Memphis Classing Office Opens Tues., Co. Cotton Harvest Hits 6,326 Bales

Hall County cotton farmers through Tuesday afternoon had delivered 6,326 bales of cotton to county gins, a telephone survey revealed this week.

This indicates that the 1975 cotton harvest is just beginning in this area. Cold North winds, and a few snow flurries delayed harvesting Tuesday, however, better weather is in the forecast for the rest of this week.

Harvesting could cause many in the agricultural industry to have only a brief Thanksgiving holiday.

The Memphis Classing Office began regular operations on Tuesday, Nov. 25, according to the Cotton Division's Regional Office in El Paso.

Theodore J. (Ted) Proske will be in charge of the Memphis Classing Office. He is formerly from Harlingen Classing office. The office telephone number is 259-2914.

Mr. Proske said Wednesday morning that the office had two classings working, with another expected within a few days. Others will be added as the sample receipts climb.

About 5,600 samples were classed by the Altus Classing Office from counties in the Memphis, Texas, area for the week ending Nov. 22. This brought the season total to over 8,300 samples compared with about 500 on the same date a year ago.

According to C. E. Cox, in charge of the Altus Classing and Marketing News Office, said Grades 41 and 42 were the predominant qualities in this week's classings from the Memphis area counties, accounting for around 24 percent each.

The Catholics of Hall County, joining other Christians men and sisters in the observance of the Thanksgiving Day, Sunday, Nov. 27.

The Thanksgiving Day Mass will be celebrated at 8 p.m. in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Memphis. Father Ladislaus announced.

Our good Christians who believe in the real presence of Jesus Christ under both bread and wine may receive the Communion on this occasion, Father Wolko said.

On this occasion, the special Mass will be composed of the reading of the Word (the reading of the Holy Scripture) the reading of the Eucharist (the Communion of the last supper of Lord Jesus Christ) and the Communion Rite (breaking of bread). Father Wolko gave the following: The first time in the history of the observance of Thanksgiving was observed by the Jews liberated from the slavery of other countries, the first time in the history of the observance of Thanksgiving was the Harvest Festival in Poland, the farmers are the first fruits of their farmers in the offertory procession in order to be offered by their Priest in the Harvest Mass.

For the first time in the history of the humanity, the Thanksgiving Day is observed as a Holy Day as well as a holiday, thanks to our founding fathers. The United States is the only nation which officially celebrates the Thanksgiving Day as a Holy Day.

In order to fulfill the last will and legacy of our late Hall County Judge, Mr. Loran Denton, Fr. Wolko is proposing to all who are living or lived in the Hall County, the non-profit organization which will take care and finance the Child Day Care Center in memory of Loran Denton.

The representatives of Hall County, every city, town and organization will form the advisory committee which will elect the executive committee and the executive committee will administer the Child Day Care Center, under the supervision of the Hall County Child Welfare Board.

EDITORIAL

Thanksgiving, 1975

Today, Thursday, November 27, 1975, is Thanksgiving Day in the United States of America, one of the few national holidays celebrated by Americans, and not recognized by other nations of the world. Thanksgiving is an American holiday.

Giving thanks for the blessings of life, is a noble and spiritually uplifting state of mind. Unfortunately, the more blessings some people have, the easier it is to "forget" to be thankful. But when viewing the natural world around us, there are few examples of the spirit of "thankfulness" seen. Man sometimes tries to impose "human" traits upon animals, such as love, sorrow, pity, hatred, forgiveness, and the mood of being thankful. Animals live in a far simpler world.

This editor has always wondered about the efforts of some around Thanksgiving time each year to paint a picture of the turkey as being victimized at Thanksgiving. All should be thankful for the fowls which supply wholesome food for people of the world, for without this food source, mankind would have starved thousands of years ago.

Americans face many adverse problems in their lives, and are subjected to many hardships brought about by an industrialized society. But Americans have more to be thankful than any other people who have ever lived.

Author James Jones, who wrote "From Here to Eternity", and most recently "WW II" has moved back to the United States, at age 54, after living 16 years in Paris, France. He is quoted as saying "I wish Americans really understood how fortunate they are, how much better their standard of living is, and how much nicer their daily lives are than Europeans'."

"That's one thing I'm very conscious of now. The rich live pretty much the same all over the world, but the middle and lower classes have much more here," James Jones said. "I guess I'm thinking mainly about personal freedoms. There's so much we take for granted! In France, the TV Stations and the newspapers are owned by the government. During the '68 student riots, there was never any mention made of the events or the violence. There is also no bail in France or Italy. Americans don't even consider these limitations; they're much too foreign to us."

"Several years ago, a French film team was sent over here to do a four-part documentary on the 'plight of the American worker.' Only the first segment was ever shown in France. When the French saw how our workers lived—two cars, three TV's, beautiful homes—they raised such a hullabaloo that the other segments were never shown. They are not exactly sympathetic to our 'plight,'" Jones said.

In every society, however, there are those who are needy, sick, lonely, unhappy, uncared for, or forgotten. But citizens of this country have been more generous than any other in seeing after the needs of the truly unfortunate. In our society, the stories of the pitiful ones are those caught in extravagances of self-abuse, drunkenness, drug abuse, or worthlessness caused by laziness. Even those with physical handicaps are living fuller and more useful lives than ever before.

Americans have much to be thankful for in 1975, without war, famine, drought or civil disorder. Sure there are problems, chief of which is paying for the high standard of living we enjoy.

Thanksgiving is a time to get together with the family, take a little time off from worries of the world, and reaffirm personal identities with those we love and care the most about in this life. Wealth, without friends and loved ones, would leave us little for which to be thankful.

JAMES ROBERTS IN

The Andrew News:

Farming, more than any other business, is like rolling high dice at a craps shooter's convention.

"And now that everybody and his neighbor is getting into the act on the sale of wheat to the Russians, farming should be considered a hazardous occupation."

"The editorial 'we' has been used by newspapers since the founding of this nation but the past several weeks was the first time we have seen it applied to a farmer's harvest."

"How did it suddenly become 'we' shouldn't sell 'our' wheat to the Russians? Does the wheat belong to the American consumer? Does it belong to the government? Does it belong to George Meany and the longshoremen?"

"Where were the 'we's' when the first small stand withered under the searing sun and the farmer wrestled with the agonizing decision as to whether to plow it up and replant or go with the poor stand?"

"Where were the 'we's' that late afternoon when the man and his wife stood at the edge of that south 160 acres and stared in chocked disbelief at the utter destruction. Twenty minutes earlier, a lovely green, waving stand of twelve-inch high plants had completely disappeared under the savage seven-minute hail that had swept in from New Mexico and laid waste everything to the Caprock?"

"Where were the 'we's' when the cotton farmer walked out into the green field and noticed for the first time that the rich, ripe bolls appeared sickly on second glance and a closer look revealed that the weevil had boored all the way through and the entire crop was heavily infested?"

"Where were the 'we's' when the farmer hunted high and low—and in vain—for someone to help him and his wife and two teenage sons hoe the weeds that overshadowed the field despite the earlier application of expensive Treflon?"

"Where were the 'we's' earlier in the year at planting time when the price of milo, cotton, and wheat were so low that despite his choice of what to plant, it didn't appear that even if he dodged all the perils of nature, that the harvest would bring enough to pay fuel, fertilizer, and seed expense much less his own labor?"

"And now that the wheat farmer has managed to raise a bumper crop, despite the adversity of weather, inflation, and soaring fuel costs, suddenly everyone, suddenly all the 'we's' want to rush in and tell him who to sell to and for what price."

"All of a sudden it's not the farmer's crop any longer. Now it's 'our' crop."

"Jumpin' jehosaphat! The farmer has a commodity for sale and at long last the whole world wants to buy it. Now, instead of storing it in expensive elevators, buyers everywhere are clamoring for it."

"And as far as we are concerned, the American farmer ought to sell his crop to the highest bidder whether he be the American consumer, an Arab potentate, a Russian wheeler-dealer, or a Ubangi native.

"It is hard for us to visualize a Russian, an Arab, or a Ubangi native having more bargaining power, more purchasing power, more money to spend on food, than an American citizen."

"But if the Russian citizen is more willing to pay the price of American wheat than is the American consumer, then we firmly believe that the farmer should be free to sell overseas."

"It's his crop just as surely as it's the artist's painting, the manufacturer's sewing machine, the author's book, the designer's gown, the oil man's well... and if you don't want to pay the going price—do without!"

"That's free enterprise!"

FAT CATS?

In response to an invitation from the Perryton Industrial Foundation for residents of the community to suggest leads or ways that industry may be attracted, several comments have been made.

Included is the charge that this community doesn't really want industry because its leaders are not hungry enough. The term used is "fat cats."

Much as we hate to admit it, this charge may not be far off base.

We had an industrial development program in the mid 1950's when the oil development was just beginning. At that time, merchants and professional men and farmers and ranchers were coming out of several years of drought and hard times and they were eager for growth.

Our city did grow, and the establishment of scores of oil company offices and service company headquarters has meant millions of dollars in payroll and other investments in the community.

Now, it is beginning to look as if most community leaders are willing to ride along with the times and let industry come in if it wants to, but to refrain from doing very much to secure it.

The Wall Street Journal had a story last week about the folks in Cordell, Oklahoma, who were faced with the loss of their major industry which employed 15 per cent of their people. Those citizens raised a war chest, hired a man whose full time job was to hunt out companies interested in making an industrial location. Cordell has succeeded in securing four companies and 200 jobs thus far.

Other communities with success in landing industry and payroll have had to work and contribute toward their goal. Local groups put up money for buildings and sites for industry, tax concessions are granted, loans are made

The debate goes on whether the legislature will pass a billion dollar tax bill or none at all. Speaker Bill Clay- ton and House Speaker Bob Bullock stated their positions. Clay- ton said he will continue to support the tax measure. Bullock said he will support the tax measure only if it will avoid growth of the state. In spite of Bullock's warnings, Clayton said he is convinced that a major bill will be required.

Delph Briscoe at a govern- ment conference in San Antonio said the government of all levels must become more economical and efficient. He called specifically for a "reduction" of spending for the state. Sen. Peyton McKnight of San Antonio speaking more harshly, said the state is spending in education more than it is in other areas. He called for a hearing on education spending. The new Joint Ad- ministrative Commission of Govern- ment Operations (Little Hoover Commission) held its second meet- ing and adopted a time-table for its inquiry into 250 state agencies. Lt. Gov. Bill Clayton warned members to keep their eyes on the big spending and avoid "rabbit hunts."

Postponed Again
The Senate for the third time postponed the impeachment trial of Judge O. P. Carrillo. A 16-10 vote, senators de- ferred the trial until January 5. The outcome of a Judicial Administration Commission hear- ing on Carrillo's income tax con- viction will be a factor in the trial. Carrillo said he will never re- sign his post on the Duval-Starr- ing bench, al- though he has been suspended since August following House passage of articles of impeach- ment.

Court Race On
The Texas Supreme Court As- sociate Justice Ross E. Doughty decided he will not run for a candidate to retain his job in 1978. The Court of Civil Appeals justices immediately indi- cated an interest who was ap- pointed only about two months after Associate Justice Ruel retired. The prospective candidates are Charles W. Barrow of the Court of Civil Appeals in San Antonio and Martin Dies Jr. of the Ninth Court in Beaumont. Barrow says he is definitely going to run. Dies says he is "inclined to" but wants to check his bases of support again.

Courts Speak
Reversing itself, the State Su- preme Court agreed to consider whether a landowner, to claim an agricultural tax exemption, must prove 51 per cent of his overall income is derived from farming or ranching.

Third Court of Civil Appeals threw out a State Board of Phar- macy appeal from a district court ruling blocking its enforcement of a limit on advertising prescrip- tion drugs. The intermediate court noted an appeal filed with the Supreme Court, and two parallel appeals cannot proceed simultane- ously.

The Third Court rejected ap- proval by the Savings and Loan Commission of a fourth savings and loan association charter for Long- view due to rulings on evidence by a hearing officer. An injunction prohibiting the State Board of Insurance from enforcing a requirement of 90 days' notice for cancellation or premium increases in medical li- ability policies was upheld by the Third Court.

Improper jury arguments by Dallas prosecutors led to two reversals of cases by the Court of Criminal Appeals. The Supreme Court directed an intermediate court to recon- sider a workmen's compensation case in which the lower tribunal earlier had held a Brazoria Coun- ty chemical worker intentionally jumped off a building.

A blood sample cannot be leg- ally taken without the consent of a person suspected of a traffic- related offense, Atty. Gen. John Hill stated in a recent opinion. A physician, taking the sample without apparent consent, could be subject to civil liability, Hill stated.

Delphian Club Members Enjoy Crafts Program

The Delphian Club met November 25 in the home of Mrs. Wayne Swaett.

Mrs. Swaett, president, presided during the business session. She reminded members that the next meeting will be guest day and will be held at the Bronze Room on Dec. 2.

The Fine Arts program was introduced by Mrs. Dean Yarbrough. She used a quote by Mildred Stephens by saying "The ability to anticipate creates a desire to make things."

Mrs. Henry Hays brought an inspiring devotional using the scripture Isaiah 43. She asked "What impression do we make on other people?"

Mildred Stephens presented a most interesting and informative program on creative decor. She displayed many items which she had made. She gave instruction on how to make them and passed out patterns for several of the items. Among the items on display was a beautiful Christmas tree made from various nuts, which had been sprayed gold and decorated with sprigs of holly, an electric razor box covered inside and out with felt, to be used for trinkets, and a candy stick ornament made from net and candy canes. An unusual item was a green felt hanging with 25 days to Christmas which had 25 candy canes on it. A child may count the days until Christmas by removing a cane each day. She also had a hot skillet handle cover, a crayon apron for children and many other useful and decorative things.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mmes. Ben Moss, Clyde Smith, Dean Yarbrough, W. C. Dickey, J. S. McMurry, Robert Duncan, Leon Davis, L. F. Jones, Kenneth Dale and Mildred Stephens.

FOR THE BIRDS—In order for wild game birds, such as the Ring-necked Pheasant pictured above, to have ample food for the hard winter months, Soil Conservation Service urges the use of crop residue management, which should be "for the Birds."

Pheasants Need Helping Hand From Farmers

The ring-necked pheasant is a remarkable bird in more ways than one. It is the most colorful gamebird found in Texas. It has been described as having characteristics of other animals, such as a fox, healthy as a horse and as many lives as a cat, when it comes to outsmarting hunters or enduring adverse climatic conditions.

Since its introduction into Texas in 1939, the ring-neck has slowly increased its range and numbers in the Texas Panhandle. Eleven counties now have pheasant populations that can be considered moderate and well established. Most sportsmen, and many landowners, in the Texas panhandle would like to see the ring-necked pheasant expand its range and increase its numbers.

A closer look at the pheasant's habitat needs will provide the answers that will enable it to prosper throughout more of the high and south plains areas. Food and cover are the critical habitat needs. Without good food and adequate cover throughout the year, the pheasant cannot prosper.

Being a seed or grain eater, the bird has established itself in the irrigated croplands that have crops, such as small grains, corn, grain sorghum and soybeans as a significant part of the cropping systems. Following the harvest of grain crops, there is abundant grain and seed available to the pheasants and other game birds, such as dove and quail.

Soil Conservation Service personnel made a survey of waste grains during the 1975 harvest season. The survey was made in eleven panhandle counties and was made up of 53 samples. Crops

1913 Study Club Meets in Regular Session Wed.

The 1913 Study Club met Wednesday, November 19, at the De-Ville Restaurant with Mrs. Paul Montgomery serving as hostess.

Virginia Browder, president, presided at the business session. Plans were discussed for the Bazaar which was held Saturday. Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard brought the meditation for the day.

Mrs. Bill Wood, program chairman, introduced the program for the day which was a book review "The Emerging Woman" by Arabel Morgan. Reviewing the book was Mrs. Herschel Combs.

"The Emerging Woman" is a current best seller which has sold over 500,000 copies. The author is a young housewife, mother of two children and the wife of a lawyer.

Tie and coffee was served during the social hour to the following members: Mmes. Byron Baldwin, Joe Ballard, H. A. Combs, Frank Foxhall, Gayle Greene, R. S. Greene, T. M. Harrison, Ed Hutcherson, D. L. C. Kinard, Paul Montgomery, Bill Wood, J. F. Neel, Virginia Browder and Helen Madden.

sampled were sunflowers, corn, grain sorghum and soybeans. Random samples were collected following harvest and calculations extended to show the average pounds per acre of waste grains available as feed for pheasants or other birds.

The survey revealed that sunflowers averaged 38 pounds of waste grain per acre, grain sorghum 89 pounds per acre, corn 113 pounds per acre and soybeans 138 pounds per acre. Projecting these figures to the total acreages of these crops under irrigation in the Texas panhandle, shows there is ample food for gamebirds on the ground immediately following harvest. To be beneficial to the gamebirds on a long term basis, these waste grains and crop residue must be left on the soil surface through the critical winter months. This can be achieved by residue management practices, such as deferring tillage practices as long as possible or adopting minimum tillage or no-tillage practices. Chiseling or one time disking will leave most of the crop residue and waste grains on or near the soil surface and available as food and winter cover for wildlife.

Proper crop residue management provides other benefits than food and cover for wildlife. It protects the soil from wind erosion, it holds precipitation, in the form of snow, in place for absorption into the soil and it prevents crusting of soils from rains, reducing runoff and allowing better utilization of available moisture.

Corn and grain sorghum residue provide the best winter cover for wildlife in the panhandle. Sunflower residue provides the least soil protection and wildlife cover and therefore annual cool season cover crops, such as rye or winter peas, are required to provide adequate soil protection and wildlife cover.

Leaving fence rows, odd areas, equipment yards, playas and abandoned farmsteads in natural weedy vegetation during the fall and winter months provide excellent cover for non-migratory game birds, such as the pheasant or quail. In the panhandle croplands where the pheasant makes his home, there is very little natural vegetative cover.

Farmers who adopt crop residue management practices that will provide the pheasant with the necessary food and cover throughout the lean winter months will be rewarded with increased pheasant population throughout the irrigated croplands.

Mrs. Parker, president, presided during the business meeting. The pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. Jerry Leaverton. The club members then read the American Creed in unison.

Mrs. Glynn Thompson, program chairman, introduced the program for the day using the theme of "Seeds of International Affairs." Two very interesting debates were held. The first entitled "What To Do With The Panama Canal?" was led by Mrs. Robert Spicer and Mrs. Bill Collier. The second debate "Equal Rights Amendment" was led by Mrs. James Davis and Mrs. Jerry Leaverton. Following the debates, the club members were given a chance to discuss their own views on these two subjects. All the members enjoyed the program very much.

LETTERS To The Editor

Mrs. Herschel Combs
Memphis Democrat

Dear Mrs. Combs:

I have just been released from Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, after a lengthy recovery from surgery, during which, I was at times, critically ill.

I face future treatments of chemo-therapy which will require further hospitalization periodically.

During my hospital stay, my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Brewer of 203 N. 10th, Memphis, were at my bedside daily and were out away from home more than a month. They are even now seeing after me during my recuperation and convalescence. I am staying with them, at their home, until I regain my strength.

While this ordeal was in progress in Amarillo, our many friends in Memphis and surrounding area were very thoughtful and sent many cards of encouragement, gifts of flowers and rendered many prayers in our behalf. I had visitors too; some coming several times to help and cheer us on to recovery and to give courage and encouragement.

I am much recovered now. Thanks to God working his wonderful miracles in and for me. Praise God!

Mrs. Combs, the reason for such

Special Waltons Program Set For Thanksgiving

A special two-hour broadcast of "The Waltons" will bring into dramatic focus the extraordinary dimensions of this remarkable family when it is presented on the CBS television network station, Channel 10, Thanksgiving night, Nov. 27, at 7:00 p.m.

This holiday telecast of the regularly scheduled series is being sponsored by First National Bank of Memphis through its membership in the American Bankers Association (ABA).

Considered by many to be a classic TV family drama, The Waltons' Thanksgiving is estimated by CBS to earn a minimum 40 percent share of the viewing population with the Emmy-Award winning script.

The story finds the Walton's regular Thanksgiving celebration sadly altered with the absence of John-Boy who is in the hospital.

While preparing for scholarship and entrance examinations to the University of Virginia, John-Boy has also been working with his father in the mill. As a result of an accident there, he develops a blood clot which threatens his eyesight and even more fatal complications and forces him to miss the examinations as well as the traditional family Thanksgiving celebration. But being the Waltons, they find many things to be thankful for at their annual holiday dinner.

Eventually, John-Boy recovers and returns home—which infinitely enhances the holiday's meaning and inspires the Walton family to give thanks by having a second Thanksgiving dinner.

This Thanksgiving special is one of several telecasts that will be sponsored by the ABA in cooperation with the First National Bank of Memphis, Texas. In February the fifth in a series of telecasts on the life of Abraham Lincoln will be seen on NBC, Channel 4, and Feb. 3-15 the ABA will sponsor the Winter Olympic games being held in Innsbruck, Austria.

Social Security Questions & Answers

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Jim Talbot, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 317 East Third Street, Amarillo, Texas 79101. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

Q—When I took a part-time job near the end of September, I hired a babysitter to stay with my little boy. I pay her $10 a week. Is it true that I have to deduct social security taxes from her salary?

A—If you pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month calendar quarter, you must send a report of the wages and the social security contribution due on the wages to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter. A babysitter who comes to your home is considered a household worker. Wage reports and social security contributions for the 4th quarter of 1975—October, November, and December—are due by January 31.

Q—I started getting social security checks in February, but have continued to work part-time all year. I didn't think I'd earn very much, but now I find that my earnings have exceeded the estimate I gave the social security people in February. Should I report this change?

A—Yes, if you expect to make more than $2,520 for the year. Otherwise, you may get social security payments not due you and then have to pay back some money at the end of the year. If your earnings for the year are $2,520 or less, your benefits won't be affected. But if your earnings exceed $2,520, your checks are reduced $1 for each $2 over $2,520. Regardless of how much you earn for the year, however, you can get your full check for any month you neither earn over $210 nor do substantial work in your own business.

Every Day is a Day of Thanksgiving...

Even as we join family and friends in the traditional holiday feast, we should remember that this day has been set aside for us to do officially the very thing we should be doing every day of our lives: thanking God for our blessings. We have so many, regardless of our own situation, that we cannot begin to count them all; not only the tangible things we can see all around us, but also the invisible blessings, such as the misfortunes we have been spared. Go to your Church on Thanksgiving Day and every Sunday and give your thanks to God for all of them. The Pilgrims were grateful for so little; and you have so much.

He restoreth your soul....Worship together this week

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

No one would purposely buy a toy which could injure the child for whom they plan happiness, but thousands of Texans this Christmas may be doing this unknowingly.

If the wrong toy falls into the hands of a child, this toy could produce a serious injury, says the Texas Department of Health Resources. When buying toys this year, think toy safety, advises Dr. Fratis L. Duff, director of the Texas Department of Health Resources.

A few months, or a year or two, in a child's development can make quite a difference in that child's ability to cope with toys. That's the reason manufacturers are required to place precautionary labeling on toys," says Harold Ray, director of the Department's Division of Product Safety.

"Consumers should look for the warning label on a toy which states that the toy isn't recommended for a child under a certain age," Ray said. "If such a label warns that the toy is too advanced for the child in mind, the purchaser should heed the warning and find one to fit the child."

Ray noted that a testing process has been used in determining the right toy for the right child. During the past year the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission issued final regulations for use and abuse testing of toys. While not banning toys, the regulations provide tests for impact, bite, flexure, torque, tension and compression — all of which simulate normal and reasonably foreseeable use, damage and abuse of toys, games and other articles by children at play. These testing levels were used reflecting the ages of children for whom the toys are intended. These age levels are 18 months and less, over 18 months but not over 36 months, and over 36 months but not over eight years of age.

What can you as an individual do to prevent this mis-match of toy and child?

First, be aware of how the toy is built, says Ray. Toy buyers in the family should reject those with obvious hazards — sharp points; rough or unfinished surfaces; small, detachable parts that may be swallowed; brittle plastic or glass that breaks easily and leaves sharp edges that may cut; poorly constructed toys with sharp spikes or pins that are exposed when the toy is pulled apart by a curious child; toys with triggers, gears, or other parts activated by a spring or motor that may pinch fingers or catch hair.

Most of these types of toys have been eliminated through Consumer Product Safety Commission standards. But, some 5,000 new toys enter the marketplace each year. The holiday season will find more than 150,000 different kinds of toys for sale in an estimated one million retail outlets. Despite the efforts of toy manufacturers, retailers, state and federal inspectors and different governmental agencies, it is impossible to inspect every toy.

It is possible, however, for parents, relatives, friends and older sisters and brothers to check every new toy they buy and every old toy around the house for possible hazards.

There are some specific things you can do in thinking toy safety. These suggestions include:

Buy toys that suit the skills and abilities of the child. Avoid toys that are too complex for young children. No small child should be subjected to electrical toys or those which can produce burning temperatures.

Look for labels that give age recommendations or safety information such as "Not Recommended for Children Under Three" or "Non-toxic" on toys likely to end up in little mouths.

Watch out for toys that have sharp edges, small parts or sharp points.

Avoid toys that produce extremely loud noises that can damage hearing, as well as propelled objects that can injure eyes.

Explain to the child how to use toys properly and safely.

Always try to supervise young children while they play.

Insist that children put their toys away so they do not get broken, and to that no one trips or falls on them.

Examine toys periodically. Repair broken toys and discard toys that cannot be fixed.

Keep these toy tips in mind before, during and after purchase.

Drop-In Center News

At this festive season, it seems most appropriate that we at the Drop-In Center express our gratitude anew to all those people who have done so much to make our success and happiness. Our special thanks are given to those who have recently contributed in various ways to make us comfortable and to add to the development of our hopes into actual realities: Mrs. Addie Patten, the Priscilla "42" Club, Mackie Allen, Ed Hutcherson, Mrs. Ima Lawrence, Mrs. Peggy Moreman, Davis Thriftway Store, United States Congressman Jack Hightower, J. O. Dixon, Johnny Harrell, The Memphis Lumber Yard, Floyd McIntush, "The Pony-Tailers", Orval Goodpasture, Eddie and Linda Gable, Exie Sweatt, Alma Hughs, The Bucilla Club, and Lela Foard.

Many interesting events are on the horizon: the first being a chartered airplane "package" for $80.00 for the Dallas Cowboys versus the Washington Redskins game, which will be played on Saturday, December 13. The "package" includes round-trip air transportation from Amarillo to Dallas, Texas Stadium transfers, a snack and admission to the game. People over fifty-five who wish further information are asked to contact Merle Rodgers, Director.

In the offing are tours sponsored by the Grasshopper Travel Club of Amarillo. These will be to the Hawaiian Islands on February 23, Grand Ole Opry on May 21, Canada/Alaska on July 25, and "New Mississippi Queen" Cruise on September 11.

Senior citizens who meet regularly are deeply grieved by the death of Ima Lawrence, one of the earliest and most faithful members of the group. We shall ever remember her loyalty, co-operation, and cheerful personality.

Mrs. Steve Lentz of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived here Saturday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Greene and grandmother, Mrs. R. S. Greene. Also arriving later in the week for Thanksgiving will be another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Caldwell of Dallas and Tom Greene, who is attending optometry school at Houston University.

Making A Swedish Tea Ring

Being able to both mix and knead yeast-type doughs can permit you to do more than just make bread at home. There are some delicious desserts or breakfast treats that can be prepared, too.

For instance, there's a Swedish Tea Ring that is ideal for a special brunch as well as being a breakfast treat. It's made with the multi-purpose basic sweet yeast dough recipe Sunbeam's dough hook mixer recipe book provides.

Of course, all the work of mixing and kneading the dough is taken out of the job when the new Sunbeam dough hook Mixmaster mixer is used. Here is the recipe:

1/4 cup warm water (110°F) 1/4 cup sugar
1 pkg. active dry yeast 1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup scalded milk 1 egg
1/2 cup melted margarine 3-3 1/2 cups all purpose flour

Insert Dough Hooks into mixer; see instructions. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Scald milk and let cool to lukewarm. Combine margarine, egg and milk mixture and add to yeast mixture. On speed No. 5 (medium) gradually add 1 cup flour, salt and sugar. Mix until blended. Gradually add 1 1/2 cup flour. Turn to speed No. 2 (low). Gradually add remaining flour. Dough will adhere and clean sides of bowl. Total mixing and kneading time using dough hooks 8-10 minutes. Remove dough from bowl. Form into ball and place in a greased bowl. Cover and let rise 90 minutes. Punch down, cover and let rise 90 minutes. Punch down.

To make the Swedish Tea Ring, just follow these easy steps: Roll dough into a rectangle 14" long and 10" wide. Combine 1/4 cup sugar and 2 tsp. cinnamon. Brush top of rectangle with melted margarine. Sprinkle sugar mixture over rectangle. Distribute 1/2 cup raisins, 1/2 cup Maraschino cherries coarsely chopped and 1/2 cup nuts coarsely chopped over dough. Roll up tightly from wide end (you should have a long tube-shaped roll). Seal seam securely. Form a ring and seal ends together. With a pair of scissors, cut 2/3 of the way through the ring at 1" intervals. Twist sections on side. Let rise for 20-30 minutes. Bake at 325°F for 30-40 minutes. Top will be golden brown and ring will sound hollow when tapped with knuckles. If glaze is desired:

Mix 1/2 cup powdered sugar with one tsp. warm water. Drizzle over cooled Tea Ring.

Thanksgiving

This is the time for feasting with family and friends and for offering thanks for our many blessings. As we approach our Bicentennial year, let us offer thanks for the blessings of freedom. And let us also remember our forefathers who celebrated Thanksgiving in a new and undeveloped land more than 350 years ago. They established the tradition we continue to follow today.

The staff of The First State Bank would like to extend its best wishes to you. We hope you enjoy your Thanksgiving Holiday.

there, not from political takeover, but from the trade union takeover. He also urges that the U. S. wake up to the reality, that the democratic nations are falling at the rate of one or two a year, so there are scarcely 20 left. "We in Britain believe in America and hope you will believe in us "once again."

The above statements of Churchill made me think of the poem from Robert Burns, "The gift of givers to see ourselves as others see us."

President Ford and Mr. Kissinger have been making a lot of observations of other countries and I hope that it was profitable to help promote peace and good will.

We enjoyed watching TV a few days ago when the "Entertainment" sponsored by Judy Garland with the show built around the 200 musical shows produced by MGM over a period of several years that included many of the famous stars of show business, and there were many of the younger actors who had been good in silent pictures but could not qualify for the sound pictures.

After watching some of them working in their years like Judy Garland, Gene Kelly, Esther Williams, Fred Astaire, Mickey Rooney and many others, I came to the conclusion that they really earned their stardom with their many hours of work practicing for the next show.

Over the past 65 years, Memphis has been called a "church town" as through the years we have had very fine church buildings in comparison with other towns our size and have also been blessed with outstanding pastors and a co-operative spirit of the laymen. My thinking is that most of the pastors in the different denominations have grown in spirit while serving here. After leaving Memphis, they were called to churches in larger towns, as they had grown in spirituality. We are happy to know that the people here had a part in their growth.

The past week a church bulletin was given me by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moss from the First Baptist church of Monroe, La. On the front page of this bulletin was the announcement that Dr. Clifton Tenneson is the newly elected president of the Louisiana Baptist Convention. Clifton was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Memphis from 1946 to April, 1949. He has been pastor of the First Baptist Church in West Monroe, La., the past 15 years. Congratulations to him and his family. We are glad Memphis had a part in his growth to his present position.

For the past few years I have been trying to keep track of Nene Foxhall, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Foxhall of Memphis. In her work with the Dallas News, I have noticed that she has reported on so many different things and persons from Ranches, horse shows and on the social life of Big D. I look forward to seeing what her next interview will be. The one last week was in the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas, where she had a very interesting interview with Jayne Meadows. She was appearing in the Venetian Room with her husband, Steve Allen. She worked on the "I've Got a Secret" show for 7 years; and about this time, her sister, Audrey, got her first break in the "Jackie Gleason Show."

It was interesting to know that Steve and Jayne had a courtship for 2 years before they married and have been married for 22 years. They make a good show team. I am looking forward to reading the first book published by Nene. I imagine it will be called "Nene and Her Wanderings with the Dallas News", or whatever name she gives her book, it will be very interesting.

Den Mothers Mrs. Roddy Bice had as guests in Heritage Hall, four members of Cub Scout group Den 3.

Mrs. Larry Rogers, Den Mother, also had her group of seven Cub Scouts visiting in Heritage Hall.

Also in Heritage Hall were Mrs. Ramiro Rivera and 16 "Head Start" pupils. I found out why they call this class their name. They are four years old.

In the passing away the past week of Mrs. Wynn, Mrs. Barclay, Mrs. Painter and Mrs. Lawrence, I had memories of them and their families. They were customers of mine several years and helped me keep the cash register going. They were people who had love in their hearts for their loved ones and friends and believed in work. This scripture would fit these four pioneers, "Well done thou good and faithful servant," after seeing them serve and work as they did, unselfishly.

"But now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love". 1 Cor. 13. Another one of our former Hall County ladies passed away in Amarillo last Saturday, Mrs. A. H. Wilborn, who lived to be over 103 years. She also lived a useful life with love in her heart.

Mrs. H. M. Staples of Baltimore, Md., has been visiting here for the past week with her sister, Mrs. Carl Smith. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Staples left Monday for the Dallas area where they will spend the Thanksgiving holidays visiting with relatives.

I want to extend my thanks to everyone for the deeds of kindness shown me while I was at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo and since I have been home. May God's blessings always be with you.

At Thanksgiving We Are Grateful to Our Members

Rural and urban Americans once considered electricity a luxury. Now it is simply a vital necessity of day-to-day living

While we are pleased by this attitude, we do not forget for a moment the responsibility it entails. Our rural electric system assures a dependable, efficient supply of electricity to our cusumer-owners at the lowest possible cost consistent with reliable service. And we are at work constantly to assure that this trust develops no broken link.

Our constant vigilance is even greater because of our direct responsibility to our consumers who are our member-owners, and elect from among themselves a Board of Directors to see that their electric system is properly guided. This is the cooperative way—one of the tried and proven ways of conducting private business under our diversified economic system.

One result of our direct responsibility to our members is an active attentiveness to the needs, electric and otherwise, of our consumers. We strive to help in the development of our service area in as many ways as possible.

We are gratified by this opportunity to be of service. We realize that a strong rural America benefits all America.

The Memphis Democrat Annual Cotton Guessing Contest Is Now Underway

The Memphis Democrat's Annual Cotton Guessing contest is now in progress and all readers of the paper are invited to enter guesses in the contest, Bill Combs editor, said today.

This is the 29th consecutive year the contest has been held with readers of the newspaper trying to guess the number of bales of cotton harvested in this county.

Guesses may be made at The Democrat office or by mailing a card or letter to Box 190, Memphis, Texas, 79245, listing name, mailing address and number of bales.

No entries will be taken over

VA Reminds Veterans to Check on GI Policies

The Veterans Administration reminds five million veterans covered under its government life insurance program to make certain that beneficiaries on their GI insurance policies are current.

The VA is obligated by law to pay insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record. Most of the agency's insured are World War II veterans who carry National Service Life Insurance, Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, explained.

The problem of insurance benefits going to an unintended recipient generally arises where the veteran simply fails to change his beneficiary.

In a typical case, a veteran named his mother as beneficiary when he obtained his policy. Later the veteran married and overlooked the requirement to notify the VA of intended change in beneficiary. Unwarranted financial hardship often results, Coker noted.

If in doubt as to current designation, veterans are urged to submit a change of beneficiary. Coker also emphasized that lump sum payments only may be paid when so designated by the insured veteran.

Policy changes should be sent to the VA insurance center — in Philadelphia of St. Paul, Minn. — where the insured's premiums are paid. All requests should include policy number along with full name and address.

Cattle Outlook Hinges On Grain Prices

COLLEGE STATION — Grain prices will have a big influence on the livestock outlook for this fall and next year, contends a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Ed Uvacek points out that whether grain prices go up or down will affect both fed and feeder cattle prices.

"If grain prices stay high, the number of cattle placed in feedlots this fall will probably not be high enough to cause supply problems next spring and summer," says Uvacek. "That could mean higher fed cattle prices next year."

"On the other hand, if grain prices ease down somewhat as the harvest season moves forward, placements will be large and fed cattle marketings by next spring and summer could be burdensome. This would, however, in the short run provide more strength for feeder cattle prices than if grain prices stay high."

Uvacek says that early fall sales of feeder cattle were much higher than summer levels and that even though fed cattle marketings will not be large, they will be up from recent levels. Many nonfed cattle will also be slaughtered during the next three months, and this could lower fed cattle prices, says the specialist with the Texas A&M University System.

"The proportion of fed beef to nonfed beef then, for next year will depend greatly upon the price of feed grains," contends Uvacek.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dunbar left this week for Nelson, Mo., to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brad McCracken.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McClenney, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Crisler, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Crisler and Court Crisler, all of Amarillo visited here this week with Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Crisler.
