CONNECTIONS

Boy oh Boy, Kinney County is the luckiest place in Texas and possibly in the United States of America or maybe the whole world. The crime report turned out by the Sam Houston State University 1970-1978 stipulates that only two counties in the State of Texas had ZERO crime in this period of time the other county was Kenedy County consisting of 586 people, no towns and a bunch of sand dunes and our very own Kinney County.

According to this report during this period of time Kinney County did not have any crime at all, no violent crimes, no property crimes, no homicides, no rapes, no robberies, no aggravated assults, no burglaries, no larceny, no auto thief.

Gee, I hope that the rest of the world don't find out about our paradise or all the sheep and goats running the streets will have to move over for pre-distrrians.

I feel so elated about this that I want everyone to know I am leaving my keys in my car and we have thrown away our house keys.

I am sure that this indicates that we have an excess of law-bidding citizens or an excess of gun toting lawmen, which ever one I am extremely thankful--I certainly hope Associated Press don't pick up this story and inundate our little community with under-sirables that might possibly run over some of the sheep in the streets.

Kinney County LIBRARY

Dear K.C.,

These past few months Mrs. Golemon has out-done herself by assembling a "Job Training Manual" which describes each job assignment important for running our local county library. Such job descriptions will aid in the successful training of future lib-raians and volunteer aides. The Library Board will be voting on approval of it this month. It is our hope that the members of the Board will continue to promote our library and help motivate our commissioner's and judge by keeping them aware of its importance to the community. The patrons of our library are counting on these Board Members to act as spokesmen for their best interest. When money is appropriated for anything it seems like it is usually given to the institution that yells the loudest and the longest. Well, we only ask that the library be kept in mind and when the county tax dollars start being divided this year. Miss Sauer and Mrs. Golemon have given many years as volunteer librarians and deserve seeing the Commissioners' appropriate money for paid librarian salary and running expenses for the library. We believe this expresses the desire of the majority of the community. Let your voice be heard. Write your judge and commissioners c/o The Kinney County Public Library, P.O.Box 975.

Speaking of money and taxes some of the books we have on hand are: HOW TO SAVE ON ESTATE AND GIFT TAXES by the Lasser Tax Institute; THE RAPE OF THE TAX-PAYER by Philip M. Stern; WHO OWNS AMERICA? by Walter J. Hickel; HOW TO LIVE ON YOUR INCOME by the editors of Reader's Digest; THE MONEY BOOK by W.J.Redd; YOU CAN PROFIT FROM A MONETARY CRISIS by Harry Browne; TAX SHELTERS by Robert and Carol Tannenhausen; HOW TO PROSPER DURING THE COMING BAD YEARS by Howard J. Ruff; and EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT TAXES BUT DIDN'T KNOW HOW TO ASK by Michael Savage.

Sincerely,

Soil Conservation

By: James Crumely

This week is the start of a 60-day public review period during which time interested people are being asked to comment on the direction they think future U.S.Department of Agriculture conservation programs should take.

The public review period starts January 28 and ends March 28.

Four draft documents describing the Nation's non-federal soil and water resources, their condition, projected demands, and seven proposed alternatives strategies can be reviewed at the local Soil Conservation Service Office.

James, Crumley, District Conservationist said the proposal for a national soil and water conservation program were developed by a coordinating committee made up of members from nine U.S. Department of Agriculture agencies plus the office of Management and Budget and the Council on Environmental Quality. The process, mandated by the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977 (RCA), included consideration of public input from 9,000 public meetings held in the United States during 1978.

The Act directs the USDA to appraise the condition of the Nation's renewable natural resources and to propose alternative programs to guide the Nation's conservation activities. The appraisal revealed that one-third of the Nation's cropland--136 million acres--is eroding at an excessive rate.

Basic information about the RCA process and proposal may be seen in four documents:

The first document, DRAFT APPRAISAL, Part I, describes the status and condition of our natural resources and provides information on their quantity and quality and major uses of non-federal land. The completed draft identifies national conservation objectives for:

- Reducing erosion and preserving prime farmlands
-----Improving water quality
-----Conserving Water
-----Improving fish and wildlife habitat, including the preservation of wetlands
-----Reducing upstream flood damages
-----Conserving energy
-----Solving related resource problem

The second document, DRAFT APPRAISAL, Part II, projects demands on soil and water resources to the year 2030 and suggests levels of management that could be used to preserve these resources. It also summarizes trends in rural land ownership and describes the contribution of state and local programs to soil and water conservation.

The third document, PROGRAM REPORT AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENT, outlines seven possible approaches--called alternatives strategies--for changing USDA conservation programs and outlines the probable environmental impact.

The fourth document, SUMMARY OF APPRAISAL, Parts I and II and PROGRAM REPORT is a brief summary of the other three documents.

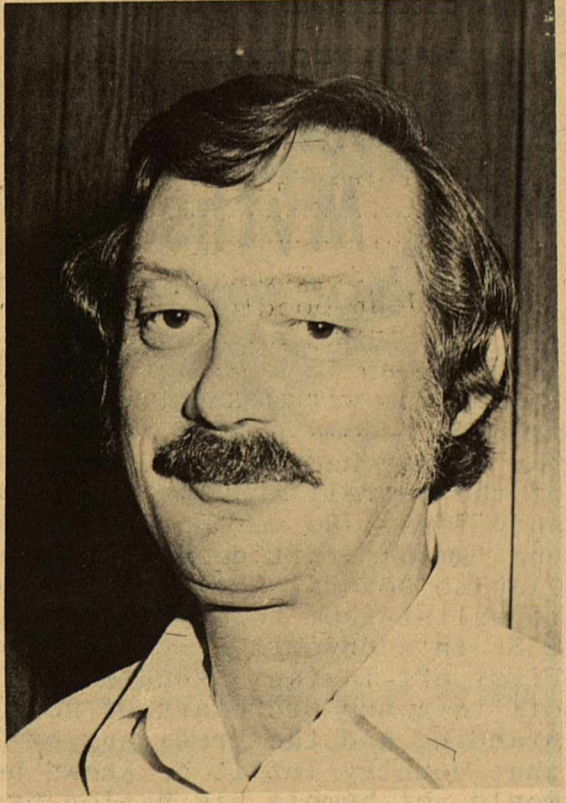

During the public review period three public meetings will be held in Texas to discuss content of the documents and provide an opportunity for comments. The meetings will be held in Arlington on Feb. 26; Lubbock, March 4; and San Antonio, March 6.

Interested citizens are invited to send written comments about the documents or suggestions about future conservation programs to the RCA Response Analysis Center, P.O.Box 888, Athens, Georgia 30603.

Anyone interested in reviewing the documents or finding out more information about upcoming RCA meetings should contact James Crumley of the Soil Conservation Service at the Kinney County Court house. The office will be open from 8 to 5 Monday thru Friday.

Present Day Myths

by: JOE TOWNSEND

It has been an axiom of government in dealing with other nations. That this now become a myth. If seemed MR. Carter had scraped the bottom of the barrell when he appointed Andy Young. No so--now he sends the famous draft dodger Cassius Clay to several African nations to enlist them to support the U.S. in a boycott of the Olympics First off Tanyania shunted him off to a sub secretary of no standing and the President of that country let it be known he would not humble his nation by listening to an ex-boxer. Next stop Mr. Alis' true colors came out. He thinks more of blacks in Africa than "White America". This is to be expected from a man whose "I'm the greatest" refers to his big mouth

It serves Mr. Carter right to get this treatment. He courted the black vote by sending a black man to black countries. He's adopted the philosophy internationally that has characterized his home front activities. Every appointment is made with the eye to gaining votes - makes no difference about capabilities and qualifications. Even in crisis and international affairs, the Georgia peanut baron demonstrates inability to measure up to the qualities needed in the President of the United States. Doubtless most Americans favor a boycott of the olympics, but to make Cassius Clay an international emassary - a good old fashioned belly laugh!

CONNALLY QUALIFIES IN TEXAS WITH MORE THAN 27,000 NAMES

The Connally for President Committee qualified John Connally for a spot on the Texas Republican ballot for president by turning in 27,000-plus names to the State Republican Party office, more than five times the number of qualified voters needed.

Texas campaign Chairman Paul Eggers personally delivered the signatures to the party headquarters after holding a news conference at the State Capitol.

"There are actually more than 30,000 qualified voters on these petitions," Eggers said, "but we had the workers stop counting at 27,000 because they needed to get to work on the big upcoming nationwide telethon Governor Connally will hold February 14."

Eggers said the Committee gathered 3,488 pages of names to turn in qualify Governor Connally for a spot on the May 3 Primary ballot. He said some had more than the 10 signatures each page had lines to accommodate and some were half-filled.

"I would say there are well over 30,000 names of qualified voters," he said. "There is no doubt that the people of Texas support Governor Connally, and they are the people who know him best."

Eggers said workers had obtained enough signatures in Harris County alone (5,600 names) to qualify Connally for the ballot. He added that 4,200 names were turned in from Dallas County

Eggers said more signatures were coming in daily, but would not be included in the total.

"We are obviously quite pleased with this expression of widespread grassroots support for Governor Connally's candidacy," Eggers said. "This is a true indication of the organization we have put together in Texas, which we believe will be vital to the success of any candidate on the Republican ticket this year."

"We are completely confident of the outcome in this race, not only in Texas, but across the nation as well," he added. "as the results of Democratic foreign and domestic policy disasters become more and more evident to Americans, we believe the leadership qualities of John Connally will become more and more attractive to the voters."

GOVERNOR'S ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING FEB. 12

The Governor's Advisory Committee on Education will conduct a public hearing on San Antonio on Tuesday, Feb. 12. The hearing will begin at 2 p.m. at Region 20 Education Service Center--Instructional Media Center--1314 Hines Ave. (exit IH35 at Walters St.)

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony regarding the state system for public elementary and secondary education. The Committee is seeking citizen's comments on issues of interest and specific recommendation for the improvement of the education system. School district representatives are encouraged to participate. The Committee recognizes that school districts, their boards of trustees and personnel, are the ultimate deliverers of educational services to the students. Therefore, it is particularly interested in receiving their comments.

Persons wishing to testify the Committee in advance by mail at the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education, 112 Sam Houston Bldg., Austin, Texas, 78711, or by telephone at (512) 475-0386. Those who do not register in advance may request to be placed on the agenda immediately prior to the beginning of the hearing on Feb. 12. Each speaker will be allotted to more than five minutes.

SEES LONG-TERM NEEDS

Chairman Price told Defense Secretary Brown that our Committee had been trying for several years to increase our military strength, sometimes despite opposition from the Executive branch of our government. He cited our efforts to get the B-1 bomber program, improved missiles, better submarines, and a manpower inventory through registration of our young people in case we need a military draft. The Chairman said present needs could not all be met in a single year, that we need a long-term effort to establish defense strength sufficient to deter any world power from wishing action against us.

I agree, because as I have often said, if we are to continue to be the land of the free, we must be the home of the brave and the strong.

Meanwhile, we in the Congress are not forgetting domestic problems, and I am maintaining continuing interest in matters of special concern to the 23rd District. I am working on a provision of the windfall profits tax bill that would give credit for that portion of oil and gas profits plowed back into the search for and development of new energy sources. We must encourage maximum development to become more self-sufficient as soon as possible.

AND GOD SAID:

Be angry but do not sin; do not let the sun go down on your wrath. Let no evil talk come out of your mouths, but only such as is good for edifying. Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another. Be imitators of God as dear children. Eph 4:26-5:1

Chick Kazen

KAZEN IN WASHINGTON

By: Abraham (Chick) Kazen, M.C.

As the times demand, we who serve in the 96th Congress are already hard at work on the budget for the fiscal year that begins next October 1. We know that some decisions may not wait, that we may have special appropriations to vote in the weeks and months ahead, but I foresee diligent efforts to do what needs to be done.

President Carter's proposed budget proposes priority attention to national defenses, to domestic energy production and conservation, and to research and development of new technologies that can stimulate the economy. In the Armed Services Committee, on which I serve we are already hearing the nation's top civilian and military leaders discuss how we can build our strength to thwart Soviet expansionist efforts.

Our committee's theme was established by our Chairman Congressman Mel Price of Illinois, as he opened our hearings.

I shall study carefully a proposed Japanese plan that they buy wheat and grain that will not be sent to Russia. Our farmers should not be penalized by the grain embargo. We shall be seeking ways to guarantee that our farmers can continue to produce food and fiber needed by our people and out allies so that they can stay in their essential business. I also seek to improve the peanut program, another matter of great concern in our District. As we go into the budget-making process, I shall be making sure that tax dollars are used wisely and efficiently.

I remain confident that our great nation can achieve great goals.

PRINCIPAL NOMINEES FOR THE NATION SERVICE ACADEMIES.

WASHINGTON, D.C...Young men from Laredo, Eagle Pass, and Beeville today were named by Congressman Abraham Kazen, Jr., as principle nominees for the nation's service academies.

Ernesto Uribe, of 321 North Mendiola Avenue, Laredo, now a student at the Marine Military Academy in Harlingen, Tx., was Congressman's Kazen's principal nominee for the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Oscar Hugo Rodriguez, 949 Concho Street, Eagle Pass, was selected for the Military Academy at West Point and James Carter Arnold, Jr., of Beeville, was nominated for the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

Alternate nominations were also named.

"I had a splendid group of applicants for the nominations, so that competition was very keen," Congressman Kazen said. All the candidates had rigid mental and physical examinations, and every one had strong citizen support. I am confident that south Texas again can be very proud in its

the most efficient system for heating and cooling.

HOW THE HEAT PUMP WORKS

In winter . . . the heat that is in the air is brought inside

In summer . . . the heat that is in the house is taken outside

If you are thinking about a new home or a new heating/cooling system in your present home, you need to know that you can save money on energy costs with an electric heat pump.

A heat pump makes use of the heat that is always present in air even when the weather is cold and cloudy. During the winter it removes heat from the outside air and pumps it into your house. In the summer it reverses the process and becomes an air conditioner, moving heat from the inside to the outside. You get the desired temperature indoors throughout the year.

Research shows that in the South Texas area served by Central Power and Light Company, the heat pump delivers about 2½ units of heat for every unit of electrical energy required to run it.

Be sure to consider the heat pump if you are in the market for a new heating/air conditioning system. It's an important device for using energy efficiently and economically.

1841 mansion is Austin museum

By Gordon M. Quarnstrom
Travel News Service

AUSTIN—Come with me to visit the oldest house in Austin, a charming example of Creole architecture built in 1841 for the French charge d'affaires to the Republic of Texas, back in the days before there was a Lone Star State.

The building, carefully restored and furnished, has been open to the public since 1956. It is a museum, really, with great interest to visitors who want to see this example of frontier elegance.

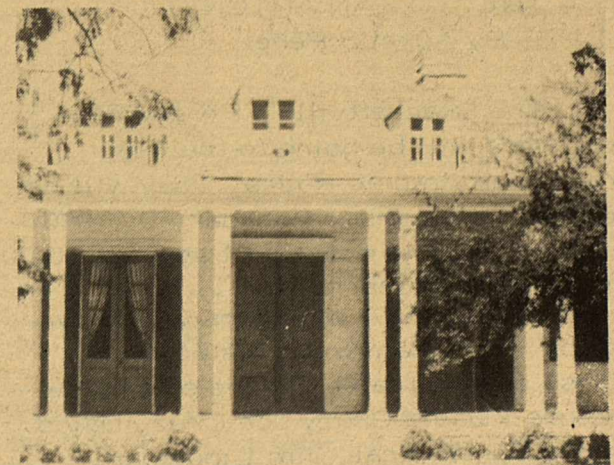

The house is not pretentious and for three generations was the home of the pioneer Robertson family. It was acquired by the State of Texas in 1949, with the encouragement of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, who were named custodians.

Restoration was done and the furnishings were chosen with meticulous care. Rooms added to the original house were removed. Behind the house is the only known reconstruction of an early French Creole kitchen in the United States. It is built on the original foundation stones. The furnishings are French antiques.

The French Legation is at 802 San Marcos St., near downtown Austin. It is open from 1 to 5 p.m. daily, except Monday, with admission of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The ladies who serve to answer questions of visitors point out the builder of the house was Alphonse DuBois, who actually was in Austin little more than a year. He purchased 21 acres and built the home, but there is a question as to whether he ever lived in it. He left Austin early in 1841, the house not finished. It and the gardens now occupy five of the original 21 acres.

The French Legation in Austin, TX, built by the French charge d'affaires in 1841 and now a museum. It is the oldest house in the Texas capital.

TEACHER SPOTLIGHT

By Beatrice Garica

On January 6, 1953 a consummate story teller was born, Jimmy Reichenau. Jimmy Reichenau went to school in Fredericksburg, graduating in 1971. While attending High School he played football and basketball, but his favorite sport was football.

During these years in high school he began forming the friendships which became the basis for most of his stories.

College provided more material for Reichenau's imagination and repertoire of stories. Reichenau went to college in South West Texas in San Marcos where he majored in Physical Education.

Coach Reichenau often uses his memories to emphasize points in his classroom lectures as well as to entertain his friends.

An example is the story of a man, who, down-on-his-luck, tried to commit suicide. The unfortunate gentleman placed a pistol to his head, fired, and missed. After his recovery the mans friend gave him a scope for his birthday. This story was used in a lecture about suicide, to show that it's not really to succeed, it is just a cry for help.

Coach Reichenau was asked if he would like to be teaching in Fredericksburg and his reply was "No because the students know you too well to listen to you." Reichenau was also asked if why he likes teaching here and he replied "I like it here."

HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW

There is no sickness as tragic as race prejudice; never has race prejudice been more rampant than now in America. Hundreds of federal programs are defined so as to cater to those with Mexican surnames. To call them "minority" and thus justify all these programs is political gobbledygook! What about the German, Irish, Japanese, Chinese, Vietnamese, minorities. If we were honest in dealing with minorities we'd include all minorities. Reports that Matt Garcia will be appointed Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization shows the ridiculous posture of the present administration. This catering to "Hispanic" votes is ridiculous. With legal immigrants from all over the world to deal with, a "racial activist" (racist) local totally untrained and unequipped to handle such an office could only be appointed by a desperate politician interested only in buying votes of "Hispanics"

Support for such a man by "Hispanics" because he is an "Hispanic" is racial prejudice in its most diabolical form. When will America return to the productive reality of selecting officers holders on their qualifications, promoting workers on their productive capacity? Or will we feed the fires of race prejudice to our national destruction?

WIND SPEED (Miles per hour)	5	10	15	20	25	30	35	40

HERE'S A DANDY chart to clip and save during these cold winter days. Prepared by the U.S. Naval Observatory, it shows the "chill factor" of our weather. The "chill factor" is the "effective" temperature. When the outdoor mercury reading is paired with the wind velocity. To find the chill factor, see the wind speed (horizontal numbers at bottom) and find the outdoor temperature (vertical numbers at side). The panel which meets at the convergence of the two number sequences gives the chill factor. For example, a temperature of 22 degrees, coupled with a wind velocity of 15 mph, would give a chill factor of 1 degree above zero.
