A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Library abuser gets booked

Everyone's had an overdue library book or two. Not George Szamuely — he had almost 600 items checked out from New York University's library.

Telephone calls didn't get them back. Neither did letters, or news of a $31,000 fine. Finally, frustrated librarians called the cops.

Now Szamuely faces grand larceny charges, meaning possible jail time if he's convicted.

He's also charged with possession of stolen property. Szamuely, 44, was a continuing-education student when he began checking out books four years ago. In 1997, when Szamuely was no longer enrolled, librarians asked him to return the books. He refused, they said. On Monday, detectives arrested Szamuely at his gym.

Police found bags containing 570 NYU books in his apartment. Beckman was thrilled the school will get the books back and had a message for library patrons: "Don't mess with NYU librarians."

Buddy impersonates prisoner

Two friends in Vinita, Okla., could be looking to serve a jail time after one allegedly tried to move a weekend stint in the county lockup for his buddy.

Russell Maurer, 30, was charged with false impersonation after he allegedly tried to serve time in place of Ryan Miller, 27.

Prosecutor Clint Ward said Miller, as part of a deferred sentence on a conviction on drug charges, had been fined and ordered to serve five weekends in the county jail.

Ward said the pair apparently planned the charade so Miller, a salesman at a car dealership, could work the weekend of Sept. 25 to avoid a foreclosure on his home. The plan unraveled when jailer Clayton Henson realized the Miller he signed into jail that weekend didn't look like the guy he put behind bars the previous weekend.

Ward said Miller now could face life in prison. Maurer, who is on probation after a previous conviction on a drug charge, could also face prison time if convicted of impersonation, Ward said.

Wildcats upend Mules in overtime

By KEVIN WILSON
Journal Sports Editor

The Mules came into the weekend looking to put a "one" in their district victory column. Instead, they got a year's worth of payback, courtesy of Josh Brandes.

Brandes, who returned from an injury this week, rushed for 215 yards and the game-winning touchdown in overtime as the Littlefield Wildcats beat the Muleshoe Mules 13-7 Friday night.

With the win, Littlefield did more than go 1-0 in district play. The Wildcats also avenged last year's home loss to the Mules by winning their second overtime game of the season. Littlefield beat Tulia in overtime earlier this season.

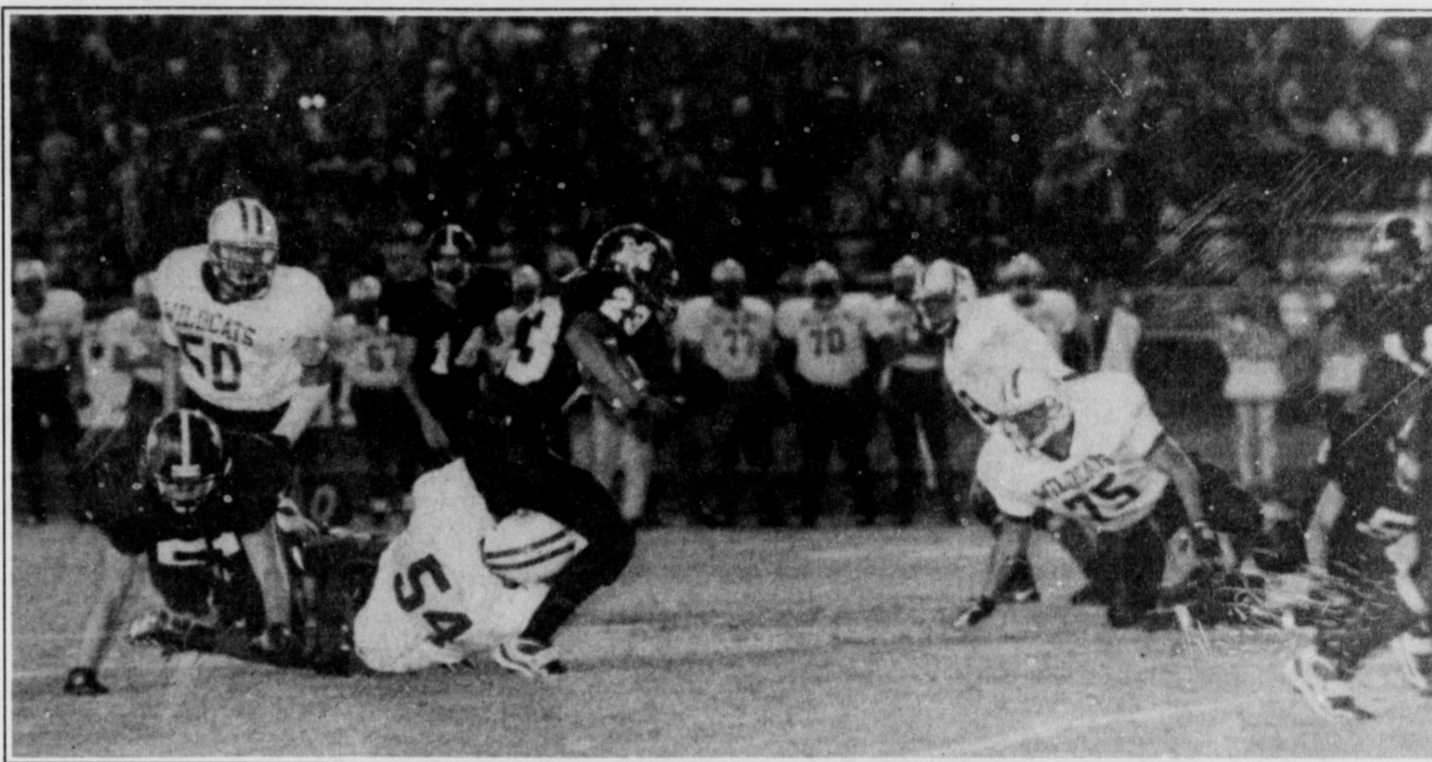

The Mules' second loss in their last three games came through a lack of offense, in addition to the performance of Brandes. Chris Vela, who rushed for 109 yards last week against Dimmitt, managed only 24 yards on seven carries against the Wildcats. Danny Ramirez led the Mules in rushing with 42 yards on three attempts.

In the first quarter, a missed field goal by Ryan Hodge was the closest either team came to scoring. Early in the second, the Wildcats downed a punt on the Mule 7 and it looked as if Muleshoe would be in trouble.

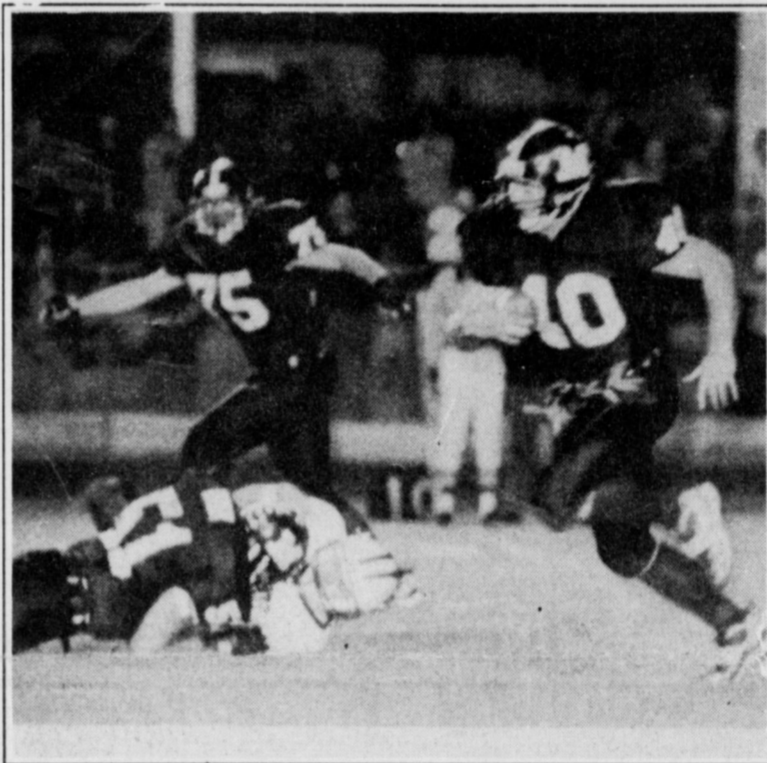

Quarterback James Barrett changed the scenario quickly with a 49-yard pass to Ramirez. On the next play, Barrett took the ball 11 yards for another Mule first down, their fifth of the half.

Two plays later, Barrett hit Clint Black for a 27-yard touchdown, capping a 1:10, 93-yard drive. Hodge's extra point made the score 7-0 Mules.

The Wildcats went to Brandes seven times on the ground to try to answer the Mules. After a 48-yard run by Brandes put Littlefield on the Mule 17, the Wildcats were in position to tie the game. However, after two runs and two incomplete passes, the Mules had the ball and the lead with 3:18 left in the half.

Littlefield quickly got another opportunity as the Mules fumbled the ball on the drive's first play.

After two 1-yard runs, the Wildcats took advantage with a 10-yard reception by Joseph Hood. Hood's only catch of the game tied the score with 1:50 left. Muleshoe turned the ball over on downs to end the second quarter.

Midway through the third, the Wildcats tried to take the lead with Brandes showing the way. A 50-yard run by Brandes set up a first and goal at the Mule 5.

The Mules defense was its usual stingy self, though, sacking Wildcat quarterback Taylor Allen on fourth and goal. The Mule offense came out inspired after the goal-line stand and took only four plays to move the ball into Littlefield territory.

However, two penalites led to a first and 30. Barrett completed a 23-yarder to Ramirez on third down, but it wasn't enough. On fourth down, Jeff Bruns recovered a high snap and punted it to the Wild-

Vote on ag bill gets delayed

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Movement toward approval of a $8.6 billion agricultural assistance package has stalled in the Senate after continued resistance from a small contingent of Senators unhappy with the inclusion of dairy provisions in the Conference Report.

The delay means consideration of the fiscal 2000 Agriculture Appropriations Bill and attached ag assistance package will not occur until Oct. 13 or 14.

The Oct. 13 Conference Report still maintains a strong level of support within the Senate. It will be important, however to continue contacts with Senate offices to reaffirm agriculture's support for the bill as it stands.

on the 15th.

An in-depth review of the act and how it is governing the registration and re-registration of pesticides used by agriculture is the main focus of the meeting.

dures, implications for agriculture, risk assessment procedures as well as EPA's view of the legislation, a panel discussion and conference wrap-up.

Anyone interested is invited to attend to learn more about the act and its implications for agriculture.

Gasoline not advisable for fighting fall insects

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

DALLAS — Bees, wasps and other insects become more noticeable around Texas homes at this time of year.

But according to experts, some folks have the wrong idea when it comes to treating these annoying pests.

"Every year we hear from people who pour gasoline into wasp nests or on (fire) ant mounds," says entomologist Dr. Mike Merchant, of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This practice is dangerous, and a poor way to control pests."

According to Merchant, gasoline is extremely flammable and fumes can easily make their way through underground insect nests and come up in unexpected places.

"In 1995 a fellow in Cooke County was pouring gasoline on fire ant mounds in his yard and setting them on fire. He thought all his fires were out, but a few minutes later was horrified to see his house burn to the ground. I assume the ants survived."

Experts say that using gaso-

Sleazy "Samuel" Seance Seriously Silences Silly Saul

Round about the caldron go; In the poison'd entrails throw... Eye of newt and toe of frog, Wool of bat and tongue of dog...

A friend and colleague, John Comer, recently quoted these words, words that William Shakespeare put into the mouths of one of the witches in Macbeth.

Hmm. If I didn't know the words came from Macbeth, I'd have thought they came from the Weather Channel. Another sleazy psychic ad. John Comer was writing about the incident recorded in the Bible (1 Samuel 28) where King Saul enlisted the services of a witch at Endor to "bring up" the spirit of the dead prophet Samuel.

Samuel was a fine guy. Saul was not. King Saul, in a saner moment, had banned mediums and spiritists from the land. But now he thought one might come in handy.

Witchcraft and sorcery were forbidden. By God. But now, in a move that was as terminally stupid as it was wicked, Saul went calling on the Witch of Endor.

Samuel had already died. Saul was deathly afraid that he was about to die himself. He had a big battle to fight, and he wanted the help of a psychic to read the next day's newspaper, so to speak.

Big mistake. Oh, the seance seemed to work well enough. "Eye of newt and toe of frog, 1-900-BRINGUP Samuel from the bog." Sorry.

The witch did indeed get Samuel on the line, or some entity who did an excellent Samuel impression. (Commentators are divided on this. The major opinions are that this was a) truly Samuel's spirit allowed by God to make an appearance, or b) an evil spirit in the form of Samuel who deceived this woman, or c) some sort of telepathic or clairvoyant parapsychological phenomenon in which the witch messed with Saul's already messed up mind).

In any case, "Samuel" was pretty peeved, and he spoke God's word of judgment on Saul and his household. Saul would indeed die, along with his sons. 'The good news,' Samuel indicated, 'is that tomorrow you can talk to me in person. The bad news is that you're already as good as dead and this seance was a serious mistake.' The posthumous prophet was right on all counts.

Personally, 'I'd leave those "Psychic for Hire" come-ons alone. If you call 'em up, the best case scenario is that they'll fleece one more in a long line of fools. The worst case scenario is that they can do what they claim to, which I doubt. But I don't doubt that God's opinion on spiritists hasn't changed.

I think it was G. K. Chesterton who said something to the effect that the biggest problem with folks who throw out the time-tested truths of the ages is not that they don't believe something; it is that they'll believe almost anything.

Ain't it just the truth?

Bailey County members join others in National 4-H Week observance

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

The Oct. 10 Bailey County 4-H awards banquet culminates a special time for 4-H'ers: the observance of National 4-H Week.

Bailey County 4-H'ers joined nearly seven million boys and girls nationwide in observing the special week Oct. 3-9.

Building on its national campaign, "4-H... Are You Into It?" 4-H'ers involved themselves by serving their communities. Through 4-H programs, young people combine their concerns with practical skills so they can make a difference.

Working together and having a good time through 4-H encourages youth to make volunteering a lifelong habit.

4-H, conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is open to boys and girls third grade and/or age 9 to age 19, wherever they live.

Programs are conducted in the 3,150 counties of the United States, the District of Columbia and six territories.

Since its beginning nearly 100 years ago, about 45 million Americans from all walks of life have been involved in 4-

H. Some 82 other countries around the world have youth programs similar to 4-H.

The organization thrives because of a unique partnership with the public and private sectors, which contribute at the local, state and national level. Not only does this partnership include financial support, but many business people volunteer their time and talents to boys and girls.

Support at the local level is received through the help of many businesses, financial institutions, civic organizations and service groups.

More information on becoming involved — either as a member or as a volunteer leader — is available by contacting the Bailey County Extension Office at 306 W. Second St. or by calling 272-4583.

4-H is open to all youth and is non-discriminatory.

cat 16, thanks to a great bounce.

Each team had one last serious chance to score the game-winner in regulation.

The Wildcats committed two penalties that forced them to punt. The Mules were hurt by a penalty and an 11-yard sack on their final chance.

Littlefield won the toss in overtime and chose to play defense first.

The drive did not start or end well for the Mules. Barrett was sacked on first down; three plays later, Hodge missed a 46-yard field goal.

When Littlefield had its possession, they made no mysteries. Four times they went to Brandes, and four times they succeeded. On second and goal from the 13, Brandes took a sweep into the end zone for yards 203-215 and district win No. 1.

"(Brandes is) the best running back we've faced this year," Mules head coach David Wood said after the loss. "He may be the best back in the district."

The Mules will now fail to reach their goal of going undefeated in the district, but the season is far from over.

"This (loss) isn't going to kill us," Wood said. "That's one goal. We have several goals."

What may aid the Mules with their goals is two more home games in district play.

Next Friday, though, the Mules will have to go on the road to face Shallowater; they return home the following Friday for Lubbock Roosevelt.

line for insect control is a bad idea not only because of its flammability, but also because it contaminates the environment. According to U.S. Environmental Protection Agency sources, gasoline evaporates more slowly in the soil and can pose a long-term contamination problem.

"Gasoline is a soil, groundwater and storm-water pollutant," says Brian Collins, Director of Environmental Health for the City of Plano.

"It only takes a small amount to contaminate water and, in many cities like Plano, people who pour gasoline into the soil can be cited and fined."

Ironically, some people may use gasoline thinking it is better than a dangerous pesticide.

But pesticides are really much safer, says Merchant.

"Most of today's pesticides are designed to break down relatively quickly in the environment, and few of them pose long-term contamination problems in our area."

Underground yellowjacket wasp or bee nests are best treated by a pest-control professional. According to the Extension Service, underground wasp nests are often difficult to treat and there is high risk of getting stung if treatment is attempted by amateurs.

Fact sheets on effective ant and wasp control are available on the World Wide Web at <http://dallas.tamu.edu/factsheet>.

Lazbuddie royalty

FALSE PROPHETS!

MORE THAN ONCE THE BIBLE WARNS, "BEWARE OF FALSE PROPHETS!" (MAT. 7:15). AGAIN WE NOTE, IN THE BOOK OF JEREMIAH THAT THE LORD SAID "...THE PROPHETS PROPHESY LIES IN MY NAME..." (CHAP. 14:14) THESE ADMONITIONS, AND MANY MORE LIKE THEM, WERE GIVEN IN EARNEST INSTRUCTION TO THE PEOPLE! YET THEY OFTEN DID NOT HEED THE ADVICE OF THE WISE MEN. THEREFORE, IT WAS NOT UNUSUAL FOR A RAGGED BEGGAR TO WANDER INTO A VILLAGE OR TOWN, PROCLAIMING THAT HE HAD JUST COME OUT OF A FAST IN THE WILDERNESS AND WAS SPEAKING WITH THE LORDS VOICE! HAVING CONVINCED A FEW OF THE MORE SIMPLE-MINDED ONES THAT HE WAS INDEED A MESSENGER FROM THE LORD, IT WAS NO BIG DEAL FOR THE BEGGAR TO START FREE-LOADING, LIVING OFF THE BEST THAT THE POOR VILLAGERS COULD SCROUNGE OUT OF THEIR MEAGRE LARDERS!

Reading to toddlers is being studied

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL
HOUSTON — A study is under way to determine if pediatricians can influence language development by encouraging parents to read to their infants and toddlers.

"Parents start reading to their children at age 3 to 4 years, but to think of sharing books with the 9- to 12-month-old is not really second nature," said Dr. Teresa Duryea Rice, an assistant professor at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Rice is the lead investigator in a study to measure how pediatricians can influence early reading and what effect the exposure to books will have on language development.

"Parents really look at pediatricians as their guides. If we talk to them about preventing injuries, shouldn't we also be talking about things that could increase language development or prevent school failure later?" she said.

The four-year clinical trial of 250 children is approaching the midway mark. Half the children have been given age-appropriate books to take home after well-check visits, as well as one-on-one counseling with parents on the importance of reading. The other half has not received any intervention.

All the children are evaluated at each well-check visit from 9-to-12 months old to 4 years old. A standardized language test is used.

Rice said that along with measuring the effects on language development, researchers hope to influence later academic success.

"We're hoping that by developing an early love for reading, the child will be better prepared for school and have a decreased rate of school failure," she said.

Another goal is to design a program that pediatricians can easily adopt in their offices. The pediatrician's individual role would only be a couple of minutes, Rice said, but a program in which a volunteer reads to children in the waiting room could complement that effort.

Rice modeled her study after the National Reach Out and Read Program, which uses health care providers to encourage parents to read to their children. The Houston READ Commission provides support for Rice's study.

"The word is out that reading is important, but I still see parents struggling to get through the day with their families and everything they have going on. Devoting 15 minutes a day to read to a 9-month-old is not something they think about, but it offers a great opportunity for bonding," she said.
