DEFINITE SHAPE BEING GIVEN PLANS FOR COUNTY SINGING HERE MAY 4-5

Convention Held Primarily for Mitchell County Singers, Thomas Says

VISITORS TO BE WELCOME

Each Community Expected to Furnish Three Numbers For Program

Plans are taking definite shape for the Mitchell County Singing convention which is to be held in Colorado on Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5, according to Chester Thomas, Colorado, president of the convention.

Stress is laid by Mr. Thomas on the fact that this year as never before, the convention is to be one primarily for Mitchell county singers. Quartettes and special musical numbers from outside the county will be cordially welcomed and given a place on the program, he states, but most of the time is to be reserved for the Mitchell county singers.

Each community of the county where there is a singing class is urged and will be expected to furnish at least three numbers for the program, Mr. Thomas states. This can be done with class songs, quartettes, or any special music they may desire to give. Heads of community singing classes are requested to let either Chester Thomas or J. H. Greene know by Monday morning what they are planning to do on the program.

The program committee consists of Warren Williams, vice president of the convention; Mrs. Warren Williams, secretary; W. W. Porter, W. L. Doss, Sr., Claude Womack, and Mr. Thomas. Supt. Ben S. Peck is chairman of the entertainment committee, and he will be assisted in this work by merchants of the town. A. L. McSpadden, manager of the Texas Electric Service office, has already signified that ice for drinking water during the day will be furnished by that company.

The convention will meet in the First Baptist church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the business session will be held that night at 8:20. Sunday's meeting will be held in the tabernacle beginning at 11 o'clock, when Judge C. C. Thompson will deliver the welcome address. A complete program will appear in next week's Record.

The water and sewer committee was also instructed to make a survey and report on several extensions needed at this time. Instructions were also given the street and alley committee to open up and grade several streets in North Colorado.

THIRTY ARE CHARTER MEMBERS OF BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB HERE

Banquet On Thursday Night Marked Organization Of Local Chapter

Thirty women and girls of Colorado, representing practically every profession in which women are engaged here, attended the banquet at the Colorado Hotel on Thursday evening, which marked the organization of the Business and Professional Women's Club here.

Besides the thirty Colorado women who were in attendance at the banquet, six members of the San Angelo Business and Professional Women's Club were guests. These included Miss Micaella Rogers, president of the San Angelo club, president of the fifth district of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, and recording secretary of the State Federation, Mrs. Julia Farr, who is associated with Baker, Hemphill in San Angelo, and Miss Mamie Lou Parr, county home demonstration agent of Tom Green county, were also guests, as were Miss Marie Cholechlo, Mrs. Alma Beck and Mrs. Mable Kirlin.

Mrs. J. E. McCleary presided at the banquet and during the program. Invocation was pronounced by Mrs. J. Lee Jones, and following this several songs were sung. The visitors from San Angelo were each introduced by Miss Rogers, who was introduced by Mrs. McCleary. Each told of her work or profession. After the singing of another song, the Colorado women were introduced, and as they were introduced told about the work in which they are engaged.

Piano solos were given by Mrs. Cecil C. Meskimen, and speeches were made on various phases of the worth and work of Business and Professional Women's clubs by the San Angelo guests after these.

The following officers were chosen for the Colorado chapter, which will be affiliated from the outset with the National Federation:

Mrs. J. E. McCleary, president; Mrs. Abbie M. Soyler, first vice president; Mrs. J. W. Randle, second vice president; Miss Joe Key, recording secretary; Miss Elizabeth Kirkpatrick, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. A. Ferguson, treasurer.

The organization will meet later to decide on the time for meetings. It is certain that there will be at least one luncheon club meeting in each month. The San Angelo visitors expressed themselves as being extremely well pleased and surprised at the number of women joining the club at the outset, and at the amount of enthusiasm being shown by this number. They stated that San Angelo's charter membership was 25.

OLD MINING SHAFT IS BELIEVED UNCOVERED BY BLASTING CREWS

"Thar's gold in them thar hills," stated the old prospector here years ago. Whether or not he referred to the hill south of the Col-Tex Refinery is not known, but anyway, there is where traces of it were found Wednesday.

Crews who were engaged in blasting a ditch for a pipe line up one of the hills, rumor says, blasted into a hole which is supposed to have been at one time an old mining shaft—or just a hole.

Rumor says that the hill for a time after discovery of the shaft Wednesday, represented a miniature picture of gold rush days. Claims would have been staked off only for the fact that the land does not belong to the government, and private property is immune from prospectors' claims.

Some say traces of real gold have been found in the shaft, while others say it is only "fool's gold."

According to old residents of Colorado there was a shaft sunk south of town, just in the rear of what is now known as the Vance place, about forty years ago, and citizens of the town donated both cash and groceries to the old prospector who had the work in charge. F. M. Burns is reported to have given $50. Traces of gold were found in this shaft, but not in paying quantities, therefore it was abandoned.

No one has been found who ever knew of the existence of a mine shaft on the hill south of the Col-Tex refinery, and the belief that some old miner, after making the strike had to travel many miles to get grub and was never able to return, lends an air of mystery and eagerness that will not be suppressed without a thorough investigation. "If there is gold in 'them hills,' there are a bunch of fellows around here going to find it out, even if they have to run the prairie dogs and rattlesnakes out of every hole in the country."

A few days ago a Mexican entered the postoffice here and handed Postmaster Brennan a chunk of pure gold ore. The postmaster asked him where he got it, and the Mexican replied: "On the Colorado river." Mr. Brennan asked: "About how far from here?" The Mexican replied: "O, you would like to know just where I found it, yes? And that's all of that. The postmaster may do a lot of fishing on the Colorado river this summer."

HESTER ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROSPECTS FOR A JUNIOR BAND HERE

Thirty-Two Boys And Girls Report For First Rehearsal

Enthusiasm over Colorado's prospects of a Junior band was expressed by Roy Hester, band director, this week, following the first rehearsal last Friday afternoon, when thirty-two boys and girls reported.

Mr. Hester stated that several parents had been inquiring of him the cost of belonging to the Junior band. The answer is that there is none, the only requirement being that the child own his instrument and attend rehearsals. Children who do not know the first rudiments of music, Mr. Hester states, will of course have to be given private lessons for awhile at the beginning so that they will be able to keep up with the progress of the band. These will be one dollar per lesson.

Rehearsals of the band are being held every Monday and Thursday afternoon after school, in the old high school building. Mr. Hester's aim is to have an organized high school band of 35 pieces or more when the school opens next fall. As soon as any child in the Junior band becomes proficient enough he shall be transferred to the Colorado Municipal band.

O. E. Coupland, who left Colorado in 1915, is back and working at the Col-Tex refinery.

TWO COLORADO STORES VICTIMS OF THIEVES LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Helpy Selby And Star Cash Are Entered Through Transoms

A thief or thieves broke into the Helpy-Selby store Saturday night and took $75 in money out of the cash register, apparently having no desire to take any of the merchandise.

Entrance to the store was made through a skylight, and departure was made out the backdoor, which had been left unlocked. The rear doors are sliding ones and are fastened with a padlock. Saturday night, however, the doors were not locked, and $75.00 was left in the cash register of the meat market department, the first time, according to statement of the managers, money has been left in the store.

Star Cash Grocery Entered

The Star Cash Grocery was also broken into Saturday night, but the thief or thieves failed to find any money, called it unlucky and departed without taking anything of value, according to Manager Hill, who said he did not miss anything.

The burglar at this store entered through a transom, and as the door was fitted with a key lock he was forced to depart the same way. It is believed this caused his or their decision not to take out any goods as a very bulky package could not be pulled through the transom.

The burglars evidently traveled in pairs, one to keep watch on the night watchman who paces the streets while the other entered the building. The night policeman after about every two or three rounds and tries the doors. It requires about three hours to make the round of front and back doors of the business houses of Colorado, therefore the policeman cannot follow right in behind the night watchman, who has a regular schedule and makes his rounds every hour.

HYMAN FARMER SHOT SELF TO DEATH LATE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

METHODIST REVIVAL IS PROVING SUCCESS DURING FIRST WEEK

Both Evangelist And Singer Recognized Here As Able Men

Gaining in attendance and interest daily, the revival now in progress at the tabernacle for the Methodist church bids fair to be one of the most successful ever held in Colorado, despite conflicting attractions.

Rev. T. Edgar Neal, pastor of the First Church of Temple, is evangelist for the revival, and C. G. Spindler of Oklahoma is singer and leader in young people's work.

Services, which are held each morning at ten o'clock, and each evening at 7:45, every day except Saturday, when there is to be only the evening service, are being well attended. Rev. Mr. Neal, who is a preacher of great ability, is proving himself popular with Colorado people because of his earnestness and forcefulness.

The singing and music are features of each service. The large choir and orchestra is much appreciated, according to Rev. W. C. Hinds, pastor of the Methodist church here.

Rev. Mr. Neal will lecture Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to men only on the subject, "The Man, Four-Square."

Mrs. Alex Hanson Hostess At Lovely Luncheon

The lovely inspiration Mrs. Alex B. Hanson had for her party Wednesday, when she complimented her mother, Mrs. Frank C. Gordon of Mobile, Alabama, found expression in a beautiful luncheon, at which she entertained her, at the Rectory, at 1 o'clock.

The table, where a delicious four-course lunch was served, was exquisite in its green crystal appointments, with a large green crystal bowl holding bluebonnets, surrounded by green crystal candlesticks holding burning tall blue tapers. The motif was further emphasized in the blue miniature bonnets, which held nut cups; and by the place cards of old-fashioned ladies in blue bonnets, which marked the places of the honoree and the eight guests, all of Sweetwater, Texas.

Mrs. Harry Ratliff Entertains In Honor of Her Mother

Tuesday, Mrs. Harry Ratliff entertained with a beautiful luncheon in honor of her mother, Mrs. Hubert Smith of Uvalde. The house was gay with vases, bowls, and baskets of roses in red, cream, white and pink. The three luncheon tables were centered with crystal baskets, filled with sweet peas. Brennan at another; Mrs. A. E. Maddin, Mrs. W. L. Doss, Sr., Mrs. J. E. McCleary and Mrs. J. T. Johnson at the other. Mrs. Edgar Majors assisted Mrs. Ratliff in serving the delicious four-course luncheon, consisting of a cocktail, the meat plate and coffee, a molded salad, with pink ice cream and pink iced angel cake.

During the meal, a clever little contest, "Affinities," was enjoyed. In drawing for the prize, Mrs. M. C. Ratliff won a pretty bluebonnet noisette. Then each lady wrote a telegram to Mrs. Smith, using the letters of her own name to begin each word. These were read aloud by Mrs. Smith affording much laughter.

Corsages of ferns and sweet peas were presented each guest, who spent a very delightful afternoon together. Mrs. Smith left this week for her home.

Mrs. Dobbs and Mrs. Boyd Dozier reported social service work done and other families in need of help. $36 in dues and $50 pledges was reported for adults and $20.90 for juniors, to Conference treasurer last quarter, $50 local work.

The president explained that the vice president was to have charge of spiritual cultivation from now on and asked Mrs. Garrett to make plans. The corresponding secretary is to present stewardship next meeting. She told that Mrs. H. T. Kimbro was made superintendent of study for the conference, and Mrs. F. O. Campbell superintendent of supplies. The offices of spiritual cultivation and of Voice agent were done away with in the conference, but are continued in the Auxiliary.

A letter to Mrs. J. G. Merritt from the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce was read, inviting the Methodist women over there May 7th to a district meeting.

Mrs. Lucian Maddin, Mrs. Boyd Dozier, and Mrs. Allen Connell were made delegates, with several others who are going. Mrs. W. L. Doss, Sr., gave an excellent report of the recent conference held in Plainview. She told especially of the interesting and helpful addresses made by Mrs. Claiborne and Miss Poeman, the two missionaries present. In a very earnest manner she urged every missionary woman to help to put over every department of the work. Mrs. Doss was given a rising vote of thanks for her good report.

Bridgettes

The Bridgettes met Thursday with Miss Virgie Powell, who had a very delightful meeting. Her guests were Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Deffenbach.

At the social hour frozen fruit salad with chicken and checkerboard sandwiches, potato chips, iced tea and stuffed dates were served in a most tempting fashion.

The meeting this week is with Mrs. Lloyd Mackey.

Luncheon Club

The Luncheon Club met Thursday with Mrs. Lois Prude Bennett. On entering the members were presented to Mrs. Reeves Coleman of New Orleans, and Mrs. Roland Burchard of Harlingen. The other guests were Mrs. Joe Smoot and Mrs. Flood, making four tables instead of the usual three.

A meat salad with asparagus on toast, buttered rolls, olives, potato chips and iced tea was followed by a dessert of strawberries and whipped cream served in spun sugar nests. Mrs. Bennett was assisted in serving by her mother and aunt, Mrs. Prude and Miss McComas. Miss Coleman made high score in the bridge game which followed.

Mrs. Walter Whipkey is the next hostess.

Van King Family Reunion

Sunday all of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Van King were home together for the first time in several years. Mrs. Conrad Watson came from Lamesa, C. A. King from Dallas, and Miss Charlie from Big Spring. Mrs. E. B. Willbank lives here, and four are at home unmarried. It was a very happy day for the father and mother to have them all at home together once more.

PLACE OF CHRIST IN LIFE SUBJECT OF REV. NEAL TUESDAY NIGHT

Evangelist Shows Question of Jesus' Disposal Ever Present

Driving home the uncompromising fact that there can be no middle course in one's relationship with Christ, that He must either be accepted without reservation or wholly rejected, Rev. T. Edgar Neal, evangelist for the Methodist revival now in progress at the tabernacle, delivered what has been named by many of his hearers as the highlight among his sermons so far at the evening hour Tuesday, his subject being, "What Shall I Do With Jesus?"

In the beginning of his discourse on this subject, Rev. Mr. Neal barked back to the time when Jesus, at the mercy of the mob, stood in the Roman court before Pilate, in whose power lay either his freedom or his crucifixion.

"Force," stated Rev. Mr. Neal, "impersonated by Pilate, sat on the throne. Behind him was the Roman government, mistress of the world, and behind the Roman government were the legions of Rome."

"Before him stood Christ, the apostle of love. Force triumphed; they nailed Him to the tree and those who stood around mocked and jeered and said: 'Christ is dead.'"

"But from that day the power of Caesar waned and the power of Christ increased. In a few centuries the Roman government was gone, and its legions forgotten, while the crucified and risen Lord is the greatest fact in history and the growing figure of all time."

"At every fateful hour of history, nations have turned into smooth or rough channels according to their answer to this question: 'What Shall I Do With Jesus?'"

Turning from the example of nations, Rev. Mr. Neal brought the question home to his audience by applying it to the life of an average mortal.

"Behind every important choice of your life," he stated, "the ghost of this question has towered. Apply it to yourself in these ways."

"When it came to adopting a friend, were you conscious of this question? A true and right friendship will carry with it a third unit, namely, the spirit of Christ. Have you asked yourself whether you always feel free to introduce Christ into all of your dealings and relationships with your friend? Friendships have much to do with a man's religious life."

"At marriage and the founding of the home the questions again confront you. A home where Christ is taken in, will come to be the harbor of Divine married relationship, and will grow more firm and unassailable by the knocks and vices of the world as the years go by. But a home wherein Christ is not made wholly welcome will soon be shorn of its sacredness and unity, and will be torn and crushed upon the rocks."

As he continued, Rev. M. Neal showed how the question of the place of Jesus in one's life is met when one enters school, and how the presence of Christ will enter as the primary factor when it comes to decisions made either in one's study or play life. In the choosing of a career, too, he emphasized one must either take Jesus hand in hand in launching upon his life's work, or leave him out entirely.

Not only at the visible turning points in life does the question confront the traveler along life's highway, the speaker continued to point out. It is there in every hour of great test, and in the vexing situations met by every mortal daily.

"There are only two alternatives," Rev. Mr. Neal said in closing his sermon. "You can accept Christ, and defend him and honor him, or you can reject him and crucify and dishonor Him. There is no compromise. And the results of the answer in its final and immediate bearing upon your life are, for first course, forgiveness, pardon, justification, and regeneration. For the second, eternal condemnation and its blight on the life."

C. G. Spindler, singer for the Methodist revival, began meeting the children of the churches Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He divided the group into Hustlers and Rustlers, and began with Bible drills, songs, and telling them a story.

Wednesday afternoon, in the midst of a sandstorm, he had one hundred and twenty-five present and held a very enthusiastic meeting. He expects the interest and attendance to grow each day for the Hustlers and rustling and the Rustlers are rustling. Mr. Spindler organized the young people Wednesday evening at the tabernacle and expects to get them in shape for work by Sunday. Bro. Hinds and Bro. Neal are making a survey of the Sunday school classes, and visiting the homes of Methodists who should be in church, and talking with the parents about their children.

Large Shipment Of Cream Made Last Saturday

Three hundred and thirty-three gallons of cream were shipped out of Colorado last Saturday night, according to Leslie Crowder, express agent, who states that this was not a record shipment of such produce for Colorado trade territory, as the number of gallons shipped out at the close of each Saturday runs somewhere in that neighborhood.

The preceding Saturday 245 gallons were shipped out to Fort Worth and Amarillo creameries. Mr. Crowder states. Most of the cream is bought from the farmers by N. A. Rogers, R. P. Edgerton, W. M. Bruen, M. A. Giddings, and other buyers of country produce.

R. H. Barber Buys Interest In H. & H. Confectionery

R. H. Barber, who for the past four years has been associated with the store now owned by Barrier Bros. as manager, has resigned his position with that firm to enter the H. & H. Confectionery, in which he has purchased half interest.

Mr. Barber was for several years identified with the J. H. Greene men's furnishing establishment, and when that business was sold out, went with the C. M. Adams dry goods store, remaining with it while it was under the ownership of the O'Neal Brothers of Coleman.

W. L. Rivers, district manager of the Barrier stores, is here as manager of the local store temporarily. J. J. Seale, general shoe man for the stores in this district, is here to assist him and is also taking the place made vacant by the resignation of Austin Roundtree.

FOUR RURAL SCHOOLS OF COUNTY PLANNING FOR CONSOLIDATION

Spade, Hyman, Dorn, Conaway, Trustees Want High School

Earnest agitation is getting underway in the Spade, Hyman, Dorn, and Conaway school districts for a consolidation of the four precincts into one high school centrally located.

Trustees of the four schools met with the county school board Wednesday for the purpose of discussing plans for the consolidation and means of bringing it about. All those present at the meeting expressed approval of the plan.

If the consolidation plan is carried through, it will provide for the maintenance of the local schools as they are at present, with the exception that the high schools will be combined, and all the funds turned into one good school rather than four mediocre ones.

The four groups of trustees are to meet with the county board again the first Monday in May to map out plans and make all arrangements to submit these to the State Board for approval.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE ON YOUR GAS BILLS

Gas experts, studying methods of economizing in the use of gas, have evolved a few simple rules which householders might profitably adopt. Here they are:

1. Turn burners down when food is well started.

2. Use pans of same size as burner or cooking unit. Tight covers conserve heat.

3. Use double and triple pans where possible.

4. Use small unit rather than large when feasible, and use the burner which is already hot.

5. When a quart of water is enough, do not heat a gallon.

6. Plan oven-cooked meals and use oven to capacity.

7. Do not heat oven too long before food is ready to bake.

8. Cook by thermometer to save heat and avoid burning food. Never heat oven beyond 550 degrees. To do so wastes heat and will injure oven.

9. Do not waste heat by looking at food. Use time and temperature charts, and open oven only to put in or take out food.

10. Utilize stored heat when possible.

NOTES FROM THE COLORADO FIRE DEPARTMENT

"Prominent Citizen Killed By Fire Truck" is a headline frequently seen in numerous outstanding papers over the State. This may be a headline in our paper at most any time unless the people are more particular in following the fire truck.

From my observation I have noticed that when there is a fire alarm there is a wild rush to follow the fire truck. People do not stop to think that the fire truck often has to turn around to get to a plug. If it should and someone was in the way they would probably be killed or seriously injured, for it is impossible to stop a heavy truck as quickly as you can stop a lighter vehicle. Surely the excitement of seeing a fire isn't worth that much. When there is a fire alarm every moving car should park at once and stay there until the truck has had sufficient time to reach the plug. By doing this it gives the fire boys a safe and speedy chance to get to the fire. Cooperate with them.

Better Homes To Be Visited Here This Afternoon

The chief observation of Better Homes week in Colorado is taking place this afternoon (Thursday) when modern homes over the city are being thrown open for inspection from 3 until 6 o'clock.

The homes of the following people are to be open for inspection: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Homsley, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Dozier, Mrs. Olive Lipps, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Berman, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kirschbaum, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ferguson.

The sandstorm Wednesday played havoc with the beautiful yards and gardens that were to have been shown today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Doss are home from Marshall, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Motley.

Mrs. Hubert M. Smith of Uvalde is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Ratliff.

Mrs. J. F. Lawlis and daughters, Misses Mary and Frances, of Snyder, were the week-end guests of Mrs. E. Wm. C. Ashford, Pastor. A. Barcroft and Mrs. Ozar Majors.

Record Breaking Pig Was Fed On Purina Pig Chow

Garvie Craghead of Valley View is another of the many to prove the wonder merits of Purina Pig Chow by winning both County and State records with a six-month-old pig, which weighed 360 pounds at the finish, and dressed 297 pounds.

Only 146½ pounds of Purina Pig Chow was used, with his home-grown grains and skimmed milk, to produce this record.

The cost per hundred pounds gain was $5.63.

This is the pig feed that the majority of the club boys are using in connection with their home-grown grains, to produce their wonderful records, which is further proof that "THE PURINA POUND IS THE CHEAPEST."

WESTWATER EDITOR SCORES OIL STORIES

SWEETWATER, April 17.—The Sweetwater Daily Reporter, commenting editorially today upon the newest oil discovery in the State, the Mid-Kansas Lackey No. 1 two miles southwest of Blackwell, Nolan county, has the following to say concerning the wonders of Texas geography and wide-open spaces:

Texas has a habit of getting hot under its collar when supposedly literate persons in other parts of the world display their ignorance of Texas' geography and fail to give acknowledgment to the vast miles that are stretched out on this portion of the earth's surface.

Texans are ordinarily proud of the great distances between places. Chamber of commerce bulletins stress the magnitude of everything. In fact it has been done so much that some precautionary measures have been taken to check the idea of over-emphasis and exaggeration that has gone abroad.

Perhaps this is the reason, or perhaps it is just the plain competition for oil that causes Texans themselves to shrink the State to half its size when a new oil well with their own geography as is comes in. Whatever the cause, Texas can do some wonderful things shown in reporting the striking of oil in the Mid-Kansas Lackey No. 1 wildcat two miles southwest of Blackwell. The San Angelo Standard sent a story over the wires telling the world the well was 40 miles north of San Angelo. The Abilene News says it is about 30 miles southwest of Abilene. We can't make out arithmetic bring San Angelo and Abilene so close together. Abilene is 40 miles east of Sweetwater and San Angelo 50 to the south. That makes 120 miles which creates a discrepancy of 50 miles with their figures. Either we are wrong or Abilene is 10 miles south of us. If you can't find Abilene there then it must be that San Angelo is 10 miles east of Abilene. All of which is wonderful geography and would bring untold wrath upon the heads of any outsider who attempted it. He would immediately be told by the entire state that Blackwell is but 28 miles from Sweetwater which puts the well within 30 miles of this city—the only one which has a paved highway to the new field.

of Abraham Gamaliel, after a three years' trip abroad, returned home Saturday night. A welcome dinner was immediately given to honor him by his father, to which his old-time friends were invited. Music and dancing were enjoyed and a good time was had by all.

Nothing would be said about the sulky brother and the way Jacob had been sowing his wild oats "abroad," etc., which makes us glad that our reporters did not write the Bible.

Sincere tact, called by John Ruskin "the touch faculty which a good woman has above all others," is the nearest approach to mind reading that humans possess.

A great scholar pleases the mind, a great actor pleases the fancy, a lovely and intelligent woman pleases the heart. These three "high lights" amongst mortals can always reckon on a high percentage of reception, but a good cook always has the majority.

WEST TEXAS SAND STORMS DAMAGING

The fine particles of sand blown about by the strong West Texas winds penetrate places where it seems almost impossible for any foreign substance to find hiding, and it is especially damaging to all kinds of machinery. There is nothing more expediting than to try to write on a typewriter that has been allowed to accumulate a lot of this West Texas sand. If your typewriter is working heavy or sluggish, you should bring it to The Record office immediately and have it repaired and cleaned up. Rust and sand will soon ruin a high-priced typewriter, when a small sum will save lots of energy and expense.

Next, the club was authorized to appoint a committee to work out plans for the contest and report at the next meeting, offering a prize or prizes for the best-kept lawn in Colorado during 1929.

Tables for the luncheon were decorated with bowls of roses furnished by Mrs. J. H. Greene. MARCH LION TAKES ROAR AT COLORADO

The lion, usually supposed to roar in March in West Texas, evidently awoke to the fact Wednesday morning that the month had slipped away and a roar was heard, without his having had one big, good roar.

So he promptly roared, and Colorado was thoroughly baffled and dazed. The wind was so strong that garbage cans all along the streets of Colorado were overturned, and papers and trash were blowing every where. Many tree limbs were broken off by the gale, and pump trees were almost left bare of fruit.

Farmers regarded the storm as destructive to young seedlings, and a harmful agent of drying out the ground just at the time when moisture is most needed for planting.

MRS. SKINNER IS INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. A. L. Skinner sustained a sprained hip which will confine her to her bed for some time when she fell from her front porch, which is some seven feet from the ground.

She was sitting in a rocking chair near the edge of the porch, when one of the legs gave away and she fell to the ground. Two of her daughters, Mrs. C. Ray Williams of Girard, and Mrs. F. K. Cobb of Dallas, have arrived to stay with her awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Fahrkamp of Big Spring are in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mena.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY VISITS CHURCHES OVER MITCHELL AND SCURRY

Rev. W. D. Green Arranges For Meetings And Fills Various Pulpits

Rev. W. D. Green, of Colorado, who was recently elected associational missionary for the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association, has been organizing his work over the association, spending last week in Scurry county, and this week in Mitchell.

In Scurry county Rev. Green made arrangements for five meetings which are to be held within the next few months, either by himself or some other minister.

Wednesday night he preached at Pluvanna, where Rev. D. G. Wells is holding a successful revival. Rev. Mr. Green reports that Rev. Mr. Wells, who is at present pastor of the Lamesa church, has been called by the Flovanna church and is to make known his decision about accepting the call at the close of the meeting.

Rev. Mr. Green visited Rev. C. A. Jones in his church at Ira Thursday night, and reports the church there in the third week of an excellent revival. He filled the pulpit of the Baptist church at Snyder on Sunday morning and evening, as Rev. W. F. Johnson, pastor of the church, is in revival elsewhere.

This week Rev. Mr. Green is arranging meetings over Mitchell county, and visiting various churches. On Wednesday night he preached at Hyatt, and Sunday morning and evening he will fill the pulpit at Lowe.

HONORS IN NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE WON BY NEW C.H.S. MEMBERS

Colorado Students Merit The Largest Voting Power In United States

SEVEN ADMITTED Chapter Here Has 4 of 14 Degrees of Distinction In Whole Nation

Distinction came again to Colorado through her high school when seven students of the school were notified this week of their membership in the National Forensic League, and were informed of the fact that through their Colorado High School has the largest voting chapter in the national organization.

The number of votes which each chapter shall have is determined, according to members of the high school faculty, by the number of points attained by each individual member. Colorado has a total of some 26 points, most of these coming through records made by the four members of debating teams who gained entrance into the league.

These four hold degrees of distinction, and as there are only ten individual members in all the 255 chapters of the league, Colorado may well be proud of the fact that she has nearly half as many in her one high school as there are in 255 other high schools over the nation. The four members holding these degrees are Lenora Cook, Beola Kirby, Hoyt May and John Shurtleff.

Colorado High School began working toward membership in the National Forensic League, which is a national organization of high school public speaking students of merit, last year when Supt. Ben S. Peek and other faculty members made arrangements for the Colorado boys' and girls' debating teams to meet teams from all neighboring high schools. In most of these matches, which were held both last year and this, Colorado's teams came out victor.

Besides the four members of debating teams gaining entrance into the League, these other public speakers were admitted: Louis Levinson, Frank Bodzin, and Juliette Phillips, Clyde Bennett and John W. Cobb, members of the high school faculty, were given membership as coaches, the former having coached in debating last year, and the latter this year. Supt. Ben S. Peek was also admitted, each chapter of the league being allowed one faculty member other than the coaches.

Temporary officers of the chapter were elected Tuesday as follows: Miss Beola Kirby, temporary president; Miss Juliette Phillips, temporary secretary; Miss Sarah Cook, temporary treasurer.

Each member of the league gets to wear an emblem, which is fashioned after the key, which is the emblem of Pi Kappa Delta, national university fraternity of which the National Forensic League is a branch. The coaches will have small diamonds in their emblems.

CORRECTION IN HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL

The average of Ruby Lee Bohannon, student in Colorado High School, for the past six weeks' term was 92.45 instead of 82, as stated in the Record last week.

The name of Iris Tunnell was unintentionally left off the honor list. This is regretted very much, indeed, as her average was high, being 96.75 for the six-weeks term. The lists were printed just as handed in to the Record.

Non-skid Power Performance - A Revelation!

IN THIS fast-moving age, no single feature of tire service is more important than absolute non-skid safety. Guarantees that mean running out much of the promised mileage on smooth rubber are poor safety insurance.

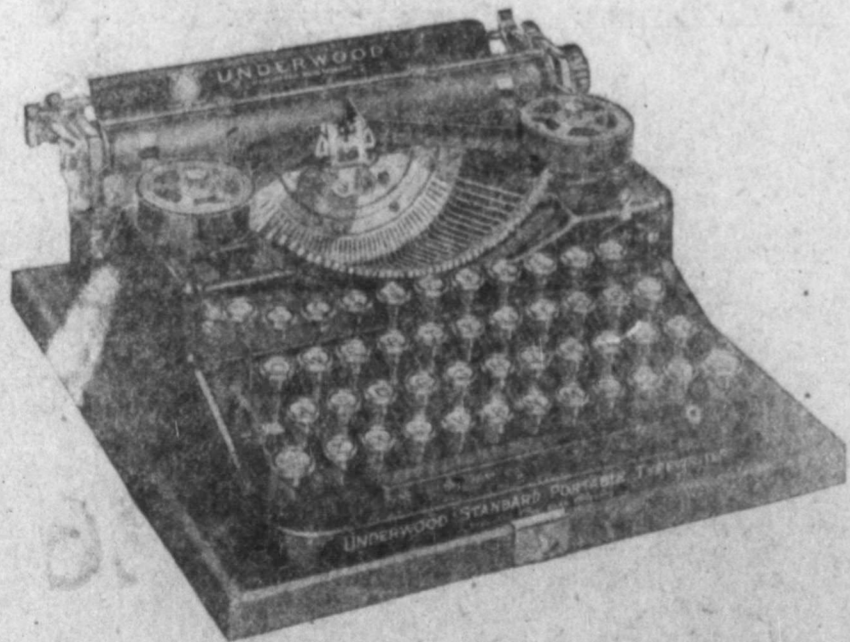

In the Dual-Balloon, General introduced for the first time greater mileage coupled with greater permanence of non-skid. Its powerful tread—the slowest-wearing ever developed—does away with the hazard of running on "bald-headed" tires. It guarantees more than big mileage—safer, surer mileage season after season.

With tire prices still the lowest in history why worry along with anything less than the General?

MISSIONARY TO LECTURE HERE

CONVERTED CATHOLIC TO TALK MONDAY NIGHT AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

L. D'Asaro Has Been Italian Missionary For 23 Years

"Romanism versus Protestantism" will be the subject of a lecture to be given at the Church of Christ here Monday night by L. D'Asaro, native Italian missionary and converted Catholic, now a member of Church of Christ.

Mr. D'Asaro comes to Colorado on a tour which he is making in this section lecturing, according to his own statement, on some of the practices of Catholicism and endeavoring to arouse people to a realization of the power of the Roman Catholic church.

His chief work, however, is among Italians of this country in the capacity of a missionary. Converted to the Protestant religion thirty years ago in Italy after he had read a Bible given him by a traveling salesman, Mr. D'Asaro came to America 23 years ago and has been working since that time among the Italians of this country, chiefly in Pittsburg, Ohio, and Florida.

BAPTIST TEACHERS MEETING

The officers and teachers meeting of the First Baptist church was exceptionally good Wednesday evening. Quite a bit of enthusiasm was injected into the service by the Young People's department. They are a real live bunch. A delicious luncheon was served by the Faithful Workers' class to 53 persons.

The reports revealed a total for the evening present of 78, with 300 visits having been made; also 83 phone calls and 24 cards sent out. The Faithful Workers led in the number present and also in the number of visits made—56, the greatest number thus far reported by any single class. The Young Business Men's Bible class is to be especially commended for 36 visits and six new members.

ROADS TO WONDERLAND OBJECTS OF ASSOCIATION

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 9.—Perhaps one of the most worthwhile organizations that has come into being in Texas during the last few months is the Highland Secretaries' Association, whose membership comprises the secretaries of the chambers of commerce in the Big Bend and trans-Pecos sections of West Texas.

The Highland Secretaries' Association has delegated to itself the building of a connected system of paved roads through the Big Bend and trans-Pecos region. This association meets monthly at some town in the section represented by the membership for the purpose of discussing plans for the continued development of their respective communities.

Through an exchange of ideas among the members of the association they believe a better spirit of cooperation can be brought home to each town represented in the organization. Believing this region to be susceptible of a development whose possibilities are almost limitless, the association is undertaking to pool the energies and resources of the Big Bend and trans-Pecos regions for the accomplishment of this objective.

Larger Than New Jersey

One of the early plans launched by the association has for its purpose the construction of a system of good roads that will cross and radiate through the Big Bend and trans-Pecos country. Members of the association have long realized that if this little known wonderland of the State, a region only remotely explored, that is larger than the State of New Jersey, is to be opened to the tourist and the industrialist, it must be through the establishment of a better road system.

The mountain trails must give way to paved highways if the vast and varied resources of the region are to be developed and transported to the markets of the world, is the argument submitted by the Highland secretaries.

Land of Surprises

The whole of the Big Bend country is a land of mystery and surprise. When made accessible by the building of good roads, this region is expected to become one of the most interesting places to be found in the State for attracting the tourist, the scientist and the explorer. The tourist can find in these mountain regions no man has ever mapped and but few eyes have ever seen. The Big Bend is the haunt of the wild deer, the bear, the coyote and the mountain lion. Here also are still to be seen the wild Spanish goats browsing. The Mesquero Apaches or Mexican Indians still live there. The Big Bend is so different from other sections of the State, with such contrasts, delights and strange vegetation, that a surprise awaits the visitor at almost every turn.

Several Volcanoes

Volcanoes once believed forth fire, lava and smoke in this region, the so-called flows having been located at several points. The Chisos Mountain is believed by geologists to be the cone of an extinct volcano which once had an altitude of 9,000 feet, but has been cut down by erosion to 8,000 feet. Emory and Livermore peaks are near the 9,000-foot mark and they also are of volcanic origin. Residents of the eastern and central sections of the State are surprised to learn that in the western region there are mountain peaks ranging from 9,000 to 10,000 feet high. Guadalupe Peak near the New Mexico line, is 10,000 feet.

Many freaks of nature are to be found in the Big Bend region. One of these is a sunken block 39 miles long and several miles wide that lies 4,000 to 6,000 feet below the surface of the earth. It is one structural unit. There is a smaller block about 300 feet square and 500 feet deep in Grace Canyon.

There are mountains of almost every size and color in the Big Bend. There are bald mountains, pine covered mountains or any kind of old mountain that could be covered up by the most vivid imagination. These mountains are a veritable storehouse of ultramarine and precious minerals and metals. There are mountains of solid granite and mountains of iron and clay. There is hardly a metal or mineral known to the kingdom of geology that can not be found in the Davis Mountains. Few of them, however, are being commercialized to any great extent. Some of the minerals and metals to be found in the Big Bend country include silver, gold, iron, copper, coal, nitrate, aluminum, sulphur, manganese, potash, red cinabar, opals, rubies, garnets, amethyst and turquoise.

Texas Silver Mine

The only silver mine in the State is located at Shafter. It produced 1,391,000 ounces of silver last year. Gold production in Texas amounted to $12,000. Lead and copper production for the same year totaled $77,000 and $16,000 pounds, respectively. The Presidio mine, at Shafter contributed the greater part of the State's production. This mine has been a constant producer for 45 years, during which time it has given up more than 20,000,000 ounces of silver having a commercial value of more than $5,000,000. The mine was formerly known as the Shafter mine, having been owned for years by Gen. William Shafter and family. The mine was discovered in 1883 by Indian scouts under Capt. John L. Bullis, then a paymaster of the U. S. Army at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Some of the most wonderful scenery in the world is to be found in the Big Bend region. "The Garden of the Gods" in the Terlingua mining district, presents a view of majestic splendor. "Eggshell Mountain," the Santa Helena or Grande Canyon, a huge petrified forest, Indian painted bluffs, the tall spiral peaks of the Chisos Mountains, the silver and quicksilver mines, and the unexplored caves in the canyon walls all combine to offer one of the most alluring and interesting routes for tourists to be found in any section.

THAT MAIN STREET THROUG AS SEEN BY DICK McCARTY

The following article was written by Richard H. McCarty, formerly of the Albany News and sometimes referred to as "the sage of Shackelford Hills":
But my, did you notice that jam on Main Street Saturday? Where in the world did that throng of folks come from—Automobiles were parked double. Like an old-time circus day in the long ago—And why doggone in the stores you could not get up and down the aisles, busy shoppers, and every fellow trying to get waited on at the same time—Felt sorry for the poor tired clerks, they sure were hopping around to satisfy the choppers. But, Lordy, how the silver and gold coins did jingle over counters and show cases—You know about every store in Albany is a cash and carry institution, yes, money on the barrel head. But O gee, how folks in town and country do eat, come out of the stores with great loads of groceries—Fancy bacon in nice cardboard cartons, eggs and ham, canned goods and sugar by the sack, great big fat juicy roast, sliced ham, sausage and

No wonder the whole doggone world wants to come to Albany and Shackelford county—Home of the Hereford, the hen, the sow and the cow. Now back to Main Street's throng—It's a great show for us, the greatest show in the world—Yes, the world's picture show—Nearly everything on earth happens on Main Street—It's the nation's commercial, political and agricultural forum. Just take a stroll up Main Street, from group to group and you will get all the news in the world worth while—Here's a bunch of cowmen discussing bull yearlings, dams and sires, price of beef, water holes and range conditions, future outlook for the steer market. Just up there on the corner is another group, farmers, discussing crop conditions, the eradication of the bollweevil, feed crops, laying hens and Jersey cows, price of bacon, cotton and frying chickens, weather conditions, too much rain or not enough.

Matters not if the gasoline wagon did slay its thirty thousand folks last year, sailing among the clouds, spanning oceans, building cities, founding colleges, preaching the gospel in desert places, building asylums and hospitals—Getting better and smarter—No, Boy, the world is not going to hell. A thousand years hence we will better understand the wisdom of God—Yes, better understand the wise things that Jesus said, will have a better concept of His moral philosophy—Then, boy, we will extract the wine from the grape and the juice from the corn and it won't be the great damnable sin in the calendar. That throng on Main Street—It's the world's work shop, its melting pot, weighing scales, shearing corral—Yes, the lambs get sheared—the weak die, the strong live—Caveat Emptor.

Lampasas will have a new hotel building in the near future.

Discussion of the marketing situation for surplus home products in Mitchell county and plans for future work was made in round table fashion at a conference attended by several of the leading marketing rural club women of the county, and Miss Mamie Lee Hayden, home industries specialist of A. & M. College, Wednesday afternoon at the county court house.

Miss Hayden arrived in Colorado Tuesday night, and was in conference Wednesday morning with Miss Abbie M. Sevier, county home demonstration agent.

COLORADO BOY IS GIVEN PLACE OF PAGE IN AUSTIN

Russell Soper Chosen To Fill Place Secured By W. E. Reid

Russell Soper of Colorado left Sunday to take up the duties of a page in the House of Representatives at Austin, his place having been secured through the efforts of W. E. Reid, representative from Colorado, after he had been recommended for the place by Ben S. Peek, school superintendent; J. A. Ferguson, scoutmaster, and other Colorado citizens.

Russell recently completed Scout work, meriting the Eagle Scout badge—highest honor that can be won in Merit badge work. He has been prominent in school athletics, and has been a leader in his grade during all his school life. He is a sophomore in high school.

J. C. states in his letter that he was well pleased with the price his calf brought, and stated that he is planning to feed another calf this winter.

INGENUITY SHOWN IN MRS. BYRD'S WORK IN LIVING ROOM CONTEST

Cleverness And Hard Work Made Conaway Woman Victorious

That ingenuity and industry, rather than a large amount of money to spend and a well-built home to spend it on, are the primary requisites of a woman who would beautify and make livable her home, has been proved in the record of Mrs. J. M. Byrd of the Conaway community, who was recently adjudged winner of the Living Room contest among rural club women of Mitchell county.

Mrs. Byrd, who is one of the most active clubwomen of the county, being chairman of the Women's Home Demonstration council, and president of the Conaway Women's club, has given an account of her work in improving her living room in a very clever way. The account is to be sent to the Extension Department of A. & M. College, under the auspices of which the contest is carried on each year. Mrs. Byrd will be given a trip to the Short Course at A. & M. next August.

The story which she has written is in the form of a telephone conversation over a party line. It opens with the call Miss Abbie M. Sevier, county home demonstration agent, gave Mrs. Byrd asking her to enter the contest, and goes on to when the latter is called by a neighbor who was listening on her conversation with Miss Sevier. There is one conversation preceding her work on the living room, and another when it is all over.

Mrs. Byrd papered her room herself, walls and ceiling. From an old folding bed, by dint of much sawing, hammering and painting, she made an attractive window seat, which she can also use as a chest. She made a fuel box with rollers, and painted it.

One of the most clever things she did was to make a pole for her draperies of the exhaust pipe of an old Ford car. Here is what she wrote about this feat:

"I picked it up out in the cowpen, and had a blacksmith to straighten it for me. Then there was an old piano stool which had been thrown away every time for years that anyone besides myself had cleaned out the smokehouse. I sawed the legs off this old stool, and then the glass knobs off the end of the legs. This left them just right for the two pretty knobs I needed on the end of my curtain pole. I drove the pieces into the pipe, then bronzed the pole with bronzing powder and banana oil, using the gold powder on the knobs, and painting the wooden rings I had bought, gold. You know I had to have some way to fasten the pole up on the window frame, so the hangers off an old hall tree came in handy. I took these to the blacksmith and had one of them cut in two and shaped as supports for the pole. The other two I had shaped for the tie-backs for my draperies, and these painted just like I did my pole."

Mrs. Byrd dyed her old draperies instead of buying new ones. She also made a chair to go with her phone out of the box seat from the old hall tree. A table she made from the frame of an old sewing machine, and the mirror to go over it came from the hall tree. She also made herself a work stand by putting a box about ten by twelve inches and six inches deep on the legs of her old incubator. The box she lined with cretonne, adding small pockets on either side for thread and other small articles. This she uses by the side of a low, comfortable rocker, which has a cushion made of the same cretonne, and a footstool.

Mrs. Byrd also has in her prize living room a magazine rack, a flower stand, pictures with frames redone, a card table, and other little conveniences, nearly all of which she created from cast-away material around her home.

The total cost of the improvements made in the room was $27.60. Mrs. Byrd plans to make similar improvements in all the rooms of her home, she says, and Miss Sevier reports that all six of the women who took part in the contest plan to go on with their home improvement instead of stopping with their living rooms.

FRANCES ANN BEAL NOT SCARLET FEVER VICTIM

The Record was in error last week in stating that Frances Ann Beal was a scarlet fever victim. This rumor seems to have gotten underway because of the fact that Frances Ann was exposed to the disease, and kept out of school until precautionary measures could be taken. She is back in school now, free from the germs of the disease. The Record is sorry to have made this unpleasant mistake.

"BIG BOSS" OF RECORD RETURNS FROM TRIP TO CONCHO RIVER

(By the Fish Editor)

The "big boss" of this paper, accompanied by four Baptist deacons and the colored porter of this shop, returned Friday night from an alleged fishing expedition somewhere on or near the Concho river.

The gentlemen composing this fishing party were F. B. Whipkey, Dr. T. J. Ratliff, Tom Russell, C. L. Gray, Ed Jones, and the colored porter, Tom Jones. All of these gentlemen have been so busy since their return that the writer has been unable to get any facts on the trip, except that each one would state, "It was one of the best outings I ever had in my life." Therefore, the "fish editor" will have to confine his report to statements he was able to pump out of the negro porter as to what these Baptists said and did while playing the role of Isaak Walton.

First of all, it seems to have been a very harmonious outing. Church members always get along all right together until they start discussing the church choir (in most any church) and then friendship ceases. Fortunately this subject was not brought up, although they talked about everything else under the shining sun and told jokes that would have warmed the heart of any traveling man in the world.

After arriving at the camp, it seems that all the fishermen came to the conclusion that it would be necessary to have minnows to lure fish out of the Concho, but no one seemed disposed to wade into water with a seine after them. "Uncle Fred," to show that he was a true Baptist and not afraid of water, volunteered to catch the minnows for the other fellows would catch the fish. The suggestion was as welcome to these men as that railroad underpass would be to Colorado, and got much quicker action. Mr. Whipkey took the negro porter and the seine and started out. He carefully pulled off shoes and socks and placed them in a nice, dry place, then rolled his trousers just as high as he could get them, and if Tom Sawyer could have seen him there, he would have turned over in his grave with envy. The seining made delightful progress until Uncle Fred's foot came in contact with a beautiful polished and very slick rock in the bottom of the pool they were seining. In attempting to regain his lost balance, he placed the other foot up on the rock to assist in maintaining traction, but this seemed only to accelerate the movement and "Uncle Fred" did a Brodie act, taking a complete bath from head to foot. The sad part of this incident was the fact that he was away out on the Concho river, wet as the dickens, and not a dry thread to put on—except a pair shreds and pair of socks. It is understood that Dick Gray started out with the seiners to bring back the minnows, but got to thinking about snakes, and the more he thought about the reptiles the more firmly convinced he became that he could be of more assistance at the camp. Therefore he failed to get any glory out of bringing in the minnows.

From a description of this fishing trip as told to the "fish editor," fishing was a kind of an afterthought with these men. Mr. Whipkey had carried his complete camping outfit of tents and tarpaulins, cooking utensils, easy chairs, tables, and almost all the comforts of home, and the men just sat around the tables all day and most of the night, playing 42 and dominoes, only stopping long enough to eat, and according to the negro porter, he never saw men eat so much in his life. When the games would get a little dull, they would start telling stories, and if you, gentle reader, don't believe they know some real yarns, just ask them to tell you a few.

These respectable, truthful church members say they caught some fish, but if they brought any home, the writer has been unable to find anyone who eat any of them.

Mission Church Celebrated First Birthday Sunday

Firmly on its feet after a year of existence, the Mission church of the Methodist church on the East side, celebrated its first birthday Sunday afternoon with services by Rev. W. C. Hinds, pastor of the Methodist church.

The Sunday school of the Mission has enrolled 105 members during the year, has given away 19 Bibles, and has taught the children many passages of scripture, songs, and habits of cleanliness. Mrs. W. H. Garrett, who is superintendent, and her teachers, plan even greater things for the coming year.

LOCAL CLUBWOMEN TO BE REPRESENTED ON BROWNWOOD PROGRAM

Mrs. Lee Jones To Preside At Banquet Given Thursday Noon

Indications are that Colorado club women will be well-represented at the fourteenth annual convention of the Sixth District, Texas Federation of Women's clubs to be held in Brownwood on April 30 to May 2. At least one Colorado woman, Mrs. J. Lee Jones, chairman of the American Home department in the Sixth district, will be prominent on the program of the meeting.

Community service is to be the theme of the program of the meeting, which has been prepared under the direction of Mrs. M. H. Hagaman of Ranger. This will be the last convention over which Mrs. John Perry of Sweetwater will preside as district president. Up to date only the name of Mrs. Greenleaf Fisk of Abilene has been presented as a candidate for the office.

The club women will be guests of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce at a chicken barbecue to be given at noon on Wednesday, May 1, and that evening at a May Day dinner honoring the district president and past presidents, and Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie, president of the State Federation. Mrs. H. B. Broadwater of Colorado, if she attends the meetings, will be one of the guests of honor at this dinner, being a past president of the Sixth District.

Thursday's luncheon will be arranged by Mrs. Lee Jones of Colorado, district chairman of the American Home, and will feature an address by Mrs. J. L. Young of Mineral Wells, State chairman of this department.

Delegates and visitors will be entertained in the homes of the Brownwood club members, and are requested to send their names at once to Mrs. Hans Schroeder, Brownwood, so that entertainment can be provided. Registration will begin at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, and will be at the Woman's Club, Carnegie Library, where all business sessions will be held.

During Mrs. Perry's administration the Sixth district has been recognized as having made exceptional progress in its work in the department of the American Home of which Mrs. J. Lee Jones of Colorado is chairman. This district received the loving cup awarded to that district of the entire State showing the best county development and leadership. The scholarship fund; five dollar gold piece increased so that now it is paying the tuition of four girls at the Sul Ross Teachers' College, Alpine.

More prizes awarded for achievement are being offered by the Sixth than by any other district in the State—several of them being given this year for the first time. Mrs. Perry herself offers the following: Loving cup to the club making the largest contribution to the scholarship fund; five-dollar gold piece for the best club report; five dollar gold piece for the best county federation report; five dollar gold piece for the best one act drama; Lexie Dean Robertson's "Red Heels" for the best original poem.

Rev. Harvey Ends Denison Revival Last of This Week

Rev. J. D. Harvey, pastor of the Church of Christ, who is in a revival at Denison, Texas, reports a fine meeting, which is to close this week. Rev. Mr. Harvey will be in Colorado to fill his own pulpit next Sunday morning.

FAITHFUL JEWS TO OBSERVE PASSOVER

Although they will attend no special services, orthodox Jews of Colorado will keep many of the home customs of observing Passover, which is to begin Wednesday at noon and last eight days.

In preparation for Passover, according to Jews here, the home of the observant Jew is thoroughly cleansed by the housewife, leaven searched out by candlelight the evening before and burned next morning. A separate set of Passover dishes is used.

Passover is the Jewish independence day, and the chief feature is the eating of unleavened bread. The first two evenings are the occasions for joyful family reunions. The story of Israel's redemption is read, the Jewish persecution by the Pharaohs described, and the plagues visited upon the Egyptians recounted.

Mrs. Pansy Soper accompanied her son, Russell, to Austin Sunday.

Mrs. J. E. McCleary went to Lubbock Sunday.

Miss Grace Mann, who is teaching school at Big Spring, is spending a few days here this week visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Mann.

How to Raise Poultry

By Dr. L. D. LeGore, V. S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGore is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1902. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder, noted author and lecturer.

PITY POOR CHANTICLEER

"Swat the Rooster" is Now the Watchword With Most Poultrymen When the Breeding Season Comes To an End.

The old expression, "Cock-o'-the-Walk," doesn't mean as much now as it once did. In former times, Sir Chanticleer strutted about, with all the insolence of one whose indispensability could not be questioned. He became the central figure of many a legend, even to becoming the hero of a great fanciful drama by the master playwright, Edmond Rostand. Well he might strut with all this adulation, but his day of greatness is now gone forever. At best, he is merely tolerated during the breeding season and as a reward for faithful service he is then condemned to the axe or to exile.

For this, the one time supreme dictator of barnyard society must lay the blame on fairly recent scientific discovery. Like the musician who sees his livelihood threatened by the Vitaphone and Movietone, the exultant of chickendom now finds himself in a very precarious position. My investigations on my experimental farm prove to me that all roosters should be removed from the flock as soon as the breeding season is over. They should then be comfortably housed or sent to the butcher. I am convinced that fully $50,000,000 is lost every year by poultry raisers who, through carelessness or because they do not know any better, allow roosters to run with the flock out of breeding season.

The rooster's part in poultry raising is merely to fertilize the eggs intended for hatching. Hens will lay just as well with no male birds present, as when they are. Some poultrymen contend they lay even better without male birds. Furthermore, an infertile egg will keep much longer than a fertile one.

The fertilization of eggs causes them to spoil much more quickly than they would if not fertilized, especially in hot weather. Heat causes the germ in the egg to grow and as soon as such growth starts, the egg is no longer fit for use as food. On the other hand, I have fully demonstrated the keeping quality of infertile eggs by keeping them in incubators for varying lengths of time. I have tested such eggs after the tenth day of incubation and found them still comparatively fresh. Had they been fertile, they would have been completely spoiled after two or three days in the incubator. In warm weather, fertile eggs will spoil almost as quickly as they will in an incubator or under a setting hen unless they are kept in a cool, dry place.

Eggs should be gathered twice a day in hot weather and marketed at least twice a week. Nests should be kept in a clean dry place and the litter in them should be frequently renewed to insure cleanliness and help to keep down vermin. Small, soiled and deformed eggs or those that are off color should be kept for home use. Eggs of good color, uniform size and, above all, those that are not fertile, command the best prices.

So many of the stations where eggs are bought now conduct tests for fertility that their sale is the more reason for segregating or butchering the rooster as soon as his period of usefulness is over. As soon as one breeding season is over, therefore, all male birds should be put in comfortable pens to themselves or should be marketed for table use. Any poultryman who is not already practicing this plan of handling the male birds of his flock is losing money through his old-fashioned methods and will be well repaid for adopting more up-to-date practices.

SPECIAL SPRING DISPLAY OF OAKLAND-PONTIAC AUTOMOBILES IN CITY

In conjunction with a national program participated in by 23,000 automobile dealers, the doors swung open this week on a special display of new Oakland and Pontiac sixes at the showrooms of A. J. Herrington, local dealers.

This display ties in with the General Motors Spring showing, a huge cooperative undertaking providing for dealers handling all makes of General Motors cars in the United States to place more than 125,000 automobiles on exhibition from April 20 to 27, Mr. Herrington stated.

"The idea behind this national showing is to acquaint motorists with the newest developments in motor car style and performance during that season of the year when they are vitally interested," he continued.

"The General Motors Spring showing comprises the largest simultaneous exhibition of new automobiles since the inception of the industry. Thousands of new Oakland All-American sixes and new Pontiac Big Sixes alone will be used during the week, solely for display purposes.

"Our own showrooms in Colorado," stated Mr. Herrington, "have been

The high school juniors gave a party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Johnson Friday night, honoring the members of the graduating class. The house was tastefully decorated with the class colors and as soon as the guests arrived, games started which proved so popular that the midnight hour arrived before they were aware of it. Ice cream and cake were served to about 20 guests.

The ninth grade, accompanied by their teacher, Mr. Glover and Mrs. J. B. McKinney, donned their overalls and straw hats Saturday and went to Moss Springs, where they spent the day doing experimental work and sightseeing. Some of them had the misfortune of losing their balance and rolling down the mountain, but so far as we can learn no casualties have been reported. A delicious lunch was spread at the noon hour. They all report a splendid and profitable time.

Mrs. Ray Richardson of Colorado was a guest of Mrs. Frank Oglesby on Sunday.

Perry T. Brown of Plemon, former superintendent of the Westbrook school, was a visitor in the home of T. W. Ramsey last Sunday.

Misses Claudia Bell and Bernice McDonald made a trip to Longfellow Tuesday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Young, aged 68 years, died at the home of her son, Albert Young of this place, Monday evening at 7 o'clock, after a two-weeks' illness caused from heart trouble. Mrs. Young (nee Miss Elizabeth Vickers) was married to Mr. Albert Leroy Young in 1882, at Old Independence, and to this union six children were born, two of whom, with the husband, preceded her to the better world. All of the children but one—Mrs. Felker of West Virginia—attended the funeral services.

Mrs. Young was converted and joined the Baptist church at the age of 13 years, to which she remained true and loyal to the end, and although she has crossed over the river, her beautiful influence will live on. She was one of the early graduates of Baylor College, known then as Old Independence Female College. Having had these early advantages, together with her pleasing personality, made her a rather remarkable character and she was able to give something to the world that but few others of her day could. She, with her children, lived in and around Westbrook for a number of years and nothing but the kindest of words are used by her friends in speaking of her life during those years. Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Wednesday at 11 a. m., with Rev. McDermott in charge. A great many relatives and friends followed the remains to the cemetery.

Mrs. Hattie Berry left Tuesday for Duncan, Oklahoma, in response to a message that her cousin had died.

We have just learned that Miss Vivian Glover, one of the grade teachers in the Westbrook school, surprised her many friends when she was quietly married Monday night to Mr. Hubert Powers, superintendent of the Conaway school. The wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage, with Rev. McDermott officiating. During the past year these young folks have made a host of friends, both here and at Conaway, and all join the correspondent in wishing them a life full of joy and contentment.

Baptist Notes

Mrs. Anderson entertained her Junior boys and girls with a Japanese party Friday night. The house was beautifully decorated in colors, the lights being covered with dainty Japanese baskets. Mrs. McDermott was asked to open a Japanese umbrella which contained handkerchiefs, a love gift from the boys and girls as an appreciation for her many kind deeds when she was the leader. The hostess served delicious sandwiches, fruit salad, cakes and ice tea.

The W. M. S. Circle No. 1 met in the home of Mrs. Brunson Monday with 10 present. Circle No. 2 met with Mrs. Frank Neal. Each lady was asked to offer a special prayer for the revival meeting, which began Monday night with Bro. Howard conducting the services and Bro. Compton leading the singing.

Bro. McDermott brought a wonderful message Sunday morning to a well-filled house, with visitors from Abilene, Dunn and other places. Sunday school attendance reached 178, with 22 visitors. The church and Sunday school gave a rising vote of thanks to Bro. McDermott and his family for their sacrifice in making it possible for us to have this nice tabernacle for class rooms.

As a result of a contest between Mr. King's and Mrs. Donelson's Sunday school classes of young men and women, the young men—who lost—invited all to meet at the church Friday evening at 6 o'clock and go to Butler tank, where a general good time was had by all present. After the games the men served a feast of fried chicken and the many good things that go with it, including ice cream and cake. All returned home tired but happy, the girls wishing that in the next contest, for the next few weeks, the boys will be forced to entertain again, because they can put it over in a big way.

Payne Notes

Miss Mildred Brown of Seven Wells spent the week-end with Miss Gladys Grissom.

W. A. Smith and family spent Sunday with O. M. Homer and family of Cuthbert.

Mrs. W. M. Copeland and son, Austin, spent Friday in Sweetwater shopping.

Miss Pearl Venus of Seven Wells spent Sunday with Miss Lorraine Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Miss Lucy Buckalew, Edward Boulwell and Miss Ruthie Williams visited the Coke county mountains Sunday.

Carl Kniff and family of Colorado spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams.

J. F. Morren, and son, Edward, were called to Eastland last week on account of ill relatives.

ABILENE MAN NOW PRAISES ORGATONE

Mr. Jake Zabloudil Feels That He Has Taken a New Lease on Life—Suffered Six Months

Mr. Jake Zabloudil, a prominent capitalist, oil man and banker, who resides at 802 Orange St., Abilene, Texas, comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of Orgatone. "Not in years," said Mr. Zabloudil, while in Harvey Hays' drug store at Abilene, recently, "have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Orgatone. One bottle of this medicine has done me more good than all the other treatments and medicines I have taken in the last six months combined."

"At the time I began taking Orgatone my stomach had been in bad shape for at least six months. My food would invariably sour and I would suffer from a dull ache or a burning sensation in my stomach. Occasionally gas would bother me after eating and I would have cramping pains. I was also in a run-down condition and know that I wasn't up to par."

"Well, I tried a good many things but nothing helped me until I got Orgatone and now I am just like a new man. Before I took Orgatone myself I did not believe half they were saying about it, but I had not been taking it but a few days until I was convinced of its value. I do not have that soreness any more and I can eat just anything I want without the slightest trouble from it. In fact, I just feel like I have been given a new lease on life and I feel that I owe it to the public to tell my experience with this meritorious remedy."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Colorado from the Colorado and City Drug stores. Adv.-It

A BIG FISH STORY THAT DID NOT WORK

That fellow C. F. Raifsnider, who works at the Record office and who had such wonderful success fishing about ten days ago, laid off work last Friday and went back to the Concho to try his luck again. He returned Monday and reported success far beyond his most pleasant anticipations. The "fish editor" of this paper was taking notes on this trip, intending to give a full account of it, when Raifsnider made the statement, "I threw 25 of them back, because I had more than I could get home with." The writer threw down his pencil, tore up his notes and refused to have anything more to do with a person who has no regard whatever for truth and veracity.

COLORADO MAN AUTHOR OF MAGAZINE ARTICLE

Sam J. Smith, agent for the Pierce Petroleum Corporation in Colorado, is the author of this article, entitled "The Truest Type," which appeared in the Texas Christian Advocate some years ago:

Men have in every age devised political, educational and religious systems of government, and since, and even before the days of Paul, the kings have presumed to advise God, and act according to their own purpose.

The test of every system has ever been the Man it produces, and the no less sure test of every man is the type to which he gives the sanction of his approval. To what type or king, then, shall we swear allegiance? That system that dwarfs the intellect is bad; if it degrades the ideals it is vicious; if it fails to reach the conscience it is criminal.

The ancient Roman was taught that physical perfection was the end for which man should strive. And Rome became the impersonation of physical force—the animal dominated Europe. The delight of the masses was the arena—and a Spartacus was the "Highest Type"—Hear him, "O Rome! Rome! Thou hast been a tender nurse to me, Ay, thou hast given to that poor, timid, gentle shepherd lad, who never knew a harsher tone than a flue note, muscles of iron and a heart of flint—taught him to drive a sword through plated mail and links of rugged brass, and warm it in the marrow of his foe; to gaze into the glaring eyeball of the fierce Numidian lion, even as a boy upon a laughing girl."

Would you see another, in whom centers the result of such ideals? Look if you please at Nero, whose bloody name has become a synonym for all that is vile in human nature.

The Greek youth had no other type—they were given over to the guardianship of the state and reached the highest development in patriotic and aesthetic animalism. Such they were, when Paul found the scholars and poets in the Pantheon, in whose midst was the Altar to the unknown god—whom Paul declared unto them. No truth is more firmly established in history or psychology, than the fact, that mental development, does not necessarily mean soul development, or the right Type.

France is a notable example. M. Laban, a French author and infidel, but, withal, a close student of Sociology, declares that France must return to the Type of the churches. The morality with no conscious responsibility to either God or man, is a structure without foundation. He adds, "The Universities of France, with no thought given to morals, gives the world, not citizens, but anarchists, the legitimate type of such parentage."

Darwin, the scientist, says: "I felt strongly impelled to the ministry, but decided to give my thought to science." Forgot and neglected the religious nature until it was atrophied. The Type had hardened into materialism.

It is a lesson more often learned than loved. All knowledge is not nourishment; the soul cannot feed upon the husks. In reckless thirst, the scholar sometimes kneels beside the stream polluted by the lepers of the mind.

The skeptic with his doubts of all things good, and faith in all things evil, has been there. He has strown the shore with bright and beautiful flowers, and sloped the banks down gently for the feet. The world looks approvingly on; the pleasure mind conceives against why 'tis good. Behind stand the strong passions pleading to go on and drink of the mild waters and the lying tempter whispers, though it strain it will strengthen your proud wings, and man dreams like Lucifer, to mount upon the darling draught to heaven.

I need not follow the similitude, Truth is Life, and if the soul be fed on poison it must forever be of the lower type—"The vision, that ever strains to err, soon finds its task a habit."

Comenius, the first advocate of general public education, announced a basic truth when he said, "Every human being has within him the germ of every character." It is clear that every one is what his dominating nature makes him to be.

It is equally clear, that he is responsible for the cultivation of right and suppression of the wrong powers within him. God would have us be our best; be strong by overcoming that which would drag us down and of the True Type by using the talents committed to our care. In truth, the parable of the talents leaves us no choice as to whether we shall develop or bury any given talent; but would teach us the one lesson of the ages, that we must look at life from the standpoint of responsibility to God—as well as our responsibility to man, in order that every finite capacity be brought as nearly as possible to the perfection planned by the Infinite. We, then, seriously ask, must God be taken into consideration in all things? May not man desire something that will abide? Let us appeal to history. "Speak, Thou Truthful Chancellor of the ages." Can man reach the Highest Type when God's plan is ignored? Is there anything enduring except God's Word—and that which is founded upon it?

Troy thought to stand forever but "The Land of Priam" lives only in the sons of the blind old bard of Scia's rocky isle. So thought Thebes, but, her granite walls and hundred gates of brass and iron are crumbled into nothingness, and her monuments are as the dust. They were vainly intended to commemorate. So thought the countries of Demosthenes and Leonidas, but "Sparta is trampled by the timid slave and Athens insulted by the servile Ottoman," the days of their glory are, as if they had never been.

Some would pluck the jewels from the crown of a well-spent life and hide them among the mud sills of their own selfishness and personal aggrandisement, that they might dominate regardless of the "Broken Pinion" and bleeding heart—or the retribution that sticks its fangs into a sleepless conscience.

It is said, that a mother, praying for her son, was visited by messengers, who could answer prayer. One said, "Ask for your son fame and honor, I bestow those gifts." Another said, "Ask wealth, worship me—I will all earthly goods bestow." Many other things were offered, and finally, one said, "Ask me, I will fix his mind on Truth, and help him to become a man of the Highest Type." This was what she wanted. Who does not?

This Type is not simply a method, but life, filled with a calm enthusiasm radiant with an abiding love and hope; steadfast in purpose and character, with truth as an ideal, unwrought into every fiber of the soul.

Is there such a type? Let us ask the prophet, Isa. See him, as he stands on the highest peak of God's confidence, above the clouds of mortal vision, and looks across seven hundred and fifty years, above the mist and storms, far above the thunders home, standing on some lonely and rugged Crag that raises its head in frowning grandeur till its crown blend with the Etherial beauties, and Isa balanced himself on the wings of the morning and lit among the velvet hills in sight of the City of God, so near, he was afraid to speak for fear of disturbing the dwellers of Heaven; God's words, his words; faith in God, the telescope, with which he scans the horizon, until the central figure of the universe stands out above all space, a glittering Cameo, against the dark background of the World's necessities. Hear him exclaim—"Behold my servant whom I uphold." Is it possible that the highest title he can bestow is SERVANT? He would impress us, that the highest quality, is the "Highest Type" is service, a fulfilling of the Divine purpose in our lives. Listen further, He adds, after servant, "Whom I uphold." If God be for us who can be against us?

Look at him who reads aright the image on his soul, and gives it nurture like a child of light. His life is calm and blessed, for his peace like a rich pearl lies deep beyond the divers vision. He is pure, for the soul's errands are not confined with men, his senses are subdued and serve the soul. He feels no void, for, every faculty is used, the fine balance of desire is perfect, and strains evenly and on. Content swells with him for his mind and soul is fed, temperance has driven out unrest. "All things are his" whether "Life or death, or immortality."

God cannot buy the wealth He has. The air of heaven that rocks through the fields of immeasurable space and dips to greet the long arms of the trees, as they lift them heavenward in prayer to Him who stood on the frontier of the Glory World and proclaimed that they would make man, the "Highest Type" in His own image, visits no fresher the monarch's brow. He has his portion of each shining star, that was a charter member of that great chorus that furnished the first great anthem that floated out on the morning air and died away in sweet lullaby over the cradle of an infant world. Th star sent to eye as freely and the light to shine for him as brightly as on the golden missal of a king. The fragrant flowers are free to him, the sward, the tender moss, and matted forest leaves are as elastic to his weary feet, the birds sing to him, and his prayers go up mounting and singing with them to the very gates of heaven. Love fills his voice with music, the sympathizing (ear springs to his eye, and the words written by Moses and the king of Israel, ravish and steal his soul up to the sky.

What matters, then, if to be great—is to be servant of all, and God came in and visit him, and uphold him. What matters then that at his door there are no pillars with rich capitals, or work of curious workmanship within, if we feel the Omnipotence within us and know the lavish measure in which God's love is given, and know we are a spark "Struck from the burning essence of God," and see in every service we may render a shining gate through which the soul ascends, and the true atmosphere for our imprisoned wings.

The Nazarine was this "Highest Type"—How nearly can we be like Him?

WIDESPREAD INTEREST REPORTED IN PLYMOUTH CAR DEMONSTRATIONS

Featuring the full line of Plymouth motor cars with important mechanical improvements, the National Display and Demonstration conducted by Plymouth dealers throughout the country is creating unusual interest. Advice from the Detroit offices of the Plymouth Motor Corporation indicate that large and enthusiastic throngs are being attracted to these displays of Chrysler-built Plymouth motor cars.

Many of the mechanical improvements are to be found in the engine where a longer stroke and greater piston displacement, longer connecting rods, heavier crankshaft, larger main bearings, and improved lubrication have been used to produce greatly improved acceleration and a remarkable degree of smoothness.

Among the other new features are an approved clutch and a new type exhaust manifold which has been designed to carry the hot exhaust gases from the engine at the front rather than at the rear. This is a feature that is particularly desirable during the Summer driving season as it promotes driving comfort by minimizing the possibility of engine heat entering the front compartment.

A large number of other improvements which add to the ease of operation, the comfort, and the dependability of the Plymouth are also to be found on the models new on display.

Those who have already had a demonstration have found that the easy riding qualities of the Plymouth have not been overstated, for they had ample opportunity to feel how the flexible springs and self-adjusting shackles obviated any bumps in the road. The women in particular, were pleased to note how easily the cars handled in traffic due to their quick acceleration, easy steering qualities, and weather-proof internal expanding hydraulic four-wheel brakes.

Reports reaching the home office from all parts of the country indicate heavy attendance everywhere.

SLIGHT GRASSHOPPER DAMAGE INDICATED

COLLEGE STATION, April 23.—The drone of the grasshopper hasn't had the menacing twang for the last few years because they've come to Texas in such small numbers as to be of little importance, and it is not anticipated that any general damage will be done this season. They were found laying their eggs in a few places last fall, however, and farmers in scattered sections may soon find that something needs to be done about it. These eggs begin hatching in April, as a rule, especially if a period of warm rain occurs.

"Poisoned bran mash will be found effective wherever damage becomes serious," says R. R. Reppert, Entomologist in the Extension Service, and gives this formula: Mix up 20 pounds of bran, one pound of Paris green, two quarts cane molasses, and six lemons, using both the juice and the rind. The lemons should be run through a meat grinder. Mix up with enough water to make a thoroughly moist but not sloppy mash. Five pounds of this mixture should be enough for one acre of infested field, applied broadcast. Usually it is unnecessary to poison an entire field but only the edges where the infestation is worst. Grasshoppers generally invade fields from adjoining pastures or woodlands and where they are found there in large numbers, it's wise to scatter poison along the fence rows or borders of these places, sometimes taking in a considerable margin.

The Lady—Oh, that is too much trouble. Let me have it again and I'll write it all with a blue pencil.

Mary—It's not the school that is so bad. It is the principal of the thing.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

AUSTIN, April 24.—Final responsibility for an execution should not be put upon one man, says Mrs. Dan Moody.

The wife of the governor has had opportunity to learn just what a strain it is upon her husband. An execution night is a sleepless night for Governor Moody. It is the hardest part of the governor's work.

Other governors have dreaded this as much as Governor Moody. Some of them have not accepted the responsibility as fully as he. One governor avoided seeing relatives of men under death sentence.

Another hit upon the expedient of referring applications for commutation to the District Judge who tried the case in which a defendant had been given the death penalty. "If the judge recommends a commutation I will grant it; otherwise not," this governor would say. The result was that the applications were shrewdly upon the judge instead of the Governor.

District Judge George Calhoun of Austin cured the practice so far as he was concerned. To applicants who came to him from that governor Judge Calhoun announced a willingness to write the governor about the case. Then he wrote in substance, "I tried the case and exercised my responsibility as judge. It's up to you to exercise your responsibility as Governor."

Of course the message was couched in more diplomatic terms, but that was what it meant.

Recent appeals to Governor Moody for clemency in the case of Bob Silver and Robert F. Blake have made the matter a live issue at this time. Friends of the governor frankly advocate abolition of the plan by which final decision of life and death is left to the governor. The trouble is that no remedy can be found without a constitutional amendment. The pardon power is vested in the governor and it cannot be restricted by an act of the legislature. Abolition of capital punishment would be the only way to relieve the governor of passing on life and death. It is doubtful if the legislature is ready to go that length.

Although not included in Governor Moody's call of the special session of the legislature, highway affairs promise again to be one of the hard-fought issues. It is expected that the governor will specifically submit the topic of highway financing. Even if he should not do so, it could be taken up on his submitting any State revenue measures.

How far this rule stretches was illustrated by the extension of votes to women in Texas. Former Governor Hobby had been importuned to submit woman suffrage but had not done so. But when he submitted the election matter, it was held that the whole subject of elections was open, including woman suffrage. So if the governor submits any financing, as he is almost bound to do, the highway problem comes up. It cannot, this time, include a road bond issue, for that can be acted upon only at a regular session. But the people are anxious to stop the highway commission from changing the route of their highways, and the Round rock bill, as it is known, which was vetoed by the governor, will no doubt bob up again and there are excellent chances of its being passed by a two-thirds majority of both houses. The governor lost many friends when he vetoed that bill, especially in his home county.

Representative Leonard Tillotson has bills drawn calling for financing of highways on a four-cent gasoline tax, all registration fees or taxes collected in connection with highway operation. He would give the highway department, also, all passenger car registration fees over $250,000 collected in any county. These funds with local and Federal aid, he estimates, would provide $40,000,000 for this year and next year. He proposes a 20 per cent reduction in automobile registration fees to start with and larger reduction later.

Ray Holder and a number of others are contending for the 50 per cent reduction in registration fees for which they held out at the regular session.

Among other things being sought by the highway department, which seems determined to get all the money in sight, is a new highway building. It now occupies the basement and one floor of the State office building.

Worried Night after Night as health declined

"I SUFFERED frequently from nervous headaches, and I could not sleep well," says Mrs. Cora Dover, R. F. D. 2, Hickory Grove, S. C. "I was thin and pale. I was so weak I could scarcely walk. I tried several remedies which were suggested, but nothing seemed to help me. Night after night I worried because I could see I was going down-hill. I had my children to look after, and I was afraid of what would become of them if anything happened to me."

"I began to take Cardui on the recommendation of a friend. It wasn't long until I was beginning to pick up. My strength gradually began to return. I rested better at night and was less nervous. I took several bottles of Cardui, and when I had finished taking it I was in fine health."

Lesson for April 23

THE SUFFERING SERVANT OF JEHOVAH

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 52:13-53:12

GOLDEN TEXT—With his stripes we are healed.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus' Love for the JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Love for the INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Our Salvation Cost. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Suffering Savior.

This prophecy is the grand center of the Old Testament. The bond servant of Jehovah with great wisdom gloriously executes the divine purpose at the cost of great suffering.

I. The Servant's Triumph (52:13-15).

By the servant here is meant the coming Messiah (42:1).

1. His wisdom (v. 13).

"He will deal prudently," for his name is "Counselor" (9:6). He was filled with the spirit of wisdom and understanding (11:2).

2. He shall be exalted (v. 13).

He was to be extolled and magnified because he was the "Mighty God" (9:6), even Immanuel. Because of Christ's devotion to His task of redemption, God has highly exalted Him and given Him a name which is above every name (Phil. 2:9).

3. The appearance of the Servant (v. 14).

Because of His merited "visage," He wholly disappointed the expectation of the carnal minds who looked for outward signs of royalty and worldly greatness. Jesus, as Jehovah's servant, was tortured and beaten by men as He went about doing the business committed to Him.

4. The issue of His ministry (v. 15).

"He shall sprinkle many unclean."

This reveals Him as the great High Priest sprinkling the nations with His blood, cleansing them from their sins. Just as the people were astonished with the silence of Jesus in the midst of His shameful treatment, so shall the kings and great men of the earth be dumb before Him when the suffering Servant shall be exalted.

II. The Servant Despised and Rejected (53:1-3).

1. The unbelief of the Jews (v. 1).

(1) They disbelieved the words of the prophets.

(2) They did not recognize the hand of the Lord in the miracles and wonders which He wrought.

2. The origin of the Servant (v. 2).

He sprang out of the stump of Judah. The sad condition of the people at that time is expressed by "dry corn."

3. The Man of Sorrows (v. 3).

He was afflicted and rejected.

III. The Vicarious Suffering of the Servant (53:4-6).

1. His griefs and sorrows were ours (v. 4). This awful suffering was looked upon by the world as occasioned by sin—"we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted."

2. He was beaten for us (v. 5).

That which was our due was meted out to Him. Observe the words, "wounded," "bruised," "despised," "stripes"—how awful they picture His treatment, and yet "our" shows that His suffering was vicarious.

3. The reason for (v. 6).

All humanity, Jews and Gentiles, had gone astray. God laid upon Him the iniquity of us all.

IV. The Death of the Servant (53:7-9).

1. The strange silence (v. 7).

He opened not His mouth. He went as a lamb to the slaughter. "He answered them never a word, insomuch that the governor marvelled greatly" (Matt. 27:14).

He Bares Our Sicknesses

When the even was come, they brought unto Him many that were possessed with devils; and He cast out the spirits with His word, and healed all that were sick; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophet, saying, Himself took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.—Matthew 8:16, 17.

BANKS CLOSED ON SAN JACINTO DAY

Closing of the bank doors was the only observation of San Jacinto Day, Monday, in Colorado. Schools, post-office, and business houses remained open.

Monday was the eighty-third anniversary of the decisive battle which finally defeated the Mexican army which had been sent from Mexico under the personal leadership of the president of that country, Santa Anna, in the hope of subduing the Texans, who shortly before had declared their independence.

The battle of San Jacinto was the culmination of a number of fights which had taken place between the two armies, and so thoroughly was the Mexican army routed that a complete recognition of the independence of Texas was forced.

The two armies had been maneuvering for some time, Santa Anna having come from his brutal massacre at San Antonio. Under leadership of Sam Houston, the Texan took the offensive and came upon the Mexicans before the latter was expecting them to come up.

In the number of men involved, compared with the great battles which characterized the recent war, the battle, important as it was in its effects, seems only a skirmish. Santa Anna and his subordinate General Cos, were in command of a body of troops numbering 1500. Under General Houston there were in all 783 men, making a total of less than 2300 men who were involved in the engagement.

Early in the morning of April 21, the Texans were lined up for a surprise attack on the Mexican forces which had camped for the night at a point on the lower Brazos River near the location of the present city of Houston. Lieutenant Colonel Henry Millard was in command of the cannon to the right and Inspector-General George W. Heckley was in control of the cannon on the left side of the line. Under Colonel Burleson and Colonel Sherman were the first and second regiments of infantry, while Colonel Mirabeau was at the head of the cavalry.

At the command they suddenly advanced forward toward the Mexican camp, shouting the famous battle cry, "Remember the Alamo," and "Remember Goliad." The Mexicans were not expecting so early an attack and were at once routed, so that the Texans had to face only a scattering musket fire. For themselves, they did not fire until within point-blank range, where their shot did the most damage. The morale of the Mexican troops were completely broken down and the Texas line advanced without a halt, taking possession of the breast work which had been erected, and capturing the artillery which was deserted almost at the first shot.

How utterly demoralized the Mexican army was is shown by the fact that the entire engagement from the time of the first charge to the capture of the camp, lasted 18 minutes. In that time the Mexicans were driven out of camp, most of them captured, being cut off from retreat by the destruction of a bridge over the Brazos and a good store of equipment was taken over. Some of the men managed to escape and were not captured for several days. Santa Anna was not found until the next day and General Cos was captured two days later. In all some 750 officers and men, a number of cannons, and a large store of supplies fell into the hands of the Texan army.

Final Peace Terms

With the capture of Santa Anna, then acting as President of Mexico, Houston forced the negotiation of final peace terms and a document was soon signed which gave to the new republic her complete independence.

The battle and the securing of complete independence is unique to Texas among all the States of the American Union. There are no others among the forty-eight who were ever independent of all the rest. The original 13 colonies declared their independence in a body and the other States were territories ceded through treaties with other nations and not by voluntary annexation on the part of the State involved. Other States can take pride in the Declaration of Independence of the American Colonies and in the American War of the Revolution, but none of them have anything equivalent of the Texas Declaration of Independence and the Texas Revolution.

Because they do not learn from experience is reason for 91 towns in one State alone to pass out of existence in a ten-year period—an average of one to a county in some states. Such towns are in a rut—and the only difference between a rut and the grave is depth.

TEXAS SENATORS IN U. S. CONGRESS

1845 TO 1930
By ALVA O. HEARNE

The Record is running each week short biographical sketches of Senators elected to the United States Congress from Texas. Students and others interested should follow the series from week to week. If clipped and placed in a scrap book, these sketches will furnish valuable references on the political developments of Texas.

The thirteenth U. S. Senator elected from Texas was—
ROGER QUARLES MILLS
(1892-1899)

Roger Quarles Mills was born in Todd county, Kentucky, on March 30, 1832, a son of Charles Henley and Tabitha (Daniel) Mills. He attended the common schools and had the benefit of a good early education.

At the age of seventeen he moved to Palestine, Anderson county, Texas. Here he was a clerk in the post office and at the same time studied law. He became a clerk in the State Legislature in 1852, and was admitted to the bar by a special act of the Legislature, being at the time under 21 years old. The unusual promise of his youth was carried out by his speedily won fame in his profession.

In January, 1858, he was married to Carrie R., daughter of Colonel Henry Jones, a well known planter, Indian fighter, and later a large ranch owner in Texas. He was a member of the Texas House of Representatives in 1859-1860. He was a Democrat of sincere and reasonable beliefs. In the matter of secession, after mature deliberation, he fearlessly stood forth as the champion of the liberties of the South. His speeches aroused the deepest feeling of his listeners. On one occasion, soon after Mr. Lincoln's election, Mr. Mills was carried out to the stand by his enthusiastic admirers, and the impromptu address which he then delivered was one of the most glowing and impassioned ever uttered.

Colonel Mills' first appearance in the field in the Civil War was in Greer's cavalry at Oak Hills. He was afterwards appointed lieutenant-colonel, and then colonel of the 10th Texas infantry, defending most gallantly the garrison at Arkansas Post, although overcome by superior numbers. Following imprisonment came his exchange. He was then given command of a regiment, and received serious injuries at Chickamauga.

In 1865, Colonel Mills resumed his business and remained at home until he was elected to Congress, in 1873. When the State Democratic convention met at Corsicana in 1872, two candidates for Congressman-at-Large were to be nominated, and the contest, while free from bitterness and personalities, was very vigorous. There were a number of candidates, but the leading ones were Asa H. Willie, Roger Q. Mills, and J. W. Throckmorton.

Judge Willie, who was on the Supreme Court bench in 1866, was nominated first. The vote between Col. Mills and Gov. Throckmorton was evidently very close. The convention adjourned over to give the clerks time to verify the roll call and count. There were many divided delegations and, consequently, many fractional votes. The result was anxiously awaited and when announced, Colonel Mills had secured a two-thirds vote by the narrow margin three-fourths of a vote, so a political career which gave Colonel Mills national reputation, and revealed him as one of the ablest leaders of the Democratic party of his day and time, began by a victory won by less than one vote.

Colonel Mills was, therefore, elected as a Democrat to the Forty-third and was re-elected to the nine succeeding Congresses, and served from March 4, 1873, until his resignation on March 28, 1892. He was elected to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John H. Reagan, succeeding Horace Chilton, of Tyler, Texas, who served from December 7, 1891, to March 30, 1892, under appointment by Governor Hogg. Colonel Mills took his seat in the Senate on March 3, 1892, and served until March 3, 1899, when health he was forced to resign. The city charter authorizes the commission to appoint the fifth member in case of one vacancy.

he resumed the practice of law at Corsicana.

His interests being mainly directed toward the advancement of Texas, Colonel Mills favored general revision of tariff regulations which were "working against the home producers and consumers." His speeches on this subject showed marked skill and persevering investigation. He was a firm believer in the advancement of the industrial and producing classes to that power in the government which would enable them to correct unjust laws.

His loyalty to principle and his unflinching courage were very marked when opposing the electoral commission conferring the Presidency on Mr. Hayes, for he was convinced that Mr. Tilden had been constitutionally chosen.

Colonel Mills died in Corsicana, Texas, on September 2, 1911.

FORMER PROHIBITION OFFICER HEADS SAN ANGELO POLICE

W. L. Zent, for the past five years a member of the United States prohibition department, yesterday was appointed chief of police of San Angelo to succeed P. K. McIntosh, temporarily named to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of Carroll Bates, former chief, after his arrest early this year on a charge of conspiracy to violate the national dry laws.

Zent was appointed as a general prohibition agent in 1923, specially detailed to the territory embracing Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona but subject to call to any place in the United States. With the re-organization of the prohibition department in 1927, he was assigned to duty in the Texas-Oklahoma division.

Prior to that time, he served for four years as chief of police and chief of city detectives at Miami, Ariz. He has also been construction foreman for the Guggenheim Corporation in Arizona, and formerly was in business in Mexico. — San Angelo Standard.

Margaret Seddon plays another gripping mother role, and Kalla Pasha, graduating from slapstick to heavy drama, portrays the gardener who found the body and talked too much.

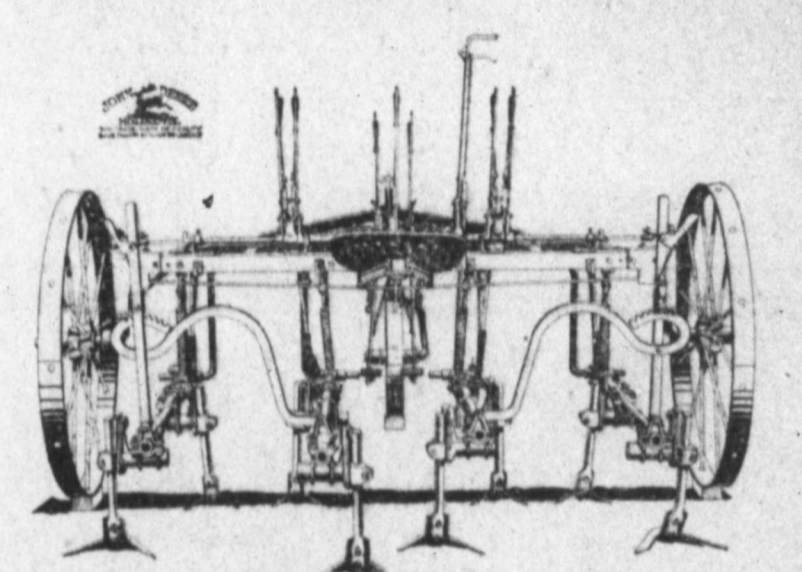

Betty Bronson, filmdom's "Peter Pan" girl, is seen in a sob sister part, and Edward Nugent, a new M-G-M "find," makes love to her as a young reporter.

The film play is Bell's own adaptation of the magazine mystery story from the pen of Frances Noyes Hart.

Hyman Happenings

An outstanding social and dramatic event of the week at Hyman was the presentation by the Hyman Players, at the Hyman school house of "A Prairie Rose," a stirring drama of the west, starring Miss Virgilia Welch. Under Miss Welch's able leadership the budding Booths and Bernhards of Hyman did credit to themselves and provided an evening of great pleasure to a large and enthusiastic audience of home folks and visitors. The play was produced for the benefit of the piano fund of Hyman church, and to the entire cast, consisting of Miss Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coles, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Andrews, Miss May Lee Woodward, and Messrs. Joe Woodward, Lee Minor, Herman Minor, Bennie Black and William Woodward, the church and the entire community extends thanks. Not only from an artistic but from a financial standpoint as well, was the occasion a success. The latter fact in a great degree, due to the support given it by a number of visitors from Colorado and other prosperous suburbs of Hyman. To our Colorado friends, especially, are we indebted, not only for the courtesy of their attendance and the pleasure which they gave us, but for the substantial way in which they contributed to the financial success of the evening. A number of business men and firms of Colorado contributed from their stocks of merchandise which was, after the completion of the play, auctioned off to the highest bidders, the proceeds of the sale then being donated to the piano fund of the church. The entire amount needed to pay for the piano was realized. This was a surprise to the people of Hyman, and is reported to have been instigated and organized by J. H. Greene, secretary of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce. The following is a list of those who contributed in a material way, but first we will state that Judge C. C. Thompson acted as auctioneer and made a success of it:

Pond & Merritt, Milla Chevrolet Co., John Brown, Whipkey Printing Co., Colorado Bargain House, City Market, Acorn Store, Inc., Hicks Rubber Co., L. B. Collier, Agent; M. System, W. L. Doss, Colorado Motor Co., H. L. Hutchinson, Grissom Associated Stores, Colorado Drug Co., J. Riordan, Texas Coca-Cola Co., Piggly Wiggly, J. A. Pickens, Jones Dry Goods, Sam L. Majors, J. P. Majors, Berry-Fee Lumber Co., Farmers' Gin Co., Burton-Lingo Co., Cameron Lbr. Co., Patterson Paint Co.

Those attending the play from out-of-town were: U. D. Wulfjen, W. S. Schley, E. McCurry, James Logan, D. P. Smith, W. W. Porter, Tom Johnson, A. A. Dorn, C. C. Thompson, J. L. Hutchinson, Clyde Haynie, C. P. Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gary, J. H. Greene, and Paul Starke.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pierce came in Saturday from near Colorado, to visit in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Smallwood.

Will T. Scott, Dr. S. V. Florey of Amarillo, and Mrs. Florence Taylor of Pittsburg, Pa., were in Hyman last Wednesday and took lunch with Mrs. Hyman. They were here looking over the oil interests around this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Smallwood left Saturday for Ira to visit the home folks, returning Sunday night.

Misses Fay McDonald and Dorothy Dawson returned Sunday from Abilene, where Miss McDonald had taken Dorothy to compete in the oratory contest for the district. We regret that Dorothy did not succeed in winning a place in the district meet, but we are proud she won the high place she did in the county.

Saturday night Clifford Burette, a nephew of Mrs. Ike Smallwood, who was at the Smallwood home, was very painfully burned, when he attempted to build a fire, and made the mistake of using gasoline instead of kerosene. We were very painfully if not seriously burned on the face, neck and hands. He was rushed to Colorado, where his wounds were dressed. His brother, Oscar, came in from Robert Lee Wednesday. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

After the play Friday night, Miss Virgilia Welch returned with her father to her home in Colorado. She returned to Hyman Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill Low and Betty Jane, Miss Opal Lee Priddy, Miss Madge Low and Mr. Elliott Dixon spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Smallwood.

We had the pleasure Sunday of having Brother Leach, our Baptist minister from Colorado, fill the pulpit for us in the absence of the regular minister of the Baptist church. He made some fine talks, and at the 11 o'clock service Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Meredith and daughter joined the church by letter from their former home at Stamford. Mrs. Leach and young son accompanied Brother Leach to Hyman and while here were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Black and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. VanZandt.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Andrews were called to Forsan last week to the bedside of Mrs. J. C. Wendland, Mrs. Andrews' mother. Mrs. Wendland was reported some better when they left.

This week started out bad for Mr. Frank Andrews, who had the misfortune of being kicked by a horse, taking out a plug of flesh just around the knee. It was a pretty hard blow and Mr. Andrews will be crippled for some time.

Mrs. Workman of Colorado was in Hyman for a short time Wednesday, returning later to Colorado.

Last Thursday evening the home of Mrs. Witt Hines was the scene of a lovely shower, honoring Mrs. J. D. Kennedy, a recent bride of the community. The evening was spent in games and contests interspersed with an interesting satire on the marriage ceremony and followed by a mock divorce trial. Mrs. Hines then read two numbers in her delightful way. Following this, the honoree was given the end of a string with instructions to seek the other end. After winding about for some time she came to a tastefully arranged table laden with the gifts. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments of cake and punch by Mrs. B. F. Palmer and Mrs. T. C. WEST TEXAS LEADS IN BUILDING OPERATIONS

DALLAS, April 23.—West Texas took the lead in building operations for the month of March, according to reports just compiled by Texas Life Insurance companies. That section of the State called for 48 per cent of the money loaned by these twelve life insurance companies on first lien notes. There has been a steady increase in the building activities of West Texas for the past six months.

North Texas, according to the report, took up 29 per cent of these loans, South Texas being third, and East Texas fourth. For the first time in many months more than 1 per cent of the loans made by the Texas companies went out of the State, 2 per cent of the total falling in that classification.

Policy loans, according to the re-

Fifty per cent of the entire amount invested by the Texas companies was in real estate loans and but 13 per cent in government bonds.

Investments on farm property, much of which was for the purpose of making improvements, ran to a rather high figure, business properties coming second in the list and residence property third.

NOW as never before you should be careful about lubrication

THE lubrication requirements of the present high speed motors are most exacting. With their fine adjustments, these motors will not operate efficiently with every oil. They require a lubricant which is made especially to meet the particular conditions which they have created.

That's why it's most important to always specify the oil you want—and it will pay you well to insist always on a brand which has back of it the resources and experience of the Continental Oil Company. Then you will always be sure to get the right oil—in the grade made especially for your motor.

Ask for these brands at the better service stations and garages.
