President Promises Aid To Farmers

President Bush revealed new subsidies and grant programs for the nation's farmers, when he was greeted by approximately 7,500 enthusiastic fans at the Shallowater Co-op Gin Wednesday afternoon.

While speaking to the large crowd about the farm programs, Bush took time out for a few stabs at his opponent.

Bush announced the release of $755 million in disaster assistance to the farmers. Some of these funds will be funneled to South Plains cotton growers whose crops were devastated by heavy rains in the spring.

"American farmers need help and with this action, you'll get it," Bush said. "We can't prevent an early freeze, but these funds will help keep farmers on their feet so that the bankers will work with you and next year's crops can be planted. And if additional funds are needed, we will secure them."

"We are committed to reducing subsidies, the continuance of European community nations to subsidize wheat exports necessitates," Bush continued. "We're committed to reducing subsidies worldwide, but my announcement should leave no doubt, with heavy EC subsidies continuing, this export program is vital and we will use it as necessary."

Bush stated that although the farmers had been hit hard by Mother Nature, American Agriculture is still strong and successful.

"Make no mistake, America's farmer can compete with anybody anywhere around the world, providing that the playing field is level, provided we get a shot at world trade," Bush said.

"I stand with the American Agriculture, Texas is the No. 1 exporter of cotton and ranks among the top ten exports in 14 other major crops," he continued.

"I'm for opening up world markets," Bush said. "New jobs for Americans were created with the open trade agreement with Mexico. I also insist on fair trade."

Bush stated that he is familiar with the kind of crops that are grown in the area. "My wife, Barbara, and I moved to Odessa in 1948, and I have driven from the Midland Odessa area to Lubbock many times. Coming back to West Texas is good for the soul."

South Plains farmers were hit with a siege of adverse weather last spring resulting in a record loss of 1,550 million acres of cotton.

According to reports crops have suffered hail damage on some of the 1,560 million acres remaining for harvest.

While some area farmers felt Bush's trip to Shallowater was strictly political, others felt that any funds they received would be helpful at this point.

Jerry Glover at Lazbuddie said that the disaster funds will be welcomed in Parmer county, where farmers had about two to three percent of their cotton still standing, before a severe hailstorm hit that area last week.

Indians Scalp Mules 26-14

Penalties, interceptions and fumbles plagued the Mules in their first football game of the season Friday night, costing them their game with the Morton Indians. The final score of the game was Morton 26-Mules 14.

In the opening play of the game, the Mules kicked the ball to the Indians and they put it into play on their own 26 yard line. Having trouble moving the ball, the Indians were fourth and four for a first down when they faked a punt and picked up 14 yards on the play.

On their next play, the Indians were again faced with a fourth and four situation when they fumbled the ball.

The Mules took possession of the ball on their own 26 yard line. In their first two plays, the Mules received two-five yard penalties and with 7:02 left in the quarter they were first and 20. After three more plays they were forced to punt to the Morton Indians.

An Indian returned the punt 87 yards into the endzone only to have it called back due to clipping being called.

After a few more plays, the Indians fumbled the ball and the Mules came up with it. A personal foul (face mask) was called against the Mules and cost them the possession of the ball.

The Morton Indians took possession of the ball on the Mules 37 yard line with 3:28 left in the quarter. A Morton Indian ran straight up the middle from the Mules 31 yard line for the first score in the game with 2:33 left in the quarter. The field goal attempt failed and the score remained 6-0 Morton Indians.

Having a good field position, the Mules took over on their own 48 yard line. On their first play, the Mules lost four yards and then fumbled the ball, with the Indians recovering.

Penalties called against the Mules helped the Indians with their move down the field and the Indians made it into the endzone early in the second quarter. A two point conversion failed and the score remained at 12-0.

The Mules took possession of the ball on their own 35 yard line. Brian Rasco fumbled the ball and the Indians put the ball into play on the Mules 32 yard line. This time it was the Indians turn to have penalties called against them. Muleshoe Mule Kervin intercepted

BENEFICIAL INTEREST

A producer retains beneficial interest in the commodity if all of the following remain with the producer:

- * control of the commodity
- * risk of loss
- * title to the commodity.

For LDP's the producer must retain beneficial interest in the commodity from the time of harvest through the date the LDP is requested.

For loans, the producer must retain beneficial interest in the commodity from the time of harvest through the date the loan is redeemed or Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) takes title to the commodity.

Once beneficial interest in the commodity is lost, the commodity remains ineligible for a loan or an LDP even if the producer regains control, risk of loss, and title.

CONTROL

A producer is considered to have control of the commodity if the producer retains the ability to make all decisions affecting the commodity, including movement, sale, and the request for a loan or an LDP.

RISK OF LOSS

A producer is considered to have the risk of loss in the commodity if the producer is responsible for loss of or damage to the commodity. If the commodity is insured, any indemnity must be payable to the producer.

TITLE

A producer is considered to have transferred title to the commodity if the producer has sold or delivered the commodity to the buyer or delivered warehouse receipts to the buyer. Title may be considered to be transferred before the producer receives payment for the commodity.

SELLING EQUITY

If a producer receives any payment that would give the buyer any share of the equity in the commodity, such commodity is immediately ineligible for loan and an LDP. If a producer sells any equity in the commodity after it has been pledged as collateral for a loan, repayment of the loan principal and charges plus interest, is required.

OPTION TO MAINTAIN BENEFICIAL INTEREST

An option to purchase is an agreement allowing the buyer, at the buyer's option, to enter into a contract at a later date to buy the commodity. The option does not give the buyer an interest in the commodity and expires at a specified time.

PAYMENTS

If a producer has entered into an option to purchase, the producer may receive a payment and retain beneficial interest if such option to purchase contains a provision written as follows:

"Notwithstanding any other provision of this option to purchase, title; risk of loss; and beneficial interest in the commodity, as specified shall remain with the producer until the buyer exercises this option to purchase the commodity. This option to purchase shall expire, notwithstanding any action or inaction by either the producer or the buyer, at the earlier of: (1) the maturity of any Commodity Credit Corporation price support loan which is secured by such commodity; (2) the date the Commodity Credit Corporation claims title to such commodity; or (3) such other date as provided in this option."

Applicable Code of Federal Regulations References:

* 7 CFR Part 1421 (for wheat, feed grains, oilseeds, rice and farm-stored peanuts)

* 7 CFR Part 1427 (for cotton)

* 7 CFR Part 1434 (for honey).

Insertion of this language into a sales contract does not mean that the producer retains beneficial interest when a payment is made under such a contract.

SALES CONTRACTS AND LOSS OF BENEFICIAL INTEREST

A sales contract, including advance sales contracts, contracts to sell, price later contracts and contracts for future delivery, gives the buyer an interest in the commodity at a time set forth in the contract or at a time implied by law.

If a producer has or will receive a payment in return for the sales contract, beneficial interest is lost when the payment is made.

A producer will lose beneficial interest upon signing any contract which contains clauses restricting

Final Frameworks For Early Season Migratory Bird Hunting Announced

The Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has issued final hunting frameworks for the early (opening before October 1) migratory bird seasons and has issued proposed frameworks to govern the regular fall waterfowl season.

The final early-season frameworks apply to the hunting of doves, woodcock, band-tailed pigeons, rails, snipe, common moorhens and purple gallinules, sandhill cranes, and sea ducks, as well as special September teal, wood duck, and Canada goose seasons. They also cover migratory bird hunting seasons in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The frameworks prescribe season lengths, bag limits, shooting hours, and outside dates for the hunting of migratory waterfowl. States select their seasons from within the frameworks set by the Service. State regulations may be more restrictive, but not more liberal, than the Federal frameworks.

The final early-seasons after a 4-year suspension, continued Canada goose experimental seasons in Minnesota and Michigan, and Pennsylvania and New York. In addition, a season for the Rocky Mountain population of sandhill cranes will be initiated in Montana.

The Services original proposal was to close the season for Pacific Coast population of band-tailed pigeons; however, based on the public comments received and other information, band-tailed pigeon hunting will continue, but with a shortened, 9-day fall season rather than the 16-day season of last year. The affected states--California, Washington, Oregon, and Nevada--will be required to report harvest and hunter-participation information to the Service. All other frameworks were finalized without change.

Proposed frameworks for the regular hunting season include a duck and coot season of not more than 30 days between October 1, 1992 and January 20, 1993, for all flyways. Generally, proposed shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset daily, and possession limits are twice the daily bag limits. Proposed bag limits are specified by species and flyway. Hunters should check state hunting regulations for specific local information on permits, bag limits, and open areas. Highlights of the proposed regular season frameworks by flyway are as follows:

Central Flyway
(Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, and portions of Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, and Wyoming)

Ducks and Coots--The daily bag limit is three, including no more than two mallards (no more than one of which may be a hen), one mottled duck, one pintail, one redhead, and two wood ducks. A point system is offered as an alternative. The canvasback season is closed. A daily bag limit of five mergansers may be taken, only one of which may be a hooded merganser. The daily bag limit of coots is 15.

Geese--Seasons may be split in to two segments. Framework dates are the Saturday nearest October 1 (October 3, 1992) through January 31, 1993, for dark geese (Canada and white-fronted geese and black brant) and the Saturday nearest October 1 through the Sunday nearest February 15 (February 14, 1993) for light geese (lesser snow and blue, greater snow and Ross' geese). This rule applies to all states in the Central flyway except New Mexico, where the closing date is February 28 for light geese. Bag limits vary by state.

Pacific Flyway
(Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington, and portions of Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, and Wyoming)

Ducks and Coots--The daily bag limit for ducks and mergansers is four, including no more than three mallards (no more than one of which may be a hen), one pintail, and either two canvasbacks, two redheads, or one of each. The daily bag limit for coots and common moorhens is 25, either singly or in the aggregate. Some states may split their season.

Geese--In most cases, a 93-day season may be selected with outside dates between the Saturday nearest October 1 (October 3, 1992) through the Sunday nearest January

20,1993 (January 17, 1993). The basic daily bag and possession limits are six geese, including no more than three light geese and three dark geese. Special regulations apply in California, Washington, and Oregon. There will be no open season on Aleutian Canada geese in the flyway and no open season on cackling geese in California, Washington, and Oregon.

These proposed regulations for late season waterfowl hunting will be printed in the Federal Register and will be open for public comment for a 10-day period on or about August 21. Written comments should be sent to: Director (FWS/MBMO), USFWS/DoI, Room 634, Arlington Square, Washington, D.C. 20240.

AARP's Tax Aide Program Seeks Volunteers

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) Tax Aide volunteers are trained in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service. From February 1 through April 15 each year, more than 27,000 volunteers interested in helping the elderly with their income tax are being recruited by the American Association of Retired Persons. Recycling Videos Available To Teachers

Just in time for the new school year, the Texas General Land Office announced completion of a fun new teaching tool designed to teach new information about Texas' recycling efforts.

"Don't Let A Good Thing Go To Waste...Buy Recycled," is a series of fast-paced videotapes geared toward older elementary school students who are learning about the recycling process. Unlike other recycling teaching materials, "Don't Let A Good Thing Go To Waste...Buy Recycled" colorfully explains why it's important to buy recycled products. The videos, along with supplemental "Buy Recycled" education material, are being offered free to Texas teachers by the GLO.

"Texans have enthusiastically contributed to the recycling process on the front end by sorting and saving recyclables from their garbage," said Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, "but there has been considerably less interest in what happens to that material once consumers 'drop it off' at the curb or the recycling center."

Mauro says that situation has created a backlog in the recycling process. "There aren't enough users of recycled material to absorb the supply."

The educational video series is one part of the larger "Buy Recycled" public awareness campaign mandated by the Texas Legislature.

The series is made up of three 15-minute videos that look at Texas' recycling situation through the eyes of 11-year-old Tony Spencer, who lives in an adult world and works as a TV news reporter. In that role, he meets a number of larger-than-life recycling experts who tell him that without consumer demand, manufacturers won't use recycled material in the making of new products.

Along with the videos, teachers will receive a week's worth of ideas for classroom and homework activities reinforcing the "Buy Recycled" message. Teachers interested in receiving the video package can contact their regional education service centers or call Geoff Wool, Julia Ruiz or Steve Speir at the Texas General Land Office at 512-463-5339 for immediate delivery.

Texas Farm Bureau Report

Instead of locking the doors to 7 state parks, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department should use the millions of dollars the agency has set aside for new land acquisition to keep their existing parks open, according to the president of the Texas Farm Bureau, the states largest farm organization.

"If Texas Parks and Wildlife can't maintain the parks they have now, why should they spend more money on acquiring new land that they're not going to be able to maintain in the future," said S.M. True, a Plainview cotton, grain, and cattle producer.

TP&WD officials have voted to close 7 state parks across the state, citing a lack of operating funds. True said the money is there, it only needs to be re-directed within the agency, without any additional cost to Texas taxpayers.

According to figures released by TP&WD, the agency's estimated capital needs for fiscal years 1993-1998 total $358 million. Of that total, $265 million is dedicated to "acquisition", roughly 74 percent of the agency's funding needs.

"I think there is enough interest in the Texas Legislature to change the situation so that the money earmarked for land purchases can be transferred to cover the operating costs of the parks," he said. "Ninety-eight percent of Texas land is privately owned, and unfortunately, Y&WD is determined to change that."

"They've said they want to 'buy back' Texas. Did they own it before?" True added.

Urban groups have also challenged the agency announcement, asking state officials to spend more money on the development of metropolitan-area park facilities, instead of acquiring large tracts of land in remote regions of West Texas, where few citizens can utilize the resource.

48th Annual Boys Ranch Rodeo To Be Held Labor Day Weekend

Old West excitement returns to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch this Labor Day weekend, when youths of all ages present the 48th Annual Boys Ranch Rodeo.

Riding Broncs, bulls, calves, and steers, about 100 boys will compete for gleaming belt buckles and trophies. Young ladies from Girlstown, in addition to Boys Ranch staff daughters, will be tested on horseback in barrel racing, flag racing, and pole-bending events. A real crowd pleasing event features the youngest cowboys and cowgirls riding stickhorses.

Boys Ranch President Ted Y. Lokey emphasized the rodeo as an enjoyable event for families. "This rodeo is fast-paced, from the colorful Grand Entry to the final exciting bronc ride," he said. Mr. Lokey added that rodeo time is especially meaningful for the many Ranch alumni who return with their families to share reunion activities.

Boys Ranch is located 36 miles northwest of Amarillo, and is the home for nearly 400 youths representing 22 states in the nation. The annual rodeo offers recognition for young contestants. Other youths not riding, help out as rodeo band members, chute helpers, clowns, and by selling refreshments to appreciative fans.

Rodeo action begins at 2:30 Sunday, September 6 and again on Monday, September 7. Barbecue lunches, prepared and served by the boys, are available at a cost of $3.50 per plate at noon each day. Tickets for the rodeo, ranging in price from $1.00 to $3.50, are still available in Amarillo at (806) 372-2341.

Lions Club

Muleshoe Lions Club met Wednesday at noon at the Bailey County Coliseum. Michael Caldwell opened the meeting, members repeated our country's pledge and the invocation was given.

Guests Adrian Meader and Ginger Caldwell were welcomed.

Randy Adair, in charge of the program, introduced the guest speaker, Coach Kyle Cranford. After coaching one semester at Wayland Baptist University as an assistant, Cranford is in his third year of teaching at Muleshoe High School. This is his second year as head Cross-Country Coach. After introducing several of the season's best cross country prospects, Cranford, being very optimistic, commented "We have a possible chance of finishing in the top three at State". After several sly comments were poked at him in fun, he said "I'd like to take that back!" He explained the weekly practice schedule, commenting that Monday afternoons are referred to as "Jutt Day", doing mile repeats, and Tuesday is Recovery Day, as they rest with a six mile run. Week-ends are off, and most of the members of the team do a ten mile run on their own.

A meal consisting of chicken, potato chips, pickles, cole slaw, rolls, coke and ice cream was served by Michael Caldwell.

It was reported that Jackie Demin was still in the hospital recovering, and Ann Johnson would be there to cook the meal for the next meeting if Jackie was unable to do so.

THANK YOU

The Muleshoe Heritage Foundation wishes to express sincere appreciation and thanks to all who helped make the "Saga of Bailey County" a tremendous success:

- Mule-Plex for planning and coordinating the entire celebration - the behind the scenes work on sound, lighting and props gave all the performers the vital support they needed for a job well done; spearheading the publicity kept all informed; and hundreds of phone calls assured the involvement of many;
- The Cast Members who made each performance come alive;
- Jennysippers whose ice cream stand was a hit of young and old alike;
- those who so generously furnished, prepared and served the corn on the cob, beans, cornbread, fresh vegetables, melons and iced tea;
- The SCAC group and others responsible for the old-fashioned soda pop stand;
- All the strong arms that helped in readying the grounds - loading unloading hay bales, tables and chairs; setting up serving lines and bleachers; and preparing the Depot and Janes House for the many people that would see them;
- The News Media (Channel 6, The Muleshoe Journal and the West Texas Ranger) for publicity so generously given;
- The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture for their continued support and manpower;
- and, YOU, who came, enjoyed and proved that, at 75 years old, Bailey County is still going strong.

All proceeds from this extravaganza will further enable the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation to continue its effort of preserving our county history and all roots to the past.

MHS Creative Writing Class Conducts Interviews

The members of the creative writing class at MHS are putting together interviews with the new personnel and students at Muleshoe High School. The interviews are being done so that everyone can get better acquainted with the new people. The interviewers are Jeanne Cox, Monica Clemmons, Amy Garcia, Jenna Glover, Veronica Gonzales, Stacie Harris, Angie King, Eric McElroy, Tracy Puckett, Cari Turner, Woody Villa, Summer Wiley, and Courtney Williams. In future editions, there will be a teacher spotlight featuring all faculty members at MHS. The first section of the interview features new teachers.

Rodney Weis
by Monica Clemmons and Jeanne Cox

"Winning" is every coaches philosophy behind coaching, but this one coach feels that it is also important to implement into the hearts and minds of his students and athletes that, "Life should be an adventure, no one should live their life without knowing their limits". This coach is Rodney Weis, the new assistant football and assistant basketball coach. He was a referee when he decided he would rather be on the sidelines.

Coach Weis moved with miniature schnauzer, Pepper, from Odessa where he taught school and attended Odessa Jr. College.

When he was asked if there was any particular student that stands out in his mind in his coaching experiences, he said, "Those who excel under adverse conditions stick out in my mind the most."

Rodney Weis, born and raised in Denver, Colorado on a small farm, worked hard to keep his family's farm going. When asked what he enjoyed the most, he said that he enjoyed relaxing at home. To conclude the interview with Coach Weis, we asked him to define the meaning of pride, and he said, "Pride is not being ashamed of your accomplishments, and letting your performance speak for itself!"

Coach Stephen Hatfield
by Troy Puckett

To be around kids, and, of course, to help keep himself young are some of the reasons coach Stephen Hatfield became, and is still a teacher. He is "on the move" however, by moving up in age groups. Coach Hatfield is coming to high school from junior high this year. He previously taught P.E. and athletics, and will now teach health at high school for the first time in his four years at Muleshoe. He is also an assistant coach for varsity football and basketball; in addition, he is the girls head track coach.

Coach Hatfield attended high school at Temple Christian in Abeline and graduated from college at Hardin Simmins. There he received his Bach. of Education and was also certified in health.

When asked about the difference in today's teens and when he was a teen, he commented that they don't have as many diversions and were more committed to something as much back then. This led to mentioning how his life's influence was a gentleman by the name of Dolan Brinton, who taught him how to make decisions, helped him through college, and most importantly had confidence in him. This reflects the advice that he wants to give to his students. "Go for the diploma. Commit to something so that maybe some problems will be avoided later in life." He also remembers the teachings and advice of his own parents; they advised him to "Put God first."

Coach Hatfield's future plans are something to look forward to. For his personal life, he would like to someday get married and have a family. His career goals include being a head basketball coach at high school or moving up to the college level. His immediate goals are for Muleshoe: he wants to see all the success that the students could possibly get. Welcome Coach Hatfield to M.H.S. and wish him lots of luck.

Mrs. Jacinda Kay Langen
by Eric McIlroy

When Mrs. Jacinda Kay Langen walks gracefully down the halls at M.H.S., one would never know that she had fallen off her horse at a break-away calf roping event at Clarendon, Texas. That did happen to her, though, and she feels that this is her most embarrassing moment. All of that is past history, and we welcome Mrs. Langen to M. H. S.

Mrs. Langen is the new Assistant head Varsity girls basketball coach and a History teacher here at MHS. She was born on December 13, 1968, in Happy, Texas. Some of her great childhood memories are when her two sisters and her brother would be outside playing on the farm where she grew up. Mrs. Langen said she had a real close relationship with her siblings.

While in High School, she participated in basketball, cheerleading, NHS, and she was also on the Rodeo team. She feels her greater experiences were going to state as a member of the UIL Journalism team and making the All-State basketball team. She said she achieved these awards by working very hard at these pursuits. When asked what one thing about her life she would change, she stated that she would have played college basketball. She did, however attend and graduate from West Texas State University.

Currently, she lives in Muleshoe with her husband Randy, and her two schnauzers Eugene and Chole. She said she really likes it here. For free time, she enjoys playing basketball, going water and snow skiing, and riding horses. When listening to music, Mrs. Langen enjoys both country and rock and roll. She especially likes Def Leopard and Garth Brooks.

We hope Mrs. Langen's stay in Muleshoe proves to be a positive experience for her and her students.

Randy Adair
by Angie King and Jonna Glover

When asked what he would have been if he had not been a coach, Randy Adair replied, "I'd be ashamed". He brings this obvious love of coaching to Muleshoe as our new Athletic Director. Under his guidance, MHS athletics will no doubt undergo many changes.

Experience is one of Coach Adair's strongest assets. With twenty years of coaching history, his love for the kids and the competition is evident. Beginning his career at Leander High School, a 3A school outside of Austin, he moved up the ladder of success. Nine years as an assistant involved four moves. Then Coach Adair landed his first head coaching job at Lindale, Tx. After then becoming head coach at Texas High at Texarkana, Coach Adair needed to move closer to his ill dad. This factor brought about his move to McCamey. Then to begin his twenty-first year as a coach, Randy Adair came to Muleshoe. Coming from a family with coaching adds to the experience he brings to MHS. He said that receiving letters from old players who have become successful in life, is what makes him feel good about his coaching. Also all of his childhood heroes were coaches. Coach Adair has a great amount of knowledge about athletics and the game of life. Coach Adair's outlook on life is summed up by his statement, "The best thing about coaching is the experience not the fame."

Coach Adair's love for sports led him into one of the most important times of his life. He played college football for Howard Payne University in Brownwood, TX. This experience began with a scholarship and led to many lessons and good times. This football scholarship led him to attend college tuition free. During this time he met his wife. The best playing experience he had was when Howard Payne beat McMurray University for the Lone Star Conference championship. At the time, McMurray was ranked third in the division II in the collegiate competition. This victory enabled him to remove the string from his finger and replace it with a championship ring. The string around his finger that represented the championship ring proves Coach Adair's desire to be a winner. He feels that sports has done more for him than anything in the world.

Believe it or not, Coach Randy Adair actually has a personal life. He is happily married to Sandy Adair. They have two sons named Joe and Jake. His favorite color is silver. He is also a lover of cajun food although he says he will eat anything. Ballinger, TX, is where he considers home. Coach Adair's interests include hunting, fishing, golfing, and cooking. But, of course, we can not overlook his love for sports. His favorite traveling places are Sante Fe, Taos, and Durango. Also, if allowed to do anything in this world he would choose to fly a fighter jet off an aircraft carrier. What a dream! Someday, Coach Adair would like to coach college football. The complexity of his personality adds to the love and respect felt toward Coach Adair.

When asked what he considered his strongest qualities, Randy Adair replied, "Oh Gosh"! But when he finally answered the qualities stated were evident. They were his capacity to endure and preserve. Those qualities are reflected in his positive attitude. He believes in learning from his mistakes and striving on. Coach Randy Adair is extremely happy living in the town of Muleshoe, Tx. And when he stated, "This is the happiest I have ever been," the sincerity in his eyes was obvious. Muleshoe High School is lucky to have such a positive role model in the eyes of their students.

Jhona Bendickson
by Courtney Williams

If Jhona Bendickson had been in charge of desert storm, Saddam Hussein would probably be dead. In fact, when asked what she could do to change the world she replied, "I would change the situation in Iraq and destroy the country".

Though teaching is nothing like fighting a war, sometimes it probably feels that way to this new staff member at Muleshoe High School. Jhona Bendickson, a graduate from Eastern New Mexico University, believes that the key to teaching is liking teenagers. She not only likes teenagers, but enjoys being around all kinds of kids. Her mother was also a teacher and seemed to have the most influence on Mrs. Bendickson's life. Jhona Bendickson feels that teenagers of the nineties are more aware of politics and more adapted to change than the teenagers of her time.

If Mrs. Bendickson could re-live one day of her entire life, she said it would have to be June 6, 1991. This was the birthdate of her second son, Kyle. On this day, she was able to hear Kyle's first cry when he was born. She missed out on her first son's cry, because she had him by c-section. One important moral her parents taught her was to always be honest; this is something Jhona Bendickson has never forgotten.

Mrs. Bendickson's current teaching position is at Muleshoe High School in the resource department. We hope her experience here is a peaceful time rather than a "war zone".

Jim Guhlkey
by Summer Wiley and Cari Turner

Can you imagine this day? You are the coach of Happy's varsity boys basketball team. You have a game Thursday night. Thursday afternoon you find out that your starting point guard is sick. You have to replace him with one of your J.V. players and hope that you don't have to play him, because he will not be able to play the J.V. game on Friday night. When you arrive at Hart, you take the boys out and one of your starting wings tells you that he doesn't feel too good--you ignore him. When you get to the gym, your other starting wing turns his ankle on his way to the dressing room. You tape it up and hope for the best. The game starts and within the first minute, both of your wings have fouled. So, throughout the game, you switch them in and out, until one of them fouls out. By the end of the game, you have only three players to their five. And then, to top it all off with, you hit a cow on the way home! Well, this is what happened to our new varsity girls basketball coach, Jim Guhlkey. When he told us about this outstanding day in his life, the

Country Music Association Of Texas Opens New Doors

The Country Music Association of Texas has now opened its statewide headquarters in Salado, Texas. The building is located on IH 35 on the Westside access road next to the Hojo Inn. The new location will feature the Cen Tex Opry, the CMAT Hall of Fame, and a county store/snack bar as well as a central Texas tourist information center.

Rebates For Texas Farm Bureau Members

Hot summer deals on Ford F-Series pickups and Broncos have led to over $1 million in rebates to Texas Farm Bureau members as of Aug. 28, according to Bob Lee of Carrollton, Southwest Regional Marketing Manager for Ford Motor Co. The TFB-Ford Rebate Program, which began March 1 and runs through Feb. 28, 1993, allows a TFB member in good standing to receive a special $500 rebate for the purchase of a new or unused 1991, 1992 or 1993 F-Series pickup truck or Bronco. To be eligible, a member must have joined TFB prior to Feb. 29, 1992. As of Aug. 28, 2,149 trucks or Broncos had been sold through the program to Texas Farm Bureau members, resulting in $1,074,500 in rebates to those members. "This has been a great program for the membership," said TFB Executive Director Vernie R.

Glasson. "Ford has a good truck and a good reputation. We're delighted to be working with Ford in offering this tremendous benefit." Lee said he anticipates continued good participation in the rebate program. "We encourage Farm Bureau members to get the best offer from a local dealer and then go for the rebate offered by Texas Farm Bureau and Ford," he said. World Bank The World Bank, the biggest source of loans to countries needing aid, has been getting more money back from borrowers than it's been lending for the past five years.

Ten Free Trees

Ten free trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during September 1992. The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign. The ten trees are the Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce. "These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between October 15 and December 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge. Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's news magazine, Arbor Day, which includes regular features about tree planting and care. To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to TEN TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation,

Real Estate Exchange Under Section 1031

(College Station, Texas) According to Federal Income Tax law, real property held for trade, business, or investment may be exchanged to defer capital gains taxes until a bona fide sale takes place. Section 1031 of the Internal Revenue Code allows owners to dispose of such property without paying taxes on accrued capital gains in the year of disposition.

"An investor may have deferred paying taxes on appreciating real estate assets for years. If that investor wants to restructure the portfolio by selling those assets, sizable taxes may be due," says Jack C. Harris, research economist with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University. "An exchange following the requirements of Section 1031 could provide tax relief."

though other participant do not qualify.

"Elimination of favorable capital gains treatment under the 1986 Tax Reform Act enhanced tax deferral's value. But while tax deferred exchanges hold many benefits, they may not be for everyone," says Harris. "In some cases, future taxes on the exchanged property's subsequent sale may be higher. Also, because losses, as well as gains, are deferred, exchanges generally are not recommended for property that has declined in value.

The advantages and pitfalls of tax-deferred exchange are discussed

VLB Reduces Interest Rate On Home Loans

The Texas Veterans Land Board (VLB) has reduced the interest rate on veterans home loans made through participating VLB lenders to 6.99 percent interest - the lowest rate offered by the board since the home loan program began in 1983.

"Lowering the interest rate to 6.99 percent makes our home loan program the first place to look for financing if you're a veteran in the market for a home," said Garry Mauro, chairman of the VLB. "It's far and away the best deal in today's market if you're a Texas vet.

"Today's rate reduction places us well below the VA, FHA, and conventional rates," Mauro said.

Mauro urged any Texas veteran thinking about a home loan to call the VLB at 1-800-252-VETS for assistance.

"These changes mean thousands of additional veterans can now find quality, affordable housing," Mauro said. "For example, the new rate means the monthly payment on an $80,000 home financed with a $45,000 Texas veterans home loan at 6.99 percent combined with a $35,000 federal VA loan at 7.5 percent would be $544.00.

"That's a savings of $5600 over the life of a 30-year note on the same house financed solely with a VA loan at 7.5 percent," Mauro said.

The board also reduced the interest rate on home improvement loans made to Texas veterans from 9.25 percent to 7.60 percent. The 7.99 percent interest rate charged on veterans land loans will remain the same.

The new rates cannot be used for refinancing.

"The rate reduction will result in substantial savings for Texas veterans struggling with the rising costs of home ownership," Mauro said. "It can make a real difference in how much home a young couple can afford and whether or not they can qualify for a loan."

New legislation raised the ceiling on a home loan a veteran can receive through the VLB to $45,000. But veterans are not limited to homes in that price range. Those who want to buy a home costing more than $45,000 can combine their VLB home loan with a FHA, VA or conventional loan to purchase a higher priced home.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The local telephone industry is celebrating "National Small Independent Telephone Company Week," September 14-20, 1992. Small independent telephone companies have been providing this country with quality telephone services at reasonable rates for more than 100 years. They also have a strong record of community involvement.

We have prepared the attached written piece which you will find useful as you cover this important event. It contains a camera-ready article, quotes from telephone industry leaders, a question and answer piece and other pertinent information about small telephone companies. Please feel free to use any of the material or call me if you have any further questions.

Sincerely,

The following is a list of questions and answers, with more information following in the next edition of the Muleshoe Journal.

Q. I thought the Bell companies were the only providers of telephone service. How many small independent telephone companies are there?

A. There are more than 1,000 small telephone companies whose service areas cover more than 50 percent of our nation. Small telephone companies have been serving many small towns and rural communities for over 100 years. Initially, it was only the smaller telephone companies that would operate in areas that were not as economically efficient to serve.

Q. Where are most small telephone companies located?

A. Small telephone companies can be found in 48 of the 50 states. While most of these companies serve rural communities, some are located in the fast-growing smaller cities and expanding suburbs. Iowa alone, for example, has 153 small telephone companies.

Q. What makes small telephone companies so unique?

A. Few Americans actually realize the unique role small telephone companies play in making our nation's telecommunications network the finest and most efficient system in the world. Today, small telephone companies offer their customers a wide range of telecommunications options. Business and residential customers can take advantage of a host of new services including cable television, data transmission and mobile communications. Small telephone companies are working to ensure that rural Americans are full participants in the "Information Age."

Q. What are small telephone companies doing to keep up with advances in technology?

A. Local telephone companies have made a commitment to provide quality telephone service at a reasonable cost. In addition, small telephone companies recognize that our nation's economic and social well-being has become increasingly dependent on our ability to disseminate information in a quick and reliable fashion. That's why they continue to invest in new technology. Some are deploying fiber optics which makes it possible for educators in rural areas to offer two-way interactive video classes. These so-called distance learning programs allow teachers at one school to instruct students at other schools located miles away. This type of technology is helping to revitalize our classrooms.

Q. Why are small telephone companies necessary?

A. Small telephone companies provide a vital service that ensures that even Americans living in the most remote areas have access to dependable and affordable telephone service. Small companies and their employees often serve as leaders in their community and have made a valuable contribution to the social and economical well being of our nation. Without their participation, many Americans would have far fewer telecommunications options.

Q. What will be the role of small telephone companies in the future?

A. As America approaches the 21st century, small independent telephone companies can and should remain in the forefront of the telecommunications industry. Small telephone companies will continue to provide quality telephone and advanced information services which someday will include voice, video and data.

MICROWAVE TIPS

Fully cooked hams don't need further cooking but need to be warmed.

For warming in a microwave, use a cooking bag with 1/2 cup of water in a baking dish, loosely tied. Microwave on Medium half the cooking time (10 to 16 minutes per pound), turning ham over after half the time.

Let ham stand in closed bag for five to ten minutes.

The majestic serenity of the cross is a marvelous thing to behold. Nowhere throughout the pages of history do we find a symbol which has meant more to man than the cross. The early Christians carried it before them as they were driven to their deaths in the blood-stained Roman arenas. The Crusaders under its banner turned back the infidel enemy from the shores of Europe. During the cruel Nazi occupation of France, the Cross of Lorraine was the rallying point of all who fought against tyranny.

The church, your church, is the bulwark behind which the freedom loving people of the world have always gathered and through their combined efforts and the guidance of Almighty God have marched triumphant against every enemy of mankind. The church needs you, but more importantly... you need your church.

The Sign of God

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
