GERMANS ATTACK ON THE ALLIES' LEFT WING HAS BEEN REPULSED

ALLIES HAVE ALSO ADVANCED THEIR LEFT WING AFTER SEVERE FIGHTING, ACCORDING TO PARIS OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE AUSTRIANS ARE NOW IN FULL RETREAT

After Nine Days' Struggle Servians are Pursuing Austrians, and Are Continuing Into Bosnia—England to Pursue More Vigorous Naval Policy as Result of Yesterday's Destruction by German Submarines.

ROME, Sept. 19.—Anti-war rioting occurred today in every city of Italy as a result of the conscription of men for service. The report persists that the Austrian Embassy at Rome is endeavoring to ascertain the peace sentiment in Russia. There is a growing feeling that Italy is pledged to strike at Austria, who would be practically helpless.

ROME, Sept. 19, 9:35 p. m.—Confidential advices tonight stated that the Russians have succeeded in cutting off the Austrian left wing commanded by Gen. Dankl and that it is in danger of annihilation.

The Austrians failed in a desperate attempt to reach Przemsyl and are now in full retreat toward Cracow with the Russian army cutting off their retreat.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 19.—The Russians have occupied Jarislav and Sieniawa. There is no fighting along the German frontier.

On the Battle Front, via Paris Sept. 19 8:15 p. m.—Overpowering fatigue and privations brought on by five days of unrelenting struggle, the greater part of the time in a downpour of the equinoctial rains, brought about last night a temporary lull in the combat of the powerful armies, facing each other along the rivers, Oise Aisne and Woivre. The roar of the cannon, the machine guns, and rifles died down last evening and the presence of the two armies composing more than a million men facing each other within touch on an even line and ready to spring to the battleground, could hardly be conceived, so intense was the stillness.

SOLDIERS SLEEP IN WATER.

The fatigued soldiers snatched rest often in trenches half filled with water. The Allies and Germans have entrenched themselves and settled for a stern fight which threatens to be longer and more sanguinary even than that of the Marne.

The Allies are making progress at some points; but slowly and developments during the past twenty-four hours are not important except that it is officially confirmed that the Germans have received reinforcements from Lorraine.

FEW ISOLATED ENCOUNTERS TODAY.

There were a few isolated encounters today, but both sides appear to have abandoned rash movements across the open, which marked the early stages of the war. Machine guns have taught them a lesson.

One incident of yesterday's fierce fighting with awful sacrifices was told today. A British infantry regiment, ordered to advance and take a German position, knelt for a moment praying, and knowing the cost to them of the charge fixed their bayonets and advanced fifteen yards at a time in wide open order, singing and hurrahing. Finally the remnants of the regiment took the German position after a hand-to-hand encounter. This is one incident of the bravery and discipline of the British, French and Germans.

Captured Germans tell of terrible losses and privation. An officer said: "Even when bivouacking the man can't rest. Last night a French aviator dropped four bombs among us."

"SITUATION IS UNCHANGED."

PARIS, Sept. 19, 9:20 p. m.—A French official communication tonight says: "In a serious encounter near Craonne, the Allies captured a number of prisoners and one standard. The Germans are reported to have gained no ground despite the violent encounter attacks. On the whole the situation is unchanged."

PARIS, Sept. 21, 12:11 p. m.—Some rumors of a German retreat from the Aisne battle line developed today, but the bulk of the reports indicate a continuation of the great ten day battle with the soldiers of both sides becoming more exhausted.

The Express correspondent asserts that a British officer, returning from Soissons, said that an aeroplane reconnaissance indicated that large bodies of the Germans were returning with trains of heavy stores, leaving about two hundred thousand to cover the retreat in powerful trenches. Such retreat in powerful trenches. Such retreat in powerful trenches. Such retreat in powerful trenches. Such retreat in powerful trenches.

The power of the Aisne trenches is indicated in the reports that all the German heavy artillery there rests in heavy cement foundations, which were prepared days before the battle.

The English and French armies seem to be trying desperately to turn the German right under the command of General von Klueck. Some reports that the Germans heavy attack on Rheims was due to the fact that the French have isolated it, thereby endangering von Klueck's position, and possibly even rendering useless all his marvellous strategy. The bad weather greatly strengthened von Klueck's position, changing the Oise valley into a swamp dominated by his guns. Ordinarily the Oise valley would be the main route of attack by the French.

On the French right about Dervin it is reported that the Crown Prince is attempting a flanking but to succeed he must first capture the great Verdun-fortresses, which protects the French wing.

Observers are beginning to believe that the fate of this battle depends on one or the other of the flanking movements.

In the center the fighting continues about even. The German center entrenchments appear remarkably strong.

General N. D. Findlay, British royal artillery officer, Saturday when the German shells threatened to destroy his guns, stepped into the ranks encouraging his men until the Germans were silenced. A shell blew him to pieces just at the end of the action.

PARIS, Sept. 22, 2:30 p. m.—An official announcement made this afternoon was as follows:

"Along the entire front from Oise to Woivre, the Germans yesterday showed some activity without, however, any appreciable results. First: on our left the Germans were forced to yield before the French attacks. Between the Oise and the Aisne the situation is unchanged. The enemy has made no serious attacks. Second: in the center between Rheims and Souain, the enemy attempted an offensive movement, which was repulsed."

HEAVY ATTACKS AT CENTER OF LINES.

Both sides admitted that at the beginning of this, the seventh day

8 1/2 Cent Cotton

I will pay 8 1-2 cents for all strict and good middling cotton brought me on accounts or for merchandise.

8 1/2 Cent Cotton H. C. DOSS

of the battle of Aisne, they were making heavy attacks on each other's center near Rheims and the heights of Craonne.

The French claim that the flanking movement against General von Klueck continues. Elsewhere reports on the movement on the one hundred miles front from Paris are meager.

The armies have apparently settled down to slowly digging an advance. Berlin claims that the Germans have captured the Craonne heights, 18 miles northwest of Rheims and also successfully attacked and forced back slightly eight French army corps at a fort south of Verdun. The French admit this retirement.

After a brief lull, the French resumed the fighting at Craonne, fighting against many Germans. Yesterday the French there tried to force hand to hand fighting, but it is reported that the Germans preferred to rely on their mortars, which fired shells six feet long.

FRESH FRENCH TROOPS ARRIVE.

The Allies claim that fresh French troops have reached Peronne, 17 miles northwest of St. Quentin, to be used in a turning movement against von Klueck and that this threatens to cut the German retreat lines.

The Allies also claim to have partly penetrated the German line between Rheims and Addonne, further imperiling the German retreat.

On the battle front, the Germans have built underground passage ways, turned the disused quarries into forts and now have a practically continuous line of fortifications about one hundred miles long.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—12:15 p. m.—The following official announcement was made here today:

"The Allies have advanced their left wing after severe fighting. They have also repulsed German attacks on the Allies' left wing."

AUSTRIANS ARE IN FULL RETREAT.

NISH, SERBIA, Sept. 23.—10:26 p. m.—After a nine days' struggle the Austrians, whose wings have been completely beaten, are in full retreat along the entire line between Liubovia to Losnitza. The Servians are following in close pursuit.

The Servians are also continuing their advance into Bosnia, said an official today.

MORE VIGOROUS NAVAL POLICY.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Newspapers here state that the British naval officers have decided to pursue a more vigorous policy as a result of the destruction of the three cruisers yesterday by German submarines. An attempt may be made to seal the German ships in the harbors by mines. Only 700 were rescued from the crews of the cruisers sunk yesterday, out of a total of 2,000. The British feel compensated some by the fearful naval risk on account of the statement by the admiralty that the seas have been kept open to 12,000 merchantmen with the loss of only twelve since the war began.

McADOO WARNS BANKS NOT TO HOARD MONEY.

Secretary Says He Will Withdraw Government Funds and Cease to Issue Emergency Currency.

Washington, Sept. 21.—A warning to national banks which have received Government funds to aid crop moving or which have charged excessive interest rates or to refuse legitimate credits was given tonight by Secretary McAdoo in a formal statement dealing with the present situation in the cotton growing States. The Secretary declared he would not hesitate to withdraw Government deposits from offending banks or to refuse to issue currency to them.

Aside from this warning Mr. McAdoo announced there is no reason for the cotton producer and manufacturer to feel pessimistic. He expressed the belief that there must soon be an increased demand for cotton and added:

"If the banks, the merchants and the manufacturers throughout the South will quit taking counsel of fear and will go forward with confidence the situation will, I believe, improve still further."

Warning to Banks.

"Complaints have been made to me" said the Secretary's statement "that some of the national banks, which are the beneficiaries of Government deposits and which are receiving national bank currency, are charging excessive rates of interest on loans as well as restricting credits. I have ordered that a careful investigation be made immediately. If I discover depository banks are refusing to extend legitimate credits, or are charging excessive rates of interest for Government funds deposited with them, or for so-called emergency currency which has been issued to them, I shall not hesitate to withdraw Government funds from such banks and to refuse to issue emergency currency to banks which I am convinced are not making use of it upon reasonable terms for the benefit of the business community. This applies not only to national banks in the cotton States, but in all other sections of the country. It must be remembered that the issuance of this so-called emergency currency rests by law solely within the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. I shall not knowingly exercise that discretion in favor of any bank or banks which fail to make use of it at reasonable rates of interest for the benefit of the commerce and business of the country."

Cotton Exports Increase.

"Decidedly encouraging developments in the cotton situation is the resumption of export shipments from Galveston which have been reported to me as follows:

"Sept. 14, 2,258 bales; 16, 3,407 bales: 17,360 bales, 18,980 bales, 19,815 bales. Total, 27,215 bales.

"These are the first shipments from Galveston since the outbreak of the European war. From the port of New York there have been exported between Sept. 1, and Sept. 19, 5,576 bales from Philadelphia there was exported on Sept. 19, 1,456 bales.

"These reports indicate that the foreign demand for cotton is reasserting itself and that it will increase in volume."

GALVESTON COTTON TO JAPAN VIA CANAL.

H. L. Ziegler Announces Sailing of S. N. Penrith Castle on Oct. 3 To Far East.

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 21.—The first cargo of cotton to the Far East through the Panama Canal will leave Galveston on Oct. 3 on the British steamship Penrith Castle.

Announcement of plans for the initial cargo from Galveston to Japan was made by H. L. Ziegler, ocean freight broker, representing large interior Japanese exporters.

The cargo of cotton will consist of 22,000 bales, now being assembled, and it is certain, according to Mr. Ziegler, that the shipment will be ready to go on the date announced—Oct. 3.

Four steamships, Mr. Ziegler announced, have also been booked by him to follow the Penrith Castle to Japan, the loadings to be made during the months of October and December.

The vessel to take the first shipment from Galveston through the canal to the Far East and probably the first cargo from America through the canal to the Far East, is now in port, lying at Pier 36. She belongs to the South Atlantic, Gulf & Orient Steamship Line and is here to Fowler & McVitie, agents. Her tonnage is 2,337 and her master is Captain Horne.

JUDGE SWAYNE IS SHOT AT 6 TIMES IN COURT TODAY.

Fort Worth, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Mary Reo today fired six shots at District Judge Swayne, as he sat on the bench. She was arrested.

Mrs. Reo became angry while contesting her son's suit for removal of his disabilities as a minor.

DIARRHOEA QUICKLY CURED.

SOME GOWN. WEIGHT 15 POUNDS

Word comes to us of "some gown" purchased by Loretta Graham while in New York City last summer and which she wears in Oscar Graham's new production, "The Pedigree Son." It is described as an evening gown of golden yellow charmeuse, with an overdress of chiffon heavily embroidered in pink and blue rosettes in the center of each rosette is a jewel set in a black background—the whole being surrounded with a mass of pink and white pearls, fish scale spangles and steel cut beads. The tulle is one solid mass of tiny white beads interspersed with jewels and has a six inch border of closely set rhinestones. Long strands of rhinestones form a fringe around the bottom of the overdress. The dress weighs almost fifteen pounds, is considered a marvel of the dressmakers' art and altho very elaborate is in perfect accord with harmony and good taste. It is truly "some gown" Opera House Sept. 28.

NEW YORK STREETS ARE DISMAL SCENES.

With Close of Stock Exchange Brokers "Shut Up Shop" and Hundreds of Clerks Are Out of Work.

New York, Sept. 21.—Deserted as they never were before in their histories, Wall and Broad streets today present an unusual appearance—at least to one who has watched the activities there for the last few years. Grass isn't growing on the once two wildly busy thoroughfares but that is about all one can say in favor of them. Dead they are, at least dead if one were to compare them to the once busy scenes on these streets. No messenger boy rushes by; no broker leans from his window to yell buying or selling orders to a subordinate; no speculator rustles madly along brushing passers by this way and that; in fact none of the scenes usual to the streets—famous as the world's centers for trading—are seen nowadays. Far across the sea a million or more men are engaged in deadly combat. Because of this hundreds of clerks and office boys and stenographers here are idle.

Soon after the close of the New York Stock Exchange, due to the war in Europe, brokers here began to "shut up shop". Most of them simply dismissed their employes with further notice and locked up their doors. A few of them dismissed all but one or two employes and still keep their offices open. But these are few.

The hundreds of idle clerks, stenographers, telegraphers and office boys wander along the streets daily. They are all there is left to remind one of the former busy days along these streets. Most of these employes are now at the point where they must either have work or starve. They had small savings accounts but the enforced idleness of several weeks has eaten those slender funds up. The situation that confronts them is a desperate one and one that demands immediate attention, the brokers refuse to take any responsibility whatsoever. "What could we do?" said one, when his attention was called to the jobless hundreds. "We are in the same fix. Our offices cost us in the neighborhood of $100 a day. When we are doing no business that is a terrific expense and one that we cannot stand. We simply have to shut up shop and wait for the war to end. And, too, we have the interest on our seats in the Exchange to pay. I bought my seat while times were good and it costs me $74,000. And the interest on that is a big item."

National arts are strictly tabooed at all "wet goods" emporiums, where men and women alike congregate in New York. The reason for this is very plain. The war across the big pond has aroused everyone—or nearly everyone—to such a point that they take sides and there are several little "wars" or duels, one might say, daily in New York that arises as a result of quarrelling over the big war in Europe.

Partisans on one side or another took to requesting orchestras in cafes to play martial tune of the country they favor. The orchestra leaders very foolishly did this—for awhile. Near riots resulted every time an orchestra started to play the "Marseillaise" or any other war tune. There always happened to be some representative of the other side present and they immediately wanted to start a fight. It wasn't long until the cafe owners saw that all the national airs, except the good old U. S. A. tunes—would have to be barred from their places. There were too many brawls every time a French, German or English air was played.

Horse stealing in New York sounds like a joke, doesn't it? But it isn't. Far from it. In fact the police of Manhattan are very busy these days trying to run down miscreants who have been stealing horses from the main streets down town every night. The few remaining "cabbies" are the victims of these horse thieves, who the police believe, are jokers who have found a new way to have some fun.

The stealing of automobiles for a while was a serious thing. It was only stopped when the severest penalties were imposed on all convicted. This, it is thought, led to some joyous all-nighters, conceiving the idea for stealing cabbies. At least this is the way the police explain it.

Several cabmen who stopped into a saloon for a moment have found their horses missing when they went outside again. Usually these horses have been found later, abandoned some distance away. That is why the police think it the work of practical jokers, rather than a real horse thief.

NEW BUILDING AT FAIR GRUNDS IS PROPOSED.

School Children and Students of Texas Are Interested and Show Disposition to Co-Operate.

Response to the call that the school children and students of Texas come forward to co-operate with the "buy a bale at 10 cents" movement has been so satisfactory as to warrant those behind the call announcing plans for the distribution of the proceeds of the sale of the cotton which will probably be bought. The funds will be turned toward the erection of a big building at the State Fair Grounds for educational purposes, conferences, exhibits, etc.

The plan entails the sending out of hundreds of letters or instruction sheets to high school superintendents and college heads, the letters being in the form of the following suggestion:

"Do you not consider that it would be wise to defer your decision as to what purpose the funds of the later sale should be applied? Fitting, indeed, would it be for the funds so raised to be applied to the same and single object. So much more could be accomplished. For example, should a decision be reached that the sum should be applied to the erection of a great structure at the State Fair Grounds, a monument would go up that would long stand as an example to future generations of the patriotic manner in which the youth of Texas responded to the service of the State, and the building would also be useful in exhibits, conferences, etc." The decision or any other, for that matter could be reached at a conference of superintendents, sent as representatives of the contributing schools."

Having Effect.

The movement for having the school to "join in the "buy a bale" campaign is already having its effect. Dallas University has headed the list, other schools are taking the matter up, and the churches have caught the idea.

The letter that is being sent out to the superintendents along with the instructions sheet offers a number of arguments in favor of the movement and justifying the co-operation sought it is given as follows.

"The Greatest Teacher embodied in His conduct the fundamental law of achievement. He that would save his life must lose it." The most useful school also recognizes this great principle of sacrifice.

"Schools have a right to expect the co-operation of the people. Likewise, the people have a right to expect the co-operation of the school. Texas' need today is in excess of that of any other cotton producing state, for her production of this staple is far greater. The buy a bale of cotton movement is sufficient for immediate relief, as originally conceived, in some of the sections of the South. But in Texas institutions must co-operate with individuals.

"Georgia's buy a bale" plan has been found practical and desirable. It is contagious. The President caught it. Business is catching it. Education is a business. If business is endangered so is education. And the latter should whenever possible, co-operate with and supplement beneficent moves.

Children Contribute.

"Two years ago the children of Texas made a contribution for a silver service for Texas, a ship of war. Will they now, in a time of need, make a loan of silver for the service of Texas, a State of peace? You may with certainty rely upon the patriotism of Texas youth to respond to your leadership. The responsibility is upon you. Let us have your early response so that a systematic and complete record may be kept and reports daily made as to the extent to which the school is responding to the needs of the State. Sincerely yours,

A. G. ADAIR,

"1815 1-2 Main Street, Dallas, Texas" A. Garland Adair, president of the Students' Association of the University of Texas for the session of 1913-14 and at present editor in chief of the Texas Inter-Collegian, has the school children and subsidiary movements of the buildings plan and others in hand and reports that he is highly pleased with the manner in which the matter has been taken hold of by the State's educational men. He will try to have the co-operation of Superintendent J. F. Kimball and the Dallas Board of Education, and hopes to see Dallas contribute materially to the fund. He said last night that there would be other efforts put forward shortly, which will be announced later.

If this agitation of panic is kept up much longer, there will come a condition of "starving to death in the midst of plenty." With more money in the country than ever before—a more elastic currency, with the greatest crops of all kinds still in the producers' hands, for the most part; with a greater demand for these products than ever before; with one half of the civilized world at war with each other their harvests ruined and factories idle; with high seas commerce practically unrestricted and indemnified by the federal government; considering all these things, it does seem unnatural and illogical to any thinking mind that such an artificial and panicky condition could be possible as has at present seized upon the people of this country. Agitation and half baked, shuffling policies only render the conditions worse. If calmly met and philosophically borne, business will resume its wonted level just as surely as water seeks its own.

ACUTE INDIGESTION.

"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion, followed by constipation," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat heartily without any bad effects." Sold by all dealers.

The farmer who says he will plant just as much cotton next year as he wants to plant, regardless of the surplusage and the community interest of his neighbors—is such a farmer the highest type of citizen? Is the fit material for the farmers' co-operative organizations? We wot not! WEAR COTTON GOODS AND HELP MARKET

Washington, Sept. 19.—The new movement which is to supplement the buy-a-bale campaign is a nationwide bargain sale of cotton goods, and an invitation to the American woman to wear more cotton clothing. Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the Speaker of the House of Representatives; Miss Lucy Burleson, daughter of Postmaster General Burleson, and Miss Callie Hoke Smith, daughter of the Senator from Georgia, are preparing to lead in the movement. It has been suggested that gingham may be used in making dresses for ordinary wear, carrying all essentials of prevailing styles, and that once the idea is popularized it would be taken up throughout the country.

"Everybody knows of the buy-a-bale movement, by which it is hoped to avert a crisis to the southern farmer," said Miss Clark tonight. "In connection with this, it occurred to us that the American woman can help tremendously if stores throughout the country will on a fixed day have cotton bargain sales and all to purchase what cotton materials they can use. Women have helped in the war crisis in a number of ways, why not in this one? With ten million women purchasing as much as a dollar's worth of cotton goods, the effect would be felt by the smallest raiser of cotton in the South."

COLORADO, TEXAS, SEPTEMBER 25, 1914.

During all the turmoil in Europe, we have wondered just where and in what capacity, our expatriated Senegambian citizen, Jack Johnson fitted in.

Good palatable bread is now being made from feterita, which surpasses that made from maize or kafir. Those who have tried it pronounce it delicious.

Had cotton been a better price this fall, west Texas would have witnessed such another influx of immigration as poured into this country during 1905 and 1906.

An exchange says it costs $1,000 to convert a man to Christianity, and $25,000 dollars to kill a man in war.

A farmer of the Spur country, without irrigation, raised 101 gallons of the finest syrup from seed ribbon cane on three acres of land.

Dallas' cup of joy and its measure of prosperity are lipping full and running over. The "commodore Duncan" an alleged steamboat has at last arrived at that port laden to the guards with "several bales of cotton and many prominent Dallas citizens."

The doctrine of "peace on earth, good will toward men" is just now receiving a terrific jolt in Europe, where 20,000,000 men are under arms, killing each other, destroying crops and the results of centuries of industry and civilization.

With more feed on hand than they have made in the last eight years, and more cotton than since 1906, as well as many other blessings in proportion the farmers can better afford to buck the lower price of cotton than ever before.

Candidate W. P. Lane is hard to convince of his defeat for congressman at large. The recount of the vote in every county where he claimed majorities, seems to put him in the hole deeper.

"Everybody's doing it now." What? Why buying a bale of distressed cotton to care for the surplus. Have you bought yours yet?

Poor old Franz Joseph and his dual kingdom seem hopelessly lost in the shuffle. They have not been able to give the knockout blow to even little Serbia.

Every lover of liberty and justice will rejoice if one of the results of the present European war shall be the restoration of the national life and boundaries of Poland. To the Poles Poland is a reality in every respect except in name.

Just in proportion as the country is getting over its panicky stampede and allowing the laws of trade and commerce to resume control, in just that proportion and time are trade and industrial conditions becoming normal.

The republicans who try to filibuster against the policies of President Wilson in congress find it sore sledding. His wish to cut the rivers and harbors appropriation bill from $53,000,000 to $16,000,000 to help make up the deficiency in the revenue, is sound business and eminently good sense.

The idea that crops must be marketed as soon as they are gathered is erroneous. Merchants sell their goods when there is a demand for them at profitable prices.

Kaiser Bill is not the only one who has bitten off more than he could masticate. He is now calling on Uncle Sam to help him turn loose the Bear the Lion and the Poodle.

To what risk of human life and danger the moving picture film makers will eventually go to give the public the expected thrills, there is no telling. The latest thrillers are the last word in moving picture enterprise.

The proclamation of President Wilson that the people of this country meet on October 4th to pray for the restoration of peace in Europe, is more catholic in its scope than that peace be brought about by the victory of any nation engaged in the struggle.

The Observer's "Caller." Friday afternoon, after the Observer had been printed, folded, wrapped, addressed and delivered at the postoffice, and the editor had gone home, a "caller" was found on the doorstep of the Observer in the shape of a rattlesnake about a yard long, with eight rattles and a button.

We are puzzled to know if the "caller" wanted to subscribe for the paper insert a half page ad or read the "snake items" in our last issue. Anyway, we are tempted to wear a six-shooter in one pocket and a quart bottle in the other from now till frost.

The Record meteorological expert claims to be somewhat up on signs of good and ill omen and suggests to Bro. Van O'Hrn that his old subscriber, Crotalus Horridus, merely wished to renew his subscription in "rattles and a button" instead of chips and whetstones, as was his legal tender substitute of the same kind on its list.

VULTURES AND HARPIES.

Ever since the crisis in the cotton market has made itself manifest, and while patriotic and high-minded people are doing all in their power to relieve the situation and relax the tension, a crowd of vultures and harpies have been hovering over what they look upon as a helpless people in the cotton raising districts, seeking to destroy and devour them, under a hypocritical plea of philanthropy.

What created the idea of hard times; of close money? Not the war in Europe, but some of the results of the war.

When the war cloud burst financial means, held large blocks of American gilt-edged securities. These they threw upon the market, intent upon realizing gold for them at the earliest possible moment, for gold in time of war is a safeguard not to be despised when thrones are crumbling, when industries are tottering and when men's activities are transferred from peaceful pursuits to the horrors of warfare.

And while food is one necessity, clothing is another. This country has the sole available supply of textile fiber—cotton—requisite for the clothing of the masses of Europe, whether they be in the armies or out of them, they must have American cotton, as well as American wheat.

There is another reason why prosperity is coming to the United States. The European peoples will be sick and saddened and horror-stricken at the idea of war, before the year closes. They will see all about them contending forces, brother cutting the throat of his kinsmen and neighbors engaged in the death grapple.

PROSPERITY IS COMING.

Prosperity! It is surely coming to the United States. The workers of the land, the financiers of the land, the builders of the land, have only to labor, to plan and to work in harmony to secure for the United States in general and for Texas in particular an era of profitable production and permanent prosperity such as the country has never before experienced.

A PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS MAN

John W. Phillip of Dallas is the Republican nominee for governor. He is home from a trip to northern and eastern cities, and is a strong advocate of the buy-a-bale movement and the holding movement. Mr. Phillip is a leading business man. This is his summary of the situation:

With one-third of the crop purchased at 10 cents and held, the mills will soon find themselves able to handle the remainder at a fair price. Through our Boston office we are informed that they are told on very good authority that representatives of Japanese mills are authorized to buy 2,500,000 bales of cotton, with a limit of 9 1-2 cents per pound.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

MATCH COST HIM $6,000

Lighting a cigar cost R. L. Slaughter $6,000 one day last week. He was en route to Mexico in a fine Pierce-Arrow car and stopped just west of Deming, N. M., to repair some tire trouble. Before starting again he struck a match, lit his cigar and tossed the still blazing match into the roadway. Immediately business picked up underneath that car and it was a seething mass of flames, leaving only a heap of twisted steel and aluminum. Had it not been for the timely arrival of other travelers, Mr. Slaughter would have had to walk many miles to the next stopping place.

The merchants in some sections of the cotton growing region are advising their customers not to sell their cotton at prevailing prices, but to have it ginned and put into warehouses. The warehouse receipts will be accepted by the merchants and held until the farmers wish to sell the cotton, giving the latter absolute control of the sale of their cotton.

Every citizen that purchases a bale of cotton during this crisis is a patriot in the true sense of the word.

DEEPEST TEXAS HOLE

The Swensons Bored One Nearly A Mile Deep At Spur.

The deepest hole ever bored in Texas soil is at Spur in Dickens County and extends into the ground for a distance of 4489 feet, nearly one mile.

The hole was bored by S. M. Swenson & Sons in search of a water supply for the city of Spur and as a general exploration of the formations for the vicinity. It required five years and seven months to drill the hole and the experiment cost $50,000.

After encountering practically every formation known to geology, the project was abandoned last November after losing a part of the drill in the hole.

The project has attracted attention all over the nation, and many experts of the United States government have investigated it. The University of Texas has prepared a bulletin dealing with the exploration in detail and it makes an excellent reference book as it contains first-hand information on the stratigraphy of a section covering one-fifth the area of Texas.

WAR TAX $100,000,000.

Freight Shipments And Beer to Bear The Burden.

Washington, D. C. Sept.—An effort is being made by Congress to levy a war tax of $100,000,000 to make up the deficit in imports due to the European war. It is proposed that the freight shipments bear $65,000,000 and beer $35,000,000. The transportation companies are used merely as a collection agency of the fund and are to be compensated for their services. Beer is to bear an additional tax of fifty cents per barrel and the manufacturers of domestic wines also come in for a share of the tax burden.

As an additional relief for war conditions, Senate leaders announce that the Rivers and Harbors appropriation bill will probably be reduced $25,000,000.

EMERGENCY STATUTE TO AID FARMERS.

Austin, Tex., Sept.—When Governor Colquitt signed the emergency warehouse bill, which provides for a system of state owned cotton warehouses he gave to Texas the distinction of being the first and only State in the Union to aid her farmers by legislative enactment during the present European crisis. The legislature was called together in extraordinary session to consider this one measure and the bill was passed by both houses by more than the two-thirds majority necessary in this State to enact an emergency law. The emergency bill became a law when signed by the Governor, but it will probably be substituted by a permanent statute when the Legislature meets in regular session next January.

SUCCESS WITH SUDAN GRASS.

(Geo. H. Hogan.)

Mr. Joe Baldrige of Ennis, Texas, gave me about one ounce of seed of Sudan grass last May, with the request I should give it a trial in my experimental plats.

I sowed these seed on May 20; obtained a fine stand on seed bed about 10 inches wide and 20 feet long. For first 10 days the growth was rather slow, but after it was up about 12 inches I set a gauge with inch marks on it and knew it to grow eight inches in five days. In 40 days and while some of the stalks were in the boot, I cut just one square foot, measured. I weighed this cutting and found the amazing amount of 10 pounds four ounces of green feed. I tied it up, put it on a shed to dry. In four days' hot sun it dried down to three pounds and two ounces of fine hay.

I look upon this phenomenal yield as a world beater. Now I will say I do not believe such yields can be made as a rule each year on common land. In the first place, this plat is as highly enriched as I know how to make it, for these experiments, next place we had ideal grass growing weather. Our May showers that retarded farm operations were the very thing to make this grass grow its best. Again, I cultivated this plat constantly with both hoe and rake, did not let it want for anything, never allowed a crust to form on the surface, and when about 10 days old I top dressed each side with a powerful commercial fertilizer and worked it in with a rake, just to see what could be done on a small scale.

I have also tested it as green feed for stock. The little Jerseys don't leave a sprig when fed on it and my buggy horse that has access to best of pasture goes wild after it.

I am thoroughly convinced now that it is the hay plant par excellence, so much that I shall break up a part of my Bermuda and Texas blue grass this fall and next spring sow a couple of acres at least.

I am now convinced a man can cut it every 40 days of a good season, as the growth from stubble since I cut it first measures 27 inches in 11 days by actual measurement am keeping tab and will report later on.

This Sudan grass was sent to the United States in March, 1909, from Kartum Sudan, under the name of Garawa grass, but has been traced out and classified as a sorghum and named "Andropogon sorghum." The hay is softer than Johnson or common sorghum. The plant is drought resistant and will outclass Johnson grass under any trial. It is strictly an annual and has to be sown every year.

In all reports I have read about it especially from Texas, it has stood a better test than sorghum or Johnson and without the troublesome perennial underground system of roots of the Johnson.

It makes a tremendous amount of seed and they should be cheap enough to come in reach of all next year. Mr. Baldrige told me he paid a dollar and 20 cents per pound for seed he gave me.

The enormous yield I am getting may become misleading to some men, but I am fairly convinced now that it will yield double over millet or sorghum under ordinary circumstances.

I think there is some 14,000 acres planted in Texas this year and if the growers have kept it reasonably free from mixing with sorghum and Johnson grass, the crop next year will be immense, for all who try it this year will try it again next year.

I am subjecting mine to very severe tests and will report later on.

 There is more tailor made clothing sold today than ever before. As evidence of this fact the ready made clothing out put has been curtailed forty or fifty per cent within the last two or three years.
 People are beginning to realize that to get a suit that fits properly it must be made to measure.
 Another cause for this decline in ready made clothes is the merchant has to buy two or three dozen suits made of the same material, cut just alike and look alike. THE GOVERNOR'S BANK BILL
 The Reporter is not prepared at this time to indorse the new state bank bill which was prepared at the suggestion of Governor Colquitt and presented to the Texas Legislature in a special message. We do not, and cannot favor any sort of frenzied financing, still we do not condemn the bill as unworthy of the most serious consideration. It is not reasonable to expect the legislature of Texas, or any other body of men, to pass so important a measure without careful study, and without the people of Texas having had an opportunity to dissect the bill and thus assist in discovering its weak points, as well as the merits of the measure. Legislation of revolutionary tendencies should be studied much, and should be enacted only after the most mature thought and deliberation. Still The Reporter believes there is merit in the great stat of Texas putting itself in a position to render to her people such help as they need in times of emergencies when it can be done on a safe and sound basis. We also believe in the people of Texas having the benefit of every resource that can be commanded and we can see no reason why the vast resources of this state should be used only in emergencies. Why should there not be worked out systems of marketing of our products, rural credits and measures of relief for the farmer to aid him when there is no emergency as well as when the country is hard pressed. Upon the farms of Texas depends the prosperity of the state, and it is high time that we were making farm life so attractive that it will be hard to secure boys for the stores, shops and business houses of the towns and cities, rather than hard to hold them on the farms. The ridicule and jerrings of the so-called financiers of the country at measures that are suggested that will furnish relief to the farmer, are in reality but selfish expressions of men who endeavor to stop everything that will lift the farmer and laborer to a plain where they cannot dictate and dole out a pittance of a living to him, while they ride in their fine cars and dine at the fine cafes. If it is true, and no man can successfully contradict it, that the farmer is the money producer of the world, then he is entitled to first recognition by our county, our state and our government. If the Bank of Texas will add to the chance for Texas farmers to get out of the hands of the speculator and sell his crop on a business basis, we are in favor of the measure.—Abilene Reporter.
