CITY ELECTION VERY QUIET.
Passed On Without the Least Incident—Good Vote Polled.

The election for mayor, three aldermen and a secretary for the city of Colorado Springs, passed off last Tuesday without the least incident to mar its serenity, although there were more than one surprise package handed out to expectant prize winners. It was the general expectation that both Messrs. Burns and Scott would be elected, but it seems many voters took Mr. Scott at his request to make his victory or his defeat decisive, a new Richmond in the field ran under the wire just ahead of him, three or four lengths. Mr. H. F. Wheeler seems to have made more than good in his record as an alderman in the past two years. He led the aldermanic list receiving but little less than the aggregate vote of the entire city, a satisfactory record for a man of an elevated position. A list of names by the franchise is as follows: Mayor—C. M. Adams, 186; For Alderman—F. M. Burns, 137; A. L. Scott, 112; J. T. Davis, 104; H. F. Wheeler, 152; For City Secretary—W. S. Stoneham, 32; Ernest Keathley, 77; L. A. Costin, 88.

This was practically a full vote, being 194 out of 220, exclusive of more than 20 who had not paid their county poll tax.

ORIENT REACHES ALPINE.

Will Make Connection With Southern Pacific Tracks on Monday.

The long cherished dream of the people of Alpine has been realized. The Orient has been built into the city.

The last spikes were driven Saturday afternoon which placed the track even with the donor site. On Monday, a connection with the Southern Pacific tracks will be made, completing the line through to the Pacific coast.

There was no blowing of trumpets or beating of drums on the arrival of the construction gangs at this destination. Neither was the last spike driven a silver one, but that does not mean that there will be no celebration in Alpine. The arrival of the line at that place will be celebrated in splendid fashion in a few days.

The citizens of that city have already arranged to raise funds to defray the expense of a real jubilee, to which visitors will be invited in the near future.

It was stated Saturday night at the headquarters of the road that regular freight and passenger services will be established over the newly constructed portion of the road on April 20.

The number of trains to be run daily under the new schedule will, of course, depend greatly on the volume of business. This, however, promises to be heavy, as both the local and the through traffic will be good from the start.

Washington Correspondence.

If the Senate had not adjourned when it did to wait for the extra session which starts April 7th, the people would have nothing to talk about. As it is the White House is closed to all office seekers and those who are hunting office will have to wait until Congress meets again before they have their ambitions gratified. Of course, there will be many disappointments but the administration is picking out the best men for the jobs and will continue to do so from start to finish.

The senate cut out $40,000,000 worth of patronage that the Republicans had been giving to their helpers and which the Democrats will have to do without. At least they will have to do for a while because nearly all of the positions with the exception of a few policemen who were cut out by the House a year ago, have been put back into position and there are as many now drawing money from the House as there were under the Republican administration. The chances are that the 40,000 post offices will be put back and filled by Democrats, thus giving the Congressmen something to do, otherwise, they will have nothing at all but their patronage in the House.

The policy of Mr. Wilson in chopping down has been a Democratic policy for many years and will continue under all Democratic presidents, and you can bet when Wilson chomps he means to chop down—he does not mean to put back the next year.

It remains to be seen yet whether or not he will put back the 40,000 postmasters who were installed under the civil service by President Taft.

There are lots of places in the senate that have not yet been filled but which will be filled shortly after that body convenes on the 7th of April.

The Democrats need not look for many appointments before the next session of Congress on April 7th. There will only be appointed those people who are absolutely necessary to carry on the business of the country, but wholesale appointments will not be made until Congress meets and the senate can take action on them in either withholding its consent or not to the appointment made.

The president is every day studying who is the best man for the position and the people of the country may be satisfied that the president has made up his mind after deliberate and mature consideration, but with that kind of a president in the White House you may be sure that he will not in any way try to overstep the laws or try to do anything that is not in consonance with the habitual course of the Democratic party. The Democratic party is in safe hands so long as Woodrow Wilson is president of the United States.

I do not know what is going to happen so far as Bryan and Wilson are concerned. I sincerely hope that they will go along for the four years in the same manner that they have commenced this administration, but there is no telling what Bryan will do, provided he is not consulted on every consideration by the president, not only in making his appointments but in doing other things that Mr. Bryan thinks ought to be done.

Whatever Mr. Bryan may do may be put down in black and white that the president is going to do just as he pleases or what is a Democrat's duty to do under the circumstances and he is not going to have anything to do with Mr. Bryan's say-so in the matter. That is the kind of a man that President Wilson is and you can put it in your pipe and smoke it that it is going to be his administration and not Mr. Bryan's.

I will take occasion in these letters to write up each member of the cabinet and tell what he has done heretofore and what he is going to do while he is a cabinet officer.

J. P. Morgan Dies at Rome.

J. P. Morgan, the noted American financier, died at Rome, Italy, at 12:15 p. m. last Monday. His health had not been robust since his appearance and testimony before the Pujo investigating committee last winter, and his breakdown is attributed in part to that trying ordeal. He was born at Hartford, Conn., April 13th, 1837, and soon after graduation at Gottgen University Germany, became associated with his father in the banking business in London and New York. In 1895, he established the New York firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, since which time he has been the dominating factor in American finances. His wealth has been estimated at $500,000,000. He is survived by one son, three daughters and eleven grandchildren.

Would End Newspaper Contests.

The senate judiciary committee No. 2 today reported with a favorable majority and adverse minority report by Nugent, the Collins bill, making it a penitentiary offense for a newspaper to conduct a contest. The majority favored a committee amendment forbidding any contests between two or more people, but so amending the bill as to allow newspapers to offer prizes, premiums and commissions to those getting subscriptions.

To Our Friends and Neighbors

You know us. You know we would not—that we could not afford to go back on our word. Nor can you afford to ignore this money-back-if-not-satisfied offer on this splendid laxative.

We honestly believe we have the best laxative ever made—the most pleasant to take, most permanently beneficial laxative for relief from the miseries and dangers arising from constipation.

We wouldn't say this if we didn't believe it to be true. We wouldn't risk our reputation by making such statements did we not feel sure you would find them true.

Our faith is built both on the knowledge of what Rexall Orderlies are made of and on observation of very many severe cases in which they have proven their merit.

Try them at Our Risk

If they do not abundantly prove their merit with you also—if you are not entirely satisfied with them—we will refund your money—and we will do that on your mere say-so. We don't ask you to risk a penny. Isn't that fair?

taste just like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They do not cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They tend to tone and strengthen intestinal nerves and muscles. They promptly relieve constipation, and help to permanently overcome it.

Rexall Orderlies promote better spirits and better health. In all of these things they are vastly superior to old-fashioned, harsh salts and other purgatives, which are not only unpleasant to take but which usually leave the bowels in worse condition than before. We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, aged and delicate persons.

Rexall Orderlies come in vest-pocket tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10c; 36 tablets, 25c; 60 tablets, 50c.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

On last Sunday afternoon, by invitation, President and Secretary of the Mitchell County Sunday Schools, with a number of workers went out to help the Fairview people grade their school. They received a royal welcome from their able superintendent, Mr. Copeland and his efficient workers and noble school and were soon at work.

The school is a fine one, indeed, and had enough scholars for every department of the work.

Mrs. Borneo was given the Cradle Roll and Beginners' department and seemed to be the one in the right place. Mrs. Copeland has charge of the primary class and shows a love and interest in her work, which she really has had for quite a while. Nearly all of the teachers were retained with the classes they already had and showed a desire to build up their classes.

A home department was organized, with Miss Addie Johnson as superintendent, and we believe they will soon see some fruits of her work by the interest taken by parents who cannot attend the main school and by getting those to attend who, before had not given it thought as they will after her visits.

Miss Nellie Riorden, superintendent of Daily Bible Readings, made the school a splendid talk and left a number of pledges with the superintendent, which we are sure will be heard from favorably soon.

Supintendent Dr. Coleman made an interesting address to the school, which his home folks enjoyed as well.

Of course Secretary Webb talked and worked, too. He has the ability to do both at the same time and is in his element at either.

Dr. Marshall didn't talk, but he sang in a happy way just like he was glad to be there.

It was a very pleasant meeting for all the visitors, and they left their prayers and good wishes for every one there and returned home to try to be of more usefulness to their own schools.

Rev. Leach, who is pastor of the Baptist flock in this community, was present and invited the guests and as many more as would come down in the Spade community on the fourth Sunday in April, which invitation, if it is possible, they will accept.

The Baptist school observed Livingstone Day last Sunday with an appropriate program. The Beginners and Primaries threw their rooms together for the occasion and had their own speeches, songs and offerings. Mr. Harris Gardner had charge of the program in the big room and gave a very interesting essay on the life of David Livingstone.

The Methodist school will have their regular monthly mission program next Sunday. Mrs. J. G. Merritt, their missionary superintendent, will have charge of the program.

There were four tables of players, the prize being won by Mrs. Floyd Beall. It was a beautiful cut glass perfume bottle. A refreshment course of creamed chicken, with dainty accompaniments was served, followed by ice cream and cake. The meeting next week is with Miss

An Unique Lighting Plant.

Friend, Mike Ratliff, may always be counted on to have something stirring in a business way around him. It's first one thing, then another; but always something doing. He invited a Record representative over to his place of business last week to witness the running of a new system of electric lighting, for which he has secured the general agency for West Texas.

This particular plant is of 75 3-candle power lights, or 37 16-candle power lights. A 1 1/2 horse power gasoline engine is mounted on the same base with a small electric generator which charges forty or more storage cells to 110 voltage, which will run the 75 lights 48 hours. When this voltage is reached the engine is automatically cut off and stopped, but when the voltage runs down to a certain point, the same automatic arrangement cuts in the engine and starts the generator again. By this arrangement, the voltage is kept at a certain average power and the lights are fed from a power-house of storage cells, thus keeping the lights perfectly steady without the least flicker or jerking, as is the case with lights on a direct current.

A plant the size of the one on exhibition, with all the accessories, etc., costs about $500. The engine can be used for power to drive any other machinery desired. It seems that for a single large establishment or a small community, this system would be the very thing needed. Larger plants, costing more, up to 2,000 lights, can be supplied. It is known as the Remley-Products system. We learn that Mr. Ratliff is likely to put this system in one or more small adjacent towns.

School Picnic.

As an April fool joke, the school children were given a holiday Tuesday afternoon and Miss Holder's class, with Miss Wallis and her room, as guests, went on a picnic. Everybody had a jolly afternoon and very much enjoyed the outing. Lunch was, of course, served and the return trip made when it had grown cool. All this came about because the children were good, so virtue really is more than its own reward.

COLORADO, TEXAS, APRIL 4, 1913.

Porter A. Whaley has sold his interest in the Pecos Times-Record to his partner, R. L. Carothers, and will return to his native state, South Carolina.

Delegates will soon be sent to some designated place of meeting, from the states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Tepic, Sinaloa and Lower California, Mexico, for the purpose of declaring their independence, adopting a constitution and setting up a republic of the north.

By the terms of the anti-pollution bill, which has become a law, all establishments and individual houses which have sewerage discharges into running streams, are given one year to take them out and make other arrangements for the disposal of sewerage.

Representative A. M. Kennedy, of Kerr, lays the failure of the legislature to redistrict the state to the "unwarranted interference," as he puts it, of Congressman W. R. Smith of this district. And A. M. has ever had a good opinion of his good opinion.

The weather for the past week has been that of "plum-summertime." One's nether garments, unless they be of the thin, gossamer sort, have felt a trifle heavy and in the way. But don't get fresh and take 'em off before the bright, warm May day. You will likely need 'em next time old Boreas cuts loose up at Amarillo and comes tearing down this way. If it were not for the meteorological vagaries and irresponsibilities of Amarillo, Mitchell county would have the most equibale climate in the world.

During the flood in Ohio, when the people were without food, shelter, and had been compelled to get what sleep they could standing, a man went among them with a lot of sandwiches to sell at 25 cents each. When the starving crowd realized that he was trying to take advantage of their desperate condition, they fell upon him, took his sandwiches and let him escape barely with his miserable life.

Among the item of contingent expenses presented the legislature, was a bill for $3,435.00 for medical services rendered to Representative Herder, one of the four victims of meningitis, during the session just past. Had these same physicians rendered the very same services to any private patient who would have paid his own bill, it is doubtful if it had amounted to one-tenth as much. But as the state has to pay it—why no amount is too much that one can get allowed. To the credit of the legislature, this shameless attempt to graft, was turned down.

The only good that can come from money making is that good can be done with the money. No one of us will ever be able to eat more than three meals a day or to wear more than one suit of clothes at a time. Our food and raiment and a place to sleep is our earthly heritage, with a final resting place of six feet of earth. It is good to make money, if it be honestly made and wisely invested. The safest and best investment is in the cause of Jesus Christ and in the help of God's needy and homeless poor. Make money by all means, if you make it right, and then by all means spend it right and spend it promptly. I do not mean by this that we should throw money away or should be improvident in our expenditures. We should do good with our money.—Weston Evangel.

If President Wilson can make good in his efforts at dispensing with ceremony and expensive style of living that has heretofore attached to all the important and first-class embassies, so that men of ability and competent to represent this country abroad, shall be able to accept these honorable places, he will have rendered a notable service to his country and done much to raise the standard of our diplomatic representatives abroad. The very positions which require the greatest ability and fitness are now within the reach only of men of millions, who, as a rule are more than all others unfit to fill such positions with credit to this government. If he succeeds, in doing this one thing, he will have wrought nothing short of a revolution in our diplomatic policy and earned the thanks and respect of all nations. But it's going to be a job which none but men of nerve and steadfast principle will care to tackle. Ambassador Reid paid more for the rent of his town house in London, than two years' salary amounted to as our representative at the court of St. James. The same is true of all the other embassies, except possibly, Mexico.

Those who expect legislation to accomplish what they can do for themselves will be disappointed. The state and the nation are to protect the weak, hold the strong in check and deter the vicious. All an intelligent citizen wants is a fair show; he does not need special legislation, but a square deal. Farmers do not want advantages over others.—Farm and Ranch.

Give the boys a chance to show their originality in farm management. You will be surprised at the interest they will take in the crops and livestock if you will ask their opinions and consult their wishes when they have given thought to problems on the farm.—Farm and Ranch.

It's a short step and easy gradient from playing "keeps" with marbles to playing keeps for what it takes to buy marbles. The boys who are allowed to congregate in any public place or back lot and waste hours gaming for cheap marbles, very soon want to gamble for higher stakes, and the virus of wanting something for nothing once is instilled in the blood easily leads on to violations of the law. We heard a lady say recently, in reply to the inquiry of what pleasure she found in spending hours in playing "42," bridge whist or euchre, when there were so many other useful and profitable ways in which she could employ the time, that it was solely the excitement begotten of rivalry and the desire to win over one's opponents and secure the prize, that makes the games fascinating. Eliminate the hope of winning, however, a cheap and tawdry prize, and the social habit of playing these games would cease. The value of the stake is merely incidental, the animus is just the same whether a ten cent piece of glass or a hundred dollar bill be the prize.

God pity the parents who are deaf, dumb, blind and senseless to the frailties of their children. A great and sorrowful day of illumination awaits them. There is hardly a parent in Colorado but who knows less of the real nature of his or her children than the neighbors. The best and artificial side of the child is always presented to the blind side of the parent. It is when the child is out from home, without the fear of being brought to account, that its real nature asserts itself. We have heard mothers and fathers recount in company the many virtues of their children, when every one who listened was mentally winking at the other. We have heard wives acclaiming the virtue and affection of husbands whom the entire community knew to be the most abandoned rouses, whose lechery was a traditional joke among men and women. There are some boys in this town who can look one squarely in the face, without blushing or swallowing and tell a palpable lie, and yet the combined testimony of every man and woman in the community could not shake the confidence of the parents of these same boys, in their children's integrity. If parents only knew how pitifully obvious they frequently are selves by bragging on their children, they would be saved much mortification later on. Whenever a boy hears his father or mother bragging on his goodness in his presence, he knows he has them blinded, while the devil knows he has that kid branded for his very own, and pays little further attention to his goings. He is headed for his proper place.

It's the rubbing that does the "rheumatiz" good, not the liniment; but if one didn't use the liniment, one would not do the rubbing. It's not entering the agricultural contest that wins the prizes, but the more careful and diligent work. Yet one would not give the extra and careful work to his crop that the contestants will give, unless he is in the contest. It matters not whether the farmer expects to land one of the prizes or not, entering the contest will stimulate him to give his crop more and better attention than he would if not a contestant. He naturally will make more, and pride in all his farm work will be stimulated. Seeing the effects of careful and thorough cultivation, he will ever afterwards be a better farmer for having entered the contest. And the farmer alone is the beneficiary.

TO HELP THE FARMER.

In a state like Texas, where there is so much vacant land, while at the same time many men of small means are seeking to acquire homes, any practical plan that will aid to settle up vacant areas is worth considering.

The last issue of the World's Work editorially commends as "good business" and far-sighted the offer of a bank in Grenada, Miss. It offers to lend any farmer, who will buy land to cultivate within seven miles of Grenada court house, as much as three-fourths of its value, and to lend on a residence built on such land as much as half its cost, for five years, at 4 per cent, with the privilege of renewal for five years at 5 per cent.

The editor truly says: "A good farmer can earn the interest and make enough to pay the debt in less than ten years, and the banker is wise because he is building up the country round about him."

There is no state in which such action by bankers would return as much on the investment as Texas. There are hundreds of banks within seven miles of which there are thousands of acres of vacant land that has never been subjected to cultivation.

The Chronicle has in mind one small town in which there are two prosperous banks—and it is typical of the situation in scores of other towns—within seven miles of which are tens of thousands of acres of virgin land. If the two banks would do what the Mississippi bank offers to do, they would in a few years induce hundreds of settlers to take up the now vacant lands. If they would induce immigrants to come in and buy on credit and the bank then take the notes they gave as deferred payments and lend them the small amount necessary to improve their farms, the business of the banks would grow immensely. Most immigrants would bring some money to make a first payment, so the margin on the loans would be perfectly safe.

The day when land will decline in value has passed in Texas, and to lend on a commodity of which the supply is fixed and the demand increasing, and which can not be stolen or disappear, is safe investing.—Houston Chronicle.

High Cost of Selling.

The future prosperity of the farmers depends largely upon the success with which is worked out cheaper methods of selling the products of the farm. According to investigation recently made, it developed that the consumers of New York paid $40,000,000 for potatoes that brought the growers of them only $6,000,000. Eggs that retailed in the cities for 45 cents the dozen brought the farmers only 20 to 22 cents. Apples that the farmers sold for $1.50 per barrel, brought the retailer 4 cents apiece, or $15 the barrel. The producer has to pay all the complicated methods of selling, and gets the smallest profits of all hands through which his produce passes. It's the high cost of selling that makes the cost of living high.

A desire to relieve this serious situation is the motive in calling the first National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits, which will meet in Chicago April 8th to 10th. At this conference all sections will doubtless be represented and all classes of citizens take part in the discussions. It is expected that a means of cooperative effort may be started that will result in the saving of millions every year in the cost of foods and at the same time protect honest dealers and transportation companies. This question is paramount, inasmuch as our prosperity depends upon saving some of this enormous loss. Our future prosperity demands it.

Bluffing the Editor.

It's part of a newspaper man's business to ask people of his home town where they are going, when he chances to see them, baggage-in-hand, going toward the railway station. If the traveller, for any prudential reasons, prefers his trip or destination should not be published in the local paper, it is always the part of wisdom to tell the news gatherer the truth, but to ask him to say nothing about it. To try to run a blazer over the humblest scribbler on the humblest country rag, by trying to bluff him or throw him off the trail by an evasive and pert reply, is sheer folly. It is like trying to talk back to a clown at the circus. The newspaper man asks for the truth and if he is given a false, misleading reply, he always gets more than revenge by printing just what the "Smart Alexander" told him.

"We once had a friend, who pretended to be much vexed by having his trips mentioned in the local paper whenever he went abroad. One day we met him at the depot and knew he had an engagement in a nearby town the next week. We asked him where he was going. "To Honolulu," he replied, with a great show of mystery and dignity. "How long will you be gone?" we asked him. "Indefinitely," he said. That week we repeated in the paper just the words he said. The paper circulated among the people he was to address the next week, and when they read that "Rev. Howler left Thursday for Honolulu, Hawaii, to be gone for an indefinite stay," they got busy with the mails. It took both that parson and his wife more than two weeks to get that little tangle straightened out satisfactorily. We asked him for the truth, but instead of asking us not to mention his trip, tried to run a bluff. We were not supposed to think he was lying about his destination. But that experience broke him from sucking that particular kind of eggs.

The shocking and violent acts of the English suffragettes are on a par with those of the female Petroleum of Paris, who, in the revolution of 1793, and again in 1871, went about with petroleum oil, saturating houses of the nobility and setting fire to them. Nor did they scruple in any wise to treat the aristocracy of France the same way. The acts of many of the English suffragettes would be a disgrace to the most benighted of heathendom.

Couldn't Walk!

"I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women," writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenny, Ill. "For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I tried several different doctors, but I grew worse. Finally, our druggist advised Cardui for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now, I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years."

GALVANIZED, AIR-SPACED CYPRESS LINED SILOS

"THE BEST ON EARTH"

In a class by themselves; at the head and lead all others on the market. Overcomes defects of all others—imperfect curing of silage next the walls, freezing in winter and dry rot in summer.

Conducting materials like concrete, cement, tile stone, brick, convey HEAT OUT and COLD IN, preventing perfect fermentation and producing poor silage. Chemical tests show its nutritive elements have been destroyed.

Tests show the temperature in other silos vary from 120 degrees two feet from top layer, to 70 next the inner wall, showing 50 degrees loss. A galvanized, air-spaced and wood lined silo filled same day showed only 4 degrees loss; proving even temperature and curing.

This is the only silo with a grain door—a feature secured by patent. This silo has never been blown down by wind. Can be enlarged any time to any extent. Being light weight, it never sags out of plumb, like cement and tile silos. Often pays for itself in one season.

The difference between an agriculturist and the farmer is that the farmer gets up at the break of day, feeds his stock and has breakfast at sun up. After his frugal meal he hitches his team to the plow, takes the hard handles in his horny hands, calls "zee-haw" to his team and plows all the long, weary day. The agriculturist gets up at 8 o'clock in the morning and after an easy breakfast, gets on his gloves, orders his horse and buggy and drives to town—Credit Lost.

D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1913, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court, No. 1279, wherein Clara Anderson is plaintiff, and Luke Anderson, alias Billy Anderson is defendant; the nature of plaintiff's demand being as follows: Suit for divorce, restoration of plaintiff's maiden name, for a reasonable attorney's fee and costs, plaintiff alleging that she is now and has been for more than six months next anterior to the filing of this suit an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas and an actual resident citizen and inhabitant of the County of Mitchell therein; that she and defendant were lawfully married in Dallas County, Texas, on or about Dec. 16, 1908, and lived together as man and wife until April 12, 1913, when she was forced to leave defendant by reason of his cruelties, excesses and outrages which rendered their further living together as man and wife utterly insupportable, the same consisting of cursing, abusive and threatening language, threats to beat up and kill plaintiff, which kept plaintiff in constant terror for her life and safety, a failure to contribute to plaintiff's support, a state of constant drunkenness, and finally the commission of adultery with one Clara Mixon, plaintiff's niece, who was living with plaintiff, and defendant, and with whom when last heard from defendant was living in adultery. That this conduct and these excesses, cruelties and outrages herein specified began shortly after the marriage of plaintiff and defendant and grew in frequency and intensity until the enforced separation; that nearly all of said acts took place in Dallas County, Texas. Plaintiff prays for citation for the defendant and that on final hearing she do have judgment against him dissolving the bonds of matrimony, for the restoration of her maiden name, Clara Mixon, for her costs, including a reasonable attorney's fee, and for general and special, legal and equitable relief.

The Thirty-third Legislature.

The regular session of the Thirty-third legislature will pass into history with a record of striking industry, fewer blows than perhaps any of its predecessors in the past quarter of a century, and it has done some things to commend it. It is true no one rode the steed of genius down the legislative thoroughfare and no one ran up the flight of stairs that leads to the hall of fame, but taken as a whole, the work shows they sniffed progress and peeped through the key-hole of opportunity and have become possessed with a desire for usefulness.

It is true the legislature had some vaudeville minds in it, but so long as we have galleries, there will be those who play to them. The legislature has made an honest effort to experiment with progress and expand industry in the face of powerful opposition and they not only prevented opportunity from hanging crape on our door, but they have pried open the gate that leads to prosperity. Taken as a whole, it is the best legislature Texas has had in many years.

Cheerfulness in Character.

Cheerfulness is a great asset in character. It makes us agreeable not only to our companions and business associates, but it makes us pleased with ourselves. A cheerful disposition relieves the pressure of business, lightens the daily burdens and increases enthusiasm for greater work and for efficiency.

Cheerfulness is not merely an expression of laughter or a smiling face; it is far more. It is fixed and permanent. It becomes a part of our lives and reflects itself in what we say and do. Mirth is transient, as Addison tells us; cheerfulness lasting.

He who uses his best endeavors to live in right, virtue and happiness has two sources of cheerfulness, as Addison observes. He has cheerfulness in the consideration of his own nature and that of the Being upon whom he has dependence.—Exchange.

Just two years from the day he killed L. H. McCord at Christoval, March 21st, 1911, Dr. J. B. Salmon, of the same place arrived at the state penitentiary to begin serving his 14-year sentence. The case was moved to Coleman county last year for retrial, when he was convicted, the higher court affirming the finding two weeks ago.

BUILDING THE COMMUNITY.

It is remarkable how much our own success depends upon that of our neighbors. No man desires to live in a community where most of his neighbors are unsuccessful. If the majority of the people in the settlement cultivate poor farms, live in poor residences, shelter their scrub stock in dilapidated barns, the roads will be poor, the schools inadequate, the churches unsatisfactory.

Under such conditions social life will lack progress and substantial, progressive ohmeseekers will find such a community undesirable and the result will be that the same people will remain in that community or others no more progressive take their places. A man who is so unfortunate as to have such neighbors has no encouragement; can make little advancement in education and will be handicapped for better roads, adequate markets, diversified farming and in the essential for better farming—cooperation.

When our neighbors prosper financially we have an opportunity to sell our products, buy theirs and cooperate with them in making the neighborhood a desirable place for successful people. This attracts progressive citizens who lend their influence for community building with the result that there are better schools, good roads, larger and better churches and increase in land values.

The sooner we as individuals realize our own responsibility in neighborhood cooperation, the better it will be for us and the state. Every rural community is a state in miniature, not inclosed by walls, but held together by human sympathy which extends beyond neighborhood and township lines and reaches to remote corners of the state. And every community where such cooperation prevails is a factor in the development of the state and nation.

It is possible for selfish persons to prosper at the expense of their neighbors and without the cooperation and sympathy of those with whom they come in contact, but it is a great deal easier and it gives more satisfaction for one to prosper because he helps his neighbors to prosper.—Farm and Ranch.

EUROPE RECOGNIZES CALUMET'S SUPREMACY.

France has always been noted as the land of good cooks, but it seems now that America has something to teach the French chefs in the line of baking. For at the exposition held in Paris last March, Calumet Baking Powder was awarded the Grand Prize and the Gold Medal and officially recognized as the world's best baking powder.

This was only to be expected, however, as Calumet once before was judged the finest baking powder on the market. This occurred at the World's Pure Food Exposition in Chicago, 1907, at which time it was given the Highest Awards over all competitors.

The fact that it has twice outclassed all other competitors indicates beyond a doubt that there is really no comparison between Calumet and other brands. Calumet is easily the purest baking powder made. It is always uniform and so reliable, it is sold, that women who use Calumet do not know what it is to have a baking fail.

Large audiences crowded the house at both services.

NO DRY MOMENTS IN "A BACHELOR'S HONEYMOON."
Lines Bright and Many of the Situations Are Extremely Funny; Play as a Whole Proves Very Interesting.

The theater-goers enjoy to the fullest extent now and then a production that is full of hearty laughs, was indicated last evening in the Elks' theater, when "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" was presented to a large audience. It is a clever play, put on by a well-balanced cast. Mr. Gilson and Miss Ainsworth, who played in the leading roles, being ably supported. It would not be too much to say that there is not a dull moment throughout the production. The plot is delightfully impossible, and all the more ludicrous and mirth-provoking because of this. The "heavy" often tiresome in problem plays and heart dramas, was noticeably absent. The play exceeded the speed limit in the laughter and applause features. All in all the attraction is a meritorious one and well deserving of a favorable reception at the hands of theater goers everywhere.—Albuquerque Evening Herald.

A Visit to Loraine.
The Sweetwater district conference was in session at Loraine Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There was an unusually good attendance of preachers delegates and visitors. Saturday, Mrs. W. L. Doss and Mrs. Merritt spent the day and very much enjoyed the occasion. At eleven o'clock, Dr. Young, who is traveling for the great Methodist University at Dallas, preached a fine sermon, then took a collection for this work. He raised three thousand dollars in the Sweetwater district, payable in five years. His statement of the needs and the great things to result from this made all anxious to have a part in its building.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Merritt spoke to the women about their work in the opera house, and at four the gentlemen came in, and after being served to punch, were treated to a splendid program of music readings and songs. After more punch and some pleasant conversation—the reception broke up, the visitors being given only time enough to eat supper before returning to the church, where Bro. Hunt preached a fine sermon. After this sermon the ladies, accompanied by Mr. Doss and Cap Hall, returned home by auto, very much enjoying the cool ride in the starlight.

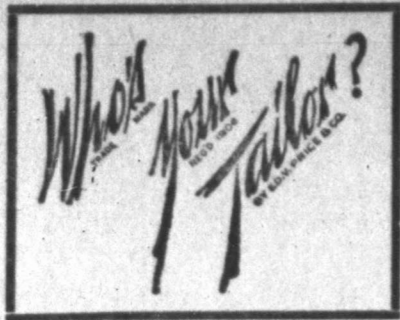

On Sunday, Rev. Sherman preached in the morning and Bro. Lyon at night, this closing the conference. The Loraine people certainly did themselves proud in their entertaining. Their hospitality is of the genuine old fashioned sort that makes one feel that they are indeed at home and everything is theirs. The next session of the conference will be held in Snyder.
