Hammock-Buchanan Nuptials.

The Methodist church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Wednesday evening when Mr. Garner T. Hammock and Miss Angie Lois Buchanan were married by the groom's father, Rev. R. M. Hammock assisted by Rev. Lyons. The church had been beautifully decorated by Mrs. M. K. Jackson and her Sunday school class of which Miss Angie is a member. Their loving artistic fingers had made of the altar a fairy bower of green and white. The wall space over the arch and back of the altar had been covered with white edged with asparagus ferns. On either side at the back were oval mirrors wreathed with green. The organ was banked with ferns and the choir railing with exquisite oleanders. The altar rail was covered with white festooned with green tall palms being placed at either side. Just in front of the altar railing was placed a white arch twined with trailing bamboo, from the center of the arch a beautiful white dove was suspended and seemed to be floating out of clouds of tulle. Under this the bridal couple stood. The trailing bamboo was used most effectively on the arch of the church.

Miss Mary Coe sang most beautifully "Because You Come to Me," Miss Lela Merrill playing. When she had finished this Loengrin's Wedding Song was exquisitely rendered by Mesdames Hazzard and Jackson as a procession. Dr. Campbell led the way up the north aisle, Mrs. Jack Smith up the south. She was followed by Miss Blanche Hooks, Fannie Bess Earnest, the little ring bearer, Miss Etta Doss, the little flower girl Louise Pearson and Nina Mae Majors, then Miss Elsie Hooper, and the dainty bride upon the arm of her father. Following Dr. Campbell were Joe Smoot, Louis Majors and the groom supported by Reeves Coleman. The grouping about the altar was extremely effective, the attendants passing inside the altar while the bride and groom stood just outside under the arch with the dove of peace suspended above their heads. A solemn hush fell over the crowded church as the father of the groom asked the usual questions and prayed that the lives that were now made one might continue one to the end. The ring ceremony was used the closing prayer being offered by Rev. Lyons. The bride and groom passed down the north aisle followed by the matron of honor Mrs. Smith and Dr. Campbell, the maid of honor Miss Hooper and Reeves Coleman; the two bridesmaids Miss Doss and Miss Hooks, escorted by Joe Smoot and Louis Majors and the little flower girls scattered sweet blossoms for their feet to tread on while the little ring bearer carried her white rose out as proudly as she had borne it in with the ring inside. The bride never looked more beautiful and dainty, her gown was of wavy white satin made with a fish trim trimmed in bands of lovely lace and pearls. Her veil was the becoming new cap style caught on either side with orange blossoms and chains of pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of brides roses and ferns.

The matron of honor was charming in a gown of point de esprit over silk with trimmings of lace. She wore a half wreath of lilies of the valley in her hair and carried carnations and ferns. The maid of honor was attired in an elegant crepe meteor trimmed in twentieth century smoking and pearls. The two bridesmaids wore beautiful frocks of green crepe meteor trimmed in pearl and silver. All carried bouquets of carnations and ferns and wore lilies of the valley in their hair. The little tots were pretty as pictures in dainty lingere frocks with white shoes and baskets of green and white. The groom and other gentlemen were in the conventional black. Immediately following the ceremony an elegant reception was given at the Buchanan home on Chestnut street. The guests were ushered into the parlor where the bridal party formed a receiving line and all were showered with congratulations and good wishes of the company. In the room adjoining, the many elegant gifts were displayed. There were lovely silver, china, cut glass, furniture, rugs and beautiful pictures. In this room and the parlor ferns were used as decoration. In here Mrs. Jackson assisted in receiving. Punch was served in the next room, from a caquetted nook of white and green. The punch bowl being artistically wreathed with grape leaves. Mrs. Jeffers presided in here and Jeanette Earnest and Ruth Buchanan served the cooling nectar. The dining room was beautiful with its lace draped

Methodist Sunday School Contest.

Sunday closed a three month's contest between the men and women of the Methodist Sunday School. Mrs. M. K. Jackson and Mr. J. T. Davis were the captains, one of the reds, the other of the blues. During the last few weeks the contest waxed very warm uninfluenced by weather conditions. Mrs. Jackson had every lady at work and Mr. Davis ran want ads in the paper for men and boys. Sunday being the last day every exertion was made and the house packed. There were thirty six girls in Mrs. Collier's class and Bro. Lyons's class was a close second with thirty-two men.

When the final count was made it was announced that the ladies had won and the treat was on the men. The teacher's meeting Thursday decided upon the form the entertainment will take and just what the losers are going to have to do to be forgiven for not working harder. There were nearly three hundred present Sunday which is unusually good for midsummer when so many are out of town. The contest has awakened enthusiasm in many who were before non attendants and has proven to them that it is possible to do whatever one tries to do.

PROHIBITION IN OKLAHOMA AS SEEN BY A TEXAS WOMAN

By Mrs. Mary Winn Smoot.

If towns can be said to possess personalities, each town that I visited in Oklahoma seemed to have a separate and distinct personality all its own; and a general expression of the citizenship in each place seemed to partake of the individuality of the town's commercial interests. Tulsa, for instance and likewise Sapulpa, is interested largely in the development of its oil and gas fields and public sentiment is controlled by those who have invested their capital in these industries. The town has grown wealthy and prosperous in the last five years from the development of its natural resources and this has been accomplished by eastern capitalists who have invested their money in these industries and have made Tulsa what she is, a prosperous, thriving, growing town of 20,000 in five years' time, cosmopolitan in its nature and disposition because of the mixture of its citizenship, and those oil and gas men, coming as they do from all parts of the world, and especially from other large cities where they have been accustomed to eat and drink without restraint, naturally they chafe at the restrictions they find around them, and against their will by a town which their money has made, and they look upon such attempts at curtailment of their personal liberties as a species of fanatical ruling which they consider nonsensical, impractical, and absolutely a farce, so far as being effective in controlling their appetites is concerned, hence they are inclined to show no respect and little tolerance for prohibitory laws which cannot and do not prohibit, consequently a failure, and having no patience with such impractical ideas of temperance reform naturally this part of the population does not insist on a rigid enforcement of laws that they do not respect.

This being the sentiment of a number of the leading men and investors, whose money has developed the country, it was very easy for me to understand why prohibition is a failure in Tulsa. Although I found a majority of those interviewed on the subject of prohibition absolutely disgusted with it, ready and anxious for a change that will restore the town to decency and morality. I do not want to be understood as representing these people to be advocates of open saloons, or of saloons at all as a benefit to a town, or opposed to temperance and prefer temperance, for such is not the case. The people who expressed themselves as being disgusted were in every respect men and women of the highest moral type, and educated, intelligent, cultured, practical and conservative, and standing as a unit for all moral issues. In other words, they represent the very best of Oklahoma citizenship, but they do not hesitate to say that prohibition does not prohibit in Tulsa, and many of them are convinced now that it never can be made to prohibit in Tulsa as long as a government license is issued to those who want to sell it, and as it seems impossible to stop the sale of liquor, these men and women are in favor of regulating the traffic if it is to be sold so that the town can get the benefit of the revenue, and if the saloons must be to have them so regulated that police control will not be impossible. As it now is, and most of them believe, a few saloons can better be controlled than hundreds of bootleggers' joints. They are right about this, because the bootlegger follows in the wake of prohibition as the night follows day. Oklahoma today instead of having several hundred open saloons as formerly, has thousands of bootleggers doing business, both in highways and byways, and utterly beyond police control.

Can Not Stop Whiskey Shipments. As indicative of the general sentiment of Tulsa, the following expressions may serve to show how the majority feel about prohibition: Mr. Riddick, proprietor of a large department store, said to me, "I don't want to assume the attitude of being opposed to temperance, because I am for temperance first, last and all the time, but I am practically convinced that prohibition does not make for temperance in Oklahoma in the large cities, though it may work pretty well in the small towns where the laws can be enforced. We are up against a very grave proposition, from the fact that the United States government issues license to bootleggers in direct violation of our state prohibition laws, and this alone makes it certain that we cannot ever hope to stop the traffic. Then comes the supreme court, handing down a decision that it is illegal to interfere with interstate commerce business by confiscating goods in transport, and that the liquor being shipped in is the property of the railroad until it is in the hands of the purchaser.

Boys Are Not Protected at All.
If a bootlegger is arrested it may be proved that he sold liquor to some one and as this some one never can be found to testify against him, in nine cases out of ten he is turned loose from lack of evidence to convict him. So there we are with our prohibition laws saddled on us that cannot be enforced and do not prohibit and the bootlegger given every advantage of the law, and in selling he sells to grown folks and children alike, so the youth of the land is not protected at all. How can we say our laws are good when we see every day evil and totally immoral effect on society. High license and local option, I believe, is the only way the whiskey traffic can be regulated, and I know I prefer licensed saloons to bootleggers' joints." Mr. Sanger, a druggist, said the same thing. Ten more of the leading merchants of the town expressed similar views.

Judge Hyams, United States Commissioner, said: "If prohibition prohibits here I have yet not seen any evidence of it, and I am convinced that local option is the only way to regulate the liquor traffic since it is impossible for a state to control it." Judge Hyams knows what he is talking about of course, since he knows exactly how many revenue licenses are in use in Tulsa.

Ten Year Old Boy Buys Whiskey.
Dr. Shepard, a prominent physician, said: "The only way to make prohibition prohibit is to stop the manufacture of it. If it is not to be done, the next practical step is to regulate it and high license and local option with restrictions thrown around saloons, as to their hours of opening and closing, forbidding seats or tables, wine rooms or gambling rooms to be run in connection with the saloon, taking away all screens and allowing no amusements in the way of music, pictures or other entertainment and a forfeiture of license, if caught selling to minors, etc., is the only way to regulate saloons. With all these regulations, and by restricting the number of saloons in a town, will have a better result as a temperance movement than this pernicious prohibition system we now have, which does not prohibit drinking and selling, nor anything else. It certainly does not throw any protection around the boys of the country. I know from experience with my own child. Recently I had occasion to have a negro man arrested and placed in jail for six months for selling liquor to my ten year old boy, so I know what I am talking about. It is a farce in so far as protecting the young boy is concerned."

Boys Drum For Boot Leggers.
I was amazed at this, but the doctor's statement was confirmed by a number of other citizens, who not only said this was true, but that the news boys, street urchins and boys of respectable citizens act as steers of the bootlegger joints and receive good commission for their work. This is also the case in other towns that I visited. In Muskogee these boys even meet trains and follow the strangers to hotels, then shyly watching their chance, sneak up to a man and say, "Mister if you want anything to drink, I can tell you where to go. If the suggestion meets with the approval of the stranger and he wants to know where liquor is to be purchased, accepts the boy's invitation. The boys usually say, "you just follow me, and when you see me go to the back of a store or up a stairway, you follow and you'll see where to get what you want." The boy, of course, claims a commission on each sale, and I am told they make enough money to support themselves in this way. This is a sample of how prohibition saves the youth from temptation."

Prohibition Promotes Crime.
In confirmation of what Dr. Shepard said, Charles T. Reuter, a prominent lawyer and clerk of the board of education, said: "Prohibition is a roaring farce in Tulsa and all over Oklahoma. It prohibits nothing, but promotes crime and lawlessness of all kinds and breeds disrespect for all laws. The bootlegger has not and never will be driven from Tulsa. You can say for me that I personally have seen women and children selling beer and whiskey. I have seen a woman with her babe on one arm, pulling corks of bottles with the other and handing the bottles to her customer. Not long ago three young men were arrested for being drunk on the stairway of the High School building and arraigned before the board of education for the offense, said they bought the liquor from a joint running near the fair grounds and that the joint was still running unmolesied. Does this look as if prohibition is a success? Does it look like removing saloons from the paths of the youth and protecting him from the whiskey evil? Not on your life. He could not buy whiskey from a licensed saloon because the saloonkeeper would not jeopardize his business for fifteen cents, but the bootlegger, a law breaker of the lowest type, does not hesitate to go a step farther and sell to a baby, if the baby has the money. Texas has got the best local option laws in the world and that state has better profit by the experience of Oklahoma and steer clear of the curse of statewide prohibition. For it is indeed a curse." Other lawyers expressed the same views and mentioned many cases of women and children selling liquor at their homes. Several bankers expressed themselves as disgusted with present conditions and will welcome a change that will not only succeed in promoting temperance, but will also give Tulsa decent places where liquor can be bought openly if it is to be bought at all and the city get the revenue.

Women Disgusted With Prohibition.

Thinking possibly the women of Tulsa might have opinions worth while concerning the prohibition question I interviewed a number of the leading women in church and club circles, and found them, with few exceptions, voicing the sentiments of the business and professional men, and, while I didn't find a single woman really advocating saloons, I found many who think saloons preferable to joints. Mrs. Paul Galoway, prominent in club and society, and wife of a leading business man, said: "I was born and reared in Texas, where I have been accustomed to licensed saloons all my life, but I have seen more drunkenness in the four years I have been in Tulsa than in all my life in Texas. For my part I prefer open saloons properly managed, to the hundreds of joints with which Tulsa abounds, and as for the whiskey one must use in cases of sickness, or for cooking purposes, is almost like taking one's life in one's hands to use it; it is such vile stuff, prohibition here is a farce." Mr. Galoway, coming in at this moment, agreed with his wife that prohibition is a great joke in Tulsa, and said he was convinced that local option is the only way to regulate the whiskey evil. He said: "If prohibition promotes morality I see no sign of better morals here, it seems that there is more depravity to the square inch than any place I have ever been when it comes to law breaking." Mrs. Shallenberger, a club woman, is for prohibition, if the laws can be enforced, and does not think even high license saloons good for the young men of the country, but she is thoroughly disgusted with conditions which prohibition has wrought. Mrs. Seaman, another club woman, is disgusted with prohibition.

What The Sheriff Said.

By this time practically every one interviewed, both prohibitionists and local optionists having admitted that prohibition does not prohibit, but some claiming that the fault is entirely at the door of the officers, I turned my attention to the officers, because I wish to know to tell why they do not enforce the laws, if it is the case that they do not, so I went to the court house to interview the sheriff, having first gone to the city hall and police court and been told by the chief of police and his force that they were cleaning up Tulsa, and that raids are being made every day and as a result the bootleggers had been driven from the city to just outside the corporation limits that it is now up to the county officials to rid the county of the offenders, etc., notwithstanding the lid was on, so to speak, I first examined the police docket and found that arrests are being made sufficiently to bring in a revenue from drunks and disorderly conduct and the like to the tune of between $3000 and $5000 a month in fines. "Lady," said the sheriff, "I suppose the people who tell you that the laws are not being enforced think they know what they are talking about, but I'm here to tell you they don't and I don't suppose most of 'em could in a thousand years be made to see just why it is impossible for prohibition laws to be strictly enforced and the bootlegger driven from the state, nor do they have any idea what an officer is up against in trying to do his duty. In the first place, it is really the duty of the city officer to raid those joints and keep the town clear of bootleggers and as they tell you they have driven them to the outskirts of the city and it is now up to us to run them out of the city that may be truth for here are plenty of them in the edges of the town as well as right in town, but I don't suppose it ever occurs to the people who sit up and criticize the officers that a sheriff and his deputies usually have a world of regular work to do connected with the courts, enough to keep them continually busy without making raids on joints, although we do whenever we are called on, which is continually, nor do they seem to know that it will take more men and more money than the county can afford to keep the liquor laws enforced. We have neither the money nor the men to enforce the laws; we can't get men to work for nothing, so there we are on the proposition. Again, the law says we must proceed in a certain way to do certain things. If a man has an idea a joint is running in his neighborhood he must go before the county attorney and make complaint, then I am given a search warrant to raid the premises. I make the raid and if I find no more liquor than the law entitles the fellow to have for his own use I can make no arrests. If I make the arrest and when he comes to trial, if no evidence can be found against him showing he has violated the law by selling liquor his case is dismissed, and he is turned loose. We have done our duty in the case and get no credit for it, but when the jury refuses to convict and there is no evidence to convict with, we have done all we can, yet we are accused with not enforcing the laws. The fact is the bootleggers are too many for our money, so there we are and our courts can't get convictions because our juries usually fail to find sufficient evidence, so here we are simply up against a proposition too big to handle, yet we are abused and criticized and hauled over the coals because the bootleggers are not driven out. It will bankrupt any county in the state to enforce the prohibition laws and then it can't be done. I could understand what he meant because I made examinations into several court records, for instance, in the October term of the Green county court there were 660 liquor cases set for trial, eighteen came to trial and two convictions secured, the rest were either dismissed or postponed, and no wonder the courts are congested."

Jails Full of Boot Leggers.

This is an illustration of how complicated the proposition is and what the courts and officers are up against. These cases come up by the hundreds and thousands, the counties are all in debt from prosecuting liquor cases and the taxes are already as high as the people can stand; it is my candid opinion that the officers are doing their best to enforce the laws, and as an evidence of the fact, the jails are full of prisoners who have violated the laws and are serving out their sentences or awaiting trial. It is simply a matter of fighting a buzz saw. It is the nature of the buzz saw to buzz as long as power of operation holds out. It seems to be the nature of man to eat and drink whatever his appetite craves as long as what he wants is procurable. Uncle Sam's needing the revenue to run the country is the power that makes liquor procurable for all those who can get the money to buy it and even forbids people to make their own liquor because he does not want competition in this business, so the people who believe that prohibition can eliminate selling of liquor have to fight man's nature and Uncle Sam's buzz saw.

A great many prohibitionists say in arguing their side of the question: "There are laws against stealing and murdering, but those laws are constantly being broken, yet no one ever says 'wipe these laws from the statutes and let every one murder and steal.' Stealing and murder, however, can never be placed in the same category with selling and drinking liquors, nor do juries or judges consider them in the same class of lawlessness. It is not nature for man to murder his fellow man, both are done under provocation, but it is decidedly the first law of nature that every man puts into operation before he is one hour old, to quench the thirst and satisfy hunger. Every living thing has this nature, and the attempt to regulate the human appetite and to make laws forbidding men to drink or eat what they choose will always meet with great opposition, more than any other law that can be thought of, and there will be millions of violators of this law where there are ten violators of murder and stealing laws. Men do not consider it a crime to buy drinks, nor do they look upon the seller as criminals. This is the reason why juries refuse to convict in liquor cases, and the buyer refuses to testify against the seller. The respectable, law-abiding people of Oklahoma, who neither buy nor sell, and most cases do not even drink, are realizing the futility of trying to enforce laws that interfere with the human appetite and liberties, hence they recognize the evil as a great one at best, believing that since it cannot be controlled and suppressed the next best thing to do in order to restore a semblance of order is to regulate and restrict liquor selling and claim their fair share of the revenue just as the United States government does, and all the while make strenuous efforts to educate the youth as to the evil effects which the abuse of any privilege will bring.

NOTE—This is the story of statewide prohibition in every state where it has been forced upon any community, whether large or small, against the wishes of the people of that particular community. There are places in Oklahoma where no liquor can be bought, and where the law is observed, but the reason is that the people of the particular counties and communities favor the law. Is there any reason why any local option county in Texas should exchange the present system of local option laws for statewide prohibition? To attempt to thrust it upon communities who do not want it will be a costly experiment, and will tend in the end to lessen the respect that the people in local option counties have for prohibition laws. There are scores of counties in Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama, which, before statewide prohibition was adopted, were free from "bootleggers" and whiskey joints that since the adoption of statewide prohibition with whiskey peddlers and "bootleggers" with their attendant evils.

LET EVERY MAN WHO LIVES IN A LOCAL OPTION COUNTY ASK HIMSELF IF THE PROPOSITION WAS TO VOTE FOR WHISKEY BACK INTO HIS COUNTY, THOUGH THE VOTES OF THE PEOPLE IN THE WET COUNTIES, WOULD HE WANT IT DONE? WOULD HE THINK IT FAIR? WOULD HE STAND FOR IT? NOT MUCH, THEN WHY NOT DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD BE DONE BY?

Weather still dry and hot. Crops are holding up very good so far. Late feed will suffer soon unless rain comes. Early feed is already made. Cotton is holding its own.

Our warmest day was Saturday the 23rd, the glass was 110 degrees in the shade.

A wet hen and a porter makes a good team but two is company, three is none and 4 is too many.

Mr. A. B. Maxfield and family and Henderson Witten and family were visiting here this week.

A large crowd went to Colorado to attend the funeral of Mrs. A. B. Maxfield, whom we have known for 15 years. Knew her to be a kind, loving and Christian woman, a true wife and a loving mother and one of the best neighbors we ever had. During her seven years affliction we never heard her complain or mourn her sad lot. A woman who always tried to do her duty to everyone. May her soul rest in peace, for pain was her portion, physic was her food, groans was her devotion, turgs done her no good; but Christ was her Redeemer who always knows best. He has taken her from this sinful world and set her soul to rest.

On Friday the 23rd the fish horn sounded and 37 answered the roll call and we hastened to the waters where the finny tribe makes their home and after two hours of toil we captured enough to satisfy the demands of everyone and brought home enough for supper. With a good jovial crew, plenty of ice water and a stomach full of fish, who wouldn't go fishing.

A Card of Thanks.

Reflecting upon the unlimited kindness and sympathy manifested during the illness and death of our dear wife and mother we feel utterly powerless or our few feeble words to convey to them our heartfelt gratitude. Especially do we remember the beautiful floral offerings and the lovely dinner when with bleeding hearts we returned from the cemetery, dreading the loneliness of the home we found the dining room a picture of loveliness. Everything that loving hands could make. Prepared and carried from the homes of the nearest neighbors and dearest friends.

Please know and feel our gratitude and love and may God's richest blessings rest upon you always.

Sincerely,

A. B. MAXFIELD and Family.

JUDGE S. J. ISAACS.

Prohibition Speaking at the Tabernacle By the Distinguished Judge. Hear Him.

Saturday night July 1, at 8:30, Judge S. J. Isaacs of Midland will speak on prohibition. Colorado should turn out en-masse and give the Judge a big crowd. Let every man, woman and child prepare to come out and give the distinguished personage a royal welcome and hear his great speech on this subject. Let everybody come and help win this fight by at least 75,000 majority.

San Francisco, Cal., June 24 1911. Chas. A. Pierce, Colorado, Texas.

Please say to the school for me that we have seen some wonderful men, heard some wonderful things. The average attendance at the Convention is 10,000 and we meet morning, afternoon and night. In the parade which marched through the principal business and residence streets of San Francisco were over ten thousand men carrying bibles and in the Texas division was your superintendent carrying the banner of the First Baptist Sunday School of Colorado City. Kindest regards to you all.

Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C. (Special)—Almost contemporaneous with the coronation of England's King George occurred the 25 anniversary of the marriage of President and Mrs. Taft. And never did the grounds surrounding the White House and, for that matter, the historic home of the President itself, present a more beautiful picture than on the occasion of William Howard Taft's silver anniversary Monday evening. The grand old elms, the oaks and the magnolias were festooned with varicolored electric bulbs; searchlights played upon the fountains on the north and south lawns making the falling waters look like liquid silver and then from hidden recesses red, green and blue lights were thrown upon the spray enriching the color scheme until the grounds presented a fairy-land of rioting color, which coupled with the multi-colored gowns of the hundreds of women in attendance upon the reception, exceeded anything the Capital City of the nation has ever witnessed.

Notwithstanding the brilliancy of the occasion, made especially notable by the presence of diplomats, in their gorgeous costumes, the army and navy statesmen and ex-statesmen, and a host of distinguished citizens from all parts of the country, the democracy of the celebration will be in fine contrast to the splendor, the pomp and circumstance which are necessary essentials to the coronation of King George and Queen Mary.

It is estimated that quite 3,000 people attended the silver wedding anniversary of the President and Mrs. Taft an international character having been given the event by the cordial and friendly greetings from a score or more of the rulers of the world who embraced the opportunity to felicitate the President not only upon the twenty-fifth wedding day but that the country, which he so ably and so fearlessly represents is at profound peace with all nations of the earth.

A conservative estimate places the cost of the celebration at $25,000, the donors representing almost every phase of our metropolitan life. The Senate and House of Representatives, the Supreme Court, members of the Cabinet, the members of the Press, the Y.M.C.A. Club, Y.W.C.A. Club, the neighborhood friends of Cincinnati, of Augusta, Ga., and hundreds of other individuals as well as associations vying one with another in their expressions of congratulation on this day of days in President Taft's busy life and expressing their esteem through the art of the silversmith.

Did you eat three dozen bananas last year? If you did not you did not get your share. Over 40,000,000, or more than 3,000,000,000 bananas were imported into the United States in 1910. The immensity of this shipment can be more readily grasped by the statement that it would cover an area of 29 feet wide, reaching from New York to San Francisco, or, placed end to end would extend thirteen times around the earth at the equator. The "slip" in the peels would launch the ships of the world. The wholesale value of the 1910 importation, at the point of export, was over $12,500,000 while in all probability the consuming public of the United States expended over $35,000,000 for this delectable fruit.

During the past ten years number of bananas consumed in the United States has more than doubled, and the increasing tropical acreage under cultivation assures even more startling figures for time next decade. Many European countries are importing large quantities of bananas; last year Great Britain consumed over $8,000,000 worth, Germany over 1,000,000 and France $500,000.

Gov. Aram J. Pothier of Rhode Island, in a letter to Secretary J. F. Ellison of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress endorsing the efforts being put forth by that organization to crystallize sentiment in behalf of a systematic development of the waterways of the country, says:

"I believe that the sooner a comprehensive waterway policy is adopted by the National Government, the sooner all sections of the country will secure due recognition of their demands for improved water transportation facilities.

"The Atlantic Coast states, with their vast trade interests and increasing population, would be particularly favored by the construction of the links in the intra-coastal canal already surveyed by the government, which would provide a continuous protected water route from Boston Harbor to Florida. I believe these states would all be glad to co-operate with other sections of the country in a movement which would result in gaining for all sections what they desire and so urgently need. "The necessity of proper terminal facilities, to which attention is called in the resolutions of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress has been foreseen by the State of Rhode Island, which has recently authorized the expenditure of $600,000 by a State commission for the purchase of shore property and the construction of wharves and public docks."

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away.—Colorado People Have Learned This Fact.

When the healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, kidney weakness may be the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills make sick kidneys well. Can Colorado readers demand further proof than the following statement:

George Win, of Midland, Texas, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the only medicine I ever used that did me any good. For several years my kidneys caused me a great deal of suffering. I had severe pains in my back and if I sat for awhile, it was hard for me to arise. The secretions from my kidneys were too frequent in passage and accompanied by a scalding sensation when being voided. Since taking Doan's Kidney Pills these difficulties have entirely disappeared and I have felt as well and strong as ever before in my life. I give Doan's Kidney Pills my highest endorsement."

COLORADO TEXAS, JUNE 30, 1911.

Took Her Home to Mama.

A 14-year-old Clarksburg girl who was in the habit of meeting the trains and flirting with the trainmen, succeeded in finding a beau the other day says the Clarksburg Journal. She gaily consented when he asked to walk home with her; she was romantic but the ending was more romantic still. Her newly found acquaintance asked to be led to her home, and boldly rang the bell. Her mother came to the door and M. Traveling man delivered a short lecture like this: "Madam, here is your little girl. I picked her up at the depot; a place where girls of her age should no go except on business."

A like incident could not occur in Colorado, as it is not probable there are enough beaux in West Texas to supply the Philses, Lizzies and Suckies who nightly flock to the station here to see the train come in. It is a joke from Fort Worth to El Paso that the girl population of Colorado can always be counted on at the depot at night.

It is a fact established by the stories told in the police courts all over the country that the railroad depot is the favorite recruiting ground for that mighty army of hobosism and lost women. Innocent girls who go to the railway station regularly, meeting men whom they never expect to see again, soon allow familiarities that they would resent as an insult elsewhere, and strangers seeing the same girls night after night around the station, naturally assume they are fishing for attention. Girls, it is best to stay away from the railway station. If you don't believe it ask your mother.

ELECTION JUDGES FOR JULY 22

Attorney General Holds That They Must Be Specially Designated.

Austin, Tex., June 15.—The attorney general's department today furnished an opinion to R. E. Bratton, county judge of Tarrant county, wherein it is held that regular election judges appointed by the county commissioners for regular elections can not serve on the statewide prohibition election to be held next July; that such judges are eligible, but they must be appointed for that special purpose.

It is also held that under the amendment to the amendment to the Terrell election law passed by the last Legislature the county judge must also appoint two judges, and two clerks and two supervisors. Under the general election there are four judges and four clerks, but under today's ruling there can be only two judges and two clerks named. The ruling reduces the number of judges by half.

DAUGHTERS ASK DIVISION OF ESTATE OF LATE A. J. ROE.

Mother and Gorman Tufts Jr., Her Husband, Are Made Defendants.

Fl. Wort, Tex., June 27.—A petition which makes their mother, Mrs. Gorman Tufts Jr., and her husband defendants in a suit involving a division of property, both real and personal, valued at probably $1,000,000 was filed in the office of the district clerk Friday afternoon by Misses Mary S. Roe, Adelaide Roe and Mrs. Price of Chicago. The plaintiffs are the three daughters of the late A. J. Roe, who amassed a fortune through successful deals in lumber and land. Mrs. Roe was married to Gorman Tufts Jr. in Los Angeles about two months ago.

In their petition the daughters, two of whom are single and residents of this city, ask that an agreement signed by them in May 1911, be set aside, and that the vast estate be divided. They claim that when they signed the instrument presented to them in May by their mother and their stepfather that they had no idea that it was an agreement converting the property into a community estate. The petition further claims that since the marriage of Gorman Tufts Jr. to their mother he has converted several pieces of the estate into cash through sales that were not authorized. Recently the lumber yard located at the corner of Throckmorton and Seventh streets and a string of lumber yards throughout North Texas, a portion of the Roe estate were sold to Kelsey-Hawes. About one week ago the daughters brought suit in connection with this sale, and the case will probably come up at the time the petition for a division of the property is heard.

The exact value of the Roe estate is not known but is widely scattered through Texas. At one time he was owner of lumber companies in a half dozen or more cities, including Weatherford and Rhome. The Throckmorton street property is valued at more than $140,000 alone.

SOLD.

A New Rambler Car Sold This Week By A. J. Harrington to Judge Looney.

Mr. Harrington, who owns the Rambler car and who will stand by it as the best car on the market for the money, reports the sale this week of a new Rambler, fully equipped to Judge Looney. Mr. Looney has owned several cars and after a thorough inspection has decided that the Rambler is the best car for this country.

Mr. Fred Harris bought the old car from Judge Looney and will use it for a service car. Mr. Harrington also handles the Regal car which is a splendid car and in order that the public may know just how the Regal acts on the road will give a few trips made by Orion McCreeless in his new Regal.

The first trip was made from Colorado to Snyder, Post City, Tahoka, Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa, Soash and back to Colorado, 350 miles without a bit of trouble or the least bit of repair. Near Brownfield they went through ten miles of the worst sand bed any car ever attempted but the Regal went right through all right.

The second was made from Colorado to Trent, Anson, Hamlin, Stamford, Leuders and Abilene; next day from Abilene to Ovola, Buffalo Gap, Merkel, Tye and back to Colorado, no trouble and no repairs.

The next trip was made to Snyder, Hermleigh, Rotan, Royston, Hamlin, Sylvester, McCauley, Roby and on to Sweetwater with not a break or even tire trouble.

In the Buffalo Gap country was encountered extra rough and bad roads.

The next trip he took with him Jim Shelton of the Sherwin & Williams Paint Co. and Z. L. Hooten of the Van Vleet Mansfield Drug Co., and Fred Harris as driver and went from Colorado to Sterling City, Water Valley, Carlsbad and on to Angelo that night. Next day they made Miles, Rowena, Ballenger, Paint Rock and back to Angelo. Next day returned home via Robert Lee, Fort Chadburn, Blackwell, Maryneal, Roseoe, Loraine and Colorado making the home run from Maryneal in one hour and forty minutes. The car was in good shape all the time and some of the roughest roads, hills and rocks ever traversed by an auto was gone over. If you doubt the service of a Regal ask about its record.

In Her Honor.

And still 'tis true that all the world loves a lover, as shown by the many nice things given in honor of Miss Buchanan the bride of this week.

Friday morning from nine-thirty to twelve Miss Elsie Hooper entertained a small party of Miss Anglo's closest friends at 42. At the close of the game the girls all cut for the prize which fell to Miss Doss who had gotten the highest score. The prize was a matrimonial charm and will no doubt be carefully cherished by the winner to be used should her own charms fail to bring the man of her choice to her feet. Just as refreshments were to be served an immense plum pudding was brought in and Miss Anglo told to cut it. When she opened the crust it was filled with plums in the shape of a gift from those present, and like Jac Horner, she had only to put in her thumb and pull out and each one will be a joy and pleasure forever.

Delicious refreshments were served by the charming hostess who is Miss Anglo's dearest friend and who showed her friendship by her lovely entertainment.

Tuesday evening Miss Etta Doss most charmingly entertained at hearts in honor of Miss Buchanan and Mr. Hammock. Six tables had been arranged upon the pretty lawn of the Doss home. The score cards were handpainted wedding bells and hearts were trumps all the time. After a number of games had been played a delicious luncheon was served progressively in three courses. The first course was fruit cocktail and Nabisco wafers, the second a salad with accompaniments of olives, wafers and tea; the third ice cream and cake. Between the courses the bride and groom to be were showered with kitchen utensils, for well the hostess and her mother know that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach and if the bride would keep the love light burning she must not forget such prosaic things as cooking and serving.

The whole affair was a delightful success most originally conceived and will be remembered by the bridal party as one of their most delightful affairs.

A CHALLENGE.

F. S. Keiper of the Studebaker Garage challenges any car in this county for an endurance race from Colorado to Abilene. This includes any car in the county against his E. M. F. 30. All who wish to enter can put up $25 as an entrance fee and the car making the trip in the shortest time gets the pile; amount of oil and gasoline used on the trip is to be taken into consideration. He further challenges any car in the county to compete against the E. M. F. 30 in hill climbing or going through sand. Talk is cheap, but it takes money to buy automobiles. Are you in for the Abilene race? Judges and preliminary arrangements to be arranged by the contestants. The race to be made against time, only.

CHOOSE a car as you would select a thoroughbred—for its pedigree. You will never be content with a cheap automobile, no more than you would be satisfied with a low-bred herd. You may have confidence in the Rambler because of the reputation of this company and the forty years of experience behind it. Big wheels and tires and long wheel base make it the easiest riding car on the road. Seven-eighths elliptic springs and shock absorbers soften the impact of jolts and limit reaction. Safety starting device to protect you from injury while cranking. Offset crank shaft and straight line drive enable you to glide along slowly and quietly behind a loaded wagon and take the hills and deep sand without rushing. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its maers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Loraine Fans to Roscoe.

A large number of our local fans went to Roscoe last Monday afternoon to witness the ball game between the Sioux Indians and the Roscoe team. Two of our local team boys played with Roscoe, Thos. Ridens and Stavey Adams. Ridens played a star game in center field while Adams always makes good behind the bat.

The result of the game was never in doubt from the opening of the first inning. Some good work was done by both teams, but the Roscoe boys were up against a strong team and while they handled the situation well, defeat stared them in the face from the start. The score by innings was:

Sioux Indians	4 1 1 0 0 0 0 3-9
Roscoe	0 0 0 3 2 0 0 0-5

Those from here who attended the game were: J. T. Robinson, Gus Adams, W. S. Easley, Andrew Smith, C. B. Reeder, Henry Foy, Jack Stephens, Vic Payne, Jr., W. T. Mullin, Ross Greck.

Died in Terrell.

Mrs. J. R. Porter died at Terrell Texas last Tuesday after a lingering illness. Her remains arrived here Thursday morning and were met by the hearse from Colorado. A large cortege of friends and acquaintances followed with the saddened family, the remains to their last resting place in the Colorado cemetery.

The deceased leaves a husband and four children, besides other relatives and a host of friends to mourn her death.

Knew they Were From Coke.

A Singular incident occurred last Monday to Messrs Frank and Ralph Harris and Louis Farr and Claude Broom while en route to Robert Lee in Mr. Harris' car, which goes to show that an ex-Coke county citizen is always welcome back to the garden spot of west Texas.

These gentlemen had just passed over the dividing line of Coke and Tom Green and were coming down a long slope at a 12 mile clip when a full grown Jack Rabbit jumped in the lap of Frank Harris who was driving the car. His rabbitship sat there for a moment and then jumped out and went his way. Mr. Harris says he can't account for this except that Brer Rabbit recognized Ralph and himself as ex-Coke county citizens and adopted this stunt as a means of welcoming them back to this fair land. Come again gentlemen you are always welcome.—Robert Lee Observer.

PROHIBITION SPEAKING OLIVER WAYNE STEWART

Famous Orator and Lecturer Will Speak at the Tabernacle on Sunday July 16, at 3 P. M.

Arrangements have been made to have the famous and well known orator, Oliver Wayne Stewart speak at the tabernacle at 3 o'clock p. m., Sunday July 16, on prohibition. Mr. Stewart is a member of the Illinois legislature, an orator of ability and a man of national reputation. Some of the press comments are:

"He has wonderful command of language, excellent delivery, and the faculty of making his declarations convincing.—Chicago Evening Journal.

"It was reserved for Oliver W. Stewart to deliver the most interesting speech of the day, judging by the attention and applause that greeted it."—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

"He was applauded repeatedly, and at the conclusion of his speech was cheered long and loud. His speech was the oratorical feature of the proceedings."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

"The speaker was conservative; flashes of wit followed each other in close succession, and the house applauded and laughed. He spoke with a rapidity that overtook the stenographers, yet every word he uttered was so distinct that it was heard in the farthest corner of the hall. In construction, in following the rules of oratory and speech, in style, diction and delivery, he was almost perfect. His personal presence was admirable. The stories he told were in graphic and telling language, and the morals they taught were driven home with short, sharp sentences. He never lost the thread of his argument. Every de- tour brought him back to the place where he had started; he connected his discourse with a master's voice."—Springfield (Ill.) News.

Notice.

By permission, I wish to announce that I will give a lecture on the prophecies at the Tabernacle, the first Sunday night in July. Subject for consideration "The Binding of Satan; How, When and by Whom?" Service begins at 8:30. Everybody respectfully invited. A. J. SMITH.

The farmers and ranchmen of the Sanco section enjoyed an old fashioned rabbit hunt Wednesday. For The Benefit of Our Children.

It seems that the intention or purpose of the Playground Association has been misunderstood and a great many children are not getting the benefits and pleasures that the association is trying so earnestly to provide for them.

This playground is being constructed for the purpose of giving the young people of our town a chance at good clean wholesome, pleasant sport, and every boy and girl within the scholastic age and every member of the association are anxiously expected to come any time from three to seven every evening. Mr. Hamilton, an efficient director and athletic trainer is on the ground during the above stated hours so that it is safe and wise to send the children where they can really enjoy the association of each other as well as the many games they can play.

Some say it is a denominational move. How can this be said when there are two or more members from each church acting as officers in the association. Really it seems that each church would do well to at least endorse the move as home mission work, and all work together for the one purpose and build a park with an immense shed or pavilion, for shade and a gymnasium. The gymnastic apparatus is already procured but not the shed and why not Colorado young people have a gymnasium which gives them a chance to have broad full chests, firm strong muscles, in fact a well developed body and a clear strong mind so there will not have to be so much cramming done just before examinations to keep from "flunking."

It is a grievous thought that especially the little boys have no pleasant place to congregate and have to resort to the streets, alleys, highways and mountains for recuperation and in most cases instead of the recuperation there is a deterioration of mind and character brought about by unprotected evil association.

Talk about personal rights, how much better right has anyone than the child to play? I like the playground move and wish it great success. I am told that the price of membership to every white child in Colorado is regular attendance, lots of fun and thoughtfulness for others as well as ourselves and good behavior at all times. All over the scholastic age are expected to pay as much as twenty five cents per month.

A COUNTRY FRIEND.

Midland's Big Fourth.

Midland, June 26.—Midland on the Texas & Pacific, once merely the shipping point for the cow country of the South Plains, but now an incorporated city with water works and handsome public buildings surrounded by many thousand acres of cotton and corn fields, is to celebrate the reviving business conditions of the whole west by holding a Fourth of July celebration such as the South Plains have never seen before, and in which the old time cow-punchers and he modern city man will mingle side by side.

The Midland people themselves own one hundred automobiles and are offering silver loving cups and gold medals for the most handsomely decorated cars in the two mile parade to be held in the forenoon, with similar prizes for carriages, floats and horse back riders. Being a riding country a polo game of Midland's team which holds many championship cups, will be a natural feature of the proceedings while a touch of the old West will be seen in the "cigar race" by the cow-boys.

For the representatives of the newer element a two days tennis tournament, again with silver loving cups as prizes, is to be participated in by the foremost western players, and in the midst of these and similarly characteristic entertainments, the indispensable free barbecue will welcome at noon three times the ordinary population of the city.

One who knows the West and East alike, Will L. Sargent of the T. & P., will welcome the visitors in the address of the day, and the evening will be given over to a reception and ball in the quarters of the Midland Club, together with skating, bowling and whatever can contribute to the enjoyment of the visitors.

The T. & P. has recognized the importance of the attraction by offering return rates of one and one-fifth fare throughout its lines from Ft. Worth to El Paso.

Notice.

The regular meeting of the Farmers Union Warehouse Co. is the first Monday in July at the court house at 10 o'clock a. m. All concerned are requested to attend.

The Secret of Youth

Do you ever wonder how you can remain young, or why other women older than you, look younger than you do? The secret can be put in a few words: "Preserve your health, and you will preserve your youth."

By "health" we mean not alone physical health, but nerve health, as, sometimes, magnificently strong-looking women are nervous wrecks.

But whether you are weak physically or nervously, you need a tonic, and the best tonic for you is Cardui. It builds strength for the physical and nervous systems. It helps put flesh on your bones and vitality into your nerves.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"My mother," writes Mrs. Z. L. Adcock, of Smithville, Tenn., "is 44 years old and is passing through the change of life.

"She was irregular and bloated and suffered terribly. My father stepped over to the store and got her a bottle of Cardui, which she took according to directions and now she is up, able to do her housework and says she feels like a new woman." Try Cardui in your own case.

WOMAN'S WOES

A Certain Cure for Female Trouble and That Tired, Nervous, Depressed Feeling That Makes Household Work a Dreary Burden.

Work, work; Nothing but work; Tiresome drudgery! Work used to be a pleasure, but now a few minutes effort leaves you weak, discouraged and irritable with a feeling that everything has gone wrong.

The liver and bowels are responsible for this.

The symptoms are, heart palpitation, faintness, suppressed, excessive or irregular periods, bad digestion, bearing down pains in the side and back, nervous weakness, poor appetite, costiveness.

Prickly Ash Bitters sweeps away these troubles like magic, because it strikes at the root of the disease—the stomach, liver and bowels.

Women who take medicine for female troubles that do not benefit these organs are wasting money and valuable time. The liver is diseased because the stomach is unhealthy, and both have produced a constipated habit. This stoppage of healthy action in the liver and bowels has filled the system with impurities which have brought on irregularity in the female organs; it follows therefore, that a medicine which will correct the liver, strengthen the stomach and promote healthy bowel operations is the remedy for menstrual difficulties.

The poor, tired, discouraged woman who has suffered silently and so long with the ailments of her sex soon feels the strengthening and exhilarating influence of Prickly Ash Bitters. It does its work thoroughly, beginning with the stomach and extending its purifying and stimulating influence to the liver and bowels. When the stomach, liver and bowels are active and working in harmony, there must be health and regularity in the female organs. As a result of this improved condition the patient takes a renewed interest in her household duties. Appetite and strength return, the eyes are brighter, the complexion clears, and before long she is transformed into a bright, happy woman with rosy cheeks and cheerful spirits.

"I suffered much from indigestion and constipation. I had a drowsy tired feeling and nervous headaches all the time. I began using Prickly Ash Bitters and it has helped me wonderfully. I now have a good appetite, sleep well and can do a greater amount of work than ever before."

Scott-Ford.

Mr. Preston Scott and Miss Cleo Ford were quietly married Tuesday evening at the home of the brides parents in Goldwithe. On account of the illness of Mr. Scott's father no wedding preparations were made as it was feared for awhile that the groom could not leave his father's bedside. But Mr. Scott Sr., is much improved and the happy couple are one and will be home on this evening's train. The wedding is the culmination of a romance begun last autumn when Miss Ford came to our town to teach. On account of lack of school room Miss Ford was sent with her grade to the court house where our deputy sheriff soon discovered her charm and loveliness and after awhile succeeded in convincing her of his ability as a heart winner. It was known among their friends that they would marry soon so none were surprised to hear he had gone for her.

Miss Ford endeared herself to all who met her and Colorado is delighted to welcome her as one of its matrons. Mr. Scott has a host of friends who are glad to congratulate him upon his good fortune in securing so charming a wife. May heaven's richest blessings ever rest upon them.

Mrs. Looney Entertains.

Wednesday morning from nine to twelve Mrs. R. H. Looney delightfully entertained in honor of her daughter Mrs. Marcus Snyder. Tables were placed on the lawn and porch for 42 games and the guests kept cool and comfortable by streams of water playing over the grass and by the shade trees on the lawn and the morning breezes. There were a number of tables of players and the good times one always has when Mrs. Looney is hostess was in no wise lacking upon this occasion. At the close of the game a delicious refreshment course was served most daintily and the guests said good-bye feeling that it had been a cool and at the same time most cordial affair.
