REAL ARTIST IN SUPPORT OF STAR IN BIG PICTURE HERE

There's no dearth of talent in the east chosen to support Wallace Reid in his new Paramount picture, "The Ghost Breaker," which will be the feature at the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday.

Lila Lee, the leading woman, plays Marchesa Maria Theresa, a Spanish girl and owner of an ancient castle in which the ghost episodes of the new picture transpire. Miss Lee is proving highly capable and popular in Spanish roles, this being the third successive part of that type she has portrayed. The other two were with Mr. Reid in "The Dictator," and as the wife of Gallardo, played by Rodolph Valentino, the star in "Blood and Sand."

Walter Hiers, who is featured employs burnt cork for the first time in his screen career. He has an ideal comedy role as Rusty Snow, the negro valet of Warren Jarvis, the hero. A great deal of fun will be derived from the ghost scenes in the old Spanish castle when Jarvis and Rusty encounter the armored spirits and Rusty almost turns white with fright, he having a particular aversion to ghosts.

Arthur Carewe has the role of the Duke D'Alva, the suave Spanish neighbor of the Marchesas, who, it is revealed in the story, is at the bottom of the ghost scare, to further his plans to marry the Marchesa.

J. F. McDonald portrays Sam Marcum, a Kentuckian who attacks Jarvis as the result of a feud of long standing. Jarvis returns to New York and decides to go to Spain with the Marchesa, whom he accidentally meets in his hotel, and help her rid the castle of its ghosts.

Frances Raymond is Aunt Mary Jarvis, the kindly old aunt of young Jarvis. Several other interesting but minor roles have been entrusted to players of reputation and ability. The picture is an adaptation by Jack Cunningham of the successful play by Paul Dickey and Charles W. Goddard. Alfred Green directed.

Douglas McMurry is home from Nashville, Tenn.

C. OF C. BOARD OUTLINES PLANS FOR ENSUING YEAR

Discussion of program for the ensuing year and the election of officers and committee directors constituted a busy session of the newly elected directorate of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening. Every official and member of the board were present and in a number of addresses delivered the key note sounded was in appreciation of the ever increasing moral and financial support given the organization by the business and professional interests of the city and the renewal of the determination to conduct affairs of the organization upon such a high plane as to warrant continued confidence and support by the general public.

After calling the meeting to order, Dr. Coleman, who was recently re-elected president for the sixteenth consecutive year, spoke of his sincere appreciation for the honor, Dr. Coleman was in Fort Worth attending a meeting of the State Medical Society at the time the recent annual business meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held.

H. L. Hutchinson was elected vice president and J. H. Greene was again named as treasurer of the chamber. Six departmental executive committees were elected as follows:

Finance and membership, T. W. Stoneroad and A. B. Blanks; publicity and statistics, L. B. Elliott and J. Riordan; agriculture and livestock, R. P. Price and H. L. Hutchinson; oil and gas, Joe H. Smoot and R. O. Pearson; roads and streets, G. B. Slaton and O. Lambeth; band and entertainment, J. H. Greene and J. C. Pritchett.

The importance of holding regular executive sessions was discussed at length and it was determined that the board should meet once each month, on the first Thursday evening of the month, at a place to be named by a committee composed of J. H. Greene, J. Riordan and L. B. Elliott. These meetings of the executives are to be in addition to such other sessions as may be called by the president.

A copy of printed rules and regulations governing the band contest at San Angelo during the recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention was exhibited and attention directed to conditions which, it is alleged, were violated by the contest committee. When it was shown that one condition of the rules specified that "No entrance fees shall be charged" and that the Colorado band was forced to pay a fee of $67.50 before being allowed to enter the contest, it was recommended that Colorado members of the executive board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce present this fact before the meeting to be held in Sweetwater Saturday.

Plans for entertaining visitors to Colorado June 26th, the date on which bids for construction of the new court house, street paving and Lone Wolf Creek bridge are to be opened, were discussed. A committee composed of J. H. Greene and T. W. Stoneroad was named to co-operate with the Lions Club in arranging program for day. The chamber went on record as favoring nothing less than a good and easily accessible crossing on Lone Wolf Creek during the time the bridge is under construction.

The directorate again voiced approval of liberal support to the band for the ensuing year and unanimously directed that salary of the director, M. S. Goldman, be increased. Those constituting personnel of the band were praised for the unselfish service rendered the city in working hard to make of the band one of the best in this section. One of the executive committees named for the ensuing year was directed to render every co-operation possible to the director, manager and entire personnel. This is the band and entertainment committee composed of J. H. Greene and J. C. Pritchett.

The present directorate is composed of thirteen members, an increase of four over last year, as follows:

Dr. P. C. Coleman, president; H. L. Hutchinson, vice president; J. H. Greene, treasurer; R. O. Pearson, R. P. Price, Joe H. Smoot, G. B. Slaton, T. W. Stoneroad, A. B. Blanks, J. C. Pritchett, L. B. Elliott, O. Lambeth, J. Riordan, Messrs. Blanks, Pritchett, Lambeth and Riordan are new members on the board. The others were re-elected from last year.

The chamber has gone on record as being open to conviction on every question affecting the interests of Colorado and Mitchell County. Suggestions as to action upon any matter are invited and will receive full consideration of the organization, an official stated Saturday, who further supported the fact that the Chamber of Commerce can only continue to succeed to the point where the organization merits and receives active co-operation from the public. During the ensuing year, the chamber will continue to lend its support to work of the county agent and home demonstration agent.

A VICTORY FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The Crude Rubber Monopoly weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today reflects the determination of the American motorist that tire prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber.

Firestone CUTS TIRE PRICES

EFFECTIVE JUNE 11

We announce a 10% reduction in tires and tubes effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages make this possible.

Firestone factories are equipped on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stockholder workmen are daily building many thousands of Gum-Dipped Cords—the best tire Firestone ever produced and, we believe, the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the ten money positions in the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, May 30th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standards in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Our owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchases 124% in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive brands with Firestone. We now have 100 distributing points which are delivering Firestone tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

PRITCHETT GROCERY

FOUR CARDINAL PRINCIPLES DISCUSSED BY HARDISON

A part of the baccalaureate sermon delivered to the graduating class of the Colorado High school at the Methodist church Sunday evening, June 10th, by D. R. Hardison, pastor of the First Christian Church. Judges 8:21—"For as a man is, so is his strength."

My text is the language of the Midian King who had for many years subdued the land of promise and who had held under his tyrannical power the sons of God. He had sufficient experience to utter the great thought expressed in this text. He knew men.

I wish to express in this address the sentiment of this city to our guests whom we honor this evening. As you are before us as the product of our High school, you are also dear to our hearts as our children. Your interests and future destiny deeply concern us. There are none present who desire to see you fail along any line of endeavor, but all of us hope and pray that in whatever line of work you may select every blessing may bountifully flow into our deserving lives. I wish to congratulate you because you have successfully accomplished all that could be done to complete the course given you in our High school. Many of your associates who started with you in the years gone by have for various reasons dropped out of the race for this goal, yet you have by perseverance, hard study, sacrifice and application come to the end crowned with success. That is why as your speaker I wish to say a good word of praise to all those who have contributed to your success. Therefore to your parents, teachers, trustees, friends and to your own strength of will, allow me to express in the strongest emphasis possible, May God bless everyone who have helped you in any way to attain a place in the graduating class. It is expected that I shall give you some food for thought—something worthy to carry with you as you are about to break associations with your Alma Mater and many friends of your boyhood and girlhood days. As the body needs food to stimulate it in the struggles of life, so the mind also needs food that it too may overcome difficulties with which life is so encumbered.

REV. D. R. HARDISON

Therefore, I now call attention to the expression of the Midian King—"For as a man is, so is his strength" In the analysis of this expression and the application to the lives of successful men, we find there are four great principles that form basis of this wise thought. They are Vision, Preparation, Will Power and Faith.

In addition to the major text quoted a moment ago, I wish to give another for the division of my subject: Prov. 29:18—"Where there is no vision my people perish." Our Pilgrim Fathers after the first severe winter when one half of the people had died, caught the vision that others would come to this land of liberty and freedom. That vision extended to larger things. They saw with prophetic power the coming of the oppressed of the Old World and had satisfaction of seeing a part of that prophecy fulfilled. For along the Atlantic sea-board colonies and villages sprung into existence, forests fell, the prairies were converted into farms, rivers into commercial arteries and the mighty tide of civilization poured through the defiles of the Alleghany mountains into the great basin of the Mississippi and then on to the Golden Gate of the "Sun Down Sea." The Babylonian King had no vision beyond the gratification of his own desires. Incompetency therefore, caused the mighty city to lose her world power and the walls fell, her glory departed and her people perished. Napoleon saw with rapture the rise of his "star of destiny" after the great battles of Wagram, Austerlitz, Marengo and Hohlinden, but the vision faded after the retreat from Russia, the battles of Leipzig and Waterloo. Washington prayed for his country at time when the clouds hung low over the horizon of our hopes and aims, but through it all he caught a new vision after Champlain, the cow pens and Yorktown. Without a vision my people perish.

Another principle enters into my text—Preparation. Mr. Bryan in a recent article said that success was a conjunction of opportunity and preparation. What good will it do you if opportunities come and you are unprepared to meet them? Do not worry over the long years of preparation. It is the building of the foundation for the years to come. After the death of Alexander the Great, the world was divided between his four great commanders. They were only men of war and were wholly unprepared to meet this great responsibility. These kingdoms and empires fell because of a lack of preparation. Opportunity will be of no service to you unless you prepare to meet it.

The text involves also the thought of the man as he wills to do. Paul says "This one thing I do." There was purpose or will power behind his great work. When Gideon was called and convinced by the angel that God wanted him to do the work of a leader in Palestine, he went forth at once from the threshing pit to call with his war bugle the people who had long been oppressed by the King of Midian. Nothing stopped him. Will power. Determined to do. The great invading army was driven away leaving one hundred and twenty thousand dead and at last holding captive the kings themselves.

Faith. Heb. 11:1—"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for." It has been the strength of faith, has bridged the mighty chasms, tunneled the mountains, erected majestic buildings, sent the steel locomotives across the deserts, sped the winged ships through the air, cobwebbed the world with wire for the communications of men, gathered the sound waves from the air and coined them into words and is the link that binds us to God.

JONES SUCCEEDS COLEMAN CHAIRMAN TECH COMMITTEE

Clifford B. Jones of Spur, former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, succeeds Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado as chairman of the Technological College committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. This and a number of other standing committees for the year were named by President A. B. Spencer at Fort Worth Saturday. Up until the present Dr. Coleman has acted as chairman of every committee organization seeking to locate a college in West Texas since the first mass meeting demanding such a school was held in Sweetwater in 1916. Spencer retained Dr. Coleman as a member of the committee for this year. Spencer named W. S. Cooper of Colorado as a member of the Irrigation committee.

In addition to the above subscriptions, which were all paid in cash, an additional fund was raised by the citizens of that section.

HONOR THE FLAG

The anniversary of the birthday of the Flag of the United States, June 14th, 1777, the date on which it was adopted by Congress as the National emblem, has been set apart as a fitting occasion for the American people formally to pay to the National Colors the honor and respect which is their due, and thus manifest their love and affection for their Country. The commemoration of Flag Day by patriotic exercises was first observed in 1890, upon the recommendation of the Connecticut Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. The propriety of this custom was at once recognized by the several patriotic societies and the public generally. The celebration of Flag Day has since developed widespread popularity. Among the objects of Flag Day are the crystallization of sentiment against the desecration of Flag, and the promotion of public opinion in favor of the customary observances of respect due the national emblem. Many civic and patriotic societies have co-operated to these ends and all citizens should give every such effort loyal support. The colors of the flag may be thus explained: The red is for valor, zeal and fervency; the white, for hope, purity, cleanliness of life and rectitude of conduct; the blue the color of heaven, for reverence to God, loyalty, sincerity, justice and truth.

The star (an ancient symbol of India, Persia and Egypt) symbolizes dominion and sovereignty, as well as lofty aspiration. The constellation of the stars within the union, one star for each State, is emblematic of our Federal Constitution which reserves to the States their individual sovereignty except as to rights delegated by them to the Federal Government. The symbolism of the Flag was thus interpreted by Washington: "We take the stars from Heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing Liberty."

The American Flag is unique in the deep and noble significance of its message to the entire world, a message of national independence, of individual liberty, of idealism, of patriotism. It incarnates for all mankind the spirit of Liberty and the glorious ideal of human Freedom; not the freedom of unrestraint or the liberty of license, but an unique ideal of equal opportunity for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness safeguarded by the stern and lofty principles of duty, of righteousness and of justice and attainable by obedience to self-imposed laws. Masonic jurisdictions throughout the country are taking official cognizance of Flag Day. The Grand Master of Masons of New York State in his encyclical in 1921 said: "I invite and request our Lodges to salute the National Colors and fittingly to celebrate the occasion." We take from the Baptist Messenger the following: Rev. Holmes Nichols preached the baccalaureate sermon for the graduates of the El Reno High school on the evening of May the 14th, this being the third sermon of the kind at El Reno during a pastorate of six years. He preached the commencement sermon at Calumet on the morning of the 7th making the second sermon at Calumet during his pastorate, and he declined a like service at Erick on account of the meeting of the S. B. C. There were eighty-two graduates at El Reno, pastor Nichols' daughter being among the number. This busy pastor, who preached the baccalaureate sermon at our Baptist University last May, and the annual Convention sermon at Altus, is booked for an address on Decoration Day at Union City, May the 30th, and for a like service for the Elks on Flag Day in El Reno on June the 17th. Bro. Nichols preached at the Euclid Avenue Baptist church during the session of the S. B. C. in Kansas City. Bro. Barlow, formerly pastor in El Reno is the pastor.

Bro. Nichols was pastor here for a number of years and is well remembered here by lots and lots of friends. The Record force received a nice friendly letter from him this week which says in part: "All well, expecting some of the Whipkey tribe during the summer. Rain and floods north, south, east and west, and we are in the middle of it all. We sympathize with you Coloradans on account of recent destructive, death-dealing storm. I often think of my Colorado friends and long to see them."

Unable to meet those who so abundantly and wonderfully aided and comforted us during our affliction, distress and suffering caused by the recent storm we take this method of offering our heart felt thanks to every one. If you helped us in any way please take this as a personal message. You have been both friend and neighbor to us. Your beautiful service has lessened our pains and sorrows and made bearable the loss of our innocent little baby boy whom the fury of the storm took from us. Neighbor and friend, known and unknown to us, with all our hearts, we thank you. May such distress never come to you. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Anderson. Rev. S. H. Young and family of Hedley are spending the week in Colorado as guests of R. E. and H. E. Grantland and families. Mrs. Young is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Grantland. Miss Daisy O'Neal of the Buford community is visiting with friends. Miss O'Neal was formerly employed at the Colorado Bargain House as saleslady having resigned about a week ago. Mr. and Mrs. O. Lambeth and children and Mrs. McCleary of Colorado were Sunday afternoon visitors in the G. A. Hutchins home. Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Templeton returned Saturday night from Dublin, where they visited Mr. Templeton's parents, Mrs. Lina McGee who accompanied them stopped off at Abilene for a week's visit with her grand children, J. C. and Edna Mae Davis. Messrs Marrs, M. H. Huling and family of Landers were in Monday trading. Miss Elizabeth Kennedy who is visiting her sister at Italy, writes home she is sick with measles. Marvin Smith of Fairview was a business visitor Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Richey who were operated on for appendicitis last week at Colorado, were able to return home Friday. They are getting along nicely at this writing. Mrs. Creed Coffee returned from Abilene Wednesday. Her husband met her here from Big Spring and after a visit with her sister, Mrs. G. A. Hutchins, they left for their home Saturday. Mrs. M. E. Smith, Mrs. S. C. Harris, and Mrs. John Johnson visited Mrs. Hall Hooker at the J. C. Hooker home in Colorado Monday. Mrs. Hooker who underwent an operation last week is reported doing nicely. N. R. Rogers of Colorado a visitor in the H. W. Hanks home Monday afternoon.

DODGE REPORT IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LITIGATION FILED

Judge, Sitting as Master, Approves and Confirms Position of J. V. Dittmore.

Boston, Mass.—After over four years of litigation in the Christian Science Church, ex-Federal Judge Dodge of Boston, sitting as Master under appointment of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, has filed his final report on the evidence. The plaintiff, John V. Dittmore, the senior Director of the Church, whose service antedates the decease of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, and who his associates sought to remove from office, seems to have been completely justified in his contentions that undesirable and unwholesome conditions have existed in the administration of the church government. Judge Dodge finds from the evidence, which includes testimony by the majority Directors themselves, that Mr. Dittmore's dismissal was for the purpose of doing away with opposition to the wishes of the majority and also because Mr. Dittmore had sought to establish a standard of propriety and conduct higher than desired by his associates. It is also found that a principal reason for the hostility to Mr. Dittmore was because of his rebuke to his associates on numerous occasions when offensive language was used and offensive jests made at meetings of the governing body of the church. Judge Dodge holds that Mr. Dittmore is still legally a Director and that the effort to remove him and appoint a successor more sympathetic with the policy of the board is legally null and void. In regard to the illegality of Mr. Dittmore's dismissal, Judge Dodge says that no Director could fairly be supposed to have accepted his position upon the understanding that he was subject to instant, arbitrary dismissal whenever a majority of his associates might find it expedient. The Master finds that the vote attempting to dismiss Mr. Dittmore "was only the formal adoption of a conclusion previously agreed on outside the meeting" and that it was for his associates, then accusing him and at the same time proposing to also act as his judges, to afford him "such opportunity to be heard in his own defense upon the charges made as would satisfy the requirements of natural justice." He also finds that the complaints against Mr. Dittmore were not founded upon first hand knowledge and "were inadequate ground for any but a purely arbitrary dismissal." The Judge also finds that there was never any question as to Mr. Dittmore's sincerity in maintaining his position and that nothing said or done by him in maintaining his position could have constituted adequate ground for dismissing him, "unless the majority's power to dismiss could lawfully have been used by it for the sole purpose of stifling any opposition in the Board to their wishes. The Master declares that Dittmore Dickey, Neal, Merritt and Rathvon were animated by personal hostility toward Mr. Dittmore and that they had long planned among themselves to get rid of him. One of the occasions, when bad feeling was engendered was when Dittmore refused to join Dickey, Neal, and Merritt in attending a play in New York which Dittmore considered objectionable and which had as the leading player a person of notorious reputation. On this occasion Director Merritt testified that he urged Dittmore to accompany them and said: "Come on with us. You are not so much better than the rest of us."

Judge Dodge also finds from the evidence that "There were occasions in 1917, 1918 and 1919 upon which meetings of the Directors, the plaintiff (Dittmore) expressed disapproval of utterances by Dickey of a kind tolerable only when men only, and men disposed to be scrupulous in such matters, are the hearers—thereby expressing resentment on Dickey's part, and sometimes on the part of Merritt and Rathvon." The testimony regarding eight or nine such instances was taken by Judge Dodge in private. In regard to all of these occurrences Judge Dodge finds from the testimony of Mr. Dittmore and others, including the cross-examination of the defendant Directors Dickey, Neal, Merritt and Rathvon themselves, that Mr. Dittmore's account of them was substantially true and that his "repeated insistence upon a standard of propriety in language or conduct stricter than that accepted by his associates materially augmented their hostility and dislike." Judge Dodge concludes that Dittmore's co-Directors were "incapable, on March 17, 1919, of impartial judicial consideration of accusations against him, especially of accusations framed by themselves, had they ever undertaken any such consideration." At the present time Christian Scientists throughout the world are deeply interested in the facts brought out by the Dodge report which Mr. Dittmore and others are distributing in large quantities among the membership. The progressive element in the Church seems to be gaining much strength. It urges a more consistent and practical interpretation of the teachings of Mrs. Eddy by those in authority and a more liberal administration of the church government. Next to a change in the official personnel in Boston, under a definite rule of rotation in office, the greatest need of the Church seems to be for the encouragement of greater local church self-government and democracy according to the spirit as well as the letter of the Church Manual, and a minimizing rather than an encouragement of the greater centralization of authority in the self-perpetuating Board of Directors and their appointees in Boston. A. J. HERRINGTON

ARCHAEOLOGIST CONTINUES INTEREST IN "KING TUT"

That Byron C. Utecht, Fort Worth archaeologist, continues to be very much interested in the stone image at Colorado, which he has christened "King Tut," is evidenced in a communication received by the Chamber of Commerce from Mr. Utecht Tuesday. "It is apparent that the majority of the readers of our daily papers are interested in stories of murder, social scandals, and the like," he wrote, "but I am more interested in the possibilities of finding something of real historic value out there in Mitchell County than anything else just now."

Utecht is a member of the editorial staff, Fort Worth Star-Telegram and during his last visit to Colorado a few months ago was shown the stone image, found some forty years ago several feet underground by a negro and white man while digging a well on Morgan Creek west of the city. After seeing the image and hearing the story connected with it, the journalist could not direct his attention to oil wells, new court houses, paved streets or other diverting and interesting news subjects concerning Colorado and Mitchell County. The stone image and the mystery surrounding it commanded his every thought.

In the letter received Tuesday Utecht stated he had taken the matter up with the Smithsonian Institute at Washington and also a like institution in New York City, giving to each a full description of the image and its history, with the recommendation that a complete research survey be made on the ground. Utecht is of the belief the stone was left here centuries ago by a pre-historic race, in crossing the Western Hemisphere to Asia or Africa.

"I would not be surprised if my deduction as to how the image came to that section turned out to be correct," he writes. "No Indians, pioneers, cliff dwellers or Spaniards used such statues. It is just possible it was stolen by roving Indians and dropped there years ago, but I do not know where they would have stolen it from, as the white people in these early days did not go in for statuary."

"You ought to take the image to the next meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, mount it upon a truck and have your brass band play in front of it. I cannot get away from the belief there is something of unusual interest to American history behind this image and one way to create an interest in the find is to carry it before the public. In the meantime you should try to ascertain from the old negro, 'Turkey Smith,' the exact spot where he dug that well, since any interested scientist would desire to know that first off, so he could do further excavating."

The Colorado Chamber of Commerce is supplementing the efforts of Mr. Utecht to interest the Smithsonian Institute in the image. The matter has also been taken up with Congressman Hudspeth at Washington.

Some Colorado people are of the belief there is nothing to the possibility that the image is a relic left by a pre-historic race. An official of the Chamber of Commerce stated last week that the image was nothing more than a stone implement, fashioned by some artistically inclined Indian with which to grind corn. A crude stone grist mill, of the type used by Indians, was picked up near the place where the image was found.

ALICE BRADY IN IDEAL PICTURE "ANNA ASCENDS"

In their effort to give the people bigger and better productions, some motion picture producers are now offering to the public featured players in all the important roles instead of sticking in players of mediocre ability and depending on the star to satisfy the audiences. Picture patrons demanded convincing work from all the cast. Now they are getting it more and more every day as a result of the changed policy, which gives the public good all around acting instead of having to look for it only in the star.

Alice Brady is starred, deservedly, in "Anna Ascends," a Paramount picture which is to be the main attraction at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday, June 20th, and she is supported by a cast that contributes in no small degree to the success of the picture. This can readily be understood when it is stated that David Powell, Robert Ellis and Nita Naldi are members of the cast. They are quite an impressive trio. Also, there are Edward Durand and Fredrick Burton, veterans of stage and screen, Florence Dixon and Grace Griswold.

The story, taken from the successful play of the same name in which Miss Brady appeared as the star, deals with the struggles of an immigrant Syrian girl to become an author in America. Starting as a waitress in a New York coffee house romance comes to her and hand in hand with it she goes admirably through her exciting adventures with a band of jewel smugglers. Miss Brady's familiarity with the story makes it particularly suitable to her as a film vehicle.

BISCUIT BAKING PRIZE WON BY MRS. CHESNEY

Mrs. W. J. Chesney of Colorado was awarded first prize in the biscuit baking contest held Tuesday afternoon under auspices of the Federated Clubs of Mitchell County. Mrs. Chesney entered the contest as representative of the Daughters of the King, an affiliated club with membership confined to the roster of the woman's Sunday school class of that name in the Methodist church. The contest was held in basement of the church and was under the personal supervision of Miss Georgia Laceywell, home demonstration agent.

Other prize winners were Mrs. J. B. Dobbs, of the 1921 Study Club, Colorado, and Miss Ruth Williams of the Helpful Helpers club, Colorado. Other contestants were Mesdames J. T. Coffee of the Philomath club, Loraine; W. F. Ridens, of the Parent-Teachers club, Loraine; E. M. Majors of the Hesperian club, Colorado; Roy Dozier of the Civic League, Colorado, and H. L. Harrell of the Pioneer club, Loraine. Mrs. J. G. Merritt, president of the County Federation, presided.

Fifty prominent club women, representing every affiliated club in the county attended the contest, in addition to a delegation of ladies from Sweetwater. The judging was done by Miss Helen Swift of College Station, district supervisor of home demonstration work, and Miss Mable Spann, home demonstration agent of Nolan County.

In discussing the several points upon which the judges based their awards, Miss Swift outlined in an interesting manner the good and bad qualities of biscuit. She attributed much of the stomach trouble prevalent among children to over eating of poorly baked biscuit. "In announcing the bad qualities of these biscuit the judges are not condemning you women who baked them, but rather we are criticising the biscuit, and the purpose of these contests, which are being held throughout the State under direction of the Extension Department, is to encourage the incentive for preparation of a better quality and larger variety of bread," she stated.

"The French women would feel herself disgraced should she set her table with only one or two varieties of bread for any meal. Yet we of the South, and especially of Texas, seldom have more than one kind of bread on our table, biscuit, cornbread or light bread. The French woman bakes six or seven varieties, while the three varieties cover the bread menu of the average housewife in this country.

"In the past we have permitted ourselves to be satisfied with the giving of recipes, leaving off these practical demonstrations of actual preparation of biscuit. In the future we shall set as our goal the accomplishment of better bread baking

TO OUR PATRONS!

Realizing that GOOD SERVICE is ESSENTIAL in the ice business, we would call your attention to a few of the many ways in which you can help us to maintain that standard of efficiency.

It may seem a small thing for a driver to wait a few minutes upon you, but a number of such delays will seriously affect the service of the route.

Suppose that through these delays YOU WERE NOT TAKEN CARE OF, you would at once blame either the driver or the company, whereas the REAL OFFENDERS would be the CUSTOMERS who had caused such delay.

The following suggestions will aid and insure prompt and efficient service:
PUT YOUR CARD UP EARLY.

See that number agrees with quantity required.
TAKE YOUR CARD DOWN WHEN SERVED.
Have ice box ready when driver comes.
Have coupon or cash ready when ice is put in.
Call office if wagon is unusually late.

NOTIFY OFFICE IF SERVED AFTER CALLING, you may save an extra trip.
Insist on having ice weighed if you think you are getting short weight.
Do not fail to see that your card correctly shows the quantity you require. You will save the driver unnecessary labor and loss of time.

DO NOT ASK DRIVER TO LEAVE ICE WITHOUT COUPON OR CASH.

Do not censure the driver if you forget to put up your card and are missed. Be fair with him and you will find him willing and anxious to accommodate you.
Do not ask the driver to clean out your ice box or do your porter work.
Do not expect the wagon as early on a very warm day as you would on a cool day.
Do not expect good service unless you use your card, as your regular driver may be sick, and a new man working in his place.

If you feel that you have cause for dissatisfaction in regard to weight, service or courtesy, we will consider it a favor if you will call, telephone or write us about it. It will receive immediate attention.

NEW OVERLAND RED BIRD FILLS LONG FELT WANT

The enthusiastic reception given the Overland Red Bird, the newest addition to the Overland family has been remarkable for the glowing comments on achievement, acknowledged by a critical public to be one of the most complete models of its kind introduced in motoring circles this year.

Everywhere this latest creation of the engineering and designing departments of the Willys-Overland organization has met with undisguisedly popular favor and reports from salesrooms spread across the continent indicate that this car singly, has attracted greater crowds of interested motorists than any display put on the floors in some time.

According to L. G. Peed, general sales manager of the Willys-Overland, this Overland Red Bird will unquestionably span a gap in the line of Overland motor cars, which is now universally recognized as being complete.

car that leaves the factory sufficiently equipped to eliminate further buying of "extras" and in this respect the Overland Red Bird gratifies in every sense the ideal of the American family that is looking for distinction without undue extravagance.

The Willys-Overland Company sensed this long felt want and in bringing out this new offering, answered a clear unmistakable call for just that comprehensive qualification in a car, and the factory is anticipating of the big demand to follow when this model was placed on the market, is utilizing every available manufacturing resource to supply this demand.

DETROIT, Mich., June 12.—Everywhere abroad there is an increasing demand for products of the Ford Motor Company and it includes the whole Ford line, cars, trucks and Fordson tractors.

This is 34,883 more than were sold in the same period a year ago.

In the same months, Fordson tractor sales mounted to 4,534, more than twice those of last year when 1,894 Fordsons were sold in foreign markets.

LIONS TO ELECT NEW OFFICERS "FRIDAY 13"

There is nothing in the omenage that Friday, the 13th, is a day of ill luck and suggestive of a misnomer in so far as the meaning of success is concerned. At any rate the Colorado Lions Club so believes. At the luncheon Friday of last week, the club named Friday, July 13th, as the date on which officers for the ensuing year are to be elected and a program for the second year in the history of the organization here be worked out.

In addressing the club on the subject of delinquent members, Col. C. M. Adams, president, reported that those who were apparently becoming negligent in attendance would most certainly suffer the penalty and contribute to the treasury in fines. He announced that a total of $33 in fines had been collected Friday morning.

"We plan, however, to put this rule solely upon the basis of honor," he commented, "leaving it to the member affected to decree on his honor whether he is due for conviction on the charge of non-attendance." There are only two legal excuses recognized by the club for absentees at meetings. These are sickness and absence from the county. Roll call Friday showed a total of 14 members absent.

An interesting feature of the meetings for the immediate future is promised in team work, headed by E. H. Winn and A. B. Blanks as captains. These captains are to select membership of their respective teams from the Lions and work in competition for credits, including attendance, new members, and special features yet to be announced. At conclusion of the contest the losing team will entertain the winners with a banquet.

deputy, after the meeting, the crowd was invited into the Cozy Cafe to partake of the nice banquet that had been arranged by Mr. Gould. Dr. McMillan acted as toastmaster. The new homestead will be organized Tuesday, June 19th at 8 p. m. in Odd Fellows hall. All Yeomen and their friends are requested to be present.

Mrs. Nellie C. Metcalf, supreme representative, Dallas, Texas, for the next ten days will be at the Barcroft Building and Loan Associations.

From Ft. Worth Star-Telegram: According to the State Department of Insurance and Banking the resources of building and loan associations in Texas increased from $7,162,995.29 in 1921 to $12,100,000 in 1922. This is an increase of 70.3 per cent in one year.

These figures were made public in an address before the Southwest league of Building and Loan Associations at Oklahoma City Wednesday by C. H. Sinex of the Tarrant County Building and Loan Association.

Seemingly they indicate that Texas is awakening to the importance of this form of saving and investment but the truth is that we have a long way to go before we can be said to be thoroughly alive to it.

The resources of the building and loan associations of Oklahoma for example, total approximately $60,000,000, or practically five times the building and loan resources of Texas.

One building and loan association in Oklahoma City alone has assets in excess of $14,000,000 or 16 per cent more than the total assets of the building and loan associations of the State of Texas.

And if comparisons were made with some of the older states it would be seen that we have hardly made a beginning in this field in Texas to a degree comparable with Texas. As a matter of fact the per capita investment in building and loan associations in Texas is about the smallest in the United States.

However, the fact that there was an increase of 70.3 per cent in this sort of investment in Texas during 1922 does indicate that the growth of these associations is beginning to get under way and does give ground for the expectation that we are about to witness their development in some of the other states.

This is gratifying for it is a fact that the building and loan association has proved itself to be an admirable agency for the dual purpose of promoting saving and providing funds for home building.

It needs only for one to get a vision of the normal growth of Texas in the immediate future to appreciate both the need and the opportunity of the building and loan associations in this State.

If Oklahoma right now can accumulate in this form of savings as much as $60,000,000 and invest it for these small investors in some building what might be expected in Texas?

The conditions are right for an enormous development of these organizations in this State in the immediate future and the particular form of organization provided for under the laws of Texas makes it plausible to expect such growth.

In some states, for example, a conflict of interests between the building and loan associations and the banks have created a situation which is not altogether desirable. But there is no such conflict in Texas for the reason that building and loan associations under our laws are not depositories and are without banking privileges. They are confined to the purpose for which they are ostensibly intended, that of providing funds for real estate mortgages and chiefly for the building and owning of homes. Instead of being competitors of the banks, therefore, they are in fact depositors and customers of the banks.

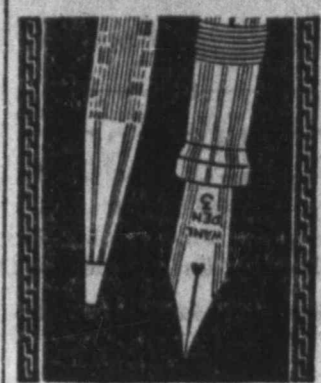

But all this aside, the primary functions which they perform make it desirable from the standpoint of community welfare that there should be enforcement and growth of carefully directed building and loan associations in Texas.

The small saver is enabled thru these agencies to invest his savings almost directly in real estate mortgages, and the money of the small saver is made available for home building.

In a state like Texas, where there is a demand for capital of all kinds far in excess of the power of the local sources of capital to provide, there certainly can not be too much thrift and every sound instrument for the promotion of thrift is an instrument of progress.

NATION REPRESENTED AT FINANCE CAPITAL

By FRANCIS H. SISSON
Chairman Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

F. H. Sisson

Financial New York is peculiarly representative of the whole nation. All parts of the country, the small towns as well as the big cities, have supplied the greater part of the man power and brain power enabling it to function as the nation's financial capital.

A recent investigation as to the origin of one hundred leading executives in the New York financial district, showed that no less than sixty per cent were born outside New York State, that no less than twenty-eight per cent were born in towns of 5,000 or less, and only twenty per cent were born in New York City.

The birthplaces of these men represented Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Michigan, Missouri, Illinois, Maryland, Delaware, Vermont, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Minnesota, Iowa, Florida, Rhode Island, North Carolina, Indiana, Wisconsin, Georgia, California, Montana, Maine, West Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

The same situation is true of the younger men, particularly in the banks. This reflects more than merely the attraction of the big city for ambitious young men. It is the result of the definite purpose of New York banking to equip itself to perform most effectively its work for all the nation.

A brief description of the mechanism of the nation's banking system will make this clear. Many of the New York banks are bankers' banks. They are great reservoirs of credit in which banks throughout the country deposit unemployed funds in New York. When crop needs in rural districts or industrial expansion in manufacturing centers increase local requirements for money these local banks call in their funds from New York and in addition may ask the big city banks for loans.

Country banks frequently deposit as security the notes of their own customers, often secured, in turn, by farm capital such as ploughs, livestock and other possessions. The fifty thousand dollar note, for instance, of a country bank in a big New York bank may have attached, as collateral security, fifty or a hundred small notes of a hundred dollars up to a thousand or more, signed by local farmers and their wives. Into one of the biggest New York banks comes in this way from the South each crop season a small note secured by a plough and a harrow and a mule named "Molly"—an incident that has been aptly described as "The Minting of Molly." It is one among many securing a large inter-bank credit.

Thus is big banking in New York brought close to the plain people of the soil—thus does it finance their humble husbandry—and thus has it felt the need of recruiting its officers from among men familiar and sympathetic with local conditions—able to visualize the needs of the people there and pass sound judgment on the credit factors involved.

It is due to the conditions thus pictured that among the officers of New York's banks will be found representatives from all parts of the nation. They are the delegates of the people at the business capital.

Why Group Fights Group

America is suffering from a lack of economic understanding. It is, therefore, that we find group arrayed against group—that we find the grower at variance with the producer, the producer with the consumer and both with the carrier. It is because of a lack of economic understanding that we find capital and labor frequently striving against each other. Yet each element is vitally interested in each other for the final success of the entire endeavor—in the farmer growing a prime crop and getting a fair return; in the carrier packing a palatable crop and getting a fair return; in the wholesaler making a wide distribution and getting a fair return; in the retailer satisfying his customer and getting a fair return; in labor aiding each of the processes and getting a fair return; in capital applying the money and credit to make each process possible and getting a fair return, and in the consumer receiving a pure, nourishing, dependable, wholesome health giving article at a fair price. There is this community of interest in the production and consumption of human requirements that should prohibit strife among the producing and consuming elements.—J. H. Puelicher, President American Bankers Association.

Compens on Socialism

State socialism is repugnant to the American mind for a great many reasons. Americans generally prefer to carve out the future in freedom. They are unwilling to accept the idea of an all-powerful state. It is the American idea that the people shall order the state and shape its course; not that the state shall order the lives of the people, fitting them into niches to suit a bureaucratic card index.—Samuel Gompers.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS WILL ASSIST FAIR MANAGEMENT

The Chamber of Commerce, Lions club, Booster club and affiliated clubs of the county federation will lend support to the Mitchell County Fair Association in the fair to be held at Colorado in September. Some of the attractions to be brought here for the fair have already been contracted for, R. H. Ratliff, secretary of the association, states. It was learned this week that the State Health department at Austin had offered co-operation to the extent of furnishing a nurse for examination of children in a baby clinic at the fair.
