LORAINÉ LOCALS

Brief Mention of the Week's Happenings at Busy Town of Lorainé.

Lorainé School Closes.
The public schools of Lorainé closed with the commencement exercises last Monday and Tuesday in the Opera House. The program was in three sections, the first Monday afternoon, the second Monday evening and the third, which was participated in by the graduating class, Tuesday evening.

Each program was a gem and was carried out without a halt or flaw. The arrangements of these programs reflected credit on the pupils and showed that no drones were on the roster, and also spoke volumes for the careful, patient and efficient training of our corps of teachers, who have proved themselves second to none in educational work. If there is one dissatisfied patron, we have not learned the name and we do not believe such an one can be found.

Prof. Helm presented medals to two of the music class, Miss Wanda Altman for proficiency in the advanced class and to Inez Sandling of the beginners class. These medals were the gift of their teacher, Mrs. King.

Pre-nuptial Announcement.

The members of the Standard Club were delightfully entertained by the Junior Standard, Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Max Thomas in North Colorado. The occasion served as a setting for the announcement of the approaching nuptials of Mr. Y. D. McMurry and Miss Fannie Miller, as well as a fitting tribute to the esteem in which the bride-elect was held by the members of the club.

The hall, dining room and sitting room were beautifully decorated chiefly with red rambler roses, the hours beguiled with enthusiastic games of amination, and passed with highest handpainted souvenirs. At the height of the enjoyment, a telegraph messenger boy strode up the walk and knocked with business air and important mien upon the door. Miss Elenor Van Tuij received the wire and read it to the clubs. Its purport was that the bride-elect would meet the prospective groom at Hymen's altar on June 7, without fail.

Upon the conclusion of the reading of the message, and after the brisk shower of congratulations had somewhat abated, Miss Elsie Hooper with an idea to the fitness of things drew a huge yellow cat from a bag. After the members had regaled themselves with refreshments served by the hostess, and the positively very last tide of further congratulations had swept over Miss Fannie, the members dispersed with the impression of a most delightful afternoon.

Ladies Union Prayer Meeting.

The Ladies Union Prayer Meeting was held Tuesday at the Baptist church. This was conducted by Mrs. Mulkey, the organizer of the meeting 16 years ago. Her subject was Humbleness, and she made a fine talk using as an example the woman of Canaan, whose daughter was vexed with a devil and who was willing to receive the crumbs that fell from the masters table. There was a large audience present and all felt that it was good to be there.

QUALITY IS ECONOMY

A Trip Around the World.

By W. E. BERRY.

In New York City.

We were now sailing up Long Island and soon will be in the great city where I will stay a few days and see the sights. I landed and my trunk was examined. The people here seemed to be all busy. They have more motion and get up to them than they have in the old world. I went over the city some. Saw Fifth Avenue, Broadway, Central Park, Madison Square Gardens, the Battery and Castle Garden. They told me Fifth Avenue was the richest street in the world. The total assessment along the avenue is but $49,449,000. At the same time it is worth seven times that much. The Vanderbilt house cost $3,000,000 without the land it is built on, which would be worth another million. W. K. Vanderbilt's mansion cost $2,000,000 and his land is assessed at $500,000, and Mr. Webb's two son-in-laws houses are assessed at $400,000. James Gordon Bennett's house cost $350,000 and R. Bonner pays taxes on $750,000. This is the richest property I ever saw in my travels. The great city has an immigrant arriving every 46 seconds; every three minutes some one is arrested; every seven minutes there is a funeral; every 13 minutes a couple gets married; every 42 minutes a new business firm starts up; every 48 minutes a building catches fire; every 48 minutes a ship leaves the harbor; every 51 minutes a new building is erected; every 55 seconds a passenger train arrives; every hour and thirty minutes some one is killed by accident; every seven hours some one falls in business; every eight hours an attempt is made to kill some one; every eight and a half hours some couple is divorced; every ten hours some one commits suicide. Every two days some one is murdered. So you see the city of New York is a hustler when it gets down to business, with its bridges, ships, museums, libraries, parks and gardens, theatres and concert halls, her tunnels and underground railways and overhead railways, ferry boats and war ships.

I now took the train, the New York Central railroad for Michigan where I left two years before. General Grant was making his trip around the world at this time and while he was worshipped, feasted and fussed over by kings and queens on this trip, I was eating hard tack and salt horse on mine.

I lived in Maryland for five years during Cleveland's administration and have been in Washington many times, just one hour's ride from Baltimore. The capitol at Washington covers three square acres of ground. The senate chamber is 113x81 feet. The long apartment in the rear of the chamber known as the marble room, is constructed wholly of marble. The ceiling rests upon four Corinthian columns of Italian marble. Adjoining the marble room are the president's rooms, and on the opposite side is the vice president's room, with the senate post office just behind. The south wing of the capitol is occupied by the representatives with numerous offices and committee rooms. The hall of the house is the largest legislative chamber in the world measuring 139 feet in length and 93 in width, and 36 in height. The library of congress occupies the whole western portion of the central building. It also contains 430 rooms which are used for offices and committees and storage purposes. It has 639 windows, 550 doorways, 140 fire places, 261 wash basins, 14 bath tubs, 15 ventilating fans, 18 motors, 8 elevators, boiler 2,000 horse power, 8 steam pumps and over 14,000 feet of skylights and 25,000 incandescent lamps of 16 candle power. On the outside is 40 acres of land which is kept up as pleasure grounds with walks, flowers, and shrubs, beautiful to look at. Time and space again forbids me to mention all the principal buildings such as the Treasury building, Patent Office, White House, ship yards and the principal avenues, well worth seeing.

We had now passed Detroit and were on the Flint & Pere Marquette railway. This road took me to Ludington, my starting point.

That fiery dart that Cupid shot at me on Harwood Island has never healed. At times it seemed well, but it breaks out afresh again. A few more days will tell the tale if it can be cured or not. Can it be possible I am so close, so near, and perhaps so far, and what if after all, should the bird be flown. One thing I can do; I can ramble the world round and round and plough the ocean again where the waves run mountain high. But can I ever forget her? No, not until the day I die. I arrived in Ludington only seven miles from Her. How fast time flies, and how thoughts will arise up in our minds at times. The bird had not flown, but the wound from the fiery dart has healed forever. Two weeks later in the month of June, two souls were made one forever.

I have now come to the end of my long journey and will say this to the young men, of 16 to 25; if you have a mind for traveling, now is the time to do it, at this age. I can take twenty-five dollars and go around the world for that. But remember one thing, you must be ready and willing to work and lend a helping hand wherever you see it is wanted. Let no one do your thinking in business, religion and politics. If you think your word is much you will be cured if you try it on a strange bank. Remember that everybody's companion is nobody's friend. Don't get discouraged because people laugh at you and ridicule you when you are trying your best. Every successful man has had the same experience, for in fact it seems to be one of the prices we have to pay for success. Learn to take life as it comes, but be sure to make the best of it before it goes for no one is a fool always, every one sometimes.

In writing these few lines, I have tried in my weak way to make known a few of the sights and scenes that I have been an eye witness to and if I have in any way or manner helped any of my fellow beings, I shall feel I have been amply paid.

Then here is to those loving hearts, And oft their travels let the world know them, And thanks be to those for story gems, That the world would never know Without them.

I have searched for hidden treasures, that eluded another's gaze, I have tried to find contentment, in the country I have stayed, I have tried to see the beauty spread before me in rain, tempest, shine I have tried to place before you, things you also can find.

FRESNANS IN AUTO VIEW
MEXICAN WAR SCENES

F. S. Kelper and Family in Interesting Trip Along Texas Border.

J. D. Morgan, local representative of the E-M-F Automobile Co., has received a letter from F. S. Kelper who with his family, left for Colorado, Texas, three weeks ago in an E-M-F "30" touring car.

The Kelper family reached their destination on the twenty-first after an interesting trip unmarred by trouble or accident. While driving along the border several parties of Mexican troops were seen, and upon arrival at El Paso they witnessed the rebels ready to attack Juarez.

While Mr. Kelper would have liked to cross the line there was too much danger of being shot, to say nothing of the risk of arrest.

The route followed led from Fresno to Los Angeles, then along the railroad to Indio. At Mecca, six miles from Indio, the railroad was left and the road led straight across the desert. The Colorado was crossed at Ehrenberg, and Phoenix was the next stop. From there the autoists went to the Roosevelt dam where a half day was spent in inspecting the works, and fishing. Twenty-five pounds of trout were caught in an hour.

Leaving the dam they went to Globe thence to Bowie, then through Deming. The rest of the way to El Paso was very difficult, many miles being covered while ploughing through sand. Leaving El Paso the road followed the Rio Grande. Here they encountered the worst sand of the trip and there was absolutely no escaping it. However the E-M-F made every foot of the way under its own power.

The last 138 miles was over good auto roads and the party came spinning into town at a 25-mile clip.

The distance covered was 1625 miles. 143 gallons of gasoline were consumed and 10 gallons of oil. There were no engine troubles of any sort and no repairs were necessary. It was a good test for any car and this one stood it well.

The above was clipped from the Fresno (Cal.) Herald. Mr. Kelper, the new auto man has quite a collection of pictures taken on this trip and also has built a lot of interesting incidents to relate concerning the trip.

For a good cigar see E. B. Morgan.

Wharton Potatoes.
The different railroads running into the Wharton country have been gathering statistics showing that 950 cars of potatoes will be shipped from this famous potato section this season and it is believed that the potato crop this year will be fully two weeks in advance of previous seasons.

Texas produces about 4,000,000 bushels of potatoes per annum and supplies a large per cent of the potatoes for northern markets.

THE farm buildings are often at the mercy of flames. A minute's time gained at the outbreak of a fire, means saving the property. A call on the Bell Telephone saves the precious minutes. The far-sighted farmer appreciates its protection as well as its economic value. The best time to join the army of progressive farmers is now. Consult our local manager.

TRUSTEES ELECTED.

School Trustees Are Elected on Last Saturday.

Saturday last was school trustee election day for the Independent School District of Colorado. There was but little excitement manifested and not a very heavy vote polled. Only four were to be elected and there were but four names on the ticket as follows: J. P. Majors, S. D. Vaughan, Y. D. McMurry and J. T. Davis, these gentlemen were all elected without opposition and which, when added to the holdovers will make a most excellent board and our school affairs are again in good hands.

A Merry Outing Crowd.

Early last Monday morning a merry crowd of girls chaperoned by Miss Ellis, loaded their camp equipage into a wagon, with Clinton Smith as Jehu, and went out to Judge Coe's ranch, to spend a few days in camp, fishing and having a good time generally. No men or boys were allowed within two miles of the camp. Some of the boys wanted to stand guard but the girls would have none of it. The party was composed of Misses Ellis, Ollie, Ethel and Pauline Pritchett, Nora Bandford, Mabel Smith, Fannie and Lala Farmer, Lela and Irene Whipkey. They returned Wednesday, sunburned and tired and well satisfied with their outing. Mrs. McKinney who lives on the place provided a vacant house for them to sleep in and kept an eye on them during their stay. We have been unable to learn just how many pounds of fish were caught.

While in camp, Miss Ellis was notified of her election as principal of the Colorado schools for next term.

It Might Have Been.

(By M. Press Reporter.)

The Women's Missionary Council met last month in St. Louis and held a great meeting but the thing of great importance was not settled. It was thought that the council would unite the Home and Foreign Conferences and auxiliaries but they decided that this could not be done, they could only recommend the societies could do as they liked. Like getting married. Miss Helm said those who wanted to could marry and those who chose might remain single. So we are single or double just as we like but its cheaper to unite, as the dues are less.

We might have had our Foreign Mission Conference if our officers had not have been so sure of union and forestalled the council session.

We rise to a point of information. What has become of the Colorado & Robert Lee railroad the "clinking" of which was jointly celebrated by Sweetwater and Colorado more than a year ago?—Roscoe Times.

It is an embryonic state of innocuous disquietude.

Have You a Boy to Spare?

The saloon must have boys or it must shut up its shop. Can't you find one?

It is a great factory and unless it can have 2,000,000 from each generation for raw material, some of the factories must close up and the operatives be thrown out upon a cold world and the public revenue dwindle.

One family out of every five must contribute a boy in order to keep up the supply.

Will you help? Which one of your boys shall it be?

Are you a father? Have you given your share to keep up the supply for this great public institution that is helping pay your taxes and kindly electing public officers for you?

Have you contributed a boy? If not some other family has had to give more than its share. Are you selfish? Voting to keep the saloon open to grind up boys and then doing nothing to keep up the supply.

Ponder these questions, ye voters, and answer them to God, to whom you will one day give account for votes as well as prayers.

And ye mothers, wives and daughters are you by precept, example and influence in every possible direction doing all you can to save the boys from the enticements of the legalized liquor saloon and hasten the day when it shall be outlawed, and curse our fair land no more?

If not, why not?—Rutherford Register.

COMPOUND CALLOUSES

Tells Splendid Cure for Them and All Foot Troubles.

A compound callosus is the secondary stage when it grows inward and presses on the nerves, causing intense pain. Callosus never cure themselves but always get worse, sometimes irritating the whole nervous system. The following is a most effective and speedy cure: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give the desired results.) The soreness will disappear immediately and the callosus can be easily peeled off. Repeat this for several nights. A little olive oil rubbed into skin is very beneficial."

This Calocide is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments. Bunions, corns and ingrowing nails get instant relief and are soon cured. Bad smelling and sore feet need but a few treatments. Calocide is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually enough to put the worst feet in fine condition. It will prove a blessing to persons who have been vainly trying ineffectual tablets and foot powders.

Failed in Health

"My mother died six years ago," writes Miss Ruth Ward, of Jerseyville, Ill., "and left me to care for six children. I had never been strong; and this, with the shock of her death, was too much for me.

"I failed in health. I was tired all the time and did not want to go anywhere, nor care for company. I had the headache all the time and such bearing-down pains. A very dear friend advised me to take Cardui, as it had done her so much good, so I commenced to use it and now I am in good health."

Take CARDUI

Women's pains are relieved or prevented and women's strength is quickly restored, by Cardui, the woman's tonic. You yourself know best if you need it, or not. If you do need it, do not delay, but commence to use it at once. Every day of delay, only lets you slide further down the hill.

Don't wait, then, but begin to take Cardui today, for its use, no matter how prolonged, cannot harm you and will surely do you good.

SCURRY COUNTY FARMERS.

BETTER BE SAFE THAN LOSE A CROP.

Scared of Boll Worms are Preparing For War in Time of Peace.

An order was placed in Snyder this week for 350 lamps to be used by the citizens of Dunn in destroying the boll worm miller. The farmers of Dunn are starting out right and their action is worthy the consideration of the farmers of the entire county.

Destroying the Miller.

J. C. Beakley, of Dunn put out a lamp in his field of cotton at Dunn last Friday night and on Saturday morning found seventy dead millers of the web worm variety. It is estimated that one to ten acres is sufficient and the cost of burning the lamp is about two cents per night if burned all night. Three hundred fifty lamps have been ordered by the farmers of Dunn at an average cost of about 29 cents each, from which it is seen that the outlay and cost of operation is small. The boll worm does more damage of a wet season, and every indication points to a good crop.

The Commercial Club of Snyder has the following published and what is good for or applicable to Scurry county is also good for Mitchell so we reproduce it for what it is worth. To the Scurry County Cotton Growers: Following herewith we her to hand you a letter from Mr. F. I. Townsend who as you are undoubtedly aware, is not only a practical farmer, but a gentleman schooled in the latest and best methods for the advancement of agriculture. The accompanying article from him is not from hearsay, but from facts gained from many sources and principally from reports and personal inspection of the United States Government work on this very topic.

The system of using lights is a good one, but it must be remembered that the millers do no damage of themselves, they only lay the eggs. Each miller moth is capable of depositing thousands of eggs and unless all of the millers are killed by the lights, it means that even a very few of them remaining can do untold havoc from the fact that their eggs hatch very quickly and turn loose an army of worms.

The worm is the thing that does the damage and must be combatted with the best means possible and that means is the use of poison and is the object of this county wide campaign. All along the Red river and especially in the state of Louisiana, poisoning the boll worm has long been found the only sure method and is handled the same as herein contained.

We want every cotton grower to read Mr. Townsend's article and BE PREPARED, and after he has gotten his plants to the point where they are well fruited and the worm appears and he cares to save his crop to enter into this work, as we know it means dollars and cents to him.

To the Farmers of Scurry County:

There was perhaps never in the history of Scurry County prospects as favorable to crops at this season of the year as now exist. Our lands were never more thoroughly and scientifically prepared before and were therefore in an ideal condition to receive the bountiful rains which have fallen, and as a result we have an abundant supply of moisture extending deep down into the sub-soil, which if properly conserved will carry our crops far towards maturity.

A perfect stand of both cotton and feed stuffs has been obtained from the first planting, all of which is very encouraging and it should be so. Cotton is the great money crop of the South and is the great money crop of Scurry county. Experience has taught us that although we may have an abundant supply of moisture and may use perfect cultural methods, yet, the returns from our cotton crop can be reduced to practically nothing by the ravages of the boll worm.

On August 1, 1908, my cotton crop was as fine as I have ever seen in this county, it had never suffered for moisture, had made a splendid growth, and at that time was loaded with bolls and forms that would have produced three-fourths of a bale to the acre; yet in three weeks time owing to the ravages of the boll worm there was scarcely a boll or form left on my entire crop. A new crop, put on in September, but was practically all destroyed by an early frost, and I gathered less than one-twentieth of a bale to the acre.

It was such a costly experience to me that I did not care to repeat it, so I began an investigation, the purpose of which was to ascertain whether or not there was any known means of effectively combatting this apparently insignificant, but formidable foe of the cotton farmer. I have found there are three methods that have been used with more or less success in combatting the ravages of the boll worm.

First: Planting early maturing varieties of cotton so that the bolls have attained such size and such degree of toughness, that when the August generation of worms are hatched the bolls cannot be entered by them. This method affords but very little protection for obvious reasons.

Second: The planting of strips of corn and cow peas through the cotton field. This method affords considerable protection here, and where used, after planting forty rows of cotton, a strip should be left for five rows of Mexican June corn and continue this through the field, alternating with forty rows of cotton and five rows of corn. The corn should be planted on or near June 1, so as to be in silk and tasseled the last days of July or first days of August. This method will be found more effective if cow peas are planted in the corn ten days after corn planting. The moth producing the boll worm shows a decided preference for corn in the silk and tassel and will therefore deposit her eggs upon the corn and peas in preference to the cotton plant, and therein lies the protection of this method.

Third: By the timely and proper application of poisons, and this is, by far the most effective means of combatting the boll worm. The opinion prevails to great extent among cotton farmers that the boll worm cannot be successfully poisoned because it bores to the interior of bolls and square and does not feed upon the exterior of the plant to any extent. Such a belief is true only of the latter stages of the larva or worm.

The average farmer seldom has his attention attracted by so small a creature as a newly hatched boll worm and therefore the habits of the worm during the early stages of its larval existence is practically unknown to him. It is only during this stage that poison can be effectively used in boll worm control. Immediately upon its escape from the egg the little larva devours its deserted egg shell and then begins a restless search for food. It may wander about here and there for hours frequently tasting or rasping the surface of the leaf or other portion of the plant where it may be in its effort to find suitable food and many of the tiny larvae perish in their attempts to find suitable food. It is during this period that poison is most effective. When entrance has once been effected into a bud or a form there is then no more surface feeding and consequently poisons are of no more avail.

Paris Green at the rate of two pounds to the acre either pure or mixed with cheap flour is an effective poison. London Purple at the rate of two pounds per acre mixed with from 10 to 15 pounds of slacked lime is also effective. These poisons should be applied when the foliage of the plants is damp, early in a morning or late in the evening being the best times. The usual method of applying the poison is by putting it mixed with the lime or flour into two ordinary jute gunny sacks and tying a sack one on each end of a stout pole and putting this pole across the pommel of a saddle and trotting a horse or mule along between the rows, dusting two rows by the same operation. The sacks should be so spaced on the poles as to hang directly over the cotton rows. The horse should be made to trot so as to violently agitate the sacks. Before beginning to apply the poison, the person doing the work should remove all clothing which is to be regularly worn and put on an old cast off suit to be worn only while actually applying the poison. As soon as he quits applying poison remove the clothing in use, take a bath and put on the clothing regularly used. The horse should be thoroughly washed off each time after he has been used to apply the poison. Do this and keep your stock out of the fields of cotton and there is no danger.

It is claimed by some that it is dangerous to pick cotton that has been treated in the foregoing manner. This is untrue, there is absolutely no danger.

No arbitrary rule can be given as to the exact time when the poison should be first applied. During the last days of July or the first days of August when the moths become plentiful in the fields the poison should be applied as you may then know that the moths are busy depositing the eggs which will soon be hatched into worms. Two or even three applications at intervals of ten days may be necessary. The first application as a rule should be made about the last of July and should be repeated in a week or ten days. In case of rain following an application the poisonous dose should be repeated at once.

The boll worm cost the farmers of Scurry county at least five hundred thousand dollars in 1908 which could have been saved by the expenditure of a few cents per acre. Owing to the deficiency of rainfall during the last two years it is highly probable that we will have an excess of rainfall during the present season. Excess of rain makes ideal conditions for the boll worms. It therefore behooves us to prepare NOW to combat its ravages. Arrangements should be made with our druggists to sell us the poison in large quantities at a nominal profit and each farmer should at once place his order for a liberal quantity so as to have it on hand when the necessity for its use arrives.

I have been requested by a number of public spirited citizens to write this article and I gladly do so in the hope that it will redound to the welfare of the people of Scurry county.

Knights of King Arthur.

Friday evening on the Manse lawn Castle Derby No. 1634 of the Knights of King Arthur celebrated their second anniversary with an open meeting for their parents and a few invited friends. The Knights were in full regalia with their handsome swords by their side. The elegant satin banner bearing the name and number of the castle and the very fine U. S. flag were displayed. This is the first time these had ever been used in public.

The main feature of the evening was the debate. The question was, Resolved that Pludragon was the father of King Arthur. Affirmative, Clyde Broadbudd and Lester Ratliff, negative, Harry Ratliff and Alva Hickman. The judges were Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Arbutnot and Miss Stowers. The debate was splendid, eloquence, history, fiction and poetry were used by these little men to prove their points and it was only because somebody had to lose that the affirmatives did lose. One of the judges held out for them but the other two were with the negatives, but all did so well that it was truly an honor to be a loser. Several of the members are preparing for the third degree and this entertainment helped the parents greatly to understand the nature of the work, though of course they were shown none of the secret work.

There was lots of ice cream and cake and all enjoyed the hour when refreshments were served quite as much as the intellectual part of the program. The meeting was held at 6 o'clock to enable all to attend church. It certainly was successful and the Knights and Merlin may well be proud of Derby Castle.
