Highway Safety

AUSTIN—How much clear vision should you have to pass another automobile when it is going 50 miles an hour and you are going 60?

This is one of the problems facing Texas highway planners in their efforts to modernize Texas highways and make them safer. They must make it possible for you to see a half-mile ahead, or you are taking a chance at passing another vehicle traveling at a mile a minute.

With highways built for only two-lane or three-lane traffic, the Highway Department has to depend upon yellow paint to furnish the safety factor. Every year thousands of dollars are spent painting the center stripe and warning lines down the highways.

"We are all too prone to ignore these warning stripes when we think we have even a half-chance," says Jack Kultgen, president of the Texas Good Road Association.

"Sometimes when you are driving along at 60 miles an hour, have your companion clock you. You'll be surprised at how many times you are facing death in the matter of just a few seconds," he said.

Such carelessness last year caused a big percentage of the 206,000 motor vehicle accidents that killed 2,546 persons in Texas.

You can prevent getting a black-eye by the use of electricity in treating the orb, says a science magazine. You can best prevent one by not starting, or if in it, getting away from an argument right now.

Shortage of trained personnel is listed as the No. 1 problem in operating Texas state hospitals.

Will Broadcast Football Games

Humble Oil & Refining Co. will inaugurate its 19th season of broadcasting Southwest Conference football games on September 20.

This fall, as in seasons past, Humble football crews will travel to every stadium in and out of the state where Conference games are played, to bring listeners complete broadcast coverage of about 45 games over statewide networks.

Three networks, comprising 72 stations, will be used to carry the games to practically every point in Texas within range of a radio station. And schedules are so arranged that listeners have a choice of afternoon and night games—as many as six on some week-ends.

To furnish the complete radio coverage typical of Humble broadcasts, these announcers will be kept moving on close-connection schedules for the next two and a half months, traveling as far as Los Angeles and Lansing, Michigan, on some week-ends.

See Your Dentist

AUSTIN, TEXAS—One-half of all children between three and nine have never been to a dentist, according to surveys, and the State Department of Health tags that as one reason why there are some 204 million cavities in the teeth of American kids between those ages.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, recommends these four rules as a method of getting children into sound dental health habits:

1. A well-balanced diet with consumption of sweets kept to a minimum. Sugar in excessive quantities produces the dental decay.

2. Proper tooth brushing, beginning at an early age. This means brushing the teeth within ten minutes after eating.

3. Early detection and care of dental defects. This will prevent larger troubles later. Neglect may produce serious dental problems which will continue throughout life.

4. Either access to drinking water from a community water system containing the proper amount of fluorides for tooth decay prevention, or application of sodium fluoride to the teeth at periodic intervals. Children who drink fluoridated water from birth have from one-half to two-thirds less tooth decay than those who drink fluoride-free water.

Americans as a whole are highly susceptible to tooth decay by virtue of their diet, the state health officer points out. As a matter of fact, dental authorities say, this country has often been called "a nation of dental cripples."

They urge all parents to realize that so-called "baby teeth" are vital to good dental health in adulthood.

Wholesale Beef OPS Rules Change

Responding to suggestions from the trade, the Office of Price Stabilization has issued a series of amendments to the wholesale beef ceiling price regulation (CPR 24.)

The amendments, which have no effect on retail ceilings for beef, change definitions of cured and smoke tongue to conform more closely with industry practices; establish wholesale dollars and cents ceilings for beef packed in barrels; add new ceiling prices for regular trimmed trip loins and strip loin steaks, and provide prices for flake steaks in various sizes of packages.

MENTAL

MEANDERINGS

At a railroad crossing back East, a motorist said was a sign which had this grim humor type of warning: "Don't insist on your rites."

It's John L. Lewis' move again, and though he occasionally gets the worst of it, there is something that can be said for his type of bargaining that is lacking in the others: he uses more imagination and finesse, and less downright disregard of the rights of the public. Of course, no matter the method used, it will always be the public who pays, but it seems less painful to those who have to dig up when the attitude of the union boss is not one of the public be hanged. John L. with his "memorial holiday" set the pace for the strike, then gave the regularly authorized notice of the proposed strike, and, it is presumed, subtly egged some of his union locals to a wildcat strike as a show of power. We are willing to bet he gets his miners a raise, even if the administration is no friend of his. All unions usually do. And the public—those who use coal, and those who use products made with the usual use of coal—will, as usual, pay.

rather abrupt and unwanted way—with floods. While almost every section of the state wanted rains, very few of them wanted that much, too much that is. Some places got up to twenty inches and over, there were floods, much loss, but, after all, it was demonstrated that we still can get rain.

Pecan cropping this year will yield a right smart harvest, possibly a good bit more than we had last year. Pecans were always our favorites. And this year seems we will get to peeling some of these nice nuts. The crop, we are informed, incidentally, will be about normal, whatever that is.

There was a hike the other day in the price of newsprint. Six dollars more per ton, they say. Which means that while you may not have to pay any more for your daily paper—or weekly at that—your publisher will have to dig down a little deeper. And, if the said publishers keep reaching down, they will eventually get down to the holes in their said pockets.

We are gradually—and it may turn into suddenly—getting the fall of the year, when the weather gets cooler, and all that. What brought it to mind, was seeing some folks already blossoming out in their fall and winter do-dads, clothes to the rest of you, rushing the season, so to speak. The nights for a while have been fairly cool, but its going to take a mighty frisky norther—and occasionally we get some of these—to push the thermometer down a few more notches. However, we are in hopes we will get some real relief from the summer weather, even if it takes a cool norther to do it.

A radio commentator the other day, reporting on the heavy rains which fell over a good part of the hill country, said that they got their heavy floods, "probably because they overpaid the preacher." Which may explain why some other places didn't get any or enough.

They say that by practicing mentally what you want to do physically, you will improve your ability in that direction. If, we understand it right, you want to improve your golf, you can picture yourself mentally as taking the right stance, swing and securing the right results (for you), and you will find that it works out in practice on the golf green. Maybe. But we will figure that there might be something to it—so many people keep expressing their ability to get ahead, their irresponsibility to others and their flaunting of the law, and usually that's the way it leads them. Now, if we could just picture ourselves hanging on to all our money—

We gotta admit it. The other night we hitched on, while dialing the tune box (beg pardon, the radio), some orator giving his best for the party and a certain candidate. It wasn't so much that we were interested in what he was saying, but in the way he was saying it. Such dodging the issues, using words to confuse issues, and old-time oratory of extollation of virtues of the one for and of character assassination of the one against, we haven't heard in a long time. The doubletalk was really splendid. So, it didn't seem so curious, and we asked a guy why we thought should know, what "doubletalk" came from. Our informant told us that it is originally believed to have been invented in its present form by Lewis Carroll, of "Alice in Wonderland Fame," who used it for hilarious results in that famous story. However, there is no doubt that politicians for eons before had used it in one form or another. It was quite a lesson in itself, this political harangue.

Alcohol is credited with being the oldest anesthetic in the world. And we had always presumed that the predecessors of the dentists, MD's and such used a club or an axe on their patients! Tsh, tsh. Guess our guesses are slipping. And when we told this to a friend, he just smiled and said, "What an anesthetic!"

That first football game of the season brought out one of the biggest crowds of the season, and revived a flagging interest in sports. It was not only an inspiration for the Brackettville team, but is showed what we have always contended—that it takes several things to boost the morale of a community. School activities rank high especially where children of the community take part actively. Church activities add considerable to the background. The older (beg pardon) element need a little more being jogged into activity and to take new hold of life and community interests. So, back up the football team, the pep squad, the school band, and all school activities, and don't forget to keep going after you are pepped up.

Equipment to prevent and control fire is listed by the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools as a major need in state-operated hospitals.

Export Meat Price Recalculated

Ceiling prices for export sale of beef, pork, veal, lamb and mutton, and sausage containing beef now will be determined under provisions of the OPS export pricing regulation, San Antonio district OPS said today.

The new export ceiling prices, effective Sept. 16 in a series of amendments to pricing regulations, are the domestic ceilings plus the percentage mark-up permitted by the OPS export regulation (CPR 61.)

The Human Side of Social Security

The knack which one field representative had for remembering names paid off in social security benefits for two surviving children of a World War II veteran.

In 1945, Mrs. Helen Creason, widow of Harry Creason, came to the social security office to file a claim for herself and two small children. Her husband had been killed in action. No benefit payments were possible, as Harry had not worked long enough under social security, and World War II service could not be counted. But the new law makes it possible to count Harry's time in service as social security credits.

Attempts to locate the widow proved unsuccessful. Mail addressed to her was returned and former neighbors had lost track of her.

This might have been the unhappy ending of the story had not the field representative gone to the courthouse in another county to transact business. While there, a couple came in and asked for a marriage license. The girl was overheard to say her name was "Helen Creason." The representative paused to reflect on that name. When the couple were ready to leave, he introduced himself.

Yes, she proved to be the widow of Harry Creason. She had decided to get married and do better by the children. When informed the children would get $20.20 each per month, she said: "Wonderful, but even if the amount was $200 a month, it wouldn't change my mind about —Joe."

After some figuring, it was learned the children will get in monthly benefits, $4,680.40—all because field representatives seldom forget a name.

What's the biggest "little" business in Texas?

It's the business that employs one out of seven Texas jobholders . . .

It's the business that helps to bring you everything you buy, use, eat or wear . . .

It's the business whose taxes build one-third of all Texas highways . . .

It's the TRUCKING business! Over a million Texas men, women and children depend directly on it for their livelihood.

Yet—fifty-six per cent of Texas' trucks are owned by individuals with only one truck. Trucking is probably the biggest "little" business in the State!

Texas can't do business without truck transportation.

No community can exist, even if it is on a rail line, without trucks to haul goods away from the railroad and get them to stores and homes.

There are 1,788 Texas towns that have no rail service at all. If it were not for trucks, they would have no commerce with the rest of the State and the nation.

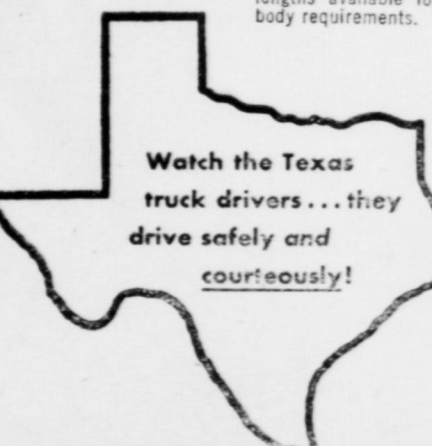

Wherever you live in Texas, whatever you do—trucking services are essential to your way of life. Trucks belong!

And here's the biggest seller of its class in the business . . .

Availability of equipment, accessories and trim as illustrated is dependent on material supply conditions.

The Ford F-5 is the most popular heavy-duty truck, nationwide, in the 1 1/2-ton weight class! It out-sells everything in its class, because it out-values competition. Here's an all-purpose performer with a payload capacity that goes over 8,600 lbs. . . lets you carry big bulky loads with ease. Choose new V-8 power—or all-new Six!

Ford Trucks for '52 cost still less to run!

New World Study Club

The regular meeting of the New World Study Club was held in the club room on Monday evening at 8 o'clock with the president, Mrs. A. P. Utterback in the chair and Miss Else Sauer present as secretary.

The program on Education and Citizenship and the subject of "Education for Citizenship" was ably and very interestingly dealt with by Mr. Theodor Mahlar, a former teacher in the south west Texas Junior College of Uvalde and now in our local schools as well as the minister of the Methodist church in Brackettville. Our local Educational problems were discussed by Mr. C. O. McKinney superintendent of schools in this district. Mr. McKinney's talk was enlightening and he stated he would welcome the assistance of the members of the Study Club in trying to interest more parents and other adults in the schools especially during education week in November. He would like to have more adults visit the schools and find out what is being done. The members enjoyed and appreciated both these talks.

During the business session the club agreed to sponsor a public library for the community. A beginning has been made toward that end with the result that there are now quite a number of books on the shelves in the club room; these and others which are expected to come in during the year may be borrowed by the public any Thursday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock. At that hour each Thursday a member of the club will be present at the club room in the Burris building on Ann street.

After a social hour during which cold drinks were served, the meeting was adjourned. The next meeting of the club will be held on October 6th, at which time the subject of discussion will be "Civil Defense."

LAS MORAS STILL DOWN

With the Las Moras creek running low beyond the government reservation, ranchers and others including the Spofford community are without water supply from this usual source. Lack of rain has likewise handicapped the flow of the creek. Ranchers along the creek are practically without water supplies excepting from wells.

Locally, it is said that the Las Moras spring here are flowing about two-thirds of normal or slightly over six million gallons daily with no apparent slackening or dropping off.

Those who made the trip to Rocksprings included A. E. Hartberger, James Bader, Mrs. Rose now, Mrs. H. H. Senne, Mrs. Roland Williams and O. R. Davis. The group met with Mrs. Good, Superintendent of the Edwards county hospital and county and civic officials.

Tuesday of the past week Herschel Holtford, son of Mrs. Louise Spillers of Brackettville and Miss Anna Lynell Moses of Del Rio were united in marriage in St. James Episcopal church in Del Rio, Rev. O. W. Nickle officiating. Members of both families and close friends were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Lee Moses of Del Rio. She is a graduate of the Del Rio high school and employe of the Del Rio National Bank.

WARM SPRINGS DRIVE IS ON

Fund drive for Gonzales warm springs foundation opens here. Marking the start of a fund raising drive in this community on behalf of the Gonzales warm springs foundation for crippled children, Mayor Chief Manny of Brackettville has designated Thursday September 25 as Gonzales Foundation Day here.

A county wide drive to raise vitally needed funds for Gonzales warm springs foundation for crippled children begins this day and will continue through Wednesday September 30. According to John J. Burris, local campaign chairman "We have laid the ground work for a successful drive Mr. Burris said and our plans will give everyone in the community a chance to contribute to this worthy cause."

Numerous children from this area of southwest Texas have received treatment at the Gonzales Foundation and local citizens are urged to give their full cooperation to the current fund drive for the worth while program.

Veterans Questions and Their Answers

Q—A friend of mine, the widow of a serviceman who was killed in Korea, is planning to remarry soon. She has been getting indemnity payments as a result of his death. Will the payments stop after she remarries?

A—No. The remarriage of the widow will have no effect on the indemnity payments, and she will continue to receive them.

Q—Is VA medical treatment available to World War II veterans studying under the GI Bill?

A—A veteran-student is entitled only to such medical treatment from VA as he would otherwise get by virtue of his military service. The World War II GI Bill makes no special provision for medical treatment of trainees.

Q—I recently received a gift of several hundred dollars from my son. In figuring out my annual income—for purposes of getting a VA pension—do I count the gift as income?

A—Yes. Gifts are counted in determining annual income for pension purposes.

 Q—I lost a leg in service, and I recently obtained an automobile with special attachments, with VA paying $1,600 toward the cost of the car. Is the car exempt from taxation by my State, because it was purchased with federal funds?
 A—No, unless the State law provides for such exemption. Even though VA paid part of the cost of the car, you still are required to pay city, county or State taxes, if they are called for.

Bedding Repairs Exempted by OPS

Prices charged for the renovation and repair of bedding have been exempted from price control, district OPS officials said today.

Included in the exemption are the renovation and repair of upholstered sofa beds, couches, chairs and davenport, mattresses and pillows.

It would seem that those who live in a community would, if they have nothing good to say about it, would at least remain silent about it. Or, if they want to be constructive about it, tell it to the ones who are most interested and will do something about it. This is a problem that confronts all communities, both big and small. A good citizen will want to help cure the ills, relieve the aches, and do away with the evils of his community. We know we have all good citizens here.—An exchange.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

No Longer Two Sides to This Question!

Ever seen those two-family houses they have in some places—with separate front doors and porches—side by side? My sister owns half of one and lives in it, near Philadelphia.
 Nice little frame home. Only Sis painted her half brown and the other family always painted theirs green. Ruined the effect—but for years neither family ever thought of suggesting that they both decide on a common shade.
 Now Sis writes that their two-toned home is no longer. "I mentioned we were going to repaint," she says. "And they said let's get a color we all like. So we did. A nice shade of gray for both sides."

 From where I sit, so often when there's a difference of opinion it's best to sit right down and work things out (like when our volunteer firemen decided to serve both lemonade and beer at their annual picnic last month). Don't let prejudices "color" your opinion of your neighbor. He'll probably be quite as open-minded as you are.
