LONG DISTANCE PHONE FOR DEL RIO.

Lone Star Telephone Company Building To This City. Work On Line Being Pushed.

Mr. C. W. O'Dell, our hustling telephone man, has been trying for the past two years to get Del Rio connected with some long distance telephone company. His efforts have at last proven successful. He has made a deal with the Lone Star Telephone Co. to build to Del Rio. Mr. O'Dell will run a line out to the city limits and meet them and connect with their line.

The Lone Star Telephone Co. under the management of Mr. J. A. Dean is now building a line from Brackett to Del Rio. When this line is completed, they expect to build a line to Eagle Pass and from Eagle Pass to Uvalde. At Uvalde they will connect with a line running out to Batesville, and also with the Rock Springs line, which gives us connection with the outside world, as there is a line from Rock Springs to Sonora, and from Sonora to San Angelo. The following letter to Mr. O'Dell will show that the work on the Brackett-Del Rio line is being pushed.

Brackett, Texas.
Aug. 15, '05.
Mr. C. W. O'Dell,
Del Rio, Texas,
Dear Sir:

Yours of the 11th. at hand, and must say I thank you very much for your encouragement, and wish to say that I have met Mr. Price and find him to be a nice gentleman. He is taking a great interest in both the telephone line and system. My custom with editors is to give them all new items gratis.

We now have 275 poles on the ground. They are 15 feet long and not less than 4 inches in diameter at the top. We have been put to considerable inconvenience on account of the Mexicans teams all being busy hauling for the post. I will leave for Barksdale this morning to get my own teams, so we can move on with the work without waiting on Mexicans. Our wire on the lines will be No. 12. We are putting posts 80 yds. apart. Will make a ground circuit until we get it in operation, then put in posts between and string another wire, making it full metallic line with posts 40 yds. apart, thereby making it the best metallic circuit in Texas.

We are building from 1 to 1-1-8 mile per day. Hooper has gone back on us, which has cut our force somewhat. However, we have never used his force on this line. I will bring four more good men back with me to put on the work, will also have our pole choppers with us soon.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I am,

Yours Truly,

J. A. Dean.

We are informed that Mr. Dean thoroughly understands his business, and is a nice clever gentleman. He is spending thousands of dollars in building the lines mentioned and the citizens of Del Rio should fully appreciate his effort and throw the Lone Star Telephone company all the business possible.—Del Rio Herald.

Oldest White Woman in Texas.

A special of recent date from Red Rock, Texas, has the following:

"Grandma Smith, who, if she had lived until Jan. 1st next, would have been 102 years old, is dead here. She was born in 1804, in the State of Georgia, and came to Texas in early days. Her eldest daughter is nearly 80 years old, and her youngest 60 years. She leaves a host of grand children and great and great great grand children. She was in full possession of her mental faculties up to within a short time of her death. She could vividly recollect many events of the war of 1812, and remembered seeing the British troops march past her home. She was no doubt the oldest white person in the State."

We're All Liars.

Walt's Graphophone. We living in the age of misrepresentation. Villages are called towns, and towns are called cities, common schools are called high schools, high schools are called universities.

Every man with a thousand dollars is called a capitalist and capitalists are called trust magnates. Every thirty-cent politician is called a leading public man and leading public men are called statesmen. Everything turned out of a medical college is called a doctor, and ordinary doctors are called specialists.

Every fifty-cent dudelet around town is called "a promising young man," while in fact he isn't worth fifteen cents in dog meat, and every old dodger is called "one of our most valuable citizens," when in fact the community would be better off without him.

A good way to kill a town and keep it killed is for persons who have interests there ought to be sounding its praises to be constantly harping about it being a "dead town." Such songs would paralyze the best town on earth. Many a man is now in his grave by his friends constantly telling him how bad he looked. If you don't like the town in which you live move away where you will be satisfied. If you haven't the money to go with, go to work and earn it. Get your mind on your work and off your troubles about the town, it is you Mr. Grumbler, who is all wrong and "dead" not the town.—Clifton Record

"I never took a paper that didn't pay me more than I paid for it," said a retired New York merchant the other day to a reporter. "Once an old friend of mine started a paper away down 'south, and sent a copy to me, and I subscribed just to encourage him. After a while it published a notice of an order to sell a lot at public auction. I inquired about the lot and then wrote to my friend to run it up to $50. He bid me off the lot $38, and sold it in a month for $100, so I made $62 clear by taking that paper. My father told me that when he was a young man he saw a notice in the paper that a school teacher was wanted away off in a distant county. He went and got the position, and a little girl was sent to school to him, and after a while she grew up sweet and beautiful, and he married her. Now, if he hadn't taken that paper what do you suppose would become of me? I would have been some other fellow; or maybe I wouldn't have been at all."

When the conductor enters the first class carriage to see the tickets, he takes off his cap and says in German: 'If you please, will you me your tickets show!' When he comes into the second class carriage he says; 'Tickets, if you please,' and when you hand them over he gives them back with a military salute, but keeps his cap on. When he comes into the third class carriage he simply says: 'Tickets!'"

His Ideal

She used to be a maiden who had fawn-like eyes, and in her hair those golden tints that shimmer through—the painter's envy and despair.

Her long, dark lashes had to curl, her cheeks were red, her ankles slim, her lips ripe fruit reserved for him; she used to be in form and face the vision that the poet sees.

When, gazing into distant space, he yields to splendid rhapsodies.

The hair he brushes from his brow is thinner than it was of yore; once twenty, he is forty now, and worldlier than he was before.

The golden maiden may be fair, she may be youthful and demure, she may have graces sweet and rare—but she must not be proud and poor!

She may possess an upturned nose and twisted teeth and wear a switch, and have a squint and pigeon-toes—provided that her father's rich.

A MODERN PRISCILLA

BY W. M. DURHAM

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Priscilla stood at the window gazing listlessly out into the gathering shadows and the falling rain. Her father, the judge, stood before the fire with his hands clasped behind him. There was a frown upon his brow and for a moment an embarrassing silence seemed to fill the room, then the judge cleared his throat and remarked:

"I am sure that I feel the honor of such a proposal, if you do not," he said seriously. "I have known them—father and son—for forty years. They have family position, social prestige and wealth. What more can a girl expect or desire?" and he peered over the top of his glasses at the girl near the window.

"But I don't know him. I have never seen him—besides—"

"Besides—what?" demanded the judge, almost sternly.

"Besides I don't want to know him—or see him either," replied the girl, determinedly. "And it is not right for you to expect me to encourage such a proposal after what I have told you."

"After what you have told me!" repeated the judge, impatiently. "Do you suppose that I am going to encourage, much less allow, you to receive the attention of a stranger—a man of whom I know absolutely nothing? If you have formed any such idea, you are very greatly mistaken in your father."

"For a moment the girl made no reply, but stood tapping her fingers idly against the window; then, turning suddenly to her father, she said brokenly:

"But he is coming to-night to—to see you about—"

"About what?" demanded the judge, angrily.

"Me!"

"Humph!" he retorted. "Do you think for a moment that it will do him any good? The idea! I have other hopes and ambitions for my daughter than to encourage or allow the attentions of a man of whose antecedents I am ignorant—a mere adventurer perhaps."

"An adventurer!" cried the girl, spiritedly. "I hardly think that your daughter, much less my aunt—your own sister—would have allowed such an introduction if it were so, which he is not."

"And so that is why you refuse to favor or consider this proposal of John Howard—"

"Yes!" interrupted the girl quickly. "In his letter he writes me that he will call upon me this evening to obtain my permission to—ahem, to pay—"

"Besides—what?" demanded the judge.

"His respects to my daughter. What shall I tell him?"

"Tell him—No!" replied the girl, promptly. "Tell him there is another, and he, too, is coming here to-night to ask you the same question."

"If he does," ejaculated the old man passionately, "I shall tell him 'No' mighty quick—and feel justified in doing it too," and he stopped suddenly and glanced sharply over at the girl, who had started nervously at the sharp clang of the bell, then for a moment they stood there, father and daughter, looking straight into each other's eyes, then the girl stepped to

The old man made no reply, but shut his lips tightly together and stood glaring angrily at the fire as the door opened and the butler entered the room, closely followed by a young man in a rain-soaked coat, and then the butler vanished, and the door was closed, and the girl stood crouching half way up the stairs in the gathering darkness and shadows, waiting and wondering which one of them it was,

Ladies Crossed Over Pontoon.

M. Bertreux, the French minister of war, is a man of resource. It rained the other day in Paris with a remorseless fury. There was an exhibition of fencing which drew all Paris and when it was over the ladies found the street turned into a lake. How were they to cross? All the military men, especially the engineers, were nonplused. Then the minister had an inspiration. He sent some soldiers for chairs and a double line of these was made across the street like a pontoon. Each distracted dame took the hand of a soldier and was conveyed over—the spectacle affording much gratification to the rest of the company.

ARCTIC EXPLORERS SAVED BY RELIEF EXPEDITION

ZIEGLER ARCTIC SHIP AMERICA, ANTHONY FIALA, HEAD OF THE EXPEDITION, AND MAP OF REGION IN WHICH VESSEL WAS CRUSHED.

(Star on map marks approximate locality in which the America was crushed by ice late in 1903.)

After having been cut off from the world in the Arctic since July, 1903, thirty-seven members of the Fiala-Ziegler polar expedition have been rescued by the steamer Terra Nova, and landed at Henningsaag, Norway.

All the members of the crew of the ship America, which was crushed in the ice early in the winter of 1903-4, have returned in good health in spite of their harrowing experience, with the exception of one Norwegian sailor, who died from natural causes.

The members of the Fiala arctic expedition have arrived in Norway, and it is announced by the trustees of the Ziegler estate that no more expeditions will be sent out in the name of Ziegler. The return of the members of the Fiala expedition, therefore, will mean the end of the work begun by the Baldwin expedition in 1901.

The first Ziegler expedition, under command of Evelyn B. Baldwin, sailed in 1901 for the Franz Josef archipelago, north of Nova Zembla, in the belief that the land of that group approached nearer the pole than any other land of the north polar region. Peary, on the other hand, believed that the northern portion of Greenland was nearer the pole than any other land, and all his explorations have been conducted from the Greenland coast.

The Baldwin expedition of 1901 was equipped to reach the pole. Baldwin's plan was to establish a base on the northernmost land of the Franz Josef archipelago, spend his first winter there, and make a dash for the pole in the spring from Rudolf Land. Baldwin was not able to get farther north in the fall of 1901 than Camp Ziegler, 80 degrees and 23 minutes north, and he did not make the dash to the pole.

Disappointed over results, Mr. Ziegler organized another expedition, under command of Anthony Fiala, who had been a member of the Baldwin expedition. It was expected that Fiala, taking advantage of his experience in the Baldwin expedition, would sail directly to the point where the stores had been left by Baldwin and lose no time in making a dash to the pole.

It now appears that before the time fixed for the dash to the pole Fiala's ship was crushed in the ice in Schiltz bay, and that for over a year the members of the expedition were held prisoners by the arctic climate, subsisting on stores left by previous expeditions, until rescued by the Ziegler relief expedition under William S. Champ, which left Norway in May.

The Baldwin expedition failed of its main object because of the ice that blocked all the channels of Franz Josef Land. The Fiala expedition failed to do its appointed dash north because its vessel was crushed by ice. Meantime Commander Peary is proceeding in a specially constructed vessel for the waters of northern Greenland, from which he expects to work his way to the northernmost point ever reached by any vessel and then cross the ice to the pole.

IRON ORE SUPPLY FAILING.

World's Store May Not Suffice for the Demands Made Upon It.

The amount of iron ores still available is very great, doubtless many times, perhaps twenty-fold, as great as has been won to use. Yet already in the continent of Europe the fields long in service are beginning to be exhausted. Great Britain has practically consumed its store, which a century ago seemed ample. Practically all the supply for its furnaces is now imported.

The supply from the Mediterranean, that promised to be inexhaustible, can not endure for many decades to come. The same is the condition of the ore districts of central Europe. At the rate of the increasing demand they are not likely to meet the demands of 100 years. There remain extensive deposits of rich ores in the Scandinavian peninsula and in fields of the confines of Belgium and France which have hardly begun to be drawn upon, yet it is evident that at anything like the present rate of increase in the consumption of metallic iron in Europe the sources of supply are not likely to endure for a century.

Best-placed field for the production of iron in North America, or, save that in northern China. In the world, is in the central section of the Mississippi valley, mainly between the great river and the Appalachian system of mountains and northward beyond the great lakes to the headwaters of the streams flowing into Hudson's bay. The physical conditions on the whole being favorable for the cheap production of the metal and its ready transportation to the principal markets. It is a question, however, if the store will supply the demands of the future.

Jewess Wife of Ruse Diplomat.

In selecting a wife M. De Witte, Russia's chief representative in the peace negotiations, chose a Jewess, one of the race which has been treated so cruelly in his country. Mme. De Witte was formerly the wife of a subordinate official, but she secured a divorce and has been very happy in her second marriage in spite of the fact that she has never been received at court. She also has been ignored by the leading society women in St. Petersburg, notwithstanding the high position her husband has held.

Beneath Gardener's Dignity.

They have a story in New York of an English gardener who was brought over by one of the newly rich. The employer had several unmarried daughters and the gardener was told to devote most of his time to the tennis lawn. He is a gardener of the old school and before long became disgusted on noticing how many young men came to tennis and tea. He resigned his position and on being asked for a reason said: "Well, sir, this is not 'orticulture I'm doin'." It's mere 'usbandy'."

MORE LAND FOR BRITAIN.

Immense Empire Recently Added to King Edward's Domains.

By a recent arbitration an area of 300,000 square miles, considerably larger than France, has been added to the British empire, and yet the world at large has hardly heard of the event. Barotsi, the territory in question, is in Central Africa, lying south of the Congo Free State and west of Northern Rhodesia. Its importance rests on the fact that through it run the upper waters of the Zambesi river, here navigable although far above the Victoria falls. The rival claimant was Portugal, and the arbitrator was the King of Italy. Lewanika, the native ruler of Barotsi, was a picturesque guest at the coronation of Edward VII, and he has long been under a sort of semi-protectorate by the British. The arbitration, however, splits his dominions in two, the other section passing to Portugal, and it remains to be seen how the dusky monarch will take this curtailment of his tribal authority. The Barotsi race are brave, and, thanks to French mission effort, well advanced along the paths of civilization.

When He Quits Coffee.

Life Insurance Companies will not insure a man suffering from heart trouble. The reason is obvious. This is a serious matter to the husband or father who is solicitous for the future of his dear ones. Often the heart trouble is caused by an unexpected thing and can be corrected if taken in time and properly treated. A man in Colorado writes:

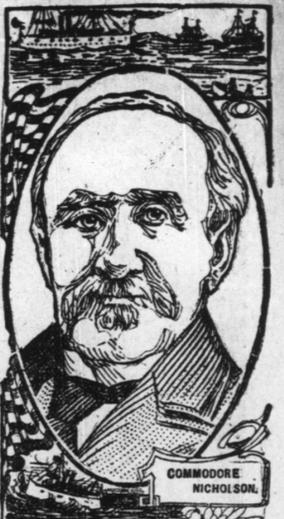

"I was a great coffee drinker for many years, and was not aware of the injurious effects of the habit till I became a practical invalid, suffering from heart trouble, indigestion and nervousness to an extent that made me wretchedly miserable myself and a nuisance to those who witnessed my sufferings.

"I continued to drink Coffee, however, not suspecting that it was the cause of my ill-health, till, on applying for life insurance I was rejected on account of the trouble with my heart. Then I became alarmed. I found that leaving off coffee helped me quickly, so I quit it altogether and having been attracted by the advertisements of Postum Food Coffee I began its use.

"The change in my condition was remarkable, and it was not long till I was completely cured. All my ailments vanished. My digestion was completely restored, my nervousness disappeared, and, most important of all, my heart steadied down and became normal, and on a second examination I was accepted by the life insurance Co. Quitting Coffee and using Postum worked the cure." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason, and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

Well organized postal services, high roads colleges and libraries existed, and there was "ample evidence that monarchs were anxious to protect the trade of the country."

"I was a great coffee drinker for many years, and was not aware of the injurious effects of the habit till I became a practical invalid, suffering from heart trouble, indigestion and nervousness to an extent that made me wretchedly miserable myself and a nuisance to those who witnessed my sufferings.

"I continued to drink Coffee, however, not suspecting that it was the cause of my ill-health, till, on applying for life insurance I was rejected on account of the trouble with my heart. Then I became alarmed. I found that leaving off coffee helped me quickly, so I quit it altogether and having been attracted by the advertisements of Postum Food Coffee I began its use.

"The change in my condition was remarkable, and it was not long till I was completely cured. All my ailments vanished. My digestion was completely restored, my nervousness disappeared, and, most important of all, my heart steadied down and became normal, and on a second examination I was accepted by the life insurance Co. Quitting Coffee and using Postum worked the cure." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason, and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

HEART RIGHT

Charity covers a multitude of sins, but it doesn't remove them.

When He Quits Coffee.

Life Insurance Companies will not insure a man suffering from heart trouble. The reason is obvious. This is a serious matter to the husband or father who is solicitous for the future of his dear ones. Often the heart trouble is caused by an unexpected thing and can be corrected if taken in time and properly treated. A man in Colorado writes:

IRRITABLE ON THE BENCH.

Retiring Irish Judge Noted for His Ill Temper.

After a service of nearly thirty years as recorder of Dublin, Sir Frederick Falkiner is about to retire at the age of 74.

Sir Frederick is noted throughout Ireland as one of the most irritable judges upon the bench, and he is not slow to uncoil the vials of his wrath when anything in the handling of a case evokes his displeasure.

In his earlier days he was constantly in hot water, but it was found that his bark was worse than his bite, and after a while the counsel practising in his court learned to receive with stolidity his tirades of abuse.

It was astonishing to a chance visitor to behold a recorder dressing down a lawyer who stood silent before the torrent of words, but the lawyer well knew that before the court closed the recorder would make amends for his outbreak by singing the unfortunate's attorney to be the recipient of some marked compliment.

The retirement of Sir Frederick will remove from the Irish bench one of its most picturesque figures, but his memory will live in the legal fraternity through the good stories told of his outbreaks and apologies.

Seeking the Woodchuck Story.

One day, while passing through the girls' department of the New Hampshire Orphans' Home, located on the old Daniel and Ezekiel Webster homestead in Franklin, N. H., I observed a little girl intently turning the leaves of the Bible, at the book of Daniel, says a writer in the Boston Herald.

"What are you looking for, my little girl?" I asked.

"I am trying to find the story about Daniel and the woodchuck," she replied.

"I hardly think you will find it there, I said.

"Well," she exclaimed, "perhaps I can find it in Ezekiel," and she at once turned to the book of Ezekiel, and continued her search.

Every housekeeper should know that if they will buy Defiance Cold Water Starch for laundry use they will save not only time, because it never sticks to the iron, but because each package contains 16 oz.—one full pound—while all the other Cold Water Starches are put up in 3-4-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then, again, because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz. package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 ozs." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

Her head and body was a mass of sores, and she despaired of recovery. Finally, after spending hundreds of dollars on doctors, growing worse all the time, living in misery for years, with hair whitened from suffering and body terribly disfigured, she was completely cured by two cakes of Cuticura Soap, five boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent.—Geo. Hon. J. S. Morin, recent Republican candidate for congress in this district, died at Ft. Clark last Friday night from stabs inflicted by Frank Gastring. Mr. Morin was raised in west Texas, beginning life as a cowboy, and by close study and hard work rose to a lofty position in life. He was essentially a self-made man. A perfect gentleman, generous to a fault, at all times ready to lend a helping hand to a deserving individual or a worthy public cause, he had endeared himself to the people of Brackett and made many staunch friends throughout the State, who are deeply grieved at his untimely and tragic death. We regret to note that one or two of our exchanges comment with levity upon the proposed lessons of Jos. O. Brenner, the editor of the Floresville Chronicle, that, having tasted the drops of the "moving bow" and quaffed the full bitterness of "dual dabacher", he has "now and forever foresworn the use of all intoxicants." A man who is so uncharitable, low and bestial as to make ght of and scoff at an honest effort to reform, is capable of trafficking in a sister's virtue or dancing in ghastly glee upon a mother's grave.—Del Rio Mirror.

How Morgan Lost $55,000.

J. Pierpont Morgan went down to the pier to meet a friend who had been abroad for nearly a year. It developed that this passenger had made purchases for Mr. Morgan to the amount of several thousands of dollars, and the customs duties were a little over $500. Like Mr. Carnegie, Mr. Morgan is always "rocke". He never has more than $50 with him at one time. Despite his previous experiences with the customs officials he tendered a check for the amount of the duty and it was refused. The official could do nothing else, as checks are not received for customs. Then Mr. Morgan sent a clerk down to his office for the money. After a wait of exactly fifty-five minutes the clerk returned with the money and the property was released. Mr. Morgan told an Englishman that his time was worth $1,000 a minute, and the delay at the pier, therefore, cost him $55,000, as he was unable to do any business while waiting on the slow-grinding but inexorable mill of Uncle Sam. The story of Morgan's $1,000-a-minute time came in the boat which bore his friend to this port. It appears that an English journalist, with more than the native enterprise, sought an interview with the financier. His card was returned with the verbal message: "Mr. Morgan says that his time is worth $1,000 a minute, and he cannot afford to waste it." The Britisher thereupon drew some pound notes from his pocketbook and sent it back to Mr. Morgan with the note: "In closest payment for three minutes of your time." Morgan liked the joke so well that he took the scribe in and gave him a good round talk, returning the money when he had finished.

On To Sonora and Spofford Junction.

The Orient surveyors who pitched their camp near Ben Ficklin Saturday started Monday morning on their survey toward Spofford Junction through Eldorado and Sonora. Chief Engineer Millington permitted some of the crew to come to San Angelo on Sunday, but requested all to be at the camp ready for work the following morning. Mr. Millington left the camp Sunday afternoon to go ahead of the men, getting the lay of the land left instructions that the men should follow.

The crew are working on the survey made before by Eldorado to Sonora. At least they started in that direction but whether they will continue all the way over the same route remains to be seen. Mr. Millington refused to divulge any of his new orders and said that he was not at liberty to do so.—San Angelo Daily Standard.

It is rumored that another baseball league is to be gotten up.

Troop H 1st cavalry has a fine new graphophone and music is in the air.

Private Soper, ban 1, 1st Cavalry was discharged per expiration of term of service Aug 19th.

1st Sgt. Arms troop E 1st Cav. has resigned his position as 1st Sgt. and Sgt. Collier appointed in his stead.

All that were reported on the sick list last week are fast improving except Captain C. O. W. Goode who is suffering very much with a sprained ankle.

Private Robert Danforth troop F 1st cavalry is relieved from special duty in the Post Exchange and private Wayland L. Newton troop E 1st cavalry is detailed in his stead.

Sgt. Vincent, troop F 1st Cav. who has been with the Army team at Ft. Riley, returned Saturday and reported to his post commander for duty. Vincent was 15th place on the Army team.

The following appointments is announced in troop F 1st cavalry to take effect Aug. 16th 1905: To be corporal, private Herbert G. Mills vice Kowlands discharged.

Mr. Geyer formerly sergeant, of troop E who was discharged a few weeks ago re-initiated Thursday 17th and was appointed Sgt. to troop E 1st cavalry to rank as such from Thursday August 22nd 1905.

The 1st squadron 1st cavalry (troops A, B, C and D) under command of Captain Wright left Friday for a few days practice march returning Sunday. The 2nd squadron 1st cavalry expects to go out today for the same length of practice march.

The following detachment from the 2nd squadron went to Eagle Pass Sunday to relieve the detachment here in charge: Sgt. Kanuse troop B in charge, corporal Thompson troop E, privates Abbott, Becker and Oleson troop E, Basler and Hunter troop F, Bingenman and Rehnberg troop G and Halberg, Klinner and Moore troop H 1st cavalry. Sgt. Anderson troop C who has been in charge for a month, reported with the detachment Monday.

Two games of ball were played on the post diamond Sunday, the 20th. The game in the forenoon was a practice game between E and F. Score 13 to 7 in favor of E. The game in the afternoon was for a keg of beer between Brackett (colored) managed by Prof. Will Terrell, and troop E. The game was quite interesting throughout. At the end of the 8th inning it looked as tho' troop E was going to buy the beer, the score being 13 to 10 in favor of Terrell's team, but in the 9th E troop run in a new pitcher who shut the colored boys out completely in the 1st half and proceeded to tie the score in the 2nd half of the 9th, this of course necessitated the playing of another inning. In the 1st half of the 10th E proceeded to repeat their play on the 9th and in the 1st half they scored twice placing the final score at 13 to 15 in favor of E troop team. Thus it fell to the Terrell team to buy the beer, but imagine if you please the astonishment, chagrin, furiousness, madness, yelling and the what you-may-call-it-ness of troop E when Prof. Terrell hustled his team off the diamond and "never said dog" or beer neither. Well they better never ask us to play ball with them again.

To Build Branch Lines.

L. F. Wilson, of Kansas City, a stockholder of the Orient road, while in Fort Worth the early part of this week, gave out a statement to the effect that the Orient, as soon as the main line was completed, would start to building many branch lines in Texas, which would do much toward the development of West Texas.

"Mr. Stillwell is one of the most pushing and successful men of the age," said Mr. Wilson. "He is one of those who are doing things. The greatest thing that ever happened to Kansas City, in my judgment, was the building of the Kansas City Southern, and Mr. Stillwell did it. He will do other things as great."—Alpine Times.

Hon. J. S. Morin, the gentleman who ran against Hon. John N. Garner during the last congressional campaign, died at Brackettville last Friday night as the result of being stabbed in an affray on the night of Aug. 6th. The cause of the affray is not known save that it was an old feud. Mr. Morin's untimely death is greatly mourned by his numerous friends.—Hondo Herald.

"The Best Mother."

At a recent afternoon party the women were discussing who was the wisest and best girl's mother in Uvalde. A good many good mother's names were discussed before the best one was finally agreed on. Among the luminous traits of the best mother there were mentioned:

There is only one hammock in the family and that is kept in the house after dark. The Welch burner is always turned on its fullest capacity when the parlor is in use. The family never occupies the back porch when a member of the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Steadies and Handholders is visiting on the front porch. Although the family credit would stand a good deal more work at the dry good stores, the daughter only has the fussy dress and that is worn only when the occasion demands it. When the daughter is away from home for more than a month she gets homesick, and the same thing is expected of girls who come to that home to visit. The daughter in the family has her share of good times, but she is not of so much importance that the other members of the family do not enjoy the ussue. —News.

The Hog.

Is the dabbledist split hoofed, long-nosed, busy-body animal we ever saw. He can make a fellow madder than other animal that invests the premises. He will always squeal and muddy your pants when he knows you trying to feed him. He will get in your garden through a knot hole and destroy enough produce in three minutes to feed your wife and children for three months. He will pay no attention to a wide open gate where you want him to go through, but will shove out several cubic yards of dirt to make a hole into a place you don't want him. He is the biggest nuisance, and most profitable produce of the farm. You will never know the trouble and pleasure of life, until you raise hogs. They are a bohemian and a vexation to the spirit of man while they live but bring joy and contentment to the soul of man, when they die at hog killing time—Richmond Coaster.

One day a liar told a pretty young girl that she could reform a young man who wanted to marry her, but who got drunk was vulgar and mean to his mother and sisters. One night while the whippoorwills were calling to their mates and the cows were chewing cuds, the girl stole away from home and married him, and their children have been stealing ever since they were big enough to reach what was in sight. Yes he changed after she married him. He got worse and soon went over the river by the jimjam route. The wife took in washing to support herself and children, and died one day from sickness from being turned out doors in midwinter because she was unable to pay the rent for living in a dog house.

The editor of the Sabinal Sentinel has discovered how to tell a man's politics: Get him into a hotel wash room. The democrat will wash and empty the basin, the republican will wash and leave the water standing, the prohibitionist will wash in the water left by the republican and the populist will comb his whiskers and not wash at all.

INTO OPEN DRAW

ATLANTIC COAST LINE TRAIN PLUNGED INTO BAY.

FIFTY PEOPLE WERE DROWNED

Accident Occurred Near Norfolk—One Car Was Completely Submerged. Scene of Horror.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 18.—Owing to the inability of Engineer D. L. Reig to control his air brakes an excursion train from Kingston, N. C., bound to this city, plunged through an open draw in a bridge over the western branch of the Elizabeth river at Bruce Station, eight miles from Norfolk, yesterday afternoon, and half a hundred persons, mostly negroes, were drowned. Up to a late hour last night only seven bodies had been recovered from the wreckage. The list of injured, so far as could be ascertained, numbers nearly one hundred, though most of these were only slightly hurt.

A large number of physicians from this and nearby cities have been sent to the scene. Among the victims the only whites were Edward Jotieffe, the manager of the excursion, and Edward Forbes, who assisted him, both of Greenville, N. C.

A force was sent last night to the scene to raise the sunken cars, which lie in about twenty-five feet of water. Until the cars are raised no accurate estimate of the number of dead can be given. The train was composed of an engine and six passenger cars. The engine and two cars went through the draw, leaving the four rear cars on the track. One car was completely submerged.

NOT A HAIR'S BREADTH.

No Progress Made Toward Peace at Yesterday's Sessions.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 18.—The crisis in the peace conference has been reached and pessimism is again the note. But the darkest hour is just before the dawn, and there is still hope. Predictions of a final rupture today will not be justified unless Baron Koopman figuratively picks up his hat and announces that it is useless to proceed further. M. Witte at least will not be precipitate. At tomorrow's session, after article 11 (the limitation of Russia's sea power in the Far East) and article 12 (fishing rights on the Russian littoral) are disposed of, he will favor an adjournment until Monday to hear the last word from St. Petersburg.

The pessimism last night was based upon the fact that no progress was made during the day. The exchange of views at the morning session on article 9 (remuneration for the "cost of the war") showed at once that the plenipotentiaries were as far apart as the poles and it was passed over.

The article concerning the surrender of the interned Russian warships was also passed, not in the opinion of one of the plenipotentiaries when the Associated Press correspondent saw him last night, because it could not have been arranged, but because, with the shadow of the two main points in dispute hanging over the conference, both sides were cautious and preferred to postpone it to the end. Article 11 (limitation of sea power) is also adjustable after modification, and article 12 will present no difficulties. So that last night the situation was practically what it was when M. Witte last Saturday presented the Russian reply with its non possumus to articles 5 and 6 (indemnity and Sakhalin).

merged. Nothing is visible of the engine, not even the smoke stack. It is believed that every occupant of the first car perished. The dead can be taken out only by diving under the car.

The scene following the wreck was one of horror, with men and women and children who were drowning struggling out of the partly submerged car and floating in the river.

The uninjured passengers immediately began to rescue those imprisoned in the cars.

Norfolk and Portsmouth were communicated with and physicians sent out on a wrecking train. Many people in the neighborhood went to the scene and helped in the rescue. The injured were taken to the track embankment and were attended there by the physicians.

D. Collins Ferguson, the negro bridge tender of the Atlantic Coast Line, was knocked from the bridge by the impact and killed. Engineer Reig and Fireman Cooper, a negro, escaped by jumping.

Mobile, Ala.: Dr. W. H. Sanders, state health officer, who left this city on Tuesday night, has inspected, in connection with Dr. E. H. Sholl of Birmingham, a case of yellow fever at Moundsville, Ala., about sixteen miles from Tuscaloosa, near the Mississippi state line, and has declared it suspicious. The case has been screened and all the precautions taken. The man who is ill with the fever is a stranger in that neighborhood and is said to be a refugee probably from New Orleans.

Building Temple Gas Plant. Temple, Texas: Actual construction work has commenced on the new gas plant and the main pipe lines are being located and laid. The mains are being run from the plant up First street under the Santa Fe tracks.

GLOOM PREVAILS

PESSIMISM REIGNS CONCERNING PEACE CONFERENCE.

POWERS USEING PURSUASION

Pressure is Being Used to Induce Japan to Moderate Terms—Has Been Implicable.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 19.—Black pessimism reigned at Portsmouth last night. The private view is that the fate of the peace conference is already sealed, that it is ended in failure and that all that now remains is for the plenipotentiaries to meet on Tuesday, to which they adjourned yesterday afternoon upon completing the seriatim consideration of the Japanese terms, sign the final protocol, go through the conventions and bid each other farewell. In other words, that the meeting Tuesday will be what they may practically call the "seance d'adieu," but there is still room for hope of a compromise.

Neither President Roosevelt nor the powers will see that chance of peace shipwrecked without a final effort, and that pressure is being exerted, especially at Tokio, to induce Japan to moderate her terms. Just what is being done or is to be done has not transpired.

King Edward is understood to be now lending a helping hand, and the financial powers of the world are known to be exerting all their influences. At Tokio and St. Petersburg the final issue will be decided.

Adjourned Till Tuesday.

Portsmouth, Aug. 19.—The peace conference has adjourned until 3 o'clock p. m. Tuesday. At the morning session the peace plenipotentiaries were unable to agree upon article 11 relating to the limitation of Russia's sea power and it was deferred. Article 12, providing for the grant of fishing rights in Russian littoral, was unanimously agreed upon. The articles which were passed over did not come up yesterday. The protocols will be drawn up during the three days' interim and Tuesday the final struggle will come. The following is the official bulletin of the afternoon session: "Not being able to arrive at an agreement on article 11, the conference passed to the discussion of the last article, which has been settled unanimously. The next sitting will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 22, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon."

Bell County's Grain Crop.

Belton, Texas: The report of Commissioner Dickey of the amount of grain grown on the county's farm and disposed of is as follows: Three hundred and eighty-eight and a half bushels of wheat, $366.74; 2,636 bushels of oats, $876.43; total, $1,243.17.

Taylor, Texas: Yesterday afternoon Hon. Daniel Moody, ex-Mayor of Taylor, was attacked by a vicious Jersey bull, by which he sustained a broken rib and other painful injuries.

Action Delayed.

Washington: District Attorney Beach returned to his office yesterday after a day's absence, presumably in connection with the cotton leak investigation, and denied himself to all callers. Although the grand jury resumed its sessions yesterday it was announced that in view of the pressure of other business the hearing of evidence in the cotton leak case was deferred until the last meeting, which will be on Tuesday next.

Broke Out in New Place.

Mobile, Ala.: Dr. Eckford, City Health Officer of Starkville, Miss., announces a well developed case of yellow fever at that place. The case is that of a man named Clark who came from Mississippi City. The Mobile & Ohio has annulled all trains on the Starkville branch until they can make further arrangements.

Arm Broken by Fall from Donkey.

Cameron, Texas: A small boy of Mr. Luther Tyson's fell from a donkey yesterday afternoon and had his right arm broken just above the wrist. Brothers of the boy were trying to hurry up the donkey and caused the little fellow to fall off.

Reunion Called Off

Kirbyville, Texas: After due consideration by the people of Kirbyville it was concluded, on account of the yellow fever excitement, to call off the meeting of Confederates that was to be held here September 8 and 9, 1905, to some future date, to be named by the committee later in the fall.

Farmer a Suicide.

Troupe, Texas: John Farley, a farmer, about 50 years of age, living about one mile west of Troupe, killed himself yesterday morning about 4 o'clock by shooting himself in the head with a 22-caliber rifle. He died within a few minutes after his wife reached him.

Markham, Texas: Rice Harvesting

will begin here next week. The crop is fine, but acreage greatly reduced as compared to 1904.

SUMMARY OF ENVOYS' WORK FOR PEACE.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 19.—The substance and present status of the Japanese terms are as follows:

1. Russia's recognition of Japan's "preponderant influence" in Korea, with her right to preserve order in the civil administration, give military and financial aid to the Emperor of Korea, Japan binding herself to observe the territorial integrity of Korea and (it is believed) the policy of "the open door." Accepted.
2. Mutual obligation to evacuate Manchuria. Accepted.
3. Japanese obligations to restore in Manchuria Chinese sovereignty and civil administration. Accepted.
4. Mutual obligation to respect in the future "the territorial integrity and administrative entity" of China in Manchuria and to maintain the principle of equal opportunity for the industry and commerce of all nations (open door). Accepted.
5. The cession of the island of Sakhalin to Japan. Refused, and final consideration deferred.
6. The surrender to Japan of the Russian lease of the Liao Tung Peninsula, including Port Arthur, Dalny and the Blonde and Elliott Islands. Accepted.
7. The surrender to China by arrangement with Japan of the branch of the Chinese Eastern Railroad running south from Harbin to Port Arthur and New Chwang, together with the retrocession of all the privileges obtained under the concession of 1898. Accepted in principle, but final agreement deferred.
8. The limitation of the Chinese concession obtained by Mr. Rothstein and Prince Ukhomsky in 1896, under which the "cut off" through Northern Manchuria was built to connect the Trans-Siberian and the Usurri Railroads, so as to provide for the retention of the line by the Chinese and with provision for the eventual substituting of Chinese imperial police for Russian "railroad guards." Accepted.
9. Remuneration for the cost of the war. Refused, and action deferred.
10. The surrender of the Russian warships interned in neutral Far Eastern waters. Disagreement and action deferred.
11. The limitation of Russia's naval power in Pacific waters. Under consideration.
12. The grant to the citizens of Japan to fish in waters of the Russian littoral from Vladivostok north to the Bering Sea. To be considered.

Three Murderers Swung.

Memphis, Tenn.: James Norfleet, John Champion and General Bone, three negro murderers, were hanged in the county jail yard here yesterday afternoon. The three men met death firmly and said they were at peace with God. A minister spent the morning with the condemned men. Champion and Norfleet were hanged first, shortly after noon. The execution of General Bone then followed. About fifty people witnessed the execution.

Roosevelt's Last Effort.

Portsmouth: The Associated Press has reason to believe that the purpose of the president's conversation with Mr. Pierce was to arrange for one of the Russians to go to Oyster Bay. The president is understood to be already in communication with the Japanese through Baron Kaneko.

Mr. Roosevelt is undoubtedly prepared to make a last effort to induce the warring countries to compromise.

Boys Killed Father.

Navasota, Texas: Tom White, colored, was yesterday afternoon shot three times with a shotgun and killed on the Baker farm in Brazos county, across the line from Navasota. The shooting was done by Richard and Willie White, sons of the dead negro, and the altercation occurred over the whipping of a younger brother. Brazos county officers will take the two boys to Bryan.

Fever Situation.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 19.—Official reports to 6 p. m. yesterday: New cases, 62. Total to date, 1,285. Deaths, 8. Total to date, 133. New foci, 16. Total to date, 278. Number cases under treatment, 415.

Damage Suits to Be Filed.

Houston, Texas: It was learned last night through a reliable channel that damage suits in the sum of several thousand dollars are being prepared in connection with losses sustained by the big fire at Humble in which 250,000 barrels of oil were destroyed.

Flaton, Texas: Cotton receipts have been about fifty bales daily. Farmers are selling cotton just as soon as ginned; 10 1-4 cents is being paid.

The wolves were closing in upon him.

They were on all sides, a famished, howling pack of devils, their white fangs and fiery eyes showing with horrible distinctness as they sprang at him.

The rifle, swung with all his strength from left to right, and from right to left, cleared a path for him and no sooner did one of the brutes fall than a score of its fellows literally tore it in pieces.

Alexis was becoming exhausted. It was too much for him in his weakened state.

One of the wolves, one larger than the rest, made a bound for his throat, but before it reached him sank in death agony with a bullet in his brain.

At the same moment, by the overturned sleigh, Alexis caught sight of the object of his heroic quest.

It was a woman!

With white face she stood there, revolver in hand, her back protected by the sleigh. Shot after shot rang out, and as each time, with unerring arm, the bullet lodged in the body of a wolf, she gained a moment's respite from the cowardly brutes.

But the end was bound to come. The last shot but one had been fired.

As if by some devilish instinct the wolves seemed to know that their victim was now defenseless, and they prepared for a rush in all the strength of their numbers.

With a howl that could have been heard a league another pack of the brutes had come down from the hills and joined the others.

Then it was that the helpless woman uttered the wild shriek of agony that had reached the ears of her rescuer—had reached even to the courier in the etape.

Alexis sprang forward. He found that the arm was a magazine rifle, and with a prayer of thankfulness he opened fire. Shot after shot, a perfect fusillade followed, and half a dozen of the brutes were lying bleeding in the snow.

Another moment and he had reached the woman. His face was covered with blood, his arms were torn, but he clasped her by a strong effort and began the retreat to a place of safety.

Repulsed by the shots, the wolves had given way for a time, and then had made a simultaneous rush to feast on the carcasses of those slain by Alexis.

But the feast did not last long. Maddened more than ever by the taste of blood, they sprang after Alexis and his now unconscious burden.

"He has saved him!" shouted the courier at the moment, as he caught sight of Alexis, and then as he looked again he exclaimed: "My God, it is a woman! Men, men! to the rescue!"

The soldiers waited no longer. The fact that a woman was in danger seemed to awaken all that was manly in their natures and they rushed to the rescue.

Another moment and it would have been too late.

A volley met the first of the ferocious, maddened brutes. The pack halted for a moment, and gave a long howl of rage. Another volley checked another forward movement. Alexis staggered along with his burden.

"BE ON YOUR GUARD, FATHER!"

Two of the soldiers sprang to his side.

The doors of the etape were thrown open.

In another moment, bruised and bleeding and faint, Alexis Nazimoff staggered into the room; the courier held out his arms to receive the senseless woman from her rescuer. Alexis, with a sigh of unutterable relief, breathed a prayer of thanks, and then as he gave the courier the woman whose life he had saved his brain reeled, the light faded from his eyes, his knees trembled, a shudder passed through his frame, and he fell at full length on the floor.

He had fainted!

CHAPTER XVII.

The Courier's Mission.

The courier bore the insensible form of the woman into the room occupied by Cobb and the baroness.

As the door closed behind him, Karsicheff turned quickly to Nicholas and said in a whisper: "I have a plan—wait!"

Then ordering the guard to resume their arms he gave the command to march the prisoners to the kameras.

Nicholas, "you have made a dangerous enemy of the courier, and the slightest mistake may prove our ruin. Try to conciliate him—anything, so there can be no pretext for his going to extremes. Think what would be the consequences if he should make a report to the czar."

Karsicheff said nothing. He knew he had committed a grievous mistake in defying the courier and he felt ill at ease. The presence of Cobb and the baroness, too, was an additional source of danger. What if Cobb should discover the presence of Alexis! That he had not done so already was little short of a miracle. But if he should discover him and appeal to the courier for Alexis—especially after Alexis himself had won the heart of the courier—there was no question as to the result. Certainly the courier would never leave Alexis and Ivan in his power.

"HER NAME IS ILDA BAROSKY!"

The object now was to blind the courier if possible, to keep Cobb from the knowledge of the presence of Alexis, and to have matters remain in statu quo until the courier and the hated American should depart.

Katherine entered the room. She had discovered the identity of Cobb and the baroness.

"Those people here," she said, "threaten danger. We must be on our guard all the time. A chance word may betray us into trouble that will cost us dearly."

"Olga?" asked Karsicheff. "She is asleep," answered the countess, "and I would shed no tear if she never would wake. Her cousin folly has helped to put us where we are. What is your plan about—about them?" she asked, pointing in the direction of the convict quarters.

"We must wait until the courier departs. His presence—"

Karsicheff stopped suddenly. The door leading to the sleeping apartments opened and the courier entered the room.

Producing his notebook, the courier in a peremptory tone demanded: "What is the name of that brave fellow who saved the woman from the wolves?"

"I do not know it," replied Karsicheff.

"Then consult your lists and find out," was the sharp rejoinder. Nicholas saw that his father was again getting on dangerous ground. He determined to come to his assistance.

"I know the name," he said, looking meaningfully at his father, "the name is Alexis."

"Alexis Petroffsky," said Katherine. "I asked it from the brave fellow before I bound his wound and gave him some medicine."

"Where is he now?" asked the courier.

"He is—" began Nicholas. "Asleep—soundly sleeping," said Katherine; "he begged me not to disturb him until morning."

MOTOR CARS OF HIGH SPEED.

Spectators Able to See It Only Ninety Seconds as it Whirs By.

The world has not realized yet the full significance of the historic Morienfeld-Zossen high speed electric experiments conducted during 1901 and 1903. Speeds of 126 miles an hour mean something in the way of velocity and momentum.

The track upon which the experiments were conducted is straight, yet on it the car, when running at full speed, was only in sight for a minute and a half. That is to say, from the moment the approaching car first became visible on the horizon, to the moment it disappeared in the opposite direction, less than ninety seconds elapsed. Spectators standing by the side of the track were able to see that men were in the car, but it was impossible for the eye to get sufficient impression to allow any one to be recognized.

Despite the use of powerful brakes the car traveled over a mile, after their application, before coming to a standstill, so that alertness of the engineer in discovering obstacles on the track would count for little. It isn't probable he could discern such a mile distant, and any application of brakes within that distance would be ineffective.

As Others Hear Us.

A well known Oxford don was asked to speak into a phonograph, and was interested in hearing the reproduction. He listened throughout, then said with scarcely concealed disgust: "Through this machine I am able to speak in a particularly bumptious and affected manner." The worthy man had heard himself as others hear him, that was all. It would be a good thing for many of us to study our method of speaking through the medium of a phonographic reproduction.

For the Truckers

(From the Houston Southern Shippers' Guide.)

FIG CULTURE.

(Compiled by T. G. Thomas, Editor Southern Shippers Guide, Houston, Texas.)

How to Plant, Pack and Ship Figs.

For many years the Southern farmer has cultivated figs in a limited way around door yards; in fact, many growers believe that figs cannot be successfully grown in orchards. As an old farmer remarked to us, "The fig tree has got to smell your breath to do well." This, however, is all erroneous. Figs are now successfully grown in large orchards in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, with good results. The fig tree is a ravenous feeder and delights more in liberal application of all kinds of manures than frequent cultivation, in fact, deep cultivation around the trees is rather more harmful than good. The demand for figs is steadily increasing, as the fruit is gradually introduced in Northern markets; its peculiar sweetness and laxative properties make it a healthy, desirable fruit to all who once have acquired a taste for figs.

Besides being a delightful fruit in its ripe stage, it is peculiarly adapted for preserving, and there is hardly any preserve higher in price or more in demand than preserved figs, when properly treated.

PLANTING.—Figs do best on sandy, well drained loam; the figs can be easily and cheaply propagated from cuttings, and it is not unusual to see cuttings planted in the spring mature figs in a limited way the same year. Fig cuttings, or trees, should be planted fifteen feet apart each way, or they may be planted in rows fifteen feet apart and eight feet in the row; it is not a bad idea to plant figs along fences, outhouses, barns and chicken yards. Chickens do well under fig trees, and so do the trees, in consequence.

VARIETIES.—There are many excellent varieties, such as: Celeste or Sugar Fig, the best for all purposes. White Adriatic, very large juicy fruit, very thin skinned, good bearer.

Brown Turkey, medium size, color brown, very prolific. Large Blue Ischia, dark blue, very large and of fine taste. Lemon Fig, a peculiar lemon flavored fig.

In the Coast Country there is a local fig called the Magnolia Fig, which is very desirable on account of its size, sweetness and prolific bearing qualities. It can be procured from any Coast Country nursery or grower. Fig trees have been known to yield 1000 pounds of fruit to the tree in one season.

FERTILIZERS.—A heavy application of good strong barn yard manure each year is desirable, even liquid manures are keenly appreciated by fig trees. Where barn yard manure is not available in sufficient quantities, we would advise to use monthly on small trees three pounds of fertilizer containing: Nitrogen, 5 per cent; actual potash, 9 per cent; available phosphoric acid, 9 per cent for each tree.

CULTIVATION.—In a young orchard the cultivation should be frequent and very shallow, especially close to the tree. Other light crops may be grown between the rows. As the orchard grows larger very little, if any, cultivation is required, or just sufficient to keep down excessive weeds and grass and assist in applying fertilizers.

It is quite frequent that fig trees, during January, put on an early growth and a late freeze in February and March kills all of the tops. This is, however, not very serious, as the roots are seldom killed, and the figs, being such spontaneous growers, will re-establish themselves in short order, even bearing a good crop during the following summer.

PACKING AND SHIPPING.—During the ripening season, figs must be picked every day; as soon as one shows a large increased size and color, it must be picked and packed for the market. Figs should be carefully and nicely packed in strawberry boxes and in crates holding twenty-four of the quart boxes. During fig season all of our Texas advertisers, and even some of our Northern advertisers, can use figs to advantage. It is, therefore, advisable for shippers to write first and get posted on markets and express rates before shipping.

Potato Acreage Slightly Reduced.

The United States Agricultural Department's crop report for July gives the acreage of potatoes, excluding sweet potatoes, as less than that of last year by about 19,000 acres, or 0.6 per cent. "The average condition on July 1 was 91.2, as compared with 93.9 on July 1, 1904; 88.1 at the corresponding date in 1903, and a ten year average of 92.1.

Bids on Dried Fruits.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 12.—The state purchasing agent will open bids on the 20th inst. to supply dried fruits to the state eleemosynary institutions during the twelve months beginning September 1. Thousands of pounds of dried fruits are purchased and the contracts to be let are large. They were postponed from the former award because the dried fruit season is just on.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Alfalfa Uproots Johnson Grass.

Taylor, Tex., Aug. 11.—Dr. C. R. Payne, a former dentist of this city, who owns a farm on the San Gabriel river, six miles north of Taylor, has an eight-acre field planted in alfalfa, which shows a wonderful growth. This is the first year's planting, and from this field he has cut three growths of this luxurious forage. He says one planting will produce crops for a number of years, and with present prevailing price of $12 per ton it is quite a lucrative product. Dr. Payne also says that alfalfa will exterminate Johnson grass, his plot having been thick with this pest before planting with alfalfa and today the Johnson grass has entirely disappeared. Dr. Payne will plant twenty-five or thirty more acres in alfalfa.

To Grow Cape Jasmamines.

Alvin, Tex., Aug. 8.—R. H. McCarza, a truck farmer here, has sold his farm here to a Fort Worth lady, who expects to engage extensively in growing cape jasmamines. The place has a nice patch of jasmamines ready set, in bearing condition.

Mr. McCarza will move to Ardmore, Ok.

Captured Cabbage Prize.

Alvin, Tex., Aug. 11.—Mr. W. Davis of this city has been awarded the first prize for the finest cabbage on exhibition in the agricultural department of the World's Fair last year. The cabbage head weighed twenty-two pounds. Mr. Davis is very proud of this distinction, as it is a credit to himself and the coast country cabbage. It is conceded that there is no section in the state that can grow as fine cabbage as the coast country.

No Free Onions Wanted.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 12.—The Webb County Truck Growers' Association, at a largely attended meeting, reconsidered their former action in asking congress to raise the duty on imported onions and unanimously voted to rescind their former act as undemocratic. Another important act of the meeting was the adoption of a resolution to sell no more onions except for cash L. p. b. at Laredo.

That is Love. For the most part, lovers, in these degenerate days, are a half-hearted race; but there is, at least, one adorer of the old school left in the country. His name is John Wilkins, and a little while ago he happened to be passing the scene of some building operations, and half a brick fell upon John Wilkins, and by the time it had finished falling the nose of John resembled a tomato which had seen better days.

He was taken to a surgeon, and naturally the surgeon wished to get to work at once, but—

"One moment," said John Wilkins; "this operation must be delayed for at least an hour. Give me a telegraph form."

The form was brought, and addressed to a certain Miss Nina Darling. And the message which was inscribed upon it ran:

"Nose broken, break. How do you prefer it set? Greek or Roman?"—London Answers.

The boy had to describe our Lord's first miracle. The turning of water into wine, he wrote, was the first miracle, and it happened at Cana. Then he added: "After that everybody went to Cana for water."

Gratitude Well Expressed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 14.—Mr. C. L. Smith, painter and decorator, whose home is at 309 Anne street, this city, makes the following statement:

"I was laid up with some kind of pains. Some said it was Lumbago, other Sciatica and others again Rheumatism. A few of my friends suggested that it was lead poison, but whatever it was it gave me a great deal of pain; in fact, almost completely crippled me. I had to use two canes to walk about, and even then it was a very painful task.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and I began the treatment. After I had used the first box I was able to throw away one of the canes and was considerably improved. The second box straightened me up so that I could go about free from pain without any assistance, and very soon after I was completely cured, well and happy, without a pain or an ache. Dodd's Kidney Pills seemed to go right to the spot in my case and they will always have my greatest praise."

Lake Riwa is the only large sheet of fresh water in Japan worthy of mention. It is thirty-six miles long, twelve miles wide, and its greatest depth about 300 feet.

This is No Joke.

Hunt's Cure has saved more people from the "Old Scratch" than any other known agent, simply because it makes scratching entirely unnecessary. One application relieves any form of itching skin disease that ever afflicted mankind. One box guaranteed to cure any one case.

The name "calomel" means "beautiful black," and was originally given to black sulphuret of mercury. As calomel is a white powder, the name is merely a jocular misnomer now.

Doctor Brigham Says

MANY PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womanhood is not because it is a stimulant, not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructive ever discovered to act directly upon the generative organs, positively curing disease and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female illness, as they know by experience it can be relied upon to effect a cure. The following letter proves it.

Dr. S. C. Brigham, of 4 Brigham Park, Fitchburg, Mass., writes:

"It gives me great pleasure to say that I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very efficacious, and often prescribe it in my practice for female difficulties.

"My oldest daughter found it very beneficial for uterine trouble some time ago, and my youngest daughter is now taking it for a female weakness, and is surely gaining in health and strength."

"I freely advocate it as a most reliable specific in all diseases to which women are subject, and give it honest endorsement."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had the benefit of a wider experience in treating female ills. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice if she wants to be strong and well.

Who Are You?

The following comes from Rochester, N. Y. Is it true or untrue?

"It was in the wild and woolly west. A wild eyed, disheveled man applied for admission as an incurable patient at the door of a lunatic asylum. The applicant said: 'I'll tell you how it is Doc. I was a sober, respectable man once, but see how what a wreck I have become. I met a young widow who had a stepdaughter. I married the widow, then my father met the step daughter and married her. That made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law and I'm the step-daughter of my mother.

My father then became my step-son, then my step mother the stepdaughter of my wife had a son. That boy was, of course, my brother, because he was my father's son, but he was also the son of my wife's stepdaughter, and therefore her grandson. That made my grandfather to my stepdaughter. When my wife had a son, I'm his mother-in-law the step-sister of my son, who is also the grandmother of my child, his sister being my wife, so I am the nephew of my son, who is also the grandchild of my stepmother.

"Now listen to this, which nobody but myself has been able to cipher out. I am my brother-in-law, my wife is her own child and my son is my father's nephew, and I am my own grandfather and I can't stand it, I have strugled against it till my my brain has given way. If I cannot get relief here I will go and drown myself before I become my own grandchild and have to begin life again. The doctor stood motionless while the shades of evening closed around us, then the attendant looked and found two patients instead of one."

Prepared For Both Worlds.

Sam Jones, the evangelist, told the following story in the course of a sermon: "Before I was a christian I learned one thing, and I want you to hear this. I was away from home and was robbed on a train. I had all the money of both my friend and myself. He did not have any and they got mine and we got off at a station. That was when I was a sinner. He was steward in a Methodist church and I was just a plain, common, simple sinner.

When we got off at the station we stayed around there a minute or so. He say 'Sam, I wonder if there is a Mason in town.' I said, 'a Mason?' He says 'yes' 'well,' I said 'what do you want with a mason?' He says 'I can get some money if I can find a mason.' I said 'ain't you a Methodist?' He says 'yes' I said 'why don't you go to the Methodist?' 'O shucks,' he said: 'I'll go to the masons. And he struck out and after a few minutes came back and I said 'how did it come out?' 'All right, I got it,' who you get it from?' 'A Mason, He says, 'Sam if you want to go to heaven, join the Methodists. If you want to hold down here, join the masons.' So when I started I just joined both and tonight I'm a mason and a Methodist and I am getting along well for both worlds.

BILIOUSNESS AND
THEDFORD'S
BLACK-DRAUGHT

Because the liver is neglected people suffer with constipation, biliousness, headaches and fevers. Colds attack the lungs and contagious diseases take hold of the system. It is safe to say that if the liver were always kept in proper working order, illness would be almost unknown. Theford's Black-Draught is so successful in curing such sickness because it is without a rival as a liver regulator. This great family medicine is not a strong and drastic drug, but a mild and healthful laxative that cures constipation and may be taken by a mere child without possible harm. The healthful action on the liver cures biliousness. It has an invigorating effect on the kidneys. Because the liver and kidneys do not work regularly, the poisonous acids along with the waste from the bowels get back into the blood and virulent contagion results. Timely treatment with Theford's Black-Draught removes the dangers which lurk in constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and will positively forestall the inroads of Bright's disease, for which disease in advanced stages there is no cure. Ask your dealer for a 25c. package of Theford's Black-Draught.
