TEXAS FARMERS SPEND THIRTY MILLION DOLLARS FOR CORN.

Some Statistics of the Texas Industry.

By Peter Radford.

We have had a corn famine in Texas for the past forty years, and I want to appeal to the Texas farmers to plant more corn. It causes an annual drain of more than thirty million dollars upon the resources of the farmer and this spectre of want should be driven from the land. The remedy is very simple, plant more corn.

The farmers in the corn belt report one of the heaviest demands in recent years and also state that the buying has been done chiefly by farmers to be used for feeding work animals and other livestock. The Texas crop of 1913, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, is about 155,000,000 bushels, while the requirements for the year is said to be not less than 200,000,000 bushels. The Texas Grain Dealers Association is the authority for this statement, and according to these figures, there will be an enormous shortage of 45,000,000 bushels. This shortage will have to be shipped in from other states and countries, and Texas farmers will be required to spend approximately $30,000,000 to supply this deficiency.

The Effect of the Tariff.

With the signing of the Underwood-Simmons Tariff Bill by President Wilson, on October 3rd, this grain was made a free trade product, the duty of fifteen cents per bushel being removed and corn produced in foreign countries is now permitted to compete in price with the Texas product. At the present time a cargo consisting of 200,000 bushels of Argentine corn is enroute to Galveston port, but this shipment is consigned to a Wichita Falls miller, and none of the imported cereal, so far, has been purchased by farmers for livestock feed, but there can be little promise of relief from that country, as Argentine's average annual production of corn is approximately equivalent to that of Texas, while her population is twice as great and her livestock supply more than eight times that of the Lone Star State.

It is not likely that the farmers of Texas will receive any benefit from the new tariff insofar as the purchase of corn is concerned, as the United States exports this cereal, supplies 75 per cent produced on the earth's surface, and fixes the world's price. The only one in this State who can possibly benefit by the removal of the tariff is the Texas dealer, and then only where the cost of transportation is cheaper from foreign countries to Texas than it is from the corn belt of the United States to Texas. We have had an annual shortage of approximately 50,000,000 bushels of corn in Texas for the past decade, which has been supplied largely by Illinois, Iowa, Oklahoma, Kansas and a few other states.

1913 Second Largest Crop.

The average annual corn production of Texas during the past decade has been 140,000,000 bushels, while the yearly requirement has been around 200,000,000 bushels. The 1913 crop was the second largest ever produced in Texas from a production standpoint. The 1908 crop was the largest in the history of the Texas industry, amounting to 201,848,000 bushels, and valued at $119,090,000. The total farm value of the 1913 crop, which amounted to 155,000,000 bushels has not yet been estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture, but the average price throughout Texas on October 1st was 82 cents, compared with 64 cents per bushel on the same date last year. This average will not prevail for the entire year, however, and it is safe to estimate that the total farm value of the 1913 crop will not exceed $100,000,000.

As a consumer more corn in Texas than we produce, the Texas crop demands a higher price than the average crop of the United States. Figures compiled by the Crop Reporting Board of the United States Department of Agriculture show the price per bushel of the Texas cereal on October 1, 1913, to be seven cents above that of the average for continental United States.

Collin Leading Corn County.

Collin is the banner corn producing county of Texas and one of the largest crops ever produced has just been gathered in that county. According to the latest Government reports 150,000 acres or 25 per cent of its cultivated area is devoted to the raising of this grain. In average, corn follows very closely the same seasons as cotton, and as a rule, the leading cotton producing counties of Texas take high rank in corn yield. Corn is a commercial crop in 200 of the counties of the state and sixty-nine farms out of every one hundred produce of this cereal to some extent.

Average on the Increase.

While present indications are that there will be an increased corn acreage next year, it is not sufficient, as the acreage of this product has been on a steady increase for a number of years. Comparing the 1912 acreage of Texas with that of ten years ago and the average yearly acreage from 1903 to 1907 with the annual average from 1908 to 1912, it will be found that an increase of 25 per cent has been witnessed, while the acreage of wheat and oats shows heavy decreases.

Small Crop Brings High Prices.

The price of 82 cents per bushel quoted by the United States Department of Agriculture on October 1st is unusually high for Texas. The yearly average price during the past ten years has been 69 cents, although the maximum yearly price of 80 cents was reached in 1911, when the yield was only 50 per cent of the average crop. The minimum yearly price of 48 cents was paid for the Texas product in 1905, when the production was 1,000,000 bushels above the average crop.

The first government statistics relating to corn in Texas were compiled in 1870 by the Census Bureau. Since that time, the production, as well as the acreage, has shown an unintermitted and strikingly rapid increase, while consumption has more than kept pace with production.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT PRESENT.

Are you in doubt about a certain present? The Youth's Companion has proved to be one of the best that can be chosen. Perhaps you have not seen it lately, and are not quite sure. Then let us send you a sample copy of two. Suppose you ask for the issues containing the opening chapters of Arthur Stanwood Piers' fine serial story of life in a boys' school, "His Father's Son." If you look the paper over carefully, bearing in mind that there are fifty-two such numbers for a year's subscription of $2.00 we are sure you will say that a better present could not be chosen, whether for a young person or for an entire family.

For the year's subscription of $2.00 there is included a copy of The Companion Practical Home Calendar for 1914, and the issues for the remaining weeks of this year, dating from the time the subscription is received. If you ask for sample copies we will send with them the Announcement for 1914.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION.

144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass. New subscriptions received at this office.

Don M. Biggers, who formerly lived here and is well known to Colorado people, is farming now near Lubbock and writing for the press occasionally. In Farm and Ranch, he has just concluded a series of articles on the "Mistakes of the Home Hunter" which were very interesting reading and would prove of great service to the farmer coming to this section from another to secure a home, if he would heed his advice. Don is familiar with the ways and means of the land agent and promoter.

MIDLAND—The contract has been let here for the construction of forty-four miles of macadamized roads. These highways will be built from the proceeds of a $50,000 bond election.

WASS MEETING.

A mass meeting of citizens is being called for Friday afternoon Nov. 7 at 7 o'clock, in the lobby of the Looney building for the purpose of considering ways and means of securing the prompt and full delivery for Colorado. The new office Inspector, Mr. Dawkins, will be present. As this is a very important matter it is hoped that all citizens interested in the progress of the community will attend this meeting.

C. M. ADAMS, Mayor.

Mr. Webb's Lecture.

Finally, the announcement of a lecture on "Temperance" brings out but a meager attendance, even of those who profess the practice and principle of the virtue. Last Sunday night however, was a marked exception to this rule. Mr. Athens Webb, of the Texas Anti-Saloon League, in line with the governor's proclamation that November 2nd be devoted to the cause of temperance, lectured at the Methodist church to standing room only. As previously announced the political question of prohibition was not mentioned in the discussion. Mr. Webb treated the subject of temperance, with its specific relation to alcohol, in its most modern and scientific aspect. The drunkard is not a criminal only as a result, but a diseased man subject to remedial agencies. His lecture was illustrated with some concrete object lessons. He demonstrated that alcohol was never a food, but always a poison to the human system and to all forms of life. He was given the closest attention from first word to collection, which was taken in furtherance of the work of the state League and which netted a respectable sum.

On one other occasion only does the Record recall as effective and forceful address on this subject, as was this of Mr. Webb's Sunday night, and that one, or series, was treated more from a moral viewpoint, and that was the lecture by Michael Fanning several years ago. Mr. Webb is a good talker, knows his subject and drives home his point when made. His lecture Sunday night will do good, will deepen the voters of Texas in their determination that the saloon is the worst enemy of the home, society and the church, and that it must go. The lecture was an intellectual treat as well as a moral tonic, and all who heard him will hold him in grateful remembrance.

THE PRICE SHE PAID.

Augustus Thomas, the playwright, makes it a point to always be on hand at every first night performance of a new play, and his opinion is always regarded as final in determining whether the new offering will be successful or not.

When "The Price She Paid" was first given in New York, Mr. Thomas occupied a front row seat, and was seen to applaud vigorously at the drop of each curtain. When the play was over, Mr. Thomas was enthusiastic in his praises.

"I have never seen better drama," said he, "the play is a theatrical gem, and will last for many years to come. It will take its place among the standard successes like the Pinero dramas, and future generations will applaud its very stirring climaxes."

"The Price She Paid" will be presented at the Colorado Opera House on Saturday night Nov. 8th.

Attention is called to the notice by Fred Meyer in this issue of the Record, announcing his new place of business. He will be glad to see all his old friends in need of boot or shoe work, at the shop of Eugene Hauschild on Second street. "Fritz" is too well known in this country to require any introduction or recommendation; his work for a quarter of a century speaks louder than words.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.

The Cemetery Association had their regular meeting Monday with Mrs. Gustine. Besides their regular routine of business, the collectors reported the amount of twenty dollars collected as dues.

Last Prayer Service.

Rev. W. E. Lyon conducted his last prayer service as pastor of the Methodist Church here Wednesday evening. After the services the church sat in conference to settle up their affairs financially and to plan things for the new pastor.

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS WILL AWARD PRIZES IN DECEMBER.

The fifth annual convention of the Texas Industrial Congress, at which prizes aggregating $10,000 in gold will be given to the contestants who have obtained the largest yields of field crops per acre at the least expense, will be held at Dallas on December 13, in the convention hall of the Chamber of Commerce. At this meeting of members of the Congress and delegates from the State at large, besides awarding the prizes, a report will be made of the year's work and the officers of the Congress will be elected for 1914. The railroads of the state are expected to grant reduced rates to the convention as heretofore. The Congress began the contest at the commencement of the growing season with 10,869 contestants located in 215 counties. Reports of yields and expense of production will be received until November 15, and are being tabulated and checked up as fast as they come in.

The following is the list of prizes to be awarded:

Class A. Four-Crop Model Demonstration Farm.

For the largest combined yields of merchandise crops, cost of production considered, produced on four-acre plots cultivated in cowpeas (the vines to be plowed under at maturity), kaffir or milo, cotton and corn, $3,000 in 25 prizes. First Prize, $1,000; Second Prize, $500; Third Prize, $250; Fourth Prize, $150; Fifth Prize, $100. Twenty prizes of $50 each for the twenty next best results.

Class B. Boys' and Girls' Texas Corn Club.

For the largest yields of corn grown on one acre, cost of production considered, $2500 in 55 prizes; First Prize, $500; Second Prize, $300; Third Prize, $250; Fourth Prize, $125; Fifth Prize, $75. Fifty prizes of $25 each for the fifty next best results.

Class C. Boys' and Girls' Texas Cotton Club.

For the largest yields of middling cotton grown on one acre, cost of production considered, $2500 in 55 prizes. First Prize, $500; Second Prize, $300; Third Prize, $250; Fourth Prize, $125; Fifth Prize, $75. Fifty prizes of $25 each for the fifty next best results.

Special Combination Prize.

To any contestant entered in both Class B and C, winning first prize in each class, a special award of $500.

Class D. Unirrigated Forage Crops.

For the largest yields, cost of production considered, from two acres of either kaffir or milo, $1000 in 12 prizes. First Prize, $300; Second Prize, $200; Ten prizes of $50 each for the ten next best results.

Class E. Irrigated Forage Crops.

For the largest yields, cost of production considered, from two acres of kaffir or milo, irrigated, $1000 in 12 prizes. First $300; Second Prize $200. Ten prizes of $50 each for the ten next best results.

In addition to these cash prizes, nineteen scholarships, offered by University of Texas, will be awarded to successful contestants.

BURGLARS ABOARD.

Some time Wednesday night the tailoring establishment of Coughran Bros. was entered by burglars and the drawer, with which the party or parties seemed familiar, rifled of its contents. Entrance was effected through one of the rear windows, by taking off the wire screen and bursting the catch on the sash.

Whoever committed this felony, must have been conversant, not only with the general lay of things in the shop, but had knowledge of the amount of money left in the cash drawer the day before. Frequently nothing was left in the cash drawer over night but on this occasion as much as seven or eight dollars was left there. Evidently, this fact was known to the burglar. Among the money taken were three old pieces of silver; one half dollar, worn slick and bearing date of 1854; two quarters bearing dates of 1873 and 1854. The offer of these coins might lead to some tangible clue. So far as could be seen, nothing was taken from the stock of goods.

CAMPFIRE SHOWER.

The Campfire Girls and young people gave a parting shower to their friend and treasurer Miss Mary Lyon, Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the Misses Herrington.

Many personal dainty gifts for this popular Miss were placed in an umbrella and at the proper signal literally showered upon Miss Mary amidst much merriment. The young ladies served chocolate and cake for refreshments. Misses Mabel Earnest, Courtney Formwalt and Lula Merrell were the guests of the hour.

TOPROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS.

Any kind of a car can pull in sand after hard rains or damp cool weather. It is in July and August, when the sand is dried out, chopped up and fluid as water and the weather blazing hot, when sand pulling arguments are in order. In winter sand is little more difficult to pull than hardpan. In order however, to quiet misrepresentation, the Studebaker car stands ready at any and all times, to meet any car in hill or sand pulling contests. None are barred, but will meet all comers.

COLORADO, TEXAS, NOVEMBER 7, 1913.

District Judge, Thos. L. Blanton of Abilene, has decided to try congressional conclusions with the present incumbent, Judge W. R. Smith. He might secure a few pointers for the campaign from a fellowtownsman of his. He has not yet decided to resign his present office as district judge.

Allison Mayfield, at present railroad commissioner of Texas, is being urged for a place on the interstate commerce commission, on which two vacancies may possibly occur before long. This is a job demanding a prodigious amount of hard work if the duties of the place are performed faithfully. The work amounts to a personal inspection of the physical conditions of every railroad in this country; not a lieure-trip over them in a parlor car with a few questions asked of heads of different departments, but the commissioner must know a frog from a semipere and be acquainted with the different classes of work and construction.

This office has been flooded recently with personal letters and circulars from whiskey houses, urging us to get an order for "four full quarts" at least before November 19th, as after that time pernicious meddling incited by the Webb law and other handicaps to our personal liberties, may render getting regular consignments of booze a little uncertain and disappointing. These whiskey houses have employed some of the brightest talent in this country to write these letters and circulars. They almost convince one that they are not only engaged in a most honorable but persecuted calling, but that they are really doing you a personal favor in protecting your rights and interests.

The effort of employers of labor in the north to reduce wages under the assumption that the new tariff has reduced the profits of their factories, will hardly justify itself in the face of bare facts. Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce made an investigation of manufacturing conditions and declares that no such grounds exist for any reduction of wages, and says that all the machinery of this government will be brought to bear against the carrying out of the threat by the manufacturers, who well know that if they can persuade the laborers that the new tariff means a reduction of wages, they will vote against the democratic party. The real motive of these men is not wages, but a hope of re-establishing the protective tariff under which they have fattened.

The first provision of the next legislature should be for the proper accommodation of the insane of our state, who are now confined in county jails. Texas has no greater per cent of insane than other states; its size and number of population that give the impression to the contrary. There is no possible hope of the ultimate recovery of those who are confined in jails; their restoration can be effected only by proper treatment and discipline in an asylum. System, discipline, obedience to authority and regular habits are vital features in the treatment of the insane. These factors can not be secured outside an asylum. Home, as a rule, is the worst place for an insane person. There, they are humored and allowed to have much their own way, strict or positive methods being rarely employed. It is to be hoped the next legislature will do something to get these unfortunate people out of the county jails, where the only change possible in their condition is always for the worse. Proper and ample care of these people, is a humane debt the state can not afford to neglect or defer. It is a shame to make them the victims of political swashbuckling.

Had you noticed; if not, you will notice it; no corn or other feed stuff is being or will likely be shipped into Mitchell county for some time to come. Nor will the farmers sell their feed stuff as many of them have heretofore done and been compelled to buy at advanced prices in the spring. Feed for stock is the backbone of a crop. A man can economize on his own expenses; can eat less and spend less money for things unnecessary, but his teams must be kept up to their best working condition. And the feed crop is the thing that does it.

It was with a dismal and disapproving eye the Record's base ball expert regarded the lowering clouds and dripping skies Tuesday morning, just before the arrival of the special for Abilene, where the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox played an exhibition game, "rain or shine." Our expert, as well as numerous other local fans, had firmly set their hearts on seeing this game, and discussed among themselves the relative merits of their favorite players. They had a great desire to see the men who had filled so large a space in the papers and public mind the past season. When the train pulled in, the rain "pulled out" and hit a seven league gait. The heart of a few failed there and they put that $1.75 back in their pockets and returned to their daily vocations; but most of them, figuring on the uncertainty of west Texas weather; arguing rightly, that because it was raining at Colorado at nine o'clock was no reason it would be raining at Abilene, seventy miles distant, at two o'clock, took the chance and called for a round-trip slip to Abilene. Such a trifle as rain falls to dampen the enthusiasm of a genuine fan; he'll gamble on the sun's shining when the game is called, though it be raining great guns at noon. Did our expert go? You know he did.

Those who have criticised President Wilson and the Washington administration for its waiting and apologetic attitude in the Mexican trouble, have another guess coming as to his grasp of the situation and ability to handle it. Heedless of all criticism at home and from foreign papers and cabinets, he has kept his own counsel and gone quietly along preparing for an eventuality, that would likely come if his efforts to restore peace by moral suasion failed. President Wilson realizes that this nation does not want war now. The country is at peace with the world; it is developing and prospering as never before; there is no internal dissensions or political upheavals, while the great mass of our people look upon the Mexican revolution as strictly a family row, which they should be allowed to settle among themselves. There has been no such calamity as the destruction of the Maine in Havana harbor to inflame the public mind and arouse the spirit of national patriotism. These people are our next door neighbors and we are their "Big Brother" on this western hemisphere, and there is an obligation resting on the United States to regard their interests as against those of a foreign country. Until every honorable and reasonable effort has been made to settle the existing trouble in Mexico by lenient and moral means, this country has no provocation to go to war with its neighbor. Nor does it expect to do more than help establish a constitutional government there, stabilize it, and guarantee to the people a free choice of their rulers.

Every West Texas exchange we pick up records the building of silos in its section. The farmers and stockmen are convinced that the silo is the solution of winter feeding and are losing no time in providing them.

The pecan crop around San Angelo and Brownwood is reported to be very full this season.

Our Squandered Resources.

With $7.00 per capita apportionment and a constantly growing school fund; with many counties owning as their school land apportionment, some of the best and most valuable land in the state, it does look like Texas should have the best public school system of any state in the union. But somehow, the state has developed in a lop-sided way instead of evenly and in well rounded proportion. The great domain was squandered with reckless hand for everything that had the word "railroad" tacked to it. The grant to one road alone would make a state large as several principalities of Europe; much of this land is now worth from $25 to $50 per acre. By every rule, right and law of decent administration Texas should have the best public school system and the largest fund with which to support it, of any state in the union.

And while speaking of giving away the land belonging to future generations, the gift of 3,000,000 acres of as fine agricultural land as the state affords, to a syndicate that has already sold more than that amount—some for $20 per acre, in return for a pile of stone and mortar, that has been so badly kept the last legislature was afraid to continue its session in it for fear of contagion, three members having died of meningitis, affords another evidence of criminal disregard for the rights of prosperity by the builders of our state.

But the parsimonious attitude the legislatures have maintained toward the state's educational and eleemosynary institutions, has done much to prejudice outsiders against the progressiveness of the state. Instead of building up a few strong and efficient institutions, sufficient to meet the various phases of education, politicians have managed to put through bills and secure appropriations for more schools than the state has been able to support. Even the location of these institutions were hawked from the auction block, the town putting up most money and other valuable considerations, getting the school. The niggardly treatment of our eleemosynary institutions by the legislatures we have had, is a reproach to the state of Texas. There are estimated to be not less than 500 insane people today in our county jails, because there is no provision for them in our asylums. The same condition accommodations for these poor unfortunates were somewhat increased, but the accommodations have not kept pace with the increase of population and consequent proportion of insane. Our legislators have not been men with sufficient vision to comprehend the future development of this great state. They have been politicians instead of constructive statesmen, and have used the resources of the state as stepping stones to their personal ambition.

Texas should have the largest and strongest state educational institutions in this nation; the most humane and best governed penal institutions, wherein men are made better instead of hardened in crime; most ample and modern eleemosynary institutions for the care and cure of its unfortunate; and it could have had these things had the natural resources of the state been conserved and the rights of future generations considered.

The Post City Post came to us last week in a pea green dress, which we surmised, carried no meaning ulterior to the fact the office had missed its shipment of white paper and had recourse to its poster stock.

How we pity the rich. There's the family of the late Adolphus Busch, for instance; under the will, each one will only be allowed the pittance of $375,000 per year for spending money, while the oldest son will fare but little better. He will be allowed an extra $375,000 per annum to act as paymaster to the others. However, by strict economy they can manage to pull through on this measly sum and still maintain decent respectability.

A good country can exist without a good town, but a good town can not exist without a good country. First and last it is the farmer who builds the town. Unless the farming class is loyal to the town on which they depend for their commercial exchange and as a market for their products, the town will never prosper. If the town buys the products of the farmer, turning the work of his hands into ready money, supplies his wants as cheaply as they can be supplied elsewhere; if the town contributes to all the calls made upon it by the country for purposes of general good; there is an obligation on the part of the farmer to stand by the town in every way he can. This is the only basis on which a town can be built up and put in position to compete with foreign markets in every line.

ELIMINATE THE DEMAGOGUE.

The spectacular efforts of alert politicians in the prohibition camp to eliminate superfluous candidates has in it an element of courage seldom shown in public affairs, and it is refreshing to find beneath the rumble and roar of factional strife the firm cry of progress, for with all due respect to those who hold single views on the prohibition question, the demagogue has done more damage to Texas than any single factor. We can live with or without liquor, but we must have bread.

This leads us to suggest that a convention be called to eliminate the demagogue from Texas politics, and in order to get the full benefits of such action in this campaign, it could be called before he has time to intoxicate the public mind on the wine of discord and excite the popular thought on the strong drink of prejudice. Will the apostles of progress call such a convention?—Commercial Secretaries.

We heard Mr. A. L. Scott say last week that it would be worth not less than $100 per month to him to have the spur track extended to his warehouse, particularly during the winter season. The extension of this spur would be worth a great deal to both the gin and ice plant, and all three could be served by extending the track not more than 300 feet. The Record believes the ice plant and creamery would run next season if it had this convenience. Having to pay for the hauling of every ton of coal used, from a car on the main siding, amounts to no inconsiderable item during the run of a season. The Record also believes, that if all interested parties would get together for a conference and look at the matter, not from the angle of individual interest, but the greatest common good, an agreement could be reached by which this track could be extended and made to serve four public utilities regularly, instead of only one occasionally. We all owe something of our individual rights to the public good. This is the basis of communal life.

This part of the Record never until now realized what the word "patience" meant. He has only a faint conception of the fullness of the virtue now, without claiming to possess it in the lowest degree. But he does know what it means to be tied down, practically chained to a chair all day and much of the night. He knows what it means to sit still and see the crowd go joyously by wherever it lists. He has learned what it means to do without what he wants but can't get; to have no preferences, but seem content with what he can get; to be denied all the pleasures that the power of locomotion brings and he is slowly learning how to renounce without becoming embittered. He has learned what it means to be thrown back upon himself the greater part of the time, for entertainment and company, but amidst the gloom and despondency such helpless condition invariably produces, there is one ray of comfort in the early acquired habit of loving to read.

There must be a number of vagabond wildcats or catamounts in this town, which hold a caucus nightly not far from this writer's bedroom. They certainly can't be just the ordinary tomcat and make a noise like they do. About 1:30 the meeting is called to order by the Grand Yowler—and he's on to his job of yowling, believe us. The answering "me-ow" comes from the neighboring sheds, and soon afterward they sing the opening cat-tawalling ode and then settle down to business. First one of them then another will take up the burden of murdering sleep. Sometimes they will all whine and growl and "Spha-a-t" at once and explode in a volume of howl that would make a coyote ashamed of its efforts. Sometimes, in their purely social gatherings, the gentlemen of the party fall out over the smiles of some popular lady, and then the fur flies. Two big toms will grapple with each other with tooth and claw; roll over on the ground; rear up and fall from the shed top to the ground; flop against the fence, the while keeping up a continuous growling, crunching, tearing sound. Then one will let out a "yowl-howl" of pain, spring apart with a spitting sound, when the meeting breaks up in a general rough-house.

Attendance at the Dallas fair amounted to 701,345 this year as against 789,447. The balance in favor of last year is accounted for by the bad weather. The profits of the enterprise the past few years have amounted to about $100,000, which has been spent on improvement of the grounds.

DON'T BE CONSTIPATED

Everyone knows when he is constipated, and everyone should know the risk he is running when he fails to promptly correct it.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

Is a Bowel Tonic and Regulator.

It empties the bowels just as thoroughly as the harsh, gripping cathartics and does it mildly, comfortably, pleasantly. Moreover, it leaves a beneficial influence behind it because the bowels remain healthy and regular thus there is no return to constipated conditions.

PRESIDENT WILSON HAS SPOKEN

Without consulting the hotel lobby statesmen or taking into his confidence every newspaper correspondent in Washington, President Wilson has worked out the attitude of the United States toward Mexico and sent an ultimatum to President Huerta couched in simple and concise terms. President Huerta must step down and out without loss of time, and must not leave as his successor, General Blanquet, his minister of war, or any other member of his official family, or of the unofficial coterie whom he might be expected to control. This ultimatum was delivered last Sunday, but up to this time President Huerta has made no answer to the Washington government.

On the face of things, there seems to be but one of two answers possible—refusal point blank to comply with the demands of President Wilson, or the entire elimination of himself officially. In the first instance, he may go so far as to hand the diplomatic representative his passports. Huerta's retirement, it is pointed out by Mexican officials, would be a confession of the triumph of the rebels, and these same officials consider his adopting this course as highly improbable. The next move on the checker board is clearly up to President Huerta, and on it will depend the next step of the Washington government. It is the opinion of the Record that if the other nations will signify their purpose to stand behind the United States in this demand, President Huerta will be able to read the handwriting on the wall and pull down. After that, the rapid developments of the future will determine. One thing however, is now nearer of accomplishment than ever before during the Mexican revolution, and that is peace, which has all along depended on the presence of a strong arm.

The struggle for existence preserves such an even balance among the forms of life that no one form is likely to get a destructive advantage over another. Men often disturb this nice balance and always pay the penalty, as in Pennsylvania, a bounty was offered for hawks and owls, which resulted in such a plague of mice as would have affected Pharaoh himself. The law worked the other way when English sparrows were introduced into this country and found no natural enemy to keep their numbers within bounds. The destruction of birds and rabbits will give the natural prey of these forms of life an unnatural advantage and will become a worse plague than the birds and rabbits. Birds are a public asset, belonging to the conservative program of creation. The farmers are now damaged millions of dollars every year by the ravages of moths, beetles, weevils and other forms of insect life. Birds are their natural enemies, intended by nature to hold them in check; but if the birds are to be killed off, they will multiply till man must wage an unceasing warfare against them or keep them down.

Once again, the Tammany tiger cat failed to come back, but had its ticket defeated from top to bottom. Ex-Governor Sulzer was elected to the legislature as a progressive, while John Purroy Mitchell was elected mayor of New York city by 100,000 majority. New Jersey, Maryland and Massachusetts elect democratic governors, and several new democratic congressmen were elected.

COLE YOUNGER.

Last of the Noted Younger Brothers, To lecture in This City at an Early Date.

Cole Younger himself, who lived the life of the Gentleman, the Soldier, the Outlaw and the Convict, having spent 25 years of the best part of his life in a prison cell, will deliver his famous lecture entitled "What Life Has Taught Me," at the Opera House next Thursday, Nov. 13. In this lecture Mr. Younger tells many of the thrilling events of his varied career, from the time he was a boy of seventeen up to the time he was pardoned from the Minnesota State Prison, where he served a quarter of a century for the Northfield bank robbery.

This lecture is truly historical and instructive, as well as intensely interesting and appeals to ladies as well as gentlemen, pointing out as it does a great moral lesson which should be of benefit to everyone.

Mr. Younger's sole desire in life now is to do all he can for the betterment of mankind. Prices 35c and 50c. Reserve seats at Majors Jewelry Store.

PRINCE CHARMING.

DOCTOR JOEL WESTERN PEARSON.

Died, at Hot Springs, Ark., October 24th, 1913, Dr. Joel Western Pearson, at the age of 71 years.

Dr. Pearson was born at the Manor House at Bunker Hill, in Fairfield county, South Carolina, close to the little village of Monticello, where he grew to manhood, being educated at the old Jefferson Academy, an institution of learning founded by his grandfather, Phillip P. Pearson and Thomas Jefferson. On the completion of his education at the Academy, he was appointed to the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., where he had presented himself to enter upon his duties, when his native state, South Carolina, passed the ordinance of secession, when he went home and enlisted in Company I commanded by John Banyan Davis, which was attached to the first South Carolina regiment, commanded by Col. Maxey Gregg, who was afterwards killed near Hamilton Crossing, near Fredericksburg, Va.

Dr. Pearson was later elected lieutenant of his company and served as such till the close of the war, when he studied medicine, graduating at Philadelphia. After his graduation in medicine, Dr. Pearson returned to Fairfield, S. C. having married Miss Georgia Anna Mann of Gordonsville, Va., in the meantime, where he began the practice of his profession, and later moved to Saluda, S. C., where he farmed and practiced medicine until 1876, when he came to Texas, locating at Richmond, Fort Bend county. Later he came to West Texas, then the western frontier, and located at Buffalo Gap in Taylor county, about the year 1878, where he built up a good practice; later still, he came on west with the building of the Texas & Pacific rail road, and located in Colorado, Texas.

where he was one of the leading physicians for a number of years.

While a resident of Richmond, Texas he studied law and was admitted to the bar and while a resident of Colorado, served several terms as County Judge of Mitchell county, and one term as County Attorney. Science is indebted to Dr. Pearson for the discovery and development of the serum for the cure of spenic fever and black-leg, as he assisted by a veterinarian, Dr. W. K. Lewis, was first to make the serum and use it in this far western country, when it was later made by the U. S. government and various A. & M. Colleges, throughout the United States.

Dr. Pearson was a resident of Hot Springs, Ark., about 12 years previous to his death, where he had a host of loyal friends. He was noted for his charity and generosity toward those unable to procure assistance and medical attention at that famous resort, Dr. Pearson leaves a widow, Mrs. Georgia Anna Pearson; a daughter, Mrs. Belle Colvin of Fort Worth, Texas, and a son, Richard O'Neele Pearson of Colorado, Texas. Besides these, he had friends scattered all over West Texas, who mourn the loss of a true friend.

Dr. Pearson was buried in Greenwood Cemetery at Hot Springs, Ark.

QUITE A CHANGING AROUND.

A regular epidemic of moving has broken out in town, all which seems to have been resultant of one piece of property changing hands. When Dr. Phenix purchased the place where Mr. Crowder had been living, it forced Mr. Crowder to hunt another home, and he succeeded in securing the old Goodwin home place. The Phenix home, which will be left vacant when the Doctor moves to his recent purchase, will be taken by Earl Callaway, and the former Key place, which Earl Callaway vacates, will be occupied by J. R. Hastings, and into the house which Mr. Hastings vacates, Mr. W. A. Campbell and family will move. Mr. Campbell and family will vacate no residence by their move, else it would also be occupied. They have been doing light housekeeping in rooms over Lasky's store. The McGuires, who moved out to their farm in the Buford community several years ago, will return and occupy their home in South Colorado, which Jack Smith has been occupying since they moved to the country. What Jack will do, we didn't find out.

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for la grippe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Thedford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy.

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

POULTRY ATTRACTION

Chickens That Have Cackled and Crowed in the Presence of Kings Will be Shown at Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show.

Roosters that have crowed in the presence of kings and hens that have pecked at the judges of poultry shows on both continents, will be exhibited at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, November 22-28.

Every year the blooded hens and high-browed roosters from all over the world assemble at the show, chatter about the premiums, cackle and crow over the blue ribbons, return to the barnyard boasting of their triumph and spread the fame of the Stock Show throughout the length and breadth of the land.

The hen will be one of the leading attractions of the show and she is a splendid entertainer. Her form is exquisitely molded in all shapes and sizes from the ornamental to the useful. Her attire is the pink of perfection and her form and color are of latest design. In utility she is without an equal in the Texas barnyard. Her cackle is as musical as the clink of gold dollars, she buys the baby new dresses, keeps the family in groceries and pays off farm mortgages. She has put on a shell game that has driven the fakers from the fair grounds in shame and she has netted the housewife millions of dollars.

For years she has maintained her supremacy as a star performer and this year she will put on a show that will rival all previous exhibits. In giving the largest returns on the amount invested, she takes sweep-stakes. The markets of the world are clamoring for the Texas steer; the packers are loudly calling for more hogs; the sheep boasts of the demand for its fibre, but they must all bow down before the Texas hen. She lays three times her value per annum, raises annually a brood of chickens worth ten times her value and then lays down her life to appease human hunger.

The poultry industry in Texas has reached mammoth proportions. During the past year the total production, including eggs, approximated $25,000,000. The egg output alone was worth $18,000,000. We have approximately 25,000,000 domestic fowls. We have more turkeys and geese than any other state in the Union.

Declare War on Colds.
A crusade of education which aims "that common colds may become uncommon within the next generation" has been begun by prominent New York physicians. Here is a list of the "don'ts" which the doctors say will prevent the annual visitation of the cold:

"Don't sit in a draughty car."
"Don't sleep in hot rooms."
"Don't avoid the fresh air."
"Don't stuff yourself at meal time. Over eating reduces your resistance."
To which we would add—when you take a cold get rid of it as quickly as possible. To accomplish that you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most excellent. Sold by W. L. Doss.

Gradually, fearfully, yet certainly, the prospective candidate is emerging like a gopher from his hole and beginning to feel around. He always begins the subject by asking if you have heard that so-and-so is talking of running for such-and-such an office. No? Well, he had heard it, but just now "disremembers" who it was told him, and a lot more such guff. Just keep quiet and he'll edge around to the remark directly, that "a good many of his friends have been after him to run for a certain office, but he had told them every time they mention the subject, that he would, of course, like to have the office, but that he couldn't think of running against Jim-Bill to get it. He simply wouldn't do it, not for the office." When he mentions the subject to the next man, he'll cite you (mentally) as one of his friends who is trying so hard to bring him out.

The practical completion of the Panama canal just at a time when Uncle Sam is becoming involved with foreign powers, will cut some ice in their reckonings with him and his navy.

DID CHILD WAKE UP CROSS OR FEVERISH

Look Mother! If Tongue is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs" to Clean The Bowels.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a clean ring at once.

When listless, pale feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grownups are plainly printed on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Counterfeits are being sold here. Don't be fooled!

More than a dozen young women are studying medicine in the University of Texas, three are studying law and six are studying architecture, while a hundred or so are taking special courses in cooking, sewing, home decoration and other subjects that will fit them to become home-makers.

ELEPHANT FINDS PIG AFFINITY.

Pachyderm Meets Soul Mate in Gentry Brothers' Zoo. Massive Beast Learns Humble Porker is Much Needed And Worthy Friend.

Animals widely diversified by nature often form queer attachments and find singular affinities when thrown together in one aggregation. No where else in the world is this more vividly demonstrated than in the case of an elephant and a barn yard hog, comprising a part of the menagerie with Gentry Brothers' Famous shows, which will exhibit in this city Monday Nov. 10.

When Gentry Brothers—the pioneers in trained animal shows—began their career they had but little more than confidence in themselves and their ability as trainers and business men. They started with the lowly animals. Their first troupe numbered nothing more than a few ponies, a few dogs, and two common house cats.

As trainers they became great students of animal nature. From that small beginning they enlarged and improved their exhibition until now the elephant of India, with his greatest adversary, the leopard, are found in the menagerie.

After acquiring two elephants years ago their greatest task was to teach them English, and then train them. This was done after long practice and great patience. The pachyderms from Asia were willing creatures. As they went through their little courses they became quite Americanized.

When the elephants were first introduced in Gentry Brothers winter quarters the other animals held aloof from them. But after a few months of contact the creatures in that great performing family came to know each other.

"Casey" the trained pig, became an inseparable companion of "King," the elephant. One day a trainer noticed "Casey" walk deliberately up to the elephant. The largest of all creatures was lying down.

After a couple of grunts, which the elephant returned, the pig got busy. With his rough nose he began scratching the elephant's back. The pachyderm was in his seventh heaven.

Now whenever "Casey" is unleashed he spends most of his time in the elephant ring. When the elephants go for water he goes with them. When they are fed their bran and oats "Casey" eats with them. In fact, "Casey" and "King" are the staunchest friends around the zoo. Both will be here when Gentry Brothers Shows exhibit in this city Monday Nov. 10.

$7.00 PER CAPITA FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Austin, Tex. Nov. 1.—The state board of education today announced the initial apportionment of the $7 per capita apportionment of the school fund. Fifty cents, as apportioned today for the month, amounts to $524,264, based on the estimated scholastic population of 1,048,531.

There remains $6.50 to be apportioned during the balance of the scholastic year.

Pain, Pain, Pain.

To those who suffer PAIN, let us say Hunt's Lightning Oil is truly wonderful in the way it destroys pain. So many praise it that you cannot doubt. You simply rub it on, and the pain goes away.

Chas. M. Stanley, promoter of the big irrigation project at Bronte, met the citizens of that locality last week and made the following proposition: That all people owning land on both sides of the river in the district to be irrigated by the dam, sell him one-half of their lands, the deeds to be held in escrow at the Bronte bank for four years, and at the end of that time to revert to the original owners in case Stanley fails to complete his project. If, however, he puts through his enterprise, he is to get the land at prices agreed on between himself and the owners. He will present this same proposition to the people of Ballinger Miles, Rowena and other localities to be benefitted by the enterprise. The project is fully financed and not one cent bonus will be asked. On completion of the enterprise Stanley will take over the land and pay for it.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" STRAIGHTEN YOU UP.

No Sick Headache, Billous Stomach Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Get a 10 cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

THE PRICE SHE PAID.

The latest bomb-shell in the way of a dramatized play has set all the Eastern country talking, and the previous success of all dramatized stories has been eclipsed. The new play is called, "The Price She Paid," and deals with the struggles of womanhood against the world. Many women have an uphill fight in life, but few of them ever have to contend with so many obstacles to keep them from pursuing the straight and narrow road, as the heroine of this new dramatic offering.

All the world loves a fighter, especially when the fighter is battling for the right, and the tremendous odds against the girl in this new play give her the sympathy of the audience at once.

Nowhere in David Graham Phillips' novel, "The Price She Paid," will there be found the thrilling and absorbing situation that crop up every few moments in the play. A splendid company is presenting the new play, headed by Miss Rachel May Clark, the well-known star.

"The Price She Paid" will be seen at the Colorado Opera House Saturday night Nov. 8.

"NOTHING succeeds like success," it has been said, and our success from the day of our opening has been all that could be wished for. We have treated during this short time more than fifty of the best people of the town and country, and in EVERY case where sufficient time has been given our cures can be counted by our patients--i. e. all that have come; and to them we would refer you. And if you are sick and need the services of Scientific Specialists, we are at your service and will give you the same pains-taking care that we have given those before. Remember, we use EVERY means known to the medical profession, and more---the services of a Magnetic Specialist, of years of experience, is also at your command. Come while the time is opportune. Remember what our patients have to say--i. e. we cured when all else had failed.

TESTIMONIALS

This is to certify that I have had chronic inflammatory rheumatism for five years and tried almost everything I could hear of without relief, and since last fall have been unable to use one of my hands for any purpose, it being badly swollen and stiff. I couldn't even hold a paper to read. After two weeks treatment at the Eaves-Webb Sanitarium, swelling has almost gone. Can use my hand fairly well. Can lift several pounds. In fact I have improved from the first treatment. I have gained eight pounds in weight and feel much better in every way. I heartily recommend these people to any one suffering from this trouble. (Signed) A. J. HAMILTON.	Colorado, Tex. Oct. 21, 1913. This is to certify that last March I was stricken down with nervous trouble and since that time have been unable to do work of any kind. Having several of these nervous spells every day and I was in constant fear of them and suffered untold agonies. I tried every doctor and medicine I could find. Doctored myself, in fact, did every thing I could do without relief. These nervous spells continuing every day. One week ago, I began treatment at the Eaves-Webb Sanitarium and haven't had another nervous spell. Have eaten all I wanted of any kind of food, and I feel like a new man. Signed, L. W. JONES.	Colorado, Tex. Oct. 21, 1913. This is to certify that I have been afflicted with nervous and stomach trouble, not being able to eat a great many things without giving me a great deal of trouble. I have tried almost everything I could hear of without relief. I have taken ten days treatment at the Eaves-Webb Sanitarium, and have received a great benefit. I can eat anything I wish to and it doesn't hurt me at all. My nerves are quiet, all the time and I feel greatly relieved and benefited. I could realize a benefit from the first treatment I can eat and sleep well now and feel good. MRS. MYRTLE CHAPLIN.	Sept. 24, 1913. J. E. Eaves, Colorado, Texas. Dear Sir--Replying to yours of recent date will say: That I had suffered several hard attacks of appendicitis and the Drs. told me I would have to be operated on. So hearing of your place and seeing a party that had been in the same condition and had been cured there without an operation I decided to try it although at that time I hadn't the least confidence in drugless methods. I was cured sound and well haven't had a return of the trouble. I now believe in your work and any one who will try it as I did will believe also. Hoping you much success in your new location, I am Respectfully, MISS ALMA HARELL

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL NOTES

MEXIA--The good road bonds voted here in the sum of $150,000 over a year ago have been disposed of and a complete survey of the proposed roads made. It is expected that actual work will begin at once.

SHERMAN--Contracts were let last week in this city for twelve new brick business buildings and work on all of the structures will be under way within a few weeks. There is also several residences under construction.

McKINNEY--A petition is being circulated here calling for a good road bond election in Road District No. 1 in the sum of $50,000. The election will be held at the earliest possible date.

STAMFORD--November 19th is the date that the tenth quarterly meeting of the Central West Texas Agricultural Association will be held here. An elaborate program is being planned for the occasion, and some of the best known speakers in the state will be secured.

PLAINVIEW--At a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of this city, O. M. Unger was chosen as secretary of the club and will take charge of his new duties at once.

CORSICANA--Another Texas inter-urban has been opened to traffic and big passenger cars are now entering this place over the newly constructed Dallas-Corsicana line. A large crowd turned out here to see the first trolley car enter this city.

PLAINVIEW--The city is having concrete street crossings laid here at an expenditure of $12,000.

BALLINGER--Poultry enthusiasts of this city and surrounding vicinity are planning a poultry show to be conducted here in December. This will be one of the most extensive exhibits ever held here and is creating much interest among the fanciers of fine fowls.

POST CITY--There is located near this place hundreds of acres of high-grade brick and tile clay and it is understood that a party of local citizens are endeavoring to organize a stock company for the manufacturing of this product into brick and tile.

PETROLIA--An oil well capable of producing 500 barrels per day was recently brought in here by the Wichita Falls Oil and Gas Company.

HENRIETTA--A well that produces both oil and gas has been discovered on the Matlock lease near this place and is capable of producing 200 barrels of oil daily.

KAUFMAN--The new steam laundry just completed in this city has been opened for operation and is running full time. The local Commercial Club and Commercial Secretaries Association were instrumental in securing this new enterprise.

TAYLOR--The Taylor Gas Company composed of capitalists of Ann Arbor Michigan, has been granted a franchise by the city council of Taylor and has for its purpose the establishing of a gas works at this place. The company will begin the laying of gas pipe mains and the establishing of a high-class plant here immediately.

WICHITA FALLS--One of the best flowing oil wells that has ever been discovered at the Electra fields was brought in one day last week by the Forrest Oil Company, at a depth of 1,550 feet. The new well is capable of flowing 300 barrels per day.

POST CITY--The progressive citizens of this county have just succeeded in voting the issuance of $500,000 of good roads bonds and work will commence immediately on the building of some of the best graded and paved turnpikes in the state.

CUERO--An elaborate program has been planned for the second annual "Turkey Trot" which will be conducted in this city November 18th to 21st, inclusive. More than 20,000 "gobblers" will participate in the big parade, which will be headed by Governor Colquitt and other state officials.

FREEPORT--The machinery for the new pumping plant to be installed at the eastern end of the Freeport Townsite Company's drainage canal has arrived and is being put in by the engineer. This pumping plant will be used to keep water in the drainage canal below the level of the Brazos River and will insure perfect drainage for the city.

WICHITA FALLS--A local automobile truck manufacturer has received orders from several points in Italy for a number of motor trucks made at his plant here. The plant recently established a foreign sales department and has sold trucks to various points in Central and South America and also Porto Rico.

QUANAH--The electric plant at this place has changed hands and is being rebuilt at a cost of $135,000. The new owner also plans the erection of a transmission line to Chillicothe to furnish light and power for that town.

HILL GROWS PESSIMISTIC.

In a recent speech before the investment bankers of Chicago, James J. Hill on the subject of reckless bond issues and other adventurous undertakings, took occasion to say: "Less than one year's subsistence stands between man and starvation. This is the measure of his accumulations. Six and a half bushels of wheat per capita is a low estimate for consumption and seed. What is true of our bread supply is more than true of most other necessities that we consume and produce. We could live for a few months only on our savings."

Coming from one of Hill's experience and foresight, such a contingency as he assumes, would indicate that he is growing pessimistic with his years. It is not in keeping with his usual confident and cheerful outlook upon the future. What he predicts concerning the result of reckless financing, may be true, but as to the world starving in case of six months' unproductiveness, shows that he takes a very narrow and materialistic view of things—of man and his destiny. For six thousand years and more the same plan and purpose has persisted. The earth's bounty has never wholly failed; somewhere the soil yields abundance, and in this day, ships and railroads will distribute it to the consuming race. Results of mere man-made conditions can never thwart the eternal purpose of Him who made the earth and fixed its going. The destruction of the human race need never be feared from the results of artificial conditions brought about by the avarice, lust or hate of man. Until the race has served fully the purpose for which He created it; until the earth has performed every evolution enfolded in His comprehensive plan, it will continue to yield its fruit in season for the sustenance and comfort of the race. Mere speculation on what would be the result on the destiny of the human race, of conditions brought about by human passions, is utter nonsense, as it eliminates the one great power of the universe—the overruling God, who finally directs and disposes of all things.

TAYLOR COUNTY IS MOVING.

At a meeting of the Irrigation Association of Taylor county and the Abilene boosters last week, Mr. Ragsdale, the irrigation expert, who has been engaged in surveying and estimating different farms to the end of their being put under water, made a report on all the farms so far surveyed. Different farms required different systems, while many required only levees built to throw the flood water on the crops during rains. The amount of water being regulated by gates and diversion dams. In some instances the estimated cost of putting a small farm under irrigation, was surprisingly small, compared to the good accomplished. Some farms were best adapted to pump and well irrigation, and some others to dam and reservoir system. Taken altogether, this was a good work, reflecting credit upon the progressive spirit of Abilene and the farmers of Taylor county. The owner of a forty to eighty acre farm knows just how much it will cost to put his farm under irrigation, as well as the best system to employ. Not only this, but he has the plans and location of the system, all which gives his farm an added value, both to himself and to a prospective purchaser. The Record looks to see many irrigation systems installed in Taylor county in the near future, and the farmers in adjoining counties seeing the great benefits resulting will get busy themselves. There is no use trying to get away from the fact that so long as West Texas is West Texas in all the physical and climatic features that give to the country its many redeeming virtues, just so long will there recur seasons of distressing and disappointing drouth; critical periods in the development of the crops, when one rain will mean a bounding success or dismal failure. This condition is inseparable from the country, and makes it otherwise, one of the most desirable farming sections on earth. It only needs to have moisture at the right time. The natural rainfall is sufficient for all crop needs if it could be had at the right time and stage of the crops. To supply this deficiency and carry the crops over the critical periods, is the object and aim of irrigation. There may be years—two or three in succession, possibly—when not a drop of artificial moisture will be required; yet the very next one—possibly two or three—might be seasons of partial or protracted drouth. Then would the irrigation systems be worth the value of a crop each year. Irrigation is insurance against crop failure, and though a farmer might install a system and never have to draw upon its reserve of water, it would be the best investment he ever made.

The Record hopes and believes this move on the part of Taylor county farmers in conjunction with its business men and business organizations will prove the beginning of a widespread campaign for irrigation in other counties. The building of the gigantic dam and system at Bronte, will give impetus to the idea, and other localities having advantageous sites for like projects will get busy improving them. Consumption is only about two jumps behind supply in this high pressure age. The complete or partial failure of one crop has a marked effect upon the price. Certainty in farming becomes more important every day. The old methods and system create a fluctuating market for everything the farmer can raise. With certainty of production, prices will be stabilized and the product of the farm made as certain as the output of a factory.

We heard several prominent farmers say this week, that Mitchell county had not been so well and generally supplied with feed stuff since they had been living here. For several years past it has taken all the farmers made on their crops to buy feed in the spring to make the next one.

Some progress, we understand is being made on the matter of experimental village delivery. Several property owners have agreed to put down walks and otherwise comply with the government conditions. Some have agreed to give their time and work to putting in order the walks and crossings. One advantage the securing of this delivery system might be to the town, is that it would be a step toward securing a postoffice building for the town, when the receipts of the office justified. Aside from this, there are many people the free delivery system would greatly accommodate. The committee or whoever has the canvass in charge, will continue their efforts and be ready to make a full report by the time Mr. Dawkins returns.

The Record is violating no confidence in thus publicly felicitating Rev. J. N. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, on his approaching marriage, which will occur on the 17th instant, at Lamesa, Texas, to Miss Myrtle Copeland of that place. Young preachers have always been regarded as about half married when they assume their first pastorate, as they have usually met their fate before that time, and only waits a settled home to "make the twain one flesh." The Record again congratulates Mr. Campbell upon his near benediction and hopes the future contains nothing but those blessings which the gods hold on their knees for those who deserve them.

The turnip crop of Mitchell county must be a fine one if the samples we have seen brought to town are any indication. There were many who platted just before and others after the rains began. The Eaves-Webb Sanitarium has a new ad in this issue of the Record. Mr. Eaves, the manager informs us that the institution did much better the first month of its existence than he expected. It had been more than self-sustaining, while the outlook for still better business the current month was good. He said that prospective patients were investigating their methods and their testimonials, which are open at all times to the most rigid scrutiny. They believe in the efficacy of publicity where an institution is able to make good on all its claims, and he attributed not the smallest share of the institution's success in this locality to the use of the Record's columns.

COATED TONGUE MEANS LAZY LIVER. A Lazy Liver Needs a Dose of Dodson's Liver Tonic—Guaranteed to Take Place of Calomel.

When your doctor looks to see if your tongue is coated, he is trying to find out if your liver is working properly. A few years ago doctors had to prescribe calomel—there was nothing else to give.

Recently in many sections of the country Dodson's Liver Tonic has practically taken the place of calomel as a mild, pleasant tasting and harmless liver remedy. Dodson's Liver Tonic—which makes it a fine medicine for use when your children become bilious and constipated. But the most remarkable feature of Dodson's Liver Tonic is the fact that Floyd Beall who sells it, guarantees it absolutely. The druggist will return your money without argument if a bottle fails to give entire satisfaction. Price 50 cents. We suggest that you get a bottle today and have it ready for the next member of your family whose liver gets wrong.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. HALLOWE'EN PARTIES.

The Methodist ladies were very busy all last week preparing for the progressive Hallowe'en party. The crowd all met at Mrs. Barcroft's, where they bought their tickets, met the witch and were, by following her simple requests, bewitched for the evening. The witch proved to be one of the most charming young ladies, so all were glad of her bewitching powers. They also had their fortunes told here for the small sum of ten cents, placed in the gypsy's palm, and as she had nothing but good things the entire crowd was ready for an evening of merriment.

The first stop was at Mrs. D. N. Arnett's, where everything was appropriately decorated for the occasion and all kinds of games suitable for the evening were indulged for an hour.

The next stop was with Mrs. Earl Jackson, and by this time ghosts and weird noises were getting plentiful and making creeping sensations on the spinal column; so when the guests were led through "Giggle Alley" the giggling came easy. After many bumps, jolts, step-downs and falls they came out alive, but much the worse in appetite, and were glad to hear "all aboard for the next station." This was Mrs. Sam Wulfjen's hospitable home, and many good things to eat were to be had in the way of pies and coffee. The gentle dames served their pie and coffee gypsy fashion, which was heartily enjoyed by all.

It is reported that Mr. W. L. Doss and Dr. Phenix called for help when they were falling in Giggle Alley, but as they fell on a feather mattress they did not repeat, so no one is sure. As the conscience of druggists and doctors is good, it may be a mistake.

It was quite a pleasant evening and the young people look forward to next Hallowe'en. The ladies netted a nice little sum for their labors for which they are thankful.

HIGH SCHOOL HALLOWE'EN.

The ninth, tenth and eleventh grades had a Hallowe'en entertainment at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Herrington last Friday night.

The house was decorated with black cats, pumpkins and things had a weird look every way one looked.

Quite a merry party were there and to say they enjoyed it would be faintly expressing it. They had a "roaring good time" after a program of music and readings of the hallowe'en fun began. All the known games were played and then each in turn was led up a dark mystic stairway to the fortune teller's booth to have the future revealed to them. On the way cold icy hands grasped them, a black cat tail tickled them on the neck and face, and at the landing tin pans dropped from every where and made noise enough to alarm the dead, but these youngsters were on the way to have their fortunes told and would let nothing turn them back. After hours, it seemed they reached a beautifully lighted room and was greeted by the dearest little Gypsy maid who had something good in store for all that will surely come true.

After all were tired they were refreshed with salad, sandwiches and hot coffee. These young people are grateful to Miss Ellis for assisting them in an evening of pleasure. She is always ready to assist her pupils in any way.

DEFEATED MISSIONARY MEMBERS ENTERTAIN.

Last summer the missionary society of the Methodist Church divided into two teams with captains, for the purpose of securing new members and Miss Jo Dry was the captain of the winning side and Mrs. M. K. Jackson and her side were the defeated ones.

Wednesday afternoon they showed their ability to lose gracefully by entertaining in a most hospitable manner at the home of Mrs. M. K. Jackson. There were forty guests present and they enjoyed the hour to the fullest. The diversions were "Hidden Missionary Workers" and a Poet contest. Words were given for the first contest in which a prominent missionary worker's name was found. Many of them proved to be workers and high officials, right in their own midst. Mesdames Lyon and Merrett had the honor of discovering the greatest number of names and were suitably rewarded for their brilliance. In the Poet contest Mrs. Floyd Beall answered the most questions in rhyme and was given a copy of "Stevenson's Evening Prayer" beautifully framed for her skill. The hostesses served a dainty collation of fruit salad, cheese sandwiches with tea and coffee. Altogether, it was quite a pleasant affair and more so because Mrs. Lyon was a guest and is so soon to leave. The ladies delight to honor her who has been such a capable and faithful worker with them for the past four years.

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Last Sunday morning after the conference hour at the Baptist church, their pastor, Rev. James N. Campbell, took the church into his confidence and told them of his approaching marriage to Miss Myrtle Copeland of Loraine.

The entire church congratulates their talented young pastor on his selection and pray for him a long life of happiness in this sacred relation.

Miss Copeland is the daughter of Dr. Copeland of Loraine. She graduated at the Baylor-Belton Female College last June and was taking some special work at Simmons College this year, when this young minister persuaded her that she could do special work in Colorado.

The entire church are proud to welcome this bright young lady into their midst, and ask God's richest blessings on her. The marriage will be consummated on the 17 inst.

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

Soap Dries Your Scalp, Causing Dandruff, Then Hair Falls Out—Try This Next Time.

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes to the roots, invigorating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of store-bought Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.
