TIME—Pictured above, Cyclone Coach Clyde McMurray looks on to see if his versatile unit executes blocking assignments properly as the team ran play after play. Dummy holders were being shifted into several defensive alignments giving the offensive look and testing their blocking assignment rule knowledge. Coach McMurray said, "I'm going to teach something new every day." Attendance at workouts has been excellent and the coach indicates and spirits are running high.

Memphis-Quanah Meet in Scrimmage Here Fri.

Football fans will get a chance to see the Memphis Cyclone in action when the team scrimmages with the Cyclone of District 2-AA, at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Cyclone Stadium.

Memphis and Quanah Junior High and Freshmen teams will scrimmage at Quanah this Friday evening at 6 p. m., announced by Coach McMurray.

Coach McMurray said that from a coaching viewpoint there is no such thing as winning or losing a scrimmage. "Scrimmages are not conducted under game-type conditions," he said.

"Our main objective in the scrimmage against Stinnett was to see how well our inexperienced offensive line could block. Our offensive line play was the highlight of the session for us we feel," he said.

Coach McMurray said, "Defensively we were disappointed in results, but not in effort." The coach explained that the team tried four different defensive sets, but said that this week in workouts the five-two-four was selected as the best. "We have shuffled several people around, Congressman Bob Price announced Tuesday that bids for construction of two more flood water retaining structures of the Lakeview Watershed are now being advertised.

The bids will be opened at 2 p. m. Sept. 24, 1973, at the First National Bank Bldg. in Temple.

The two dams, located approximately three and a half miles north of Lesley, both on the Lawrence Hagy Ranch, are named Site No. 3, on the western tributary of Bitter Creek, and No. 5 on the eastern tributary of Bitter Creek.

Congressman Price said that bids will be accepted for Site No. 3 and No. 5 with the estimated price range being from $380,000 to $520,000.

Completion is expected approximately 534 days from receipt of notice to proceed.

"Projects of this nature being handled by the Soil Conservation Service will continue to retain water runoff in our area of the state," Congressman Price said.

Citizens and patrons of the area are familiar with Site 4 construction, which is also on Bitter Creek, which is now in the final stages of construction.

There are 24 dam sites in all in the Lakeview Watershed Project. The first three are now in the contracting stage, leaving 21 others. Two more are currently in the final stages before letting contract.

Memphis City Council Passes New Ordinance On Canine Regulation

Owners in Memphis will be regulated under a newly passed ordinance which will require dogs to be licensed and their pets kept under control.

The ordinance, which will be in effect next spring in its entirety, requires dogs to be licensed by June 1, 1974, and kept on leash or restrained by a collar or other device which will be checked up and held in a pound if not claimed by a certain time and if they are not licensed, the animals will be humanely killed.

Memphis City Council passed the ordinance this month. It will take a while for the ordinance to be established and enforcement facilities.

One of the aspects of the ordinance is the provision that dogs must be vaccinated for rabies if a city license is issued.

City officials reported last week that many stray dogs have been showing up in growing numbers at the City Dump Ground and at the City Park.

Citizens have been asked to not abandon their animals on city property. There are now no feeding facilities available for these stray dogs.

City employees have been having to exterminate some of these animals for humane reasons, a heart breaking job and time for dog lovers.

MYSTERIOUS FURNITURE—It all began when the Memphis Firemen got a new TV set Monday. One of the firemen put the old TV into the pickup of Loyd Elliott. Elliott deposited the old set at another fireman's home, but it came back in a few hours. Then the set was re-deposited Tuesday night, and Wednesday morning, not only the TV set, but other furniture appeared on top of Elliott's service station. "When I get it down, I'm going to take it to the dump ground," Elliott said. "This could get out of hand."

Mr. Stokes preceded her in death in 1935.

She passed away at 8:35 a. m. Saturday, Aug. 25, in Hall County Hospital.

18-Year-Olds Are Now Adults!

Adulthood was bestowed by Texas Law on all 18-year-olds after midnight Sunday, and when these older teens woke up Monday morning they had all the rights and responsibilities as their parents have had for several years.

The 18 to 20-year-olds lost something too during the process, such as all their juvenile protections under the law, and all their regulations where parental guidance was required.

They gained several things, however, among them being the legal right to buy booze at a bar or liquor store, to make contracts and assume debts, seek and get medical treatment, licenses, etc.

The 18-year-olds were already given the right in our nation to vote and to bear arms in the military. Now they are full-pledged adults.

For most of these 18-year-olds, however, life will continue pretty much as before. Banks and loan institutions are going to require proof that these new citizens can and are able to pay back loans before they allow them to make installment purchases. Liquor stores will ask to see identification cards to prevent the sale of alcoholic beverages to the 14, 15, 16 and 17-year-olds. Actually, in this instance, the younger adults may find legalized drinking to be not as exciting as the illegalized nipping done when they were still minors.

Questions are being raised on college and university campuses whether or not the institutions of high learning have the right to impose conduct regulations, or other type regulations, since all students are now full-fledged adults. The answer appears to be the institutions can and are allowed to make these rules, and they can now be enforced to the letter of the law, as students are no longer under juvenile protection. Students sometimes overlook that older adults on college campuses are under the same rules and regulations.

Actually, merchants will have a stronger position in forcing payment of past due accounts on the 18 to 20 year olds now than in the past.

One banking officials said, "They're going to have to show their ability to pay and they're going to have to pay their debts as they accrue them."

Schools can prohibit alcoholic beverages from campuses, whether high school or college. WTSU even dropped the 21-year-old privilege in requiring unmarried students to live in dormitories.

Whether or not 18-year-olds are ready to become adults or not is now a mute question. But several interesting interviews with students leaders over the state this year while the legislature was contemplating the new legislation indicate a mixed feeling among students.

Some students indicated that they themselves feel ready to assume adult responsibilities but were quick to say that some of their friends and classmates were not ready for these privileges in their opinion. However, this conclusion could be drawn for any age group, from 18 to 80, when the yardstick of accepting responsibilities is used.

Some merchants seem to think that the younger adults will be considering more purchases such as automobiles, tape players, etc., since they do not have to have parental approval of these purchases now. However, with insurance rates like they are on automobile ownership, tighter credit regulations, young adults may find that the old way will be cheaper in the long run. Dad has a credit standing and the 18-year-olds will have to establish their own.

What Other Editors Say

Double Standard!

Perhaps the Cadillac of business magazines is Business Week. Its lead editorial last week says in part:

"The willingness of the nation to coddle its farmers at the expense of consumers and at the risk of another round of roaring inflation is beyond human comprehension. It cannot be explained by the waning political power of the farm bloc. And it certainly cannot be justified by any rational economic policy. It must be attributed to sheer force of habit."

"This week, the Administration stood by nervously as an increasingly severe beef shortage threatened to make a mess of Phase IV price controls before they even begin to operate. The ceiling on beef prices is supposed to continue until Sept. 12, and so cattlemen are holding their animals off the market, expecting to get higher prices if they sell them in the fall."

"This is a clear case of economic blackmail. If any other industry—say autos or steel—tried it, the Justice Dept. would plaster it with anti-trust charges. Instead, an unchastened cattle industry was allowed to descend on Washington to demand the end of ceilings."

"Meanwhile, Congress has been putting together a 1973 farm policy bill that is loaded with unnecessary and highly inflationary price support features. At first the Administration put on a brave front and threatened veto. In a moment of common sense, the conference committee returned the bills to House and State for further consideration. But instead of pressing the advantage, Agriculture Secretary, Butz now says the Administration will accept a compromise that is, ineffect, a capitulation."

Again we see the almost total ignorance of the economic facts of life as they involve agriculture, not only in the business community but among people who should know better.

Year after year we have watched the price of farm products drop near or below the cost of production. This has resulted in a mass exodus of the small, family farmer from the farm to the city.

Farm sales have long dominated the classified ad sections of the daily papers.

The farm population has dropped everywhere, even in such good agricultural counties as Swisher.

The 1970 census reflected that only three agricultural counties in Texas reflected growth—and this was due to urban areas spill-labor, and all other non-farm segments of society, a move develops to put the farmer back in his place!

A fool should be able to understand the cattleman's position at this time as well as the position of the meat packer. With the cost of feed rising, the cost of beef must necessarily rise. And certainly the meat packer cannot pay more for beef when his price is frozen.

The present chaos in the beef industry should have been anticipated by everyone including the government.

Yet, we have Business Week advocate a double standard one for agriculture, another for the rest of the economy.

BYRON BALDWIN

There were 16 names in the list of those who had turned their backs on the Hall County Fairgrounds last week. The past week was the last time that this fair is really being held at the White House.

We will need hostesses in Heritage Hall Saturday and Sunday Sept. 15-16. If you can serve, call Mrs. Otis Cobb or Mrs. Floyd McIntush.

Visiting in Hall County Heritage Hall the past week were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. TURRENTINE and son, George, of Schenectady, N. Y. Mrs. Turrentine will be remembered as Elwanda Jones, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jones who were early day residents here. Elwanda graduated from MHS in 1942. She married Edward Turrentine in 1945 and they have two daughters and two sons. I asked Ed where he was reared and he said in several towns as his father was a Methodist minister who was pastor of several churches in West Texas. Elwanda and Ed first met in the Methodist Church at Lubbock while Ed was attending Texas Tech. Their son, George, is enrolling in medical school at Texas Tech.

He recently graduated from Niskayuna High School at Schenectady. Ed has been working for General Electric the past 28 years. The grandparents of Elwanda were Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Jones (now deceased) and also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jones. All of the children of Wilbur Jones are now living. Melvin, who is a minister, is now pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church at Jackson, Miss.; Ida of Stephenville; Winford, who is pastor of the Putman Methodist Church of Oklahoma City; Durand, now with the Post Office Department in Amarillo; Glendell is pastor of one of the Methodist Churches in Dallas. Rayburn is a doctor of philosophy in Birmingham, Ala. Rayburn was named for Sam Rayburn who was an evangelist and held several meetings here in the early days. Reports on others were that Mrs. Julius Jones is now living in Amarillo and Mrs. Arthur (Read) Travis is living in the Dallas area. Some of the teachers Elwanda remembered here were Beth Lemons, Joyce Sheets, Mary Foreman, Sam Cowan, Norman Heath, Noah Cunningham and Miss Ira Hammond whom she visited for a while and also with Jaurez (the parrot) who is now 45 years old and still talking.

Elwanda has been a booster and contributor to Heritage Hall since it first started. She sent us a rubber plant last year in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jones. She has the money-pod board ordered from Hawaii to be made into a stand for our registration book. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Turrentine for their generous contribution last week while visiting Heritage Hall. Elwanda used several different words in describing what she thought of the displays. She came up with the answer that she liked it all very much and was coming back and take more time to look things over.

Another visitor in Heritage Hall was Mrs. David Brown of Wheeler. She is the former Kim Wheeler of Wheeler who married David Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown who were former residents of Memphis.

Jeff Scott of Amarillo—Many of you will remember Jeff Scott's mother as the little Paschall girl, daughter of the late Mack and Mrs. Paschall of Memphis. We had her nicknamed "Peanut" when she made the barrel races. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roland of Lubbock were other visitors.

J. E. Hughes came in Heritage Hall a few days ago with a surprise package under his arm. He called this fruit a cantaloupe, which was hard to believe from the shape of it as it measured out 21 inches long and 6 1/2 inches in diameter. The final name he gave this melon was "banana cantaloupe". He raised this on dry land about 3 miles north of the city limits where he and his wife make their home. They have two children and five grandchildren. Their son is J. E. III and their grandson is J. E. IV. J. E. No. 1 operated a ranch east of Memphis a number of years.

Visiting in Heritage Hall last Saturday were Mrs. C. L. Mixon of Amarillo and daughters, Clara Gales of Tulsa and Gladys Turner of Sacramento, Calif. Gladys graduated from MHS in 1945. Clara said she attended school at Salisbury and after finishing there she decided to go to school there another year of their highest grade. The Mixon family came to Hall County in 1926. They moved to Clarendon in 1948. C. L. passed away in 1970. There are now 8 children living in this family. They had a reunion Sunday, Aug. 19, with all 8 of the children present. There were 48 members of the family present for this occasion. Mrs. Mixon has two sisters now living and all three of them are widows. These sisters have a get-together visit one time each year.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sanders of Clarendon were visitors in Heritage Hall the past week. They moved to this part of Texas in 1919. They lived in the Antelope

STATE FAIR OF TEXAS

World Gateways Exposition

The eyes of the world will be focused on Dallas in October when two important events transpire: the opening of the world's largest and most modern airport, and the State Fair's 88th production, titled "World Gateways Exposition", Oct. 6-21. Exhibits, entertainment and products from nations 'round the globe will parade before the more than three million Fair-goers who keep the turnstiles clicking every year for the two weeks run of the Fair. New automobiles and fashions, furniture and appliances and cookery, along with livestock and roller coasters will make up the 1973 Fair. The well-loved, romantic operetta, Sigmund Romberg's Student Prince will open Oct. 5 for 20 performances in the plush Music Hall in Fair Park.

Flat and Brice areas 39 years on the Grady brothers land. They lived in Memphis several years and moved to Clarendon in 1969. They have 6 sons, all now living, 29 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren. They recently celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary with all of their sons present for this occasion.

Other visitors in Heritage Hall last week were Kyle and Kodi Hardin of Matador and Rhonda Bowman of Estelline.

Melissa Smith of Irving had as her guest in Heritage Hall her friend, Beverly Alexander of Dallas. Melissa is the granddaughter of Mrs. Roy Patton and Mrs. Carl Smith.

I had a short visit with Chas. Payne from the Donley County feed lots who reported they were getting along fine on their program. They now have 9,000 on feed in their pens. When the new pens are completed, they can take care of 20,000 head. They sold and moved out of their pens 6,000 head in 10 weeks time. This sounds pretty big business to me. According to Mr. Payne, the accident last Saturday was the first major accident they have had since operating the feed pens. I received an interim report a few days ago that showed the DeRose Industries had net earnings per share for 3 months period ending June 30, as being 17 times as much as it was the same 3 months in 1972. The DeRose is a 28-year-old producer of mobile homes. They have 8 manufacturing plants; only two of these plants in Texas (Bonham and Memphis). The other plants are in Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana, North Carolina and Minnesota. Congratulations to them on this good report.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Davis of Paducah were visitors in Heritage Hall the past week. Mrs. Davis will be remembered by her schoolmates as Mary Gardner, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gardner. This family moved to Hall County in 1916. J. G. (Chief, as he was called by his many friends) Gardner was born Feb. 18, 1888, in Bochna, Okla., and was reared in the Armstrong Indian Academy in Bochna. He was of the Choctaw Indian Tribe. He married Willie Cassell in Childress Feb. 20, 1908, by Rev. (Continued on Page 9)

Memphis Band Booster Club Meets; Mrs. Raymond E. Martin Is New Pres.

The Memphis Band Booster Club held a special meeting on Monday evening, Aug. 27, at 7:30 p. m. in the high school band hall. The first item of business was the election of officers for the coming year of '73-74.

They are as follows: president, Mrs. Raymond E. Martin; first vice president, Mrs. Johnny Farnsworth; second vice president, Mrs. Bob Douthit; secretary, Mrs. Marion E. Posey; treasurer, Mrs. Alvin Phillips; calendar chairman, Mrs. Ronald Wilson; and bus chairman, Mrs. Boyce Bruce.

The community calendar sales and membership drive will start soon, members said. A planning session will be held on Tuesday evening Sept. 4, at 8 p. m., in the home of Mrs. Ronald Wilson. Membership dues are the same as last year, $3 per family, it was announced. If not personally contacted, dues may be paid at the Big O Restaurant and at Memphis Glass and Supply.

Miss Carol Blain, band director, gave a summary of the coming schedule for the high school band. She stated that there were 59 students in the Cyclone Band and that they were preparing for halftime shows at the football games. Their progress is coming along nicely, she said. Marching contest will be held earlier this year than last—October 16; the Christmas Concert will be Dec. 16. The Cyclone Band has again been invited to go to the band day at Six Flags Over Texas next spring. The band was invited to participate last year, but they were unable to attend. Plans are being made to attend this spring.

Miss Blain also made a statement concerning the committee who listened and judged the tapes last July for the Honor Band of Texas. Memphis is a 1-A school and it was so stated on the tape, but somehow the band was put into the 3-A category. As a result, the Cyclone Band competed with other 3-A bands. By the time the mistake was discovered, the Class 1-A Honor Band had been selected and notified. The judges did listen to the honor band tape and the Memphis band's tape on a comparison basis, but the final outcome could not be changed since notification had been made already, she stated. It was a big disappointment for the Cyclone Band, but they plan to try again, Miss Blain said.

The boosters made plans to collect and turn in all aluminum cans possible to help pay the expenses for the band to go to Six Flags Over Texas next spring. The club plans to raise as much money as possible by the "Cans For The Band" campaign.

Since Labor Day falls on the next regular meeting day, it was decided to meet the next week with the next regular meeting being held Sept. 10 at 7:30 p. m. in the band hall. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Band Boosters To Collect Empty Aluminum Cans

"With so much interest over the country in ecology these days, Memphis, Texas, will not be outdone by anyone," says Mrs. Raymond Martin, president of the Memphis Band Boosters Club.

The local club, after holding a business meeting Monday evening, has decided they too shall join the ranks and march against litter in the community.

The Memphis High School Band has been invited to play at the special band festival at Six Flags Over Texas next spring and extra funds will be needed to help send all the band students to Arlington. Therefore the local band boosters club has decided to help with the finances and thus the decision, "Cans For the Band."

With so many people leaning toward a litter free community, the boosters have decided to collect all aluminum cans possible. This is one way to help raise money for the band and to do some good for Memphis as well, members stated.

Anyone having any aluminum cans is asked to save them for the boosters. Collection points will be set up and announced at a later date. "If you cannot make it to a collection point, just let us know and we'll pick them up for you," Mrs. Martin said.

Mrs. Martin stated that only the best bands in the state are invited to participate in the Six Flags festival and this is another honor to add to the list of those attributed to the Cyclone Band.

Memphis Schools Have Near Same No. Of Students

Memphis Public Schools have a total enrollment of 799 students it was announced last week by Supt. Bill H. Wood.

This is an increase of 10 over the 789 enrollment at the beginning of school last year, however, there are 15 students enrolled in the newly established kindergarten program, and 20 students enrolled in the head start kindergarten program. This is about the same number of head start kindergartners as last year, so actual enrollment is off about five students.

Enrollment is broken down, building wise, to 240 in High School, 196 in Junior High, 125 in Austin Elementary and 229 in Travis Elementary.

Enrollment is up slightly in the top four grades, figures show.

About Pride

"For God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble."
—Proverbs 3:34

Pride is often justified. One should be pleased when a job is well done, or a good deed accomplished. Any responsibility well met is reason enough for a feeling of pride.

False pride is something else. When an individual "looks down his nose" at the world, feels responsible only to himself, and cares not what happens to others so long as personal wants are satisfied, then such a person is without grace and does not find favor in the eyes of God.

To be humble does not require getting down on the knees, or bowing the head. And, humbleness merits rewards. We need only remember the story of the banquet guest who took a seat down the table and was then publicly asked to move to a higher position.

SHORT SNORTS

The Texas Democratic party will put on a show of its own during the September 15, national party fund-raising telethon (NE-C) and expects to get about $150,000 in operating money for the effort.

Texas Public Interest Research Group (TexPirg) charged "sexual discrimination" in hiring practices of three government agencies.

The State Highway Department has moved for dismissal of an Austin federal district court injunction blocking the San Antonio North Expressway.

DPS predicts 42 will lose their lives during the Labor Day weekend in traffic accidents.

The cotton stalk destruction deadline in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been extended until midnight September 30, from August 31.

The constitutional convention:

21 battalions. Summer training will be at Fort Hood, largest armor training camp.

Insurance Deals Targeted

New Insurance Board rules aim to halt rate discrimination and unfair competition in property and casualty insurance.

Board Chairman Joe Christie said some non-rate-regulated companies, including Lloyds and reciprocals, offer unrealistically low rates to prime risks with the intention of having ultimate liability assumed by a rate-regulated company.

Christie said the "brother-in-law" deals can result only in higher rates for the majority of policyholders.

"A farce has slowly but surely been perpetrated when a large company either forms a Lloyds, or even rents one by one scheme or another, for the purpose of evading this state's regulatory laws," Christie said.

TOURISM GAINS

Tourism gained modestly through July with attendance at attractions up one per cent and highway tourist bureau services up nearly five per cent for the first seven months of 1973.

Forty-seven attractions reported 29.7 million visitors, a gain of 300,000 over January-July, 1972.

DOCUMENTS DEMANDED

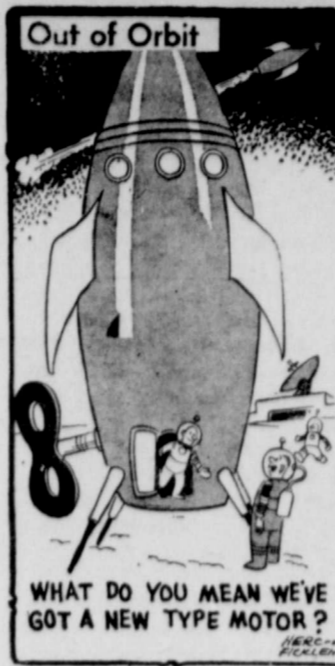

House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. called on the Department of Public Safety to release to him and the public documents on a House committee vending machine industry probe, held confidential for six years.

Daniel directed Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir to deliver the tapes and other records Monday (August 27), and called a news conference at the same time.

He said the open meetings law, House rules and the new public access to information act require free public access to government documents except in most-extraordinary circumstances.

Hall County Is Ahead In Buying Power

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—Hall County stood out as a better-than-average market during the past year, according to a national survey of business activity, just released.

Its relative strength was manifest in the rising level of earnings in the area and in the amount of consumer spending in local retail stores.

The figures bearing this out are contained in the new, copy righted "Survey of Buying Power," released by Sales Management, the marketing publication which presents comparable data of income and spending for all parts of the country.

It shows that the amount of disposable income in the hands of Hall County residents was above average.

Their total net income, after payment of personal taxes, came to $17,571,000, as against the previous year's $15,941,000.

Just how much this came to, or a per family basis, is indicated by the median cash income per household, which is the midpoint on the local income scale. It is mounted to a net of $5,316, as against the previous year's $5,067.

With that much money available to them for discretionary spending and with an unusually large nest egg of savings on hand ready and waiting to be used, local consumers could be expected to be in the marketplace in force and they were.

They reversed their prior spending attitude, which was to avoid big-ticket purchases while inflation was rampant, and decided to open their purse strings again.

The reasoning was that prices would be going still higher and it would be best to buy now rather than later.

As a result, the demand for cars, furniture, TV sets and household appliances zoomed.

Retail sales in Hall County reached a grand total of $9,859,000, as compared with the previous year's $9,142,000.

During the months immediately ahead, consumer spending will continue at a high rate, most economists believe. That, in turn will cause prices to rise ever further, since factory production is unable to keep up with demand at present.

While visiting at Hall County Hospital last Saturday, I found there were patients from 8 towns outside of Memphis. One of the patients I visited made this remark, "They sure serve good food in this hospital."

They have another new modern machine in the hospital that is really automatic. Chester Neel gave me a demonstration of this automatic blood counter. It will count the red cells and then reverse and count the white cells faster than you can count.

Closing this column with a poem Sylvia Lewis us that she retrieved from a small town newspaper in Louisiana where she was visiting a few days ago entitled "Pity the Poor Little Mistreated Consumer".

"They can raise the price of liquor and the only squeal you hear is from a thirsty public which demands more gin and beer. The same thing with tobacco they'll pay without a peep, and smoke at least as heavy as they did when it was cheap. But raise the price of milk! Oh Boy! They'll fight with all their breath. They have a growing youngster 'Who is sure to starve to death!' They don't ask for bigger wages just to spend it all on milk. They'll show these wicked milkmen their scheming, theiving ilk. They'll march with hoisted banner; they'll cable, write or wire; They'll drag the local dairymen by the whiskers through the mire. They Won't mind paying raises on their whiskey, smokes and silk But not the slightest fraction will they tolerate on milk!"

Hall County Has 325,000 acres
 Of Rangeland

According to John Wright of the Soil Conservation Service, there are 325,000 acres of rangeland in Hall County.

Although ranching is economically secondary to cotton farming in Hall County, Wright states that, range resources are highly important today and probably even more so than in the past. Consequently, management plays an important role in the continued use and enjoyment of this land use.

Wright believes that, in order to properly plan a well balanced program of management on rangelands, all components of the "ecosystem" must fully be understood. They include not only vegetation and soil, but also the associated atmosphere, water, and animal life. Ecosystem components including vegetation, soil, water, air, fire, animals, topography, temperature, solar energy, an man-are closely and completely interrelated. Any influence on one ecosystem component affects the other components.

He stated that although sometimes regarded primarily as sources of forage for livestock, rangelands are important for many essential uses and benefits including water, wildlife, recreation, open space, aesthetic values, and the purification of the air we breathe.

Wright is convinced that the most important of all in management of rangeland is the understanding of the basic resource-plants. Requirements and needs of plants be provided for in a good management program to sustain and improve the native vegetation. Plants are living things, and as such, have definite requirements for soil, water, air sunlight, and for a place to grow.

Many people believe plants get their food from the soil, but this is not true. If we analyze a sample of soil, we would find no proteins, no starches or sugars, no fats-in fact, no food. What we would find, however, are minerals such as nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, lime, sulphur, iron, and several others. These are "raw materials". When water is available and temperatures are favorable the plant absorbs these minerals and water through its roots. It then moves them up into its leaves where, with energy furnished by the sun, these raw materials are combined with air and "manufactured" into food. Actually about 95 per cent of the total plant comes from carbon and other elements which the plant takes from the air. The green part of the plant then is the "food factory". This is the only place where food is actually manufactured.

This food is used to feed themselves and to feed our grazing animals. Healthy, thrifty grass plants are wonderful efficient machines. They produce the cheapest livestock feed available. Economic limitations dictate that the Texas Livestock Industry be based upon this cheapest of all sources of high quality feed.

Wright stated that grass and other good forage plants are the crop on grasslands. Livestock merely provide a good way to harvest this grass crop and of changing it into livestock products. Grass goes to market on the hoof or in the sack in the form of beef, lamb, wool or mohair-or even in the form of hunting leases. Thus, the real measure of production on our grasslands is not the number or quality of livestock we own, nor even the number of acres we control, but the amount and quality of forage plants we produce and how we use that forage.
