School Health Program

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. — Every school should have a definite school health program. Situations such as, the kind of drinking water, arrangements for the school lunch, the lighting, seating, ventilation and cleanliness of the schoolroom, and the personal practices of the teachers and children are the basis of the school health program, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Every school has tremendous opportunities to promote the health of its pupils and of its community. From early childhood to early manhood and womanhood, most children are enrolled in schools and are under the supervision of school staffs for a substantial part of the day for approximately half the days of the year. The conditions under which they live in school, the help which they are given in solving their health problems, the ideals of individual and community health which they are taught and the information and understanding that they acquire of themselves are factors which operate to develop attitudes and behavior conducive to healthy, happy and successful living.

Schools alone, however, cannot enable children to attain all the desirable goals of individual and community health. Considering the magnitude and multitude of the diverse and continuing efforts that must be made to satisfy the health needs of children, many people and groups, in addition to schools and health departments, should be interested in promoting health.

Parents have a prime responsibility. Physicians, dentists, nurses, social and welfare workers organizations, such as medical, dental, nursing societies, and voluntary health agencies should all lend their support to local and state health departments in their effort to secure better health not only for school children but the community as a whole.

Governor Shivers Appoints Committee

Governor Shivers has completed the appointment of a Governor's Committee on Water Conservation consisting of 73 members of organizations and individuals interested in water problems, with Mr. J. B. Thomas of Fort Worth as Chairman. This Committee was set up to study and make recommendations to the Legislature. The first meeting of the full committee is set for 10:00 a.m. September 30 in the Senate Chamber, in Austin.

The announcement of the Committee brought forth the following comment from Governor Shivers: "The future of water conservation is the future of Texas." He also added, "If the problem is to be solved, there must be an agreement, of every section of our state and all interests on what can and should be done in the way of legislation and state financing of water resources development and conservation."

Even though some rain has fallen around the state and Central Texas has had a flood, water is still the number one economic problem in the state. Crop and livestock losses have run into many millions of dollars. Many communities and farms are rationing their limited water supplies and in some places are having to haul water to supply household and domestic needs.

This condition emphasizes the necessity for the State of Texas and its citizens to work together in an effort to solve at least some of the many varied and complex water problems facing us.

Let's Talk Livestock

By TED GOULDY

Fort Worth — Heavy runs of all kinds of livestock were reported over the nation Monday and prices were highly uneven. At Fort Worth cows lost 50 cents or more of last week's advances in the opening session. Bulls were steady to strong. Fed cattle ruled steady, but grassy steers and yearlings were weaker. High quality and lightweight stockers were around steady but the lesser qualified kinds eased.

Choice fat calves were firm, and fat calves generally held steady. Very good demand for stocker cows was uncovered, some good young cows $22 to $23.50, several loads at the latter prices.

Hogs advanced 25 cents, topping at $20 and $20.25. Sows were steady at $15 to $17.

Lambs were 50 cents or more lower. Ewes opened 25 to 50 cents higher and closed weak. Fresh shorn sheep and lambs were discounted $1 to $2 under those in the wool.

It is rather difficult to reconcile the government's attitude toward trying to protect the government funds in some cases and cutting down expenses, and then in others permitting huge waste. In this country, the government is reactivating many old army posts where they had sold all the buildings off, and putting in new ones. There are some places where they could save money, by using already standing buildings, but it is evidently wiser, or so they deem, to put up new ones. Over in Africa, huge amounts of money were wasted in every conceivable manner in trying to build airfields which costs several times the huge sums originally set.

Sixty per cent of the deaths from tuberculosis in Texas still occur in the home where there is a 10 to 1 chance of infecting another person.

Certain Veterans Administration hospitals are sponsoring training for clergymen as part of an effort to stress rehabilitation of mentally ill persons.

Joins C.P.L. Staff

Miss Viola Frances Jeske has joined the staff of Central Power and Light Company as home service representative for the Winter Garden District, it was announced this week by V. C. Myrick, district manager.

Miss Jeske will have her headquarters in Uvalde and will work under the supervision of W. E. McCune, district commercial manager. Her services will be available throughout the district for electric cooking and appliance demonstrations, to assist dealers in promoting greater use of electric appliances, and to aid customers in making the best use of their electric service.

The new home service representative graduated from high school at Priddy, Texas, and attended North Texas State College at Denton, majoring in foods and nutrition. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics. Miss Jeske moved to Uvalde from McGregor, where she was associated with the McLennan County Electric Cooperative as a home service advisor. Previous experience included jobs with the Nederland Public Schools as school lunchroom supervisor and the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service as a home demonstration agent.

Examinations Once A Month

The Merit System Council in Austin today announced a new procedure in giving competitive examinations for positions in the State Department of Public Welfare.

Beginning in October, examinations for typist, stenographer, field worker, child welfare worker and senior child welfare worker will be offered once each month.

In eleven cities, Abilene, Beaumont, El Paso, Galveston, Harlingen, Laredo, Lubbock, Odessa, Paris, Tyler, and Wichita Falls, examinations for these positions will be offered on each second Saturday.

In Amarillo, Austin, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Longview, San Angelo, San Antonio, Texarkana, and Waco, the examinations will be offered on the third Saturday of each month.

Interested persons are urged to visit the local office of the State Department of Public Welfare to secure information about minimum qualifications, salary ranges, etc.

Just slightly over two months remain afore Christmas time. We are afraid that this year, Santa will not be able to get down the chimney with his pack, if the public buys good before election. If after that event, the lid may come off the cost of everything and the well, we'll cross that one when we come to it.

We learn where they are making "safer hot rods" now. No matter how "safe" they get, when they are out on the road, there's no limit to their potential dangerousness. Human reactions are just so much, while mechanical speed is usually much more.

Support of a widely read newspaper, the Philadelphia North American, is credited with the successful inauguration of the Christmas Seal Sale in 1907 to finance the fight against tuberculosis.

MENTAL

MEANDERINGS

A magazine the other night suggested that that famous old typewriter line used by would-be and advanced typists be changed from "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party," to "now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country." Considering the condition, or "mess" as some call it, we believe this would be a mighty fine suggestion.

Those who like gardening outdoors, and flowers in general, might consider the taking up of indoor gardening, a nice pastime and sometimes a good financial one, of growing things inside while cool winds whistle outside. There are many nice potted plants one could use; some novel growings such as sweet potatoes, air plants, cactii, succulants, etc. We still remember one time when we were really enthused with a variety small garden, containing such items as window plants, tiny vines, miniature palms, and other plants, like Crown of Thorns, Christmas cactii, Sweetheart geranium, and the like. When one cold winter cooled us and the plants off, we went, of all things, onto chemical gardening, first with purely chemical growths, and then soilless growings. Its all part of a fascinating hobby.

Not all politics is bad. Just as lots of people have an idea that Mexican cooking is chiefly chili, pepper sauce, and the like, but we have on occasion sampled some recipes that contained no such spicy trimmings, like the time we were recipients of a number of small delicious Mexican Wedding cakes, and during the lenten season ate delightful traditional pudding; at Christmas with savory large cakes, etc.

Some people are like the one who scanned the Declaration of Independence, and after a long careful study, determined that its makers had made two errors in spelling of words. He didn't see the truths in it because of that.

In spite of ourselves, and the rapid rate at which we are trying to propel American citizens from this world through the medium of traffic accidents and mishaps of every conceivable sort, the population of this country of ours continues on the up and up. When you lose more citizens by means of accidents than you do war, even in a police action like they say we are in over in Korea, there is something radically wrong. Peacetime is catching up, if we don't look out, with war as a means of cutting down or keeping down the population.

The U. S., or so it looks like, will in the next few months, set off another atom bomb, this time possibly an H-bomb. Well, well. Just a louder and bigger method of killing off people and reducing the civilization on which we pride ourselves, down to the level it was when it first started out.

In the past decade, Medicine, so we are told, has advanced the life of the average American citizen by about 15 years or more. Many of the ideas that have come from the medical association, have been from outsiders to the organization. Chemists, researchers, independent thinkers, and others who have been working along separate lines, and made new discoveries, often come up with ideas which help the health of the American people reach new peaks. And, occasionally, some one finds that what grandmother used, or nature had her animal creatures use, is "good medicine" after all.

In the realm of the microscope, Scientists have reached or are reaching new heights (or depths, we should say). With electronic microscopes, use of television with it. Seems that like the big telescopes which scan the sky and the bigger they get the more expanding the world they find is, so with the microscope, the more power, the smaller we can see some things are. Appears there is no limit to Nature's bigness or smallness.

We are in autumn now. The time when we are treated by nature to one of its wonderful shows, all in technicolor. At the present time its color tone is a combination of dusty green and yellows of various shades. The latter color comes through a gradual burning of much vegetation through the action of the prolonged drouth and the lack of rain. Soon, however, we will find that trees will begin to shed leaves in various shades of red, brown, yellow and combinations which will delight a painter or a poet. To the average citizen, we fear, it will signify approaching period of cool weather, warmer clothing, fuel, and the like. Its a grand time to be alive, and you will find that the politicians likewise feel ditto, providing they imagine you are going to vote for them.

That campaign fund ruckus really didn't fool many people. It is a well known fact that many of our Congressmen, Senators and other public officials do not make enough to maintain themselves in fairly good circumstances while in office, or to pay most of their expenses. While donations to the cause of such government may not be tainted with anticipation of favors, or afflicted with promises of such handouts, there is always that speculation present. Not all who do this are culpable, nor is the public to be saddled with the blame. It is one of those things that a top-heavy government breeds, and in a big country like ours, it is next to impossible to eliminate any possibility of wrong-doing. Not with the sort of people that our political generation has created.

Just a few more short weeks and we will have the big general election with us. Just think, how many of our younger citizens will cast their first vote. These young people will have a hard time making up their minds, what with the situation being what it is, and politics in worst shape than ever. But they are the citizens who will decide, or at least help us decide, what course our government will take. Consider well, therefore young voter, and vote well!

Astronomers say we can expect a comet soon. If its orbit comes anywhere near that of the earth, possibly someone may hitch the coat of living to it.

NO REGISTRATION OF VOTERS

Many people, who have been reading the newspapers and listening to the radio have the idea that they have to register to vote. This is an error.

In Texas, the qualification is payment of poll tax or proof of over age, and if coming 21, possession of an exemption certificate. There is no need of registration in this state.

Registration of voters is carried on in states where no poll taxes are paid or needed.

Good Supply Of Stamps

The Brackettville post office now have a plentiful supply of school savings stamps and albums ready for the new school season. Postmaster Couture announced today. "We have received shipments of both stamps and albums during the summer recess and are fully prepared to continue serving all our schools," he added.

Mr. Couture also stated; "There is every reason to anticipate a far heavier demand for savings stamps this year than any time during the peacetime years. The school savings campaign last fall which proved such an outstanding success created keen interest in the program on the part of teachers and students and students. The drive which added 5,815 new school savings programs throughout the country, will be continued during the first semester of this school year. It is expected that nearly 5 million students will be in stamp day schools by the end of this calendar year.

"It is hard to visualize the great benefit this program will have for our country with 5 million children saving nickels and dimes and building the habit of thrift. School savings have been on the uprend the past three years," he continued. "Stamp sales in the nation's schools increased from $10 million, 800 thousand in 1950 to $14 million in the 1951-52 year."

Postmaster Couture also announced that the new improved series E bonds are now available. In describing the new bond he said: "It is now better than ever. Your return on this bond is 3 per cent, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity. It also provides cash values in the earlier years. Proof of its popularity is evidenced by the fact that the cash value of E bonds now outstanding has mounted to $34.9 billion the highest ever attained."

ABSENTEE VOTING

The recent action of the commissioners court in a special session approved a state proposition to complete the construction and topping of the Rocksprings road. There remains about 3.5 miles in Kinney county to be topped and several miles in Edwards county. This project will be constructed with federal funds.

The state appropriation for road work early next year will be sufficient to take care a good stretch of road. This will be taken up at a later meeting when the time comes but all probability will be the Spofford-Cline cut-off.

Crystal City Here Tonight

Crystal City will play in Brackettville tonight in what promises to be one of the most interesting and exciting games of the season. The Crystal City Javelinas are a good team and have been showing their opposition quite a rough time of it. On the other hand, the Tigers have also proven that they can take it and dish it out as well, so the clash of these two strong teams will probably mean plenty of excitement for the fans. Everyone is expected to come out to Tiger field tonight for this game and root for and help the Tigers to win this important game.

PECAN CROP GOOD HERE

Veterans Questions And Their Answers

Q.—I have just been discharged from the WAVES, and I plan to go to school under the Korean GI Bill. I am married and my husband earns a nice salary. We have no children. May I claim him as a dependent and receive a higher rate of GI education allowance?

A.—No. So long as your husband is not actually dependent upon you, you may not claim him as a dependent for GI allowance purposes.

Q.—I realize I'm allowed to make only one change of course under the Korean GI Bill training provisions. But is there any limit on the number of times I change schools, without changing my course?

A.—The law places no limit on the number of times you may change schools, without changing your course. Before you change schools, however, you must apply to the VA for a supplemental certificate, authorizing you to continue training in your new school.

Q.—I have a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance term policy that is about to expire. I plan to renew $5,000 as term insurance. If I change my mind some time in the future and want to renew the remainder of my insurance, may I do so—even though the expiration date will have passed?

A.—No. The amount of insurance not renewed will terminate at the expiration of the term period, and may not be reinstated at any time thereafter.

Q.—I'm trying to get a GI loan to buy a house. Can you tell me where to inquire?

A.—You should try all the sources where people normally obtain loans—banks, building and loan associations, insurance companies, public and private lending agencies, or individuals in a position to make such loans.

Texas junior colleges in co-operation with the Texas State Hospital system are offering a two-year accredited college course for nurse technicians.

When's the best time to plug a leak?

Anybody can answer that one: as soon as you notice it. For drops lead to trickles, trickles to torrents—and you've got a whole roof to replace instead of a patch.

It's the same way with socialism, which has grown to such a real threat to our way of life. It's crept into the electric light and power business, for example. The first "drops" were "special cases where the planners decided the federal government ought to take over." But that leak has grown and grown. The whole electric business is threatened by the people who are trying to drive America into socialism. And the first drops are appearing in other industries and services, too.

When socialism spreads, it isn't a roof you lose—it's your rights and freedoms. And they're much harder to replace than shingles.

McKnight State Sanatorium at San Angelo was established with 50 beds in 1912 to provide hospital care for Texas citizens afflicted by tuberculosis.

Politics and more politics. From now on until General election day. But after that, it will be quite dull with no wisecracks, skeletons being dragged about, characters assassinated, reputations besmirched, actions questioned, etc.

Russia seems to be reorganizing its ruling body and some of its aims. Possibly repainting them a deeper shade of red, or preparing to splash them a vital shade of crimson.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Narrow Town— Broad Outlook

The wife's cousin Ben, and Belle his bride are back from honeymooning in the Rockies. Took them to dinner last night at the Garden Tavern. Ben told about the trip:

"Went through a town in Idaho that was only 100 feet wide. No kidding! Built into a long, narrow canyon. And it shares those 100 feet with a railroad track that runs right through the hotel!"

"To get gas there we had to park right on the tracks. Suddenly Belle screams—"there's a train coming!" But the gas fellow just smiles and says we were there first. Blamed if the engineer didn't stop the train and wait, too!"

From where I sit, it's a good illustration of how people can learn to "think of the other fellow" so that the community benefits. Railroaders and townspeople, Democrats and Republicans, malted milk fanciers and those who prefer a temperate glass of beer—we all have to share the same space. Let's maintain our neighbor's "right of way."
