NUTRITION CENTER

On Thursday, October 30, the participants of the Nutrition Center held a small celebration. Mrs. Pena, site manager and Agnes Vondy presented awards to a few of so many outstanding citizens that attend our Congregate setting. These individuals have gone out of their way to help our program in some way

HEAD START'S GHOSTS AND GOBLINS

Children enrolled in the Head Start program visited area businesses on Friday, October 31st. The children as well as office employees and customers enjoyed the parade of ghouls, goblins, monsters, and other furry creatures.

Receiving volunteer of the year award was Tiny Castro. Tiny is always ready to assist with the transporting of Senior Citizens and in the delivery of home meals for those who cannot attend the center because of physical handicap. She never says no when her assistance is needed, even on the spur of the moment.

Tiny is an active member of the AACOA (Area Agency Council on Aging) board.

Charles and Lucy Shipman received an award for their valuable services and generosity. They are also there and willing to give advice on so many occasions when needed. Mr. and Mrs. Shipman are very faithful with their many contributions to the program and a big asset to us all.

Charles and Lucy we are glad you are part of us here at the Nutrition Center.

Raquel Falcon was awarded for her unselfishness and generosity to the program. Raquel is a widow on such a small budget, yet she insists that we take her contributions. This only tells us that she cares for these services and would like for them to remain. Raquel is a regular participant.

Raquel you're GREAT!

Bea and Harold Kauffman were the ones to present Community Council (Bingo Fund) with a plaque for the many contributions to our Nutrition Program. With so many federal and state cuts taking place, their donations have been a blessing and a tremendous financial aide.

Mrs. Pena states that without all these fine people her job would be very difficult because of so many ups and downs during her ten years of work with this program. I've seen many changes both good and bad, but it's people like these, that help get me through it all.

The Sullivan Sheet

by Rick Sullivan

SUNDAY — NOVEMBER 9, 1986

* Chicago Bears at Tampa Bay Bucs — Last year, the Bears breezed to triumphs of 27-19 and 38-28 over Tampa. Keys: All the Bears have to do is show up on time in order to win handily. Rating Index: Chicago 119.5, Tampa Bay 80.1. Consensus: Chicago 38, Tampa Bay 3.

* Cincinnati Bengals at Houston Oilers — This is the second time in four weeks that these two rivals will meet. Keys: The Oilers will play down to the wire with a potent offense. Rating Index: Cincinnati 101.5, Houston 87.0. Consensus: Cincinnati 34, Houston 24.

* Los Angeles Raiders at Dallas Cowboys — Last year, these two teams did not play. Keys: Raiders are on a roll. A Los Angeles victory here could have a snowball effect heading toward a wild-card playoff berth. Rating Index: Los Angeles 105.0, Dallas 104.5. Consensus: Los Angeles 31, Dallas 28.

* Minnesota Vikings at Detroit Lions — Vikes beat the Lions way back on opening day at home. Keys: Vikings' defense should take total control from the opening kickoff and never look back. Rating Index: Minnesota 101.0, Detroit 81.3. Consensus: Minnesota 22, Detroit 7.

* New England Patriots at Indianapolis Colts — New England humiliated the Colts on opening day in Foxboro. Keys: Pats' defense needs a big game in order to boost confidence. Colts are basically pathetic with no offense. Rating Index: New England 109.5, Indianapolis 75.0. Consensus: New England 33, Indianapolis 3.

* New York Giants at Philadelphia Eagles — Giants whipped Eagles 35-3 earlier this year. Keys: Basically a rerun of their first meeting, but watch for Eagles to be tougher in the early going. Rating Index: New York 114.0, Philadelphia 90.0. Consensus: New York 20, Philadelphia 0.

* New York Jets at Atlanta Falcons — These two teams did not play last year. Keys: This could be the best game of the day. Watch for the Falcons to come out gunning and take the early upper hand. However, Jets will re-group at halftime and the defense should totally shut down Atlanta in the second half. Another last minute victory seen here for the Jets. Rating Index: New York 106.0, Atlanta 100.0. Consensus: New York 31, Atlanta 29.

* Pittsburgh Steelers at Buffalo Bills — Last year, the Steelers beat Buffalo 30-24. Keys: The Bills always find a way to lose, but the hunch here is that their defense can handle a non-existent Pitt offense. Weather conditions could be a key here. Rating Index: Pittsburgh 84.0, Buffalo 88.0. Consensus: Buffalo 17, Pittsburgh 9.

* St. Louis Cardinals at San Francisco 49ers — Last year, these two teams did not play. Keys: This game will be over at halftime. Rating Index: St. Louis 79.0, San Francisco 110.0. Consensus: San Francisco 49, St. Louis 14.

* San Diego Chargers at Denver Broncos — Earlier this year, the Broncos rolled over the Chargers in San Diego. Keys: Basically a rerun of what we saw earlier this year. Look for conservative Broncos to try some trick offensive plays as they gear up for the playoffs. Rating Index: San Diego 90.2, Denver 118.0. Consensus: Denver 42, San Diego 10.

* Seattle Seahawks at Kansas City Chiefs — Earlier this year, the Seahawks edged out the Chiefs in Seattle. Keys: This game is going to go down to the wire and it will be decided by a key Kansas City turnover. Rating Index: Seattle 110.0, Kansas City 99.3. Consensus: Seattle 34, Kansas City 27.

* Washington Redskins at Green Bay Packers — Last year, these two teams did not play. Keys: The Redskins' superior offense will shine brightly during a big first half. Watch for the 'Skins to complete at least six QB sacks. Rating Index: Washington 110.0, Green Bay 77.5. Consensus: Washington 37, Green Bay 9.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
Oct. 24, 1986

Central Power and Light Co. officials announced today that the South Texas Project has moved farther ahead of schedule during September. This marks the fourth consecutive month the plant has exceeded its scheduled construction progress.

Unit 1 is now .7 percent ahead of schedule. It is 95 percent complete and scheduled to load fuel in June 1987. Unit 2, which is also ahead of schedule, is set for completion in 1989.

"Plant construction continues to show good progress," noted Tom Shockley, CPL vice president and chief engineering officer. "Large construction projects are frequently divided into subsystems for easier progress review. The project construction team has already completed 405 subsystems and released them to the startup team for testing." The remaining 129 subsystems are progressing well. Only 17 of those have significance for the plant start-up and testing program, and 11 of those are expected to be completed during October." The remaining subsystems include such items as elevators, hoists, drains and lighting. On an overall basis, startup testing was 54 percent complete at the end of September.

"The plant's progress is encouraging," Shockley noted. "However, the final months of any nuclear plant's construction are critical. The closer we get to completion, the less time available to correct any problems which may occur. Nuclear plant construction is always a challenge, and it gets more so as completion is neared."

The two-and-a-half million kilowatt South Texas Project has received a number of favorable reports from regulatory agencies recently. The Atomic Safety and Licensing Board recently issued a favorable report, clearing the way for fuel loading, low power testing and commercial operation of Unit 1 pending final approval by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The ASLB decision joins positive findings by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission in its Safety Evaluation Report and Final Environmental Statement, and by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards.

STP is owned by Central Power and Light, Houston Lighting and Power, and the cities of Austin and San Antonio.

VETERAN'S DAY CEREMONY PLANNED

Even though Brackettville owes a large measure of its existence to the military and the soldiers, it has never done much to properly celebrate VETERAN'S DAY nor ARMISTICE DAY.

There are some who have been displeased with this state of affairs. Since we are a community of many ex-servicemen, it is only proper that we begin to observe November 11, which is not designated VETERAN'S DAY; but it is the date that the Treaty of Peace was signed ending WW I.

Through the encouragement of our eminent, Else Sauer, who has motivated Charlie Ward, Al Dacosta and Walter Fithian to formulate the ceremony this year. They have obtained the participation of several groups and individuals. The High School Band, the V.F.W. Posts, the Voices of Ft. Clark and other talented persons have accepted invitations to participate. Tim Ward will introduce the Master of Ceremonies, who will present the various veterans' and the families of the Honored Heroes.

It is generally known that there are four Congressional Medal of Honor recipients who are buried in the Seminole Indian Scout Cemetery. The C.M.H. is our country's highest award for acts of valor in engagements with the enemy. These four graves have the proper head stones, issued by the Veterans' Affairs Monument Agency, which bears the inscription "MEDAL OF HONOR".

It is not so well known, however, that there is another C.M.H. winner buried in the Masonic Cemetery. He is Capt. Claron A. Windus. Thanks to the efforts of Mr. Don Swanson and Mr. Charles Downing, we have some documents from the Army files, which tell us a lot about this hero. His GRAVE MARKER, a modest one, was provided by his family, and it is exactly like the other three on his lot with him, his wife's and those of his two daughters. He was born in 1848, in Janesville, Wisconsin, enlisted in 1866 in Indianapolis, Indiana and served more than 30 years in the Cavalry, most of them at Ft. Clark and he then died in Ft. Sam Houston Station Hospital and was buried in 1927.

His outstanding deed of valor was in 1870, fighting Indians on the Little Wichita River, near what is now Jacksboro, Texas. He served in Cuba during the war there in 1897-99, as a Co. Commander with the rank of Major. He went up San Juan Hill with Co. Teddy Roosevelt, fought along

By Dorthy Payne

Early in 1849 an ambitious young man went to California to seek his fortune which wasn't unusual except this young fellow, James E. Birch was to literally put the West on wheels.

Jim Birch and his pardner Frank Shaw Stevens, developed a small mail line, about 30 miles long. His first run was made in an old ranch wagon drawn by four wild mustangs, and urged on by a bull-wackers whip. The few passengers found very quickly the ride on the careening ranch wagon was no picnic.

In 1857, Birch applied for the great Overland Mail contract and was rejected. In the same year he was given the first contract for an Overland service on the southern route, and so was born the San Antonio-San Diego Mail Line, more commonly known as the "Jackass Mail" So named because pack mules were used to carry the first mail along the 180 miles between Fort Yuma and San Diego.

Birch had 30 days to carry the mail and passengers between San Antonio, Texas, and San Diego, California, with coaches leaving semi-monthly on the 9th and 24th of each month. Everyone turned out and celebrated when the first mail left San Antonio on July 9th, 1857.

Since there were no relay stations as yet, mules were driven along with the stage and passengers. Driver and mules camped along the trail nightly, fresh mules were used when necessary. If the mules became too worn out they were turned loose to shift for themselves. They became easy prey for the Indians who enjoyed mule meat more than anything, although an Indian would not ride a mule.

The second mail left San Antonio on July 24th, in two light wagons and caught up with the first mail before it reached El Paso, making the trip to California in 38 days. The Line was to average 27 days on the trip with one record breaking trip of 21 days for the run.

The stage traveled about 40 miles a day, and when relay stations were built for the trip was still anything but pleasant because of the lack of food for man and beast. Some of the stations were so remote and barren, beans and cornpone and a little coffee was all the passengers could hope for. Often the mules had only the small amount of grain that could be carried along.

If the wagons stuck in the sand or muddy river banks, the passengers were expected to get out and push. The men who traveled armed were expected to help ward off Indian attacks.

Contrary to stories and movies there were very few attacks resulting in serious injuries.

Postage cost ten cents per half ounce and passenger fare for a short time was two hundred dollars for the trip west and one hundred fifty dollars for the trip east. History does not tell us the reason for the difference in price over the same route, but the fare soon became two hundred dollars both ways.

Skillman drove the northern loop of the line between Horsehead Crossing and El Paso. He drove for Birch and later for Butterfield when he took over the Overland Mail. Henry Skillman was born in New Jersey and grew up in Kentucky and came west as a courier on the old Santa Fe Trail. He was a wagon master with Doniphans Expedition and commanded Company B Battalion at the Battle of Sacramento in 1847.

In Sterling Price's invasion of Chihuahua, Skillman was a scout and also fought in the battle at Santa Cruz de Rosaled. So driving was right up his alley. When the mail station at Pope's Crossing in Loving County Texas was established, it was named Skillman Station.

About 40 trips were made over the entire route before the contract ran out, but Jim Birch was accidentally drowned before he received news of the first run. Then the Line was taken over by R.E. Doyle and George H. Giddings. Birch's manager was retained but the contract was not renewed and John Butterfield got the new contract.

John Butterfield, from as long as he could remember, was fascinated by the coaching horn of the stage drivers. As a small boy on a farm near Albany, N.Y., he met all the passing stage coaches. In fact he became such a familiar sight, that the drivers blew their horns in greeting as they passed. The sound of the coaching horn rang in Butterfield's ears all his life.

John Butterfield died of a stroke in 1869 and was never to know of the coming of the railroad, his rival. He left us the memory of the Overland Mail with all the romantic and adventure stories that never grow old. The very ruts made by the wheels of the coaches can still be seen in some places.

Perhaps the greatest tribute to John Butterfield was made by one of his sons, Daniel Adams Butterfield, who while serving in the Civil War as a major-general, composed the music of Taps. Everytime he heard it played he thought of his father and his coaching horn.

The Brackettville-Kinney County Sesquicentennial Committee will seal a time capsule at the Court House Sunday, November 9, at 3:00 PM. This time capsule is to be opened March 2, 2036 during the Texas Bi Centennial.

This capsule will contain a resume of every business and organization in the County that wishes to be included. Each entry must be on a single page on a letter head of the Committee. These letterheads can be secured at the Sagebrush Shoppe. They should be distinctly typed.

There will be included certain artifacts both historic and contemporary. Anyone having something of interest he would like to have included may leave the item at the Sagebrush Shoppe. The Committee shall have full discretion as to what will be placed in the capsule.

side of Capt. James A. Longstreet, Jr., son of the famous Civil War General, and contracted malaria for which he was hospitalized.

During his more than 30 years of service, he was at Ft. Clark many of them. He married a local girl, Agnes Ballantyne. They had three daughters. His grandchildren are the late Ogden "Buster" Dooley, Claude Dooley of Marble Falls, Lois Dooley, Manny and Edna Dooley Mitchell of Kerrville.

Through the local V.F.W. Post, Al Dacosta and Walter Fithian are obtaining a proper head stone from the V.A., in Washington. Mr. Tomas Rodriguez Jr., Texas Veterans' Service Officer, Del Rio is also assisting in getting the stone.

The Ceremony will be held in the Civic Center at 3 pm on Sunday, Nov. 9. There will be martial music by our Brackett High School Band, under the Direction of Dan Potter. The opening ceremony will consist of the NATIONAL ANTHEM, Call to Colors, Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. All Veterans will be recognized and the winners of the Purple Heart and other medals of valor will be recognized, as will be those who lost loved ones in combat. There will be a number of OLD SOLDIERS of horse cavalry units present. The platform will be decorated in red, white and blue bunting.

The principle address for the occasion will be delivered by Mrs. Jeanine Hicks Brown. She is a distinguished speaker, who has represented the Texas Sesquicentennial Committee. She was born on Ft. Clark when her father served as an officer in the 112th Cavalry in the early forties. Her father is D. Walton "Speedy" Hicks, Capt. AUS, (ret'd) and her mother Carmen, is a sister of former Governor, John Connally. She is a very good public speaker and we are glad she has consented to come; her husband and parents will accompany her.

Most of Capt. Windus' living decendants will attend and be recognized by the master of ceremonies. We encourage all to attend, bringing family and friends, that we may honor those who have valiantly served our country. May this be the first of an annual event to honor both the living and the deceased veterans. Bienvenidos a los Hispánicos.

Reflections

BY BILL DUNCAN

The smells of childhood

Every once in awhile someone brings up the great unwashed of early times. Another columnist generated at least one hate letter by printing accounts by early day travelers in America who complained of hygienic nonfeasance.

My times were not all that early, but the odors of my youth are mostly pleasant.

Mothers, in particular, smelled good, sort of a mixture of baby powder and vanilla.

You didn't get close enough to dads to smell them.

It's true we didn't bathe every day. But a No. 2 wash tub, in a family of seven, got a pretty good workout most nights.

I can remember a few distinctive smells emanating from other individuals.

Older sisters heading for big dates smelled, of course.

They smelled so horrible it would clog every orifice and send you into a dead faint unless you held your breath within 20 feet of them. I wonder if Ben Hur perfume is still around.

Because of a temporary bed shortage I once slept with an ancient male relative, maybe 40. He wore Union Suit underwear and smelled of Clorox.

That seems a little odd now, because Clorox had not been developed at that time.

Researchers say that smells are among the most evocative memory triggers. I believe that. Some of the most pleasant smells, though, remind me of things I'd just as soon forget.

Passing through the delicious aroma of the Butter Krust Bakery on Ayers Street in Corpus Christi the other day, I was first struck with nostalgia picturing the omnipresent crock of rising sourdough that used to sit on our icebox.

And there was the big wooden barrel filled with "day-old" bread and pastries bought from bakeries for pennies during the depression. It was kept in the barn to feed the hogs (and sometimes small boys).

But almost immediately these olfactory visions were replaced with the yeasty odor of the breath of starvers, perversely starving themselves to death, in a hospice I visited not too long ago, their bodies slowly consuming themselves.

I can remember well the breath of cows, but not of horses. Cows breaths always had a clean, haymow smell, an argument, I guess, for cereal diets.

Barnyard smells, in general, were not particularly unpleasant, kept bearable in part by regular performance of such tasks as cleaning the chicken house.

Hog pens, on the other hand were a far different matter in the days before concrete and high-pressure water hoses made them fairly antiseptic. There is nothing quite as breath-gasping pungent as a commercial hog farm.

Wonder why frying bacon and baking ham smell so good?

NOVEMBER
NATIONAL DIABETES MONTH

In 1985, some 1,911 of the 426,000 Texans known to have diabetes died from the disease or its complications. To help prevent more deaths from diabetes this year, the Texas Department of Health (TDH) has urged the public to become more aware of the importance of proper health care for diabetics. The President has proclaimed November National Diabetes Month.

Although diabetes has no cure and is the third leading cause of death from chronic disease in the U.S. (after heart disease and cancer), the disease usually can be controlled. Diabetes is a group of disorders characterized by unusually high levels of sugar in the blood. Some diabetics require insulin injections to control their blood sugar levels, while others need oral medications. All diabetics must adhere to strict dietary and exercise routines.

Failure to properly manage the prescribed routine can lead to kidney failure, blindness, heart disease, amputations, other complications—even death.

Statistics show that, for reasons not fully understood, Mexican-Americans are more likely than any others in the U.S. to develop diabetes. Studies in Starr County, Laredo, and San Antonio indicate the occurrence of diabetes among Mexican-Americans 35 and older may be more than five times as likely as among the general population.

The average annual death rate in Texas from diabetes is 12.4 per 100,000 population, but among those deaths are: 17.6 per 100,000 Blacks, 12.6 per 100,000 Spanish surnamed, and 11.3 per 100,000 non-Spanish surnamed. Researchers are exploring differences in ethnic diets to find links to why some groups suffer higher mortality rates. It is established that persons with family histories of diabetes are "at risk" of developing the disease.

Mortality rates from diabetes in all ethnic groups increase dramatically among those 45 and older. But health officials are quick to state that diabetes is by no means a disease restricted to adults. Diabetes is second only to cancer among leading chronic illnesses of children under 16.

Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health, said, "The cost of having diabetes is high. An insulin-dependent diabetic may incur medical expenses as high as $1,200 annually. If complications arise, the costs are much higher." Diabetics spend more than $200 million each year for medical care in Texas.

"Perhaps as important as the monetary cost to patients is the emotional toll the disease takes. The public needs to understand that under the best conditions, a diabetic patient is in some ways restricted to certain disciplines. The consequences of straying from those disciplines of diet, exercise, and medication are too great a risk. The patient's family and friends play an important role in providing support," Dr. Bernstein said.

FIRE DEPARTMENT NEWS

The Brackettville Volunteer Fire Department, Responded to a call of a trailer house on fire, 1 mile north of ranch road 2804, on October 23, 1986. The owner of the trailer advised he was cleaning the stove, and had sprayed the top of it with a cleaning solution, and walked outside. When he looked back at the trailer, he could see flames inside. By the time the owner drove into town, and called the Fire Department, the fire had spread throughout the trailer, before we arrived.

We now have 6 men that are certified through the state Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association of Texas, as fire fighters. Every time a fireman is certified through the state, or there are new fire plugs installed, or there is any type of improvement done to help in fire prevention, the key insurance rate for Brackettville and Kinney County residents drops. There are three types of certification. The first one is basic, which requires 162 hours of training. The second is intermediate, which requires 122 hours of training, and the third is advanced, which requires 187 hours of training. To be certified as an advanced fire fighter, the person must have a total of 471 hours of training, in all fields of fire fighting.

Eight firemen from Brackettville attended the Winter Garden Firemens Association, Training Day September 26, 1986, in Uvalde. The training day consisted of 2 hours civil disorders, 2 hours automatic sprinklers, 1 hour breathing apparatus, and 1 hour oil & gas fires. These hours will be credited to their certification record.

Anyone that has any type of question concerning fire protection, or fire prevention for your home or business, may contact the Brackettville Fire Department and we will try to assist you.

SMOKERS TAKE A DAY OFF

Dr. "Red" Duke, known best for syndicated television "Health Reports," will prescribe a smoke-free day for Texas smokers as the state's honorary Great American Smokeout chairman.

This year's Smokeout, which is sponsored annually by the American Cancer Society, is scheduled November 20. The Smokeout is a light-hearted campaign encouraging smokers to give up their tobacco for 24 hours.

Last year, a Gallup Survey indicated 23 million Americans quit smoking or cut down on the number of cigarettes smoked during the Smokeout.

Event planners expect a record number will make the attempt to abstain this year, as the Smokeout celebrates its 10th Anniversary.

"We're anticipating our greatest participation ever," said Oscar Newton of Houston, chairman of Texas' Smokeout efforts. "We feel Texans especially will respond to the supportive approach of the Smokeout and to Dr. Duke's plain-spoken advice," he said.

Duke, a nationally-respected trauma surgeon, has been a trusted source of health information for television viewers across the nation since 1982. His "Health Reports," produced by the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston, are broadcast three times a week on 69 television stations in 30 states.

The "Health Reports" will feature segments on smoking and quitting smoking during Smokeout week, Newton said.

"You can't say anything good about smoking," Duke said. "But the good thing about the Great American Smokeout is its supportive approach."

"Although the Smokeout is known as a 'fun' event, it has a very serious purpose," he said. "Each year, 350,000 Americans die of diseases linked to cigarette smoking. We have to convince smokers that quitting is the best thing they can do for themselves and their loved ones," Duke said.

Communities around the state are planning local celebrations in observance of the 10th Anniversary Smokeout.

Plans call for promotions at businesses, hospitals, schools and colleges, as well as city-wide events honoring former smokers and would-be quitters.

Duke's "Health Reports" are carried on 18 television stations around the state, including: KTRK-TV, Houston; KRIS-TV, Corpus Christi; KMOL-TV, San Antonio; KVUE-TV, Austin; KAMR-TV, Amarillo; WFAA-TV, Dallas/Ft. Worth; KMID-TV, Midland/Odessa; KTAB-TV, Abilene; KAVU-TV, Victoria; KTSM-TV, El Paso; KWTX-TV, Waco/Temple; KBTX-TV, Bryan/College Station; KIDY-TV, San Angelo; KFDX-TV, Wichita Falls; KJAC-TV, Port Arthur/Beaumont; KCBD-TV, Lubbock; KLTV-TV, Tyler; and KRGV-TV, Weslaco.

For more information on local activities planned for the Great American Smokeout, contact your local American Cancer Society office.

A tragic hunting accident claimed the life of a San Antonio man Saturday, November 1st. The victim, 69 year old Frank E. McLaughlin died from injuries he received in a freak accident while hunting quail on the Land & Marine hunting lease on the Hobbs Ranch of Brackettville off Hwy. 131.

Witnesses at the scene stated that McLaughlin was a passenger in a jeep driven by Jerry Casparis, also of San Antonio. Another friend, Marion Douglas, was a passenger standing in the rear of the jeep holding onto the roll bar. The men were chasing a covey of quail through the brush when the front wheels of the vehicle hit a hole and the impact threw Douglas over the roll bar on top of the victim. It is believed that the blow and weight of Douglas compressed the victim's head downward breaking his neck. He was immediately paralyzed from the neck down and was having breathing problems.

The accident occurred at approx. 5:25 pm and the victim remained conscious and talking for about 10 minutes. He then lost consciousness and expired at approx. 5:45 pm. Local EMS personnel were called to the scene but the victim was dead before they arrived. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Raymond Talamantez who was acting as coroner. The body was transported to San Antonio by Rice Funeral Home at the request of the family.

Another dangerous incident occurred during the early morning hours of Sunday, November 2nd. At approx. 4:40 am a call was received by the Sheriffs Department from the Uvalde Police Department requesting assistance in the apprehension of 2 subjects traveling at a high rate of speed in what was believed to be a stolen car. The caller advised that 2 Uvalde units and a Uvalde based Border Patrol unit were in hot pursuit of the car and had just entered Kinney County on Highway 90 westbound towards Brackettville.

Deputy Sheriff David Luna was dispatched to assist and set up a rolling road block near the east city limits. During his attempts to stop the car, the driver lost control of the vehicle near the intersection of Highway 90 and 131 veering across the road striking a road sign and careening down the right of way on the wrong side of the road approx. 100 yards before striking a concrete culvert. The car then flipped around landing on top the the Ft. Clark fence near the drainage ditch that feeds into Las Moras Creek. The two male occupants fled the vehicle towards the creek. A large scale manhunt developed and we were assisted by local DPS and Border Patrol, and City Police units as well as other units from the Uvalde Police Department. Dandy, our man-trailing Bloodhound was also called into service in an attempt to track the suspects.

The first suspect, a 16 year old San Antonio youth was apprehended by Border Patrol units at approx. 7:00 am one mile west of Brackettville on Highway 90. The second suspect was apprehended, also by Border Patrol units at approx. 11:00 am on Highway 90 East of Brackettville. He has been identified as Jessie Quintanilla, 19, of San Antonio. He is on probation for burglary in that city. Charges are pending against the two at the time of this writing.

The stolen vehicle turned out to be an unmarked San Antonio Police Department car used by recruiting officers. It was totalled in the crash and will be released to the S.A.P.D. later this week.

I would like to take this opportunity to extend my gratitude to all those officers who assisted in the manhunt, with particular thanks to the local Border Patrol agents involved. The local Border Patrol, led by Senior Patrol Agent in Charge Roy Dyer, has the manpower and equipment so vital to a largescale manhunt and have always offered any and all assistance in missions of search and apprehension. For that we are grateful. Without the cooperation and assistance of all local peace officers and other law enforcement agencies our job would be extremely difficult.

 PRODUCTION
 HURTING TEXAS

AUSTIN, TX.—State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said that Texas oil wells have produced 51.1 million barrels less this past year than the year before.

This shows that the low price of oil isn't the only culprit working against the Texas economy and the Texas oil industry, he said.

"The drop in production was worth $772.1 million at current market prices," Bullock said. "So much attention on declining oil prices may have masked the fact that production in Texas has slipped by more than 140,000 barrels a day."

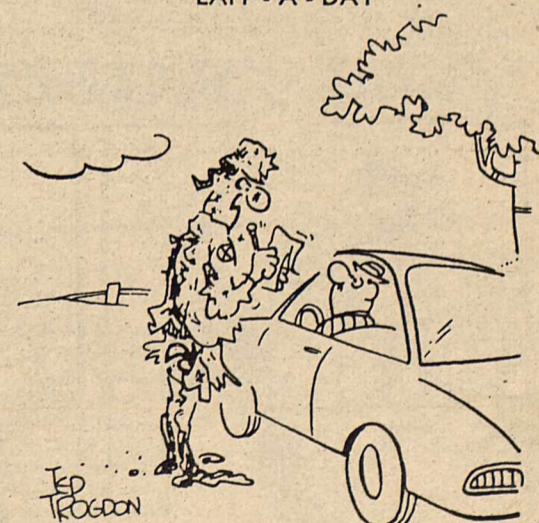

He said tax records show that Texas wells were producing about 2.3 million taxable barrels of oil a day in mid-1985.

Production had dropped to slightly more than 2 million taxable barrels a day by August of this year.

Bullock said the downturn in production alone cost the state about $35.5 million in severance taxes during the one-year period based on the Comptroller's estimated average oil price per barrel.

Further, Bullock said, active rotary rigs operating in Texas fell by about 60 percent and drilling permits were down by more than 50 percent, he said.

DEAR DIANE:

I am 13 years old and very mature for my age. As a result, I find that I'm not interested in any of the boys in my class. My next-door-neighbor is 21 and I think he's fantastic. I often catch him looking at me, so I know he's interested. In fact, the other day, he met me after school and walked home with me. I let him kiss me and it was great! I want to date him, but my parents would probably flip. How can I get my parents to see the light?

NO BABY

DEAR BABY:

I often get letters from teenage girls complaining that the boys their age are only "after one thing." Trust me on this one. When a 21-year-old man pursues a 13-year-old, he's definitely out for one thing, unless he's grossly immature and finds himself more comfortable with pubescent girls than with women closer to his age!

I hate to sound like a prude, but if you hang around this guy, you're going to find yourself in a lot of trouble. He will also be looking for trouble, but of a different sort. He can actually go to jail for trying to seduce a minor.

Your parents are right and should not allow you to see him. Get your mind off him and spend more time with friends closer to your age. Concentrate on your schoolwork as well. In the long run, you won't be sorry. However, I can guarantee that if you continue this flirtation with your 21-year-old swain, you will wind up with a ton of regrets!

DEAR DIANE:

My husband and I have a rather delicate problem. He's a wonderful man and I love him very much, but I'm not satisfied with him in one area. He's not affectionate enough to me. Because of this, I find myself unresponsive to him in the bedroom. I almost feel as if I'm being used, if that makes any sense.

I think I would feel so much better if he'd kiss me more, or hold hands, or something. The only time he touches me is when he wants to go to bed. Please help me before this ruins our marriage. Lately, I've been finding all sorts of excuses not to make love. I know he's getting impatient, but I don't know what to do or how to tell him.

FRIGID

DEAR FRIGID:

One of the most important keys to any good marriage is communication. How can your husband change his behavior if you don't tell him what's bothering you? However, bear in mind there are ways of telling him. It should be when you're both relaxed and quiet. When you discuss your needs with him, do so in a calm, rational way without accusing him of thoughtlessness or selfishness. I think once he's aware of the problem, he'll take steps to correct it.

As women, I think we all have a hard time trying to understand a man's attitudes toward sex. They don't seem to need the same kind of attention and petting we crave. We often perceive that as an indication that they don't care, and if we don't feel loved, we don't feel particularly turned on, no matter what. However, we can all help each other out by telling each other how we feel.

If you have a question, write to Dear Diane c/o Diane Eckert, Editor Weekly Features, King Features, 235 East 45th Street, New York, New York 10017.

Jesus the Nazarene

"And he went and he dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that what was spoken by the prophets might be fulfilled, 'He shall be called a Nazarene.'" — Matthew 2:23

There are many places in scripture associated with Jesus' name. Yet with the exception of the two years when Joseph took Mary and her son into Egypt and the few years of his adult ministry, Jesus' life was bounded by the perimeters of Nazareth, where he grew to manhood and helped Joseph as a carpenter. We know little of those years in Nazareth, but it is obvious that in that village Jesus prepared himself for the mission for which he had been born. It is ironic that the teacher whose life and travels were so limited should become a universal figure, loved and revered in every area of the world. There can be no doubt that God's will was fulfilled.

CABARET-DINNER AT FORT CLARK

Another Cabaret-Dinner sponsored by the Old Quarry Society is scheduled for Saturday evening, November 8. Entertainment for the evening will be in the talented hands of Jay Meadors, pianist, professor and composer of San Antonio.

"Six Musical Flags Over Texas" is the theme for the evening. In addition to the selections from Texas' musical heritage, Mr. Meadors will perform some of his own compositions including songs about three Texas cities.

Mr. Meadors' Bachelor's and Master's degrees are from the University of Oklahoma, and he is a doctoral candidate at North Texas State University. He has been staff pianist at Aspen and Interlocken and has toured with singers from two opera companies in New York. In San Antonio he divides his time between teaching at a local college and entertaining at the City Club of San Antonio.

The "Cabaret" in the members lounge of Fort Clark will open at 7:00 p.m. Admission of $10.00 includes a steak dinner. There will be a cash bar. Tickets are now on sale at the Adult Center, Fort Clark. Seating is limited.

JUST BETWEEN YOU & ME

BY WANDA SCHWANDNER

Well, election day is over and I, for one, am glad. I did consider voting on the write-in side for a change on the amendments so that I could understand them. Just when I think I am smart enough to read readin' somebody sets me up short and this time they did it with four little amendments. I figured I couldn't be "for" something that took me so long to figure out just what they were saying, so I just marked "against" all the way. Now if I voted "No" on all future raises for bank employees and didn't know it, I am in a heap of trouble.

Mike, Barb, Jason, Jeremy and I trick or treated last Friday night prior to the football game. There really weren't that many spooks and goblins out. Of course, we got lots of pictures of ole Jason doing his thing. He didn't trick or treat the traditional way though. He had to go in and join all the parties we came upon. He patted all the dogs, ran all the toys he could find around the porches and was very choicy about the kind of candy he wanted. All in all I'd say we had a ball. Well, I don't know about mom and dad, but Nanna did. Ten month old Jeremy was thoroughly bored and in fact voiced such displeasure we did end up cutting our festivities a bit short.

We dressed in Halloween costumes at the bank last Friday. I guess one reason we all enjoyed it so much, it's fun being a kid again for one day a year. According to Paco the best costume was a tie between Nancy Forbes and Elia Ward. Or, at least he said, the most scary costume....

Miss Kinney County, Kitten Daly, so impressed Harris Western Wear, Uvalde that they are planning to use her in their fall advertising campaign. Kitten, accompanied by Sharon White, used some of her prize money from Bill Humrichouse to do a little shopping there. Needless to we are all very proud of Speakin' of the Miss Kinney County Pageant, I can't personally say enough nice things about the nine girls who entered; and last years Miss Kinney County, Tia Ralston. They were so sweet and I enjoyed every minute. Hard work, but worth it. Thanks to Sharon White for asking me to assist her.

Heard there was lots of business at B & S Halloween night due to a certain costume displaying...uh...er, I mean portraying Miss Piggy. How about it, Paige ???

Mr & Mrs Oscar Pena, formerly Cindy Meyer, are due home for a visit November 16. I know the Pena & Meyer households are anxiously awaiting their arrival.

Bobbi and Jim Voss met in Abilene to spend the weekend together. Bobbi is attending a six week school in Fort Worth related to her job at Laughlin Air Force Base.

Attended the pep rally last Friday at the High School gym. The spirit stick was awarded to the parents for their continued support by Bob McCall. A joke was played on eight football players by the cheerleaders. The players were blindfolded and told to guess who was giving them a big kiss. No one guessed that their own mother was the phantom kisser !!!!

Dick & Betty Ward are helping their son ans his wife, Dick & Diane (formerly Diane Koch) get settled in their home in Brackettville. Dick Jr. went to work for Ed Snyder September 1st. They have been staying with Dick and Betty until they could find a house. They were living in San Antonio prior to moving "home".

Congratulations to Aaron Clements on his recent marriage. Welcome to Brackettville, Dorothe !! I know you two will be very happy !!

A surprize 40th birthday party was held October 31st, after the football game, for Sharon & Russ White at their home in Brackett. A good time was had by all. There were lots of funny gifts and cards, all welcoming the honorees to the "Over the Hill Gang".

Visited with A.J. Hale last week. Glad to see him looking so good and back to his ole feisty self.....and we all know that's pretty feisty !!!!

Well, I'll say so long long for this week.

GUIDELINES TO PROTECT CHILDREN

As a society, our efforts to prevent crimes against children have not kept pace with the increasing vulnerability of our youngest citizens. After hearing the tragic stories about abducted or exploited children, most Texans are surprised to learn that many crimes against children can be prevented.

"Stay away from strangers" is a popular warning to prevent abduction or exploitation. Unfortunately many children are abducted or exploited by people who have some type of familiarity with the children but who may or may not be known to the parents.

The term "stranger" suggests a concept that children may not understand and is one that ignores what we do know about the people who commit crimes against children. It misleads children into believing that they should be aware of individuals who have an unusual or sloven appearance. Instead, it is more appropriate to teach our children to be on the lookout for certain kinds of situations or actions rather than certain kinds of individuals.

Children can be raised to be polite and friendly, but it is okay for them to be suspicious of any adult asking for assistance. Children help other children, but there is no need for them to be assisting adults.

Children should not be asked to keep secrets from their parents and, of course, children should not be asked to touch anyone in the bathing suit areas of their body or allow anyone to touch them in those areas.

Often exploiters or abductors initiate a seemingly innocent contact with the victim. They may try to get to know the children and befriend them. They use subtle approaches that both parents and children should be aware of. Children should learn to stay away from individuals in cars, vans or trucks; and they should know that it is okay to say NO - even to an adult.

Remember, a clear, calm, and reasonable message about situations and actions to look out for is easier for a child to understand than a particular profile or image of a "stranger".

For more information on this timely topic, contact your local law enforcement agency, the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children or the Criminal Justice office at the Alamo Area Council of Governments at (512) 225-5201.

Dear Sue: Our two teenage daughters have to have the last word in every family argument. They have a snappy comeback for everything my husband or I say. Instead of correcting the girls, my husband yells at me. He says I didn't teach the girls to have respect for their parents. I think I did a good job raising the girls, but you have to expect rebellion from teenagers. Who is right? Toni W.

Dear Toni: Your daughters are breaking away from you and rude speech is one way to show you that they are not babies anymore. Naturally, they should still be respectful toward you, but if their general behavior is acceptable, you can let an occasional slip of the tongue go by. Maybe you and your husband should seek some counseling now to find out why he puts the blame on you. It is better for your girls if you two can agree and be supportive of each other.

Dear Readers: If you have a child under 5 years of age, please note this list of 10 foods most likely to cause choking. Researchers at Johns Hopkins University concluded that these foods were the most common cause of gagging: hot dogs and sausages, round candy, nuts, grapes, hard cookies or biscuits, meat chunks or slices, raw carrot sticks, peanut butter sandwiches, apple chunks and popcorn.

SMART SPAGHETTI WITH FRESH TOMATO SAUCE

Spaghetti is one of America's most popular dishes. It is increasingly in demand as more and more people seek out light nourishing meals. Surprisingly, there are a number of smart ingredient substitutions that can transform this good food into one that's even better.

Switching from regular pasta noodles to spaghetti squash is an interesting and healthy twist. When boiled, this oval-shaped yellow vegetable yields delicious strands that bear a striking resemblance to spaghetti yet contribute only one-fifth the calories. Topped with a tomato sauce that cuts down on calories, fat, sodium and cholesterol, Smart Spaghetti with Fresh Tomato Sauce becomes a healthy accompaniment to a main meal. Instead of butter, this recipe calls for Promise, a no-cholesterol sunflower-oil spread that's low in saturated fat. Foods low in cholesterol and saturated fat can help lower blood cholesterol levels, reducing risk of heart disease. Skillfully seasoned, this side dish also cuts out salt without sacrificing flavor. Of course, the Fresh Tomato Sauce is perfect on regular pasta, too.

For information on how to develop a total dietary plan to reduce your family's risk of heart disease by controlling serum cholesterol, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: Healthy Heart, Promise Information Service, Dept. M2, 40 West 57th Street, New York, NY 10019.

SMART SPAGHETTI WITH FRESH TOMATO SAUCE

- 1/4 cup Promise
- 1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
- 1 teaspoon chopped garlic (2 cloves)
- 6 large tomatoes (about 2 1/2 pounds), peeled, coarsely chopped
- 2 teaspoons dried leaf basil, crumbled
- 1 teaspoon dried leaf oregano, crumbled
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1 medium spaghetti squash (2 to 3 pounds)
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- In large saucepan melt

Promise; saute onion and garlic 3 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, basil, oregano, sugar and hot pepper sauce. Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Stir occasionally. Meanwhile cook spaghetti squash. Place unpeeled, whole squash in kettle of boiling water. Cover, boil 30 to 35 minutes or until fork pierces skin easily and squash is tender. Cut squash in half crosswise; remove seeds. Using a fork, pull squash out of shell onto heated platter. Spoon tomato sauce over squash. Serve with parsley and Parmesan cheese.

Yield: 6 servings. Approximately 164 calories, 8 grams fat, 146 milligrams sodium and 1 milligram cholesterol per serving.

TIGERS LOSE THRILLER

BRACKETTVILLE—A young Tiger team gave the bigger more experienced Dilley Wolves all they wanted and more Friday night before losing a 36-26 district bout which marked the final home game of the season.

Brackett opened the scoring with Hector Pena running the ball 8 yds. around left end for the TD. Halfback Jamie Rodriguez ran the same play to the other side to add the two pts. and, with 8:21 left in the 1st quarter, the Tigers led 8-0. Dilley also got on the board in the 1st period on a 28 yd. run. The two pt. conversion was good and the score stood even at 8-8.

The second period saw halfback Jesus Aguirre score from 4 yds. out. The conversion attempt failed, and the Tigers led once again 14-8. But the lead was short lived as Dilley scored two second Quarter TD's and an extra pt. to take a 21-14 lead into the dressingroom at halftime.

On the first play from scrimmage in the 3rd period, Pena threw a 61 yd. TD pass to Frank Morgan. Again the conversion attempt failed, and the Wolves held a slim 21-20 lead. With 5:24 left in the 3rd period, Dilley answered Morgan's TD with one of their own, and converted on the two pts. for a 29-20 lead.

The Tigers were not through yet though as Morgan answered back on a 75 yrd. scoring run on a reverse around left end, again, the conversion failed, but the score found Brackett only a field goal from knotting it up. Dilley put on ice 1:47 remaining in the game. The extra pt. made the final score 36-26.

The Tigers play their final game of the season at Lytle. Game time is 8:00 pm.
