

TRUESDELLS CELEBRATE 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Elmer Lee and Era Lee Jackie Truesdale celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary November 2, 1989. They did not have a big party, but received many calls, visits, and gifts from friends, children, and relatives.

They were married in Wingate, Texas in front of the Post Office. Elmer had the license and they had planned a Church Wedding. The Preacher was also the Postmaster in Wingate. They went to talk to him about the ceremony and he promptly married them in Elmer's pickup truck. Elmer said that he should have known, getting married in a truck, they would always be on the move all their married life. Wingate was about the size of Spofford with 2 filling stations, a General Mercantile store, one church, and the Post Office.

Elmer asked the Preacher, "How much do I owe you?" The Preacher says, "Well, how much is she worth?"

Elmer says, "I don't know, I just got her." The Preacher charged him $2.00. They then went by Jackie's house and she got her suitcase. Her family and friends had a party, but Elmer and Jackie left to avoid a Chivaree.

Elmer was raised in Iraan and Jackie in Wingate, Texas. They have lived several places, moving to the Brackettville community in 1972.

CITY SQUARE GETS FACELIFT

Everyone has been wondering what is happening on the corner of Ann and Springs Street, across the street from Davis Hardware. Well, we have heard from Mr. Sterling Evans' Foreman, that Mr. Evans has purchased the property and is going to plant fruit trees, maybe persimmons, in the triangle. In the future we understand that Mr. Evans will have his office in the building.

It is really nice to see improvement in our downtown area. The Davis' have already greatly improved the looks of our Town Square. For this great improvement, we thank them!

I would like to mention our upcoming rancher field day on Monday, November 13, 1989 at 1:00 p.m. in the county courthouse. This field day is for all area ranchers and will cover predator control, the labor program with the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Assn., options in spanish goat production, and management of sheep and goats in a dry year.

I have had a number of calls this past week on insects and other home landscape problems. First, let me state, that as our days and nights get cooler, insects will begin looking for places to spend the winter. It's kind of like a biological alarm clock. Now, secondly it's encouraging to know that the insects invading your house are not looking for permanent residence. Most are just gearing up for the cold weather.

These types of insects will be a nuisance and most of them do not present a great danger to the homeowner. It is very common for insects to enter attics or garages through cracks in the foundation, open windows or spaces around doors.

Mechanical control is possible by caulking all cracks to prevent insect entry. Caulking also makes the structure more air tight and should help lower heating costs.

Store firewood away from the house to help eliminate hiding places for the pests. Homeowners need to store firewood as far from the house as possible and take only the amount needed for immediate use into the house. Firewood stacked beside the house may be handy, but as the wood warms, spiders, scorpions, and other pests leave the wood and escape to other areas of the house.

Also remember that mice can be a problem also. Seal up all opening around pipes and hoses that go out of the house. Steel wool works well, but caulking is probably better.

COUNTY LAMBS TO BE SHEARED

4-H members are reminded that we will shear all county lambs Saturday, November 18, 1989, 9:00 a.m. at the FFA arena. All 4-H members need to get lambs to arena and be ready to have lambs sheared as this will be the only county shearing before the January show.

4-H FOOD SHOW

The Kinney County 4-H Food Show will be held this Saturday, November 11, at 5:00 p.m. at the Baptist Church.

Over the years they have lived all over Texas, as Elmer put it. He has had a construction business, worked for Gulf & Marathon Oil, owned and operated two grocery stores, a restaurant, farmed the family farm, and worked on a ranch. They built and operated the original Amistad Lodge that was the first store ever built between Del Rio and Amistad Dam.

When asked to what they attributed their long married life, Jackie said, "Well, we have always talked things out, never went to bed mad, and tried to look at both sides." Elmer said, "It took a lot of give and take, and a whole lot of lovin on both parts." "We always helped each other and worked together in whatever we had to do."

What a wonderful, bright, energetic couple. It was a pure joy to interview them and listen to them talk about their lives. We hope you have many more Anniversaries together.

WWII FLYING TIGER VISITS

Flying Tiger Joe Rosbert of the famed WW II Flying Tigers and his wife, Lil, were at Fort Clark Springs as house guests of the Hirsch's. Captain Joe Rosbert was Chief of Flying Operations for General Claire Chenault's AVG and Flying Tiger Organization in China before the Japanese invasion. Joe has written a book of his war experiences in China, entitled, "Flying Tiger Joe's Adventure and Cook Book." An autographed copy of the book will be given to the Kinney County Library by Dick & Huguette Hirsch, of Ft. Clark Springs.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

GUSTAVAO RENE RESENDEZ

Becky Resendez and Gus Ramirez announce the birth of a son, Gustavao Rene Resendez born November 6, 1989. He weighted 7 lbs. and 6 oz.

LOVE IS LIKE A FLOWER

Love is like a flower, it starts small as a bud,
But with time it flourishes, it grows into a blossom, until it reaches its fullest beauty.

Then the flower is at its greatest,
The beauty and scent for everyone to see,
It captures ones imagination and awe.

Then it receives no care, no water to give it life, no sun to make it glow,
It even seems it may die.

Along comes the caring, it senses the flowers dilemma, it works and nourishes the flower until it reaches its majestic beauty.

Then so is love in the sense of a flower, it may reach its full beauty,
But without the caring to nourish it, it may soon perish.

Woodpeckers are, among other things, a very clever and adaptable bird. At least three kinds are year-long desert residents. Two other only spend their winters in desert country.

If you travel in agave and yucca country from west Texas to California, or Baja, you will see the ladder-back woodpecker. He has many other names like Texas Woodpecker, Speckle-Check, Cactus Woodpecker, Bairds Woodpecker and San Lucas Woodpecker. Then there are at least fifteen more sub-species, each a little different than the other. They are all about seven and a half inches long and have barred black and white back and outer tail feathers, the inner tail feathers are black.

The ladder-back is a shy bird and keeps a low profile. Sometimes they chisel out a nest in the flower stalks of yuccas and agaves. The opening is about one and a quarter inch in diameter and high up on the plant.

They hollow out a twelve inch excavation and the chips that fall to the bottom serve as a lining for the nest. There, the hen lays her four or five pearly white eggs.

The two woodpeckers who spend their winters in the desert are called Flickers, the red-shafted, and the Golden. The red-shafted Flicker is an ant eater in a big way. The Gilded Flicker likes ants too, but he also eats cactus fruits, insects and mistletoe berries. In times of drouth mistletoe is often the only source of liquid, the berries are special, being juicy and nutritious.

Flickers are heavy and awkward and bounces when they walk on the ground.

Some woodpeckers will eat the eggs of other birds, and some have quarreling manners.

The reason these birds lay white eggs is because they nest high in thorny cactus and they have few enemies, so their eggs can be showy ones.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

In June of 1986, I spent several very exciting days at Alamo Village watching the filming of a Movie, "No Safe Haven". I had heard that the Movie had been canned due to the fact that there was not enough money to finish it. I was at Rory's Video last week, looking for a movie to watch and much to my surprise there was the movie, No Safe Haven. I rented it and took it home to watch. I was again tranformed out to Alamo Village and the excitement of watching a movie being filmed. There were smoke machines going, charges of dynamite being set, and stars walking around. I had not, in the past, been one of the fortunate Brackettville residents who had been on location at the Village and watched a movie in production so for me, it was a very new and exciting.

I remember that I slept (I was still working at the bank at the time and had to go to work the next morning) and when a scene was ready, my friends came and woke me up so that I could see the action. The last night was really something. We were moved to one corner of the "Alamo" that had been transformed into a village. A helicopter came straight at us with machine guns blazing. You could see the fire from the blanks just as if you were really being fired upon. Also there were a great many scenes with explosions. These are all the scenes in the last part of the movie. At one point, where "the villian" is making a speech, I could see Darrell Earwood very well in the crowd. I really didn't recognize anyone else, but I am sure that there are several Brackettville people in the movie as extras. I just thought that perhaps someone else in the area might be interested in watching the movie and might have over-looked the fact that some of the most exciting parts had been filmed at Alamo Village.

I talked to B.J. Burns this morning and she told me that there are 3 movies on the drawing board at this time, to be filmed, either in part or in total, at Alamo Village.

I and the crew at The Kinney Cavalryman appreciate the efforts that "Happy Shahan" and his crew have made, to promote and further the economy of Kinney County.

C/C SPOTLIGHT REVIEW:

SUPER S FOODS

The Super S Foods chain began in 1973 under the guidance of Jim Stanley and John Dieterle, in San Antonio, Texas. Now, there are 46 stores in South Texas. The Brackettville Store opened in January of 1987. Since then, it has been a steady course of improvement and today caters to most household needs of our community. We are indeed fortunate to have such a well-stocked facility for convenient local shopping.

David Dorrrough, an energetic young man of 32, has been the Store Manager since August of this year. He hails from San Antonio where he graduated from East Central High School in 1975. He spent six years in the Air force where he completed higher education in the AF Community College and became a non-commissioned officer. His management experience started with four years for the H.E.B. store group, followed by three years with other stores, before joining Super S in 1988, as Manager of their Mathis, Texas Store.

Dave and his wife, Connie have three children, Kristina 7, Jennifer 6, and Jason 5, who now enjoy life, school, and work in what they call "a fine community". The family is impressed with the friendly reception they have received and hope to remain here for many years. Glad y'all came and that it is enjoyable here.

The goal of Super S, and Dave's personal objective, is to provide a neat and clean shopping environment for quality merchandise, including fresh meats and produce. The chain owns its own produce warehouse which is a big help on quality control. Most vegetables are purchased from the Farmers Market in San Antonio for delivery three times a week to the store to insure maximum freshness. Fresh fruits are received each week mostly from sunny California. In addition, fresh meats are received several times weekly, and ground beef and regular meat cuts are prepared daily. Quality is the key!!

Some of the best features at the store are the well stocked shelves, compactly but well arranged to easily find what one needs, quick and efficient check-out points, and adequate parking space. It is the kind of store where you can stock up quickly, without marching through many long aisles, or getting lost in the process.

Super S strives to offer super merchandise, with super service, and at super prices. You'll enjoy your shopping there. You'll find it on North Ann Street across from the high school. Store hours are from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day of the week. Call 563-2500 to inquire on your particular needs.

ARTHRITIS FOUNDATION PHOTOGRAPHY CONTEST

Local Photographers who give their best shot can win cash prizes in the Arthritis Foundation's 1989 Photography Contest.

A first prize of $300.00, a second prize of $200.00 and a third prize of $100.00 will be awarded. In addition, up to 40 Honorable Mentions will receive $50.00 each. Cash prizes are made possible by a grant from G.A. Searle. Photographs submitted to the contest will be used by the Arthritis Foundation in its national and local publications and to publicize its work to help people with arthritis.

Each time a photo is used, the photographer will be given credit. Photographs can be submitted in a variety of categories including:

RESEARCH--Not necessarily of arthritis research, but photos should depict a laboratory-type situation which suggests research.

HEALTH PROFESSIONALS--Can be depicted in their particular work setting, or interacting with patients.

INSPIRATIONS--Photos in this category should convey messages of hope and positive attitude toward life.

EVERYDAY ACTIVITIES--Photos should show children or adults either observing or participating in everyday activities.

FAMILIES--Photos should depict members of a family working or playing together.

For entry forms and more information, contact the Arthritis Foundation, South Central Texas Chapter, 1-800-284-2438 or 512-224-8222 or write: Arthritis Foundation, Photo Contest; 1314 Spring St., NW, Atlanta, Ga. 30309. Deadline for submission is December 29, 1989.

The Arthritis Foundation is the only national voluntary health organization supporting Research to find the cure for and prevention of arthritis and to improve the quality of life for those affected by arthritis. Headquartered in Atlanta, the Foundation has 70 chapters nationwide.

NURSING HOMES

When a family places an elderly or disabled member in a nursing home or other facility, they often must overcome both emotional and financial difficulties. The Texas Department of Health (TDH), which licenses, certifies and inspects long term care facilities of all types, offers information and guidance through each stage of decision-making.

However, according to Charline Stowers, information officer for the TDH Bureau of Long Term Care, family responsibility for a resident's well-being does not stop when the resident enters new surroundings.

"Even if a family and the resident are completely satisfied with the care they have selected, family members still need to visit the nursing home as often as possible, not only for the sake of their loved one's happiness, but also to observe whether the home is fulfilling its commitments to its patients," Stowers said.

She explained that TDH routinely conducts at least two inspections yearly at each of the state's 1,500-plus nursing homes, personal care homes, facilities for the mentally retarded, and adult day care centers. One of the inspections is done during the facility's annual licensing or certification renewal. All inspections are unannounced, and may be in response to complaints about the quality of care at a given home. "We want to know about any violations of state standards for service in nursing homes or other facilities licensed or certified by TDH. We also need information about any unlicensed homes operating unlawfully. The identities of both the complainant and the resident are protected. The facility staff will not be given their names. Complaints are given priority, and to make reporting them easier for the public, we operate a toll-free line in Austin, for receiving complaints or providing information," Stowers said. For more information, contact Charline Stowers, Bureau of Long Term Care, at 512-458-7706, or Margaret Wilson, Public Health Promotion Division, 512-458-7405.
