CITY COUNCIL MEETING

CITY HALL

WM. THURBER
CITY MANAGER

The City Council meeting in regular session Monday evening Nov. 19, 1984 approved the City and Utility Department financial and operational reports for the preceding month.

The City Manager presented status reports on the RGEC extension lime; TML insurance coverages; the expected awarding of a community development project fund grant for $105,000 from the State to replace the ground storage water tank and repair the elevated water tower; status of the annual Audit conducted by Freeman and Horne Inc.; and projected sale of city owned lots.

Mr. Tim Ward the Brackettville Volunteer Fire Dept. Chief reported on the projected plans and projects of the dept. and his report was warmly received by the members of the Council. Mr. Ward as elected chairman of the Filippone Building and Museum Committee discussed with Council and received concurrence to immediately commence work on the Filippone Building with the #1 priority being the roof and closing of the windows and doors to the elements.

The Council tentatively set a special meeting to discuss the new City Manager appointment as well as to receive the annual audit report for the first week in December.

The affirmative positive actions by this Council bode well for the future of the city and Community.

"A CHRISTMAS CAROL"

UVALDE, --- A musical adaptation of "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens will be the holiday production of Uvalde Area Community Theatre, opening at the Grand Opera House in downtown Uvalde on Saturday, Dec. 1. Curtain time is 8:00 P.M.

This version of the traditional story was adapted by Michael Paller and will be directed by Laird Stuart, with Margaret Rambie as assistant director. Music for the production will be provided by a choraling group and a string trio. The customary opening night party will follow the first performance.

Other performances will be a matinee on Sunday, Dec. 2 at 2:30 P.M. and on Thursday, Dec. 6 and Friday, Dec. 7 at 8:00 P.M.

NEW BOOK DESCRIBES COLORFUL TEXAS FIGURES

The people who helped shape Texas were as varied and as colorful as the wildflowers that sweep the state. Take for example, Belle Boyd, the beautiful Confederate spy who used her feminine wiles to lure information from Union soldiers. Or how about "Choctaw Bill" Robinson, a Baptist minister who came to Texas in 1848 and preached with a gun beside his Bible until his death at the age of 89.

These figures and many others are brought to life in a new book published by the Texas Historical Commission entitled Shadows On The Land, An Anthology of Texas Historical Marker Stories. The book is a compilation of more than 50 stories written from research information available through the THC's Marker Dept.

The stories first appeared in newspapers across the state, where they generated widespread interest in the state's historical marker program. Each story includes the location of the historical marker discussed, and 14 photographs illustrate the tales.

With more than 9,000 historical markers in Texas, the THC's marker program is an ongoing reminder of the people's history, acting as a reflection of the state's rich heritage and cultural diversity. In addition, the markers chronicle the history of the architecture, events, and archeology that helped determine the development of modern-day Texas.

The book is written by Myra Hargrave McIlvain, an Austin freelance writer and public speaker. She is the author of 6 Central Texas Auto Tours and Texas Auto Trails: The Southeast.

Shadows on the Land is available for $4, plus 30 cents handling (Texas Residents add 20 cents sales tax) through the THC, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711. For more information, call 512-475-3092.

MISSOURI CITY'S JUDGE ROANE IS REMEMBERED

Judge Thomas Rusk Roane, a member of the first Missouri City city council, died Nov. 1 at the age of 85.

To friends, family members and acquaintances, he was an institution. Born Dec. 23, 1898, Roane served two terms as Fort Bend County Sheriff, from 1931 to 1935 and from 1939 to 1943. He was Precinct 3 Justice of the Peace for eight years beginning in 1967. He was said to have been the first child born in Missouri City after the city was founded, but family members say he was actually born in Houston.

I will miss him dreadfully commented Alice Church, Missouri City city secretary. He was a true Southern gentleman. She said that Roane took a daily walk which usually included a stop at the Missouri City City Hall.

He was very loyal to Missouri City. He was always interested in what was going on. Missouri City was very lucky to have him, she said. His work and interest in city parks earned him the tribute of having a park named in his honor. Roane Park is located on Turtle Creek Dr. and Church said the flags there flew at half mast through this weekend in his memory.

One family friend, Helen Gay, also remembered Roane as a "Southern gentleman" and a "politician".

When he was JP, he did a lot of weddings in the front parlor of his home. Willa Rue (his wife) would put flowers and candlesticks in there and really fix it up nice for those people who just popped in to get married, Gay reflected.

Stafford Mayor Leonard Scarcella said Roane was greatly respected in the Stafford-Missouri City area. He said the judge was always interested in politics and actively supported local candidates. Scarcella said he talked with Roane just a week ago about the Nov. 6 general election.

Roane's neighbor Mrs. Charles Whatley said her friend cast his ballot absentee on Wednesday. He died the next day at Fort Bend Community Hospital.

Funeral services for the former judge were held Nov. 4 at the Episcopal Church of the Advent in Stafford with Rev. Harland Irvin officiating.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. T.R. Roane; one daughter, Mary Louise Veltmann of Brackettville; one brother, George Roane of Richmond; two sisters Beulah Bledsoe and Donnie Jo Robinson, both of Missouri City; and three grandsons, Clyde Rusk Veltmann of Arlington, Craig Slayton Veltmann of San Francisco and Valenie Veltmann of Uvalde.

Roane was a member of the Stafford-Missouri City Lions Club and the Episcopal Church of the Advent.

LETTERS TO

AN OPEN LETTER TO
HAPPY SHAHAN

Today, in a way, was a sad day for us, for the "UP HILL MOVIE" Company moved out and went on to another location. I have not been associated with too many movie companies, but if all of them were as nice and easy to get along with as this one company; I wish there was one here all the time.

To Frank Dobbs, David Ford, Burr Smidt, Hal Matheny, David Little and all the others responsible for this film; I wish them a huge success with this film and all future endeavors; particularly if they film them at Alamo Village.

To you, "Happy", a great big thanks for your part in getting them here in the first place. Without your efforts none of this would have happened to our little town. I feel sure that all of the other business people here in Brackett appreciate the added money that this movie meant to them.

Another sad part to this letter is all the money that our town did not receive because we were unable to handle their business as a whole. The buses, vans and car loads of people had to travel to Del Rio every day in order to have a place to stay. All those people ate, shopped and spent their money there. Del Rio should also send you a "thank you" card. Especially since the turn down of the Condo-Motel Unit on the highway at Ft. Clark and the bad vote on the Detention Center. Either one could have created motel spaces here to house future movie groups. It must be disheartening to you to go out and work your rump off to try and bring extra income to our county and see it go down highway 90 to Del Rio. I realize a lot of people did stay at Ft. Clark in private quarters, but just think how much better it would have been if all of them had stayed here. Don't give up Happy, keep bringing them here and I feel that maybe some day soon we will get enough progressive thinking people elected to our county offices that will get out and go to work trying to

Also, maybe the people of Ft. Clark will want to see something on the highway other than a weed patch.

THE BEST DEFENSE IS THE
FALL OFFENSE

We may not have blizzards in most areas of Texas, but controlling winter heating cost is still a concern of many Texans. It's second only to cooling. One of the primary heating systems used by Texans is gas, either a furnace or a space heater.

To defend yourself against the coming cold winds this winter, you should have your furnace checked this fall. Service at the beginning of each heating season ensures the efficient operation of your heating system. A qualified service person should perform the maintenance check; however, you should be sure the following are done during the visit:

Make sure all safety features are operating correctly so that the system will shut down if a hazardous situation arises;

Light the pilot and make certain that the flame has the proper air mixture. A sharply defined blue flame indicates the proper mixture of gas and air;

Check the heat exchanger for cracks in the steel chamber;

Check the duct system to make sure it is well sealed;

Check the blower section to make certain that the motor and bearings are lubricated and the belts have proper tension.

If any of these areas have problems, do not operate the system until they have been corrected.

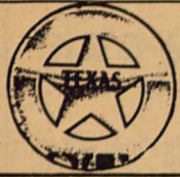

In addition to seasonal professional maintenance, for optimal efficiency you should change your air filter monthly when the system is in use. These steps will help Texans stay warm and cozy--and content with energy costs under control.

If you are in the market for a new furnace, gas heating systems with improved efficiencies are now on the market. Select a system with the highest efficiency you can afford. Remember, the higher cost will be offset by lower utility bills. Two efficiency features to look for are the vent damper and the electronic pilot ignition. To find out more about these features and other energy saving tips, call the toll free energy hotline 1-800-643-SAVE. Ask for Texas Energy Topics No. 12.

THE SHERIFF'S CORNER

by Norman H. Hooten, Sheriff

Several years ago, more than I really care to remember, I was working after school every day in a feed store to finance my F.F.A. project. I did odd jobs around the store such as sweeping, cleaning up, hauling feed to customers cars, etc.

The store was a general hangout for the various stockmen of the area, cowboys, cattle traders and such. They were always telling stories about dogs, horses, cowboys, and other exploits that I won't go into right now. One of the cattle traders who hung out there and told some of the tallest tales was a big, rough talking man whose face looked like a road map of Texas. He always had a cigar in his mouth half-chewed up. He never smoked them and he never spit anything out that I could tell, so I can only assume that he was eating them. His nickname was "LAX" and his last name was Hughes. He was a big practical joker and was always telling of some "good one" he had pulled on someone at some time or another. One day when he was really wound up and telling some tall tales, one of the other cattle traders caught my eye, winked, and asked "LAX" to tell me how he got his nickname. Old

"Lax" turned kinda red faced, choked a little on his cigar, looked at his watch and mumbled something about being late meeting somebody and stomped off.

Well, naturally, my curiosity was up and I asked the trader to tell me how "Lax" got his nickname. Seems that "Lax" had an incurable "sweet tooth" and liked anything chocolate. As he was always pulling some big joke on somebody, the boys got together and thought it would be nice to fix him a chocolate cake for his birthday one year. So when the day came, they had a big 3-layer chocolate cake fixed up real pretty with dark chocolate icing on it. When "Lax" came into the store for the daily bull session they gave it to him with the best of birthday wishes.

Now old "Lax" got kinda choked up over the fact that the boys thought so much of him, especially since he had pulled some pretty stiff jokes on some of them over the years. Well, anyway he offered to share the cake with them, but they refused telling him it was his birthday and the cake was all for him. He left a little while later taking the cake with him.

"Lax", who came into the store every day, didn't show up for about a week. When he did come in, he looked kinda pale and had lost about 15 pounds. The boys asked him where he had been and why he looked so pale and sickly. "Lax", whose given name up until then was Jim, replied that he had sure got sick the day after eating his birthday cake and he sure didn't want to hurt their feelings but that the cake sure didn't agree with him. Well, the boys couldn't hold it back any longer. They were laughing and slapping their legs and some of them laughed so hard they had tears in their eyes. Seems they had taken advantage of "Lax's" love of chocolate and had laced the cake and the icing with about a half dozen boxes of a laxative called EX-LAX. Thus the nickname "Lax" and it stuck with him for as long as I knew him.

One day I got up the courage to ask "Lax" how he had taken the joke and he told me that he finally got his health back, but he sure lost his taste for chocolate!

IRRESISTIBLE TALE OF CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

Chocolate—the very word is conducive to spinning tales of love, to stimulating the senses. Even the Aztec emperor Montezuma drank chocolate from his golden ceremonial goblet. It was called chocolatl, a lukewarm drink mixed with beer or wine and seasoned with pepper.

Hernando Cortez first tasted this pleasurable drink in 1519 and brought cocoa back to Spain. The Spanish added sugar and other flavorings to the rich-tasting beverage. But it wasn't until 1847 that the first piece of chocolate was eaten.

Soon chocolate became the delectable ingredient in all types of desserts. Tradition has it that the first chocolaty brownies were baked in Bangor, Maine. Another legend traces this delicious treat to a fallen chocolate cake. Brownies may even be an American version of a chocolate Scottish tea cake or scone.

For old-fashioned goodness, try baking Chocolate-covered Cherry Brownies. Serve on a pretty plate with a lacy paper doily. For a more contemporary flavor, sample Peanut Butter Ripple Brownies.

For other tantalizing recipes from the Betty Crocker Kitchens, send for this free, four-color brochure, "Recipes for EXTRA Brownie Points." There are 14 scrumptious recipes, each beginning with Betty Crocker brownie mixes. Just send your name and address to: Brownies Brochure, P.O. Box 5402, Dept. 891, Minneapolis, MN 55460.

CHOCOLATE-COVERED CHERRY BROWNIES

Heat oven to 350°. Prepare 1 package Betty Crocker supreme fudge brownie mix (with can of Chocolate Flavor Syrup) as directed for Cakelike Brownies. Spread in pan. Arrange 8 well-drained maraschino cherries in each of 6 rows over dough. Bake as directed; cool at least 1 hour. Frost with Almond Frosting (below). Cut into 1 1/2-inch squares; garnish each square with bits of maraschino cherries if desired. 48 brownies.

Almond Frosting

3 cups powdered sugar
2 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2 to 3 tablespoons water

Mix powdered sugar, margarine and almond extract. Stir in water, 1 tablespoon at a time, until smooth and of spreading consistency.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Increase baking time to 35 to 40 minutes.

PEANUT BUTTER RIPPLE BROWNIES

3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 eggs
1 package Betty Crocker supreme fudge brownie mix (with can of Chocolate Flavor Syrup)
Peanut Butter Frosting (below)

Heat oven to 350°. Grease bottom only of rectangular pan, 13x9x2 inches. Mix sugar, peanut butter, flour and eggs in small bowl. Beat on medium speed 2 minutes.

Prepare Cakelike Brownies as directed on package. Spread dough in pan. Drop peanut butter mixture by tablespoonfuls onto dough. Swirl through dough with knife for marbled effect. Bake 38 to 40 minutes.

Cool; frost with Peanut Butter Frosting. Sprinkle with chopped peanuts if desired. Cut into 1 1/2-inch squares. 48 brownies.

Peanut Butter Frosting

1 cup vanilla ready-to-spread frosting
1/3 cup peanut butter
2 to 3 teaspoons milk

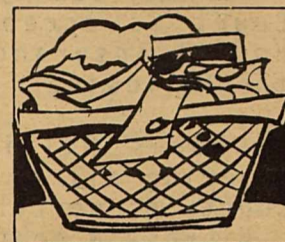

Mix all ingredients until frosting is smooth and of spreading consistency.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Stir 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour into Brownie Mix (dry).

I'm proud to work on a Good Cents home... and not just for the big energy savings!

"I don't mind telling you I'm a good carpenter. I take a lot of pride in the work I do, so I'm real pleased when I get to work on a Good Cents house.

"Good Cents means quality—in the kinds of materials we use and the careful way everything is planned so it goes together just right. And a Good Cents home has a lot of extras you don't find in most houses: things like added insulation, features to prevent air leaks, and efficient, properly sized heating and cooling equipment.

"CPL sponsors Good Cents, and they send people out to check on our work. Of course, I do my job right anyway, but it's nice to know CPL cares.

"Most people choose Good Cents because they want to save money on utility bills. That's important, too. But if I were buying a home I'd insist on Good Cents because I could be sure the house is well built and energy efficient, top flight all the way."

A Good Cents house uses only half as much energy as a conventional house for heating, air conditioning and water heating. And since those are the three biggest energy-consumers in your home, you pocket impressive savings every month on what you spend for energy.

Energy-saving features are built into every Good Cents home from the ground up—features that may include good attic ventilation, special measures to prevent air leaks and an efficient heating and cooling system.

If you're in the market for a new home, you'll want more information about Good Cents. Inquire at your CPL office—or ask your builder or realtor.

As the fog lifts, a spring day begins on the Oregon coast inspiring this winning entry in The Sixth Annual Color Slide Competition for National Bible Week. It illustrates, "The trees in the woods will shout for joy when the Lord comes to rule the earth." (1 Chronicles 16:33) The photo was taken by Tom DeMoss, Eugene, Oregon. National Bible Week, Nov. 18-25, 1984, is sponsored by the Laymen's National Bible Committee.

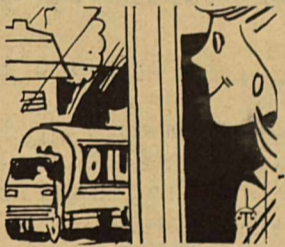

FANCY THAT!

You may be a resource recoverer! If you've been camping you probably practiced a simple form of an important technology known as resource recovery, which converts ordinary garbage into energy. When you tossed used paper products into the campfire instead of putting them in the garbage to go to a landfill, you burned it and recaptured some of the resulting energy.

Modern resource recovery technology is far more efficient than a campfire, but the basic process is essentially the same. Ordinary garbage is reduced in size through special shredding processes that convert it into a clean, odorless fuel. It is then burned in safe, energy-efficient boilers fitted with the latest air quality control systems. The resulting heat turns water to steam which drives turbine generators. The electricity produced is sold to the local utility.

Processes developed by Combustion Engineering, a leader in energy technology worldwide, have turned waste materials into energy that saved the equivalent of 86 million barrels of oil last year alone.

QUICK QUIZ NEWS OF WOMEN

Whose Face Is In This Space?

1. He's President of a country celebrating the 40th anniversary of its revolution.
2. His country does $1 billion worth of business with the U.S. each year, supplying things we need and helping create U.S. jobs by buying U.S. products.

3. At the Olympics in Los Angeles, his country won 53 medals: 20 gold, 16 silver, 17 bronze.
4. This man heads one of only two East European countries enjoying "most favored nation" status with the U.S., recognition that America deals with East European countries as separate entities, rather than just lumping them all together.
5. Known to the public as the homeland of Nadia Comaneci, the country is known to bankers for having shrunk its foreign debt from $10.1 billion in 1981 to about $8.8 billion at the end of 1983.

The Question

 Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania
 Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski of Poland
 Todor Zhivkov of Bulgaria
 Gustav Husak of Czechoslovakia
 Gyorgy Laza of Hungary

Answer

It's Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania, where he has been president since 1967.

With over 20 million American women weighing at least ten percent more than they should and four million American women having a baby every year, many women are working on ways to shape up.

No diet will work—unless you stay on it. Giving yourself rewards along the way may serve as incentive. Try a new hair-do after the first five pounds, a manicure after ten, a facial after 15.

A daily routine of moisturizing and massaging the skin during and after pregnancy or during weight-loss is important.

One product, Baby Magic® Stretch Mark Creme by Menen, specifically designed to pamper taut, stretched skin is made of natural cocoa butter and six other special skin conditioners, including a special grade of lanolin, that helps provide skin with moisture and emolliency to keep it soft and supple.

To help your diet do its work, you ought to exercise. Your doctor can tell you how best to do that. When exercising you may want to keep these suggestions in mind.

Don't end an exercise session abruptly. Allow yourself some cool-down time. If you've just jogged for 20 minutes, walk for ten.

Don't take a hot shower or sauna directly after vigorous exercise. Wait 15 minutes, then take a shower with tepid water.

Don't do vigorous exercise until 30 minutes after a light meal, or 90 minutes after a heavy one.

If you don't cut off split ends on your hair, they will keep splitting right up the hair shaft.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

CITY HALL

CITY MANAGER

The City Council meeting in regular session Monday evening Nov. 19, 1984 approved the City and Utility Department financial and operational reports for the preceding month.

The City Manager presented status reports on the RGEC extention lime; TML insurance coverages; the expected awarding of a community development project fund grant for $105,000 from the State to replace the ground storage water tank and repair the elevated water tower; status of the annual Audit conducted by Freeman and Horne Inc.; and projected sale of city owned lots.

Mr. Tim Ward the Brackettville Volunteer Fire Dept. Chief reported on the projected plans and projects of the dept. and his report was warmly received by the members of the Council. Mr. Ward as elected chairman of the Filippone Building and Museum Committee discussed with Council and received concurrence to immediately commence work on the Filippone Building with the #1 priority being the roof and closing of the windows and doors to the elements.

The Council tentatively set a special meeting to discuss the new City Manager appointment as well as to receive the annual audit report for the first week in December.

The affirmative positive actions by this Council bode well for the future of the city and Community.

"A CHRISTMAS CAROL"

UVALDE, --- A musical adaptation of "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens will be the holiday production of Uvalde Area Community Theatre, opening at the Grand Opera House in downtown Uvalde on Saturday, Dec. 1. Curtain time is 8:00 P.M.

This version of the traditional story was adapted by Michael Paller and will be directed by Laird Stuart, with Margaret Rambie as assistant director. Music for the production will be provided by a choraling group and a string trio. The customary opening night party will follow the first performance.

Other performances will be a matinee on Sunday, Dec. 2 at 2:30 P.M. and on Thursday, Dec. 6 and Friday, Dec. 7 at 8:00 P.M.

NEW BOOK DESCRIBES COLORFUL TEXAS FIGURES

The people who helped shape Texas were as varied and as colorful as the wildflowers that sweep the state. Take for example, Belle Boyd, the beautiful Confederate spy who used her feminine wiles to lure information from Union soldiers. Or how about "Choctaw Bill" Robinson, a Baptist minister who came to Texas in 1848 and preached with a gun beside his Bible until his death at the age of 89.

These figures and many others are brought to life in a new book published by the Texas Historical Commission entitled Shadows On The Land, An Anthology of Texas Historical Marker Stories. The book is a compilation of more than 50 stories written from research information available through the THC's Marker Dept.

The stories first appeared in newspapers across the state, where they generated widespread interest in the state's historical marker program. Each story includes the location of the historical marker discussed, and 14 photographs illustrate the tales.

With more than 9,000 historical markers in Texas, the THC's marker program is an ongoing reminder of the people's history. acting as a reflection of the state's rich heritage and cultural diversity. In addition, the markekr's chronicle the history of the architecture, events, and archeology that helped determine the development of modern--day Texas.

The book is wwritten by Myra Hargrave McIlvain, an Austin freelance writer and public speaker. She is the author of 6 Central Texas Auto Tours and Texas Auto Trails: The Southeast.

Shadows on the Land is available for $4, plus 30 cents handling (Texas Residents add 20 cents sales tax) through the THC, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711. For more information, call 512-475-3092.

MISSOURI CITY'S JUDGE ROANE IS REMEMBERED

Judge Thomas Rusk Roane, a member of the first Missouri City city council, died Nov. 1 at the age of 85.

To friends, family members and acquaintances, he was an institution. Born Dec. 23, 1898, Roane served two terms as Fort Bend County Sheriff, from 1931 to 1935 and from 1939 to 1943. He was Precinct 3 Justice of the Peace for eight years beginning in 1967. He was said to have been the first child born in Missouri City after the city was founded, but family members say he was actually born in Houston.

I will miss him dreadfully commented Alice Church, Missouri City city secretary. He was a true Southern gentleman. She said that Roane took a daily walk which usually included a stop at the Missouri City City Hall.

He was very loyal to Missouri City. He was always interested in what was going on. Missouri City was very lucky to have him, she said. His work and interest in city parks earned him the tribute of having a park named in his honor. Roane Park is located on Turtle Creek Dr. and Church said the flags there flew at half mast through this weekend in his memory.

One family friend, Helen Gay, also remembered Roane as a "Southern gentleman" and a "politician".

When he was JP, he did a lot of weddings in the front parlor of his home. Willa Rue (his wife) would put flowers and candlesticks in there and really fix it up nice for those people who just popped in to get married, Gay reflected.

Stafford Mayor Leonard Scarcella said Roane was greatly respected in the Stafford-Missouri City area. He said the judge was always interested in politics and actively supported local candidates. Scarcella said he talked with Roane just a week ago about the Nov. 6 general election.

Roane's neighbor Mrs. Charles Whatley said her friend cast his ballot absentee on Wednesday. He died the next day at Fort Bend Community Hospital.

Funeral services for the former judge were held Nov. 4 at the Episcopal Church of the Advent in Stafford with Rev. Harland Irvin officiating.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. T.R. Roane; one daughter, Mary Louise Veltmann of Brackettville; one brother, George Roane of Richmond; two sisters Beulah Bledsoe and Donnie Jo Robinson, both of Missouri City; and three grandsons, Clyde Rusk Veltmann of Arlington, Craig Slayton Veltmann of San Francisco and Valenie Veltmann of Uvalde.

Roane was a member of the Stafford-Missouri City Lions Club and the Episcopal Church of the Advent.

AN OPEN LETTER TO
HAPPY SHAHAN

Today, in a way, was a sad day for us, for the "UP HILL MOVIE" Company moved out and went on to another location. I have not been associated with too many movie companies, but if all of them were as nice and easy to get along with as this one company; I wish there was one here all the time.

To Frank Dobbs, David Ford, Burr Smidt, Hal Matheny, David Little and all the others responsible for this film; I wish them a huge success with this film and all future endeavors; particularly if they film them at Alamo Village.

To you, "Happy", a great big thanks for your part in getting them here in the first place. Without your efforts none of this would have happened to our little town. I feel sure that all of the other business people here in Brackett appreciate the added money that this movie meant to them.

Another sad part to this letter is all the money that our town did not receive because we were unable to handle their business as a whole. The buses, vans and car loads of people had to travel to Del Rio every day in order to have a place to stay. All those people ate, shopped and spent their money there. Del Rio should also send you a "thank you" card. Especially since the turn down of the Condo-Motel Unit on the highway at Ft. Clark and the bad vote on the Detention Center. Either one could have created motel spaces here to house future movie groups. It must be disheartening to you to go out and work your rump off to try and bring extra income to our county and see it go down highway 90 to Del Rio. I realize a lot of people did stay at Ft. Clark in private quarters, but just think how much better it would have been if all of them had stayed here. Don't give up Happy, keep bringing them here and I feel that maybe some day soon we will get enough progressive thinking people elected to our county offices that will get out and go to work trying to

FALL OFFENSE

We may not have blizzards in most areas of Texas, but controlling winter heating cost is still a concern of many Texans. It's second only to cooling. One of the primary heating systems used by Texans is gas, either a furnace or a space heater.

To defend yourself against the coming cold winds this winter, you should have your furnace checked this fall. Service at the beginning of each heating season ensures the efficient operation of your heating system. A qualified service person should perform the maintenance check; however, you should be sure the following are done during the visit:

Make sure all safety features are operating correctly so that the system will shut down if a hazardous situation arises;

Light the pilot and make certain that the flame has the proper air mixture. A sharply defined blue flame indicates the proper mixture of gas and air;

Check the heat exchanger for cracks in the steel chamber;

Check the duct system to make sure it is well sealed;

Check the blower section to make certain that the motor and bearings are lubricated and the belts have proper tension.

If any of these areas have problems, do not operate the system until they have been corrected.

In addition to seasonal professional maintenance, for optimal efficiency you should change your air filter monthly when the system is in use. These steps will help Texans stay warm and cozy--and content with energy costs under control.

If you are in the market for a new furnace, gas heating systems with improved efficiencies are now on the market. Select a system with the highest efficiency you can afford. Remember, the higher cost will be offset by lower utility bills. Two efficiency features to look for are the vent damper and the electronic pilot ignition. To find out more about these features and other energy saving tips, call the toll free energy hotline 1-800-643-SAVE. Ask for Texas Energy Topics No. 12.

THE SHERIFF'S CORNER

by Norman H. Hooten, Sheriff

Several years ago, more than I really care to remember, I was working after school every day in a feed store to finance my F.F.A. project. I did odd jobs around the store such as sweeping, cleaning up, hauling feed to customers cars, etc.

The store was a general hangout for the various stockmen of the area, cowboys, cattle traders and such. They were always telling stories about dogs, horses, cowboys, and other exploits that I won't go into right now. One of the cattle traders who hung out there and told some of the tallest tales was a big, rough talking man whose face looked like a road map of Texas. He always had a cigar in his mouth half-chewed up. He never smoked them and he never spit anything out that I could tell, so I can only assume that he was eating them. His nickname was "LAX" and his last name was Hughes. He was a big practical joker and was always telling of some "good one" he had pulled on someone at some time or another. One day when he was really wound up and telling some tall tales, one of the other cattle traders caught my eye, winked, and asked "LAX" to tell me how he got his nickname. Old

"Lax" turned kinda red faced, choked a little on his cigar, looked at his watch and mumbled something about being late meeting somebody and stomped off.

Well, naturally, my curiosity was up and I asked the trader to tell me how "Lax" got his nickname. Seems that "Lax" had an incurable "sweet tooth" and liked anything chocolate. As he was always pulling some big joke on somebody, the boys got together and thought it would be nice to fix him a chocolate cake for his birthday one year. So when the day came, they had a big 3-layer chocolate cake fixed up real pretty with dark chocolate icing on it. When "Lax" came into the store for the daily bull session they gave it to him with the best of birthday wishes.

Now old "Lax" got kinda choked up over the fact that the boys thought so much of him, especially since he had pulled some pretty stiff jokes on some of them over the years. Well, anyway he offered to share the cake with them, but they refused telling him it was his birthday and the cake was all for him. He left a little while later taking the cake with him.

"Lax", who came into the store every day, didn't show up for about a week. When he did come in, he looked kinda pale and had lost about 15 pounds. The boys asked him where he had been and why he looked so pale and sickly. "Lax", whose given name up until then was Jim, replied that he had sure got sick the day after eating his birthday cake and he sure didn't want to hurt their feelings but that the cake sure didn't agree with him. Well, the boys couldn't hold it back any longer. They were laughing and slapping their legs and some of them laughed so hard they had tears in their eyes. Seems they had taken advantage of "Lax's" love of chocolate and had laced the cake and the icing with about a half dozen boxes of a laxative called EX-LAX. Thus the nickname "Lax" and it stuck with him for as long as I knew him.

One day I got up the courage to ask "Lax" how he had taken the joke and he told me that he finally got his health back, but he sure lost his taste for chocolate!

IRRESISTIBLE TALE OF CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

Chocolate—the very word is conducive to spinning tales of love, to stimulating the senses. Even the Aztec emperor Montezuma drank chocolate from his golden ceremonial goblet. It was called chocolatl, a lukewarm drink mixed with beer or wine and seasoned with pepper.

Hernando Cortez first tasted this pleasurable drink in 1519 and brought cocoa back to Spain. The Spanish added sugar and other flavorings to the rich-tasting beverage. But it wasn't until 1847 that the first piece of chocolate was eaten.

Soon chocolate became the delectable ingredient in all types of desserts. Tradition has it that the first chocolate brownies were baked in Bangor, Maine. Another legend traces this delicious treat to a fallen chocolate cake. Brownies may even be an American version of a chocolate Scottish tea cake or scone.

For old-fashioned goodness, try baking Chocolate-covered Cherry Brownies. Serve on a pretty plate with a lacy paper doily. For a more contemporary flavor, sample Peanut Butter Ripple Brownies.

For other tantalizing recipes from the Betty Crocker Kitchens, send for this free, four-color brochure, "Recipes for EXTRA Brownie Points." There are 11 scrumptious recipes, each beginning with Betty Crocker brownie mixes. Just send your name and address to: Brownies Brochure, P.O. Box 5402, Dept. 891, Minneapolis, MN 55460.

CHOCOLATE-COVERED CHERRY BROWNIES

Heat oven to 350°. Prepare 1 package Betty Crocker supreme fudge brownie mix (with can of Chocolate Flavor Syrup) as directed for Cakelike Brownies. Spread in pan. Arrange 8 well-drained maraschino cherries in each of 6 rows over dough. Bake as directed; cool at least 1 hour. Frost with Almond Frosting (below). Cut into 1 1/2-inch squares; garnish each square with bits of maraschino cherries if desired. 48 brownies.

Almond Frosting

3 cups powdered sugar
2 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2 to 3 tablespoons water

Mix powdered sugar, margarine and almond extract. Stir in water, 1 tablespoon at a time, until smooth and of spreading consistency.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Increase baking time to 35 to 40 minutes.

PEANUT BUTTER RIPPLE BROWNIES

3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 eggs
1 package Betty Crocker supreme fudge brownie mix (with can of Chocolate Flavor Syrup)
Peanut Butter Frosting (below)

Heat oven to 350°. Grease bottom only of rectangular pan, 13x9x2 inches. Mix sugar, peanut butter, flour and eggs in small bowl. Beat on medium speed 2 minutes.

Prepare Cakelike Brownies as directed on package. Spread dough in pan. Drop peanut butter mixture by tablespoons onto dough. Swirl through dough with knife for marbled effect. Bake 38 to 40 minutes.

Cool; frost with Peanut Butter Frosting. Sprinkle with chopped peanuts if desired. Cut into 1 1/2-inch squares. 48 brownies.

Peanut Butter Frosting

1 cup vanilla ready-to-spread frosting
1/3 cup peanut butter
2 to 3 teaspoons milk

Mix all ingredients until frosting is smooth and of spreading consistency.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Stir 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour into Brownie Mix (dry).

I'm proud to work on a Good Cents home... and not just for the big energy savings!

"I don't mind telling you I'm a good carpenter. I take a lot of pride in the work I do, so I'm real pleased when I get to work on a Good Cents house.

"Good Cents means quality—in the kinds of materials we use and the careful way everything is planned so it goes together just right. And a Good Cents home has a lot of extras you don't find in most houses: things like added insulation, features to prevent air leaks, and efficient, properly sized heating and cooling equipment.

"CPL sponsors Good Cents, and they send people out to check on our work. Of course, I do my job right anyway, but it's nice to know CPL cares.

"Most people choose Good Cents because they want to save money on utility bills. That's important, too. But if I were buying a home I'd insist on Good Cents because I could be sure the house is well built and energy efficient, top flight all the way."

A Good Cents house uses only half as much energy as a conventional house for heating, air conditioning and water heating. And since those are the three biggest energy-consumers in your home, you pocket impressive savings every month on what you spend for energy.

Energy-saving features are built into every Good Cents home from the ground up—features that may include good attic ventilation, special measures to prevent air leaks and an efficient heating and cooling system.

If you're in the market for a new home, you'll want more information about Good Cents. Inquire at your CPL office—or ask your builder or realtor.

As the fog lifts, a spring day begins on the Oregon coast inspiring this winning entry in The Sixth Annual Color Slide Competition for National Bible Week. It illustrates, "The trees in the woods will shout for joy when the Lord comes to rule the earth." (I Chronicles 16:33) The photo was taken by Tom DeMoss, Eugene, Oregon. National Bible Week, Nov. 18-25, 1984, is sponsored by the Laymen's National Bible Committee.

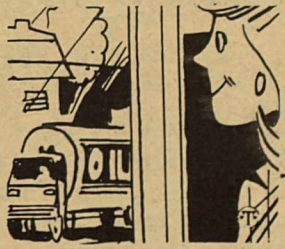

FANCY THAT!

You may be a resource recoverer! If you've been camping you probably practiced a simple form of an important technology known as resource recovery, which converts ordinary garbage into energy. When you tossed used paper products into the campfire instead of putting them in the garbage to go to a landfill, you burned it and recaptured some of the resulting energy.

Modern resource recovery technology is far more efficient than a campfire, but the basic process is essentially the same. Ordinary garbage is reduced in size through special shredding processes that convert it into a clean, odorless fuel. It is then burned in safe, energy-efficient boilers fitted with the latest air quality control systems. The resulting heat turns water to steam which drives turbine generators. The electricity produced is sold to the local utility.

Processes developed by Combustion Engineering, a leader in energy technology worldwide, have turned waste materials into energy that saved the equivalent of 86 million barrels of oil last year alone.

QUICK QUIZ NEWS OF WOMEN

Whose Face Is In This Space?

1. He's President of a country celebrating the 40th anniversary of its revolution.
2. His country does $1 billion worth of business with the U.S. each year, supplying things we need and helping create U.S. jobs by buying U.S. products.

3. At the Olympics in Los Angeles, his country won 53 medals: 20 gold, 16 silver, 17 bronze.

4. This man heads one of only two East European countries enjoying "most favored nation" status with the U.S., recognition that America deals with East European countries as separate entities, rather than just lumping them all together.

5. Known to the public as the homeland of Nadia Comaneci, the country is known to bankers for having shrunk its foreign debt from $10.1 billion in 1981 to about $8.8 billion at the end of 1983.

The Question

- Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania
- Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski of Poland
- Todor Zhivkov of Bulgaria
- Gustav Husak of Czechoslovakia
- Gyorgy Laza of Hungary

Answer

It's Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania, where he has been president since 1967.

With over 20 million American women weighing at least ten percent more than they should and four million American women having a baby every year, many women are working on ways to shape up.

No diet will work—unless you stay on it. Giving yourself rewards along the way may serve as incentive. Try a new hair-do after the first five pounds, a manicure after ten, a facial after 15.

A daily routine of moisturizing and massaging the skin during and after pregnancy or during weight-loss is important.

One product, Baby Magic® Stretch Mark Creme by Menen, specifically designed to pamper taut, stretched skin is made of natural cocoa butter and six other special skin conditioners, including a special grade of lanolin, that helps provide skin with moisture and emolliency to keep it soft and supple.

To help your diet do its work, you ought to exercise. Your doctor can tell you how best to do that. When exercising you may want to keep these suggestions in mind.

Don't end an exercise session abruptly. Allow yourself some cool-down time. If you've just jogged for 20 minutes, walk for ten.

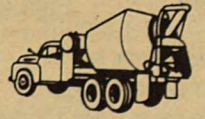

Don't take a hot shower or sauna directly after vigorous exercise. Wait 15 minutes, then take a shower with tepid water.

Don't do vigorous exercise until 30 minutes after a light meal, or 90 minutes after a heavy one.

If you don't cut off split ends on your hair, they will keep splitting right up the hair shaft.
