TIPS FOR GREEN THUMBS

Would you believe you have seen the time in Brackettville when there was too much rainy, sunless weather for plants to do well? Well you have seen it now. Hence, there is a lot of mildew on plants. This is a grayish coloring that makes the leaves dry up, shrivel up, and leaves fall off. When this graying condition is first seen, you should get ready - the entire plant and neighboring plants will soon be almost gone. Dust the plants immediately with powdered, wettable sulphur. This is the cheapest and most practical way to deal with the problem. Ordinarily, roses are the leading host to the onset, but in so much wet, cold weather, many other plants are affected. Watch your plants very carefully. If evidence of mildew is seen, get at it immediately.

Crystal Sez:

THANK YOU FIRST STATE BANK FOR THE POSIES!! Joe Townsend of the Sagebrush Shoppe pins a corsage on Crystal.

The beautiful corsage was a gift to her mother from the First State Bank. Mrs. Virginia Lackey, Vice-President of the Bank, explained, "This is one of the ways we are showing our appreciation to our customers. Each week we will be sending flowers to several of our customers to show that we really appreciate their business. We are starting by sending them to local businesses til each and everyone of our customers have received flowers. Each week several people will receive our 'Surprise Flowers' and no one will know when they will receive theirs. It is our way of saying 'Thank You.' "

COMING HOME

The Pow-Wow to be held in Del Rio, May 28 & 29, will be like coming home for some of the Indian people, especially the Comanche.

Decendents of some say they were born about 125 miles west of what is now San Antonio, which would be right in this area.

Through Arrangements made by Mrs. Makai Breen, a member of the Dallas-Ft. Worth Inter-Trible, Fort Clark has graciously invited the Indian people, coming for the Pow-Wow to stay at the Fort.

The Springs at the Fort was a gathering place for many Comanches and a fine area to winter their horses. There will be many different dances that will be preformed at the Pow-wow, one of which is called the gourd dance. The gourd dance is a sacred ceremonial dance that originated among the Plains Indians. The dance was originally composed of chiefs and warriors chosen from the mose respected families by the tribe's elders and medicine man. The danders were chosen for their life-time or until voluntary retirement.

The gourd dance has evolved over the years as it was passed on by word of mouth through generations. Some of the older features have been discarded as new ones are added by succeeding generations.

Take a step back in history and enjoy the color and splendor of the Pow-Wow.

PESTICIDE TRAINING SET

All Farmers and Ranchers who use pesticides in the production of livestock and crops will be required to obtain a certificate for restricted pesticide use. The certification is required by EPA and will be needed for purchases and use of pesticides after October 1977.

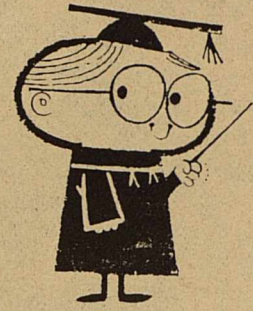

Kinney County producers will have an opportunity to complete a training program leading to certification as private applicators at a program scheduled for Monday, May 23 at 3:00 p.m. at the Brackettville Civic Center, according to Carl Esser, County Extension Agent.

The Private Applicator Certification Training Program, one of the optional means of qualifying for certification as a private applicator of restricted-use pesticides, includes a discussion of laws, labels, and labeling, pesticide safety, mixing and calibration and pests and pests damage identification.

According to Esser, those attending will sign a register before the meeting. After the program, those attending will fill out applications for the certified pesticide applicators license to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

After processing in Austin by TDA, certificates will be sent to each individual who took the course. Esser emphasized the importance of this course since restricted pesticides after October 1 cannot be sold to a buyer unless he is certified.

UVALDE--Pending further review by the Texas Criminal Justice Council, Southwest Texas Junior College will be conducting a regional law enforcement training program for a nine-county area.

A project approved by the Middle Rio Grande Development Council proposes that the junior college operate a training program designed to meet the certification needs of beginning law enforcement personnel and the in-service needs of experienced personnel.

The $20,875 project will begin July 1 and continue on a yearly basis to provide basic certification for 25 area law enforcement officers and 40 hours of advanced instruction for 100 area law enforcement officers.

The college will employ a full-time instructor for the program, according to SWTJC President Wayne Matthews. The instructor will be responsible for working with area law enforcement personnel and the regional criminal justice planner to determine when, where and what kind of training programs are needed.

Matthews said that the college will make the personnel, facilities, equipment and materials used in its regular law enforcement degree program available to the new training program.

The officer training program has been conducted by Texas A&M University during the past few years, but relocation of the program at the Uvalde junior college is expected to make the training activities more convenient and accessible to law enforcement personnel in the counties of Dimmitt, Edwards, Kinney, La Salle, Maverick, Real, Uvalde, Val Verde and Zavala.

The basic certification course will be offered on the college campus, Matthews explained, but many of the advanced courses will be offered at varying locations throughout the region in order to increase accessibility to personnel.

BETWEEN US

BY:
JOE TOWNSEND

The sunrise was more than beautiful this morning. After watching the big red ball, the sun, set in cloudless glory, it was devastatingly beautiful to see the eastern sky begin to turn pink. The thing that made the sunrise so very beautiful this a.m. was the scattering of feathery clouds. I can't imagine life being worth living if it were a continuous "bed of roses". There could be no way to come to truly appreciate the good, never having known the difficult. There would be no way to develop strength of character since there would be no resistance against which you could become strong. There would be no challenge to do better since all was good to begin with. There would be no way to learn who were your true friends since there would be no proving ground. No, even as the clouds made the sunrise beautiful, so storms of life add richness, strength, love, courage, and beauty to life.

As Natural Gas Supplies Grow Shorter, CPL Continues Moves to Other Fuels.

Events of the severe winter just past have confirmed, in unmistakable terms, three of the more distressing facts of our time:

The natural gas shortage is here now. It is a nationwide problem. The days of inexpensive natural gas are gone.

The Texas Railroad Commission recognized the shortage two years ago and ruled that deliveries of natural gas used for making electricity must be reduced—10 percent by 1981, and 25 percent by 1985.

Further evidence that the gas shortage is real is the extensive building program now being conducted by Central Power and Light Company. In order to continue reliable service, CPL began its planning seven years ago to turn to fuels other than gas for production of electricity. By the mid-1980's, 40% of our electricity will come from coal-fired and nuclear plants.

Coletto Creek Power Station, our first coal-fired unit, is being built now and will begin supplying power by late 1979.

Also under construction: the South Texas Project, a nuclear plant in which CPL has a 25.2 percent share. The first unit is scheduled for operation by late 1980, the second in 1982.

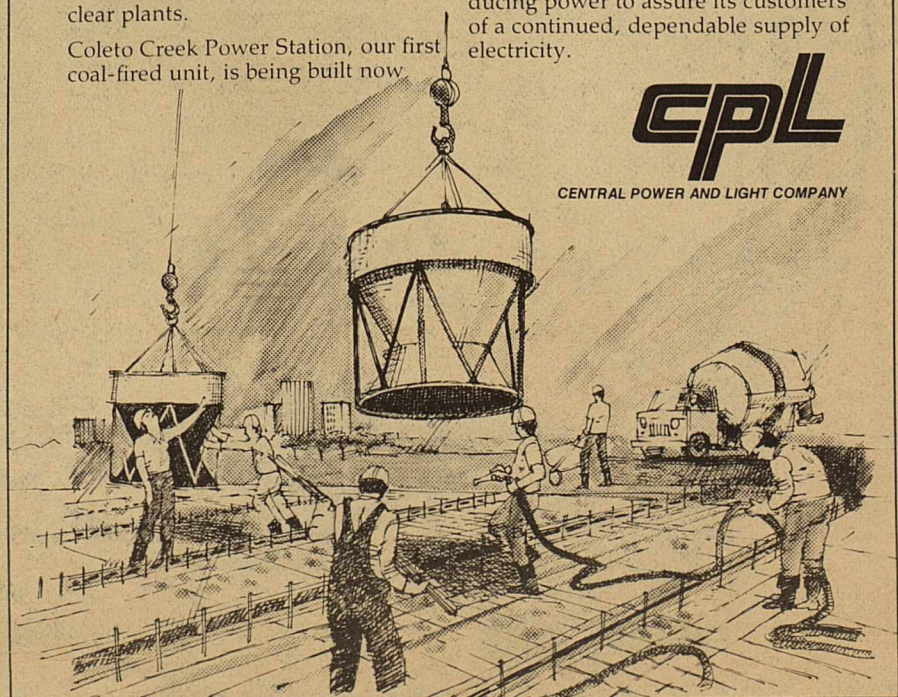

For the present, CPL has diminished its dependence on natural gas by modifying existing generating units to burn fuel oil when natural gas supplies are curtailed. Conversion of these units was finished this spring.

To take advantage of additional fuel supply economies and larger generating plants, CPL is involved with other companies in an effort to interconnect with systems in neighboring states.

The natural gas shortage is both real and immediate. Because it is, CPL is involved in several research projects to explore still other methods of producing power to assure its customers of a continued, dependable supply of electricity.

CB BREAK

BY THE SKY PILOT

It seems that no amount of talk can cause some CB'ers to act like decent people. There are those in our community who think it's really smart to be offensive over the air. Their gutter talk doesn't make them look bit - it reveals them for the crude, uncouth clods they are. There are a few (very few, thank The Lord) who feel duty bound to infringe on other people's conversations. The other night I was in the midst of a very important conversation when this newcomer to the scene, who calls himself the "Slow Poke" butted in and fouled up everything. I'm sure he read the handbook - he's supposed to affirm to that before he gets a license - if he has a license. Thus, he knows it's a violation of federal law to interfere in the conversation of others. If a person has nothing better to do than sit by his radio and be obnoxious to others, he should spend his time cutting out paper dolls. Then there are others who get on the air and stay and stay and stay, seeming as though they own all the air. There are some, too, who get drunk and then make donkeys out of themselves by advertising to the world via CB their stupidity and impudence. My, what a real pleasure 'twould be if these few hacks would get on the team and play ball with consideration and sportsmanship.
