolerance as Negroes come fully into their own.

On the university campuses, there is impressive readjustment to reforms according students a greater say in administration, and the American universities are now better institutions for these reforms.

In any event, all the evils of student unrest, hippie permissiveness and mayhem were but fringe movements having no direct involvement with the main stream of American youth.

For every hippie dropout there were a million well-behaved normal and balanced American youths.

No country should be judged by its peculiar fringe element. We South Africans would be rightly incensed, for instance, if our students were judged by the standards of behavior of some Pretoria University students.

Still, as America is such an open society, the fringe elements get their say and their publicity—publicity being often a question of the newsworthiness of the unusual—and in several respects the antics of some fringe elements have actually led to intelligent reforms in American society.

As we have pointed out several times in the past, South Africans should be particularly reluctant to lend any weight to any suggestions of complacency or smugness in South African comment critical of America.

As in so many things, America tends to lead the way in the encountering of social problems—and in the solving of them, fortunately, we may be sure that problems testing America today are likely to test South Africa in the future.

That is, unless we are prepared intelligently to study such precedents and learn from them—to avoid avoidable mistakes and apply tested remedies.

What Other Editors Say

Keep Texas Green

A movement is under way to secure legislation designed to relieve the property tax burden on agricultural lands, and Governor Preston Smith has promised to allow this to be brought up at a special session of the legislature.

The group, led by State Senator Wayne Connally of Floresville and representing every agricultural organization in Texas, claims a serious crisis faces the state's agricultural industries unless legislation to relieve the current tax burden can be passed.

They want passage of Senate Joint Resolution 50 which would provide a method of tax assessment which relates to the land's productivity capacity instead of its market value.

According to agriculture industry spokesmen, the ability of the land to produce food, fiber and forest products has no relation whatsoever to its speculative value in an inflated economy.

They point out that a production tax similar to that levied upon producing oil properties, would be preferable to a property tax based on market value.

This movement is of special interest in this community, where a revaluation of rural lands in the school district has created quite a commotion.

Perhaps a production tax instead of a property tax is in order on agricultural lands. Certainly it would be a much more fair way to collect taxes in that the amount of tax would correspond to the ability to pay.

By the same token, a change in the state corporation franchise tax should be made. This tax, which is raised each year, taxes a company every year on its assets, and even its debts, regardless of whether it makes a dime in profit or not.

The property tax on commercial buildings should be changed to a tax based on the amount of rentals the building receives in a year. This would eliminate the unfair method of collecting property taxes every year on vacant buildings.

Mechines used for production by either agriculture or business should pay only when used on the basis of market value.

Senator Connally has proposed in the legislature a radical change which would do away with all local property taxes and finance the schools of Texas by state funds, thus easing the property tax burden not on rural lands, but also on the home owner and businesses.

Unfortunately, under present state law, the only way a school district can be financed locally is through a property tax. Until the new legislation is passed, we can look forward to a continuation of the property tax on all property, real and personal, urban and rural.

It's Truth That Keeps Us Free

Not all newsmen side with the New York Times in its confrontation with the Defense Department over the issue of press freedom and the First Amendment. Typical of the criticism directed at The Times in the area press was that of Amarillo Globe-Times Editor Tommy Thompson, who declared that "the federal government can't afford to let the New York Times get away with a slap on the wrist."

Thompson demands 'Times blood.' "Considering the enormity of the offense of printing top secret classified material," he writes, "The Times should be brought to trail and punished. If a presumptuous individual (Daniel Ellsberg) and a corporate printing company are permitted to decide what is top secret material in the Defense Department and what is not, then this country has no security."

On the other hand, testimony by informed individuals in recent days indicates that any number of Defense Department employees and officers even in the lower levels of the outsized bureaucracy are routinely permitted to decide what is top secret material and what is not; and on the basis of their arbitrary decisions, not only the people but their representatives in Congress and even their Presidents have been excluded from facts which may have been more damaging to the security of this nation than anything The Times would dare publish.

As a matter of fact, The New York Times and the Washington Post, and other highly respected American newspapers which have been joining them in these revelations (such as the Christian Science Monitor of Boston) may enjoy a considerably greater share of the public's trust and deserve it than does the Defense Department right now. What these newspapers have published about government has been Truth which is a lot more than can be said for the Department of Defense.

A Toll For The Stroll

According to Congressman Bill Scherle, a recent ruling by the Otero County welfare office in Colorado may have set a new frontier in welfare ingenuity.

A student enrolled under the federal work incentive plan in the Otero Junior College demanded that in addition for attending the school, he be given $30 a month to pay his travel expenses to and from classes.

This may not seem too unusual for this era—until it is noted that the student lives eight blocks from the school. And he walks to school.

Naturally Colorado legal services attorneys took up his cause. And, sure enough, the county hearing officer agreed he should be reimbursed for the walk to class. The $30 a month comes out of state welfare funds which are augmented by federal tax money.

A spokesman for the state welfare office told Scherle that the ruling will be reviewed at the state level. If it is upheld, he said, it will mean that even a student living next door to school will be entitled to $30 a month for "travel expenses."

It is difficult to see how this aspect of the federal program provides an incentive to work. But it is easy to see how it will provide students near their schools an incentive to walk on the expense account provided by the taxpayers.

The $30 is almost clear profit, less wear and tear on shoe leather. It would appear that for many Colorado scholars sent to school by their rich Uncle, getting there is going to be half the funds.

questions and answers, and I also found out that two of them were sisters of my brother, Dr. Alvin's nurse in Dallas (Mrs. Benton) They all liked Heritage Hall very much. They were all three from Pueblo Colo. I think they would have put in more time here, but one of them got in a hurry to leave, and I found out the reason she was getting her a new husband in 2 or 3 weeks. They were June Blagg, Jane Turner, and Charlotte Startner all of Pueblo, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Robertson had as their guest in Hall County Heritage Hall the past week, Mr. and Mrs. Venables, Mrs. Ila McMurry Robertson Oxford of St. Joseph, Mo.; Mrs. Floy McMurry Evans of Bentonville, Ark. The three ladies are cousins of Mrs. Robertson and daughter of the Tom McMurry, who lived in the Lakeview area in the early days. They attended school at the old location of Webster School before there was a school in Lakeview and attended this school with the Davenport boys and members of the Wallace family. This family, left Hall County in 1920 and moved to Arkansas. Rebecca Pearl Venable lived in this state eleven years and moved to St. Joseph, Mo. Her husband, Roy is a native of Missouri. They have 4 children, 11 grandchildren, and 2 great-grandchildren.

Floy Evans left her with the Arkansas. She says, "They were family in 1920 and stayed in shoes now." She has 2 children now living. Some of the old timers will remember about the flu epidemic of 1918 when so many cases were fatal. You will remember and they had four children. brother died the same day. They had a double funeral for these boys who were Dee and Luther. Mrs. Oxford was the wife of Luther and they had four children. She and the children moved to Arkansas in 1920 where she later married Mr. Oxford and they had 7 children making him a total of 11 children and 9 are now living. She has 33 grandchildren, 33 great grandchildren and 3 great great grandchildren. After contributing this much to our population you would never guess her age, as she gets around and acts like a lady not over 15 years old. That Arkansas weter must put a little youth in you or she may have found the "Fountain of Youth" She attended school at Webster and Clarendon in the early days, and remembers that Walter Hightower was one of her first teachers.

D. R. Kelly had as his guest in Heritage Hall his brother, H. F. Kelly of Littlefield, Texas who is now retired. The Kellys moved from Jack county a good many years ago.

H. F. could remember when they took the cotton to the Sam Fox-hall gin for ginning and bought their hulls and meal from F. N.

Foxhall at the oil mill in Jack-sboro.

A letter received from George Sanley a few days ago, and he had about finished his research at the University of Port Elizabeth in South Africa and is moving on to Capetown where he will be for 3 weeks. He says it is mid-winter there and the weather is hot one day and cold the next day which sounds like the par-handle of Texas. He states "when television come in 1975 I am sure South Africa like America will feel the tremendous impact."

With all of the fireworks that were lit and exploded I think the happiest people over all the explosions were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Fowler and that was caused by a population explosion in their family. Their daughter Sheila (now Mrs. Harris) of Bovina had a son born on the 4th of July. This is their first grandchild and they can celebrate his birthday each year by shooting a firecracker!

MR. AND MRS. JET FORE

Former Memphis Couple Celebrates 60 Years Of Marriage At Colorful Party

June 27, 1911, was a busy, bustling, happy day for some folks in Memphis, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Read were this day planning to offer up their pretty 20-year-old daughter Dora in matrimony. And Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Fore's handsome 22-year-old son, Jesse, was happy to accept.

At the wedding site the Reads home on 16th street the Reverend R. B. Morgan, paced nervously back and forth reciting his marital vows delivery. After all, in the Memphis of 1911, just how many times a year did minister get a chance to perform a wedding?

The wedding party began to assemble: The bride's sister and brother, Mrs. Lottie Kinard and Mr. Wesley Reed, would serve as Maid of Honor and Best Man, respectively. Other Read family members included Charley, Albert, John, Katherine and Lucile. The Fore family was represented by Mrs. Lena Milam and 12-year-old Frank.

United in marriage the happy couple journeyed the hundred miles to Hereford for their honeymoon (and not by stagecoach, as many teenagers today want to believe was the era's mode of travel).

"Would the marriage last? whispered townfolks to one another. After all, hadn't young Jesse (known affectionately to everyone as just plain "Jet" and be mindful of the fact that this sobriquet was given him light-years ahead of the Jet-Age) been known to wear his straw skimmer at a jaunty angle and mouth such decadent expressions as "Twenty Three Skiddoo" and "Oh, You Kid?"

Well, friends of the couple will be happy to learn that not only did the marriage last, it has lasted a grand total of 60 years!

On June 27th, 1971, in the Los Angeles home of their daughter, in-law, grandchildren and great-grandchildren assembled for a joint anniversary-birthday celebration for the couple (June 28th was Jet's 83rd birthday, and June 30th marked Dora's 81st birthday).

Longtime subscribers to the Memphis Democrat (Jet claims he has been reading the Memphis Democrat since Thomas Jefferson founded the Democratic Party), Jet and Dora were thoroughly delighted and surprised with a huge cake decorated as a replica of the Memphis Democrat front page. The headline read: "Jet and Dora Wed 60 Years."

Jet and Dora first met in Memphis in 1906 shortly after the Reads moved to town. In 1916 their daughter Charlotte was born, followed seven years later by Jet, Jr. The family moved to Los Angeles in 1930 with Jet obtaining work at 20th Century-Fox studio on the police department. He retired five years ago to a life of leisure. Dora is still active in church work.

Recalling that memorable day

60 years ago in Memphis, Dora believes that the only outside guest other than immediate family still residing here are Vera Dickey and Ora Denny. Her two sisters, Mrs. Lottie Kinard and Mrs. Lucile Wright still live here. Mr. Fore's sister, Mrs. Cicero Milam, passed away a few years ago.

And so, Jet and Dora look forward to the next 60 years of their marriage with Jet offering this bit of sage advice to couples contemplating marriage: "Stick out the first 50 years. The rest will take care of itself."

CARD OF THANKS

To the nurses of the Hall County Hospital, Dr. Goodall, and the Spicer Funeral Home of their kind and thoughtful service; our host of friends for the many expressions of kindness and food provided during our time of sorrow, we express our thanks and pray God's blessing upon each. The family of J. L. Richburg

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Phillips and Elaine and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sweatt recently returned from Grand Junction, Colo., where they attended the funeral services for Mrs. Phillips' father and Elaine and Mrs. Sweatt's grandfather.

Well, friends of the couple will be happy to learn that not only did the marriage last, it has lasted a grand total of 60 years!

On June 27th, 1971, in the Los Angeles home of their daughter, in-law, grandchildren and great-grandchildren assembled for a joint anniversary-birthday celebration for the couple (June 28th was Jet's 83rd birthday, and June 30th marked Dora's 81st birthday).

Glover-Harman Nuptial Vows Read In Pretty Church Service

Soc 2col cut Frs Walter Russel

Miss Nina Wren Glover, daughter of Mrs. Perry Clifton Glover and the late Mr. Glover of 922 Robertson, and Walter Russell Harman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harman of Route 1, Childress, were united in marriage in a pretty church service solemnized at 7:30 p. m. June 18 in the Assembly of God Church in Memphis.

The Rev. V. C. Sparks, pastor, read the double ring ceremony before an arch of boxwood greenery and wedding bells tied with white satin ribbon. Three single candelabra holding white tapers formed the outer edge of the ceremonial setting. Centering the area was a white satin prie dieu between pedestal arrangements of pink and white gladioli. The pews were marked with pink and white satin bows.

Miss Silvia Ayers, pianist, played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional and accompanied Arvel (Sport) Weddel, soloist as he sang "Twelfth of Never" and "More."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. O. R. Goodall, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice, bishop sleeves with wide lace cuffs, and round neckline edged in lace. The front of the gown was overlaid with a panel of lace and seed pearls. Her detachable, chapel train was edged in matching lace.

Her tiered veil of imported illusion was secured by a pearl tiara with crystal tear drops and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with a single white orchid.

Observing the old-new tradition, the bride wore an heirloom pin belonging to her great-grandmother, her own new diamond necklace and ear studs, and a white lace handkerchief borrowed from the bridegroom's sister.

Attendants

Mrs. David Hardin of Clarendon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an A-line carpet-length gown of hot pink taffeta overlaid with lace and white accessories. A matching Dior bow held her brief veil of illusion and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations tied with pink and white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Misses Ann Harman, sister of the bridegroom, Carol Gene Glover of Amarillo, sister of the bride, and Miss Phillipis Daughterty of Amarillo. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendants.

Serving as candlelighters and ushers were Doyle Wayne Mooney and Vern Rucker, both of Childress.

Larry Mooney was best man. Groomsmen were Ken Lamberth,

Pat Henry of Amarillo and Tommy Beal.

Mrs. Glover chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of blue knit with white accessories. Mrs. Harman, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pink silk shantung dress accented with pink and white accessories. They both wore corsages of Butterfly roses.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the Bronze Room of the First National Bank.

Betty Ann Shahan, cousin of the bride, presided at the registration table. The table was covered with white lace overlaid with pink and centered with a pink taper in a crystal holder. At one end of the table lay the bride's book and a long-stemmed pink carnation, and at the other a basket filled with rice bags of white net tied with pink velvet ribbon.

The bride's table was covered with lace over pink and centered with a bouquet of pink and white carnations in a cut glass bowl. The three-tiered white wedding cake was divided by white doves and decorated with white and pink rosebuds and a miniature bride and groom on top. Crystal appointments were used.

Jo Miller of Amarillo served the cake while Mrs. J. M. Sanders of Coolidge, aunt of the bride, served the punch.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., and other points of interest, the bride chose for travel a pink-knit dress styled with long waistline and pleated skirt. She wore white accessories and Gal 2 of Glover wedding orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride graduated from Memphis High School in 1958 and attended Clarendon Junior College. She graduated from the LVN School of Nursing at Memphis in 1970 and prior to her marriage had been employed at Hall County Hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Childress High School with the class of 1967 and attended Clarendon Junior College before going into business with his father at Childress Auto Supply.

Rehearsal Dinner

A white linen cloth belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother, the late Mrs. Thayer Hamilton, covered the buffet which was centered with a bud vase holding a pink carnation and purple statice. The table was covered with white linen overlaid with hot pink net.

Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with white linen and centered with pink tapers in silver holders. An additional arrangement of pink carnations and stative in a white bowl was in the entertainment room.

At this time, the couple changed gifts and presented to their attendants. The bride received a diamond necklace and ear studs, and she gave her fiancée a wrist watch. Gifts to the attendants were string pearls for the women and ties for the men.

Among out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wauford of Amarillo, Mrs. Mrs. J. M. Sanders of Clarendon and uncle of the bride, Mattie Nell Boswell of Whitney, Bonds of Whitney.

Tax Man Sam Sez-

If you are a student who is working during the summer and you will not earn enough money to owe any income tax (1700), it's not too late to go back and talk to your payroll office about completing a Form 4-4E. The "E" stands for exemption. A recent change in the tax law allows your employer to let you take home all your pay under these circumstances. The new law allows your employer to stop withholding on students who will not earn enough to owe any income tax. It also saves the government the trouble of sending you an income tax refund next January or February.

Mrs. Compton Is Patient In Craig Hospital

Mrs. Mattie Lou Compton, who suffered a stroke some months ago, is now a patient in the Craig Rehabilitation Hospital in Englewood Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spath report that she has been in the hospital only a week, but is showing slow but marked improvement.

Craig Rehabilitation Hospital treats victims of stroke-paralysis and other crippling injuries, and is staffed with doctors and nurses experienced in this field.

Mrs. Compton is a long-time resident of Memphis and taught here in the elementary schools for several years.

Friends who would like to send Mrs. Compton notes or cards should address their letters to: 2915 So. Grant, Englewood, Col., 80110.

CARD OF THANKS

To Friends of Mrs. Mattie Lou Compton:

We, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Spath, on behalf of Mrs. Mattie Lou Compton, wish to thank her many, many friends for their great kindness, love and concern during her stay in Hall County Hospital and the Cousins Nursing Home. We are especially grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Spicer for her successful, even pleasant ambulance trip from Memphis to Craig Rehabilitation Hospital in Englewood, Colo.

Craig Rehabilitation Hospital is a very special hospital accepting victims of stroke-paralysis and other crippling injuries and is satisfied only with doctors and nurses experienced in this field. Our sister, Mrs. Compton, has been in the hospital here only a week and is showing slow but marked improvement.

Those of her friends who wish to send her notes or cards please address: Mrs. Mattie Lou Compton, 2915 So. Grant, Englewood, Colo., 80110.

Again, our thanks to all you beautiful people in Memphis!

Turkey races were fairly common in the 17th century. Turkeys were harnessed with bridle and reins and driven by a driver who ran along behind them.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Good Quality Hay Means Extra Dollars To Cattlemen

If county livestock producers give special attention to harvesting good-quality hay at the right time, they will find out that this means extra dollars when the hay is fed next season, says County Agent W. D. Hooser.

Two main factors that determine the quality of hay are the amount of fertilizer and lime it receives and the age of the crop when it is harvested.

A soil test is the best indicator of what nutrients are needed to produce abundant amounts of hay crops. If not tests were made earlier in the year, and present growth of forage or yields from first cuttings are not up to par despite fertilization, a soil test must be considered.

While nitrogen influences protein content, phosphorus, potassium, and other nutrients also help to improve protein and the quality of hay. After baling, an immediate topdress with fertilizer will aid in faster, high quality regrowth, according to Hooser.

Delaying harvest of hay will result in an increased tonnage, mostly in the form of stalk and fiber, but overall quality will be lowered.

Johnsongrass, sudan hybrids, and other grasses which produce seedheads should be cut before the seedheads emerge. Crops such as Coastal Bermuda grass should be cut when the growth is about four weeks old or less. Plan to cut alfalfa when it's one-tenth to one-fourth in bloom.

Cutting hay at these stages gives the highest production of total digestible nutrients (TDN).

Another important point to remember in producing quality hay is to start baling so soon as possible after cutting, reminds Hooser. A hay conditioner may be helpful in hurrying up the drying process.

The violation contributing the highest percent of fatal accidents in rural areas was driving while drinking 37 per cent and statewide, too fast for conditions led the list at 33 per cent.

The highest number of females killed was 25 as passengers at age 17.

Stelline Class Meets In Home Of Mrs. T Mabry

Agnes Bailey Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church, Stelline, met Thursday afternoon, July 10, in the home of Mrs. Truman Mabry who lives five miles east of Tell. Mrs. Mabry is the daughter of a class member, Mrs. Eula Zint, and had members to her home in honor of her mother.

The devotional was brought by Mrs. Zint, who read some verses from the 24th chapter of Luke which had to do with Mary Magdalene. She then told a very interesting story of the known facts of this dedicated woman who one of the last to leave the earth and was the first to see Christ and was the first to see His tomb on Resurrection morning.

Bertha Patterson, president, presided over the business session. Minutes of the June meeting which met in the home of Mrs. Morrison, were read by Lura Coleman as was the treasurer's report; the group captains, Flora Bradford and Evie Morrison, gave reports of class attendance for the past month. Ruby Johnson and Ruby Rapp had not been in attendance for some Sundays because of illness.

After the singing of the class hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," the meeting was dismissed and Flora Halford brought an interesting Bible quizzes for the social part of the meeting.

Mrs. Mabry served delicious refreshments of cherry crunch, lemon, tiny sandwiches, mints, coffee and tea to those who have been mentioned and to Lula Nelson, Eleanor Waddill and Agnes Bailey.

After touring Mrs. Mabry's home, the group left for their homes thanking Mrs. Mabry for a very pleasant meeting.

Extension Specialist Advises Farmers Achieve Maximum Yields Of Cotton

COLLEGE STATION — "Better cotton yield for profits and better market situation in 1971 is the theme for the Beltwide campaign to the cotton industry." C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, said the objective is to increase cotton yield to the maximum profitable level, using sound practices for each acre. Elliott noted that the increase in production must come from better management, including insect and weed control, cultural practices, wise use of irrigation and improved harvesting methods, the specialist said. Too, he noted, ground-soaking general rains over the state would give a real boost to cotton production prospects.

Years ago scientists and nutritionists discovered that the addition of iodine to common table salt dramatically curtailed the occurrence of goiters in this country. But iodine is only one of many trace elements considered vital to the human diet, according to nutritionists at the Texas State Department of Health.

Iodine is an essential component of the thyroid-gland hormone that regulates the rate at which our tissues breathe. Without it, the tissues use less oxygen, the body slows down, and eventually so does the mind. A limited deficiency of iodine can result in a swelling of the neck known as simple goiter, which practically disappeared when table salt was iodized many years ago.

A number of other elements are also vital, but only in very small amounts. These essential microelements include copper, iodine, manganese, zinc, chromium, fluorine, molybdenum, and selenium.

Thousands of chemical reactions occur in each cell of our body, with enzymes acting as catalysts to bring specific molecules into the right position to react at the appropriate moment. Some of these enzymes contain vitamins as part of their own molecules, and many do not function except in the presence of the right trace mineral. Without such activators (and each enzyme requires a particular activator), no reaction takes place.

"I CAN'T TAKE YOU SPORT AND BESIDES, THERE ARE NO TREES ON THE PLANET."

Typical of the activators is copper, essential to the manufacture of blood cells. Although it is as vital as iron, the body requires less than one-tenth as much.

Lack of zinc is believed responsible for the dwarfism observed in some isolated areas in the Middle East. Besides being necessary for growth, zinc plays a role in the development of sex organs, the healing of wounds and burns, and in the utilization of the hormone insulin.

Another trace mineral is manganese, which monitors the build-up and breakdown of protein and of nucleic acid, the basic carrier or heredity. It is also important to the development of bones and tendons.

Too little chromium may be one of the factors responsible for high cholesterol and a decrease in sugar utilization in elderly people. Selenium is involved in the respiration of cells. And fluoride is believed necessary for good teeth. Eating a wide variety of foods can usually supply the needed amounts of these vital minerals.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Efficient Use Of Pastures Is Key To Higher Profits
Efficient utilization of pastures during drouth can be the key to higher profits for stockmen, says County Agent W. B. Hooser.

Adequate plant food is the first consideration to be made in growing more forage. Even during drouth periods, local showers can produce good-quality forage if adequate plant food has been applied.

Using the forage efficiently is of utmost importance, reminds Hooser. Efforts to conserve quality and prevent wastage should be included in every forage management program.

One thing this means is that high-quality forage should be grazed by animals with highest nutritive requirements. For example, beef cows with young calves have higher nutritive requirements than dry cows and should receive the higher-quality forage.

Another way to conserve quality is by limiting grazing of high-quality pastures to the time required for animals to obtain their nutritive requirements. Cattle that are grazing good pastures can usually obtain their requirements in a few hours each day. If the cattle are permitted to graze the area more extensively, forage losses may occur because of trampling and spoiling.

Test the forage to determine quality, says Hooser. Testing enables the producer to determine if any supplements are needed to meet the animals nutritive requirements.

A localized rain during the summer months can produce more forage than animals can readily consume. Where this happens, steps should be taken to use the forage efficiently and to harvest hay from excess growth, adds Hooser.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morris were in Wheeler June 27 to attend the funeral of Mrs. Clarence Robison, a cousin of Mrs. Morris. Also attending the service from here was Miss Lucille Hutcherson.

Tax Man Sam Sez—

Most of the sweet young brides that are taking the fatal step this June won't take this piece of advice. However, we'll tell them anyway:

If you are getting married during this year you have to get your name changed on your Social Security card. If you don't get your name changed, come tax refund time next January or February, the IRS computer won't know who Mrs. John Doe is. It will question why Jane Smith's Social Security Number got on a tax return for John and Jane Doe.

Yes, girls, we understand that you have lots of things to do, but you will be glad if you go ahead and change your Social Security number now.

Deadlines for VA Benefits Explained

Questions posed by veterans to offices frequently show the man is in doubt about the time of applying for some benefit according to Jack Coker, VA Office Director in Waco. The office has prepared this table on benefits to assist veterans and their families," he added.

The countdown starts for the man from the day of his separation from the service. The veteran said a veteran has 10 days to notify and local Selective Service Board of his address and to register if he did not do so before entering military service. If a veteran wants his job back he has 90 days to go to his former employer for employment.

He has 120 days to convert his group-term life insurance (GTLI) to an individual policy after examination. If totally disabled as separation, a veteran has up to one year of his connection to one year of his connection does not change, to continue his insurance.

Either case, he must apply the policy to one of the nearest private companies participating in the SGLI program. A veteran with a service-connected disability has one year from the date he receives his notice of service-connection to apply for VA for Service-Disabled Veterans Insurance.

He also has one year to apply for dental care, or to request employment compensation from the state employment service. Veterans have eight years from the date of separation to apply for service educational assistance which terminate after time.

A veteran with a service-connected injury or disease, there is a time limit for applying for disability compensation, but in order to receive payments dated from the time of his separation from military service, he must apply within one year of separation. There is no time limit for a veteran to be assisted by his local employment service in obtaining a job or job-training program.

There is a time limit, to obtain hospital care, or to obtain a loan to buy, build, or improve a home or to buy a farm. For more details, veterans should contact their local VA office, local veterans service organization representatives, or Service Officers.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Texas fishermen are migratory. Greenery on the other side constantly beckons.

Actually, most of us can catch a few more fish within a few miles of our own home, but there is something in distance that thrills us. Perhaps it's the scenery.

When it comes to scenery, there is no view more spectacular than that around Hells Canyon on Snake River. This stream finds its headwaters in Wyoming, then moves westward across Idaho to become the boundary between Idaho and Oregon. That's Hells Canyon country!

Here the Idaho Power Company has constructed three dams—Brownlee, Oxbow and Hells Canyon. All three are on that wild stream that eventually finds its way to the Pacific.

Hells River Canyon is the deepest in Idaho. At the crest where the Seven Devil Peaks overlook the country at around 12,000 feet, there is almost perpetual snow. Down in the canyon, however, it gets hotter than the proverbial hinges.

We flew there last summer with another Texas outdoor writer, L. A. Wilke. Purpose was to get in a bit of fishing and sight seeing, but it was too hot to fish much. However, after than less than an hour of casting below Oxbow Dam in the middle of the day we did catch a string consisting of rainbow, smallmouth bass and squawfish.

Although the latter is an edible fish, and a distant member of the salmon family, it is something like our own carp. Up there it is called the tourist trout. This is because it is so easy to catch in those fast waters which are cool despite the intense daytime heat in the area.

Evening are cool, so the area is fast becoming the playground of those seeking water sports. Actually, it is a fun-seekers paradise.

Idaho Power spent more than $230 million to harness the Hells Canyon reach, with three new lakes having a total length of 3 miles and a combined surface area of 19,000 acres. All three lakes are tracked by 142 miles of modern highways.

On each of the impoundments the company has established major parks and has dotted the shorelines with boat-launching ramps and docks. There are three major free camping areas, with sanitary connections, for mobile homes and trailers.

Here you'll find year-round fishing for bass, crappie and catfish. (Trout are limited to seasons.)

Principal lake is Hells Canyon, resting in North America's deepest gorge. Snow-clad Seven Devils Mountains are on the Idaho side and Wallowa Mountains on the Oregon side. They are known as the Alps of North America.

Brownlee, Oxbow and Hells Canyon dams can be reached on the Idaho side over SH 71, off US 95, at Cambridge. On the Oregon side they can be reached over SH 86, off US 80 north. There are crossings at each of the dams. Also, you can drive along the edge of the three lakes through this scenic country.

Under a multi-million-dollar program and in cooperation with both federal and state fish agencies, Idaho Power pays the operating cost of this far-flung system that is open to the public.

IPC plants catchable-size rainbow trout in the Hells Canyon development. Several up to 22 inches in length have been taken. My largest one was around 15 inches. Full information and maps of the area can be had by writing to the Idaho Power Company, Boise, 83707.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Handbooks Available

Another year of hard work and effort has gone into the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program in Hall County, re-says County Agent W. B. Hooser. And the "fruit of the labor" is a complete report of these on-the-farm demonstrations that is now available at the County Extension office.

The overall agricultural demonstration program is sponsored by the Program Building Committee, points out Hooser.

Mr. H. A. Hodges of Lakeview is the chairman of the Hall County Program Building Committee and he is in charge of the overall Crops Committee.

A total of more than 35 demonstrations were conducted in 1970, with Hall, Wheeler and Collingsworth Counties cooperating, adds Hooser. All demonstrations were planned with the interests of the county producers in mind. Those which should be of special interest to producers include Cotton Variety Texas on dryland and Cotton Variety Texas on irrigated land. Other tests were made of fertilizer use, hybrid grain sorghum and cotton disease control but due to the extreme dry weather, the results of these tests were not available.

"The past year was not a good year for our result demonstration program," points out Hooser. "Some of our findings are especially noteworthy since the county received very limited moisture during the year."

which was in the project construction stage before July 1, 1971."

After disposing of the channel issue, the House went on the approve funds for the Soil Conservation Service amounting to $2 million over the amount requested in Pres. Nixon's amended fiscal year 1972 budget.

Congressman Bob Price was one of the U. S. Representatives who spoke against the amendment which would impose a one-year funding moratorium on the Department of Agriculture's small watershed program.

Before the House of Representatives, Cong. Price said, "In many areas of the country like Texas, the vast majority of watershed projects do not involve dredging, modifying, or channelizing rivers or streams in the sense the proponents of the amendment are concerned with."

"In Texas, most of the projects which fall under the auspices of the Soil Conservation Service involve such things as preventing soil and water erosion. In many areas, especially in major portions of west and north central Texas which are flat and have little natural cover, building water retention dams and terracing creates additional water reservoirs and promotes natural forage growth. These projects, if anything, benefit wildlife. But when saying that I must point out that our area of the country, unlike certain others, does not have much in the way of natural wildlife habitats. It is too flat. It is too barren. It is too dry."

"As for channel improvement, specifically it is planned only when needed and as an addition to other structural measures in the project. For example, the Lakeview watershed project consists of 25 flood water retarding structures and 17.1 miles of channel improvement. In view of the amendment before this body, I emphasize the fact that the channel improvement is located in areas where no natural channel exists and in most cases where the water flow from heavy rainfall goes in many directions across valuable agricultural land, rural communities, and ultimately to Red River. There exists no natural flows in any area where channel is now planned. There are no valuable environmental features and no valuable wildlife habitats."

"I would also emphasize that our area watershed program provides storage waters that can be used for many purposes in addition to its value for enhancing fish and wildlife. These uses provide a major improvement to the environment in addition to the esthetic value of impounded water in an area that is considered to be drought stricken during periods of each year.

"Mr. Chairman, in conclusion I would emphasize that ecological conditions vary greatly throughout the country. Thus while imposing a generalized moratorium on small watershed programs would perhaps fulfill the objectives of the amendments supporters, it would actually create ecological problems for millions of Americans."
