FARMERS' UNION PLAN ACCEPTED BY WELLS-FARGO CO.

Mr. Peter Radford, first president of the Texas Farmers' Union, has also returned from the headquarters of the Wells-Fargo Company in Fort Worth, Texas, where he has just concluded an agreement with the Wells-Fargo Company for the transportation of farm products. The only line of industry that has ever been successfully and constructively regulated is the common carrier. If we can make them the agency between the producer and consumer, then we will have a regulated highway of commerce where the article can safely travel without danger of being burglarized on the roadway of trade.

The Farmers' Union has long cherished the hope of bringing the producer and consumer nearer together. The middleman is nothing more than a farm hand, but he is able to fix his own wages and collect them, and to multiply his transactions as he pleases. He is at best an independent and often times incompetent servant of agriculture and frequently resorts to the other discipline or discharged. The middlemen are without competition or government supervision. They regulate as badly as the common carrier and the plan affords facilities for a competitive system of marketing which will act as a check against the greed of the middleman, a leverage against combinations and will have a tendency to avoid giving on the market. The new plan is not without its compensation to the middleman. While reducing him to his natural position as an industrial domestic, it will restore to him many profitable advantages which he has forfeited for power. It will take out waste, uncertainty and inefficiency and will add volume, stability and conscience to the business.

The consumer will likewise feel the generosity of the new system of distribution in the extension of the season of perishable products far beyond their present limits. As a rule the movement of perishable products scarcely gets well under way until the market is glutted and the best part of the crop rots on the ground and the producer, dealer, consumer and carrier are the innocent victims of a crude and vicious distribution system. The farmer, however, will be able to fill his orders more regularly during the season and agricultural panics will be unknown and business generally will feel the steady hand of this new influence in trade. The volume of business will be largely increased and waste turned into profit.

On the line of products which will constitute the bulk of the traffic adapted to movement through the new channels of commerce, those who are authorized to make estimates tell us the middleman gets an average of forty cents on the dollar which the consumer pays for the product. In justice to the middleman I will say that I consider half of this seeming profit is waste. It is toll levied by an incompetent and lumbering system of business which breeds panics in marketing and enforces speculation in the business. The farmer is compelled to do business on a sixty-cent dollar while other lines of industry have sound money.

The annual profit of the middleman of the nation on fruit, vegetables and poultry approximates one billion dollars. The new system of distribution places in the hands of the producer an opportunity of securing a large amount of this profit. It has the additional possibility of adding at least one-third to the volume of the business as I consider that more than thirty per cent of this class of products ever leaves the farm for want of a market or rots in the field for lack of profitable prices.

The interests of the producer and common carrier harmonize sufficiently to admit of a working basis of co-operation. The carrier receiving no part of the purchase price or direct compensation for the sale of the article would not be subjected to the character test which the middleman must meet in every transaction. The desire to move the business would naturally stimulate the carrier to exertion on behalf of the producer and their activities would compensate rather than conflict with the producer and the Interstate Commerce Commission, having power over rates, can protect the interests of the public. The plan will reduce the element of risk to the minimum.

T. A. P. TO INCREASE ITS PASSENGER SERVICE

Additional passenger train service on the Texas and Pacific Railway between Fort Worth and Sweetwater, following the visit of E. F. Kearney, vice president, was announced by the railroad official himself. The early night train to Sweetwater will be put back into service Sept. 1. The passenger train, formerly designated as No. 1, will leave Fort Worth at 8 p. m. according to the present schedule, and a sleeper will go through to San Angelo, connecting with the Orient at Sweetwater. The train will also make connection at Abilene for the Wichita Valley territory and the Santa Fe for the Panhandle business. Eastbound train No. 2, corresponding with the westbound train will arrive at Fort Worth about 6 a. m.

$25,000 To Employ Secret Service.

The house allowed an appropriation of $25,000 to be expended under the direction of the controller, in the enforcement of the liquor laws of the state. This money is to employ secret service men to investigate places where liquor is sold without license. Representative McCaskill, of San Antonio, author of the amendment, said there are thousands of bawdy houses in Texas where liquor is sold and without a state license. This appropriation is to suppress these.

Enthusiasm may load the wagon to its fullest capacity, but it takes financial assistance to make the wheels turn.

FAIRVIEW FANCIES.
Bro. Carmack preached a very interesting sermon here at Fairview last Sunday.
Mrs. Lucy Berry has gone on a visit to Terrell to see her parents.
Mr. Geo. Goodwin is building a large new barn, also a garage, which is now waiting for the auto.

We have had two good rains since I wrote last. One on the 24th, about one inch, and on the following night about three inches. Everything now is in fine shape. The best prospect we have had in years. Feed stuff is already heeded out and cut. Cotton is growing finely, with stalks loaded down with bolls. If the worms do not trouble us we are sure of a large crop.

Mrs. McGuire's family and E. Everett's family have returned from their eastern trip. The McGuire family had a sad accident since they returned, but we hear they are in a fair way to recovery.

A union meeting will be held at the Fairview school house on the fourth Sunday in August. Bro. Wells from Roby will be on hand. The Methodist, Baptist and Christian preachers are asked to take part in this meeting. We are looking for great things to be done. Come out and hear them, they will do you good. RAMBLER.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst.

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the womanly tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

CONDITIONS IN HOLLAND

(By Francis W. Wrenn, Special Correspondent Associated Farm Papers with American Commission)

The Dutch are well educated, even the lower classes. This is done by the government. Besides the "Agricultural High School" (agricultural college) there are several "winter schools" giving two-year courses in agriculture or horticulture for the sons of farmers and gardeners who intend to take up their fathers' work. The most interesting feature of the system is the "winter course" for adults, consisting of evening lectures on rural and farm problems by the local school teachers, who are especially fitted for this kind of work. There is compulsory education for children. The attitude of the farmer towards agricultural science is interesting. At scoffing at specialists and state experiment farms follows the leaders in his avails himself of every artificial fertilizer are only understood and used in Holland. The government has experts on farming, dairying, and horticulture in each province where these industries exist.

Holland is a free trade country, and farmer and business man alike believe that it should be. They argue that free trade allows the business man a greater field for buying, that it affords the farmer cheap labor, cheap machinery and an open market in many lands and that it maintains a low cost of living for the laborer himself.

Cooperative credit is well organized. Raiffeisen banks are numerous and are similar to those of other countries.

To find out the real conditions on the farm I went out into the country about seven miles from Leeuwarden to talk to an old farmer, who is typical of his province. The whole section is below the level of the sea, and the roads I traveled over were brick paved because of the heavy sands. J. A. Bergstra has been on the same land for 35 years. As is the custom, his house is built on piles driven far into the earth to secure a good foundation, and the living rooms and barn are in one building. The kitchen is detached. The tiled roof is very high, and slopes sharply. There is ample room for the 30 cattle, four horses and 15 sheep, with plenty of feed for the winter. In bad weather it is not necessary to go out of doors at all in order to feed and care for the stock.

When I produced my credentials as a member of the American Commission I received a hearty welcome, and was shown into the kitchen-dining-room because, as Frau Bergstra explained, the sun was shining on it, and even June afternoons are chilly. The room was of ordinary size. In one end was a big, old-fashioned fireplace, with a pot hanging in the middle. On the mantle were half-dozen old Dutch plates, and on the wall were scenes from farm life. The table was prettily but plainly covered, and there were several chairs. Here, as all through the house, the most scrupulous cleanliness prevailed. The one maid was treated almost as a member of the family.

Herr Bergstra was dressed very much like the American farmer dresses, but wore the usual black vest which comes up above the collar. Frau Bergstra had on the Freisian dress, including the Kaps, or gold head piece in which many of the peasants invest their savings. The lace cap over the gold was becoming and attractive.

Over the tea we talked of rural life in America and Holland, and he told me much of the farming and its problems. He told me of the achievements of his people. He spoke not with pride but with solid satisfaction in the accomplishment.

Land in Friesland is worth about $400 an acre, no unusual price in the Netherlands. Herr Bergstra rents 100 acres—the land is not for sale. The charge is $16 an acre, or four per cent of the value of the farm, which is the normal return on an investment of this character.

Thirty-seven and one-half acres is potato land, the rest is in grass. Every third year beets and similar crops are grown on the potato land as a rotation. Hay is rarely sold; it is usually fed to stock. Though the winters are long and hard, the summer is almost endless. In season there is almost 18 hours of sunshine daily, so that two and often three cuttings of hay are obtained.

The yearly income from the land is about $80 an acre. Of this one-fifth goes for rent, one-fifth is spent for fertilizer, one-fifth for labor, one-fifth for capital depreciation, interest, and one-fifth is profit. The tenant pays no taxes of any importance.

Laborers work seven or eight hours in winter and ten in summer. They get 10 florins, $4.00 a week, nothing included. Prices are low everywhere—so is the cost of living. A florin goes further in Holland than a dollar in America.

Employers must insure their laborers, but the rate is low and is based on wages paid and not on the number of individuals. Insurance for laborers getting 3,000 florins a year costs three or four florins.

Cooperation as I have said, has spread. When I asked Herr Bergstra what he thought of it he was surprised at the question. I explained that the movement is just gaining headway in America. "Tell the farmers it fine," he said, "wonderful."

"Why," I asked.

"When we had no cooperative dairies," he answered "we had to make our butter and cheese at home. It was a bother for the women and the product was of uncertain quality, so that we received poor prices. Now we can use every bit of milk we have, and get better prices, because the quality is always the same. And now we can send agents abroad to find markets for us." The societies also purchase many things for the members at a low figure. If any dirt is found in milk the whole day's product is refused.

Milk is bought according to butter fat contained, and this has greatly increased the interest in breeding. There are local and national associations for registering cattle and accurate records are kept. Great stress is laid on increasing the productivity. Breeding in Europe everywhere receives much more attention than it does in the United States. In Italy the good breeds are encouraged; Hungary has regulated breeding by law and has state farms which furnish stallions, bulls and rams; Switzerland breeds the Brown Swiss, and other countries in like manner guard the blood of their animals. Holland has perceptibly raised the average quantity of milk and the proportion of butter fat by careful selection.

The secret of the success of the Dutch is their progressive spirit and their adaptability. It is no uncommon thing for even a farmer to travel and work in foreign lands to get new ideas. The whole people are alive to every new possibility. It is thus that the agriculture of the Netherlands has been revolutionized in the last quarter of a century.

The cash will get more shoe work at Tom Payne's shop than it ever did before.

30,000 VOICES. And Many Are The Voices of Colorado People.

Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Colorado people are in this chorus. Here's a Colorado case.

G. W. Filler, horseshoer, Colorado, Texas, says: "Several years ago I was suffering intensely from pain in my back and sides caused by weak kidneys and had other troubles common to kidney sufferers. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I procured two boxes and they cured me. It gives me great pleasure to endorse them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

$75,000 In Premiums.

More than $75,000 in premiums and stakes will be awarded at the twenty eighth annual meeting of the State Fair of Texas at Dallas, which opens Saturday, October 18, and closes Sunday, November 2. Preparations already made assure the most successful Fair in the history of the association. Permanent improvements this year consist of new livestock barns and an automobile building, representing an outlay of more than $60,000. This is in keeping with the fixed policy of the management to expend every dollar of the net receipts of each Fair in new buildings, park improvements, in entertainment features and in exhibits of an educational nature.

So Many People Die of Blood Poison.

A little scratch on the hand, a splinter, or small abrasion of the skin is often fatal because the poisonous germs start the infection. That's where Hunt's Lightning Oil comes in handy as an application on the abrasion, kills all germs which may have lodged there, thereby preventing infection and death. It pays to keep this remedy in the home, especially where there are children. All drug stores in 25c and 50c bottles.

Sustained Merit Alone Can Hold Public Confidence

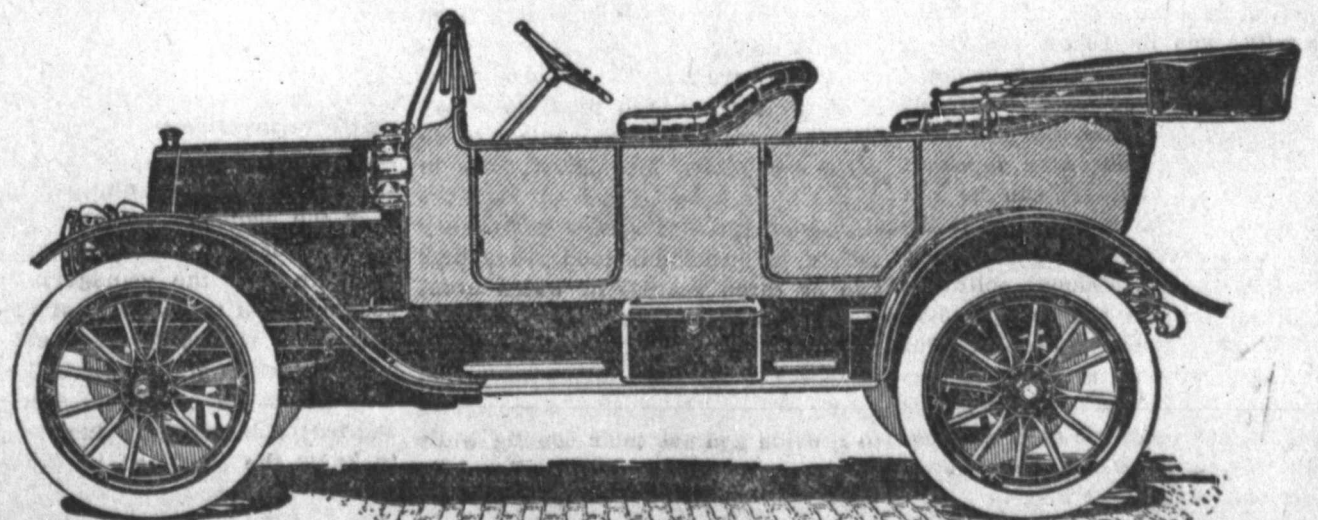

THE success of any car depends upon its standing with the general public—whether they have confidence in the car and confidence in the maker.

On this basis—there is no mystery in the almost universal demand for Studebaker cars.

The Studebaker reputation has been built on public confidence—adhering steadfastly to but one line of relationship with the public to give them only the best always—to make Merit the only consideration in production.

And because Studebaker has always stood for this Ideal—the Studebaker car has become known as Everyman's car—as the universal car.

Progressive dealers have been quick to realize the great value to them of this public confidence in Studebaker cars—they have found that selling the Studebaker car is largely only a question of being able to meet the demand.

Notice to Our Readers.

We want to impress it upon the minds of our readers, be they in the town or country, that we are anxious for every item of news that you can give us; especially items of people who are visiting, or of those who have gone away. If you have any one to visit you or your neighbors, or know of any one going away, write it out on a slip of paper, or a postal card and send it into this office. We would much prefer this method to trying to phone the item in, because of the fact that names are hard to understand over the phone, and if the name is understood it is liable to be spelled wrong. To avoid these errors it would be much better, and no more trouble, to write out the item and send it in. If you should prefer to phone, however, please phone No. 157.—Mrs. A. L. Whipkey—who will take pleasure in making a note of the item. We prefer this, because of the fact that the noise made in our office from the constant running of the engine and presses makes it almost impossible to receive a message correctly over our phone. Mrs. Whipkey is employed by the Record to take care of these items and if you have an entertainment of any kind, visitors, or know of any item of news, please phone it to her or write it out and send it to the office. We will appreciate it, and you will be helping us make a better paper by doing this.

Few friendships are strong enough to stand the strain of a five-dollar loan long unreturned.

Friendship, with many people means only a better and unsuspected opportunity to use their friends. Every community has its quota of the breed.

The farmers in session at College Station refused to have the question of woman suffrage brought before the meeting, on the grounds that it was purely a political question. And the president's ruling was mighty right in our opinion.

Secretary McAdoo, of the United States Treasury, is to be highly commended for his prompt forestalling of the efforts of Wall Street to create a depression in money matters just at the beginning of the movement of the cotton crop in the south. His placing of fifty million dollars in the banks of the south and west upon approved collateral, will not only steady the price of cotton, but will prevent any attempt to create a panicky feeling over the country.

A well recently drilled near Artesia, N. M., produces water that has all the intoxicating effects of regulation booze. A cow drinking water from this well became crazy drunk every time she drank it. The owner of the well has sent some of the water to the state chemist to be analyzed, and in the meantime the well has to be guarded by an armed picket to keep the human herd from sampling the water. The El Paso Herald is responsible for the story of this subterranean lake of ready-to-drink booze.

Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University, was in Austin last week and signified his willingness to make the race for United States Senator. He also said he preferred Gov. Colquitt or any one man as an opponent rather than a field. It can be put down as a sure thing now, that if Dr. Brooks does enter the senatorial race, he'll show the professional politician and office seeker a few things never dreamed of in their philosophy. Our senior senator would require two doctors, a corps of nurses and an ice pack to pull him through the spell of "poor health" the prospect of a race against Dr. Brooks would give him.

Doss is the man who furnishes pure ice cream on shortest notice for any public or private occasion.

The American Commission which is now in Europe investigating the farming conditions in the various countries, is sending much valuable information back to the people of this country. The articles by Francis W. Wozencraft, who is writing on the conditions in Holland, are particularly interesting. The fact that farming can be made to pay on land worked by tenants, which is not for sale at any price, but which is taxed at $400 the acre, and which rents for $16 per acre, is clearly demonstrated. Only one-third of the land is planted to a market crop the rest being used for dairy purposes. Be sure to read his article in this issue.

A petition is being circulated in many quarters for signatures, asking President Wilson to appoint Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt ambassador to Mexico, believing that the strenuous one would bring things to pass in that stricken country in a hurry and at the same time protect American interests. It is not a question of who shall be appointed to that post, but whether any appointment will be made. President Wilson has evidently determined not to recognize Huerta, and until the latter is eliminated, no appointment will likely be made. But the way being clear for an appointment to that post, in our opinion, no better one could be made. Above all party standards, Roosevelt is an American.

A crime-like the murder of Miss Florence Brown, occurring in the slums of New York or Chicago, would have been quite in the nature of the expected. But occurring in the heart of the business district of Dallas, Texas, about nine o'clock in the morning with hundreds of people passing within a few feet of the place of the murder, and the murderer escaping as if the earth had opened and received him, effacing himself without leaving a trace behind as a clue is much out of the ordinary, and proves that the same conditions as are found in the crowded and congested districts of the larger cities, are existing in this state. The very boldness, daring and deliberate method of the crime, show it was not perpetrated by an inexperienced hand nor conceived by mind warped and blinded simply by momentary passion. The marks of the professional killer are on the deed.

Those who have paid close attention to the occurrence and recurrence of seasons and crop conditions in West Texas since agriculture has been promoted seriously, contend that the full and lean years occur in cycles of about ten years circumference. Indeed, the history of the development of this country tends to confirm this view as it is the characteristic of every semi arid section. The years of 1884, 1894, 1904, were periods of increased moisture and are recalled by all the old settlers as the breaking up of protracted drouths. We know that the year of 1904 was the end of a long dry spell and the beginning of a series of fine crops. During the preceding three cycles, agriculture had not advanced sufficiently in this section to have any decided impression made upon it by the precipitation of moisture but these years are remembered by the condition of the ranges of this country. Good seasons and good crops have so regularly occurred at the same time in these cycles, that their recurrence may be set down as a rule subject to no more exceptions than effect rules in general. In view of these things, the people of Mitchell county have much reason to anticipate good crops next two or three years. In which event it is to be hoped the lessons of the past have not been unheeded. The certainty of several lean years succeeding the fat ones, should prompt us to provide against their coming while things are coming our way. Carefully conserve the surplus during the full harvests for the needs of the short ones—for they will come again.

The difference between the fellow who "gets ahead" and the one who "stays behind" is a very simple but mighty difference. The fellow who stays behind contributes to everything that comes down the pike; he puts his name down on every laudable subscription list; chips into every cause of want or suffering; subscribes to anything the ladies ask him to; his ear is ever open to the hard luck story of a fellow human. First thing he realizes is that he has just about promised to give as much and sometimes more than he makes. The chap who gets ahead never loses sight of saving. He denies himself of all things not necessary; promises to give nothing to any cause; puts his promise to pay to nothing; goes no man's bond; helps build no churches, school houses or orphan asylums, and always waits till he can buy things at his own price, and always spends much less than he makes. Such a nature is bound to get ahead. He has the saving instinct like the ant, which lays by more in one year than it can consume in three. He deserves no credit for his accumulations; nor does the fellow who stays behind deserve any censure for his lack of thrift. If he hasn't the instinct of saving, he can never learn it no more than he can change the color of his eyes or his temperament. This accretive power in man is no more business sense and judgment than the same power is business sense in the ant. Its the very law of one's being; such an one could not live at all without saving, nor could the spender live without spending.

A Woman's Way.

Many men do not fully appreciate their wives or perhaps it would be more courteous to say they do not understand them. A woman is God Almighty's greatest handiwork and a triumph of creation. Her mental faculties are highly developed and distinctively feminine. She is by nature more lofty, refined and cultured and has a higher sense of duty and devotion. There is nothing that so deadens womanly nature as a home that is commercialized and surroundings that are compelled to yield to the demands of a dollar. A swing for the children may not be a revenue producer, pictures upon the walls may not pay annual dividends; musical instruments cannot be fattened and sold and good books and periodicals will not swell the bank account, but they build character, make happiness and contribute towards our enlightenment. A mother with her ideals gifted by business greed is a queen robbed of her crown.

Ex-President Castro has succeeded in landing in Venezuela and raising a revolutionary army, which is marching upon Caracas, the capital. Reports are to the effect that the revolution is spreading very fast, as all the discredited and criminal classes are flocking to Castro's standard. These United States undertook a big job when guaranteeing the stability of the Latin-American governments.

The latest fad in feminine apparel has arrived in the eastern cities, in the shape of the "Tango Gown," which is described as diaphanous and daring, being very nearly trousers of the baggy, Turkish pattern.

A Parting of the Ways.

Just as soon as progress in any line starts, we develop people in two lines. The people who want progress and look forward to new things, develop into progressives. The people that have pretty good cards in the present game and are doing pretty well now, thank you, look at their hands and say, "We stand pat!" That is, they become standpatters.

Why Not Let the People Know.

If the managers of a company who owned a business should decide it was for the best interests of that company to have the books of all its responsible officers audited, would it not be the duty of the managers to make the finding of the auditing committee known to those who owned the business and who paid for the auditing? There can be but one answer to the question.

Just as necessary, it seems to us, is it that the finding of the auditor whom the commissioners' court employed recently to investigate the books of all the county officials, should be made known to the people who pay the bill. It is the peoples' business, not the business of the commissioners' court, who are only the managers for the people. If in the wisdom of the commissioners it was for the best interests of the people of Mitchell county that the books of all its officials be audited; it is certainly due the people to know the condition in which the books were found.

It is not enough that the commissioners' court know that everything is in ship-shape regarding the books of the county officials. The people of the county should know it just as well. It is to the people the officials are responsible, and in the interest of the people that the investigation was made, and it is to the people that the finding of the auditor should be made known. If everything was found correct, the people would be glad to know it. If not, so much greater is the reason that they should know it. When it became generally known that an expert auditor would be employed to examine the books of all the county officials, the general public expressed an interest in knowing what the finding would be. And inasmuch as the investigation was made simply as a precautionary measure, and not because there was the least suspicion of anything being wrong, the public mind should be assured on this point. The Record is of the opinion that the people of Mitchell county, whose business was investigated and who paid the bill, would be glad to read the finding of the auditor. This much seems due them.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES

Last Sunday was Missionary Day at the Methodist school and a splendid program was given on Home Missions. Mrs. Loyall Nelms of Dallas favored the school with one of her interesting readings.

Every class at the Christian school got a star last Sunday, but one. Only four absentees in the entire school—two sick, one out of town and one—?

The contest is at fever heat in the Methodist school with the old men still in the lead. It looks like the ladies will have to do the entertaining.

Last Sunday was the best day of the summer with the Methodist school. The Baptist school now has a teachers' training class with twenty-two members.

The Methodist folks will have a lawn party on the 15th, on the Wulfjen lawn. A committee has been appointed to prepare a program, etc.

The county officers are to go to Westbrook the third Sunday to assist in grading their school. They will also visit the Loraine Methodist school at some time in the near future.

News comes from the Loraine Baptist school that their school was larger last Sunday than usual and the work progressing finely, with a lively interest in all departments.

On Saturday, September 27th, there will be a big Sunday school rally held here, at which time it is hoped that every Sunday school in the county will be represented. Supt. Coleman will appoint all committees for the final arrangements at an early date. Let every Sunday school keep the date in mind and work to help make it a success.

Next Sunday is Missionary Day at the Christian school.

Campfire Girls.

Monday afternoon the Junior Young People of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. J. G. Merritt and organized the Campfire Girls. Mr. Merritt taught them how to make a fire in the open, as that is one of the first things they have to learn. After the fire was at the proper stage biscuit were baked, bacon broiled, eggs scrambled and other good things fixed and the girls knew exactly what to do with them, without being taught. The camp was named "The Callie Lyon Patrol" in honor of Mrs. Lyon, who has stood by the girls in all their work and pleasures. The meeting next week is with Miss Ethel Dyas.

Slumber Party.

Wednesday night Miss Claudia Smith entertained Misses Clarice Shipley, Edith Ford, Mabel Earnest, and Katie Buchanan, with a slumber party. About eight o'clock Mrs. Smith gave them one of her good suppers which she knows so well how to prepare, and sent them to slumber, but instead of sleeping, they laughed and giggled, and then laughed some more, until everything they did was funny. About midnight they were hungry again and ate some more, then went to meet sleep again. About two o'clock they fell asleep and knew no more till the sun was well on his journey the next day. This is a slumber party and they are a happy set of girls.

An alarm of fire Thursday morning about 8 o'clock took the boys at gipkin speed to the residence of Chas. A. Pierce, where an outhouse in which Mrs. Pierce had installed her china-firing kiln, was afire. The burning house was so close to the residence of J. W. Bird that his house was considerably scorched by the flames. The outhouse was a total loss with its contents, which latter was more than $100. The fire is supposed to have originated from a pile of ashes which had been deposited near the burned house.

Mrs. Doss Entertains.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. W. L. Doss entertained a few of her neighbors with 84, in honor of Mrs. Carrie Hardin who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. F. B. Whipkey, and was also a neighbor of Mrs. Doss last summer when she lived in our city, and made many friends here. It was altogether an informal affair, but everyone had a good time and learned lots about the game. Miss Etta assisted her mother in making her guests comfortable and served delicious sherbet and wafers at the close of the games. Every guest expressed a wish that Mrs. Hardin might be honored again.

Wilson Returned to Mexico.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Some surprise is expressed that President Wilson permitted Ambassador Wilson to return to Mexico. The president has made known his antagonism to the ambassador's views and his distrust of his information so plainly that surprise is expressed that he sent him back to Mexico City. The question asked is, What has influenced the president to do this though not concealing the fact he looks on the ambassador as a partisan of Huerta? It is admitted that Nelson O'Shaunnessy, the charge, is a competent man. In spite of that the ambassador has gone back to Mexico City. It is deemed incredible here that the administration in view of its hostility to him will allow him to remain long. The general feeling in the senate now is that this country may be expected to pursue a policy of non-interference for months unless something unexpected breaks loose. The administration would like to hold aloof as far as possible until after the elections, then if there is a reasonable excuse, the man elected president will be recognized. The president still hopes the factions will work out their own solution.

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Wilson today took the first steps in the policy through which he proposes to deal with the Mexican situation. He formally accepted the resignation of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, to take effect on Oct. 14, and sent to the City of Mexico as his personal representative—but not accredited to the Huerta Government—former Gov. Jno. Lind of Minnesota, a lifelong friend of Secretary Bryan. The understanding is that when a stable government is established in Mexico, Mr. Lind will be formally named as Ambassador.

The Husbands of Edith

By GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON,

Author of "Graustark," "Cowardice Court," "Jane Cable," "Brewster Millions," "Truxton King," Etc.

This international romance has a most mysterious plot, as well as many amusing complications. This novel by "the prince of American story tellers" is praised by all the critics,

To save the reputation of his wife who is not his wife, he almost loses the only wife he will ever have.

The Narrative makes clear the astounding proposition that a woman can have two husbands and yet not have any husband at all!

A NEW BALL PARK.

We understand a company has been formed to build a base ball park and grand stand on the South Side, where the grounds now are. This is a good move for the town. While it is a little late in the season, they will be able to get everything in fine condition for next year. Nothing advertises a town more than a good ball team, especially one that has a nice park and comfortable seats for the fans. Everybody will go to see a good game of ball, and these boys ought to get a fair return for the investment. The lumber has already been ordered and the fence and grand stand will be erected as soon as it arrives. Colorado and Mitchell county have some as good ball playing material as there is in this country, and the Mitchell county team for next year is going to be a hard one to beat. This is good, clean sport, and as long as it is kept so the boys ought to be encouraged and supported. We believe there are enough citizens of this county, who have sufficient pride in its boys, to give them the proper encouragement, by their liberal patronage of these games. It is not the purpose of the promoters of this enterprise to make money, but rather to keep Colorado on the map, and to afford some amusement for her citizens. So let us encourage the boys, not only by our attendance, but by kind and encouraging words of praise. The team this year has made a good record, and that without proper organization, and very little encouragement. We look forward to next season as one of much glory to the ball team, and its friends.

TOYS FROM THE MAKERS.

An Innovation Much to the Interest of the Children of Mitchell County, Colorado and West Texas in General.

The old reliable firm of Burns & Bell has grown into one of the solid institutions of this part of the state. Their progressive conservatism in all things; their watchfulness over the wants of their patrons and prompt supplying of them, has given this firm a place in the confidence of the people that is secure and permanent.

Their most recent advance in business enterprise has been made largely in the interests of the children of this county and community. While in the eastern markets one year ago, Mr. Burns, who has the reputation of being one of the most far-seeing and discriminating buyers in the state, conceived the idea of a direct importation of standard toys of all kinds. Realizing that the stocks of toys usually offered the people of Colorado and Mitchell county, were much the same, year after year, and that they were bought in a very limited market, Mr. Burns arranged to make his own importation this fall and give the people as fine selection of the most recent and novel toys right here at home, as could be found in any of the large cities of this country.

In preparation of the arrival of this big selection, the entire half of the second story of this large storehouse will be remodeled and arranged specially to lend itself to the display of this big stock of toys, and those who visit this place next Christmas to make their selections, will find a veritable toyland in which to revel with delight. To the children, this will be a red letter time in their lives. They will see more toys at one time than they ever saw in their whole lives before—toys direct from headquarters in Germany, where 85 per cent of the toys sold in the world, are made. The opening of this display will be an event not soon forgotten by old or young. So, begin right now to save your nickles, dimes and quarters for the big Toyland Fair to be held at Burns & Bell's next Christmas.

TO MUSIC PATRONS.

I will commence my regular class in piano instruction September 1st, and would be glad to confer with any who contemplate taking a course this term. I will teach at my home, one block from either school building, where I have a nice, private and comfortable room for my studio. Believing that my pupils deserve the best, I have just bought a grand piano, one of the best makes, which will be kept in perfect tune, on which I will teach this term. My summer class was very gratifying, and many of them will continue right on through the winter. I wish to thank my patrons for their kindness and to assure them that I shall do all in my power to advance them in the art of music, to the very best of my ability. I have been (and am still) taking a special course, which will better prepare me. I would be glad to enroll a few more for the winter course, and if you will phone me I will be glad to call and talk the matter over.

Various parties who have been over the county inspecting crops, all concur in their estimate of the prospects. The universal expression is, "Prospects have never been finer in Mitchell county for a bumper cotton crop." Aside from this, there has already been an abundance of feed stuff made aside from the stuff planted since the recent rains. By every token, Mitchell county is coming into its own again.

The large crowd of Knights of Pythias who went over to Sweetwater last Thursday night, returned about two o'clock next morning, heavy-eyed, sleepy next day, but with the firm conviction they had experienced the time of their lives in a social and gastronomic way.

Dr. W. R. Shook spoke to a fair sized crowd of farmers and other interested parties last Saturday afternoon, in the interest of 15 cent cotton and the methods of the Southern States Cotton Corporation. He was listened to with close interest, though there were many who expressed doubts as to the soundness and success of the methods proposed to be employed.

NOTICE:—Parties having old rags of every description, old rubber shoes and boots, and old brass lamps to throw away; if they will address P. O. box 708, they will not only be taken away, but the highest price will be paid for them.

The two McGuire boys and Tom Smartt who were burned last week by the explosion of the acetylene machine, are all getting along nicely, without any indication of permanent injury or disability. The report that both had lost their eyesight is wholly unfounded. Beyond possibly, a few slight scars, there will likely be no disfigurement. Mrs. McGuire, mother of the two boys burned, has been down with typhoid fever since before the accident. We learn she is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. The Record sincerely hopes they all may soon be fully recovered.

The most effective, the most powerful and the most pleasant results. Once you try it you will always have it in your home. A five gallon jug for $1.25 and we give you fifty cents back for the empty jug. The Grogan Well mineral water for all kinds of stomach troubles. The Grogan Wells, Sweetwater, Texas.

West Texas and Mitchell county seem the natural habitat of the grape. They seem to reach perfection here as much so as in southern California. And this good year of 1913 affords conditions under which this fruit attains its perfect type. There have been many samples brought into town of various kinds, all which were fit for exhibition purposes. Everyone in town who has but few vines declare their grapes the finest ever produced. Mr. A. J. Hugler, who can always be counted on being in the very forefront of garden and orchard truck, has exhibited about the finest bunch we have so far seen. It is of the green variety, and a more perfect sample of the grape can not well be imagined.

Mrs. M. J. O'lip returned last Thursday night from Nadine, New Mexico, where she had been on a visit with one of her sons. She reports crop conditions in that irrigated section, the finest she ever saw. The gardens produce most all things used on the table. After visiting here for a short time she will go to Coleman for a visit with the family of a son who lives there.

Don't think of buying a typewriter till you have examined the "Master Model Royal" at the Record office. It handles any card as easily as a thin sheet of paper.

Colorado can boast one thing few other towns can—a happy and contented man. He admits it himself. If he could carry a tune corked up in a bottle, he would be singing or whistling all day long; but his only turn for music being confined to cranking his automobile, his happy frame of mind finds evanescence in his smiling countenance and optimistic talk. The fortunate man is our old friend, W. P. Ruddick. He has more than 900 acres of cotton which is so near perfect that he is unable to suggest an improvement on it, and everything else on his farm is alike promising. First thing of a morning he gets in his auto and goes out to look at his growing crops; comes back to town and for fear he'll forget just how good it looks, he'll run out to his farm again in the afternoon to make assurance doubly sure. And faith, Bro. Ruddick has a right to feel happy over his crop prospects. They are certainly as fine as anyone ever saw in Mitchell county.

The Overland is the best by test. Has all the desirable features with troublesome ones left out. Its acme of safety, comfort and service.—Herrington sells them.

We heard of the settlement of a question of personal difference last Saturday that was pulled off in the right spirit, fit out with commendable enthusiasm and patched up with the noble spirit of forgiveness. It seems the two men met by themselves in a field, went at it hammer and tongs, and after both getting enough, agreed to shake hands and keep the little "playfulness" quiet. That's the right, and it beats seven-seventy mighty badly.

If you have a friend to meet, Ben Morgan's is the coolest place in town. Cold drinks, electric fans, cigars and candies right at hand.

Last Friday night was the maximum of heat and sleeplessness for the denizens of Colorado. The heat was well nigh insufferable, and as many as could sleep out of doors, or rather, sweated there till the early hours of morning.

The old fashioned sweet, thin-skinned Florida oranges at Hall's.

Mr. W. C. Spencer, living eight miles up the river, brought into this office last Saturday some fine heads of red and white maize and kafir corn as we have ever seen grown in this county. The samples were not culled from the best specimens of his crop, but selected at random along a turning row. Mr. Spencer will have plenty of feed stuff of all kinds to last him through next year. He said if his cotton should fulfill his present promise it would make 1500 pounds of seed cotton to the acre, though he would be satisfied with less.

Take your general repairing and blacksmithing to Herrington; he'll do it right and promptly.

None of the machinery of the new gin has yet arrived. The engine and boiler are to come from Cincinnati, Ohio and the gin machinery from Dallas. In view of the fine prospects for a big cotton crop this year, many new gins are going up all over the country and the factories are behind with their orders.

Full line of fresh vegetables to be found at J. B. Hall's.

We call special attention to the half page ad of the Hall Music Company in this issue of the Record. This company has been doing business in West Texas for many years and has built for itself a reputation for fair dealing and reliability that has guaranteed success. Whatever they promise, that do they perform to the letter of the contract. By coming to Colorado this company evinces its confidence in the town and people of Mitchell county. If you have any interest in musical things or in the market for a piano, you can do no better than give this company an opportunity to demonstrate the quality of the goods it handles. Read the ad.

WILL WRIGHT—OF COURSE.

True to our prediction, our old friend Eudy hove in last Saturday about noon, from his perambulations and peripatations in north Texas, and has a woeful tale of accidents and mishaps to tell. He got stuck in the Little Wichita river and his auto engine was completely submerged, but when cranked it went to work as if nothing had happened. He found the crops badly burned and everyone blue so he once more turned his nose toward Mitchell county and put his machine in its highest gear. When he struck the beginning of good prospects he was in still greater hurry to get back to see how old Mitchell had fared, and says we have the best prospects here in Mitchell county he has seen anywhere. So he will drive down his tent pegs till the wanderlust begins to tickle his feet again.

If your auto needs a "doctor" take it to Herrington's garage. No cure, no pay.

Our old friend and piscatorial expert, China Johnson, was in town this week. When asked where he was living just now, he replied: "O, everywhere, nearly. I'm first here, then yonder—anywhere I can rustle three hot spots per day and get plenty of good fresh air." Brought into narrower limits, he admitted that he was now trapping in connection with the great trapper of the Concho, John Corbett, who makes the business exceedingly profitable. Asked if he had caught any fish lately, he replied: "Fish? Why, I kitched the biggest fish out'ern the Pecos not long ago. I ever saw in my life."

Runaway Accident.

Mrs. A. D. Priddy and child had a very narrow escape from a serious, if not fatal accident last Tuesday morning just before noon, when the horse she was driving to a buggy became frightened and ran away, striking a telephone pole just north of the south side river bridge and precipitating Mrs. Priddy to the ground. One wheel of the buggy passed over her body, inflicting no visible injury, but fears were entertained of possible internal hurts. The child in the buggy with her was not hurt beyond being very badly frightened and somewhat shaken up by its fall. So far, no indications exist that Mrs. Priddy was internally injured, at which her friends rejoice and wish for her a speedy recovery. However, it was a very narrow escape from an otherwise serious accident.
