Higher Draft Number Needed

Local Board No. 36, Executive Secretary, Mrs. Jewell Reeves, announced today that random selection number 184 is the highest lottery number reached in 1970, however, the board spokesman said, it may be necessary to go to a higher random selection number than the previous high number in order to satisfy the remaining 1970 draft calls.

Mrs. Reaves said that in compliance with the White House Executive Order announced recently, all registrants of Local Board No. 36 who hold the highest reached number or numbers below the highest reached number and who have not been issued orders for induction due to any circumstances, will be considered for carryover into the extended priority selection group if they are classified I-A as of December 31, 1970. Such young men will have their liability for induction extended for the first three months of 1971.

The local board spokesman said that the Executive Order states that registrants who held numbers above the highest reached number of Board No. 36 and are classified I-A on December 31, will be placed in a lower draft priority group on Jan. 1.

Another group we are excited about is the Morton Valley Home Demonstration Club. These club ladies have been having bake sales at auctions to finance improvements to the club house in Morton Valley.

As you come into Morton Valley at the "Y" intersection, notice the new paint and roof job to the club house. The club house is used by other groups in the community, and the H.D. ladies are most energetic in their efforts for improving their community.

Oldest bell in the world is reputed to be that found in the Babylonian Palace of Nimrod, which dates from 1000

New Promise Is Offered By Hog Raising

DALLAS—More and more Texas farmers are agreeing with the words that appear under the head of a smiling pig: "Hogs are Beautiful."

For whether the porkers are really pretty or not, many of them are agreeing that swine production holds particular promise in the state.

Charles Taylor, associate editor of the Texas Farmer-Stockman, explains why in the September issue of the magazine.

Texas has plenty of grain to support feed requirements for an expanded hog industry.

Pigs convert feed to meat more efficiently than other red meat animals, and hence have more potential profit.

Texas markets can use more pork. The state produces only about 25 to 30 percent of all the pork it consumes.

Swine can produce a higher return on investment than any other form of livestock.

"Good management and a liking for the business make the difference between success and failure," Taylor reports.

Taylor cited two cautions about the hog business. Usually high hog prices in the last year led many farmers to take a second look at raising the animals. But by now prices have taken a drop and the U. S. pig crop for 1970 has already been predicted to be the largest since 1943.

Even so, Taylor reports that "The long-term, solid potential for hog production in Texas still remains good."
