DROUGHT STRATEGIES DISCUSSED

PLANNING DROUGHT STRATEGY

LOMA ALTA -- The first step in planning drought strategy for sheep and goats is determining feed availability, according to George Ahlschwede of San Angelo.

Ahlschwede, sheep and goat specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, told a group of about 100 producers gathered at the Val Verde County Sheep and Goat Field day, that available feed could include forage, cottonseed cake, corn, or alfalfa or sudan hay. He and several other experts were speakers at the field day held at the Martin Wardlaw-White Ranch near here. The event was hosted by the Val Verde County sheep sub-committee and the Martin Wardlaw family.

The next move in planning drought strategy should be to determine feed cost, Ahlschwede said. Feed should be analyzed to determine the cost per pound of protein and the cost per pound of energy, he explained. Ranchers can then determine whether it is cost-effective to give livestock supplemental feed, or whether to sell them, he said.

If the producer decides to supplement forage, rams and billies should be given priority over the rest of the flock, "especially with breeding season coming on," he said.

Stud flocks should be next on the list of priorities followed by production females and replacement ewe lambs and doe kids, Ahlschwede said.

Producers should then determine feeding needs to determine how much to feed livestock, he said.

"Body weight must be maintained," Ahlschwede said, noting that this should be given top priority. Producers then can turn their attention to feeding livestock for growth, reproductive capacities and the production of fiber or milk, he said.

Livestock requirements may be assessed by visual appraisal of body condition, using body condition as a guide, the specialist said. Ranchers also have to keep in mind production goals and what they expect from their livestock. Protein, energy and mineral needs must also be kept in mind, Ahlschwede said.

With breeding season near, producers must also think about maintaining their breeding ewes and does. "You have to think about getting her bred," he said.

As part of their drought plan, producers may want to "keep those that get pregnant and get rid of the rest," Ahlschwede said.

Ranchers may also want to keep in mind that the nutritional requirements of a ewe or doe do change prior to, during, and after pregnancy, he said. Protein requirements more than double for a ewe from before breeding to after lambing.

If, after lambing, a rancher decides on early weaning, ewe condition still must be maintained so that she will breed back sooner, he said.

If lambs are weaned early, producers may decide to keep them in a feedlot. If so, Ahlschwede said, the first move is to "fill them up with hay." Water should be readily available from a system where lambs can see and hear the water, he said.

The next step is to move the lambs up to a ration. Minimum protein requirements depend on the age and weight of the lamb, the specialist explained.

Health needs of feedlot lambs should be taken care of, also, he said. They should be vaccinated for "overeating," Drenched, sprayed and implanted. Lambs should also be sheared in order to keep them cooler, he said.

Other speakers on the program included Mr. Joe Pena, of Uvalde, district extension economist; Dr. Richard Trimble, agricultural economist, Texas A&M University, College Station; and Roger Blackmon, Val Verde County Extension agent. They gave an outline on keeping computer production records for registered and purebred sheep.

Jack Groff, extension sheep and goat specialist based in Kerrville, gave a demonstration of chute cutting Angora goats. Dr. Larry White, extension range specialist, and Dr. Dwight Guynn, extension wildlife specialist, both from Uvalde, and Martin Wardlaw, explained the impact of the savory grazing method and the cell system on livestock and wildlife on the ranch and later gave a tour of the cell system.

ANIMALS LISTEN

Ask anyone around Alamo Village. Ask Ray Gallagher. He'll tell you. He'll show you. If you want to know how he does it, you'll just have to come see for yourself. Gallagher's technique and keen sense with animals is demonstrated every two hours during each performance, daily at Alamo Village. The gates open at 9 am and the first showtime begins at 10:30, with music and singing, followed by the Arkansas Hillbilly, Ray Gallagher, his horse - 'Tracy', or his donkey "Jenny," and mule named "Blue". Ray's dialogue pertaining to the when, whats and wherefors make the entire show a delight.

Following the animal show, the Alamo Village backshooters stage their best antics doing western melodrama (gun fights). Randy Clark, and Pat Saucedo, Eagle Pass; Bert Guerra, Premont and Tom Paul Torres, Benavides do the honors of the "Toughest man in Town," "Marshalls Day Off," "Even Steven," and others. These same congenial actors present the western music shows that makes you want to dance.

The children are invited to get their pictures taken with the "Animals that Listen." In between show times, visitors browse through the walk-in museums, see the things used to make movies, ride the stagecoach, go horseback riding or take time for food and drinks in the famous cantina. The Indian store, general store and the Trading Post have a wide variety of items to choose from.

You can watch the happenings. The animals listen. So much so you can actually see them answer with a smile, a hand shake, a hug, a kiss, a flat no or groan. So for a great time and a chance to relate to some "not so" dumb animals come out to Alamo Village any day of the week and see Ray Gallagher, the Arkansas Hillbilly and his trained animals.

Alamo Village is 7 miles north of Brackettville on Highway 674. For information call 512/563-2580.

DROUGHT-CAUSED LIVESTOCK SALES HAVE CERTAIN TAX ADVANTAGES

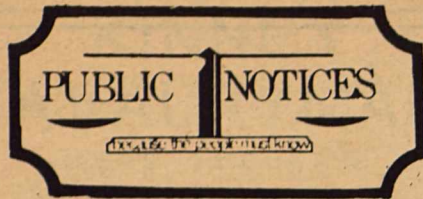

UVALDE-- Ranchers who are being forced to sell livestock because of decimated pastures and reduced water supplies are urged to begin considering the income tax aspects of their losses, according to Joe Pena, Extension economist - management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Headquartered at Uvalde.

"Income from drought sales may be treated two ways for tax purposes, depending on whether the livestock is considered inventory or breeding stock," Pena said. Both types of sales are outlined in the Farmer's tax guide. Income from the sale of inventory stock may be deferred for up to one year, he said.

"Producers can elect to defer the revenue from sales of certain livestock, such as steers, heifers and calves for one year if the sale was due to drought conditions," Pena said. However, He explained, this particular election does not apply to livestock used for breeding, draft, dairy or sporting purposes.

If, because of drought, a taxpayer, whose principal activity is farming or ranching, sells livestock in excess of the number that would be sold in a normal business year, he may elect to include the sales proceeds in the next year's income provided that:

- * The cash method of accounting is used;
- * It can be established under usual business circumstances the number sold would not have occurred; and,
- * The drought has resulted in the area being designated as eligible for assistance from the Federal Government.

Lilvestock which is purchased, such as stocker steers or heifers, as well as "raised livestock" will qualify, he said. In addition, sales made prior to an area being declared eligible for Federal assistance may qualify, the economist said.

To determine the amount of income to be deferred, a producer must first calculate the average amount received per head sold during the year and multiply this figure by the excess number of head sold due to drought, he said.

When livestock kept for breeding, draft or dairy purposes are sold or exchanged solely because of drought, the sale or exchange is considered an involuntary conversion, Pena said.

A taxpayer may elect to postpone the tax on the gain from sales of breeding livestock if replaced with livestock of like kind within two years from the close of the year in which the gain was realized, the economist explained.

"The taxpayer's principal business does not have to be farming or ranching and the area does not have to be officially declared eligible for assistance by the Federal Government," He said.

Tax on the gain may be postponed on the number sold in excess of the usual practice. A loss resulting from the sale is deductible in the year that it is sustained, he explained.

In either situation, Pena said, direct losses may be reported either in the IRS form 4797, supplemental schedule of gains and losses, or on schedule F, farm income and expenses, if the livestock was purchased and died or were sold at a loss.

However, basic information covering tax deferral should be reported in IRS form 4797, supplemental schedule of gains and losses. The tax return for the year of sale should include:

- * Evidence of drought;
- * Amount of gain realized;
- * Number and kind sold or replaced; and
- * Number and kind replaced.

Tax returns for the replacement year, Pena said, should include:

- * Replacement purchase price;
- * Number and kind of replacements and

* Cost of replacement. "The cost of replacement livestock must equal or exceed the proceeds of livestock sold due to drought" the economist explained.

Many producers have been extremely hard hit by lack of rain," he said.

"Some of these losses can be reclaimed by careful adherence to certain tax provisions which would not be applicable during a normal year," Pena added.

"Unfortunately, the "real" drought losses will be felt in the long run by poor livestock performance, such as lower calving rates, weaker calves and lower weaning weights, which must be absorbed as part of the risk of ranching in the Southwest," he said.

We finally got serious about saving energy - and bought a Good Cents home.

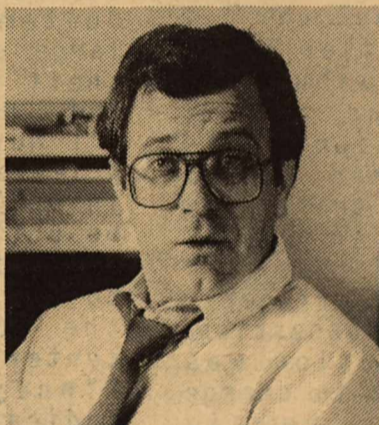

I looked around—and what I saw just didn't make sense.

We had a computer and a VCR and a microwave and all this space-age equipment in a stone-age, energy-wasting house.

So I got serious. I really looked into the Good Cents home—and found out it can cut the energy you use for heating, cooling and hot water in half! That was enough to convince us, because you buy more energy for those three items than for everything else in your house. Reducing that amount by 50 percent means you rack up some pretty remarkable savings in utility bills.

As someone who appreciates all the latest technology, I like the idea that our Good Cents home incorporates the newest and best technology for energy efficiency. Important energy-saving features were built into it from the ground up. Adequate insulation. A heat pump for efficient heating and cooling. Quality windows and doors. And special measures to stop air leaks.

The final selling point was a little extra that had a lot of appeal for me: the Good Cents people have designed a computer program that provides an energy analysis of your home. It gives you an estimate of how much it will cost to heat and cool the house, and how much energy you'll save the first year because of the Good Cents features.

"I think that's great! But then, you already knew I like computers, didn't you?"

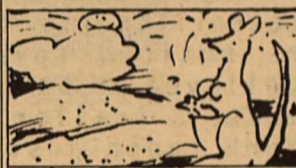

If you're planning a new home, you'll want more information about the Good Cents program. Inquire at your CPL office—or ask your designer, architect, builder or realtor.

*The exact amount of savings will depend on individual circumstances.

THE SHERIFF'S CORNER

by Norman H. Hooten, Sheriff

Some of you may have missed this column last week, I tried to get it ready but just did not find the time to get everything down by the deadline. At any rate, though "Old George" may gripe a little about the length, I will try to bring you up to date this week on the various activities we have been involved in the past couple of weeks.

Burglars struck twice in Kinney County on Thursday, June 21st. The first incident was reported at approx. 11:30 a.m. by Manuel Pena, a Government Trapper who lives in Spofford. Mr. Pena was patrolling his territory when he noticed several subjects believed to be illegal aliens enter a trailer house on the York ranch just south of the Malone airstrip in Spofford. Myself and Chief of Police Richard Dempkowski responded to the call and upon our arrival Mr. Pena had six illegal aliens in custody who had broken into the trailer house which is used as a hunting camp during hunting season. Further investigation indicated that they had forced their way into the trailer by breaking a window in one of the doors and a wall clock and other misc. personal property was found in their possession.

Criminal prosecution was refused by the agent in charge of the camp and the six illegal aliens were released to the U.S. Border Patrol for deportation proceedings.

The second burglary was reported at approx. 1:30 PM by Ft. Clark Security personnel. Upon arrival at the scene, Sheridan House #19, it was determined that burglars had entered the house by way of a window in the upstairs section and had taken jewelery and personal property valued at approx. $666.00.

I was assisted in the investigation by Chief of Police Richard Dempkowski and juvenile officers from Del Rio. Two female juveniles were arrested and approx. $630.00 of the stolen property was recovered. The case has been turned over to the juvenile probation dept. for further action.

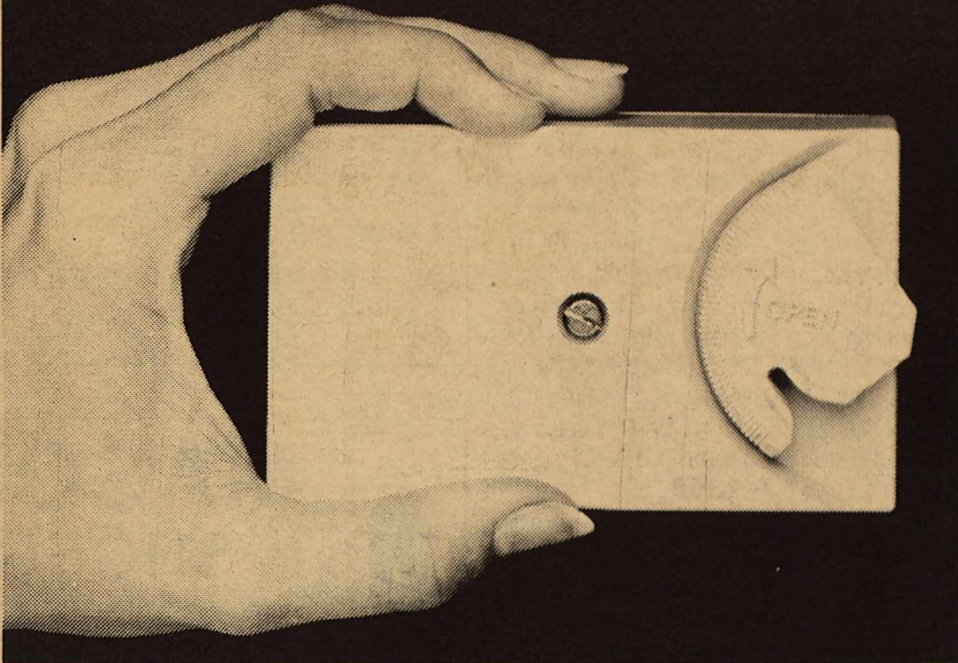

The body of a Mexican National was reported to be on the Billy Fisher ranch in far northwest Kinney County late Sunday afternoon, June 24th. Former Sheriff Johnny Sheedy, Justice of the peace Raymond Talamantez and myself responded to the call and upon our arrival at the scene interviewed three other illegal aliens who had been traveling with the deceased. It is believed, from the symptoms, that the 38-year-old man suffered from heatstroke and the witnesses said that he expired at approx. 3:30 pm Sunday afternoon. The body was brought to Brackettville and after the family was notified, burial was in the County Cemetary.

The Kinney County Grand Jury met on Friday, June 29th and heard evidence on four (4) cases presented. The four cases presented involved the Guatamalan Nationals being held in the county jail on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Indictments were handed down on all four cases presented and the trials will be set for a later date. As reported before, it is believed that the four Guatamalans are part of a large scale international car theft ring based in Honduras and Guatamala.

I have been contacted by a private enterprise firm based in Dallas, who have asked to be put on the agenda for the July 9th commissioner's court to put forth a proposal to the court for a detention center to be constructed in Kinney County. From all indications and information received, the U.S. Marshalls Service and the Immigration & Naturalization Service would use such a facility though they have stated that they cannot guarantee specified numbers of prisoners to be detained in the facility. The need for such a facility still exists in our area and the desire seems to be a high priority matter with both federal services. Thus the interest of at least three (3) private enterprise firms to coordinate and work with Kinney County to construct and operate such a facility. Those of you who are interested in this project, either in favor of or against, are urged to attend this meeting and hear for yourself,

This plastic box is important to you.

It's your connecting link to the telephone network.

This plastic box is a "network interface." That's where you join the local telephone network, which can also connect you to a long distance network.

It's this box where we terminate a pair of wires from our switching center to your residence. That's technically where our service ends, but not our concern for our customers. We want you to understand the importance of this interface device and the other changes which have taken place with the breakup of the Bell System so that you can relax and continue to enjoy good telephone service.

The network interface is being installed on the outside of most new homes, usually adjacent to the power meter. For others it may be found on the wall of a walk-in closet, a utility room or garage. Southwestern Bell Telephone began installing network interfaces in 1982, therefore, wiring installed prior to 1982 may not have a network interface. Unfortunately, not all of the older network interfaces are exact look-a-likes, but they are similar.

From the network interface, you have at least three options on how to handle installation and repair of inside wiring and jacks to your telephones:

- (1) hire Southwestern Bell Telephone to do it,
- (2) hire another contractor,
- (3) or save the money by doing the work yourself.

(Materials are readily available from numerous retail stores.)

If you choose Southwestern Bell Telephone to do the inside work, you should know about recently approved "Premises Work Charges," which include both time and materials. Premises Work Charges are billed according to the time required to do the job.

Here is Southwestern Bell Telephone's schedule of charges:

PREMISES WORK CHARGES FOR JACKS AND INSIDE WIRING	Other Times
	8 a.m.- 5 p.m. Mon.-Fri.	Mon.-Fri. and All Day Saturday	Sundays and Holidays
INSTALLATION
Initial 15 min.	$18.50	$22.75	$27.00
Each Addl. 15 Min.	$10.50	$12.50	$14.75
REPAIR
Initial 15 Min.	$28.25	$31.75	$35.25
Each Addl. 15 Min.	$10.50	$12.75	$15.00

These charges are similar to those made by other service personnel for work performed on customers' premises. Remember, too, that while inside wiring and the workmanship required to install or repair it may be obtained from many sources today, we're still in the business, if that's your choice.

When we complete the work, you get a 30-day warranty against defects and malfunctions from the date of installation or repair. For your convenience, keep your Southwestern Bell Telephone warranty handy.

We sincerely hope this information will be helpful to you in the future. We know most of our customers still have a lot of questions about the changes which have taken place since divestiture.

While we are no longer responsible for every facet of your telephone service like we used to be, serving you is still our only business. After all, it's AT&T we separated from... not you. And, in the coming weeks, we will be reviewing other information you'll need to help you understand—and enjoy—the benefits of the new Information Age.

SHERIFF'S CORNER - CONT'D

firsthand the proposal. However, NO final action will be taken on the proposal as there are two (2) other firms who also wish to be heard, and as I have promised for the past year, NO FINAL ACTION will be taken until all proposals are heard and YOU, the citizens and taxpayers of Kinney County, consulted for your MAJORITY APPROVAL OR DISAPPROVAL OF THE MATTER.

This week's column has been a little long and I am sure "Old George" is fussing and frowning a little, but in closing I have one more item to mention.

It seems that I have been under fire lately by a limited number of "special interest" groups for not reporting various cases that have come before the courts. I have even been accused of showing special favoritism to some by not printing their names and crimes they have been accused of.

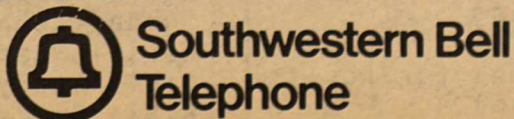

My answer to that is as follows: I try to condense various law enforcement activities along with general county information into one & one-half typed pages each week. In order to do this I have to concentrate on those activities which I consider to be of MAJOR importance to ALL the people of Kinney County, at least in MY opinion. If I attempted to report each and every incident and activity I am involved in every day, the CALVARYMAN would be nothing but a police gazette and that is not the intent of this column or the Calvaryman.
