Queen Contest To Be Held In Connection With National Enduro

A Queen contest will be held in connection with the 2nd annual Cotton Boll National Enduro to be held in Memphis Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 27 and 28, Jim Ed Wines, manager of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring organization stated this week. Any single girl between the ages of 16 and 22 may enter the contest. Entry deadline is Oct. 15 and 30 girls may enter as contestants.

The queen contestants will ride in the Panhandle Cotton Boll Parade Saturday at 3:00 p. m. and all contestants will serve as the official hostesses all day Saturday. The Miss Cotton Boll National Queen Contest is not a beauty contest. It is simply an opportunity for the girls to help serve the Chamber of Commerce in hosting the event. Miss Cotton Boll National will be crowned at 8:00 p. m. Saturday evening in the Community Center. Each rider who has entered the contest will have one vote and his vote will be cast by written ballot during the Hamburger Feast on Saturday afternoon which is at the Community Center from 5 to 7 p. m. Queen contestants must be able to do a television taping session for a 30 minute show on television station KGNC in Amarillo. The Memphis Chamber of Commerce will escort the contestants from Memphis on Wednesday, Oct. 17, at 5:00 p. m. for the taping in Amarillo. Dress for the television show will be a nice pant suit.

The Memphis Cyclone will be hosting the McLean Tigers in the second round of District 2-A play Friday night in Cyclone Stadium with game time set at 7:30 p. m. Coach Clyde McMurray said Wednesday following workouts that the starting offensive and defensive units for the Cyclone will be just about as they were last Friday night against Claude.

The Cyclone coach however did point out that FB Jim Dixon could see action on offense this week, as a fullback and as a tailback. FB Don Davis, HB Charles Bryley, QB Wayne Davis and sometimes HB Earl Ray Wright and HB-FB Gary McKay will be seeing action.

At offensive ends will be James Beck and Bobby Hall, with Candy Reyes and Keneth Fields at tackles, Mark Bradshaw and Jimmy Booth at guards and Jay Campbell at center.

Defensively the Cyclone will start with defensive ends Jimmy Booth and Don Davis, Tackles Ben Smith and Lyndel Orcutt, Noseguard Duck Richards, Linebackers Mark Bradshaw, Jim Dixon and either Candy Reyes or Mark McQueen, with Safeties Earl Ray Wright, James Beck and Ronnie Browning.

Coach McMurray told Memphis Boosters Tuesday night that his team has been working hard on fundamentals and on executing their assignments, with most of the work being done live. "We have been working about equally on defensive and offensive plays," the coach said.

McLean Tigers
Coach McMurray said when Memphis played Crowell earlier in the season that he felt Crowell was the biggest and strongest bunch of players he thought his team would meet but after scouting McLean he said the Tigers can match Crowell, size per size. "They are big and they are impressive with sheer power," the coach said.

An examination of the roster indicates obvious concern as a physically bruising contest appears imminent when these two teams meet.

The Tigers of Coach Bill Nit-cholas are predominately a senior ball club with Joe Riley, 170, senior at quarterback, Gary Griffin at tailback at 160, Tony Henley, 175, at halfback and the fullback has been Bobby Crockett, 185, at times this season, however, another lad has played there also.

Wesley Brown, 225 lb. senior end and Tackle Milton Best at 245 gives the Tiger line considerable weight, with Jim Seaney at 185 at tackle. Split end is Skeet Lowery at 155.

McLean is considered big, experienced, and tougher than the Tigers were last year. They defeated Valley High 35-0 in district opener last week. The Tigers also defeated Groom a strong Class B club, earlier in the season. They lost to Shamrock in the season opener.

District Opponents
While McLean was downing Valley 35 to 0, Memphis dropped Claude 35 to 18. Clarendon defeated Wellington 32 to 6 and Wheeler downed Silvertown 26 to 13. Memphis, Clarendon, Wheeler and McLean all remain in the undefeated column in district play. Wellington plays Wheeler tomorrow night, while Clarendon plays Valley and Claude meets Silvertown.

GRASS WAGON—Memphis Firemen have entered into contract to purchase a new wagon like the one shown above to fight grass and rural fires. Local firemen have received several donations toward purchase of the new equipped vehicle and are thankful for any help or assistance, since the firemen themselves, not the Fire Dept., is handling the purchase. The old Army Surplus wagon is also shown. Firemen indicate this piece of equipment is most necessary in giving rural fire fighting service to this area. Firemen report it will take 60 days to equip the new truck, once the truck arrives. Local volunteers report that the title to the truck will be given to the Memphis Fire Dept. "It will allow the department to carry more water to rural fires and we will be able to carry two trucks and still have one here," a spokesman said.

Inflation . . . Shortages!

Inflation has been gnawing at the economic roots of the free world, at such a fast pace during the past four years that Americans are concerned to such an extent that it is considered this nation's No. 1 problem today.

But we read reports which stagger the imagination. Like this one, "Secretary of Commerce Frederick Dent said recently that the causes of the inflation now bedeviling the U. S. and most of the world are 'impersonal' and 'natural'."

A rather frightening thought—that inflation and all the woes it brings are beyond human control. If so, then why are Americans paying billions of dollars to the Government to protect our economy from the perils of booms and depressions?

We are no authority on inflation causes or anything else but it appears to us that causes of the present inflation seem, in fact, to be a lot less "natural" than Mr. Dent's remarks indicate.

A local citizen, Bill Leslie, made a florist sponsored trip to Japan and countries in that part of the world and one of the remarks he made about the tour was that prices in those countries are risen 25 percent each year for the past four years.

We read where some government leaders are advocating increased taxation on citizens of this country to help against inflation. But we read that Americans, every man, woman and child are paying more money in taxes each year than what they spend on: housing, food, clothing, transportation (of all kinds) health care, schooling and everything else needed for the operation of a family. Taxes are taking 40 percent of total incomes in this country.

Most economists agree that the reason inflation has grown so rapidly is that money supply was allowed to expand too fast in 1972 and in the first half of 1973. The money supply is subject to control by the Federal Reserve Board, with the advice of the presidents of a number of Federal Reserve Banks who serve on the Federal Open Market Committee.

This is no "impersonal" body. It is a group of trained men who, in common with all of us, can make mistakes. At the same time, the Federal Government was running some of the largest deficits since World War II. This meant it was passing out dollars for people to spend faster than it was taking them in through taxes and other revenues. In the process, the Treasury was borrowing heavily, complicating the life of the Federal Reserve.

These things were not impersonal and natural causes of inflation. These were created by the President and Congress.

Sure, there are now natural causes for inflation. Agricultural markets, climbing because of big demands and short supplies, is a perfect example.

Americans are waking up to realize that short supplies in many areas of this nation's economy, although to a certain extent being created by natural causes, are now, and have been effected considerably by government management (or mismanagement).

Not buying happiness

A Senate subcommittee has heard testimony from a number of experts who believe the American family today is not as happy as it forebears, despite the unassailable fact that it is much more affluent.

Complaints ran a gamut from a prosperous factory manager's statement that he was "sick and tired" of the nation's preoccupation with minorities and wished "someone would worry about my family," to a worker who said his job "is my whole life . . . I feel like a guy running hard just to keep in the same position."

The director of the Bureau of the Census, Vincent P. Barabba, testified that median family income has tripled in the last 20 years in this country. But other witnesses spoke of widespread malaise and dissatisfaction in the American family.

This seems to support the ancient bromide that money can't buy happiness, and we don't doubt for a minute that the savants who bore witness to the phenomenon knew where of they spoke. A recital of the frustrations and insecurities of modern life would fill a book—indeed have filled whole libraries of books—and in comparison with life today human existence even a short generation ago seems serene and untroubled.

We wonder, however, if the nostalgia that softens our view of the past doesn't also obscure some harsh realities that we've forgotten. Our fathers and grandfathers had their problems and their prophets of doom, just as we have. If they appear to have endured travail with more fortitude than our own generation can muster, there may be a dozen explanations why is so. Our own guess would have something to do with rising expectations outstripping even the dizzy growth of affluence, a sort of a the-more-we-get-the-more-we-want syndrome.

As for finding a palliative for the mass disappointment that seems to afflict our culture, however, we confess puzzlement. But perhaps the energy shortage will do it for us. We recall shoveling coal and hauling out ashes as deeply therapeutic exercises, and there's no reason to suppose they won't be good for us again, if it comes to that.

A Very Bad Idea

One wonders whether there is a national conspiracy afoot to make life more difficult for middle-class parents hoping to send their sons and daughters to moderately priced colleges.

A few months back the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education recommended that publicly supported colleges double their tuition over the next 10 years and use the extra revenue to provide more scholarships for the poor.

It was a negative idea in July —almost as though Robin Hood had flunked economics—and it's an equally negative idea in Oct.

Yet now we have the business-backed Committee for Economic Development saying public colleges should double, or even triple, their tuitions so that more scholarship money would be available.

The parents of middle-class students, meanwhile, would have to borrow even more than they're borrowing now to send their children to colleges they support generously with high taxes.

Not only is this an unfair assault on budgets already pinched by inflation, it completely ignores the fact that states and communities have set up low-tuition colleges, at considerable cost, because they believe such schools are an asset to all families, rich and poor.

Society has a responsibility to make sure that no young person is deprived of a chance to learn simply because of his economic status.

But this should be done by expanding educational opportunity, at community expense, rather than by penalizing one hard-pressed family to benefit another.

Inflation?

An Astronaut, assigned to a 20-year orbital flight around our solar system, phoned his stock broker before blasting off and told him to invest $1,000 for him.

Twenty years later, his space ship returned. As soon as he could get to a phone, he called his broker.

"Glad to hear you got back safely."

"Thanks, how'd my stock do?"

"Great. You made three million dollars."

The astronaut was excited.

"Oh boy, I'm set for life, I can retire. Buy a new house, car, my own airplane . . ."

The long distance operator interrupted.

"Your three minutes are up. Please deposit another million dollars."

Mr., Mrs. W. D. McCool Honored At Dumas Ex-Student Homecoming

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McCool, longtime Dumas school employees now retired, and former long-time Memphis residents, were the honored guests of the 1973 Dumas homecoming.

Mr. and Mrs. McCool have been associated with the Dumas school system since 1951. McCool was a school custodian, maintenance man, and bus driver, and Mrs. McCool was the high school librarian.

The McCools moved to Dumas from Lefors. "It felt as if we were home in Memphis since there were almost as many Hall county folks in Dumas as there were back there," McCool declared.

The couple was married in August, 1924, at Memphis when the Hall county town was a thriving cotton growing area.

During those years in Memphis, when raising a family, McCool had a number of jobs including that of a truck driver and with the Memphis school district.

"Dyke McMurry and I drove the first two school buses the school district there purchased," he recalls. "They payed us $30 a month."

Mrs. McCool became interested in a teaching career while substituting in the Memphis schools during World War II.

"I went back to college and got my bachelor's degree from Texas Tech in 1946," Mrs. McCool recalls.

The beginning teacher started her new career at Lefors where the couple lived for five years before moving to Dumas.

While his wife was the high school librarian, McCool held a number of assignments in the Dumas System. Besides driving a school bus, he was custodian at Dumas High school and at the junior high. He was also chief of school bus maintenance for a time.

"I like all the kids that I had dealings with during those years," McCool says. "There's a lot of them we still remember very well and who come to see us when they are here," his wife adds.

Owners Urged To Have Animals Vaccinated Against Encephalomyelitis

Owners who have not yet had their animals vaccinated against three types of equine encephalomyelitis in 1973 should have their local practicing veterinarians about a vaccination. The Memphis County Extension Agent W. B. Hooser said.

Reports that an outbreak of encephalomyelitis has occurred in an area north of Memphis near Silsbee and Lumberton near Silsbee have died and although a confirmatory diagnosis is still not possible, it is possible that the disease is in the form of sleeping sickness.

Local veterinarians have sent samples of blood to the Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory and to the National Animal Diagnostic Laboratory, Ames, Iowa.

It is highly possible that the disease is caused by either Eastern or Western strain of equine encephalomyelitis, local veterinarians say there is no indication that the horse deaths have been caused by Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) that invaded Texas in 1971.

"The three types of equine encephalomyelitis can cause serious illness and even death in humans as well as horses," the county agent reminds, "so it is important to prevent its spread in the horse population."

There are effective vaccines for use in horses, but each protects the animal only against one particular strain of the disease. "That is, Eastern and Western vaccines do not protect horses against VEE, nor vice versa," Hooser said.

Horses vaccinated against VEE in 1971 should be revaccinated, and Eastern and Western vaccines should be repeated each year.

Control of mosquitoes will help prevent the disease spread, said Hooser. He recommends the use of insecticide repellents, screened stables where practical, and area control of mosquitoes.

Do you really save when you shop out of town?

Do so-called "big city discounts" really cover the cost of getting there? Next time you consider an out-of-town shopping trip take a minute to estimate the cost of gasoline, oil, tire depreciation and parking. Consider out-of-town service, misfit exchanges, no-fit returns and warranty repairs. And don't forget that money spent out of town keeps traveling while money spent at home returns in community improvements. Add it all up. When you face the facts don't be afraid to change your mind and shop at home.

Members Of UDC Enjoy Luncheon In Mrs. Bray Cook Home September 11

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Roy Gresham, president, presided during the business session and led in the Rituals to the flags. Mrs. Glynn Thompson gave an informative preview of the year's programs. It was noted that the Memphis chapter was organized 65 years ago Sept. 10.

For the program, Mrs. Gresham gave an interesting paper on the origin and history of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. She stated that the organization was founded Sept. 10, 1884, in Missouri. The story of the U. D. C. began with a group of loyal and patriotic women of Missouri who recognized the need for homes for the disabled veterans. The demands on the home they established were so great that they encouraged other southern states to establish places to render aid to the disabled. Each southern state accepted the responsibility of creating homes for their maimed, the crippled ex-soldiers. This was the beginning of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. In 1894, in Nashville, Tenn., the organization was nationalized.

Mrs. Gresham concluded by saying, "We express our gratitude for the untiring efforts of the founders of United Daughters of the Confederacy, who conceived the idea of a nation-wide organization of Southern Women of Confederate Ancestry. The purpose of the organization is social, literary, historical, monumental, honorable and without any political significance."

The unfinished business was discussed and members settled or prices of 80 cents for a large bowl of chili and 50 cents for a small bowl. The time set for the Halloween bingo party is 6:30 p. m.

After a business discussion, the club was dismissed by Roxie Orcutt.

Lena Hill and Cordye Hood served refreshments to the following members: Clara Cowan, Roxie Orcutt, Leona Burk, Billy Potts, Nell Burk, Clessie Jouet, Darlene Morris, Lucille Robinson, Bessie Latham, Celeste Ward, Georgia Bowman, Erlene Trapp.

Culture Club Meets In Home Of Mrs. Gurley

The Woman's Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Ward Gurley October 3, for a regular meeting.

Mrs. Jim Lange called the meeting to order and conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. Pat Lewis introduced the program and Mrs. Nat Bradley brought an inspiring devotional using the Song of Solomon 2nd chapter, emphasizing the lily of the valleys.

Mrs. Robert Moss told of four unique art spots in Texas. In El Paso where the whole town is involved in the buying and showing art works, especially Western Art, and encouraging private showings. At Faint Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, ranchers, have presented and opened to the public one-half mile of Indian Pictographs on a cliff near the Concho River. Some of the pictographs were probably sketched around 1090. In Fort Worth the Amon G. Carter Western Museum was established in accordance to the will of Mr. Carter and it is unique in that most of the art work is accompanied by a book or books on the subject. Then in Weatherford the famous English portrait artist, Candor, has designed one of the most beautiful gardens in the world.

Refreshments were served to one new member, Miss Linda Haygood, and Mmes Nat Bradley, A. W. Howard, Jeanette Irons, Jim Lange, Pat Lewis, Robert Moss, L. A. Stilwell, Theo Swift, and Misses Alma Bruce, Sybil Gurley, Esta McElrath and hostess, Mrs. Ward Gurley.

Sewing Club members answered roll call by reading favorite Bible verses.

The group will meet at Mrs. Larry Simpson's for Thanksgiving dinner.

Mona Robertson presented the thought for the day: "Love One another", (Gal. 6; 1-6). Mrs. Myrtle Hammons read the poem: "I Know Something Good About You."

Mona Robertson, the hostess, received a hostess gift and served refreshments to Mmes. Lucy Phillips, Larry Simpson, Emma Stevens, Myrtle Hammon, Mona Robertson, Pauline Wilson, Loyd Robertson and Estelle Barber. Mrs. Emma Stevens led the closing prayer.

1913 Study Club To Sponsor Church Wagon Supper

Mrs. R. S. Greene was hostess when the 1913 Study Club met the afternoon of October 3. Mrs. Gayle Greene, as president, welcomed the new members, Mmes. Jack Montgomery, Bernice McCoy and Mrs. Bill Boggs and presided throughout the business session of the afternoon meeting. She also welcomed a guest, Mrs. Don Long.

Various matters of business were handled and plans for the Chuck Wagon Supper October 20, at the Community Center were finalized.

Following through on the year's theme "Alert To The Times," the program was entitled "The Forgotten American." Mrs. M. G. Tarver gave the meditation entitled "Sunburst." This was followed by a talk by Mrs. Byron Baldwin using as much of her source material the thesis of her grandson, Jimmy Baldwin. In her talk, she elaborated on the plight of the Indians and emphasized their needs and capabilities under the thought provoking title "Do Moccasins Have no Boot Straps?"

Succeeding Mrs. Baldwin on the program was Virginia Browder, in Navajo costume, talking about Dee Brown's book, "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee." Reference was made to last spring's conformation at Wounded Knee, South Dakota between the government marshalls, the FBI agents, and the Oglala Sioux Indians in The Pine Ridge Reservation. By way of lightening the sad story of our exploitation of the Indians, she said that some folks who didn't follow the news too closely through "Buy My Heart at Wounded Knee" was a film starring Joe Namath.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess to eighteen regular members and one guest.

SPORTS CORNER

By BILL COMBS
Football fans in this area should become really involved in the gridiron wars as several crucial games are coming up within the next few weeks.

The Memphis Cyclone plays McLean Tigers here Friday night and this contest is one the Cyclone must win if the local team is to challenge the Clarendon Bronchos at Clarendon Stadium a week from Friday. The McLean Tigers are big this season, and are impressive in sheer power. The weatherman says rain is probably all day Thursday and is possible Friday, with temperatures in the cooler ranges expected.

I have visited the Cyclone training sessions some this week and have found the team working hard, paying attention to instructions, and I felt an intense undercurrent of emotion. Also, as is common, I caught a certain amount of good natured kidding from the older athletes, those who enjoy using "nicknames", but even this was less than I usually catch. It is obvious, the Cyclone team is taking the game of football very seriously this season.

Memphis fans can be proud of MHS athletes. They have become hard-nosed football competitors.

Past season's prove this and the 1973 edition of the Memphis Cyclone is a living example. Football in Class A in the Texas Panhandle is tough, competitive, demanding, and growing more and more complex year after year. Athletes competing are smarter, stronger and execute their assignments much better than in past years. And considering that the players are all volunteers, devoting their time and energies to represent their schools and towns on the gridiron, with no financial re-imburement, as the college and pro athletes get, what more can a community ask of their young men and young women.

Competition is the name of the game. We saw it at Claude Friday. The Mustangs battled to the finish even though they were behind all the way. The Cyclone will be favored against McLean but everyone is expecting the Tigers to be tough and aggressive, and the principal hope is that players from either team are not injured. But competition is to be seen in the remainder of the season.

I discussed recently the Cyclone defensive unit. I said it could well prove to be the best defensive unit Memphis has fielded since I have been covering the local team. Then, Claude ups and scores 18 points against the Cyclone Friday night. Personally, I haven't changed my opinion. Claude's offense impressed me more than any team we have played yet, because of QB Greg Forbes who passed a wet football perfectly and looked impressive carrying the football. Also, the Mustangs played with spirit, blocked better than I have seen a Claude team block, and their team's receivers hung on to the football. The Cyclone defense didn't execute as crisply as I'm sure the team would have liked to have done, but a muddy field created some slipping problems at times. I don't think the Cyclone defense needs any.

Offensively, the Cyclone showed obvious signs of improvement. Local fans noticed the absence of FB Dixon who set the offensive half of the game out allowing a minor ankle strain to heal. FB Don Davis got his chance and ripped off 109 yards so Jim obviously could rest. QB Wayne Davis directed an attack which could score almost at will against the Mustangs defense. The team moved the football on the ground and stayed on the ground most of the night. QB Davis is fast establishing himself as a runner and a passer to deal misery to opponents. In front of the Cyclone backfield is an offensive line which seems to be improving each week. Competition is keen at many positions on the Cyclone squad which brings about a healthy

Bob Bullock, Candidate For State Comptroller, Visits In Memphis

Bob Bullock, former Secretary of State, and now a candidate for State Comptroller, campaigned in Memphis recently. Bullock, 44, is the first Democratic candidate to announce for state office.

Born in Hillsboro, Bullock received his bachelors degree from Texas Tech in 1955 and earned his law degree in 1958 from Baylor Law School.

He served two terms as a member of the Texas House of Representatives, Chief of the Anti-Trust and Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office and Chief Legal Counsel for the Governor.

Most noteworthy, however, was Bullock's tenure as Secretary of State of Texas. There, he worked hard to clean up campaign financing in Texas and developed a fair and economical elections system.

During his tour, Bullock said, "Texas taxpayers are losing $82,500,000 in tax dollars each year situation.

To win crucial games, it takes a complete effort on everyone's part. Season's are made and lost on crucial games. Crucial games also bring out the finest performances of athletes so fans should be ready to pack the stadiums each Friday night.

because some retailers are pocketing the state and local sales taxes they collect instead of reporting it to the Comptroller.

"Frankly, I think it is ridiculous to talk of taxing food and medicine when ten percent (10%) of the sales taxes now being paid by our citizens is not being recovered by the State.

"As Comptroller, I will work to see that the taxes we now pay are not lost to some unscrupulous retailer because of faulty collection procedures by the State."

Bullock, a veteran of the Korean Conflict, resides in Austin with his wife and two children.

Memphis Wins Over Claude 35 to 18

Memphis Cyclone opened a quest for a district title with a 35 to 18 victory over Claude Friday night in Claude. The Cyclone extended their season mark to 1-0.

Coach Clyde looked really impressive on three of their first three drives to hold a 20 to 6 first quarter lead.

The Mustangs offensive unit came to play when QB Forbes led his team to a 14-0 lead. The only disappointment of the whole game was the loss of the Cyclone fans and players.

QB Forbes rolled out on the second play and was smashed by Cyclone defenders. QB Forbes rolled out on the second play and was smashed by Cyclone defenders.

Memphis next came into possession when Safety Ronnie Browning intercepted a Forbes pass and returned it to the Claude 47.

The Cyclone marched for one first down, then was stopped and a 46-yard field goal was attempted by Ben Smith. His kick was deep into Claude territory and was fielded by Merrell who only managed to get back to the Claude 18 before he was downed.

Claude got a drive going via the airways, but the drive fizzled on the Memphis 33.

The Cyclone fumbled the ball back to Claude on the Memphis 36, but Claude gave it up on downs on the Memphis 29. The Cyclone again fumbled the football on the Claude 46.

An unusual occurrence took place here, as Claude was called for intentionally grounding. Then, a pass play was intercepted by James Beck for Memphis but the Cyclone was called on a major violation and Claude got the ball.

On the next play, again James Beck intercepted (back to back interceptions). The half ended with Memphis in possession.

Momentum in the game shifted to Claude in the start of the second half as the Mustangs mounted a 69-yd. scoring drive. Quin Bagwell took it over from the two and a half yardline. A pass play for two points went incomplete.

With the score 20 to 12, the Cyclone's offense caught fire. Starting on the Memphis 37, one play, a carry by FB Don Davis ripped off 13 yards to the mid-field stripe. Then, QB Wayne Davis passed the ball to End James Beck and 33 yards later Beck was tripped up on the Claude 18.

had lost his footing on the slippery field. From the Memphis 25, QB Forbes passed to Mike Campbell out of the backfield to the Memphis 5 and Tony Stephenson took the ball over for the score. Again the Mustangs attempted a pass play but again it was broken up for no points.

The Cyclone came back and staged almost a picture perfect scoring drive. Beginning on the Memphis 27, HB Bryley made eight yards on two plays and QB Davis picked up the first down.

Then, FB Don Davis ripped for four yards, QB Wayne Davis added five more, and HB Bryley tackled on eight more yards to the Claude 46.

Into the lineup came FB Gary McKay, and on a quick opening play he ripped loose for 14 yd. Bryley added two more and QB Wayne Davis stepped off five more. Facing third and two from the Claude 25, FB Gary McKay took the handoff and battled his way 20 yards to the Claude 5.

FB McKay took the ball over for the touchdown and Ben Smith tackled on another point for the final scoring of the night.

CONCON PUBLIC INFO COMMITTEE MEETS

An all out effort to get the news and information about the 1974 Texas Constitution Convention is being planned by a legislative committee headed by Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, Goliad. Rep. Dohlen met with legislators and newsmen last week to discuss a public information office for the ConCon where all news media can get complete information about the convention. The office will be set up in the capitol building as close to the convention hall as possible, Von Dohlen said, and asked reporters how they wanted the information bureau set up for maximum efficiency for all media.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith of Memphis have returned home after enjoying a 10-day fishing trip at Toleta Bend which is located on the Texas-Louisiana border. Mrs. Smith said they tent camping and had a very nice vacation.

On the left of the picture can be seen FB Don Davis after he received a fake from QB Wayne Davis. STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, TEXAS
The third largest state oil and gas lease sale in Texas history brought more than $21.4 million to the state permanent school fund and boosted its total above $1 billion.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the sale further may be the "most significant" ever conducted by the state, since it "marks beginning of a new concept in management of mineral resources."

Of 1.3 million acres in 1,712 tracts of state land offered for sale from border to border more than 392,886 acres were leased at an average price of $54.65 an acre for oil and gas purposes.

For the first time, leases contain a new "in kind" provision which allows the state to accept its one-sixth royalty (where there is production) in oil or gas for resale, as well as in cash.

Armstrong said new pollution control regulations are written into the leases to protect the environment while drilling continues. Additional regulations were imposed to protect the Padre Island National Seashore. Gulf tracts attracted more than $16 million of the bonus payments, bay tracts $4.5 million and upland leases the balance.

The School Land Board leased $1,440 acres in the Gulf off the mouth of the Sabine River, in spite of a state of Louisiana protest that the area may be within its boundaries. Tracts off Matagorda Island were also leased.
