The first Thanksgiving was held December of 1621 over 360 years ago. Governor William Bradford of the Plymouth Colony had appointed a day of celebration. The Governor had sent four men out to shoot wild turkeys for a feast.

The custom was abandoned in 1622 after an Indian massacre. The celebration was then revived with a change of dates, March 22, by the Virginia General Assembly in 1623, as a day of gratitude for the settler's deliverance from the Indians.

In 1775 George Washington called on all colonies to observe Thursday, November 23, as a day of Thanksgiving. This was soon after the start of the Revolutionary War. In 1781 after the defeat of Cornwallis, the Continental Congress proclaimed October 29 as a day of prayer and Thanksgiving.

In 1789 George Washington proclaimed November 26 as the first Thanksgiving Day for the United States of America. This day still stands as the official celebration of Thanksgiving, 196 years later.

There are few people in this world who can't find anything to be thankful for. People who can't need to re-learn the art of thanksgiving.

Many families like to invite people over who are in a time of need. College tuition puts many parents and families into a deeper debt than ever before, but most are still in tune with the spirit of Thanksgiving. People are not always aware that no matter how tough things are, they could always be worse.

Thanksgiving is a time to say that we've made it through another year with maybe just a few complaints. A time to realize that no matter how bad things were and how frightened we may have felt, we are luckier and tougher than ever before. People should be thankful for what they have, because there is always another family who is in an even worse position.

It shouldn't matter whether you choose to celebrate Thanksgiving in a typical American fashion or with domestic and wild turkeys, just as long as the spirit remains in the holiday it will continue to be one of America's most favorite, eagerly awaited and enjoyed holidays.

Economic News Still Good - Jobless Rate Drops Again!

The Texas Unemployment Rate continues to decline statewide according to Mary Scott Nabers, Commissioner at the Texas Employment Commission. "The unemployment rate for Texas in October was 6.8%—down from 7.1% in September," Nabers said. "Even more significant, Commissioner Nabers reported, "is the fact that one year ago the October unemployment rate was 7.4%."

"Things are definitely looking up," Nabers said, "but we still need more jobs for unemployed people. In October in a one week sampling 571,200 Texans were out of work."

"Declining oil prices and the loss of construction jobs continue to cause employment fluctuations. Most of the October increases in jobs were due to the completion of staffing for state and local schools and colleges. There were, however, additional gains in manufacturing as well. In fact, there were just over 35,000 jobs added to the Texas economy in October," Nabers said.

Most of the major Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSA's) recorded minor declines in unemployment rates over the month. Only four MSA's showed increases in their rates, and these changes were all very small. Rankings of the areas with lowest and highest rates changed very little over the month.

Bryan-College Station continued to have the lowest unemployment rate among the MSA's, with 4.5% in October.

Highest rates continued to be in the border areas and those most dependent upon the oil and gas industry. McAllen - Edinburg - Mission again recorded the highest rate among the MSA's, with 16.5% in October. Brownsville - Harlingen tied with Laredo for second-highest, as each had rates of 11.7%; El Paso's October rate was 10.6%; and Beaumont-Port Arthur's was 9.4%.

SHERIFF'S CORNER

I don't want to keep beating you over the head with the federal prisoner program at the county jail, but I don't want you to be fed misleading and sometimes false information either. It seems like I am constantly being forced to try and clarify the misleading and sometimes false facts, figures, and statements concerning the federal prisoner program that are often made by some of the county officials who are opposed to the program.

It is no secret that the current county judge and county auditor are bitterly opposed to the federal prisoner program (events during the recent Sheriff's election proved this). But why? And why must misleading figures continue to be presented to the taxpaying public? The county auditor's report for the month of October is very deceiving as that part of the report concerning county wide law enforcement is titled JAIL RECEIPTS & DISBURSEMENTS. In reality the report covers our TOTAL county wide law enforcement operation AND county jail operation (excluding the Sheriff's salary & fringe benefits). Ironically, the Sheriff's Department & County Jail operation is the ONLY county government operation that receives such special, itemized attention as to expense vs. income. All others are presumed (I suppose) to be necessary functions paid for by your tax dollars. Makes me think that maybe the opponents of the federal prisoner program (and me) are waiting like buzzards on a fence post hoping that my efforts will fail.

At any rate I will henceforth give a monthly report to you through this column concerning our operational costs vs. income. This report will include ONLY receipts from the federal prisoner program and will not include receipts from other sources of our law enforcement operation. Keep in mind the fact that these figures will represent the cost of our TOTAL county wide law enforcement operation, including the county jail, salaries, fringe benefits, auto & travel, utilities, phone, etc. All law enforcement costs excluding my salary and fringe benefits and this is excluded only because the auditor sees fit to do so. You, as taxpayers, citizens, and voters have the right to know what your county government is costing you, and I for one believe that you have the right to know the TRUE facts of what is going on and should not be misled with slanted, biased reports and statements. The federal prisoner program certainly DOES NOT benefit me personally in any way and does in fact place a greater responsibility on my shoulders, but it is the ONLY way we can generate income to help offset operational costs and ease the burden on local taxpayers (you) for the cost of county wide law enforcement and county jail operations.

TOTAL LAW ENFORCEMENT RECEIPTS & DISBURSEMENTS (excluding Sheriff's salary & fringe benefits)

(OCTOBER '88)

DISBURSEMENTS:

GENERAL FUND
(Operational costs)	$ 7,710.35
OFFICERS SALARY (gross sal.)	6,343.75
TOTAL FRINGE BENEFITS	1,699.19

TOTAL DISBURSEMENTS	$15,753.29

RECEIPTS:

U.S. MARSHALL'S SERVICE	$ 1,176.00
U.S. BORDER PATROL	28.00
BUREAU OF PRISONS	14,084.00
IMMIGRATION/NATURALIZATION SERVICE	112.00

TOTAL INCOME FEDERAL PRISONERS	$15,400.00

(RECAP)

TOTAL DISBURSEMENTS:	$15,753.29
TOTAL RECEIPTS:	15,400.00

NET minus $ 353.29
(approx. $11.40 per day!)

The net balance of minus $353.29 is what our total 24 hour a day, 7 day a week, county wide law enforcement operation actually cost you, the taxpayers of Kinney County, for the month of October 1988 (excluding the Sheriff's salary and fringe benefits of course). Does the federal prisoner program work? Does it help offset operational costs that would otherwise come out of your tax dollars? I think the FACTS speak for themselves. I don't know how long we will be able to take advantage of housing federal prisoners for pay, but I hope it lasts a long time. I am willing and eager to take the extra burden of responsibility the federal prisoner program places on my shoulders. WHY? Because it helps save YOUR money and allows YOUR tax dollars to be used on other important county governmental functions. THAT'S ALL !!

"CARE" FOR THE FUTURE

TEXAS GROUNDWATER RESOURCES

Currently about 60 percent of all fresh water consumed in Texas, including 40-50 percent of the drinking water supply, is pumped from underground. Nowhere is groundwater more crucial than in rural areas. According to Texas Water Development Board data, nearly three million Texans depend for their drinking water either on private wells (1.1 million people) or on groundwater supplied by rural water associations or other small systems serving populations of less than 1,000 each (1.8 million people). In addition, about 70 percent of the irrigation water used in agricultural production comes from the aquifers.

GROUNDWATER CONTAMINATION

In a review of more than 40 published federal and state reports listing instances of groundwater contamination by toxic substances, the Congressional Research Service found that most of the available information "remains anecdotal, scattered, and poorly organized." Nevertheless, after summarizing data from 14 states documenting cases of thousands of contaminated drinking water wells, the review concluded that "a large and unknown amount of contamination has already entered the groundwater system, which will continue to appear for many years into the future, regardless of present and future regulatory actions."

No one knows the current extent of groundwater contamination in Texas from the sources listed in Table 1, although a list of major potential sources would probably include landfills, surface impoundments, illegal waste dumping, disposal wells, septic tanks, underground storage tanks and pipelines.

Considering the importance of groundwater in Texas and the prohibitive expense and near-impossibility of remedying large-scale contamination or restoring contaminated aquifers to drinking-water quality, public concern about potential contamination of groundwater supplies is quite justified, although water-quality monitoring has been so limited that we do not have a complete picture of the extent of the problem.

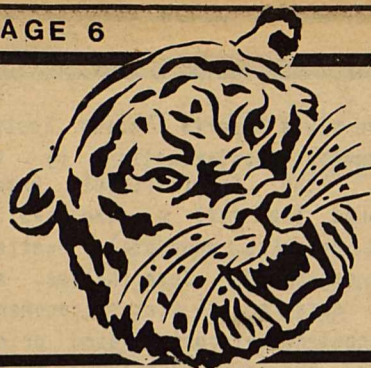

In addition to the possible harmful health effects and loss of a natural resource resulting from groundwater contamination, there may be important, though difficult to quantify, economic and social damage, including the replacement cost of a public or private water supply, decreases in agricultural and industrial productivity, a loss of property value, and the loss of future development options. Even a local contamination incident is a major event for the groundwater user or users whose water supply is lost due to contamination.

SWTJC CREATIVE ARTS CONTEST

Only one month remains to enter the literary divisions of the 1988-89 Southwest Texas Junior College Creative Arts Contest. The entry deadline for the literary divisions, which include all age groups, is December 14.

Literary entries are sent to a panel of teachers and writers in the Dallas area immediately following the deadline.

"We feel that having the literary divisions deadline in December gives our panel of judges ample time to judge the entries before the February awards ceremony," said Nancy Thurmond, Creative Arts Coordinator. "Since the visual arts entries aren't judged until we set up the display in February we have extended the visual arts deadline until February 1, 1989," she continued.

Literary categories include essay, poetry, and short story. Age divisions for essays are grades 7-9, grades 10-12, college, community, and convalescent home.

The poetry and short story competition includes the above divisions as well as pre-school, grades 1-3 and grades 4-6.

Entries in the visual art contest will be accepted from all age groups in pen & ink drawing, pencil drawing, drawing with color, and painting. Art entries should be mounted in a form suitable for display, such as on matte or poster board, without glass or plastic covers, if possible.

"If an artist absolutely needs his or her work covered with plastic or glass, it should be applied for easy removal for photographic purposes," Thurmond said.

The same guidelines apply to the photography contest, which includes age divisions for grades 10-12, college and community; and the cover contest, which is an open competition.

Entries in the cover contest should be either a pen & ink drawing or a black & white photograph that includes a palm's leaf somewhere in the design, but not necessarily in a prominent or dominant position, and sized to fit on the 8 1/2" x 11" cover.

The winning entry will be used as the cover of the 1989 edition of THE PALM'S LEAF, the award-winning magazine that features all the winners of the contest.

The fair and awards ceremony is tentatively scheduled for February 23, 1989.

Further information on the contest and entry forms, which are required with each entry, are available in the Journalism Department located in the Essie Richarz building or by mail from Thurmond c/o Creative Arts Contest, SWTJC, Uvalde, Tx. 78801.

Teachers and individuals may make copies of the form for multiple entries.

DEAR NOSEY**

Dear Nosey,

I have trouble remembering things, like when I am asked to do something I forget to do it. I would like some advice on how to remember things.

Forgetful

Dear Forgetful,

Someones memory may not be as sharp as others. If the things you are told to do are not of personal interest then you have little need to remember them. If what you are asked to do pertains to a grade or something that concerns your education, it would be a good idea to carry a small notepad and pen with you to record important assignments. The next time you are asked to do something, ask that person to repeat their request. This will help you to pay closer attention to what you are asked to do.

Sincerely,
Nosey

Dear Nosey,

Thank you so very much, your advice has helped settle my problem. Your column is really great! I've read every column you have published so far and all of your columns have helped me solve other problems which I really need advice in. Thanks a lot.

Sincerely,
Grateful

Dear Grateful,

You'r allways welcomed to write back. I'm glad to be of assistance, and if you ever need advice, remember me.

Nosey

Dear Nosey,

Someone wrote a letter to this person and I got a hold of it. The letter was about me, and it said bad things about ME. What should I do?

Hurt

Dear Hurt,

Being hurt, either physically or emotionally, will leave scars that are hard to get rid of. Just "keep your chin up" and "be brave." Temporary hurts are better than physical hurts. Relax, think about something that is pleasant, the letter will not seem to be a bother to you anymore. Now all you have to do is forget about the whole thing. Ignore the letter and remember, be BRAVE!

Write Back,
Nosey

????????? Do YOU Have A Problem ??????????

Write to NOSEY! Let Nosey solve your problems. If you need a little advice, well Nosey is the one to write to! Here's all you have to do....

1. Write you problem down on paper.
2. Place your problem in the "Nosey Box" found in the High School Library.
3. Wait!

* If your problem is solvable, your answer will be found in Tiger Times portion of the Cavalryman published every Wednesday. *

LIFE AMONG THE INDIANS

The Fort Clark Historical Society has another interesting meeting coming up.

Nakai Breen, a full-blood Cherokee Indian, and one of only five U.S. and Canadian members of the Board of Native American Indian Traditional Medicine People, will speak on American Indian Life and Culture on Saturday, November 26, at 10:00 a.m. in the Members Lounge at Fort Clark Springs. Her talk will draw from her childhood and adult experiences and study of Indian culture, mainly from the Kiowa tribe.

Mrs. Breen achieved national prominence in her efforts to aid the Kickapoo Tribe in gaining a reservation of their own in the U.S. For many years the Kickapoos lived in tin and cardboard shacks under the international bridge at Eagle Pass. Her untiring efforts across the U. S. and in Washington D.C. finally resulted in the designation of area belonging to the tribe. Recent events concerning the possible start of Bingo games on the reservation have again brought the Kickapoos into media prominence.

Mrs. Breen, wife of the well-known artist Bud Breen, also of Brackettville, will have Indian articles on exhibit for examination by those attending.

Everyone is welcome to attend. A door prize will be presented.

BRACKETTVILLE RESIDENTIAL TELEPHONE RATES LOWER THAN NATIONAL AVERAGE

Southwestern Bell Telephone (SWBT) customers in Brackettville and across the state pay less for basic residential local telephone service than most customers across the nation, according to a recent study by the Federal Communications Commission.

"In Brackettville, residential one-party customers pay only $8.15 per month which is about the same as the price of a large pizza," said Karen O'Neill, manager for Southwestern Bell. "Or, on a daily basis, the basic rate here is 27 cents per day for a service that's always available, providing contact with friends, relatives and emergency services," she said.

Nationally, the average monthly rate for basic residential service is $12.19. In Texas, residential service rates range from $8.15 to $11.05 per month depending on the size of the local calling scope.

Rates quoted in FCC study include only rotary dial, unlimited calling, one-party basic service. The monthly rates do not reflect federal subscriber line charges, state and local taxes, long distance, custom calling, touch-tone or other optional services.

Southwestern Bell subscribers in Texas also have a lower-cost option available to them. Economy service, available throughout most of the state, allows 25 outgoing calls and unlimited incoming calls, for half the basic charge.

"We don't sacrifice service to achieve lower rates," O'Neill said. "Customer satisfaction levels in Texas are at record-high levels."

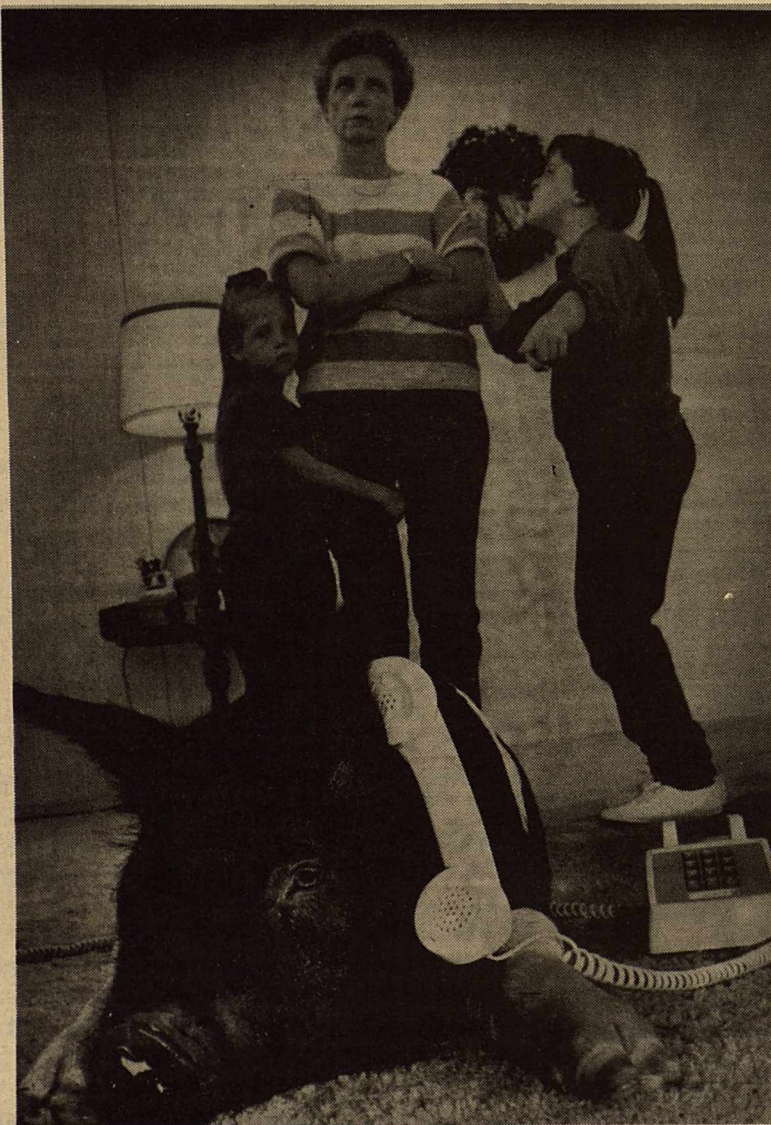

The company's customer surveys show that 96 percent of those customers questioned say they are satisfied with their telephone service.

"The survey demonstrates our employees' dedication to hold down costs," said O'Neill. "We're proud of our service and the value our customers receive for their hard-earned dollars."

The FCC study compared basic monthly residential telephone rates in 95 cities. The rates range from a low of $6.60 in Fort Dodge, Iowa, to a high of $23.39 in Huntington, West Virginia.

Six Texas cities included in the study rank near the lower two-thirds of the 95 cities surveyed nationwide. The Texas cities, where each ranked in the survey, and the basic monthly residential rate for each:

Houston - 57 ($11.05); Dallas - 67 ($10.47); Fort Worth and San Antonio - both 69 ($9.85); Corpus Christi - 78 ($9.10); and Brownsville - 81 ($8.80).

END OF THE LINE FOR PHONE HOGS

Statistics show there are more phone hogs in American houses than ever before, says Southwestern Bell Telephone. The phone company is offering a stocking stuffer gift idea for Christmas to solve the phone hog problem. Don't punish the hog, says Bell. Get a second line. The telephone business office can set it up and even give you a special card to put in a stocking on the mantle, announcing the second line for the family. Everybody will love it. Especially the one who's hogging the phone. Oink!

BABY SHAMU TO FLOAT THROUGH NEW YORK CITY -- Making its third appearance in the Macy's Thanksgiving Parade on Thursday, Nov. 24, will be the Baby Shamu giant balloon. This 62-ft high, 38ft wide creation is a replica of the three-year-old killer whale calf who resides at Sea World of Florida. This year's balloon is a tribute to the baby boom at the Sea World parks. Baby Shamu was joined by a sister killer whale at the Orlando park earlier this month, and a second killer whale calf was born at Sea World of California in late September. Yet another baby is expected by the end of this month at Sea World of Texas. The historic parade, which steps off at 9 a.m. EST, will be broadcast on NBC-TV.

Raspberry Cheesecake

- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 2 tablespoons margarine, melted
- 1 cup low-fat cottage cheese
- 1 cup part skim ricotta cheese
- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 cup egg substitute or 2 whole eggs
- 1/2 cup evaporated skim milk
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon rind, grated
- 1/3 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 1/2 cups fresh or frozen raspberries for garnish

In a small bowl, combine the crumbs and margarine. Press into bottom of a greased 9-inch loose-bottomed or spring-form pan. Place pan in freezer while you prepare the filling. In a blender or food processor, place all remaining ingredients except the flour and raspberries and blend until smooth. Add flour and blend for 10 seconds until ingredients are thoroughly mixed. Remove crust from freezer and pour in the filling. Bake at 300 degrees for 1 hour or until the filling has set. Cool, on a rack. Loosen edges of cheesecake with a knife and remove the sides of the pan, but not the bottom, from the cheesecake. Place on a serving platter and top with raspberries. Serves 12.

TRACKS ALONG THE TRAIL BY DORTHY PAYNE

In some southwestern counties, mesquite is probably the only tree you will see. I suppose it is the "most southwestern" tree there is, because it grows only in the southwestern states, from Louisiana to California. Mostly it is found in West Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, and Arizona, and on south through Mexico, Central America and as far down as Peru.

The Mesquite is not famous for its beauty, but it has an important part in our lives. This tree is the home of the coyote, antelope, deer, jackrabbit, the rattlesnake, the wolf, the quail, the roadrunner and many other animals. Many a hot, sweating cowboy has rested in its shade. In winter the mesquite wood can be burned for food and warmth. It might not be much shade, but then a lot of the other trees that grow near it don't make much shade either.

Another important thing about this tree is its beans. There are two main kinds of mesquite. One grows pods 4 to 8 inches long. In the straight and skinny pods are hard beans. The other species has stiff curled pods, known as the screw bean or curly mesquite tree. It's smaller and is sometimes called "tornillo".

Many a domestic and wild animal has survived a hard winter season on mesquite beans. They are very tasty and when ripe are sweet to chew, in fact they are rich in sugar, almost like sugar cane. Most of the rich protein is in the pods rather than in the beans. They can be ground into flour and used to make bread.

These trees take years to grow. While in the blooming stage, the bees make honey. Until you have eaten mesquite honey on hot biscuits you have been missing something.

Medicine was made from the inner bark. Mostly the wood is used for railroad ties, fence posts, furniture, and of later years for bar-b-queing.

Its gum is used for making muscilage, and the black gum can be used for dyes.

The mesquite sometimes has roots 50 ft. underground, in search for water. This is why the mesquite can usually survive the hardest drought. Also rural families often dig for fuel after the surface wood is gone.

The tallest mesquite tree on record was about 60 feet high with a trunk three feet thick near the ground. Usually they are no more than fifteen feet tall. But this was unusual.

Cows and calves and steers hide in the mesquite, but cowboys wear chaps to protect them against the mesquite thorns. On some ranges the chaparral and catclow, and palo verde grow too and also have thorns.

The mesquite sometimes grow to be very old because they can withstand almost anything from man or beast, except an axe, of course.

REFLECTIONS

"Thank you" are two words that ought to be in everyone's vocabulary. At this Thanksgiving Season, I want to give a personal testimony about giving thanks.

I'm thankful for my family. Dovie Jean and I have a son and daughter. Both are married. We have four precious grandchildren. Like you, I'm proud of my family.

I'm thankful for my community. This is our town, our home. The government life, the school, the businesses, and all the people make up a great network of community life. No person approves of everything that happens around us, but I'm grateful for the privilege of being a resident of this town and county.

I'm thankful for my church. A pastor asked a man to become a part of his church. The fellow said, "Well, I'm looking for a perfect church to join." The preacher answered, "I doubt if you'll find such a church this side of heaven. But if you do, don't go near it because you will spoil it!"

I'm thankful for our nation. I'm a citizen of the U.S.A. I love our flag -- "the Stars and the Stripes." We need to work for and be loyal to our country. It (she) needs our support, our integrity, our fervent prayers, our love. We ought to pray for all who are in authority that these leaders will have the "wisdom of Solomon" to lead us.

I'm thankful for Jesus. He is the true God-man. He is the Redeemer and Lord. Those who "see" Jesus see God. He makes everlasting life real for all who commit life to Him. The Bible says, "Now thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift."

It's Thanksgiving Season. In fact, everyday ought to be a time of thanksgiving for all of us. How can we be less than thankful to God for His countless blessings?

WINTERIZING YOUR HOME: UP ON THE ROOF by Joe Zorc

As the winter season falls upon us, two items outside your house should be inspected in order to prevent conditions that are dangerous and costly to repair.

* After the leaves have stopped falling, it's time to clean and inspect the gutters and downspouts. If you do not have the proper equipment to reach your gutters safely, many companies advertise in the Yellow pages or in newspaper classified advertisements under "home repairs".

Blocked gutters can cause snow, ice and freezing rain to build up. The resulting weight can actually pull the gutters from their fasteners. Also the ice can accumulate at the edge of the roof causing water to pool in these areas when the ice begins to melt. This water can eventually seep through the roof membrane causing tremendous water damage.

It's a good idea to test the gutters by simply putting a running hose in different areas, watching for overflow conditions.

* Check the chimney above the roof line for animal nests. Blockage could cause poor draft for a fireplace and backed-up fumes from heating equipment.

Chimney cleaning should be done every two to three years depending on the type of material you burn and the frequency of use. Several companies can be found in the Yellow Pages.

In my next column, I'll suggest some small jobs you'll want to take care of inside your home before the first hard freeze.

(Joe Zorc has been involved in home renovation and repair for more than a decade and has taught carpentry for the Home Builders Institute.)
