NEW FARM HOMES

Many New Farm Homes Being Built and Farm Lands Improved in The Spur Country.

Notwithstanding the reports of dry weather and possible crop failures in many localities of the state, Spur and the Spur country is enjoying a season of progress, development, improvements and prosperity unequalled by other sections of the country. Within the Spur territory many new farm homes are being built and hundreds of acres of farm lands being prepared for cultivation another year, and every indication is conclusive that the past record in rapid, substantial and permanent developments in this section of country will not be retarded in the least on account of the disadvantages and uncertain seasons encountered in other sections of the state.

Since the creation of Spur some nine months ago, and the opening up of the Spur Farm Lands for sale in suitable tracts for agricultural purposes, the town and country has enjoyed a season of progress, activity and substantial developments unparalleled in the history of town building and developments of the agricultural resources of this western country. Within this short space of time Spur has become a city of twelve or fifteen hundred inhabitants, has more and stonger business concerns and can boast of more substantial, handsome and costly business structures than cities of many thousand inhabitants and many years of labor and efforts.

The progress made in the development of the surrounding country is most remarkable in that it is most extensive and substantially effective considering the limited time in which such improvements were made. At the time of the opening, November 1st, and the sale of lands which followed, gave purchasers little time in which to improve and prepare lands for cultivation this year, and as a consequence there were comparatively few purchasers who made any attempt in that direction. However, many acres of new land is being cultivated and are now growing crops, purchasers of land who failed to make improvements are now coming in and throughout the summer and fall seasons will build new homes and prepare thousands of acres of land for cultivation another year.

Spur is a most remarkable town in a most remarkable territory, and its progress since the beginning gives it a distinctive place in the history of Western Texas development, and the rich surrounding territory and its rapid development insures a city of commercial and industrial prominence located in the center of a rich, fertile and vast domain of unlimited agricultural possibilities.

The "Irish Lads" are here and are engaging the Spur boys in a series of three ball games.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Harrison, of the Afton country, were in the city Monday shaking hands with their friends and looking after business matters. Mr. Harrison made the race in the Democratic primary for the office of tax assessor, having been defeated by a plurality of only four votes by Eli Harkey.

Dr. Hale, of Dickens, is having two residences built in the north part of the city on Burlington Avenue. He also contemplates building other houses here for rent. Spur continues to build in both business and residence portions of the city. Watch Spur grow, and incidentally get in the swim and help it grow.

Work on the new First State Bank building is progressing at a rapid rate and within a short time another fine building will loom up in the city. Truly Spur can boast of more fine substantial buildings of any town its age within the Lone Star State.

J. Carlisle, a prominent citizen of the Gilpin country, had business in the city Saturday.

The series of ball games between the Spur and Lockney teams played last week on the Spur diamond resulted in the Spur team winning each of the three games. The Spur team is making a record of which we are all proud.

Saturday afternoon J. H. Barber hitched up his bay horses to the surrey and accompanied by A. R. Fouts, Dave Gray, J. B. George and Oran McClure went out after plover. Although plover are in great numbers within the surrounding country we failed to locate many, but Messrs. Fouts, Gray and Barber being expert gunners we brought in the few that did show themselves. Notwithstanding the fact that we returned not burdened with game we had a most pleasant afternoon.

R. S. Holman and wife, of Afton, were in the city Tuesday on business. Mr. Holman has sold his stock of goods with the exception of dry goods at Afton. He is making arrangements to move his dry goods to Spur and engage in the dry goods business here provided he can secure a suitable business house. Mr. Holman recently bought the W. N. Blackwell residence in the northwest part of the city and will make his home here in the future.

The Spur Drug Company moved its stock of drugs, etc. Thursday to the new brick building just completed next door to the Bryant-Link mercantile establishment.

STATE EXPERIMENTAL FARM STATION AT SPUR

Recognizing the great possibilities and wonderful future of Spur Farm Lands, the state is now operating an Experimental Farm Station at Spur. This will be a great benefit to the settlers in this region, showing them by actual demonstrations on the lands what crops can be most profitably raised; best methods of cultivation, and assisting in all the problems of the farm. This decision was reached after a visit to the lands by Judge Ed. R. Kone, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Dr. H. H. Harrington, Director of Experimental Stations, who recognized the unusual farming value.

To the first comers, ready to develop, we are willing to sell one-half our holdings of 673 square miles on easy terms and reasonable prices. We reserve the other half for big increase sure to come with development. We stand shoulder to shoulder with the homeseeker. Cotton, no boll weevil, corn, alfalfa, all feed stuffs, grains, fruits, melons, vegetables. Great hog country—no cholera ever known. The hog farmer is king, and nowhere can hogs be matured so cheaply. Quick run to Fort Worth market. Delightful, healthful climate—altitude 2000 to 2,500. The great extent and variety of land insure the homeseeker such range of selection that the man early on the ground can find exactly what he wants. WHY HE WAS DISCHARGED

A youth who had been in the employ of John W. Scott, a noted merchant, was discharged one day by his superintendent. He asked a reason for the dismissal and the superintendent said to him:

"Go see Mr. Scott."

On reaching the merchant's presence the youth said to him: "I have always borne a good character, why am I discharged?"

Mr. Scott replied:

"All merchants make it a point to test a character of their employes, from the messenger boy to the confidential manager. I have tested yours. You have a character but it is not wholly good. Your weak point, and one which you seem unable to overcome, is in thinking my time belongs to you. You would not put your hand in my cash drawer and steal five dollars from me, but you steal time from me every day that you are in my employ. I pay you to work for me ten hours a day; six days of the week. Since I pay for them, those ten hours belong to me, and if you do not give them to me you are stealing from me.

"You are never prompt at lunch time and that cost me from five to fifteen minutes. You are late in the morning and that costs me another fifteen or twenty minutes. You gossip enough to the other employes to take an hour of work away from me. If I were to permit you and others to go on robbing me in this manner, I would be ruined in less than a year's time. You yourself have made it necessary for me to discharge you."—Ex.

THE EFFICACY OF PRAYER

No matter what a man's ideas as to the Deity may be, we believe that man does not live who does not believe in the efficacy of prayer—a genuine outpouring of the heart to the Supreme Ruler of the universe. Man's conscience may be scarred and warped and twisted by the conflicts of a mean, sordid and selfish life, but within that vital spark of Divinity that stirs within each of us there dwells the promptings to fall down and worship its great incomprehensible, inexplicable source. Man may trust to his own powers in mind or material things, but when his wisdom and strength fails he turns instinctively and reverently to that inexhaustible source from which his own being sprang. Prayer is the guiding star of youth that points the straight and narrow way when the "primrose path" would allure them to stray along its sequestered way. Prayer emboldens the heart and strengthens the arm of manhood in all his great and laudable undertakings, and plants his footsteps upon the pinnacle of success. Prayer put a staff into the hands of tottering age and lines the pathway to that bourne from which no traveler returns. From the lisping infants' "now I lay me down to sleep" to the warrior's departing gasp, prayer is our last resort when God alone can aid us. To its refuge we fly in the time of need, confident in the assurance that He who hears the Ravens when they cry and notes the sparrows fall will not let us perish unheard.—Hond Anvil Herald.

There are hundreds of people in Jones county, especially in the vicinity of Hamlin, who do not understand why a county with $18,000,000 worth of taxable property should be a year behind with the payment of its obligations. But they will probably remain in ignorance, keep on paying taxes and never become wise until they elect officers who comply strictly with the letter and spirit of the law and publish quarterly and annual statements of the affairs of the county and look after the people's business as they would demand one to look after their own.—Hamlin Herald.

There are other counties, which may not possibly be behind in the payment of obligations, but whose citizenship are not familiar with the manner and purposes for which tax money is expended. It should be made a law that each county publish an itemized account of all expenditures and thus let the tax payers of the country know for what purposes they are taxed and in what manner the tax money is disbursed.

The business man who refuses to advertise in, or subscribe for, his home daily or weekly paper is about the tail end of all that's stinky whittled down to a pencil point. Just let something occur in which he needs the aid of the little local paper, and that old purse cramped alligator will break down the door trying to get to the editor's office.—Harpoon.

Try It, It Is So Easy

How to get rid of the house fly nuisance is explained by the Atlanta (Texas) Journal as follows:

"Make a solution of one teaspoonful of formaldehyde in a half pint of water. Place the solution in plates or saucers throughout the house. It will kill every fly that sips it. It has no offensive smell, is fatal to disease organisms, and is practically nonpoisonous except to insects. Formaldehyde can be found at most any drug store and is not expensive. We have been testing it the last few days in the Journal office and killed flies by the thousand."

The remedy may prove too cheap to attract the eye of the housewife. In this day and time nothing can possibly be good unless it costs a whole lot of money—one reason why salts and senna long ago went out of fashion as an effective spring medicine was on account of cheapness and now we have the patent medicine millionaire.—Interviews in Houston Post.

Everything proclaims that the human family has a glorious destiny. God would not have taken millions of years to bring us to where we are without a purpose for our future. As we see it, every generation can further the good plan of human development. It is its duty to do so. Those who make discoveries, build cities, erect schools, colleges and found libraries, broaden the knowledge of men and advance our civilization. Their work will count for much in the final reward of those who have lived on this earth. Hence be a builder, a developer and help further the great destiny of humanity.—X

BE A REAL POWER IN THIS WORLD

It is a great thing to start out in active life with the resolution that you will not be a mere cipher in your community, but a real constructive force; that you will stand for something more than a real living-getter or a dollar gatherer: that you will not be merely one more citizen, but a strong, robust, vigorous force; a power respected, a force that moves things.

To be known as a progressive man who stands for everything that is for the betterment of his community, everyone should be ambitious to be something as a citizen besides a specialist in his vocation.—Orison Sweet Marden

Mr. Willis, who has been engaged in the ice business here during the past several months, recently sold his interest in the business to Pass Brothers who are now managing the business. Mr. Willis informed us that he would return to his former home at Hamlin and engage in some kind of business at that place.

DOING THINGS.

The American people are filled with energy restlessness and impatience, and they want to see things done. In fact, they relish the idea of being in the doing. They like turmoil and strife, believing that in the shuffle that something good will be turned to their favor. They love the gilded prospects that life deals in its varying evolutions between smiles and tears. Human nature is overmastered and calls for continuous exertions in that the doing may be apparent at all times. The people congregate where there is activity. Where there is no interest. If a town or community enjoys development it must see to it that things are not permitted to lag. Dullness means an exit for a large percentage of the population. No Southwestern city is overburdened with population. If a city cannot retain its population it suffers. There is room for every heart and hand in the Southwest. Every dollar is needed in the game. The watchword should be progress. If there is nothing else to do, it might be well to do, it might be well to engage in the pleasant undertaking of just tearing down and then building again, provided that always the last building should be more attractive than the first. It is good to keep in fighting trim, even if there is no enemy in sight. The everlasting spark of energy must be kept alive, the flame of progress is apt to break out anywhere and at any time, and it is well to be able to take care of the situation. Opportunity's call must be heeded, else material loss will result. The love of doing keeps the American everlastingly at it, and, though he sometimes blunders, still he dazzles the world with the grandeur and volume of his work and his marvelous ingenuity.—Texas Trade Review.

Under the Texas libel law, if a man beats the poor editor out of the subscription to his home paper and dies, and the editor stats in the obituary notice that he believes the man went to hell, the dead man's relatives can bring suit for libel and not only get damages, but also send the poor editor to jail. The law won't even permit him to print the truth.—Harpoon.

OUR BEST FRIEND

Without any doubt of sentiment or suggestion that we owe allegiance to anyone, the cold, hard truth is that the retail merchants of our home town are the best business friends we have.

The retailer conducts a school of commerce for our education—and tuition is free. Every man, woman and child gets the benefit of seeing in the home town about anything that is of real importance. He protects us against fraud and deceit. He stands for the square deal.

You never ordered a $19 machine of your home merchant and then found notes for a thousand in the bank the next day as a result. You never paid him $60 for a range that warped out of shape in six months—without your wife getting the money back. He never charged $75 for a "trailer" buggy that you found out afterwards could be bought anywhere for $60.

No, the home merchant is just like you. He lives where he does business, and his success depends on making a friend of you and your neighbor. Like you, he has to make good.

The retail merchant is now the one great factor in our commercial system, and this is true solely because he renders us better service than we can get elsewhere. Take him away and our hometown is gone, take him away and we deprive our children of the retail store, which is the greatest educational factor in modern life. No, it cannot be. The retail merchants will continue to abide in our affections as long as we value our homes, because the average citizen is proud of his town, (he always tells how close he is to it) and he secretly despises the methods of peddlers—and the peddler system is now known to be the legitimate father of the whole catalogue house business.—Selected.

Sheriff McCombs went over in the Croton country Thursday and arrested one Will Warren who is wanted at Sweetwater on a charge of cow theft. The prisoner was brought to this place and lodged in jail to await the orders of the authorities at Sweetwater.—Kent county News.
