SUDAN GRASS SOLVES A PROBLEM.

The farmers of the cotton states of the South and the dry lands of the Southwest had been, for more than a quarter of a century, looking for a hay plant that could be depended upon every year, whether the season be of flood or drought. They found encouragement in many experiments only to meet disappointment at last in some one essential, until, in 1909, Prof. C. V. Piper, of the office of Forage Crop Investigation of the United States Department of Agriculture secured a small packet of Sudan Grass seed from Khartoum, Africa, which was entrusted for experiment, to the Chillicothe Forage Crop Testing Station, at Chillicothe, Texas, then in charge of Prof. A. B. Conner, now Agronomist of the Texas Experiment Stations. The result of that and the experiments of the five succeeding years was to develop a plant meeting almost ideally the requirements of this extensive area.

Sudan grass has often been called the "first cousin to Johnson Grass," and resembles it so closely that many farmers seeing it growing for the first time take fright from the idea that they have been deceived into planting a perennial pest. It bears a striking resemblance to Johnson grass, but there the similarity stops, except that Sudan grass possesses all the good qualities of Johnson grass and discards its bad.

Sudan grows more erect than Johnson grass and its leaves are thicker. It has fibrous roots only, these decay with the season, and the plant can be propagated from the seed only, sowed annually. On the other hand, besides seed propagation, Johnson grass springs up and spreads by a system of underground stems to become, in spite of its many excellent qualities, a burden to the soil. So, the distinction between the two plants is radical.

Sudan grass has also been called "the mother of sorghums" from the now accepted probability that it is the progenitor of the sorghums. Like the sorghums it is a hot weather and dry country plant, one of the most enduring drought resistors known. It will stand the hottest and driest of weather for weeks, waiting patiently for the rain, and then making a rapid growth when the rain does come and it will yield nearly if not equally, well in a warm climate, under conditions of heavy rainfall. In these characteristics it has proved itself a particularly good hay crop for the Southern states, Texas especially. The farmer who knows how to plant and cultivate sorghum, knows how to plant and cultivate Sudan.

Sudan grass hay is eaten readily and with relish by horses, mules and cattle, and ranks commercially with the best grades of millet, sorghum and Johnson grass, and higher than the ordinary prairie grasses. It has not the rich succulence of alfalfa, the clovers, Spanish peanuts, or cow peas, but it is a splendid hay feed for animals that are fed grain and, cut early it is a laxative, and as such the best hay that can be fed to animals kept on cottonseed meal or Kaffir.

No difficulty whatever attends the preparation of the soil for the sowing of Sudan grass. In the dry districts the ground should be listed in the early spring. Then when the ground has become warm relist it, splitting the furrows. At planting time the furrows should be made shallow. In the districts of good rainfall the process is simpler. It will suffice to plow the ground in the fall or spring and make a good seed bed with disk and harrow.

In seeding Sudan it has been found that, for seed production, from two to four pounds per acre in cultivated rows 36 to 42 inches apart has given good results. On account of the heavy stooling habit of the grass the above amount will be sufficient for hay also, when only the first cutting is used for seed.

For hay production entirely, better results have been obtained by drilling from six to eight pounds per acre in 36-inch rows than by sowing broadcast from 16 to 24 pounds per acre, besides the high cost of seed is another drawback to the latter method. For all purposes the seed should be planted at a depth of from one and one-half to two inches.

Care should be taken to keep Sudan well away from Johnson grass and all other kinds of sorghum crops, as it mixes with all kindred grasses very readily.

Cultivation of Sudan should be often, and should always be shallow, as the roots run too near the surface for deep work. The land should be cultivated to a level, and until the plants so cover the ground that the weeds will not grow.

In making hay of Sudan the crop is handled pretty much as is millet. The process is to cut and allow the leaves to become wilted, but not dry. It is then raked into large windrows, cured in large cocks and then put into stacks or barns. If the crop is desired for feed it should be permitted to stand until the first heads are fully ripe, when it should be cut with a grain header and shocked and stacked as wheat or oats.

Sudan grass has been grown on the dry lands of the Texas Panhandle for six years, and has come to be a prodigious yielder. In the driest years known it has produced a ton per acre for the year, and in good years it has provided four cuttings at one ton per acre per cutting. At Chillicothe, Texas, in a season approximating 30 inches of rainfall well distributed, it produced four cuttings of a ton per acre, while that same season millet yielded one ton of hay per acre and sumac sorghum six and a half tons of cured forage per acre. At Spur, with a rainfall of 15 inches, the yield of Sudan hay was one and a half tons per acre. In 1913, well remembered as the year of extreme drought, the yield was one and a half tons per acre in the Panhandle.

As to harvesting, Prof. Conner says: "The crop should be cut for hay as soon as the grass is fully headed, and early cutting is advisable where two or more cuttings are expected per season. If left for seed it should be cut as soon as the greater portion of the seed is ripe, and caution should be taken to see that it is harvested sufficiently early to overcome loss by shattering, which will be the case if left until over-ripe. The first cutting is the most desirable for the seed crop. The grass may be harvested with a mower or wheat binder. If planted in a cultivated row it can be harvested with a corn harvester. Where seed is desired it is best to harvest in bundles, as the crop can be more easily threshed in this manner."

But like everything that grows, Sudan has its despoilers. In the dry land districts it is harassed by the same enemies that assail the sorghums and Kaffir. Chief of these are the chinch bugs and grasshoppers. In the territory adjacent to the coast the dry line, it was seriously hurt last season by the rust. These detriments, however, are receiving the attention of the proper bureau of this Department, and in due course this ravage will be controlled or curbed.

U. S. TROOPS SENT TO MEXICAN LINE.

Three Batteries of Artillery Go to Brownsville to Protect Border From Shells From Mexico.

Washington, March 29.—The probable shelling of the city of Brownsville by the artillery of Villa or Carranza in the next battle at Matamoros caused the war department today to order three batteries of artillery from San Antonio to Brownsville at Texas City for duty at Brownsville.

These orders were issued after a conference at the war department between officials there and Senator Shepard of Texas. The war department announced that the American guns would not be used except on express orders from Washington. If shells began falling in Brownsville, General Finston must report the fact to Washington and await orders before he fires back.

Notwithstanding the alarming stories of danger to the citizens of Brownsville, Secretary Bryan would not admit that the situation there was to be regarded as very serious. He was rather inclined to ridicule the idea that there was cause for alarm, saying that he had heard that "two shots had been fired from the American side into Mexican territory."

Mrs. C. C. McKnight of Bella Vista (Calif.) won a $5,000 prize in presenting her husband with quadruplets—two boys and two girls. There were already nine children in the family, but the stork thought they could stand four more. The parents being in very humble circumstances, this visitation had been a veritable affliction had not the people all over the country come to their aid with everything needed for the surplus. The legislature of California being in session voted Mrs. McKnight an honorarium of $5,000 for her patriotic services.

NEW OIL KING GIVES $100,000 TO RELATIVES.

To earn $100,000, and to give the same amount away in thirty days—that is the experience of Fritz Fuchs of Taylor, the new "oil king of Texas." Mr. Fuchs has rightly earned the title of "oil king of Texas." Thirty days ago he was a prosperous Williamson county farmer, but he was by no means rich. Today he has just finished giving away the first $100,000 that he has made, and he is still a rich man and is getting richer every day. And all on account of his luck in owning some land in the new oil region of Texas.

The new oil king is a young German farmer. He owned a few acres of land near Taylor. He believed that his land was valuable and when oil was first discovered in that region he knew that his fortune was made. He went to a large financial firm and begged and plead with them to back him in opening up wells on his lands. At first they laughed at him. Now they come to him and beg and plead with him and he is in a position to laugh at them. However, he finally secured backing and work was soon begun on his land with the result that a well was finally opened up and the young Teuton became a rich man. Since the first well was opened several others have been started and the prospects are that several more will be opened in the next week or two.

For the first success on his land the new "oil king" received a bonus of $100,000. But his success did not turn his head. He did not become a frenzied financier and his head was not turned on account of his wealth. He did not forget his relatives, and as soon as he received his first bonus he started out to dispose of it.

The first thing that he did was to look up his sister, who was not in the easiest of circumstances, and to buy her a valuable black land farm. But he did not stop there. He went to the aid of another relative and bought him a home site in south Taylor. This last purchase consisted of thirty-three acres, for which he paid $20,000. And yet he did not stop there. He could not be partial to these two relatives so he gave gifts of homes to all of his other kinsmen that were poor as he had been. As a reason for making these gifts to his relatives he said: "I will receive plenty of money in the future, so why should I not make them all happy now?"

In addition to giving homesteads and financial aid to all of his relatives, he also made a gift of $10,000 to the German Lutheran church of Taylor. Thus, within thirty days after he had received his first money he had succeeded in giving away over $100,000.

So generous Fritz Fuchs is not only the new oil king of Texas but he is champion philanthropist of the State.

LIKELY TO RUN AGAIN.

Dallas, Tex., Mar. 27.—Improved in health and glad to get home for the remainder of the spring and summer, the Hon. Charles A. Culberson, United States Senator from Texas, arrived in Dallas this morning from Washington. He is accompanied by Mrs. Culberson. While Mr. Culberson refused to talk politics, his friends believe he will make the race for the Senate in 1916. Culberson met ex-Governor Colquitt, his prospective opponent, today and gave him a cordial handshake.

BIG LAND DEAL.

J. S. McCall of Fort Worth has sold to W. C. Martin of Bosque County his entire land interests in Mitchell county, consisting of 1,580 acres of improved farm land, for the sum of $49,400, averaging $31.25 an acre.

Chas. Stanley, promoter of the Colorado river irrigation project, near Bronte, has moved his camp from the north to the south side of the river and begun a resurvey of the country around Miles. There are to be 200,000 acres irrigated along the south valley. On the north, the survey of the main canal has just been completed. It describes a crescent around Bronte, and when dug and filled will irrigate 10,000 acres. —San Angelo Standard.

LOAN FUND FOUNDED.

The Sidney Lanier Society, which now has a loan fund of $1,000 available for women, was founded at the University of Texas in 1900. During this time 20 women students have been assisted in securing an education.

Through semi-yearly carnivals, contributions from members, and the bringing of such attractions as Helen Keller, the fund has been gradually increased to its present respectable figure. Each member of the society contributes $1.00 per year, and the profit on various entertainments given also goes into the loan fund. The Society brought Helen Keller and cleared over $200 on her performance.

Loans from $10 up to $100 are made to women students, at five per cent interest for five years and eight per cent thereafter. The loans are evidenced by straight promissory notes, with no security and no legal papers involved, and in case of default there would be no attempt to make collection through legal procedure. It is made merely a matter of honor with the borrower to reimburse the fund, and there have been no losses so far. Among the thirty students who have been aided are two missionaries to China, one prominent physician, and a number of school teachers and matrons.

When I have to do with Texas Motor Oil the first thing I noticed of its superiority was when I had to travel about one hundred miles and tried all the different kinds of lubrication oils and finally settled on T.M.O. It's just what I needed.

There is a kind of car in the world which has used Texas Motor Oil and never had any trouble at all. This car is the one I use as an engine and I have traveled 8000 miles on it. I took the best of the first trip and it is still going strong. I have not had any trouble with it since I started it. It is just what I needed.

NEW VEGETABLE, POMATO.

Mr. George Snively of Maryland has succeeded in grafting the tomato plant on a potato root. The plant is bearing a good crop of tomatoes, and down in the ground the potatoes are promising a fine yield. This interesting bit of Burbanking will bring joy to the roll-top desk farm writers. They will be able to show more millions in farming than ever before. Old fashioned methods will become obsolete when we can plant a crop the south half of which will be potatoes and the north half tomatoes. Both are good crops. Both are simple. They require about the same sort of culture. Most of this duplex crop will be grown in the magical farming region of Backtothelandia, where a fair turnout of potatoes is five hundred bushels to the acre, and tomatoes about the same. Made into catsup, the tomatoes should bring in at least a dollar a bushel; sold to city customers, twice that. The five hundred bushels of potatoes, thoroughly washed and polished up, with perhaps the grower's monogram etched upon them, should not bring a cent less than a dollar a bushel—in Backtothelandia. Here is a net income of fifteen hundred dollars—or, to be conservative, say twelve hundred and fifty—to the acre.

Then see what the intensifier can make in selling grafted plants to the neighbors. All he needs for this is a city lot and a few cold frames. He can establish a specialty—as all Backtothelanders should do. The cost of living will go down. The standard of living will go up. We predict great things for the pomato—as we take the liberty of naming this double crop. A great future—in the magazines, where the slogan of the roll-top gentry is "farm your land on both sides!"

How "TIZ" Eases Sore, Swollen, Burning, Calloused Feet and Corns.

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunyon-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." It grand—its glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

WHY ADVERTISED GOODS COST LESS.

The larger the business, the less the cost of production. It costs less per pound to make 100 pounds of butter a day than to make 10 pounds.

This is true of all manufacturing, and it explains one reason why the manufacturer of an advertised line can put into it a better quality than the maker of an unknown line. Advertising, by rapidly building business, cuts the costs—to the user as well as to the manufacturer.

You are saving money when you choose advertised merchandise.

THE ERROR OF HEATHENISM.

The error of heathenism, lies in this, that it attempts to charge God. Whatsoever thought, therefore, among Christians, looks to change God, is a heathen thought still. If men suppose He needs changing, they are so far yet in the midst of paganism. If they dream that their worship is to act upon Him as a charm, their prayers and praises to propitiate Him, their repentance to render Him pitiful and merciful, they have not yet learned the alphabet of Christianity. These things are valuable as they change men. God needs no change, and cannot change. But a change in a man changes his relations to God, though God himself remain the same. The question, then, is not about changing God at all. It is about changing a man's self. The everlasting light and love, the everlasting pity and help, go forth forever the same, as does the eternal justice and judgment.—Bishop Hugh Miller Thompson.

PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION A SUCCESS.

During the first ten days of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco financial record has been established which already assures this exposition a distinctive place among the successful international celebrations. Following are some of the official figures:

- Gross concession receipts, $350,000.
 - Miscellaneous gross sources of revenue, $50,000.
 - Season ticket sale, $500,000.
 - Total gross receipts, $1,940,000.
 - Exposition's percentage for first ten days (not considering season ticket sale), $225,000.
 - Daily percentage of receipts, $23,500.
 - Average daily operating expenses, $17,500.
 - Net daily profits, $6,000.
- Concessions of the exposition alone took in a gross of $350,000 during the first ten days. The total paid admissions for the same period was approximately $140,000. Other sources of revenue including the sale of tickets for automobile races, totaled $50,000.
- From the concessions the exposition collected as its percentage approximately $70,000 and from other sources of revenue, such as the automobile races, approximately $15,000. The total net revenue which does not take into consideration season ticket coupons, amounted to $225,000 for the ten day period, or $23,500 a day.
- The average daily operating expenses of the exposition are approximately $17,500, which leaves a daily net margin of profit of $6,000 a day. This ten day record far surpasses that of either the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, or the Columbian Exposition at Chicago.
- Quite to the fact that this is the first exhibition to adopt the system of collecting the gross receipts of concessions and returning to the concessionaire his percentage, a comparison of concession receipts at the other two big American expositions for this same period are not available.

It was feared that the prevailing war troubles in European countries and the consequent demoralizing of business prevalent in this country would militate against the great exposition at San Francisco, but from the showing made under the first ten days' operations there is nothing to be apprehended from that source.

Paid admissions for the first ten days at the great Chicago exposition totaled but $127,000, and at St. Louis but $115,000, as compared with the $140,000 taken in for the same period at San Francisco, and as this showing has been made during what is universally conceded to be the dulllest possible period of the big San Francisco show, it seems safe to predict a still better showing for the future.

The tide of travel from the east is just beginning to set in toward the exposition, and each successive week will show an increase, and it looks as if the Panama-Pacific exposition is to take its place as the most successful ever held in this country.

Mr. J. M. Smith died Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock after a lingering illness of some nine months.

Death of Mrs. Robertson.

Rev. G. C. Farris was called out to Valley View, Tuesday to hold the funeral of Mrs. Henry Robertson who died Monday morning at 9 o'clock. She had been sick only about a week. She leaves a husband and two small children, parents and several brothers and sisters to mourn her loss. Mrs. Robertson was Miss Ethel Williams before her marriage, of some two years ago, and has many friends who will be grieved to know of her demise.

Music Recital and Choral Club.

Prof. Thomas Dawes, with his Colorado music class and Miss Whipkey as accompanist for the choral club, came over Friday night and gave a recital, which delighted and highly entertained all who had the pleasure of attending. They were assisted by his class at Loraine. The program opened with Prof. Dawes' instrumental solo, which proved his ability as a performer and charmed his audience. Misses Adams, Hooper, Roe, Henthorne, Root, Van Tuyl and Mesdames Whipkey and Root accompanied by Miss Whipkey, sang a selection beautifully, which was highly enjoyed and encored. Following this were instrumental solos by Misses Altman, Henthorne, Carrie and Velma Howell, which showed their ability as well as the work of their instructor. A quartette by Misses Adams, Hooper, Roe, Coleman, with Miss Van Tuyl as accompanist, was another pleasing feature. Prof. Dawes gave a vocal solo "The Sailor's Grave" which was enjoyable beyond description. Miss Bird Adams also charmed the audience with one of her selections. The closing chorus, "Welcome Spring" which was very appropriate, rendered sweet thoughts and sent the hearers away hoping to have the pleasure of hearing Prof. Dawes, his class and the Colorado choral club again some time soon.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES

A SLUGGISH LIVER.

Crashes into sour Bile, Making You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless pleasant and safe to give to children they like it.

The quickness with which the Russian government abolished the use of vodka is calculated to excite the envy of the prohibition party in this country

What puzzles "Cyclone" Davis, we fancy, is why those European governments should go on borrowing money when they could print a full supply for next to nothing.—Waco Times-Herald.

One of the crew of the submarine F-4, was a Tarrant county boy, Tom Hardesty. His uncle had just received a letter from him saying he would not be surprised at the explosion of the vessel at any time, owing to the seaworthy condition of its machine.

When a newspaper man meets the majority of his old friends sweeping along the streets and highways in Fords and automobiles, he appreciates better the feelings of a bare-foot boy at a party. Never mind; it may be by the time our golden argosy comes in from the island of Hope, flying machines will be as cheap, as safe and fool-broken as autos are today. But cheap or dear—we'll have one when that long looked for day arrives.

The annual financial statement of the North Texas Traction Company shows a loss of $5,833.13 on its 1914 business. This system comprises the street railways of Dallas and Fort Worth and the interurban between the two cities. This showing does not square with the popular conception of the business of this company which has been reputed to be one of the best paying traction systems in the United States.

Nothing has been heard or seen of the $10,000 diamond swallowed by James Williams on January 4th, when he robbed the Lutz show windows, although several subpoenas duces tecum served by Constable Castor Oil have been issued for it. Court officials, "leading Dallas physicians" and Lloyds insurance company are of the opinion that the stone is lodged somewhere in the boy's intestines, and have about persuaded him to submit to an operation for its recovery. Unless the kid is provided with a chicken gizzard a summons by a good old fashioned dose of blue mass and castor oil, like grandmother used to give, will do about all to bring the stone into court that a surgical operation would.

Advertising does pay. We advertised last week for two or three copies of the Record of March 5th. Frank Miller brought in one copy Sunday morning and Mr. W. E. Wimberly of Loraine, brought another to this office Tuesday. We thank them both and extend their subscriptions accordingly. And yet, some people alleged to be in business, will say to the newspaper man, "O, nobody ever reads the ads in your paper." The more it were tried to hide a two line ad in the paper, the more certainly would it be read. Subscribers would read that ad if they had to stand on their heads to do so.

A neutral ship sinks as fast and as far as any other kind.

Surely, the Peerless One must be spiking his grape juice with sassafras root tea. The ordering of two batteries of artillery to Brownsville and the flat talk about returning the Carranistas' fire at Agua Prieta, would seem to indicate a more belligerent stiffening of the back in our secretary of state at Washington.

Down in Bisbee, Ariz., they are telling anew the story of Carlson, the walking Swede, and they swear by the great horn spoon that it is true in its every detail. Carlson was a Swede miner who walked all the way from Butte, Mont., to Bisbee, Ariz., to rustle a job. He was successful in his quest, but when he walked up to the Copper Queen mine to go on his shift he found he had forgot'ten his candlestick. Accosting the foreman of the mine he remarked: "I forgot my candlestick. I bane go back and get him." "Where is your candlestick?" queried the mine boss. Carlson, who was already on his way, looked back over his shoulder and replied: "He bane in Butte." Three months later he walked into Bisbee again with his candlestick and went to work in the mine.—El Paso Times.

Tarrant county citizens tax themselves $20,000 to build a public hospital and $350,000 to build a public jail. The balance of their social economy is decidedly on the side of crime. The sick need help because of no fault of their own, the criminal gets in trouble with his eyes open and of his own volition. Yet he is given a palace while the unfortunate sick must put up with the most meager accommodations.

The Miles Messenger came to us last week in special edition, containing 20 pages of letterpress and illustrations in exploitation of the Concho valley in general and the city of Miles in particular. The paper was a credit to editor Tom Cooper, and the town it represents, and will doubtless prove of great value in turning attention to that section of the state.

It is nothing short of a political shame that the State of Texas has not been redistricted in its congressional representation, and a dirty shame that a few prospective candidates can so brazenly defy the plain letter of the law and subvert the wishes of the people.

We regret that we received the half-tone cut of Mr. W. A. Crowder too late to publish with the notice taken from the Texas & Pacific Magazine. Manager Estes was out of his office when we wrote for the cut and did not forward it until his return. However, Bro. Crowder will soon make another big per cent gain in the business of the local office, and we will use his "likeness" in making mention of that fact. To print his picture dry-so, in cold blood and without any written excuse, might convey the idea that we thought him good looking enough without any reading and possibly put him in the same notion. We'll keep it in readiness for his next blue ribbon mention.

It is possible that Japan may push her demands of China to the detriment of the interests of other nations. The Jap is evidently determined to take all he can while the taking is good.

If the present rate of acquiring automobiles keeps up this summer, more attention will have to be given to the speed, management and parking of machines, else some serious accident will occur. As conditions now are, nothing except speed is considered by the officers, but there are other features just as important. It is nothing uncommon to see Second street more than half closed by cars standing abreast in front of some business house. The driver of a car will stop in the street without any regard for clearance. There is no restriction as to turning corners or passing cars. While there were but few cars in town restrictions as to management were not so necessary, but with the number of cars now owned in town and country, there must be some well understood and rigidly enforced regulations governing their use. Twenty or more cars can be seen at the same time on Second street any pleasant afternoon, each proceeding according to the convenience of its driver.

Stuff that grew in West Texas last summer is now being fed to the calvary horses of Europe. Many of the horses that turned the furrows last spring are now drawing artillery and commissary wagons in France. These transfers put many dollars into the pockets of the farmers of Texas, and the demand for such things has hardly begun. If the war continues through the coming summer America will have to feed and clothe the people of the nations engaged in it. No crops will be made in those countries and even greater drafts than have been made, will be made for men to fight. Aside from this, there is every prospect that two or three other nations will yet be dragged into the conflict, thus further restricting the industrial power of Europe. No state is better able to furnish food, clothing, horses and meat to the warring nations than Texas. Millions of dollars of foreign money have already been distributed among the farmers of Texas and millions more will be.

Many communities of West Texas are reflecting the thrift and prosperity that diversification insures. The peanut, hog and poultry industries have put several towns on the map in a commercial way that had never blacked it before. As markets are afforded for other farm products than cotton, the farmers are responding by supplying the demand. Never before have farmers been so convinced of the unprofitableness of cotton raising to the exclusion of all other products, and are realizing the value of raising their own living. Everything now points to an active demand and high price for all food stuffs the next year. The foreign demand will be greater than since the war began and this will naturally increase the price at home, while the chances are that a large surplus of cotton will be carried over from the present crop tending to depress the price at the opening of the market next fall.

COMMUNITY NEWS THE PROVINCE OF HOME PAPER.

The distinctive field of the home paper is the subject of the leading article in the Texas Journalist of March 15th. "The bulky city newspaper," says the writer, "with its many features and world wide news, can never crowd out the country weekly. In its own field, which is the publication of the weekly community news, the country paper need fear no competition from the outside. Published on the spot and with the flavor of the home community in its news stories, the home paper must stand as something different from the city papers which are sent into the community every day with boiled down telegraphic dispatches under the home date line.

"Primarily the function of the country paper is to give the news of the home folks. Just as the tourist abroad wants to read his home paper so does the man on the farm want to read the news of his own community. It appeals to the interest that every normal human being has in the doings of his neighbor. He may want to know if Germany has driven the Russians out of East Prussia, but he also wants to know whether John Smith, the man on the next farm, has a new silo, or whether Farmer Jones' hogs have the cholera."

A GOOD REMOVER.

Alcohol will remove stains from summer clothes. This is true but it also removes other things. It will remove the summer clothing from the consumer; also the spring, the autumn and the winter clothes, not only from the one who drinks it, but from the wife and family as well. It will also remove the household furniture, the eatables from the pantry, the smiles from the face of his wife, the laugh from the innocent lips of his children and the happiness out of his home. As a remover of things, alcohol has no equal.—Selected.

In a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post was an article on the "Lincoln Highway." This great highway stretches from New York City to the Pacific coast, through the heart of this nation, and is being built by voluntary contributions of patriotic citizens. This article, written by ex-senator Albert Beveridge emphasizes the great economic importance of the highway, in appreciating the value of property adjacent to it and improving the social, church and educational facilities. He estimates that fully 25,000 automobiles will pass over a long stretch of this highway visiting the Panama exposition, and estimating that each automobile will carry four persons, and that the expenditures will average $5.00 for each 100 miles traveled, he calls attention to the business the highway will create in regions where before little money was spent by tourists. Senator Beveridge ranks this highway as an economical investment, very little below the Panama canal itself.

HAS NO DOUBT OF THE OUTCOME.

From the British Headquarters in France, Frederick Palmer for the Associated Press gives the following interview with General French: "There is no doubt of the outcome. I never was so confident of victory as today. I am as confident as Grant was when he took command of the army of the Potomac. He kept at it, so shall we."

Scientists have long been seeking to find the secret of fog annihilation. At a recent meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, a plan was explained which, it is hoped will result in effective means to banish fog with its attendant dangers. Precipitation produced by electricity is the principle depended on to clear up the fog, to make the sea more safe for ships, and our cities free from this insidious danger. The plan is for a ship to send out a small aeroplane connected with the vessel by a wire along which an electric current will be sent which will precipitate the moisture and smoke, which form the fog, for at least one-third of a mile ahead of the vessel. A system of wires will be installed over great cities to ward off fog banks. Even chimneys of great manufacturing plants, it is said, can be wired to precipitate the smoke which is so often a large part of the fog, for smoke is equally susceptible so the scientists declare, to the power of electricity, and can be precipitated. The world will watch with great interest the practical application of this principle now announced.—Scientific American.

U. S. TO FINANCE SISAL CROP.

An American war ship will take to Yucatan money to finance the movement of Mexico's sisal hemp crop, needed to make twine for binding the enormous wheat crop of the farmers of the United States this year. The money, $625,000 in currency, which manufacturers propose to advance to the hemp growers, is in bank vaults at Galveston, but until last week no safe means of getting it into Mexico had been found.

Secretary Daniels agreed to permit the use of a warship for the purpose after hearing a statement by Edward C. Heidrich Jr. of Peoria, Ill., representing the sisal purchasers, who outlined the difficulties that had been encountered.

It is probable a gunboat or destroyer now in southern waters will be sent to Galveston to transport the money.

There is said to be some 250,000 bales of sisal ready for shipment at Progreso, the port, and Merida, the railway center of Yucatan. Since the United States government prevented Carranza from blockading Progreso the chief obstacle in the way of moving this supply has been a scarcity of labor and shipping facilities.

PANAMA CANAL EARNS OVER $2,000,000 IN SIX MONTHS.

During the first six months of operation the Panama Canal earned a total of $2,126,832, the period ending February 15, 1915. In the same period there was transported through the waterway a total of 2,367,244 tons of freight of which slightly more than 41 per cent was cargo handled between ports of the United States, chiefly carried in American bottoms.

Prior to August 15, when the canal was opened to traffic, freight was handled through the waterway on barges and from this source $11,610 was collected which added to the tolls collected from ships, makes the total revenue of the canal to date $2,138,442. More than 500 ocean going craft of all kinds used the canal since it was opened of which 496 were merchant vessels either carrying cargo or in ballast.

Of the traffic through the canal the coastwise shipping furnished 992,711 tons of cargo the remainder of the total tonnage being divided between the other chief trade routes through the canal.

TEN WEEKS IN BED—EMINENT PHYSICIANS FAILED—WONDERFUL RECOVERY.

I wish to inform you of the great benefit I have derived from the use of Swamp-Root. I had been a sufferer for more than twenty years from kidney and liver trouble and was almost constantly treated by the most eminent physicians who could only give me temporary relief. I had been in bed ten weeks when I began the use of Swamp-Root. Inside of twenty-four hours I could see that I had been greatly benefited. I continued to use Swamp-Root until I had used several bottles when I felt that my old trouble was completely cured and I am positive that any person suffering with kidney or liver trouble can be cured by the use of this preparation.

I am now in the best of health, better than I have been for ten years or more. I do not know how to express myself as strongly as I desire, in favor of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, as I am sure that it saved my life and that my good health is due entirely to this great remedy. I heartily recommend it to every sufferer and am confident they can be benefited as I have been. It is a pleasure for me, gentlemen, to hand you this recommendation.

PROSPERITY AT THE DOOR.

The year 1915 will be an epoch-making year for the United States if we move in the light of experienced statesmanship. Four potential influences are at work to develop a permanent export trade for us at a time when we are over-crowding the domestic market. We are compelled to seek outlets abroad for the products of our labor and capital or to entail suffering on both. These four potential, far-reaching influences are as follows:

The opening of the Panama Canal, generously built by the United States for the benefit of the world's commerce, at a cost of $300,000,000.

The establishment of a new banking system which will enable our national banks to establish branches abroad and give us financial independence from Europe in our international banking. This means that the American dollar as well as the English pound sterling will become the basis of international exchange.

The withdrawal or crippling of foreign shipping to the extent of 5,000,000 tons—almost one fourth of the world's tonnage—from the carrying trade as a result of the war. This terrific struggle has driven German and Austrian tonnage off the sea and into the docks. It has compelled France and Great Britain to requisition 2,000 steamers for the transportation of troops and supplies and for other uses of war, and thus crippled foreign commerce.

The enormous extension of our export trade by the demand for armament, food, clothing and other supplies of manufactured material and the increasing demand for raw material which we alone are able to furnish to the warring world.

Thus we are most favored of all nations, if we are wise enough to recognize and make the most of this wonderful opportunity. It is one that seldom comes to any nation.

Prosperity stands knocking at our door. Will the demagogues continue to block the way?—Leslie's Weekly.

HEARING LIBERTY BELL ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

Historic old Liberty Bell, which tried so valiantly to proclaim, far and wide, the joyful news of our declaration of independence, recently tried its voice again, and this time succeeded in making itself heard a thousand times farther. Fitted under the bell was a telephone transmitter connected with the transcontinental telephone line, and when it was tapped with the mallet the ring of the cracked old bell was heard in San Francisco. A record of this historic event was made by a phonograph so that the tones of the veteran of revolutionary times might ring down through the ages.—Scientific American.

MORE ENTRANTS NEEDED.

Instead of five entrants for the prizes offered by the Texas Industrial Congress, Mitchell county should have fifty or more. Two years ago there were quite a number from this county, and the Record heard many complimentary things said of the efforts of many farmers. The farmer or boy himself gets all the benefit from his extra time and labor, besides standing a chance to secure one of the prizes.

There have been some prizes also pulled down by Mitchell county contestants in agricultural rivalry, and more of them can be had for the proper effort. County Demonstrator, W. A. Dulin will be pleased to give all the information necessary to any man or boy who wishes to enter this contest, in any class, or you can write direct to the secretary of the Industrial Congress at Dallas for printed instructions on the subject. With every promise of one of the very best seasons in the history of the county, with its unmatched fertile soil and unrivaled climate, Mitchell county should stand high in the list of counties securing the best prizes offered by the congress. When conditions are favorable no section of the state will produce better results with as little labor and care, as Mitchell county. More than this, can not be said for any county.

The city needs a thorough cleaning up. All the vacant lots should be raked and cleaned of all debris before the weeds begin to grow, and after they do come, they should be kept in subjection. Where vacant lots have no trees it would be a good idea to cultivate them. Put them in some kind of forage grass and if the owners do not care to do this, why not allow someone who will do it have the use of the lots and what he can make on them. The rank weeds along the streets last summer and on vacant lots, detracted from the appearance of adjoining property and were not conducive to sanitary conditions. Let's not let the weeds get the start of us this year, but begin now to keep them in subjection.

NOVEL AND EFFECTIVE.

Charley Taylor, the long distance bill poster, is putting up some very attractive publicity these days, among which the three sheet posters of the Studebaker company show conspicuously. On the board near Will Cooper's blacksmith shop is a novel feature in advertising, being of a religious and moral uplift character. It is a reproduction of the famous painting, Adoration of the Magi, and is a strong argument for the position that the devil should not have a monopoly on attractive, convincing and result producing advertising. If a campaign of advertising is profitable to the interests of the whiskey and tobacco trusts, why should it not be more profitable to a righteous and uplifting cause.

How To Give Quinine To Children.
FIBRILINE is the trade-mark name given to an improved Quinine. It is a Tasteless Syrup, pleasant to take and does not disturb the stomach. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Also especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Does not nauseate nor cause nervousness nor ringing in the head. Try it the next time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for 2-ounce original package. The name FIBRILINE is blown in bottle. 25 cents.

CHARGED WITH EXCEEDING SPEED LIMIT.
Constable Eudy was haled before the City Recorder's court last Thursday morning charged with exceeding the limit fixed by law for the running of automobiles on city streets, fined $5 and costs for his alleged infraction, amounting to about $20. Mr. Eudy maintains this is another instance where virtue gets it in the neck as its reward for the best intentions. He says he was driving the car from the freight depot to the garage merely as a matter of accommodation, and that when the marshal's horse broke loose, the speedometer showed he was going only 11 miles the hour. A lot of paper which had been put on the car for protection during shipment, came loose and trailed behind the car without his knowledge, whereat the horse of the city marshal became frightened and broke from its hitching place. He was tried by a jury and will appeal his case to the county court.

SEWERAGE FOR COLORADO.
A representative of M. Griffin O'Neal & Sons, engineers and constructors of sewer, water and light plants, will be in Colorado this week and make a thorough survey of the town looking to the installation of a sewer system. Three surveys and estimates will be made; one for the business section of the town, one for the entire city and one for the fire and water limit. He will report back to the council the estimated cost, and the council will then take the matter up, looking to the installation of one of the three surveys. This is certainly a splendid move on the part of the city council, and the Record, with a number of citizens, hopes that it will develop into a complete and first class system for our town. It is certainly badly needed as some of our alleys, and back premises are in unsanitary condition. This is a step in the right direction and we can heartily say—Go to it.

False Economy

Perhaps you use an alum baking powder because you think it is cheaper and therefore more economical. But is it?

Leading food experts and medical authorities have for years declared that alum baking powders are not safe to be used. The chief European nations prohibit them altogether.

Can it be truthfully said that an article of food so generally condemned is economical at any price?

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, adds only healthful quantities to the food.

The difference in cost of a pan of biscuits or of a cake made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder as compared with cheap alum or phosphate of lime powders is about one cent, which is surely too small an amount to warrant the risk.
