MASS MEETING IN CITY TO BE HELD

Dr. D. R. Hardison, president of the Mitchell County advisory board, Salvation Army, announced Monday afternoon that arrangements for the mass meeting to be held on the following Thursday night, November 3, just after this issue of the Record had gone to press, were complete. The several churches of the city are co-operating in urging a full attendance at the mass meeting, it is said, and several hundred people are expected.

J. Lee Jones, director of the Colorado Booster Band, has announced that special concert music for the evening would be furnished by the band. This feature of the program alone, some of those interested have pointed out, should be sufficient to induce a good attendance, since this band is recognized as among the best in this part of the state.

This meeting, called by the local advisory board, was arranged for the purpose of placing before the public at least some of the accomplishments of the Salvation Army in carrying out its program of missionary and benevolent work. During the past year cases from Mitchell County have been cared for by the Army. Every citizen of Colorado and Mitchell County who is interested in humanitarian work for fallen humanity is urged to attend this mass meeting.

Joe Y. Fraser, commander of Gran C. Hooper Post, American Legion, authorized the statement Monday that the former service men heartily endorsed any movement having for its purpose the support, either morally or financially, the Salvation Army, as they perhaps would never forget what the Army representatives did for them while in the service. The name of "Father and Mother Burdick" will linger with reverence in the thoughts of thousands of American soldiers who were on the firing line in France.

Dr. Hardison, who will preside at the meeting, stated that the program will start at 7:30 o'clock. The following program will be rendered:

- Call to order—Dr. Hardison.
- Selection—Booster Band.
- Invocation—Rev. C. L. Browning.
- Selection—Booster Band.
- Object of the meeting—Dr. Hardison.
- Selection—Booster Band.
- Round table discussion—short addresses by local speakers.
- Selection—Booster Band.
- Address—Rev. M. C. Bishop.
- Selection—Booster Band.
- Benediction—Dr. P. C. Coleman.

COUNTY WILL MAINTAIN HIGHWAY THROUGH CITY

The city of Colorado has placed under the supervision of Commissioners' Court the Bankhead Highway through the city, which passes over Second street, Mayor A. J. Coe stated Monday morning. This agreement has been concurred in by both the city council and the Commissioners' Court, it was stated.

Already work of repairing the highway in the eastern city limits and the business district has commenced. The street in E. Colorado is being graveled and later is to be graded and rolled, according to information received from County Judge J. C. Hall. In this work in East Colorado, the city is to bear a part of the expense, that of placing the proper drainage conduits. One dip and one culvert will be needed there.

Plans for repairing the highway from the eastern terminus of Second street limits are to employ the use of rate limits are to employ the use of a scarifier in pulverizing the graveled surface, then grade and roll, using water as a binder.

Negotiations between the city and county as effecting a part of this work have been pending some time. Several months ago orders were passed by both Commissioners' Court and the city council providing that each co-operate with the other in causing repairs to be made to the highway over a distance of five or six blocks in the eastern part of the city.

FIFTEEN RURAL SCHOOLS TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

Fifteen rural schools of Mitchell County are to open Monday morning and with these openings, all of the schools of the county will be in session. The schools to open Monday are as follows:

Longfellow, Lone Star, Carr, Payne, Rogers, Dorn, Seven Wells, Looney, Fairview, Valley View, Horns Chapel, McKinzie, North Champion, Landers and Silver.

The Spade, Buford, Sheppard, Lowe, Conoway and Baumann schools opened Monday of this week.

AMERICAN LEGION MEET THURSDAY AT BURNS HALL

"We are going to have an interesting meeting of the American Legion tonight," Joe Y. Fraser, post commander, stated Thursday, just as this issue of the Record was going to press.

Mr. Fraser stated that the local post, appreciating what the Salvation Army did for the boys "over there" would co-operate in the drive here for raising the Mitchell County budget.

PETITION SCHOOL BONDS ENDORSED

A petition requesting that the board of trustees, Colorado Independent School District, order an election to determine whether bonds in the sum of $80,000 with which to purchase a site and construct a new High school building and also to make permanent repairs to the two buildings now in use by the district, is being circulated this week by W. W. Porter, president of the Booster Club.

The petition asks that the bonds be serials, maturing on March 1, 1923, and one each succeeding year thereafter, on March 1, to and including March 1, 1962; that they be of the denomination of $2,000 each, and bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum. Bond brokers have advised that the serials are more attractive on the market than either twenties or fortys, in some instances selling at from two to five points higher. There is no difference in the cost to the public as between the two transcripts.

Porter stated Monday that this petition had been presented to seventy property tax paying voters of the district and that two had declined to endorse it. Twenty names on the petition are sufficient to warrant the school board in ordering the election.

It was not known Monday just when the petition would be presented to the school board, but that the election will be ordered is certain, since the president, H. L. Hutchinson and the members of his board realize conclusively the fact that the demand for additional school facilities here is imperative.

The only complaint registered so far by those endorsing the petition is in the suggestion that the issue is not sufficient. It is contended by some that bonds in the sum of $100,000 should be voted, so that sufficient funds be available to build and equip a thoroughly modern high school building, having departments of domestic science and manual training. Considerable funds are needed for making repairs to the present High School building and the Gammar school building, if they are to be made modern in convenience and other appointments so essential in providing the best for the school children.

A bond election was carried here a few months ago by an overwhelming majority, the issue being for the purpose of building and equipping a new High School building. There were twenty-one votes polled against the issue. Through a technicality, or rather failure of the school board to comply with provisions of an act just passed by the Thirty-seventh Legislature, and of which they had no knowledge, the transcript was lost, as the attorney general refused to approve it.

The crowded condition in some of the class-rooms, especially in some of the primary classes, has been acute during all of this term of school. Some of these classes are so overcrowded that it was found necessary by the school board to divide them into two divisions, one of which attends school in the forenoon and the other in the afternoon. Lack of available class rooms made this action by the board absolutely unavoidable.

Porter is also circulating a petition requesting that the board order another election, this one to determine whether a tax not exceeding one dollar on the one hundred dollars valuation of property shall be authorized. Under the provisions of an act of the last Legislature, the school tax may be increased to one dollar, when authorized by the popular vote of the tax payers of the district. Some of the school districts of Mitchell County have already voted this special tax in addition to vot'ne bonds for new school houses, and in two of them the two propositions were voted without a dissenting vote.

OIL SITUATION IS LOOKING BRIGHT

S. A. Sloan and associates have acquired lease acreage from the Underwriters Producing and Refining Company northwest of Westbrook and will drill their first test on this property at once, Mr. Sloan stated Thursday morning. Location for this well was made Wednesday and tools were being hauled out to the location Thursday. A. T. Spaulding, an Oklahoma operator, has contracted to drill this well.

Mr. Sloan stated Thursday morning that Mitchell County was sure to be extensively developed within the next few months, should plans now being considered by a number of operators already here and those recently taking Mitchell lease property materialize. The fact that some of the strong old line companies are becoming interested in the Mitchell county field prompts Mr. Sloan in that belief.

The well to be drilled by Sloan and associates is located one and a half miles southwest of the T. & P. No. 1, the discovery well, drilled in over a year ago by the Underwriters Company.

S. S. Owen returned from Tulsa Monday night where he had been spending the past three weeks on business in connection with the Underwriter's Producing & Refining Company's interests in Mitchell County. Mr. Owen stated Tuesday that Coleman No. 1, started several months ago on the Coleman ranch seventeen miles northwest of Colorado by the Underwriters, would be completed, and that drilling there would be resumed within the next few weeks.

Just how long it would be before this well will be drilling again Mr. Owen could not state. One condition to be overcome will be the water supply, which is now inadequate.

At Smith No. 1, five miles west of Colorado, G. M. Hoover, driller is almost one thousand feet today and stated Thursday that he had encountered a very strong flow of salt water. This water was drilled into at a little more than nine hundred feet. He did not entertain any undue delay because of the salt water, however, as he was casing it off preparatory to resuming drilling.

The drought is also being felt at this location, Hoover said. The water supply there, which has been taken from Morgan Creek, is getting very low and unless rain should come within the next few days, he will probably be forced to bring water for operations from some other supply.

D. J. Lewis, driller at Conoway No. 1, fourteen miles southwest of the city, reports that he is making very slow progress because of the scarcity of water. The surface tank and wells near the location from which water has heretofore been taken are dry and he has employed the use of truck tanks and is hauling water for his boiler a distance of six miles. Formation in this well continues favorable and the oil sand, drilled into at 2,929 feet, has not yet been penetrated.

An error was made last week in reporting the depth of Foster No. 2 at Itan. The Record said a depth of 700 feet had been reached, when in fact a depth of only 400 feet had been drilled. Horace Cook was in the city Monday from the well and stated that everything continued to look good at Itan. George Adams, contractor at Foster No. 2, was setting casing at 400 feet and expected to be hitting new dirt again in two or three days. Production at Foster No. 1 continued to hold up well, he stated.

MAYOR COE MAY CONVENE COUNCIL IN SPECIAL MEET

Mayor A. J. Coe stated Monday afternoon that he contemplated calling the city council in special session at an early date for the purpose of considering definitely the matter of changing the $120,000 water and sewer bonds of the city into serials. The next regular meeting of the council is not to convene until Monday, November 14.

Mayor Coe and members of the council approached on the matter have expressed the belief that the bonds should be changed into serials. One of the councilmen stated Tuesday that such was his belief and he favored attention to the matter at once, in that the bonds be printed, registered and placed on the market without unnecessary delay.

Continuing he expressed the desire to have everything ready to commence actual construction work on these two projects by spring.

FIRE AT BUREAU YARD DOES SMALL DAMAGE

Fire, discovered in yards of the Mitchell County Farm Bureau, Oak and First streets, Friday afternoon at 12:30 did very little damage and only one bale was partially burned, E. M. Baldwin, secretary of the organization, stated.

It was supposed that the bale was ignited from a cinder coming from the furnace of a gin nearby.

Had the fire not been discovered before gaining headway, considerable damage would no doubt have resulted, since the bale on fire was entirely surrounded by cotton and the wind was blowing a gale.

SUSTAINS FRACTURED ARM FROM CRANKING TRUCK

Earnest Rhodes, an employee of the county in road construction work, sustained a fracture to his right arm Monday as the result of cranking an F. W. D. truck.

purchasing leases. Messrs. Amory and Reese, representatives of the Texas Company, have also spent several days at Colorado and vicinity this week on the same mission.

The Colorado-Tex Company, operators at Itan, are the only concerns identified with development here who have not yet suffered from an inadequate water supply. At all other wells in the county the available water supply has practically become extinct as a result of the continued hot, dry weather.

COTTON RECEIPTS PASS 10000 BALES

For the week ending Thursday at noon a total of 506 bales of cotton were received at the five gins operating in the city, placing the total gin receipts for the season at 10,260 bales. Total receipts for the week by days follow:

Friday, 9,754; Saturday, 9,876; Monday, 9,943; Tuesday, 10,033; Wednesday, 10,156; Thursday, 10,260.

The local cotton market has remained practically unchanged through this week, the staple selling at from 16 cents to 18½ cents per pound. Thursday buyers were offering from 17 to 18½ cents a pound for the staple. Friday of last week, however, a few bales sold here at 20 cents.

There has been no change in the seed market during the week and Thursday at noon were selling at $26 per ton, to which level this market dropped three weeks ago.

Loraine reported 6,570 bales received up to noon Thursday and reports from the other points in the county at which gins are located placed the total receipts at 19,830 bales. These figures are not accurate, since it was impossible to obtain reports from two of the gins Thursday morning. However, the estimate placed on receipts at those two points are thought to be conservative.

The number of farmers reporting their cotton all gathered is increasing from day to day. It was estimated Thursday that the crop was 90 per cent gathered.

THIEF APPROPRIATES TIRES BELONGING TO C. P. GARY

Returning from the city to his farm four miles south of Colorado Friday night, C. P. Gary had his car to be placed out of commission as the result of an accident and the machine was left by the road side for the night. Returning Saturday morning, Mr. Gary found that three tires and one spare rim had been taken from the machine during the night. One of the tires was new, having been put on the car Friday.

The sheriff's department made an investigation into the theft but no arrests had been made Saturday.

Money goes a little farther now, but it is still unable to go quite as far as next pay day.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO OPEN ON ARMISTICE DAY

The annual Red Cross roll call will open on Friday, November 11, just one week from today and the drive is to continue to Thanksgiving. Under the personal direction of J. H.
Greene, president of the Mitchell County chapter, and his corps of assistants, every detail of the arrangement for starting the drive here is practically complete and it is planned to extend the invitation to renew memberships in this great benevolent society to every citizen of Mitchell County.

The merits of the American Red Cross have continually been before the American people especially during the years of the recent world war and the few years that have since followed. During the war there were few sectors "Over There" and few homes "Over Here" wherein need was present but that the uniformed representative of the Red Cross found her way there with a word of cheer and the essentials to relieve suffering humanity, be it sickness, famine or sorrow. And these messengers are still in evidence in hospitals, soup kitchens and other places in famine stricken Europe today, passing on to those people who perhaps have no other friend a service made possible only through the benevolence of a big hearted American people. At home, even here in Colorado and Mitchell County, the policy of the American Red Cross is being followed up in a manner to commend it most deservedly to the hearts of the local people. There are a number of cases on record here at our doors wherein the local chapter has come to the rescue of those in distress and want, sparing neither personal attention nor finances in filling the want of those not so fortunate in life as most of us are. Just now the chapter has in the county a graduate nurse, who is to spend four months visiting the schools of Mitchell County, making examinations of the children and co-operating with the parents in removing physical defects as found. This one service alone should be worth the small individual amount of any citizen in renewing his or her membership for another year. And to those who have never held membership in this great society the service of the Red Cross should stand out as an irresistible invitation to join—join both with your dollar and your heart.

The officers of the Mitchell County chapter are giving their time freely—and gladly—in order that the work of the organization be carried on and even made more universal in its scope of helpfulness to the local citizenry.

Just remember that on Armistice Day, one of the greatest holidays in the history of America and those of her allies in the war, the campaign will open, extending to Thanksgiving, another day that should mean much to the people of this great commonwealth, and that between those dates the call will go out to you to qualify as one of that band of hundreds of thousands of Americans who want a part in the great work the American Red Cross is doing.

Mr. Greene and his assistants will appreciate your consideration of the Red Cross, as will every orphaned child, widowed mother, disabled soldier and indigent person, the world over, to whom the Red Cross messenger of good cheer finds her way.

The memberships are not limited to one dollar. There are special places on the roster for those who would give more and make the price of their annual affiliation five, ten, twenty-five or more dollars. "Have a heart and a dollar" and you will do the rest.

MILLINERY SOFT AND ELABORATE

If the fashion reporter were compelled to point out the outstanding style features in new fall hats she would be apt to say "soft" and "elaborate." Three representative models in the picture include a wide-brimmed hat, with soft crown, of panne velvet, a small hat of duvetyl adorned with flat rosettes of narrow ribbon, and an off-the-face model of duvetyl enbrodered with white beads.

With the daily express comes the

The Philosophy of the Average Man Leads To Failure.

In analyzing the cause of failure I find that they lead right back to the man's thinking. The average man's mind is not trained to think. "As a man thinks so shall he do." Therefore the man's mind should be trained to think and to think right.

I find that the Philosophy of the average man is the philosophy of failure and that is the reason he is a failure. If a man thinks he is going to be a failure he will surely fail; but if he says, "I am not going to fail, I am going to be a success," he will succeed. In order to make a success, he must be educated and his mind must be trained to think.

Before I go farther I want to give you my reasons for saying that the philosophy of the average man is the philosophy of failure. It is because he hasn't trained his mind to see the better and higher things of life. He goes gliding along not rising any, and as an old saying is, "When a man quits going up the ladder to success he will start back down," so you see why the average man is a failure.

The average man very seldom gets through high school, or even gets into high school. He thinks it is not necessary to develop the study habit. He does not realize that study will develop his thinking ability. He does not realize that knowledge is power. He cannot see that the educated man can draw a larger salary than an uneducated person. He does not realize that time is money. In fact he does not place any definite value on time. He does not consider the importance of health and permits cigarettes and whiskey to diminish both his health and strength from day to day.

The average man does not look into the future and see definite goal. He sees himself just getting by. He has not enough forethought about him to see that some day he will be unable to work, and the average man is the one that will have to stand around on the corner and beg. Then if he had an education, he could work with his head long after his strength was gone.

The average man thinks it is of no use to study. Sometimes we hear boys and girls say, "Oh what is the use of studying Latin, Geometry and History? It will never do me any good. I am going to be a cattleman or a farmer." No matter what your future occupation is to be, you should train your mind to think. He does not see that the man who can think has the advantage over him.

He believes that success is a matter of pull rather than push. That is if he can cheat his neighbor out of ten dollars he will do it and think he has done right. He thinks about himself alone. He does not believe that he has a task to perform for the benefit of the world. All that pull will do for a man is to pull his character down eventually.

He does not realize that character is the greatest asset to the business world. That it is the corner stone to all success and there can be no lasting success without it.

This is the philosophy of the average man or part of it, and none of it is original. This he has absorbed from his environments. It is the result of his impressions. The ideas which have forced themselves into his life by daily contact with them. For instance if a boy runs with a bunch of boys that drink whiskey and smoke cigarettes he will eventually take them up and follow them unless he has a very strong character. The average man can not resist the temptation to smoke and drink. It becomes his philosophy because he is daily associated with it.

His only salvation is to grow out of it and grow into the philosophy of success, study character building and absorb it.

Our Heroes.

There are two classes of heroes, the famous and the unknown. Famous heroes are these who have proved their bravery, who on the battle-field at the risk of their own lives saved another from danger. Sometimes the bravest have died that some one more capable of leadership might live. His loss was great as the loss of a brave soldier in any form of life might be and with deep reverence he was buried with military honors. But the everyday heroes are not distinguished so their deeds are scarcely known. They live a simple, Godly life, are kind to the weak and aged. They are aware of their own weakness, but are ever courageous and willing to help someone who has burdens heavy to bear, to heavy to resist the temptations of evil. These heroes have a deep respect and love for mankind; they care not for worthless fame; they are brave and dare to do right because it is right to do right. They have so conquered their desires that the body is as a machine for the mind. The joy of a life of service grips them; their greatest pleasure is knowing their duty is done well.

Closing my eyes I see the resting place of such hero. Only a marble slab marks the place where he sleeps, but has he gone? No he lives today in the hearts of those who knew him. —G. B.

"I Guess—"

TOO OFTEN a guess, 'that the land you buy or sell, has perfect title' means as little as a guess on the weather.

Appearances are often deceitful. What may appear to be a perfectly sound, legitimate business proposition may have hidden away somewhere, the germs of financial disaster.

A carefully prepared Abstract of Title displays the True condition of your land title, whether it be good or bad. The validity of the Title is based on a chain of facts—not guesses.

We spare no expense to put the best quality of material and expert workmanship into the preparation of our Abstracts.

We invite you to our office—Let us explain to you the importance of the carefully prepared abstract.

Batteries will wear out—nobody can stop that, but in a good many cases the embarrassment would be less if the owner knew his battery had "one foot in the grave," and was apt to die any time. When anything like that happens we feel that we have failed in our effort to get your car and tell you the facts—the condition of your battery. One of our most important duties is to tell you—whether you own a Willard Threaded Rubber Battery or not—just how that battery stacks up.

Commercial Law as a Mind Developer.

Mind is the mental or reasoning power of a man. How many of us never grasp the opportunities that are ever about us, to develop this God-given power, the power of reason. A great many minds may be compared to large, and in many instances, beautiful houses, with but half the rooms lived in. The mentality has been in disuse for such a long time that the keys have become rusty, and sometimes the keys have never been found that unlock these unlimited treasures.

There is a master key that will unlock these our mental houses. A key that has been dipped in the sunshine of eternity, and which only one thing will cause to rust. That one thing is our own carelessness. We are the makers and formers of our lives, and that we may make our lives fuller and more worth while to our fellow men, we have been given a multitude of opportunities. In other words, the grasp them, master them, and all mankind will be benefitted.

"It is better to go to the fountain head than to follow rivulets." There are laws of God, laws of Nature, laws of Logic and the like; and these are all encompassed in the Law of the Land. Ignorance of the law excuses no one. Therefore, a study of the law is one of the opportunities which are waiting for us, and which beckons us every day and at all times onward to success.

Commercial Law, the chief function of which is to acquaint the student with the essential elementary principles of law, that he may enforce and enjoy his rights and thereby avoid mistakes resulting from a lack of legal knowledge, is of great importance in the business world.

We must learn to think. Reasoning does not come in leaps and bounds, but step by step. All law has the same object, the safeguarding of liberty and property rights. The earnest study of Commercial Law causes our minds to unfold and develop as naturally as a flower. It broadens our outlook on life, it gives us a greater knowledge of conditions, it brings us into closer touch with our sister countries and teaches us the correct ways and methods of transacting business. How many errors that are now being made in the great business world, might so easily be avoided if there would be a more universal study of Commercial Law. A study of the law is the doorway through which so many of our great men have entered. Men who today may look back upon a long and successful career and others who are just beginning their successful place as Clerk of the District of Mitchell County.

Given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Colorado, Texas, this the 12th day of October A. D. 1921.

W. S. STONEHAM, Clerk of the District of Mitchell County.

ness of growing in all its fine points. The bumps you will get, the discouragements you will encounter, and even the mistakes you will make in being zealous in your doing will be among the best parts of your education.

When I meet a man who shows me he has lost interest in his business, I feel sorry for him. I know that he has ceased to grow. For there is no better place to practice growing than in one's daily work. It is a field of unending possibilities for learning facts, meeting people, attaining new triumphs day after day that prove one's mettle and one's brains. Success and rewards always come to the person who continues to grow, but the greatest reward consists in having found the secret that makes life continuously interesting.—J. Odgen Armour.

ARMISTICE DAY.

Next Friday is Armistice Day. This will be the fourth time this day has been celebrated—a day to the world what the Fourth of July is to every American. There is no doubt that this has become a National holiday as the President declared it as such on October 31. Let us hope that Armistice Day will be observed lest we forget in so short a time what our boys endured in 1917 and 1918. There is a nation-wide request that every American fly his nation's colors and that all service flags be hung in every home that displayed one during the war whether the star it bears be blue, silver, or gold.

The spirit of both the business man and the farmer of the West is ever progressive, and which many of our older sections may well follow with advantage. The Snyder Chamber of Commerce is putting on a campaign for 100 chickens, four cows and three sows on every Scurry county farm, and from which there is expected to be derived a million and a half dollars to Scurry county farmers within the next one or two years. This is safe and sane farming and if a home garden is added, will practically make a living at home for every farmer. Money saved is money made, and every dollar kept at home from these products gives added purchasing value to the cotton dollar, to be expended in the farmer's home market. With approximately 40,000 Texas farms on which there is not a cow, and possibly an equally large number without chickens, hogs or a home garden, all Texas would do well to follow this lead. This year has demonstrated that Texas is better off without all cotton. Let us maintain and make permanent the advantages gained by continued diversification.

Be A Booster.

From the Salome (Ariz.) Sun.
 Be a booster—like a rooster—always crowing loud and long; keep a yelling what you're selling put some pepper in your song. If you're tired go get fired—hunt a job you think will suit you; either like it or else hike it somewhere else before we shoot you. Be a getter—times are better for the man that packs a smile; take your licking or quit kicking—dig right in and make your pile.
 The war is over and there's clover in the pastures all around; it's not waiting or debating, but making hay out of the ground. Watch it grow—always showing lots of blossoms—it's alive. If you're a dead one, go use a lead gun—drones ain't wanted in this hive. Be a doing, quit your stewing; get a move on, grab some kale; don't let your head get feeling dead yet—sweat and smile and you can't fail.

 Misses Opal Jackson and Hattie Coffee spent the week-end in Loraine The spooks, ghosts, witches and spirits of darkness were very much in evidence on Hallowe'en night. Miss Madolyn McCollum entertained the high school pupils. Hallowe'en games and dancing were the features of the evening in the meantime, the intermediate and primary rooms, chaperoned by their teachers, serenaded the town, this was lots of fun for the little folks and it was enjoyed just as much by the older ones at home even though their moans and groans and weird noises were horrifying.
 Rev. Silas Dixon filled the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday, the fifth Sunday, his regular appointment will be on the Second Sunday and W. S. Cooper on the Fourth Sunday.

As To Looks.
 Some folks in looks take so much pride,
 They don't think much on what's inside.
 Well, as for me, I know my face
 Can ne'er be made a thing of grace
 And so I rather think I'll see
 How I can fix th' inside of me,
 So folks'll say, "He looks like sin,
 But ain't he beautiful within."

Publicity is the only thing a newspaper has for sale. We pay the preacher to give publicity to the Gospel; we pay teachers to give publicity to knowledge; we pay commercial secretaries to give publicity to towns; and merchants pay newspapers to give publicity to their goods. Every line in a newspaper is an expense, whether it be a paid ad or a news item. No charge is made for news items, but sometimes the expense of gathering them and putting them in print is more than can be met with the funds received from the sale of publicity to business men. The home paper should be the pride of the town as it is the agency that shows to the world what the town is—whether it is progressive or non-progressive. Every citizen should be anxious that the paper show up well. All can help greatly by giving in news and save the paper the expense of a reporter; and all who have things to sell can help themselves and the paper by using the paper as a means of publicity—Rising Star X-Ray.

In other words, what you mean to say is that the success of a newspaper depends on co-operation, something that every public enterprise must have if it is to be sure of accomplishing the most. Newspapers are printed primarily to give the news, and in this day of progressiveness, the advertisements offices contain as much news as any department of the paper, sometimes more. Some newspapers go further than that and interpret the news for their readers, drawing conclusions as to such and such a thing, why it is true and why it is not and so on. Some newspapers prefer to color their news thereby making it highly sensational and one

GRUBBS RESIGNS JOB TO TAKE CHARGE OWN AFFAIRS

Walter A. Grubbs, who for the past two seasons has been office manager for O. Lambeth, resigns his position to devote his entire time and attention to his own interests. Mr. Grubbs is owner of the Grubbs Garment Factory, a progressive Colorado manufacturing enterprise, he is a member of the firm of Grubbs & Rice, who are extensive coal dealers. He also conducts a brokerage business with offices in the First State Bank building, and has recently added to this business a Fire Insurance department and represents some of the strongest Old Line insurance companies in America and abroad. Mr. Grubbs is an enterprising young business man and is deserving of the consideration and patronage of the people of Colorado.

the taste of the public has been created for this kind of news, the paper must follow the road it has laid out for itself or else suspend. We are convinced that the news should be printed, the facts given and that is as far as a newspaper should go in its news columns. The editorial page is the place for the expression of opinion of the newspaper and not the news columns. When a newspaper uses its news columns to advance its idea of the way and wherefore of anything, it is not following the best ethical standard for the press. Undoubtedly the newspaper has publicity for sale if it has anything and the most progressive merchants have found that it pays to advertise, this being particularly true in the home paper.

A PLEA FOR DAD.
 From the Wisconsin Apprentice:
 He may wear a last year's straw hat; his finger nails may need manicuring; his vest may hang a little loose and his pants may bag at the knees; his face may show signs of a second day's growth and the tin dinner bucket he carries may be full of dents and doughnuts; but don't call him "the old man" He's your father.
 For years and years he has been rusting around to get things together. Never once has he failed to do the right thing by you. He thinks his son the greatest boy on earth, bar none, even though the son plasters his hair back, wears smart clothes, smokes cigarettes and fails to bring home a cent. He is the man who won the love and life partnership of the greatest woman on earth—your mother.
 He is "some man" not "the old man." If you win as good a wife as he did you will have to go some.

Suggestive Reading.
 You will hear it said that such and such a magazine prints suggestive stories, meaning that they present corrupting ideas in an attractive dress. But there is a suggestiveness also of quite a different sort—the suggestiveness that quickens the reader's sense of duty, stimulates ambition, gives courage to face adversity, fortifies against yielding easily to temptation. It is this better kind of suggestiveness that you will find on almost every page of The Youth's Companion. Which of these two kinds of suggestiveness would you wish to have exert an influence in your family life?

IN MEMORIAM

MISS JO DRY

"She is not dead, the dear one of our affection, but gone unto that abode where she no longer needs our poor protection and Christ Himself doth rule."

Day after day we will think what she is doing in those bright realms of air year after year, her tender steps pursuing; behold her grown more fair

Thus do we walk with her and keep unbroken the bond which nature gives, thinking that our remembrance the unspoken, may reach her where she lives.

On the evening of October 18th, 1921, in Fort Worth, after the sun had said good night, the last roseate hue had faded into the gray of the early night at nine the spirit of our precious Jo, accompanied by Heaven's invisible messengers (who wanted another to praise God in Heaven) had winged its way to its Eternal home—"The gray of the night had met the early dawn of her everlasting tomorrow." In the early seventies this dear one first saw the light in Swifton, Arkansas, entrusted to Michel Alfred and Arnie Eliza Dry, ideal God fearing Christian parents, no one has ever felt heir to a more blessed heritage. While an infant she came with her parents and sister, Ella, to Sipe Spring, Texas, besides these clear rippling waters her tiny feet took their first toddling steps. Her baby hands gathered their first wild flowers, shaded by the stately ever green oaks, from which acorn caps, rich nectar from nature's fountain was dispersed. Here at mother's knee was first lisped her "Now I lay me down to sleep." Never has there been a happier childhood for one whose young life gave out more sunshine, endowed with a humorous, optimistic nature, always bubbling over, this made her a universal favorite of young and old, which characteristic was hers to the end. Not a few times was a chastisement turned into merriment by her every ready response.

After finishing high school, she attended College in Spring Town, Texas, Waco, and Daniel Baker, Brownwood, Texas. She was Valedictorian of her class, taking the A. B. degree, also prize for general excellency. She was exceptionally gifted, beyond the average as a piano and vocal pupil, read well and preferred writing beautiful verse to prose. The summer after her graduation she, with her mother and cousin, was driving to the country, when the horses ran under an oak, throwing her out, this though slightly apparent at the time, caused an injury which began slowly undermining a perfect physique. A few months later she moved with her parents to Colorado, Texas, here she first noticed her fingers failing to reach an octave, oft times suffering inexpressible pain, still playing though impaired. Then the wrists and ankles drooped. When no longer able to play the piano, she would play her harp and Edison, music being essential to her life. Often in the middle of the night, while suffering, she would sing herself to sleep. During the last illness it would soothe her more than an opiate. In the intervening years while watching this slow physical decline, giving up one by one of these rich endowments, much time was spent in quest of restoration. To all she would meet she was cheerful and inspiring. Those discouraged were often sent by their physician to her, who at the time, not able to take a step, frequently remarked: "I'll have as good hands and feet as anybody when I get to Heaven."

She had been a member of the Methodist church twenty-six years. From early childhood had been active in Sunday school and church work. The Young Married Ladies' class, in which she took great pride, she taught until two years ago when she was a victim of the "Flu," from which she never fully recovered. Many Sundays with her Methodist hymnal at home, on her sick bed, she would have the whole service, her pets and God in His Heaven as an audience. Always active in club work, giving her own poems at open session and special days, delighted in writing toasts and papers for others. She was an enthusiastic member of Robert E. Lee Chapter, U. D. C., for eight years had been the Treasurer. A few years ago she was one of eight Texas girls who through friends and the Star-Telegram, received a complimentary trip to Mardi Gras.

Witness my hand and official seal, at Colorado, Texas, this 25th day of October, 1921.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas—To the Sheriff or any Constable of Mitchell County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Mary E. Murphy by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 32nd Judicial District, but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 32nd Judicial District to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Mitchell County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Colorado, Texas, on the 13th Monday in November, A. D. 1921, the same being the 21st day of November, A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 10th day of October, A. D. 1921 in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 2977, wherein W. A. Murphy is Plaintiff and Mary E. Murphy is Defendant and said petition alleging that plaintiff is and has been for a period of twelve months prior to exhibiting this petition and filing this suit, an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in said county of Mitchell for at least six months next preceding the filing of this suit; and that defendant's residence is unknown; that on or about the 2nd day of May, 1921, plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant, then a single woman by the name of Mary E. Harrison; that they continued to live together as husband and wife until about August 1, 1921, when by reason of the heretofore allegations, it was impossible for plaintiff and defendant to longer live together as such man and wife, at which time plaintiff separated himself from said defendant, since which time they have lived separate and apart. That shortly after the marriage of plaintiff and defendant, and within about two weeks thereafter, the defendant without stating where she was going, was gone about fifteen days when she returned. Upon being asked by the plaintiff if she had been the said plaintiff it was none of his business and that there were other men she liked equally as well as she did him; that plaintiff talked with her in an effort to get her to act as a wife should, but that thereafter and about August 1, 1921, she told him that she did not live with any one man long at a time, that she would travel and admitted to him that her moral character was bad and that she did not intend to change her way of living. That plaintiff has several small children, boys and girls, and when defendant made these admissions and acted in the above manner plaintiff saw that it was impossible for them to further live together as man and wife and he therefore separated himself from her, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife. That on such separation plaintiff left him and went away with another man. That such actions and conduct on the part of defendant renders their further living together as husband and wife insupportable. Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited by publication to appear and answer herein, and for judgment dissolving said marriage relations, and for such other and further relief, general and special, legal and equitable, to which he may show himself entitled. Herein fail not, but have before said Court at its aforesaid next term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Witness, W. S. Stoneham, Clerk of the District Court of Mitchell County. Given under my hand and the seal of said Court at office in Colorado, Texas this 19th day of October, A. D. 1921.

fancy work, some excelled her in hands. Beautiful painting, original culinary dainties, in business accurate and punctual and a tender and private school.

She was impressed that the end of her earthly struggle was near, advised Sister not to cling so to her frail clay. When the physicians advised the change she said she would not return—was ready but sorry not having done more for the Master—dreamed she was in Heaven, told of dear faces there, so soon a reality—into which she slipped as serenely as the snow showers drifting and like one who wraps his everlasting halo of love around her placid form and lies down to peaceful slumber. Precious clay, clad in a Mother of Pearl taffeta, a strain of pearls (Ella's last Easter gift to her) with pink and white carnations clasped in her hands. Thus she lay on her last earthly resting place—a white brocaded velvet couch, mid cascaded feathery fern, and the embankments of many rare flowers, in the church she loved. Brother C. L. Browning and R. A. Clements preached this last sermon, using her Bible, with its marked passages, Psalm 163, etc., which was as she would have desired.

The voices in the Choir were those with whom she would have delighted mingling hers. Who knows but they were joined by her, and that Choir Invisible? "Towering up toward the heights of endless peace and immortal gladness." Then on October 20, 1921, at 5:30 p. m. mid the autumn leaves we laid this precious one, we could no longer "tie up." The mound with that of our Sainted Mother and Father, were strewn with beautiful flowers. No more will we ramble the river's banks together, no more will she read aloud to us of evenings during a quiet hour; no more will she cut paper dolls for the little ones; no more will her ear catch the first sound of Ella's footfall; no more will she greet with sunny smile the passers by, nor will her merry laugh ring out on the evening air. "But we'll meet up there in God's Garden, sister and I." (Quoting her words) "What, though clouds have overshadowed our way? And all youth's hopes have sadly gone astray; We must remember the world was dark when for us, in the Tomb He lay. Yet all clouds were dispelled when the gray of that sad day met the morning's dawn, giving us a bright, glad and glorious Easter Morn."

McCLARTY PAINFULLY BURNED WHEN GASOLINE EXPLODES

J. C. McClarty, plumber, sustained painful burns to his face, body and lower limbs Friday morning, when a container of gasoline exploded, throwing the burning liquid over him. McClarty was at the offices of Dr. B. F. Dalaney and learning that an employee at the offices was having poor success in the attempt to start a fire in the heater, picked up a gallon container he happened to notice on the floor near by and before others in the room could stop him, had begun to pour the contents into the stove, filled with smoldering coal embers. Mr. McClarty is said to have defective hearing and failed to understand the warning not to pour the gasoline, which he thought to be kerosene, into the stove.

An explosion immediately followed and the bottom of the can was blown out, permitting the ignited gasoline to be hurled into the man's face, over his clothing and onto some chairs and the carpet in the room. For a time the building was threatened, but the flames were extinguished before material damage was done.

Dr. Dalaney was not in the city, being on a hunting trip in Brewster County.

A call for the fire department was misinterpreted at the station and a run was made to the Dalaney residence, just south of the city limits. The fire was under control by the time the fire truck could be returned.

Out Buford Way.

And school started right from the jump go as Judge Hall says, "with a bang," and its still going "in the high." What I am trying to tell you folks is that we are going to have the best school in the county. Because last Monday morning the trustees and about twenty-five patrons and interested folks pledged themselves to stand by the best bunch of teachers in West Texas, and that's why we are going to make these other rural schools "set up" and taken notice. Bro. Leach, Judge Hall, Miss Cavett told us many things to think about that were truly worth while. Mr. Bodine was providentially hindered from being there. He is the other trustee but every one knows James will make a wheel-horse when it comes to anything that helps build up the community.

Several new faces at Sunday school Sunday morning and to hear Bro. Leach preach and bring us the message that we all were eagerly looking for. That he would accept the call of the church and be with us another year.

Bro. Walton, the Methodist pastor, will now have Second Sunday and Bro. Leach will take the Fourth, so we look forward to a great year.

The sing-song was at the home of J. Bose Prentice Sunday night.

Everybody still busy finishing up the 1921 harvest.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

DON'T WORRY.

(By Mrs. Lilly May Baker, Colorado)

I didn't know why I was lonesome, but I was lonesome just the same, I guess I tried to bear all my troubles, my sorrows and my pains; It seemed to me in those days that life held nothing dear, I know that's why I was lonesome and why I shed many a tear.

II
I'll try to make the best of it, and cheer each day as I go, And look to the best side of everything and fight each dashing foe Of course it's hard to wander round in this big world alone, And see others enjoying life, when you have no sweet home.

III
I am going to make a resolution and try to fill it out, And think I am happy any way in spite of every doubt; What's the use to worry? What's the use to fret? I have worried all my life and I've gained nothing yet.

IV
Now don't worry all your life just be happy and gay, It will only bring you wrinkles and turn your hair to gray, Just take things easy as they come and cheer each one you see, And just take this for good advice, and always happy you'll be.

Grit.

(By AUSTIN JONES.)

Grit is a most valuable possession. It's hanging on with a determination that needs no hands. It's holding down your job at any cost, in the very face of difficulties. Grit enables any one to overcome obstacles and score a success. To say you have grit is to say you are already a success. It means that you are a stickler and not a quitter, and that you get up every time you fall and go at it again with a greater determination to win. It takes grit to hang on until it thunders, but that's what you'll do if you have plenty of it. The man of grit never whines, grumbles or thinks his task is hard. He not only believes, but knows he can do anything that anybody else can do.

Do your best. Throw life, energy enthusiasm and zeal in your efforts. Concentrate your mind, heart and soul on your work. You can do anything that can be done by any one else if you will go at it with a determination that needs no bounds. The business world is full of people who fail because they half way do things. Half hearted effort means failure. Most failures come from people who go at their work in half hearted manner. Success comes from hitting hard and shooting straight. Are you going to do this? It is up to you to decide.

Come in and let us show you our line of cedar chests and make you prices, if you are in the market you will certainly make a purchase.—H. L. Hutchinson & Company.

"LIVE AT HOME DAY" TO BE OBSERVED AT COLORADO

"Texas Live at Home Day," designated for Saturday, November 19, will be observed at Colorado, according to G. B. Slaton of the Colorado National Bank, county chairman, representing the United Campaign for Better Agriculture, with headquarters in Dallas.

Mr. Slaton stated Saturday that a program seeking to interest each individual farmer, banker, merchant and business man of Mitchell County would be rendered at the court house here at 1 o'clock in the afternoon on the date designated, for the purpose of discussing the agricultural problems confronting the county and pledging support of a sane diversified agricultural program for 1922, and against an increase in the present cotton acreage.

The Mitchell County Farm Bureau and the County Farm Agent have pledged their co-operation in the program, in co-operation with every citizen of the county. John T. Orr, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, has endorsed the plan and will recommend to all county bureaus that they work in co-operation with these county programs, it was stated Saturday.

This movement is a very important one, W. A. Dulin, County Farm Agent, stated Saturday, and he stressed the importance of the bankers of Mitchell County taking an active part in plans for observing the "Texas Live at Home Day" here.

Leraine and other towns and communities of the county will be asked to co-operate in the event, he said.

Union Happenings.

This being the first day of the month, the second day of the week and the eleventh month of the year; all this brings about gladness mingled with sorrow and weeping. Some parts of the country have been blessed with fairly good crops and prices. For all this we ought to be ready to give thanks backed up by our good work in using at least a part of our surplus for the relief of those of the unfortunate, ever remembering that this is a big world and the Great Ruler has to have his toll or stop the grinding and surely we are not ready for a stop judging from the way our people stayed away from Sunday school last Sunday. Can any community in this county boast of having half of its people interested in Christianity sufficient to cause them to attend church and Sunday school? If so speak out. I have a visit in store.

Our people are about done gathering. Some are getting ready to move. There are several changes made in our community.

In my last write-up I promised to give some reasoning on the proposition as being a farm industry. This I will defer until the first of next year when all things should become new, rough places made smooth and crooked paths made straight, for it matters but little about many things but there is one thing very important for us all to remember. That is we must all some day face our own record.

IN MEMORIAM.

It comes to me over and over again that I must pay this tribute to the memory of my friend, Mrs. Mary Mann, whom I have known for more than thirty years.

Mrs. Mann came here in an early day when there was nothing but cattle and ranches. She was a cowman's wife, a true Westerner, adapting herself to all the hardships and inconveniences that make up life in a frontier country. It was a time that put one to the test, one had to be strong and courageous kind to every one especially to the cow boys, who in turn were always kind and generous, almost to a fault. Mrs. Mann was this kind of a woman, a true neighbor and such a good friend to the poor. None ever went empty handed from her door, besides this she hunted up those in distress and ministered to them in a good substantial way, by sending groceries, fuel, clothing and everything needed for she was a woman of means and a devoted Christian and the two were a fine combination. She went not in her own name but in the name of Him who said: "In as much as you have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." She was far from wanting to make a show of anything she did for suffering humanity, her big heart just run over with love for those who needed her.

Mrs. Mann was true to her church and the Presbyterian church built in East Colorado was her pride and joy and as long as her health permitted she was a faithful attendant. Though they were few in numbers she organized a Sunday school and was superintendent for twelve years and kept the prayer meeting going. She has gone from us after many years of suffering, but we old timers, who knew her best can never forget her. How can we forget a woman who has done more for Colorado than any woman who has ever lived here? It was she who got prohibition for the town in 1902. She asked a friend to go with her to see Judge Homan, saying she was going to do her best to put the saloons out and she did it. At that time it was very unpopular too, to be a prohibitionist. On the day of the election with a few of her friends she served cake and coffee at the voting place and pinned a bow of white ribbon on every man who was for prohibition. For years she belonged to the Christian Temperance Union and she never failed to wear the white ribbon bow; it was kept pinned on every dress and coat.

Is Miss Willard any greater than our friend and neighbor? I do not think so. She has done what she could, a good wife and mother devoted to the interest of her home. Her last request was granted; that a white bow of ribbon be placed on her coffin when she died.

A FRIEND.

SWEETWATER BLAZE CLOSES HIGH SCHOOL

Sweetwater, Oct. 29.—The High School building in this city was badly damaged by a fire last evening. It is thought the blaze originated in the laboratory and was confined for quite a while to the east room in the upper story, but finally left nothing but the walls standing down to the auditorium and ground floor, where the library and this part of the building were saved. The estimated loss is $35,000 with insurance for $32,500.

This building was one of the best high schools in this section of the state and is the greatest loss by fire that ever occurred in the city. The School Board held a meeting early Saturday morning and decided to make temporary arrangements for the school work.

Reconstruction of the building will begin at once, but will require several months to get it in shape for occupation. All schools here were crowded and, with the loss of this building, it is feared this year's work will be greatly affected. Had it not been for the hard fight made by the fire department, the entire building with its contents, would have been destroyed.

WHAT WE SAY AND WRITE.

By LELIA SPRAGUE LEARNED.

A Theater program says: "There will be an interval of ten minutes between each act." I wish someone would explain how an interval, pause, understanding or anything else can exist between "one" thing, or person. Hence, "there will be an interval of ten minutes between the first and second act, and an interval of five minutes between the last two acts."

To request school children to leave a blank line between every answer is as absurd as to say: "The old man divided his money between his son."

The most illiterate person knows that there must be at least two sons to share in any division or understanding. In fact, the very word "between" suggests "two," and is never properly used except in connection with "two."

"Between every" and "between each" should be put on the topmost shelf, with "ain't."

Haven't you heard many times such grammatical irregularities as: "I don't like those kind of girls" and "these sort of collars worry me." "That kind of girl," and "this sort of collar" are more in order.—Ladies Home Journal.

THE TOAST OF 1845.

"Five Captains."

There were five captains to meet; one Russian, one Turk, one Frenchman, one American and one Englishman.

One proposed a champagne supper, each to give a toast to his native country, and the one that gave the best toast was to receive his share free.

The Russian: "Here's to the Stars and Bars of Russia, that have never been pulled down."

The Turk: "Here's to the moons of Turkey, whose feathers have never been plucked."

The Frenchman: "Here's to the cock of France, whose wings have never been clipped."

The American: "Here's to the Stars and Stripes of the United States of America, who never fail to defeat."

The Englishman: "Here's to the rampant roaring Lion of Great Britain that tore down the Stars and Bars of Russia, plucked the feathers of the cock of France and ran like hell from the Stars and Stripes of the United States of America." The Englishman got the free supper.

SPIRIT OF HALLOWE'EN PREVAILS AT COLORADO

It was early in the evening Monday that the celebrants of Hallowe'en began to assemble at several designated places in the city to associate with the spooks, incidental to the anniversary of the time when the spirits are supposed to return to earth.

Among the social set a dance at the Skating rink was one of the functions for the evening, and also the Epworth League entertained with a masked social at the basement of the Methodist church.

The youngsters—and others, too—bent upon more active celebration of the event, formed in companies about the city and carried out the usual stunts of moving gates, tearing down signs and hanging them up again at some other place, and doing the hundred and one other things so much to be expected on Hallowe'en night.

Hallowe'en, or the eve of all saint's day, is celebrated on the last day in October by most of the countries of the world. The Celts and Teutons are the principle countries that celebrate it as we do or as a time of sport and merriment. Most of the other countries celebrate it as strictly a religious festival. In Southern Europe especially are the festivals of a religious nature.

In the celebration of Hallowe'en perhaps no country is more serious during this festival than Italy. Why should she not be serious? Does not it pertain to the dead and is not death serious? The Italians believe that the dead come to earth and mingle with the living and no one knows but what the person standing by him is a spirit. On Hallowe'en the people put on mourning attire and go to an all-night service at the church, but before they go, the hearth is swept, the chairs put to their proper place, and a bouquet is set on the table for the dead when they return. If, when the occupants of the house come home, the food has not been eaten, evil is in store for the house. The whole of all Saint's Day is spent in religious services. As the people pass on the streets, bells are rung to remind them to pay, and all day long the "Miserere" is heard. The skeletons are dressed up, the funeral vault is visited, and the inscriptions read and reread on the tombs. The graves are decorated with flowers, because the ancients crowned the dead with short-lived blossoms to signify the brevity of life.

In Spain some of the same customs are present as in Italy. At dark on Hallowe'en cakes and nuts are taken to the graves of relatives and placed there to bribe the spirits not to disturb the vigils of the Saints.

Germany celebrates the first and second of November as Hallowe'en and they also visit the graves and tombs of the dead. The graves are decorated with flowers and lights, and this is done in order to obtain the good will of the departed spirits. The ghosts are driven away from the church by striking a key or wand against the pier. All soul's divination in Germany is for a girl to go out on the street and ask the first young man she meets his name. Her husband's name will be the same. To obtain a wish one must go alone to a church, walk around it three times, and make a wish. This wish will be fulfilled.

The Belgium children build a shrine, with a figure of the Madonna in front of their homes, at which they worship. People in Belgium spend what money they have, and beg money of other people to buy cakes with. As many cakes as are eaten, that many souls will be saved from purgatory.

Leaving Europe and going to Asia we must not overlook China. They fear the spirits of the dead and the dragons of the air. One good spirit is Feng-Shinn, who flies just over the housetops and blesses the people in every house. If he has to turn out of the way for an extra tall building the owner of that building misses his blessing. On this occasion, as in most other ones, ancestral worship is the principle feature in China.

In Japan shrines are built and masques are held for the ghosts. To see one of the ghosts or spirits, one must take one hundred rush lights and place them in a large lantern memorize one hundred lines of poetry and after repeating each line, extinguish one light. A spirit will appear and you may confer with it concerning your future life. When these spirits wish to return to their abiding place, the Japanese send lighted straw boats down the river and the spirits are supposed to return in these.

The Arabs believe that the spirits return to earth, but they call their spirits Djirms. These Djirms, or geni, come from the fire and look like men or beasts, some are good, some evil, some horrible, and some beautiful. These spirits appear and disappear at will, and the true Arab stays under cover on the night when they are abroad.

"Ha! They are on us close without shut tight the shelter where we live; With hideous din the monsters run; Dragon and vampire, fill the sky."—Hugo's, "The Djirms."

What Are You Worth?

To say that a man is worth his weight in gold is not really an extravagant statement when the facts are closely analyzed.

There are thousands of men whose capitalized earning power is greater than the earning power of gold coin of the same weight as their bodies.

The analogy has been worked out by the editor of The Target, as follows:

"Take a man who weighs 150 pounds," says this editor, "what would he be worth? He would be worth as much gold as it takes to balance him on a butcher's scale. That would be 182.2 pounds—not 150 pounds. This is because gold is weighed by troy weight—5760 grams to the pound and a man is weighed by avoirdupois weight in which 7000 grams are required to make a pound.

"Gold today is worth $20.87 a troy ounce—$248.02 a troy pound. So a man who weighed 182.2 pounds troy or 150 pounds avoirdupois would be worth $45,192.85, an amount that at 5 per cent—a fair rate of interest—would yield about $2260 a year, less than $44 a week is high—millions are getting much less and therefore are not literally worth their weight in gold.

"But among these millions are thousands who are not getting a proper return on the capital with which Nature endowed them. Instead of making their brains and bodies pay a return of 5, 6 or 10 per cent.

"Every man can aspire to be worth his weight in gold with a fair chance of realizing his ambition."—Selected.

Whah is Yuh Been?

The following little story illustrates very nicely the extremely human tendencies under which the majority of us labor—

Rastus was very small and very black, and Rastus liked to ride. One day, in some miraculous manner he found himself owner of a fifty-cent piece. In the neighborhood was a merry-go-round which Rastus had often watched longingly, so just as soon as he had secured the fifty-cent piece he proceeded there immediately. His mother watched him ride until his money was all gone. When he returned she remarked as follows—

"Honey, yuh sho' is had a good time, ain't yuh? Yuh is been ridin' all mawnin', yuh is spent yo' fo' bits, but— WHAH IS YUH BEEN?"

Figuratively speaking, we are all spending a lot of money and time riding "merry-go-rounds," and each day when we try to find out how far we have gone we find that we have landed perhaps six feet farther back than we started. LET'S QUIT IT! Let's start a bank account and after a while, if we keep faithfully at it,

WE CAN OWN A MERRY-GO-ROUND OF OUR OWN!

When it comes to a question of the best place to begin, the place will be easily found. We are right in the heart of the business district.

Fine attendance at the Sunday school last Sunday morning. Let's make it better next Sunday. Seventy-five per cent of penitentiary inmates never attended church or Sunday school. RELATIVE MITCHELL COUNTY MAN KILLED AT ORANGE
D. T. Bozeman of Cuthbert was in Colorado Saturday and reported the death of Gena Bozeman, age 14, who died at Orange Monday night as the result of injuries received that morning when a heavy truck passed over her body. Arthur Grubbs of Orange was driving the truck and the girl was riding on the fender when she fell and the big vehicle passed over her before it could be stopped. She never regained consciousness.

The little girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Bozeman of Orange, he being a brother of D. T. Bozeman. The child would have been 14 years old on Armistice Day and Mr. Bozeman stated that she was looking forward with much pleasure to her birthday, which fell upon one of the Nation's greatest holidays.
S. J. Bozeman was here in July and spent an extended visit with D.

T. Bozeman and family at their home at Cuthbert.

SURFACE RANGE TANKS WATER SUPPLY IS LOW

Stock water in surface tanks is becoming low and unless rain comes within the next few weeks many of these sources of water supply to cattlemen will become dry. John Brown, manager of the Reynolds ranch, thirty miles northwest of Colorado, stated while in the city Saturday.

Mr. Brown reported that in one of his large tanks the water had become so low that the fish were dying. Another of these tanks, he stated, would be dry in another few weeks, in case rain sufficient to put out water did not fall. He has plenty stock water in the river.

Other cattlemen of this section report similar conditions. Many of them are already relying upon windmills to supply water for their cattle. Brown stated that he was here for repair parts for some of his mills and planned to take water from wells that had not been pumped since the drouth of a few years ago.

"In spite of the fact that conditions are becoming very dry, Mr. Brown stated, "cattle are in excellent condition and are going into the winter in prime shape. The grass on the range, however, is showing the effects of the drouth and is now very dry and in a condition that will cause it to lose rapidly its nutriment. In case we do not receive rain soon, range cattle will very probably suffer before spring."

While the continued dry, hot weather during the summer and early fall months have resulted in extra work and probable loss to the livestock interests, it has on the other hand, been a boon to the farmers. There has never been a gathering season, perhaps, in the history of Mitchell County, more favorable to the harvesting of the cotton and other crops.
