TEACH OWNERS TO KNOW THEIR CARS

Purpose of Book Furnished With Each New Studebaker Automobile.

Book Also Increases Greatly Owners' Satisfaction and Cars' Life.

The motorist who today buys one of the light, handy and efficient automobiles which have become recognized as staple all over the world, is often amazed at the care and attention he finds he has purchased, along with his car. More and more manufacturers have come to realize that lasting sales success is based on the prestige of their cars in the hands of owner-drivers. Skillful service is used increasingly as a sales argument by dealers and often, for long periods, no charge is made for the minor adjustments and skilled advice given a novice.

A step still further in advance has been taken by The Studebaker Corporation which believes in a matter of especial importance to have owners of its cars thoroughly familiar with the forces that "make the wheels go round."

With infinite care and at no small expense, the Studebaker engineering department has compiled, in terms which any layman can understand, an "Information Book" with a separate edition for each of the three Studebaker models. The book is a complete treatise on the car, explaining each detail of the mechanism, giving explicit directions for its care and making plain in each case the reason for attention, and the results of adjustment. The book starts with a chapter of general instructions for use as soon as the car is delivered. The owner is then told how to start the motor, drive the car, and stop it.

There is a chapter devoted to the gasoline system with thorough instruction on carburetor adjustment, and a short treatise on the characteristics of the different grades of fuel. The ignition system is explained by text and diagram, as is the lubrication system, the latter being illustrated by a cut of a chassis in which each oil cup is located, a key denoting the frequency with which it should be oiled.

Studebaker owners are taught how to grind in and adjust the valves of their cars, and to avoid carbon accumulation in the motor. There are diagrams and explanations of the change-gear system, the differential, the bearings and the steering gear. Tire repair and care for the car's finish are also discussed, and there is a separate chapter on the electric starting and lighting device with which the Studebaker "35" and "Six" are equipped. The final chapter is a treatise on motor car pathology. The entire work covers more than sixty pages.

Many a motorist likes to be dependent on no outside aid for the care of his car. The aim of this book has been to make this course easy for the owner of every Studebaker car. One of these valuable books goes with each new car, free of charge, and they certainly will prove a great help and source of instruction to owner-drivers. Also a book of parts, showing in detail, each part of the car, its number and price. Call at the Studebaker garage of S. F. Keiper, and see this new instruction book.

We have always maintained that Mitchell county was the last county in West Texas to get a thorough wetting, and that Colorado was the last spot in the county to get a rain. It has rained all around us during the past week; rained in every neighboring county; rained in every portion of Mitchell county; rained several times up to the very limits of the town corporation; but so far, it has failed to do more for the town than a drizzle. It has been very cloudy and threatening for ten days, raining about us everywhere, but the sprinkling wagon has kept steadily on its job laying the dust. Surely, there must be some fellow in Colorado who is not cutting stove wood for his wife to cook with, or somebody is behind with the preacher. These two sins have been considered the cause of dry weather since community life began. We'd better have a meeting and find whose fault it is.

COLORADO BALL TEAM GOING SOME.

Colorado Takes Four Games out of Six During the Past Week.

Last Friday a game was matched between Loraine and Colorado to be played on the home diamond.

The Colorado boys had been told that Loraine's team was just a little better than it had been for the last two years, and they knew if this was the case they had their work cut out for them. But they were very agreeably surprised when they found they had it "coming easy."

Colorado's expert twirler, Gage, pitched the game, and he did it to the queen's taste. Loraine first put Muns in the box, but after they had sent his balls into the brush several times Morgan went in; he not being able to slip it by the eagle eyes of the Colorado hard hitters, Wilson was put in to pitch the last three innings. The game ran fast and furious, Colorado piling up the line of figures on the score board. In fact the boys made a race track. The score was 11 to 7 in favor of Colorado. The Colorado team made more errors than Loraine, but we had them outclassed on the pitcher and Bodine behind the timber just eat 'em, putting out three men trying to steal second. It was a very good practice game for the boys, but hardly close enough to be exciting.

Having beaten Big Spring one out of the two games, a few days before, gave Colorado a record of two out of three games.

With the encouragement the Colorado boys decided to go in for the West Texas League pennant.

On Monday Tuesday and Wednesday a series of three games had been matched with Toyah, which team came with a reputation of having cleaned up a large majority of the games they had played this season.

They came into town Sunday, after having played at Big Spring. They were under the management of "Kitten" Crawford, an old Colorado boy, and no slouch of a ball player himself. Monday evening it was cloudy and cold—almost too cold to play a good game. The grounds were in good condition and after getting warmed up, they went at it in earnest. The teams were evenly matched and the game depended on errors from the start. The boys were a little excited at first but soon saw they could hold them down, and settled into a good smooth game of ball. The lineup with the runs for each player is given below:

COLORADO—

Lovelace rf	2
Majors cf	0
Jenkins, 3rd base	1
Bodine, catcher	1
Farrar, 2nd base	0
Wulfjen, 1st base	1
Cooper, pitcher	1
Bennett, short	0
Total scores	7

TOYAH—

Rarey, first base	1
Dimmitt, short	2
Montgomery, left field	1
Garrett, 3rd base	2
Crawford, catcher	2
Jackson, right field	0
McTier, 2nd base	0
Slack, center field	0
Total scores	8

This was a close game, having been tied several times. In the eighth inning the game was 7-7, but in the ninth Toyah scored on an error, and won the game. It was close enough to make it interesting, and the crowd was about equally divided as to the opinion of the outcome of Tuesday's game. Some splendid team work was shown, and the pitching of both Cooper and Dixon was good.

On Tuesday evening the grounds in West Colorado were used, on account of the South diamond becoming too hard, having been tramped after the rain. The new diamond was in good condition except perhaps a little too sandy, but the boys did not mind that, and the game opened at 5:30 with a big crowd in attendance. The lineup was about the same as before, except Gage pitched for Colorado, and Garrett for Toyah, Bodine and Crawford being the catchers, same as the day before. Toyah's pitcher was not in form, or he was unable to slip 'em by, as the Colorado boys batted him all over the field. The first ball up was a two bagger, second man made a safe hit and the third man sent it down in the brush and all three came in home. The fourth man also made a home run, after which they waltzed around without any trouble. It was so easy the boys got careless and let

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT ON JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 18

Many erroneous statements have been widely published about the position of the University authorities in the event that the constitutional amendment submitted in Senate Joint Resolution No. 18 should be adopted. It seems fitting, therefore, that an authoritative statement should come from one who is in a position to speak for the University.

The Amendment does not contemplate, and gives no authority for the consolidation of the A. & M. College and the University in Austin.

The Amendment gives no authority to move the Medical Department.

The Amendment gives no authority to move the College of Industrial Arts for women.

The Amendment gives no authority to move the Sam Houston Normal, the Southwest Texas Normal, the North Texas Normal or the West Texas Normal.

The Amendment will not in any way change the constitutional relations between the University and the A. & M. College, the College of Industrial Arts or the four State Normals. If the amendment is adopted, the authorities of the University will continue to develop the course of study as seems best for the needs of its thirty-three hundred students. Four hundred and sixty-one of these students, in the regular session alone, come direct from the farm, and more than a thousand of them are preparing to teach in the common schools. It is probable that the demands of these students will require more courses than we now offer in agriculture, both for those who plan to teach agriculture in the public schools and for those who expect to go back to farm. In the capacity of the University, the A. & M. College, the College of Industrial Arts, the four State Normal schools, and the public schools were doubled, all of them could not supply the needs of the three hundred and fifty thousand white farmers of Texas.

The Directors of the A. & M. College in their last biennial report state that nearly a million dollars are needed at once for buildings. Under the provisions of the Amendment buildings could be provided without delay at an immediate cost of $50,000 a year. Moreover, the adoption of the Amendment would forever free the College from the danger of being unable to get buildings from appropriations should another governor, or the Supreme Court, consider such a method unconstitutional. Should this amendment fail and should another disastrous fire revisit the College during the administration of a governor who considered appropriations for A. & M. buildings unconstitutional, how would it be possible to replace the burned buildings? I cannot think that the opponents of the Amendment have seriously considered the question. I have spent twenty of my best years in educational work in Texas, and I expect to spend the rest of my life here. I am more confident than ever that the people of Texas wish to develop all their educational institutions and will deal generously by them. The pending Amendment, in my judgment, is the most equitable and beneficial measure in the interest of every higher educational institution that has been submitted to the people during my long residence in the state. I confidently urge every friend of education to vote and work for the constitutional amendment submitted in Senate Joint Resolution Number 18.

S. E. MEZES,
President of University of Texas.

NO TIME, CAUSE OR REASON.

There are men and interests in this country who stand pledged to do all in their power to discredit a democratic administration by creating a panic. They have told the people that such calamity would occur if a democratic president were elected, and the pending changes in the tariff have given greater inspiration to their prophecies. There is no cause—no reason for a panic in this country. The business of this nation can be easily adjusted to any changes made in the tariff, and there is ample time for them. If there should be a panic, it will be because the "gamblers" want one; because the speculators want the business of the country so disturbed that they will be given a chance to make money. But it would be wholly an artificial panic, which would have its existence in the scare of the people rather than in any natural condition.

There is no room for panic in the southwest—no cause—no reason for one. This section is prospering now as it has never before prospered. Every line of its industries is being rapidly developed and money coming into the country every day seeking investment. With the present promise of a record-breaking crop, the people of the southwest must needs lose their heads completely to be stampeded by the efforts of the speculators to create a panic. If they must have a panic, let it be confined to their own section—to the land of stocks and speculation.

Our stocks and banks are safer than those of most any other section, and if the people will refuse to become scared and stand by the banks, the manipulations of New York speculators and protection interests will have little effect upon financial conditions in this section. The rank and file of the people are becoming too prosperous for the New York bankers. They want to destroy the small deposits of the working man, and a panic is the most effectual way to do so.

MORE SILOS NEEDED IN MITCHELL COUNTY.

The Farmers' Union has been conducting an exhaustive investigation into agricultural conditions with reference to the cost of producing and value received for farm crops with a view of recommending a substitute for cotton as that industry is already suffering from over-production. In discussing the subject, President Radford of the Farmers' Union said "The Lord made the greater part of Texas a cotton country and it will always remain the money crop of Texas so long as the farmer markets his crop direct from the harvest field, but I believe with plenty of good livestock and a silo a farmer can successfully raise feed stuff and he will be justified in planting less cotton and raising more livestock."

The Federal Census reports show that we have 14,080,936 head of livestock in Texas, and 96 per cent of our farms reported domestic animals.

There were 1082 farms in Mitchell county that reported livestock when the thirteenth census was taken, according to a report just issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, and the total number of domestic animals on these farms numbered 34865, which has a combined value of $1,052,741. Cattle is the predominating class of live stock in this county as shown by the following table:

Cattle	25364	$526 210
Horses	4430	301 649

A Lady's Comment

On Medicine and Religion

The following letter is from a lady whose name I am not at liberty to use. If I should mention her name she would be known by almost every reader. She writes in part: "Your article entitled 'Medicine and Religion' has been read and re-read by me many times. It seems to me that the article contains the substance of all that has been said about Christian Science, new thought, suggestive therapeutics and other forms of mental healing. "I am very much pleased to observe that you are putting out into the world such useful literature. It will do untold good, without doubt; not only for those who take medicine, but for those who try to get along without taking medicine. Your article is terse, to the point, and will be read by thousands. "Medicine and religion have always been very closely associated. Only in very recent years have the two been regarded as separate professions. I am glad you brought this out so clearly. The tendency of to-day is strongly in the direction of medicine and religion coming back together again. With your immense facilities for spreading useful information I am sure you will greatly assist the progress of the times in sending out broadcast such articles. I want you to know that your efforts are appreciated. "As to Peruna, I have nothing to say. I very seldom make use of any medicine. But I assure you that your article has so enthused me with the good advice it contains that if I have any need for medicine I shall certainly buy a bottle of Peruna. I shall not neglect to recommend it to others also." PERUNA SOLD AT ALL DRUG STORES. SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. Friday afternoon from four to six o'clock Mrs. Floyd Beall and Mrs. Stoneroad entertained at the home of Mrs. Beall with 500 and 42, in honor of Miss Arnett's guest, Miss Daniels of El Paso. The guests were met by the two hostesses, the guest of honor and Miss Arnett. There were four tables of 500 players and two tables of 42. The score cards were passed soon after four, and the games began. The 42 prize was cut for by Mrs. Myrtle Vaughan and Miss Van Tuyl and won by Mrs. Vaughan. The highest 500 score was made by Mrs. Marcus Snyder; both were given pretty fans. Miss Daniels was presented with dainty gold pins. An ice course was served.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Snyder.

After making a brave but unequal fight against the Grim Reaper, the suffering spirit of Mrs. W. H. Snyder was released from its earthly tenement and went to that mansion above, which her savior had prepared for her, and where there is no more pain or suffering and all tears are wiped away. She had been sick for some time and for several days before the end her death was expected at any moment.

The funeral occurred Sunday afternoon at the family residence, services being conducted by Rev. W. E. Lyon, a member of whose church she had long been, after which a large concourse of friends followed her remains to their last resting place in the Odd Fellows cemetery, where they will rest till Christ calls forth the redeemed.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder had long been residents of Colorado, being among the first families to settle in the place. She lived a humble and exemplary life, and though the hand of affliction lay heavily upon her, she bore it with a spirit of optimism and resignation that did much to mitigate her suffering. She is survived by a husband and a sister, to whom the Record extends the deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

ROOT FOR HOME MERCHANTS.

The citizen of Mitchell county who makes it a rule to buy everything he possibly can from his home merchants is a genuine patriot, inspired by a commendable desire to see his home enterprises prosper rather than contribute to the upbuilding of foreign houses. When our own base ball team is in a contest with an outside team, there is not one of us but yells and roots for the home boys. We will follow the home boys in their visits to other towns and will rejoice over their victories and bemoan their defeat. We stand ready to help that team with our time, money and every possible means of encouragement. Then why not apply the same principle to every Colorado enterprise and business? Why not root for Colorado's grocery dealers, its dry goods merchants, its hardware dealers, and every other line of business? There is not one of these businesses that does not employ home help, and everyone of these employees helps support every other institution of the county, pay the taxes, contribute to the needs and necessities of the unfortunate, and in every other way help in the support of every public interest, and the more liberally the home business man is supported, the more help must be employed; the more mouths will there be to be fed; the more bodies to be clothed; the more money will there be in circulation. Another feature—unless the enterprises already located in Colorado are generously supported, what reason can we expect others to be located here. The town will come to a dead standstill and there remain for all time. If some considerable concern should come here to investigate conditions and find that much of the money rightfully belonging to the trade of this community is regularly being sent out of the county to foreign mail order houses, and that enthusiasm was lacking in the matter of supporting home enterprises and home merchants; is it not natural that it should refuse to invest its money in such community? The people of Mitchell county and of Colorado need to awaken along this line; need to realize that just so long as they send out of the county money that should be spent with the home merchants, just so long will they build up Chicago and Kansas City houses and handicap the home merchant, on whom they place the burden of carrying them after they have spent all their money with foreign houses.

A cotton buyer was in town this week looking over the prospect in Mitchell and other west Texas counties for a cotton crop. He said he had visited several localities in this and the central part of the state, and did not hesitate to say that the outlook in Mitchell was as good as in any he had visited, and much better than in many. The increase in acreage was large in this county and all over west Texas and that if a big crop should be raised, feared there would be much difficulty in getting it gathered. The only chance he saw was the importation of Mexican pickers.

The town of Spur, Texas, has a well already down 489 feet or well nigh to one mile deep, and the promoters propose to keep on drilling, indefinitely until oil, gas or artesian water is encountered. The enterprise is being promoted by S. M. Swenson & Sons of New York, who also financed the establishment of the town of Spur.

BANKS TO AID FARMERS.

According to a statement by Peter Radford, president of the Farmers' Union, the financing of the cotton crop this year has been assured. About 800 banks in this state have agreed to advance money on warehouse receipts for stored cotton at the rate of 6 per cent per annum for six months or longer. The loan will be made the farmer upon depositing his warehouse receipt and signing a note negotiable in any part of the country and a bond signed by a warehouse manager, specifying the number of bales owned by the farmer desiring the loan. President Radford urges the farmers to borrow $35 per bale, or 70 per cent of the market value of the cotton at the time of the loan.

President Radford further says, this is not to hold the cotton for an arbitrary price, but in order to distribute the sale of the cotton over the time required to manufacture it, and prevent driving down the price early in the season by glutting the market with it. Throwing the entire crop upon the market within a month or two after it has been made, is the result of very pressing financial obligations upon the farmers; so that, if he can meet his obligations and at the same time hold his cotton, there will be no immediate necessity to sell. The cotton can then be disposed of as needed by the spinners and will tend to keep the prices regular to a greater degree than before. In 1912 there were but 160 banks in Texas that offered any assistance to the farmers in holding their cotton, and the greater number this year, is due to a more thorough study and understanding of this problem by the bankers.

FIRE DEPARTMENT PLEASED.

We are informed by the managers of the fire department that the result of the recent carnival was very satisfactory to the boys of the department. The carnival came here on contract to give ten per cent of its receipts to the fire department, which amounted to a little more than $100 above all expenses. This puts the fire boys in good financial condition and encourages them to still more zealous efforts in their services to the town. The Record ventures the assertion that no other town of West Texas has a more efficient fire department than Colorado. They are always on the spot and have saved the business part of the town more than once by their strenuous fighting. They deserve success in everything they undertake.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

On last Sunday afternoon President Dr. P. C. Coleman, Secretary R. M. Webb with some assistants visited the Buford school and assisted in grading it. That is a fine community and they have enough bright, eager children for all departments.

They have the reputation of a fine public school and we believe this Sunday school will be run on as progressive lines. President Coleman made the explanatory talk as to the purpose of the visit and did it in such a way that all present felt a sense of pride in being Sunday school workers—in fact he is encouraging some of his timid assistants to make speeches. Secretary Webb seems never so happy as when he is at work on a Sunday school, and soon had a graded school with an efficient corps of officers and teachers. Mr. H. C. Hines as Supt. Dr. D. L. Richards as Sec., and Miss Ethel Adams in charge of the Home Department and Cradle Roll. Miss Beulah Hanes the beginners, Mrs. Richards the primary, Mrs. Tom Daughtry the intermediate Mr. Daughtry the juniors; Mrs. W. E. Cunningham "teen" age and Mr. Hanes in charge the bible class of twelve young men. We feel sure this school will grow. After the school was provided with cards and envelopes for keeping their records each class resolved to get a star on the first Sunday in July and to avoid any punches in their cards if possible. Best wishes go with this school. Dr. Brown of Dallas addressed the Methodist children last Sunday afternoon, on Faith. The Methodist school and Mr. Woodward's school of Abilene have entered a contest to see which can have the greater average during the summer months. The losing school to treat the other in some way.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY.

Mrs. Looney's large circle of friends and acquaintances were delighted the first of last week to receive invitations to a tea Thursday afternoon from four to six o'clock.

The guests arrived promptly and were greeted by the daughters of the house, Miss Looney, Miss Marguerite Looney, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Hunter Looney, a cousin, Miss King, and the hostess. A large house party, among whom were Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Prude, Miss McComas, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Hooper, Miss Allen, Miss Boren, Mrs. Boren, Mrs. Moar, Mrs. Bailey, Miss Terrell and Mrs. Hennessy, assisted in disposing of the guests and showing them into the punch room, where from a table covered with trailing vines and delicious fruits, Miss Earnest and Miss Blandford poured a most refreshing punch. In the parlor with Mrs. Floyd Beall at the piano, Miss Marguerite Looney sang several delightful songs. The decorations in the parlor were especially pretty, causing all to wonder as to their purport. From the chandelier was suspended a gilded hoop by loops of pink and green ribbon. In the hoop stood daintily attired bride and groom dolls, with airy draperies of tulle floating about them and formed into a big bow at one side of the golden hoop or wedding ring. On the top of the ring sat cupid holding a missile attached to a ribbon. The draperies of ribbon and tulle were carried down to the table where an immense dish of sweet peas was placed.

While Mrs. Moar played the wedding march, Miss Looney and the young ladies who are to form her wedding party, who were present, gathered around the table and Miss Marguerite read the message from Cupid, saying we were always anxious to know what Cupid had to tell us. It read, "Betrothed, Mr. Edward Rowley and Miss Juliette Looney, June 18th." Congratulations were offered the bride-to-be, who was exceedingly pretty in a gown of brocade pink charmeuse with waist of net and gold lace, with panel of heavy gold lace and shoes and hose of the gold.

Several piano numbers were given by Mrs. Moar and Miss Whipkey.

In the dining room which was prettily decorated in gold and white, an ice course was served. Over the table was a hanging basket filled with trailing vines and sunflowers; on the table was a pretty basket filled with the sunflowers. These were also on the side-board and sewing table. Tall spikes of the creamy white bear grass were in the corners, while white candles in golden candlesticks burned on the table. Candles were all over the house, adding their softening and beautifying effect to the scene.

The announcement is to be followed by any number of affairs in Miss Looney's honor, given by her friends.

CEMENT WORK WANTED.

Standing on the midway during the progress of the recent street carnival in this place and leisurely watching the crowd in its varying manifestations of pleasure, there was a source of much interest. There were attractions varying from a snake show to a lingerie show; from smashing a knob with a sledge to taking a peep into the "giggling alley." Not a single feature was slighted. Big strapping men pounded the knob with a heavy sledge in the name of fun, who would take lumbago if their wives but suggested cutting a little wood to get supper. People paid stiff prices for "Oriental vases" who would not have looked at them in the store of the home merchant. The most popular feature seemed to be tossing balls into open kegs. Staid heads of families down to trundle-bed fry greedily spent their money to toss a wooden ball into a keg in the hope of getting something for nothing. If one catches the carnival spirit he will spend money for anything exposed for sale. And its contagious like measles. Men would walk up to the ropes without the slightest intention of taking a throw. After seeing several make failures they would get the hunch somehow that they could do it without the least trouble. Next, they'll tell someone just how the ball should be thrown, and the next thing he knows, is himself trying to pitch the balls into the open kegs. He intends to try only once, but in trying to beat the game he will stand there and spend two or more dollars before realizing it. If his wife had asked for half that amount of money to spend solely for her own pleasure, he'd have thrown one fit after another at such extravagance. A street carnival is a good place to study the different varieties of the genus homo.

Moving the ball game to the west side last Tuesday afternoon, was a good financial idea. As the river was up too high to ford those who wished to see the game must pass over the bridge, at the further end of which stood a man to receive the admission fee. There were no houses or trees to climb on that side, and those who saw the game had to pay for the privilege. This was right and just to all parties. The games are well worth the price of admission asked; besides, the home team were at no small expense in bringing the visiting team to Colorado, and inasmuch as it was done for the amusement and recreation of the entire community, no man should expect to have the pleasure of witnessing the games without contributing to the expenses. It is a great pity we have no fenced ball grounds with a shaded stand. The Record believes the money could be gotten by public subscription for the stand, and possibly for the fence, but no one owning land available for a ball park, has yet appeared, patriotic enough to donate the use of it for amusement purposes.

NOW IS THE BEST TIME.

It being a fact conceded by every thinking person, that irrigation by some system, is the great need of this country, the sooner we do something looking toward the development of it the sooner will we begin to profit thereby. In the absence of large combinations of capita' to install irrigation systems that will supply thousands of acres in one locality, we will have to depend on wells put down by individual farmers or a neighborhood. This system is being very successfully tried out in many West Texas counties, and the reports as to results more than justify the expense. Water in sufficient quantities to irrigate 40, 80 or 160 acres of land, is cheap at any reasonable price. It is impossible to estimate the ultimate value of a quarter section of good land under a good system of irrigation, privately owned. It dispels fear and uncertainty and makes farming an exact unvarying industry, creating new wealth every season.

We believe if the matter were taken in hand by someone who knows the business and presented to the people in an intelligent manner, there would be little trouble in organizing sufficient capital to put down an experimental well at this place or in this immediate community. If nothing came of it, the money would be well spent in the absolute knowledge that nothing of value lay beneath us, and so abandon all future speculation on that score. If oil, gas or still better—artesian water should be gotten, an era of unthought activity and prosperity would be upon us. The bringing in of one good irrigating well, would mean the putting down of dozens of others.

We have in our midst, Mr. H. A. Shipman, who has been employed as mining engineer by one of the big mining companies at Miami, Ariz. He wishes to turn his attention and talents to some other line of engineering, and is thoroughly qualified in the well drilling line. He has the ability to organize and push such enterprises, and no better nor more available man could be gotten to take hold of an enterprise like this. He has talked with some of the more advanced advocates of well drilling in the community and finds several who are willing to join in a company to make the experiment. We may never have so good an opportunity again of securing the services of a competent engineer, and no better time will ever come for testing out the uncertainty of what lies under us in the way of mineral wealth or irrigating water. If you are in any way interested in the matter, talk with Mr. Shipman. He will give you some valuable pointers and ideas. If we ever expect to act at all, there will never be a better time than now.

A GOVERNMENT FORMED OF ALL NATIONS

The spirit of brotherhood is spreading abroad over all the earth. While the nations are arming and preparing for war, yet the leading representatives of the different governments are advocating the adjustment of international difficulties by means of arbitration, and not by force of arms. This peace sentiment finds further expression in the formation of great peace societies, conferences and so on. As a result of this growing sentiment of brotherhood and peace, many enlightened men and women are now, with voice and pen, urging the establishment of a central system of authority; in other words, a board of control or congress, whose expressions shall be recognized by all nationalities.

How remarkably all of the indications point to this great international or world-wide government! By means of modern invention, discoveries, and improvements, all the people of the earth have been brought together, forming one vast community with common interests. The cables, wireless telegraph and telephones, have brought the remote portions of the globe into speaking distance. Through the medium of the rotary printing press, the daily records of the world's events are placed before the peoples of the earth with almost the speed of light. Railroads, steamships and flying machines are gradually but surely eliminating all obstacles and boundaries existing between nations.

This universal empire of brotherhood, peace and good will, will require a capital city, and what could be more fitting than to have this great capital city of the world at Jerusalem (which signifies "City of Peace." This, one of the oldest, and most celebrated cities in the world, has been discovered by geographers, to be practically in the geographical center of the land surface of the whole earth. It lies exactly between the Occident and the Orient. It is on the direct line of travel between the east and west, and is the most favorably located city on the globe for commercial enterprises. Jerusalem, therefore, is qualified in all respects to be the central seat of government for all the world.

This great Capital City of Peace, with its glorious Temple or Capital Building, is described in detail in the last nine chapters of the book of Ezekiel. THE WANDERING JEW.

IRRIGATED LAND.

At Ballinger, Mr. Farmer paid $17,000 for 340 acres of land, and the first year's crop brought the neat sum of $23,160, the rent alone making the owner a net profit of $7,580. When he makes one more sale the price is to be raised to $75 or $100 per acre.—Adv.

COLORADO, TEXAS, JUNE 13, 1913.

A. H. O'Keefe, Adjutant Joe Sayers Camp, U. D. C., writing to the Fort Worth Record, very strongly urges Hon. W. R. Smith of the 16th district for U. S. Senator.

"I'm the happiest man in the United States" said ex-President Taft to Speaker Champ Clark on his recent visit to Washington, the first since his retirement to private life.

After July 1st, C. O. D. packages will be transmissible by parcels post. This will be quite a convenience, but what most of us need is some arrangement whereby we can get things on credit.

The Abilene Reporter of Sunday published a picture of the proposed new court house for Taylor county. It is a beauty, in the French renaissance style, with three stories and basement. It is an abrupt departure from the prevailing style of court houses in this state.

It is an encouraging sign that better school houses are being erected over the country than ever before. Wherever possible, bonds are being voted and modern, up to date and sanitary houses built. People have learned that much depends on the environment and comfort of the pupils.

A prominent packer being asked if he thought putting meat and cattle on the free list would materially lessen the price of meat to the consumer, said he did not think it would reduce the price materially until the supply was much greater than it now is or gave promise of being in the immediate future.

We have heard several complaints recently about the condition of the public roads; that they are not kept in good repair after being put in that condition. To simply make good roads and then leave them to all the exigencies of wear and fresher, is soon to have a condition as bad as at first. To make our roads good is not enough; they must be continually looked after and the bad places mended soon as they occur. Herein lies good and efficient management.

There has just died in Amsterdam, N. Y., Miss Julia Frank, aged 73 years. She adopted, reared and educated ten children, she attended every decoration day services for 40 years and decorated the grave of every soldier in the local cemetery. Her sweetheart was killed in the first battle of Bull Run, but she never accepted as authentic the report of his death, and for 50 years had kept a light burning in her window in anticipation of his return. What if all the race were as faithful as this lone spinster?

It is the general opinion of the farmers that more feed will be made this year in Mitchell county than they will be able to use or dispose of. But if there be a good cotton crop made much of the feed will be allowed to go to waste in the field. The problem will be, in the event of a good cotton crop, to get help to gather it. When it comes to saving cotton or feed, the feed is always allowed to stay in the field until ruined. They figure that it is cheaper to save the cotton and buy feed.

A stranger in town this week asked us where he would find the county court house. When we had told him and pointed out the ancient and dilapidated pile, he said: "I saw that old building but never once imagined it was the court house of this county. Why don't you folks build a new and up to date one?" And this gentleman's remarks are but the reflex of the opinion every visitor and stranger who comes to our town. They size us up largely by the condition of our public buildings and streets.

Anything to trade? Try the Record.

The conditions existing in Mitchell and other West Texas counties at the present time are as promising as could be wished. The crops are no where suffering for rain and the farmers are not complaining. The only complaints we have heard are by those who are not farming nor have ever farmed. It would be absolutely impossible to have conditions that would satisfy even a large part of the people. It never has rained to suit them and quite likely never will, and yet the old world manages to wag along from good to better despite the complaints and croaking of those who imagine they could order things better.

The Dallas News is doing a great and practical service to the people who are concerned about the present high cost of living. For several weeks it has been running a column on this subject to which contributions are asked. Housewives all over the state are giving their experiences and hints in making both ends meet. Some valuable suggestions are made, as well as recipes given for making a little go a long way. It tells how to utilize odds and ends heretofore thrown away and gives a daily menu with the cost of every article. One lady gives the itemized articles and prices for feeding a family of five on $1.00 per day, and the bill of fare she lays down is good and varied as, we dare say, that in the homes of the best class of our citizenship. Reading this column in the News regularly, is equal to a college course in home economics. It is a very valuable feature and the News is to be commended for carrying it just at this time, when the cost of eating is the most pressing question in so many homes.

Hon. Cullen F. Thomas gave out a statement this week at Dallas, that he would be a candidate for governor if the reform forces of the state called upon him to fling himself into the breach. He feels, like the Roman patriot, Curtius, that conditions call for the noblest blood of Texas.

All the shows and circuses that ever crossed Texas lines have not taken as much money out of the state as is sent out in one month to swell the profits of the northern mail order houses. The shows and circuses spend from hundreds to as much as $5,000 per day in the localities where they exhibit. How much does one of these commercial blood suckers spend in return for the fortune poured into their coffers by the people of Texas every day in the year?

ADVERTISING AND ADVERTISING.

It has ever been a mystery to us that a stranger, bent only on picking up a few dollars, can come into a town and in a few hours secure from $50 to $100 worth of advertising from the local merchants in the shape of a few framed cards hung in half a dozen places about the town, when, if the local printer should attempt to do the same thing, these same business men would accuse him of grafting and faking. These cards, hung in hotels, depots, barber shops and other public places are read by just a few people, when that same ad put into the local paper would be read by two or three thousand people every week.

Many people who patronize these "pick-up" artists do not really understand their scheme. It is very simple and effective. One will come into a town, go to the printing office, get a sheet of card board and lay it off into as many spaces as he wants customers. He then canvasses the town, shows his diagram, telling the merchants the card will be beautifully framed, neatly printed and hung in all the prominent places in town. Say he collects $50 from 15 or 20 business houses, hotels, barber shops, etc. He then goes to the local printer and gets his very lowest figures for printing not more than 25 or 50 of these cards. He pays just as little as he can for the printing, has half a dozen of them cheaply framed; usually gets his hotel bill in exchange for a card in his "directory," pockets the balance and seeks greener pastures and other victims.

One good reason the local printer does not do this, is that it would discredit his legitimate newspaper advertising and smack too much of trying to hold up the people who support him by catch-penny methods. But the rank stranger and outsider, who has nothing invested and nothing to lose and all to gain, can come in and work the game to a nicety.

THE GREATEST LEGACY.

There never was a man made on the regulation plan, who did not at some time bemoan his poverty and wish he was rich—not rotten rich, like the billionaires, with whom to want a thing is to have it, if money can get it—but well enough off in the wares of this world to be sure of a competency in old age and comfort with an occasional luxury in middle age. This is a natural and honest ambition. But the man who slaves all his life to lay up riches for his children, believing that the dollar almighty will shield them from all trouble after he is gone, is but laying up trouble with compound interest for his children. Instead of shielding them from trouble, money will make them the prey of every scoundrel and crook they meet; and not knowing how the money came—how many days of sweat and nights of worry it represents they fall easy victims to the schemes and blandishments of false friends. Putting wealth in the hands of a young man or woman, which they in no wise helped to make, or know how it was made is like putting a razor in the hands of a little child. It is more likely to prove a hurt and injury than a help and blessing.

Would you know the greatest legacy a man can possibly leave his child? A fortune that can never be lost through the treachery of friends or his own reckless acts; a collateral that will be accepted at any bank in the world and is never below free value? Teach the child—begin at the cradle—the vital necessity of Truth and Honesty, those twin sisters of Happiness. Teach it never to expect anything without giving an equivalent value in return; teach it the practical value of money and the difference between "mine" and "thine." Give it such education as circumstances allow and given health and industry, there is no force of circumstances that can keep him down. Just as sure as "God's in His heaven," right will prevail. No evil will come that can crush him, and though his one or two talents may confine him to narrow limits, yet his life will be a success because he is willing to do his appointed work cheerfully, thoroughly and honestly. The life of any boy dominated by such principles can not in any sense save a vulgar, sordid sense, be a failure. The Master took the few loaves and two small fishes and fed the multitude. So will He take your few talents and in using them for service to your fellow men, magnify and glorify your life.

When is a man poor? As a financial factor in the community, a man is considered poor when he has no money or property; when he lives each day on what he earns by the sweat of his brow or brain. Yet, he may be rich in all the virtues that constitute true manhood and patriotic citizenship. A man is poor when he loses the confidence of friends and respect of the community; when his word is not to be depended upon; when those who know him best believe in him least. He is poor when he wants to get something for nothing; when he is willing to make money at the expense of his character. With his character clouded he is poorest of the poor. If you have maintained your integrity; if you will swear to your own hurt and change not in the interest of truth; if you stand four-square to every wind of temptation that blows "Have never crooked the pregnant hinges of the knee. That thrift may follow tawning." If you have never done these things, you are not poor, no matter how little of the world's goods you may possess. You have a heritage that all the wealth of the millionaires can not buy for those who lack it.

A fish hatchery, to be established and maintained at the expense of the State of Texas, will be installed in the southeastern end of the State Fair Park. The city is to furnish twenty acres of land and the necessary water for the undertaking. Colonel W. G. Sterett, State Fish and Game Commissioner after an inspection of the site offered by the city officials of Dallas pronounced it ideal for he purpose and the mayor has been authorized by the Park Board to attend to the proper transfer of the property to the use of the State.

The Conference for Education in Texas has announced that they will soon have a new set of plans for rural high school buildings, adapted not only for school purposes, but also suitable for social centers, ready for free distribution. The conference has plans for buildings from one to eight rooms, and has recently sent out over one thousand plans to 109 counties in Texas. Requests for plans for model buildings are being received from all sections of Texas which is one of the most encouraging evidences of enlightened sentiment in regard to educational conditions and needs.

FAIRVIEW FANCIES.

Our Sunday school picnic on the 29 was well attended and with songs, music, speeches, drills, etc. and with a good dinner, a very pleasant day was passed. Judge Coe made a short talk on Sunday schools and the dangers of creating a new school district; but we are going to get there just the same.

LONGFELLOW LOCALS.

This part of the country was visited by a heavy rain Friday night which done lots of good although it damaged several crops that were in the valleys.

Mr. E. O. Britton had twenty acres of cotton washed away. Mr. W. E. Winton lost ten acres of cane and several acres of cotton were damaged.

E. R. Smith had about ten acres of feed and cotton washed away. Dan Vincent and I. B. Hardy's crops were also damaged to some extent.

The measles are raging in this community, which is causing people to get behind with their work, as well as a drawback to social affairs.

DANIEL DOINGS.

Well, it rained and then rained again, and yet it is not too wet.

Most of the farmers hereabouts are at work—some are at Colorado court-ing.

Secretary Houston is getting right after us. He will do a great deal of good if he doesn't push that centralized church too far. We all fought, bled and died (figuratively) for religious liberty. At least we've all been in favor of each denomination having its own church and its own preacher. He is right about us needing better schools and about the necessity of the city folks helping the country folks. And now the best way to help us is to give us better schools. How? Why give us more money, more teachers. All teachers ought to be "Apt to teach" and "Ruleth well."

Daniel school district will build up a good school yet. Keep your eye on us and see.

PLAINVIEW POINTS.

We are very hopeful of a good crop this year and working to that end feeling sure that if we do our part that we won't lose by it. Nobody is knocking as is usual at this time of the year.

The singing class will meet on Saturday night to practice. We have a very good class and enter the next annual convention at Colorado. Mr. Pickens is very proud of his class and working hard to improve it, for which we most gladly and heartily thank him.

There was a tacky party at Mr. G. B. Copeland's last Friday night and everybody had a fine time. Mr. Harvey and Miss Rosie Leach getting the prize for being the tackiest boy and girl. As it looked like it was going to rain every minute, they stayed till one o'clock, but that didn't keep them from having a good time.

Crops are in fine shape, but will need rain soon to keep them growing and we are sure that we will get it.

Have Your Own Stationery.

No one thing gives to farmers and stockmen more individuality and higher commercial standing than neatly printed stationery. As a special inducement, we will for a short time, make and deliver 250 note heads and 250 nice envelopes for $2.50, using good material and doing neat work. This applies to farmers and ranchmen only, as an inducement to have them try this plan of having their letter paper and envelopes printed. Send or bring in your orders to the Record office during this month. If you have never tried having your individual stationery, it will surprise you, how much better impression it will make on those to whom you write.

IS IT RIGHT TO ADVERTISE COCA-COLA!

Men who play the wily game of politics have discovered that the best way to distract the attention of the public from their own shortcomings is to make a loud-mouthed sensational attack upon someone else. As the cuttle-fish eludes its pursuer by clouding the surrounding water with the contents of its ink sac, so the politician advertises takes advantage of the ignorance and prejudices of the people to escape from his indefensible position by muddying the waters of public opinion.

A case in point is the recent attack made upon the religious press for carrying Coca-Cola advertising. This attack was made by a politician who was supposed to be an expert in chemistry but who, having brought a suit against the Coca-Cola Company, was humiliated by having to acknowledge that he could not qualify as an expert. The court decided in favor of the Coca-Cola Company as it was clearly shown that the only essential difference between Coca-Cola and coffee or tea is that the former contains only about half as much caffeine as the latter and that the flavor is different.

The question as to whether it is right to advertise Coca-Cola seems to resolve itself therefore into the question as to whether it is right to advertise coffee, tea, chocolate, cocoa and other beverages of the caffeine group.

Honoring Miss Looney.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Bailey entertained at 500 and 4p in honor of Miss Looney. There were six tables of 500 and four of 42. Eight games were played. The prize in 500 was won by Miss Lillie Allen, a beautiful cut glass vase. Mrs. Willis R. Smith won the 42 prize, a pretty cut glass spoon tray. The honoree was given an elegant cut glass dinner bell. A refreshment course of pink ice cream with white cake was served most daintily by the hostess.

A WOMAN'S WORK
sometimes reduces her strength to the depths of weakness—her devotion to household cares prevents sufficient rest and recreation. Thousands of women in this condition find Scott's Emulsion exactly what they need; it is predigested body-food so medically perfected that every drop yields direct returns in strengthening the organs and tissues and in making healthy, life-sustaining blood. Scott's Emulsion is devoid of alcohol or any harmful drugs, and overcomes tiredness and nervousness in a marvelous way.

City Council Proceedings.

There was little business transacted by the city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night, beyond the appointing of a few committees and allowing of sundry bills.

Mrs. Cooksey appeared before the council and made application to have the rate she had been paying for water with which to sprinkle the streets, reduced. The council thereupon reduced the rate from 10 cents per load to 5 cents, and agree to have a loading place made.

O. E. Avery and W. H. Moeser were appointed a committee to have a house built over the engines at the water works pumping plant.

W. H. Moeser was appointed a committee to draft an ordinance regulating the use of water and to report to council at its next meeting.

The following bills were allowed: H. C. Doss $1.80; J. S. Vaughan $16.30; W. F. Robinson $9.75; Winn & Payne .50; W. H. Moeser $37.65; Jake Jeffries $22.00; F. S. Keiper $2.35; Texas Co. $16.90; Telephone Co. $1.50; C. M. Adams $3.15; L. A. Costin -2.00.

I suffered from a skin disease for 36 years and about six months ago it attacked one of my eyes and put it out. After it was too late, I got a box of Hunt's Cure and began to use it, and I must say that it is the best remedy I have used in 36 years, and I believe it will cure any skin eruption.

The Negro is Cleared.

The case of the State of Texas against Arthur Waller, charged with the murder of Jim Whitfield, on last Thanksgiving night, occupied the time of the district court Monday and Tuesday. After some delay the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The killing occurred at a negro supper last November, and from the testimony it seemed that it was merely a matter of which shot first. Waller shot Whitfield in the abdomen with an automatic shotgun, and after Whitfield had fallen he raised from the ground and shot Waller in the leg with a 45 cal. pistol.

BEGIN TO WORK NOW.

In view of the present promise of a good crop this fall, now is none too soon for the merchants and other business people of Colorado to begin the formulation of plans to induce trade to come to this market. There are just two elements that usually determine the marketing place of the farmers. The first is price, and the second is good roads—ease of transportation. But if the dollars' and cents' inducement is great enough, the good roads are frequently waived. But prices being anything like equal the town which offers the easiest and quickest access is the one to get the trade. The roads leading into Colorado were made first class last year. It is very important that they be kept in first class condition or this advantage will be lost to the town. As to prices, there is less margin for any decided advantage; but the merchants can offer inducements that will make coming to Colorado to the advantage of the cotton seller and merchandise buyer. As we said, it is not too soon to begin making ready to meet the competition of other towns. Some kind of premiums could be given for various crop productions. The first bale of cotton was brought to this market on August 9th last year and on August 8, in 1911. A fixed premium for the first bale this year would stimulate farmers to get here with their first bale early. Prizes for the best hog, best load of malze, kaffir corn, Indian corn, etc., would encourage trade to come this way.

THE night panoramic view of the Exposition shown above gives but a faint idea of the magnificent picture which will be presented. The wonderful electrical illumination that is planned will make not only the grounds and buildings of the Exposition as light as the bright California sunshine, but will include all the beauties of the bay and city. The progress of electrical lighting science makes possible a far more brilliant night effect than has ever been known before. In fact, scientific developments in all lines will be utilized to make the Panama-Pacific International Exposition fully one hundred per cent greater and grander than any other world exposition ever held.

Studebaker

A Rich Market for Studebaker Cars

THE SALES VALUE OF STUDEBAKER CARS IS NOT THEIR MOST FREQUENTLY CONSIDERED FEATURE, BUT BUYERS KNOW IT. IF THERE WERE NOT SO GREAT AND SO STEADY A DEMAND FOR STUDEBAKER AUTOMOBILES, THE LINE WOULD NOT BE SO SOUGHT FOR AS IT IS.

It should be interesting to all automobile buyers to know that never in the history of this Company, was there such a tremendous demand for Studebaker cars as there is today; and in addition, that Studebaker factories never surpassed either in quality or numbers the production which is daily going on.

A Cherished Reputation

Over sixty years the name STUDEBAKER has steadily grown in public favor and confidence. It represents countless business transactions carried through with enterprise and integrity and today its value is priceless. The same straightforward business policies which have built the present tremendous organization still rule the business and are daily continuing to win favor and confidence.

With the largest and best factories in the industry, a loyal and efficient organization and ample resources, Studebaker proposes first and foremost to win goodwill and establish great permanent success. This is the spirit which animates the Studebaker organization and it is one with which and buyer of a Studebaker car can associate himself in full assurance of satisfaction and profit.

COLORADO, Texas

Sweetwater, Texas, May 23rd, 1913.

Grogan Wells & Boone Institute of Massage, Sweetwater, Texas.

Gentlemen:-

On the 29th day of April, 1913, I entered your institution and began taking your treatment, and left the institution on the 9th day of May, 1913.

I had a very severe case of rheumatism for which I had been unable to get any relief whatever; and in addition to this, for fifteen years I had been unable to put my right hand to my head on account of a dislocation of the shoulder. After a ten days course of treatment I am entirely relieved, have good use of all my limbs and feel like a new man.

My general physical condition had also affected my eyes until I could hardly read, even with glasses, but now they are as good as ever, as remedying the other ailments of my body has removed all defects from them.

I heartily and conscientiously recommend the Grogan Wells and Boone institute of Massage to all sufferers.

Respectfully,

(Signed) M. L. Bennett.

Farmers declare that weeds have never been so bad since farming began in Mitchell county. The past two weeks of hot and dry weather has been an ideal time to kill them and every farmer has been busy with "go-devil" and other weed-killing devices in their extermination. We believe when the rubbish is entirely removed from the St. James hotel lots and the desirableness and availability of the location made more apparent, that the chances of rebuilding will be greatly increased. They are the most prominent lots in town, and it would be strange indeed if business houses erected on them did not readily rent. With a good crop, the chances will be still greater for the building of store houses on these lots, as there will also be a greater demand for them.

When your child has whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectoration easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. As long as it continues to rain all around us, in every portion of the county, we of the town should be perfectly content. It is from the prosperity of these rural communities that the prosperity of the town comes. The town can well afford to get along with little rain if the country all about it gets an abundance.
