COUNTY AGENT GIVES ADVICE TO EXHIBITORS

County Agent W. S. Foster, who is helping promote the Mitchell County Poultry Show and School, has given the Record the following pointers for interested exhibitors, which will be of value to those who are planning to exhibit birds in the show. The agent says:

"Don't wait until the night before the show to select the birds that are to be entered. Watch your flock closely and put a band on the outstanding ones, then a day or two before the show, pick out the best of these and enter them."

"All birds and especially white ones look better if washed. In washing, use soap and luke warm water to remove dirt. Then wash out all soap, rubbing in the direction the feathers grow. For white birds have another tub of water containing a small amount of bluing to whiten."

"Allow bird to shake itself, then press out as much water as possible, roll in towel or other cloth and allow to dry in a warm room."

"If soap is left on plumage, the feathers will not web out normally. Apply vaseline to legs and rub with soft cloth to brighten."

LATEST ZANE GREY ROMANCE AT PALACE

"Folom River" Deals With Cattle Rustlers of Old West; Holt in Cast

Zane Grey's genius for story telling and Paramount's superlative skill in picturizing his colorful tales of the old West in all their gripping realism find celluloid expression in a new melodramatic thriller with the unusual title of "Folom River."

This is the very latest of Mr. Grey's adventurous tales and recently appeared serially in the Ladies Home Journal. The picture opens at the Palace Theatre, Friday and Saturday, November 12th and 13th.

"Folom River" deals with a band of cattle rustlers who were the terror of the northwest cattle country when that section of the West was America's last frontier. Around this exciting clash between the desperadoes and the honest ranchers, the author has woven a dramatic romance that has an unexpected twist.

The principals involved are an outlaw, who is a fugitive from justice; a cattle rancher's daughter; and her "boyhood sweetheart," Jack Holt has the picturesque role of "Nevada," the mysterious outlaw; Arlette Marchal, noted French beauty, is the appealing heroine; and Edward Burns is the third angle in the three-cornered love affair. Raymond Hatton, whose comely characterization has made him a favorite with picturegoers, plays the part of a tramp cowpuncher in his imitably humorous style.

The story was adapted by George C. Hull and directed by John Waters, who wielded the megaphone on another of Mr. Grey's stories, "Born to the West." Particular interest attaches to the remarkable scenic background inasmuch as the entire production was filmed in Zion National Park, Utah, a primitive and majestic setting of great natural beauty.

Film fans, who have come to expect certain things in a Zane Grey photoplay, will find them in overflowing measure in this new opus. There is an abundance of hair-trigger action, stunt riding, gun fighting, in addition to an assortment of typical western thrills.

Zane Grey Romance-Drama Opens at Rialto Sunday

Parnmont has filmed another of those red-blooded stories... the facile pen of Zane Grey, and this high-powered western drama, "Forsyde of the Great Divide" will make its debut...

but at the Palace Theatre, Friday and Saturday, November 12 and 13.

To the lively plot, teeming with the romance and adventure of the northwest cattle country has been added a splendid cast, featuring such sterling favorites as Jack Holt, Raymond Hatton, Arlette Marchal and Edmund Burns.

As in all Zane Gray productions, the locations were chosen with the greatest fidelity possible to the actual locale of the original story. In this instance, Zion National Park in Utah was used as a background, giving the picture a scenic setting of unsurpassed natural beauty.

The action of the story centers about Holt, ex-member of a band of cattle rustlers, whose outlaw activities have prompted the honest ranch owners to band against them and hunt them down. Looked upon as a traitor by the desperadoes and considered a bad man by the sheriff, Holt finds himself between two fires. To complicate matters, he falls in love with Miss Marchal and arouses the jealousy of Edmund Burns.

With such a stare, the picture develops considerable excitement that has been well balanced with some fine comedy contributed by Raymond Hatton in the role of a tramp cow-puncher. John Waters, who jumped into the limelight with his first directorial effort, "Born to the West," is also the guiding spirit of "Forsyde of the Great Divide." The scenario is the work of George C. Hull.

Sam Sloan of the Owen-Sloan Oil company, who has been spending vacation on the Pacific coast and in Canada, will arrive in Colorado tonight. It is expected he will have something to announce next week relative to activities of his company in this field.

LOCAL OFFICIALS START PIG FEEDING EXPERIMENT

Judge C. C. Thompson and County Agent W. S. Foster have started a feeding experiment with pigs in which the common ration of straight milo will be compared with a balanced ration. The pigs were divided into two lots and are being fed the following rations:

Lot 1—Milo
Lot 2—9 parts milo; 1 part tankage.

Pigs fed straight milo often require 8 to 11 pounds of grain to make a pound of pork whereas with a balanced ration, only 3 to 5 pounds milo and about 1/2 pound of tankage required skim-milk is one of the best of feeds for balancing the ration where there is plenty of it, but it takes 20 per cent of skim-milk to equal one pound of tankage in feed value.

H. V. Dillard of Cuthbert is using a balanced ration for his pigs as well as for the old hogs. Nine parts milo and one part tankage is the ration being used.

J. L. Bowen, Joe Church and Professor Halbert of the Dorn community have agreed to plant about 200 acres of wheat and oats. O. O. Shurtleff will plant 440 or 50 acres on his place at Spade.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Kelley returned Saturday from Del Rio.

100 New Lock Boxes Be Installed At P. O.

According to J. Y. Fraser, assistant postmaster, 100 new lock boxes are to be installed at the Colorado post-office in a few days. The boxes were shipped out of Indianapolis, Ind., on Oct. 27th, and should be here this week.

Money Orders Heavy

According to report made by Fraser, total gross money order business at the office for Oct. was $24,464.04. This, however, was a decrease of some $3,000 from October, 1925, which is accounted for from the cheap price of cotton, the postal authorities say.

Stamp Sales Large

During October the stamp sale here $2,620.03 and September they were $2,496.35. Total sales for the first ten months of 1926 were $17,705.36, an increase of more than $2,000 over the same period for 1925 when the figures were $15,732.12.

Service Improved

The service at the local office has been greatly improved in the last few months. Just recently the office has adopted the policy of staying open late and taking care of late mail. All mail posted at the office up to approximately nine o'clock p. m. will go out on the night train.

Man Invents New Ford Gas Saver & Quick Starter

Walter Critchlow, 4441-P street, Houston, Tex. has patented a new gas saver and quick starter that beats anything ever gotten out. With it no Ford engine will run 20 miles on 1 gallon. Other makes do equally well. This new invention saves gas and oil, makes a Ford start instantly in any weather and completely de-carbonizes the engine.

Wanted in the proper order and will reach its destination quicker.

If mailed on the train, the letters will likely be carried on to Ft. Worth before they are distributed for the different points, and thereby considerably delayed. The local postal authorities are anxious to give the public of this city the very best service and ask the public to co-operate.

Spend Your Money Where You Get It --- AT HOME

How long would you prosper if this community did its buying outside of Colorado?

How long would this city endure?

Most people trade at home because they know the greater values and satisfaction of doing so---and have civic loyalty.

Everyone in Colorado would trade at home if they gave the subject serious thought. The business interests of your town---are also interested in your welfare, prosperity, satisfaction---and contribute through taxes and other means. Shouldn't you be interested in theirs?

Many Mitchell Teachers To Attend El Paso Meet

According to G. D. Foster, county superintendent, and O. L. Wilkins, principal of the Colorado High School a large number of the teachers in this county will attend the meeting of the Texas State Teacher's Association in El Paso November 25, 26 and 27. The Colorado schools are to dismiss for Thanksgiving and remain closed Friday, in order to allow the teachers a chance to attend this meeting. Some are planning to drive through, although special round trip rates are to be offered by the Texas & Pacific railway.

In speaking of the coming teachers meeting, O. L. Wilkins, principal of the high school said: "Equalizing Educational Opportunity in Texas" is the general theme for the convention. The convention will be held in El Paso, November 25, 26 and 27. Extremely low railroad rates have been granted by every Texas system, which is expected to make the attendance large.

In keeping with the convention theme, President J. M. Bledsoe of the association has selected several of America's greatest educational experts to tell the Texas teachers what they must do toward equalizing educational opportunities for Texas school children. The program is essentially one that deals with the secondary public schools, which is commonly recognized as the weakest unit of the Texas public school system.

El Paso has arranged for attractive eight-day trips into Old Mexico down the Rio Grande Valley through the irrigated farms, and up the Valley through the beautiful mountain regions.

Some of the outstanding speakers for the convention are: Ellwood P. Culberley, of Stanford University, California; Frank D. Boynton, Dean of the College of Education, University of Iowa; J. R. Grant, Rural School Expert for Arkansas; L. T. Hopkins, of University of Colorado, Boulder; Dr. George W. Frasier, Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley.

Texas speakers on the general program include: President P. W. Horn, Texas Technological College; President S. H. Whitley, East Texas State Teachers College; Dean B. F. Pittenger, University of Texas and J. F. Kinball, Southern Methodist University.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

GRAHAM—The Chamber of Commerce of this city recently sponsored the building of a new road on Slater Hill about six miles north of here, raising over $250 to apply to its improvement.

BOWIE—Brick work on the new municipal auditorium of Bowie was completed more than a week ago, and roofing is underway which will finish exterior work of the structure. The new civic building is one of the handiest and most commodious structures ever erected in Bowie.

STAMFORD—Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has written to various chamber of commerce in West Texas and has appealed to federal and state authorities to resist flagrant violations reported against rule and regulations of the Livestock Sanitary Board in regard to movement of hogs. Reports have come to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce office here telling of this new form of "bootlegging" in which hogs are imported from border towns of Oklahoma and New Mexico and introduced to Texas farms without dipping, vaccination, inspection and proper certification required to be done under the supervision of the Livestock Sanitary Board. Infractions of these regulations will be resisted to the extent of serving injunctive against hog importations made in violation of regulations.

Big Oil Play In Nolen And Fisher Counties

SWEETWATER, Texas, Nov. 8.—At least a dozen deep oil tests will be drilled near here within the next sixty days.

Two drilling contracts have been signed for tests south of here, and over a dozen locations have been made north of here in Nolan and Fisher Counties. A third test will probably begin as quickly as a tract of acreage, now being blocked, is completed.

A drilling contract has been signed for a deep test on a block of 6,000 acres eight miles south of Sweetwater, it was announced. The well is to be spudded in by February. A drilling contract is reported to have been signed for another deep test twelve miles south of Sweetwater. Reynolds & Thomas are to drill the well, it is understood.

Two locations have been made on a large block of acreage leased by D. D. Davis, representing a firm of Kansas operators, about nine miles north of here, and drilling will start within the next thirty days.

G. H. Johnson will drill about six miles north of here on a block of 2,000 acres. The rig materials and equipments were being moved to the site this week and drilling will probably be under way by Nov. 20.

A rig is going up on the Balridge Wheeler No. 1 location in Fisher County, where a deep test will be drilled. The site is northeast of here and four miles northwest of the Phillips Petroleum Company's Winters No. 1, the discovery well.

The Marland, Mason, Hurley and Midwest offsets to the Phillips producer, in the Noodle Creek field, are all at a depth believed to be near the pay sand, and a new producer in that territory is expected to be only a matter of a few days.

The Henry Zweifel wildcat on the Longbottom ranch, in Southeast Nolan County, was drilling Friday at 500 feet.

Don't forget we will make special effort to take care of your Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday laundry. Colorado Laundry.

SOMETIME ONLY ONE CAR WILL DO!

Out in the motion picture sanctuaries of California, where money, genius and picture-story country unite to provide romantic and thrilling screen stories, the automobile is handed most strenuous assignments.

The motor car frequently gives its star performance behind the screen—unknown to the millions of moviegoers, who are often unaware of the vital contribution which the automobile has made to the taking of the picture.

When the motion picture director sets out to make a western wild, the transportation department is confronted with the gigantic task of getting the entire company with all of their paraphernalia out to the great open spaces.

Use of motor cars and trucks has made possible filming picture backgrounds that have the authentic atmosphere of the Old West. Year by year, motion picture men declare, it is becoming necessary to go farther afield to secure new and unspoiled scene effects.

Hal Roach, of the studios which bear his name, recently established a permanent camp at the Big Horn ranch near Mogpa, Nev., as a headquarters for the use of his production companies when engaged in making western pictures.

A marked absence of roads is one of the chief beauties of the surrounding country from the standpoint of the directors but the transportation department found it very difficult to establish communication to many of the localities chosen, where the dry bed of sand was the best possible substitute for a highway to be found.

"After various types of motor vehicles had been tried," says Hal Roach, "a Chevrolet truck was purchased. It proved so completely satisfactory that four more were added and the fleet of five has since, time and again, proved its ability to go anywhere and back again through the roadless desert around the Big Horn Ranch.

"For personal transportation I invariably use a Chevrolet. On my first trip to the Big Horn Ranch, I set out a larger car. In the first heavy sand encountered the larger car tore out the rear axle and I finished the trip in a Chevrolet.

"Now many of the other executives of the Roach studios employ Chevrolets for their excursions into the country where men are men and automobiles must be real cars."

MUCH SPACE WASTED

Entirely too much newspaper space has been wasted on the Hall-Mills murder of New Jersey, and the Aimee McPherson narrative from California. What is gained by keeping the wires hot on these trials escapes us. If the public wishes to read illicit relations and to puzzle over Mrs. McPherson's saint or sinner query, it would probably like many sordid and salacious tales that can be featured all over the country. Many people who read this kind of stuff as news, shudder with horror at young minds enjoying "smutty stories" and other magazines of that ilk. Every once in awhile we are almost convinced that the public wants to read the detailed account of such rotten exhibits. If this is correct the public mind is filthy. Understand, we advocate no censorship of crime news. Let them be reported reasonably, not featured and played up as outstanding events in the national life.

See the expert tailor at new location, on Third street, back of Pidgeon's garage.

WHERE TEXAS COTTON MONEY GOES

Here's something for West Texas farmers to figure on: Last year it required more than a million bales of Texas' cotton crop at 18 cents a pound to pay for the pork products which were shipped into the State. This year, with 13-cent cotton, nearly a million and a half bales, or more than one-fourth of the entire cotton crop of the State, will go for pork and pork products which will be shipped in from other States.

Texas imports also huge quantities of butter, cheese and even fresh milk, and large amounts of poultry and eggs. Texas spends perhaps as much for fruits and fresh vegetables, imported from other States, as it spends for pork. In all probability the payments by Texas to other States on account of food supplies more than equals the total amount received for the cotton crop in years of average prices. This year, with cotton prices considerably below normal, the Texas cotton crop will not pay for the meat, poultry and vegetables which the State will buy from other States.

The illustration in the matter of pork imports alone should be sufficient to show the folly of one-crop farming. Texas imports each year at least $90,000,000 worth of pork products according to careful estimates of various interested expert agencies. Even if cotton were profitable in itself, which is not the case when the stable sells at 13 cents, it could profit Texas little if all the money received from the crop must go for food.

Texas farms are capable of producing all the hogs and pork products that Texas needs, all the butter and dairy products, all the poultry and eggs, and all the fruits and vegetables. And it is the first duty of Texas farms to produce these things, and then devote whatever is left over of acreage, time, and manpower to the production of "money crop" such as cotton.

When the South relegates cotton to this secondary status in its agricultural program, the South as a whole be nearer economic independence and the state of every farmer

Hardly, for wash tubs certainly don't fit in with any good-time occasion. Picnics and washtubs just don't mix—trouble is that most women have too little of the first and too much of the second. Yet there's no real reason why any woman should spend another minute bending over a washtub. For our Rough Dry service will do every bit of the washing and iron the flat work, too, at a price you'll admit is very reasonable. ### FIRST FIFTY BALES GINNED SHOW ADVANTAGES OVER OTHER VARIETIES

The growers of Thorobred Cottonseed from the Galloway Industries, of San Angelo, are obtaining good results in the use of their pure strain of Mebane seed, if the indications seen in results of the first ginnings are taken as a basis for passing judgment. A total of fifty four bales from the Thorobred growers' farms had been ginned prior to the halt brought on the rains. What was formerly known as Tudor Brothers' Gin is now known as the Mebane Gin, and is devoted exclusively to the ginning of the Thorobred cotton.

It is stated that the cotton from the Thorobred seed is of longer staple than the ordinary variety, measuring a little more than an inch in length. A man from the Rio Grande Valley was in the city this week, and while speaking of the Thorobred variety, he said the staple of this cotton is as good as that of cotton produced in the Valley.

A better turn-out of lint is seen, also. Lint percentage is running from forty-four to two, giving a six hundred pound bale of lint cotton from slightly over 1,400 pounds of seed cotton. The cotton produces larger bolls than common varieties, it is said, and this adds materially to the yield. The yield of the Thorobred cotton will prove in excess of other varieties, on an average, it is believed.

Local buyers are paying more for the Thorobred cotton than for any other on the market here.

SUL ROSS STUDENTS BANQUET AT EL PASO

The Ex-Students of Sul Ross State Teachers College will hold a banquet at the Del Norte Hotel, El Paso, Tex., on Thursday, November 25, at 7:00 P. M. All students who have attended the institution as much as one quarter are invited to be present at this banquet. Reservations for plates should be made through Mrs. Anne Aynesworth, Alpine, Texas, at an early date.

The State Teachers Association of Texas is to be held in this section for the first time in 25 years, and the teachers of this part of Texas should attend in large number. This is our opportunity to convince the people down State that we are a progressive, live, hospitable group of citizens who believe in education and are doing all we can to make our contribution to the State's welfare.

This occasion is also Sul Ross's opportunity to impress the people of this section with the conviction that the institution belongs to every community of this section. Let us get together and pull together to make November 25 a great day for Sul Ross Exes! The Sul Ross Lobos will play the El Paso College a game of football on Dudley Field on the afternoon Thanksgiving day. Buy a ticket and attend the game.

The gross financial returns to agriculture probably will not be far from last year's figures, the Department of Agriculture sums up the agricultural situation in its monthly report issued today.

"Spring wheat and cotton are the dark spots in the picture this fall, and the apple industry may also be noted as sharply depressed by low prices," the report says. "Except for some depression in the territory of those crops, however, the season wind up with about average crop yields, and a probability of gross financial returns not far from last year's figures."

Discussing the cotton situation, the department says: "The fall in cotton prices now fills the headlines. The conditions of the same last spring were given scant notice. For four years the growers of cotton have been doing just what other producers do when business is profitable—increasing production.

"In the last four years the South has turned out approximately 50,000,000 bales of cotton. During forty consecutive months beginning July, 1922, the average farm price of cotton never went below 20 cents a pound and much of that time it exceeded 25 cents. Four good cotton crops sold well enough so that growers increased their acreage from 30,000,000 in 1921 to 47,000,000 acres this year.

"The South is not without resources for meeting the present situation and rarely have the farm and business leaders of any large regions met in an emergency in so united and comprehensive a fashion. Cotton is good property. The consuming world can and will use a lot of it this year."

Up in the spring wheat country there is a strip of territory extending from central North Dakota through South Dakota to central Nebraska, the report says, where drought and bad weather cut the crops and for which a lean winter looms ahead. South Dakota showed the lowest general crop condition in the country last month, only 55 per cent of average. Other local areas of flood, drought or frost damage claim some attention but they are less extensive.

Hog cholera, which "is showing up with rather serious losses in some counties of Illinois and Iowa," is giving producers considerable concern although it is pointed out, "general underlying conditions in the Corn Belt are better than last year."

"Corn prices are slightly higher but still low enough to encourage feeders. Hog prices stay relatively high and reports indicate a materially larger crop of pigs in prospect this fall. The small 1925 crop of hogs, now in pack cost the packers nearly $1,200,000,000. It brought producers more money than in any year excepting the wartime inflation years and measured in terms of corn prices during the marketing season was probably the most profitable ever marketed."

The department's general index of purchasing power of farm products, in terms of non-agricultural commodities remained at 83 for September, the same as in August, the five pre-war years being considered as 100.

FOSTER SAYS TURKEYS BE HIGHER THIS YEAR

Thanksgiving turkey eating will be somewhat more costly this year than in the past two years, according to a holiday prediction made by W. S. Foster, county agent. The turkey crop is not as large as it was last year or the year before, and a prediction of 35 to 45 cents a pound for this year's Thanksgiving turkey is not considered pessimistic.

The cool weather this fall has been favorable "turkey weather." So long as the days and the nights are comparatively warm, turkeys continue to roam the country and fail to put on flesh. When the temperature falls, they are content rapidly adds pounds of turkey meat. The crop generally is further advanced than at this time in several years, and reports from the country consistently tell of the high quality of the turkeys. In Texas, which is the big early state for turkeys, the crop is believed to exceed last year when many of the young poults were lost during the hot dry summer. Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Ohio are expected to have fewer turkeys for the market this season while the other states report flocks of about the same size last year.

Stock of turkeys in storage are less than half as large as at this time a year ago and 40 per cent below the five-year average. Reserves of frozen turkeys, therefore, will be less of a market factor this season than last. Holdings of chickens and fowls are five million pounds larger than a year ago and ten million pounds larger than the five-year average, however, offsetting to some degree the decline in turkeys.

E. J. Sawyer of Perrin, Jack county, was in Colorado Monday closing up a deal for some land near Westbrook and a tract of land in Sterling county, and while here expressed surprise to find the progressive and growing city we have here. Mr. Sawyer is a banker, land owner and capitalist of considerable note and is a shrewd business man. The realty deal with Mr. Sawyer was handled through the offices of Porter and Billingsley.

POULTRY POINTERS
(By W. S. Foster)
County Agent

Mash feeding is considered very essential by successful poultrymen and all leading poultry authorities. It is the best way to give poultry a balanced ration, whether for the growing chicks or laying hen, although each needs a differently balanced ration. The mash should be put in a hopper or feeder arrangement so it can not be scratched out, and should always be before the chickens.

At this time of the year, pullets should begin to lay, and if they are not laying and you wish to crowd them along you can take a portion of this balanced ration—what they will clean up in about 15 minutes—and dampen it just so it is moist to a crumbly stage using clabber or buttermilk if you have it. We feed this late in the afternoon before roosting time. If fed in the morning the poultry may sit around and not exercise enough, but the late feeding gives a full crop to go to roost with.

These egg laying mashies may be mixed at home by getting the different ingredients and thoroughly mixing them, or they may be bought on the market all ready to be put into the hopper. They are called milk feeds, as they have the properly balanced ration and are mixed by machinery.

The following is a good balanced ration for egg production:

- 25 pounds ground corn, very fine.
  - 35 pounds oats.
  - 20 pounds ground wheat or bran.
  - 10 pounds dried buttermilk.
  - 10 pounds meat meal or meat scrap.
- During the hatching season I would omit the meat meal or meat scrap, adding 5 pounds more dried buttermilk, as it has been shown that often meat meal or meat scrap is injurious to the hatchability of the eggs.

Also, be sure to have plenty of fresh water near the dry mash feeder, so the hens can find a drink handy and then eat more mash.

Mr. Quisenberry had this to say in one of his radio talks, recently: "The egg is 65 per cent water and you can greatly reduce egg production by having your mash hopper on one side of the house and your drinking water on the other. Water is cheap but it is costly if not supplied in abundance. He continued: "Water plays an important part in egg production and also in the general health of your flock. You should provide plenty of drinking water and keep the receptacles filled. Water is vitally essential for these reasons. To soften food in the crop; to dilute concentrated feed; to regulate the temperature of the body; to aid digestion and assimilation of food; to carry nourishment through the body; to carry water out of the system."

See that you have about six inches of good clean litter on the floor of your house to put your scratch grain in. Make them work. Make all changes of methods of feeding gradually, otherwise you may throw your hens off in egg production and radical changes sometime results in premature fall moult for pullets.

THING THAT ARE MISSED

Those of us have already or are rapidly approaching the serene and yellow period of existence miss so many things that contribute to life's routine in our earlier days that we are prone to wonder how the younger set find life tolerable without them. We miss the old livery stable, with its complement of horses and buggies, and its hero who tended the horses, and could ride any beast in the stable and control the most fractious, stubborn horse with an ease and skill, that won unbounded respect and admiration. There were always stews there for the loafers, who met to discuss weather, crops, politics and the gossip of the community. There was also an equine picture gallery there from which one could learn the pedigree of the noted horses and jacks of the country. And the old livery stable was the place where the mettle and muscle of men were tested and proved. Men who gathered there did not always agree on the question of which candidate for sheriff was best qualified to discharge the duties of the office sought, neither did they agree on the influence exerted by the moon on the weather and vegetation, or on the great and important question of whether meat should be salted on the eve of the killing, before the animal heat had passed therefrom or next morning after the meat had cooled. There was also division of sentiment over the correct mode of baptism and final perseverance of the saints, and it was not always possible to discuss these questions with the serenity and brotherly love taught in the sermon on the mount. As discussion of differences grew more and more interesting, blood frequently rose to fever heat and a dis-

This called for a fight or a backdown and one man was given a halo for his courage and his fictitious accomplishments, while another went into the mire of disgrace for taking a whipping or an unresented cuffing. The fellow who was whipped or cuffed absented himself from the gatherings for several days and kept out of sight as much as possible. We miss the old livery stable—miss it keenly, and wonder how people of the present day manage to spend the time pleasantly with out it.

PRICE CUTS AND WILDCAT PRODUCERS INTEREST OIL MEN

Varied Fields Over State Are Getting Attention; West Texas Leads

BY JOHN W. NALOR,
Oil Editor Star-Telegram

Crude price cuts and speculations on other price cuts divided attention of Texas oil men last week with operations for completion of two prospective producers in non-producing counties of West Texas.

In addition to this, there was offered the spectacle of a great fire in the Spindletop field; conclusion of an agreement among operators to curtail operations in the Seminole field; and evidence that the Paducah output was at or near its 1924 peak.

Help Curb Output

All of these latter facts offered welcome prospect in helping a market situation which, under the impetus of 50,000 barrels a week gain in national production, was rapidly getting panicky.

The Spindletop fire, which was controlled before great damage was incurred, will at least offer a small relief in production there. The Seminole agreement, if adhered to—and there is no reason, in view of the makeup of the operators, to think it will not—will offer a real relief over uncontrolled drilling. Finishing in of producing wells has already helped some, and the output of the field kept from advancing this week.

Evidence that the Paducah was about at its peak for this year was given in news that for the second week in succession it had suffered a slight loss.

The production of this area, in addition to the natural decline, will soon have the effects of cold weather to set on its production. On top of that is the fact that drilling will naturally slacken next spring, as winter drilling has not been contemplated by operators of the field except in cases of necessity.

Price Fight

The price cutting was inaugurated by the Humble Oil and Refining Company, a part of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey group on Monday. It fixed the price of 22 to 25.5 gravity crude of Mideast grade at $1.50 a barrel, cut of 15 cents.

The increase in price for each degree of gravity was lowered from 8 cents, as in the prevailing schedule, to 5 cents. It ran up to 52 gravity and above which at $2.70 represents a cut of 87 cents, the cut, of course being greater in the higher gravities.

The cut was soon after instituted in Oklahoma and Kansas by the Carter Oil Company, and in Louisiana and Arkansas, except for Smackover and Coastal Louisiana by the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana and Louisiana Oil and Refining Company, all Standard of New Jersey subsidiaries. It was soon met by the Petroleum Refining Company, a part of the Standard Oil Company of New York. Later in the week it was met by the Texas Company. It was met in various sections by smaller purchasers.

Renewal of Old Effort

The price cut by the New Jersey subsidiaries with the accession of Texas and Magnolia, brings to the front practically the same group which last year endeavored to bring the "between degree" spread in crude prices down from 8 to 6 cents and failed.

The attempt this year seems to have more force behind it.

Both times the attempt was launched by the companies taking the initiative in a situation which seemed to favor a general price cut.

Last year, after Prairie and Sinclair had taken many valuable connections away from some of the group, particularly in Oklahoma and Kansas, all returned to the 8-cent spread.

Government Report

During the past week the government's monthly report on oil operations for September appeared showing that there had been another substantial amount on total oil in storage by reason of continued heavy demand during the month.

Though it is known that the rapid rise of production in October upset the balance of supply and demand the report served to emphasize the healthy condition the industry has been in throughout the year to the present.

The draught on storage during September was at a rate above 80,000 barrels per day.

Some 20,000,000 barrels have been drawn out of storage since the oil price structure which are now being torn down were established early last May. In view of that the average producers is unable to see the necessary for such haste in bringing them down in the face of a threatened period of addition to storage.

The 80,000 barrels per day reduction in storage during September could be turned into an average 100,000 barrels per day addition to stock for the next six months and at the end of that time leave the industry as well off, as far as stock are concerned, as when these prices were instituted.

And there is little doubt entertained anywhere that the turn in production is very far off.

Consumption for the first nine months this year showed an average gain of more than 200,000 barrels per day over that of the same part of the previous year, and another gain from past experience, is expected next year.

New Areas

The new areas monopolizing attention were in Pecos and Winkler Counties.

In the former the Transcontinental and Mid-Kansas wildcat made its initial flow from 992 feet as last week closed, had increased to 100 barrels daily by heads this week. It is 18 miles northwest of Sheffield and near the Pecos River, on the Yates ranch.

In Winkler the Westbrook wildcat, in section 42, block B-5, looked like a commercial well at 3,996 feet in a sandy lime pay—its fourth showing. Both areas were scenes of heavy acreage "play."

CHEVROLET SPENDS GREAT SUM FOR SUPPLY DEPOTS

The Chevrolet Motor company is spending $1,500,000 on the installation of a radically new system of replacement parts distribution which executives declare will assure uniformly prompt service for every Chevrolet owner in the United States.

The plan, involving the establishment of six new major supply depots throughout the country, has been worked out by president W. S. Knudson and J. P. Little, manager of the parts and service division. In a service way it supplements the greatest production capacity which will be available after completion of the $10,000,000 Chevrolet factory expansion program.

The new supply depots, in which will be stored parts stocks, are to be located at the following points: Oakland, Calif., Jamestown, Wis., Cincinnati, O., Buffalo, N. Y., St. Louis, Mo., and Tarrytown, N. Y. All of the depots except those at Tarrytown and Oakland will be new, specially-designed buildings of brick and reinforced steel concrete. The existing parts stations at Oakland and Tarrytown will be enlarged and refitted to meet the heavy demands that will be made upon them under the new system. The entire facilities of the central parts warehouse at Flint, which heretofore has been the central shipping point, will be retained. The ground, already has been broken for the four new buildings, and all of the major supply depots will be ready for operation by January 31.

The new depots will serve as safety valves, smoothing out the peak and valleys of demands made by the end service stations. They will perpetuate the delivery of parts, regardless of seasonal variations in demand.

Under the new plan the major supply depots will, in effect, create huge concentration of parts stocks connecting the Chevrolet factories and the entire service organization. They will assure car owner for better and more efficient service through the constant maintenance of adequate stocks throughout the country. Parts will be shipped in straight carload lots from the factories to the supply depots.

The establishment of the major supply zones, outlined above, does not constitute the entire parts distribution program of the Chevrolet Motor company. In addition to the concentration points previously mentioned the company already has in operation eleven other parts warehouses which will continue in operation and be added to as necessity arises. The eleven other parts warehouses are located at Boston, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Charlotte, Atlantic,
