Shopping Party

Mrs. Sam Majors very delightfully entertained a number of her friends Thursday afternoon at the Country Club in honor of Mrs. P. K. Mackey, her sister Mrs. W. Mitchell, her daughter Mrs. L. G. Mackey, Mrs. Mackey and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Earl Mayfield, with a "Shopping Party."

On entering, the guests were greeted by the hostess and honoree who formed a receiving line near the door. They were given clever shopping bags which were used as score cards. These were presented by Miss Martha Jane Majors and Miss Mackey. Mrs. Majors explained that on three tables were packages which were to be carried by the winners from table to table; that they were to play four games of bridge and 42, and the ones who possessed these special gifts were to ent for them at conclusion of the games. Each winner of every game was to go shopping after each game. The articles were arranged on a long table in center of the room. The articles were beautifully tied up in gay tissue wrappings that made fringes, flowers and most attractive packages. Each one contained useful articles and caused much fun in their selection. The three prizes on the tables were pretty waste-paper baskets. These were won by Mrs. Landers, Mrs. Berryhill and Mrs. John L. Doss, in the final cut.

At the refreshment hour individual angel cakes and sherbet were served. There were seventy ladies who enjoyed this very novel and beautiful party.

Birthday Party

Sunday was Terry Marie Scott's tenth birthday, and her mother entertained for her with a delightful swimming party at the Country Club at 4:30. After the swim the guests played games and a prize was awarded Martha Louise Nall for pinning the donkey's tail on correctly.

Sandwiches and watermelons were served and balloon favors were presented by Mary Dalton.

The guests were Misses Madelyn Joyce, Williamson, Mocarrie Carter, Martha Louise, Katherine Ann and Willie Sue Nall, Helen Snyder, Francis Elaine Price, Mary and Florence McCloud, Harriet Ann Pritchett, Mary and Sonya Dalton, Sara Guittar, Harrietta Landers, Catherine Slagel, Martha Jane Majors, Mary Crosthwaite, Margery Plaster, Mrs. Hensinger and Mrs. Harry Hyman.

Many pretty gifts were left for Terry and each one present had a most enjoyable time.

Family Reunion

Sunday Mrs. R. H. Looney entertained all of her relatives near, with a reunion dinner. The guests were Mrs. Carlton, Miss Chambers of Abilene, sisters Mrs. O. B. Chamber and sons, James Ollie and William Henry, of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett and children, Avis and Robert, of Lorraine.

Mrs. R. H. Looney very delightfully entertained Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at the Country Club in honor of her sisters, Miss Caroline Chambers and Mrs. Carlton.

Receiving with the honor guests were Mrs. Towle of Snyder, Mrs. Jas. T. Johnson, while in the house party were Mrs. Shannon, Miss Martha Earnest, Mrs. Jeannette Porter, and Mrs. Milburn Doss.

The guests were asked to pass to the back hall, where dates were thrown at members on a scoreboard, those hitting the big numbers getting big packages, the smaller numbers drawing smaller packages. They were also given pretty little fans as score cards. The tables were covered with green and white checked cloths, centered with flowers and laid for breakfast, there being sixteen tables.

Grapefruit was followed by a fried chicken plate with preserves and coffee. At conclusion of the meal, six games of bridge were played. The hostess announced that winners at each table could take from the losers their presents, if they preferred it to their own, giving the loser theirs. This caused much fun and resulted in many changes. Soon all the prettiest gifts were at the head table. Then with the closing game, it was announced that the person with the highest score might select anything she wished. Mrs. C. C. Thompson was highest and she selected a pair of madras pillow cases. Then it was said the low score winner might take the second choice. This was Mrs. John Doss, who chose a basket of fruits and jellies.

Good-byes were said at eleven o'clock, this having been one of the prettiest and jolliest parties of the summer as well as most unique.

Silver Tea

Mrs. Edgar Dierdorff and Mrs. Lillian LeFlore entertained Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 7 at the home of Mrs. Dierdorff, with a silver tea for the Altar Guild of the Episcopal church.

Members of the church and many of their friends called during the two hours. Men were also invited and a number came after business hours. The gratefully received offering was very generous. If Colorado feels the touch of depression she certainly forgets it when responding to the needs of churches.

Refreshments served were iced tea, sandwiches, cake and mints. The rooms were decorated with dahlias, flowering zinnias, tiger lilies and white roses.

W. M. S. Meeting

The women of the Baptist church met Tuesday morning at the church, with women from all circles present. They took up the study of Foreign Mission book, "Healing and Missions." The book will be taught by the pastor every Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Oren C. Reid very interestingly taught the first chapter.

Every Baptist woman is urged to join the study of this book.

Mrs. Quinney Attending N. E. A. Mrs. Winnie Quinney, who is in California, has been attending the National Education Association in Los Angeles, a branch of the State University. She is there combining her summer vacation with school work.

Also there will be four shows a week instead of five, as follows: Sunday-Monday, first program; Tuesday-Wednesday, second program; Thursday-Friday, third program; and on Saturday the fourth program.

Bridgettes

The Bridgettes met Friday morning with Miss Hazel Costin, who had four tables. Her house was gay with garden flowers. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. Mitchell of Pampa, Mrs. Duhon of Magnolia, Ark., and Mrs. D. H. Snyder of Marshall.

High score prize, a dozen guests powder puffs, was won by Miss Mary Broadus. Mrs. Duhon was presented with a pretty silhouette picture.

At refreshment hour, cantaloupe a la mode was served. The meeting this week is with Mrs. L. G. Mackey on Thursday morning.

Entertaining Guest

Mr. and Mrs. Stonerod chaperoned a group to Rensselaer Wednesday afternoon and served a barbecue supper in honor of Miss Virginia Stonerod's house guest, Miss Duncan of Burnet. STAY AWAY FROM THE HOOVER DAM PROJECT WHEN HUNTING WORK

Judging from statement published in an Abilene newspaper Tuesday, local citizens having in mind the possibility of obtaining employment on the Hoover Dam project at Boulder City, Nev., had best not go there. The chamber of commerce secretary at Abilene had recently received letter from superintendent of the project warning people looking for employment to not come there.

"The condition here is reaching a very acute stage," said the letter. "We have at the present time on file in this office over 4000 applications for positions of all kinds, and so far we have only been successful in placing a few hundred. There will be not more than a few hundred men employed at any one time on Hoover Dam construction, until possibly the second year of operation. The current report that laborers are receiving $6 per day is erroneous. The Six Companies Incorporated are paying laborers $4 per day and mechanics $5.60 per eight hour day."

SCURRY GINNERS MAY USE COTTON BAGGING

Public Urged To Len Cooperation With State Department Health Crusade Here

The Central Committee of Mitchell County Health Department was called by Dr. P. C. Coleman to meet Wednesday at 4:30, at the court house. Dr. Coleman called the meeting to order and introduced Dr. Peterson of the State Department of Health, who reported that no serums or vaccine were to be given free as first promised, for the reason the demand was greater than the supply. But, he said that other counties were getting their vaccines by charging those able to pay; 25 cents each, which would cover the cost for those not able to pay. A small amount will be furnished free to families exposed to contagious diseases in this county.

Dr. Peterson stated that this county was through its taxes paying for the health service; whether it received it or not—and Mitchell county should take advantage of the sanitation program which was really more important than the immunization. Two million dollars are being spent on this health program, and every community should be at work on the educational part of it to get its money's worth, Dr. Peterson said.

Miss Varra, the county nurse, gave her report, as follows: "During June, the first part of the month was spent in meeting the members of the central committee and discussing the best way of conducting the health program. It was decided that the people in the county were too busy to be able to have Summer Round-Ups and that it would be best to have health classes first, and probably later interest could be aroused in other phases of the program."

"At Colorado, June 20, I met with the Home Demonstration club and explained the program. Arrangements were made that day to start a health class at Lorraine in July. There were 14 women present."

"At Spade, July 24, I again explained the health program to the Home Demonstration club, with 16 women present. They also would like a health class in the fall. The women showed keen interest and we will have a class in November."

"On July 26 I met with the 4-H Club girls and explained the work. There were 29 present. "People in the county are showing interest and I'm sure they will take hold better later. Just now they are so interested in immunization they don't seem to want the other health work."

Mr. Ward also gave his report, which is printed below: "The following is a report of sanitary activities in Mitchell county for the past two months: "A general survey of sanitary conditions in the county has been made. At Colorado same was made in company with district engineer and city sanitarian. More effort is being centered in small towns and rural communities. Several conferences were held with citizens of Lorraine, Lorraine and Westbrook, with view of having pit-privy ordinances adopted. The elimination of surface toilet is an essential step towards the improvement of health conditions in your county. The surface toilet at home in Lorraine where a typhoid case was brought from East Texas was disinfected, boarded up, and banked, to prevent spread; also yard chlorinated. Water sample in all communities have been taken and sent for laboratory examination. It is hoped more action can be gotten from rural committees in eliminating the surface toilet and improvement of well conditions."

The following work has been done in your county: Two sewage disposal inspections, 2 water inspections, 9 tourist camp inspections, 6 school inspections, 34 toilets inspected, 22 homes visited, 6 wells inspected."

E. D. Hopkins, State Sanitary Engineer, talked on the need of sanitation over the county to abate the fly, mosquito and other health menaces. He said Mitchell county had not done the work she could have, and should have. The Central committee has these people ready to work, and it is their business to give them jobs.

All speakers urged the fly-proof pit toilet, and dates were made for several demonstrations by Mr. Ward in this county. The prevention of typhoid will pay in dollars and cents. A number of typhoid cases were reported in an adjoining county. The second Monday of each month was set as meeting day for the Central committee, and all were urged to go out and get the people interested in preventative sanitation, taking advantage of every aid offered by the Health department.

Payne Baptists To Consider Call For Pastor of Church

The Payne Baptist church, 10 miles southeast from Colorado, is emerging from revival campaign closed three Sunday evening with tentative program for calling a pastor and otherwise adding to usefulness of the church in that community.

The church now has a membership of about 85, an increase of more than 50 per cent as direct result of the special evangelistic services recently held. The congregation has been under a pastor for the past several months. One of the best rural church properties of the county is owned by them.

$20,000 WORTH FINE RUM AWAITS IRISHMAN

How many men in Colorado would object to being an Irishman and carrying the name of Patrick Mahoney? There's $20,000 worth of old whisky and wine in a cellar in Chicago waiting for Patrick Mahoney of County Tipperary, Ireland, in case he wants to come over to America to help himself.

The presence of the liquor was revealed in probate court when Attorney Walter Murphy, acting for the administrators of the estate of John J. Mahoney, former assistant deputy collector in the internal revenue department, asked Probate Judge Henry Horner for advice as to its disposition. The former collector, who was a liquor dealer before prohibition, died last April, leaving a $50,000 estate, including the liquor to his sole heir, Patrick.

"What," asked Attorney Murphy, "am I going to do? This liquor is valued at $20,000. We can't ship it to Ireland; the cost would be too much. We can't sell it under the law. Evidently Patrick will have to come here to drink it."

"That should be a hardship for him," said the judge, "but really your problem is simple. Send an inventory of the estate to Patrick, get a receipt, and let him worry about his liquor."

HOWARD OLD-TIMERS MEET AT BIG SPRING

"Old Timers" of Howard county are converging upon Big Spring today (Friday) to celebrate annual home coming of those hardy pioneers who opened for development the material progress that has featured this neighbor county for so many years. The program is to be given at Parrish Park, near the city. Several citizens of Mitchell county, entitled to the classification of an old timer in West Texas, plan attending the celebration.

Crowds are holding up remarkably well for the hot summer Sundays. Come to the First Baptist church next Sunday. We begin and quit on time.

DEATH OF MRS. MAHON SADDENS ENTIRE COUNTY

Lorraine people and friends everywhere were saddened Wednesday morning when word was received of the sudden, tragic death of Mrs. J. K. Mahon at her home north of Lorraine, resulting from a dose of sodium chloride, taken through mistake for epsom salts.

Mrs. Mahon immediately discovered her mistake in taking the wrong medicine, and members of the family called several physicians in an effort to counteract the poison, from which she suffered only a short while.

Mrs. Mahon was 61 years old and had resided in Mitchell county since 1908, coming here from Haynesville, La., in which State she was born. Converted at an early age, she united with the Methodist church and continued to live a consistent Christian life. She was married to J. K. Mahon, who survives her, in 1891. Eight children also survive, five sons and three daughters—J. B. Mahon, local groceryman of Lorraine; Marlon Mahon, farmer, Lorraine; Geo. H. Mahon, district attorney, Colorado; Elmer Mahon, farmer, Lorraine; Durward Mahon, lawyer, Dallas; Mrs. Ernest Meadow, Lorraine; Mrs. Curtis Reeder, Weatherford; Mrs. Harold Martin, Lorraine.

Deceased was a woman of exceptional personality and was highly respected and loved by her relatives, friends and acquaintances. She was a devoted mother of a cheerful, sunny disposition, and will be greatly missed from the family circle to cheer them on with words of consolation and advice.

DISTRICT LEAGUE MEET ATTENDED BY LOCAL MEMBERS

Eleven Lorraine League members attended a district League meeting, which was held at Big Spring Saturday and Sunday. Visitors were in attendance from each League of the district.

The Tonkawah and Mt. Signal Leagues tied for the loving cup, but as the Signal Mt. League had kept it for several times, they agreed to let Tonkawah union keep it for the next three months. Those who attended from Lorraine were Mrs. Jim Johnson and daughter, Bessie Nell; and Misses Edna Pearl and LaVerne Nelson, Ruth Hook, Ethel Mae Stepp, Ruby Martin; Messrs. Leonard Davis, Owen Nelson, Charlie Bryan, Owen Nelson, Charlie Meek, Bryan Hart, and Owen Martin of Sweetwater.

BRIDGE PARTY

Miss Julie Tartt entertained the Ace-High Bridge club at her home Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. After a series of interesting games were played, a delicious plate lunch and orangeade was served by the hostess.

The guests were Misses Fern Coon, Lola Coffee, Willie Fae Hall, Ora Coon, Gaiha Lee Terrell, Selma Harris, Mrs. Claude Spikes and Jack Mayes. High score was won by Miss Inez Mayes.

BAPTIST REVIVAL NOW IN PROGRESS AT LORAINNE

The Baptist revival being held at the Methodist tabernacle started on Sunday morning with record-breaking attendance in Sunday school at the Baptist church, there being 167 present. The financial report was indicative of liberality, which is a good sign of a spiritual revival.

Everyone was pleased that Rev. Cal McGehey, pastor at Sudan, was able to be in the first service. Bro. McGehey has assisted our pastor in four previous revival meetings, all of which were great revivals to the churches and in the ingathering of souls. Everyone is trusting and praying this will be the greater revival of them all.

Thus far Bro. McGehey has been bringing great messages to Christian people of the town, seeking to steer us up to our duty to God and our fellowman in this part of God's moral vineyard. We believe Bro. McGehey is to God-sent to our town and surrounding community. Overflowing crowds are already attending the services. We are inviting and expecting everyone to come. If you miss one message it might be the very message that you ought to hear. Come and bring someone with you. Reporter.

O. Hale, accompanied by their families, arrived at the Elijah Saunders home at Valley View, Mitchell county, Monday, July 13, for the annual family reunion held here each year.

One of the big features of the big three-days' reunion was an old-fashioned picnic and barbecue dinner held at Pecan Grove, south of Lorraine, on Wednesday, in which the Hale generation, numbering 93, with 33 relatives by marriage, were in attendance.

Ideal weather prevailed throughout the day, which marked the ending of another happy family gathering.

W. O. Hale, at one time a well-known farmer of this section, is now a resident of Carrizo Springs, where he has resided since moving from his home west of Lorraine, eight years ago.

ARBITRATION IS EMPLOYED BY FACTIONS TO SETTLE WESTBROOK CHURCH ROW

Charges Against Rev. J. E. McDermott Dismissed In Justice Court

Leaders from the McDermott and anti-McDermott camps, leading in difficulties that has split the Westbrook Baptist church in a row over discharge of the Rev. Mr. McDermott as pastor, sheathed their swords here Wednesday afternoon and agreed to enter into a pact to settle by arbitration.

Each side will select two Baptist ministers. The four men will then name the fifth. Findings of the special board are to be binding.

This agreement was entered into here Wednesday after District Judge Fritz R. Smith from his office in Snyder had issued an injunction restraining any group, faction or congregation to use the Westbrook Baptist church building for any purpose, until the dispute was adjusted.

The church fight, brewing for some time ever attempt of a part of the membership to discharge Rev. J. E. McDermott as pastor, and just as determined will among others to retain him in that capacity, came to a "show down" the first of this week when an official of the church came to Colorado and swore out a complaint against the preacher, charging him with "disturbing a religious business meeting."

The case was set for trial Wednesday in Peace Justice W. S. Stoneham's court. Corridors of the court house were literally jammed with people from Westbrook, here for the hearing. The trial was set down for 10 o'clock in the morning, but continued to 2 that afternoon. In the meantime the plaintiff arranged to have the charges against the preacher dismissed and with the defense entered into agreement to settle through arbitration.

Marketing Texas Farm Products Reached Through Use of Advertising and Mails

From Ft. Worth Star-Telegram:

Jess C. Harraman, director of the parcel post division of the Postoffice department, notes with interest increased use of the parcel post by farmers. In a statement issued at Washington the other day, Mr. Harraman asserted that the farmers have begun to tie up classified advertising in urban newspapers with parcel post deliveries to obtain a profitable business which heretofore had been neglected. Such farm products as butter, eggs, poultry, honey, hams, bacon, maple syrup, preserves, jellies, broilers and squabs are being sold regularly in this manner, while fruits and vegetables have a place in season. One farm woman advertised "delicious home cooked meals ready to serve" and apparently delivered them to her customers by parcels post.

Caterers in cities know that the best booster of business is a "specialty," which may be advertised to gain and hold customers. Nearly every farm is capable of developing such a specialty. In one case it might be butter, in another eggs, or broilers. Each farm product offers an opportunity for such specialization. The classified advertising columns of the urban newspapers afford the means for reaching the customers, and the efficient parcel post service of the postal system provides the means for making deliveries and collections.

Housewives of Texas cities would be avid customers for Texas farmers if the opportunity were afforded them. Texas housewives buy eggs from California, butter from Michigan, honey from Colorado, and other food products from everywhere. They would prefer to buy directly from a Texas farmer who took care to keep the quality of his product up, who packaged it neatly, and who took care to make prompt and regular deliveries.

There is a market in Texas cities for every food article produced on Texas farms, and for much more. It is a willing market favorable to the Texas farmer. All he has to do is to step up and take it. The classified columns and the parcel post are at his command.

RESOLUTION OFFERED BY FELLOWSHIP COMMITTEE

Whereas, Rev. J. E. McDermott has been our pastor for the past 34 months, during which time he and his family have lived on this field, and the public is well acquainted with his life, conduct, and labors, and;

Whereas, Certain irregular and non-cooperative members have been instrumental in circulating derogative and slanderous statements, and have brought before the church in various sessions of Church Conference insinuations that have been detrimental to our pastor's good name and a hindrance to him in his work among our people; and,

Whereas, None of these insinuations seem to be based on any act or intention of our pastor that justifies any charge against him as to non-Christian conduct, but only tend to cause "gossip" and creates in the mind of the general public that "doubt" that causes so many people to reject the preaching of God's word and hinders the progress of Kingdom building;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That we, the Westbrook Baptist Church, in regular conference, this nineteenth day of July, 1931, vote Bro. McDermott, his wife and children, our confidence in them as being God called, and sent to this field, and that we do not feel that their work is finished here, and it is our desire that they remain with this church as pastor until God shall impress both pastor and church that a time for change has come.

Be It Further Resolved, That this church express its regrets to Brother McDermott and family, because of the humiliating experience they have been caused by the opposing forces, and assure them that it has not come from the regular, faithful, supporting and worshipping membership of this church.

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread on the Minutes of this church, a copy be given Brother McDermott and a copy be furnished The Colorado Record for publication.

YOUTH GROUND TO DEATH UNDER SWEETWATER TRAIN

A youth said to have been Felix Roper of Memphis, Tenn., and the son of an under sheriff there, was ground to death beneath the wheels of a freight train at Sweetwater, Tuesday.

Two Former County Commissioners Are Brought Together

Two former county commissioners met here Wednesday morning for the first time in many months, when "Dock" Lasseter of Westbrook and "Ether" Barber of Spade found themselves together at the court house.

"Seems like old times," they chined in unison, as the two ex-officials exchanged greetings and took their places about a table in the county court room over which many times they had pondered questions effecting their duties as members of the court. Both were members of the commissioners' court when Mitchell county citizens authorized court house bond issue and both served during the time the building was under construction.

After retiring from the role of county commissioner, Lasseter did not accept to omit politics from his career. He came into the office of Peace Justice at Westbrook.

Neither was the passing of Barber from the official roster as a court member to be the ending of his career in politics, if an appointive position in one of the State's important departments is to be reckoned as being in politics. He is a deputy game warden.

And, if you doubt that either respects his oath to uphold dignity of the law, just permit yourself to become entangled with a law violation charge coming under the jurisdiction of theirs. Several local sportsmen will attest that Barber is "on the job."

STATE EMPLOYEES IN FOR MORE WORK WHEN AN OIL BOOM BREAKS

An oil boom in Texas means a lot of additional work and worry for employees of the State land office, a recent news dispatch from the State capital discloses.

Whenever an oil boom develops persons leasing land in the field always write the land office for a certified copy of the field notes of the survey to make certain they are getting the right tract and that no vacancy exists that later may make the tract a prey for claim jumpers.

J. H. Walker, land commissioner, who has worked with Texas land titles, said there was less claim jumping in East Texas than in any other large field developed in Texas. Several cases of claim jumping, however, have been reported from the East Texas field and are under investigation by the land commissioner. The State owns several small tracts of land in the heart of the big field but will not lease them until the oil market becomes more stabilized, Walker said.

THE REST CURE

Not so long ago Smoky Merritt made a certain remark about J. J. Billingsley going to Mineral Wells for a rest. All of this was natural, denied, for no one ever knew Dick worked enough during the six years he has been in Colorado to tire himself very much—in fact he would be the only man between Spokane, Washington, and Cape Cod that would ever attempt to say that he had ever worked and had to go to a health resort for rest.

This fellow Billingsley has a partner in the insurance business—S. A. Palmer—who has been limping, staggering and hobbling around Colorado for the past 12 months, telling all his friends that he was suffering with fallen arches. Some two weeks ago he left for a sanitarium to have his "dogg" treated. While here he could hardly get around, reminding you of some fellow just learning to use stilts. Since he has been away he writes his partner that he has taken his golf clubs into the sanitarium with him and that great improvement is noted (not stating whether it was in his feet or his golf playing). He stated he has been playing 18 holes a day for the past ten days. This makes Billingsley just a little suspicious as to whether Palmer should be getting his pedic extremities treated or should have his physician to make a thorough examination of the other end.

Palmer's friends wish he and his clubs get home in time to prove all he has written about that "good golf game" he has been playing, by meeting the Midland team Sunday afternoon at the Colorado Country club, when that team will try to defend its title in the Sand Belt Golf association. They want to see if his feet are flat or just "cold."

Another Effective Measure to Put The English Sparrow to Flight Is Found

Coloradans desirous of ridding their premises of the English sparrow, may employ use of a new method, announced from Washington this week and said to have proven successful. It has been noticed that these little feathered creatures are not found in such large numbers here now as before and no doubt the recently discovered enemy of the birds has already gotten in its work.

Details of the newly found method of ridding premises of the sparrow is given in the following news story coming out of the National capital: A never-ending gas attack from the exhausts of automobiles is taking heavy toll among English sparrows and pigeons, says Austin H. Clark, biologist of the United States National Museum.

These two birds, which formerly were common in the cities of Eastern United States, have been disappearing rapidly. They feed largely on street refuse which brings them into contact with carbon monoxide gas from motor exhausts. It is a heavy gas that tends to cling to the ground when there is no wind.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

FARMERS MUST HAVE A ROAD!

To The Record: To the people of Colorado, will say we have the best promise of a large yield of cotton in years, and the road from Camp Creek bridge is in such condition that a great many good farmers are looking toward the little town of Westbrook for the chance of a place to get our cotton ginned. And Westbrook can sure gin cotton, and the Westbrook people are looking south and the people here are looking north. So, Colorado, be wise and take warning. If you don't believe what I say, try the road on the running-gear of an iron-wheeled wagon.

STOCKTON EDITOR ON VISIT HERE SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reid of Fort Stockton were visiting in Colorado during the week-end. Reid, formerly editor of The Record, has been editing the Fort Stockton Pioneer during the past two years. Reid stated that he was making plans to attend West Texas Press Association convention at Lubbock, August 14, 15, and that several other newspaper men of that part of the State would probably accompany him.

75 CENTS PER ACRE PAID FOR LAND THEN

L. M. Hearn of Cuthbert has in his possession a deed executed January 4, 1879, conveying 160 acres in Choctaw county, Alabama, to his father, G. M. Hearn, for the total consideration of $120.00, or 75 cents an acre. The instrument is written in long-hand, and is well preserved. The property was conveyed by John Carney and his wife, Sarah Carney.

LUMBER HEAD VISITS IN COLORADO DURING WEEK

J. M. Rockwell of Houston, president of Rockwell Bros. & Company, lumber dealers, spent a short visit in Colorado Tuesday in conference with C. L. Gray, resident manager of the company retail store here.

"Why Not a Broom Factory?" Queries A Local Druggist

Why not get into the project of organizing a joint stock company to finance construction of a broom factory at Colorado, is the question being propounded by Ford Merritt, Colorado druggist. Merritt suggested recently that such a move be undertaken when specimens of broom corn maturing on the farm of Dr. T. J. Ratliff near Loraine were shown him.

Merritt indicated that he planned bringing the matter to attention of the chamber of commerce industrial committee. Such an industry, it is pointed out, would have the dual advantage of providing an additional pay roll here and at the same time lend encouragement to cultivation of a farm commodity for which there is now no local market.

BETTER CROPS NEVER GREW HERE, HE SAYS

Mitchell county has never had a more optimistic crop outlook, in the opinion of J. W. Gross, farmer of five miles northwest from Colorado. "My cotton is further advanced today than it was on September 1 last year," he stated to a representative of The Record who visited at the Gross farm home the other day. Gross has 315 acres to cotton and 160 acres to Indian corn and grain sorghums.

3 LOAVES BREAD FOR A BUSHEL OF WHEAT

A Saline county, Kansas, farmer recently exchanged a bushel of wheat for three loaves of bread. The exchange was made when the price of wheat touched twenty-five cents a bushel. The baker with whom the deal was made estimated that the bushel of wheat would make 66 loaves of bread.

COLSONS ATTEND FAMILY REUNION AT JONESBORO

Mr. and Mrs. John Colson have returned from a visit with relatives in Hamilton county. Sunday they attended a family reunion at the old home in Jonesboro. Colson reported that forty immediate relatives were present to enjoy the happy occasion.

Connally, Thomason Invited To Attend "Old Timers" Meet

Tom Connally of Marlin, junior Texas senator, and Ewing Thomason of El Paso, member of the lower house of congress from this the 16th Texas district, have both been extended invitation to attend first annual Old Timers reunion here in August.

Owing to absence of both from their offices, confirmation has not been received, the chamber of commerce announces, but letters from secretaries of the prominent statesmen strongly indicate that the invitations are to be accepted.

Congressman Thomason recently announced from his home in El Paso that he planned visiting in every county of his district during the summer. He has already covered a part of the district, motoring as far east as Odessa last week.

In event the men accept to attend the jubilee each will be given a place on the speaking program.

QUAIL PLENTIFUL IN COUNTY, BARBER SAYS

Quail are plentiful in the county this year and it is evident that more of the birds will be noted here during the next hunting season than in a number of years, was the report of E. Barber of Spade, deputy game warden, in Colorado Wednesday. "I have not seen as many of the young birds in years," he declared. "There are plenty doves, too, but they are late in hatching this year. Many of the mother birds are still on their nests."

ANCIENT BIBLE OWNED BY WOMAN AT WHEELER

WHEELER, Texas.—A Bible that is 323 years old and believed to be an unrecorded version, is owned by Mrs. E. A. Holt of this city.

Unusual features of the old volume are its body type of black. Old English, the Apocrypha or writings of doubtful origin, not accepted by Protestants, the Psalms set to music, marginal notes and a commentary. It is 9 by 6 by 3 1/2 inches and contains more than 800 pages.

History of the book is not known but Mrs. Holt's father bought it in 1830. It has been in Mrs. Holt's possession 20 years. It was "printed at London by the deputies of Christopher Barker" in 1598, or 25 years after the Bishop's Bible was printed, and 13 years before the King James version appeared in 1611. The version is not mentioned in histories of the Bible.

Mrs. Holt, who has investigated its origin, has found that it is similar to the Geneva version in omission of the name of Paul as author of the Epistle to the Romans, and the use of "breaches" instead of "apron" in Genesis 3:7. It differs, however, in lettering and content, and the sources of translation were not the same.

THOMAS MEIGHAN RETURNS TO SCREEN IN BIG NEW FOX MOVIE, "YOUNG SINNERS"

Thomas Meighan, who has a dominant role in "Young Sinners," Fox photoplay to be seen at the Palace Theatre here Thursday and Friday, July 23 and 24, is one of the most popular screen luminaries that has graced film firmament. For years he has ranked among the foremost favorites of motion pictures. Unlike many of the others, Meighan, today, after years of enviable success, remains one of the outstanding idols of the fans.

The secret of Meighan's success is his compelling personality and his keen analytical mind, coupled, as scarcely needs to be said, with his natural histrionic ability.

The ordinary biographer might point to "The Miracle Man" and assert that it was a fortunate circumstance for Meighan that he was cast in the stellar role of this famous picture and insist that it furnished his real vehicle to fame. But it is Meighan's own personality and his own faith in himself that made him Meighan is a great actor, having played for three years with David Warfield and enacted the leading role in "The College Widow" during his long run. Colorado fans will be glad to welcome his picture here.

WANT AD ANSWERED BY BULL IN PERSON

"Believe it or not, there's no bull about this," says the editor of the Waynesboro News-Virginian, in a recent issue of the paper and then goes on to say:

The News-Virginian sometime ago carried a classified ad inserted by a nearby farmer. The ad read, "Wanted, a bull," or words to that effect.

The morning after the ad appeared in the News-Virginian the advertiser was surprised to see a well-built bovine, just the type he wanted, come walking into his farmyard—sans driver, sans leader and entirely unharmed.

The next day the owner was found when he inserted a "lost" bull ad. Investigation of the incident showed that the farmer had dropped his News-Virginian as he was passing from the mail box through the barnyard to his house. Strangely enough, the paper was found that evening with the section carrying classified entirely chewed to pieces, evidently having been devoured by the bull before his expedition to the post of need.

SEVEN WELLS NEWS NOTES

R. P. ADAMS, Reporter

This seems to be one of the few weeks in which there is no special news of interest in our community. However, every one is not asleep or on vacation, because one can go around to the different fields and find most everyone chopping their last weeds, or "plowing over" for the last time. Some are fortunate enough to have their crops in good condition. Then there are some who aren't very fortunate in having been visited by insects in their feed.

We are indeed glad to say that our community has been visited by two or three showers this week which has been of much benefit to our crops and most especially to the late feed.

We are glad to know that Mrs. Towery is out again after being confined to her bed several days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hart and son, H. W., Jr., of Sterling City spent the week-end in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Adams and Mr. Adams. They had returned from Abilene after having attended the funeral of one of their friends. They also visited their daughter, Miss Bernice Hart, who is attending Simmons University this summer and who has often visited in this community.

Mrs. Lanier Bassham visited with friends near Low one day last week.

Our Friday evening services have been omitted the last two Fridays on account of so many attending this meeting which has been in progress. But Friday evening we are to have a sermon on "The Cross," by Rev. Bryan, who, with his wife, is visiting their daughter, Mrs. T. Dossey. In connection with the sermon there will be a picture painted of the "Old Cross," while a quartet will sing. Everyone has a hearty welcome.

The meeting at Payne Baptist church of which the Rev. O. C. Reid of Colorado did the preaching, closed Sunday night with 8 or 10 conversions and 28 joining the church. Mr. Warren Williams led the singing and he and Mrs. Williams rendered a special number which was enjoyed by all. With the good singing and the wonderful sermons that Bro. Reid brought, was an inspiration to all. Everybody that attended enjoyed it and were helped.

BUICK IS INSULATED FROM ALL NOISE AND HEAT NOW

Protection from noise and heat through a specially devised insulating system is an important feature of the 1931 Buick body by Fisher. This insulation provides an extra measure of comfort for Buick owners, in addition to the luxurious interiors and the scientific adaptation of the body construction to the extra power and speed of the Buick valve-in-head straight eight engine.

"The insulation is designed to protect both the front and rear compartments," says C. W. Churchill, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Co. "In the front compartment it prevents sound and heat from penetrating the floor and dashboard of the car. In the rear compartment, the insulation acts as seal against heat and cold, as well as drafts and noise, coming through the floor.

"The insulation in the front compartment consists of three layers of materials, each having an important function to perform. Next to the dash is a thick insulating board. This keeps out the heat and cold. Against this is laid a layer of felt three-quarters of an inch thick, which eliminates noise. Over this felt is a layer of waterproof board. The whole is finished in hand-crushed

Colorado Oil Men Smile As Crude Is Boosted in Price

Announcement from Tulsa Tuesday that the Continental Oil Company had posted a price of 40 cents a barrel for its crude purchases in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, was being received with satisfaction among local oil men.

The turn toward better crude prices came after producers in the mid-continent area had faced the lowest price level known to the industry.

"Advance in crude prices posted by Continental means that we are to see better times in the industry," declared E. A. Dierdorff, district manager for the Shell Pipe Line Corporation.

A few purchasing companies doing business in Kansas followed the Continental price hike, but no announcement had been made up to Tuesday night as to what companies operating in this part of the State planned to do.

Do Not Use No. 3 Can for Corn, Is Advice of Agent

By all means do not use a No. 3 can to preserve fresh corn.

That is the advice being broadcast by Miss Abbie Sevier, county home demonstration agent. Miss Sevier reported Wednesday morning that farmers and other citizens employing use of the larger size can for that purpose would assume the risk of losing the tinned food.

The agent recommended use of smaller cans for this purpose. She explained that when the product was put in the larger containers the possibilities of spoilage were much greater than in cases where the small cans were used.

She was called to Lone Star community Wednesday to investigate report that fresh corn recently tinned there was being lost. She found that the trouble was in use of the large cans.

"NO MUNICIPAL BAND" IS REASON GIVEN FOR BREAK IN ROY HESTER CONTRACT

City Orders Annulment Of Contract, Effective August 17th

The city did not question ability of Mr. Hester as a band director, nor his willingness to render efficient service in that capacity.

Order directing that contract with Hester be cancelled was passed at a special session of the council convened Thursday afternoon.

Hester came to Colorado in the summer of 1929 to take charge of the municipal and school bands.

Contract selecting Hester for his third year as band director was authorized by the city a few months ago.

ADDITIONAL CREDITS FOR IATAN HIGH SCHOOL HAVE BEEN OKED BY THE STATE

Unique Record Held By The State's Smallest Rural High School

The Iatan public schools, embracing Texas' smallest and most unique rural high school, continues to lead all others in the marathon of efficiency and progress.

Recently the State department of public education authorized five additional credits of affiliation, Mack Fisher, superintendent, has announced.

"We have been enabled to reach this goal through the cooperative effort of everybody having anything to do with our school," Fisher stated.

Progress made by the Iatan school has been most remarkable. Within two years the school has risen from a two-teacher rural school to an affiliated high school with a teaching force of six men and women.

Fisher gives much credit to co-operation given the school by the county superintendent, Miss McGill, and members of the Colorado 1921 Study Club.

Four of the credits were awarded on subjects taught last year by Miss Nell Harper Greene of Colorado. They were ancient history, plane geometry, commercial arithmetic and Spanish.

The usual photographing, fingerprinting, classification and numbering routine was dispensed with until Fall is reported by the prison physician, Dr. E. W. Fiske, as able to stand these details.

The affair was to encourage a more universal use of cotton and cotton products.

Among those motoring to Abilene to attend the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greene, Miss Abbie Sevier, Mrs. Ella Phillips, Mrs. Frank Smith, Miss Mabel Smith.

GEORGE WASHINGTON
Reminiscences of His Life and Heroic Exploits

WHEN WASHINGTON ESTABLISHED HEADQUARTERS AT WEST POINT

About a mile north of West Point in a little vale now known as Washington's Valley, General George Washington established his headquarters July 21, 1779. Here he lived until the following winter in a huge mansion known as Moore's House—a structure which had been built prior to 1749 by John Moore, prominent New York merchant. The house, because of its size and costliness was sometimes referred to as "Moore's Folly," a title by which it was designated in some of the literature of the day.

The Division of Information and Publication of the United States General George Washington Bicentennial Commission recalls that at the time Washington established his headquarters at West Point the military affairs of the Colony were in a bad way. Savannah had been taken by the British, Suffolk and Portsmouth, Virginia, New Haven and other cities had been sacked and burned by the enemy. Added to all this was the fact that the Continental currency had depreciated to such an extent that as Washington said, a wagon load of it would scarcely purchase a wagon load of provisions.

Despite these misfortunes, however, there were some bright spots for the Americans such as the brilliant exploit by which Wayne captured Stony Point, and the equally daring attack on Paulus Hook successfully carried out by young Major Lee. A little later in the summer the British evacuated Rhode Island.

From his headquarters at West Point, Washington wrote the following letter to Dr. John Cochran, surgeon general of the army. In it the commander-in-chief reveals a spirit of far from depressed and gives an idea of the style of living which prevailed at his headquarters. "Dear Doctor, I have asked Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Livingston to dine with me tomorrow, but I am not in honor bound to apprise them of their fare. As I hate deception, even where the imagination only is concerned, I will. It is needless to premise that my table is large enough to hold the ladies. Of this they had ocular proof yesterday. To say how it is usually covered is more essential; and this shall be the purpose of my letter.

"Since our arrival at this happy spot, we have had a ham, sometimes a shoulder of bacon, to grace the head of the table; a piece of roast beef adorns the foot; and a dish of beans or greens, almost imperceptible, decorated the center. When the cook has a mind to put a figure, which I presume will be the case tomorrow, we have two beefsteaks, one on each side of the center, dividing the space and reducing the distance between fish and dish to about six feet, which without them would be about twelve feet apart. Of late he has had the surprising sagacity to discover that apples will make pies, and it is a question, in the violence of his efforts, we do not get one of apples instead of having both of beefsteaks. If the ladies can put up with such entertainment, and will submit to partake of it on plates once tin but now iron (not because of the labor of scouring), I shall be happy to see them."

WASHINGTON'S ADVICE TO A YOUNG LADY

Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio is vice chairman of the United States Commission for celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of birth of George Washington, has long been a student of the writings of our first President. He has read practically everything written by that great man. When asked what he considered the most interesting letter Washington ever wrote, the Senator smiled for a moment and then said:

"That is a difficult question to answer. Practically every letter he wrote was interesting. But the one he wrote to Harriet Washington, his niece, has always appealed to me. You must remember that when George Washington took the time to write that kindly letter of advice he was serving as President of the struggling young Republic and had more serious problems on his hands than any man in the country. I wish that every young woman in our fair land would read it. It is full of excellent advice, that has a present-day appeal."

The famous letter to which the Senator referred reads as follows: "Philadelphia, 30 October, 1791. "Dear Harriet,

"I have received your letter of the 21st instant, and shall always be glad to hear from you. When my business will permit, inclination will not be wanting in me to acknowledge the receipt of your letters; and this I shall do more cheerfully, as it will afford me opportunities at those times of giving you such occasional advice, as your situation may require.

"At present I could plead a better excuse for curtailing my letter to you, than you had for shortening of yours to me, having a multitude of occupations before me, while you have nothing to do; consequently you might with equal convenience to yourself have sat down to write your letter an hour or two or even a day sooner; as to have delayed it until your cousin was on the point of sending to the post office. I make this remark for no other reason, than to show you it is better to offer no excuse than a bad one, if at any time you should happen to fall into an error.

"Occupied as my time now is, and must be during the sitting of Congress, I nevertheless will endeavor to inculcate upon your mind the delicacy and danger of that period, to which you are now arrived under peculiar circumstances. You are just entering into the state of womanhood, without the watchful eye of a mother to admonish or the protecting aid of a father to advise and defend you; you may not be sensible, that you are at this moment about to be stamped with that character, which will adhere to you through life; the consequences of which you have not perhaps attended to, but be assured it is of the utmost importance that you should.

"Your cousins, with whom you live, are well qualified to give you advice; and I am sure they will, if you are disposed to receive it. But, if you are disobliging, self-willed, and untowardly, it is hardly to be expected that they will engage themselves in unpleasant disputes with you, especially Fanny, whose mild and placid temper will not permit her to exceed the limits of wholesome admonition or gentle rebuke. Think, then, to what dangers a giddy girl of 15 or 16 must be exposed in circumstances like these. To be under but little or no control may be pleasing to a mind that does not reflect, but this pleasure cannot be of long duration; and reason, too late perhaps, may convince you of the folly of mis-spending time. You are not to learn, I am certain, that your fortune is small. Supply the want of it, then, with a well cultivated mind, with dispositions to industry and frugality, with gentleness of manners, obliging temper, and such qualifications as will attract notice, and recommend you to a happy establishment for life.

"You might, instead of associating with those from whom you can derive nothing that is good, but may have observed everything that is deceitful, lying, and bad, become the intimate companion of, and aid to, your cousin in the domestic concerns of the family. Many girls, before they have arrived a young age have been found so trustworthy as to take the whole trouble of a family from their mothers; but it is by a steady and rigid attention to the rules of propriety, that such confidence is obtained, and nothing would give me more pleasure than to hear that you had acquired it. The merits and benefits of it would redound more to your advantage in your progress through life, and to the person with whom you may in due time form a matrimonial connection, than to any others; but to none would such a circumstance afford more real satisfaction, than to your affectionate uncle."

NEW WAY TO POISON GRASSHOPPERS IS TOLD

PUTNAM, Texas.—A new method of poisoning grasshoppers is being advocated here by Robert McKinney, a cotton farmer, who says his method is not only more effective than any other he has tried, but is much less expensive.

McKinney's formula is to mix one gallon of water with three table-spoonfuls of calcium arsenate, and mix thoroughly with enough black-strap molasses to sweeten. Afterwards he catches a few of the hoppers, kills them and saturates the carcasses in the solution, then drops them on the ground at the edges of the fields. Hoppers immediately swarm to the dead ones to feed, taking in the poison. McKinney says that by using this formula he has not lost as much as a row of cotton, while others in the vicinity have lost entire fields.

Mother of Colorado Minister Succumbs
At Abilene Home From Accident Hurts

Mrs. Fannie Harvey, 75, mother of Minister J. D. Harvey of Colorado Church of Christ, died at her home in Abilene late Friday from injuries sustained when she fell seven weeks before and broke her hip. Several close friends of the family attended the funeral rites Saturday from Colorado.

The Abilene Reporter-News for Sunday morning published the following account of the life and death of this pioneer West Texan:

Funeral rites for Mrs. Fannie Harvey, 75, were said here yesterday afternoon from her home, 2035 North Second street, where she had lived continuously since moving to Abilene 24 years ago. Death occurred here late Friday, with Mrs. Harvey's ten children at her bedside. B. F. Shepherd, minister of Highland Church of Christ, conducted the service, after which the body was taken to the Rising Star cemetery at Nugent, for interment beside the grave of Mrs. Harvey's husband, Peter Harvey, who died in 1904.

Ill since her hip was broken in a fall seven weeks before, Mrs. Harvey's condition became grave early Sunday.

Fannie Dabney was born in Austin county, near Brenham, July 11, 1856, and was married there to Peter Harvey, October 7, 1873. Three years later the couple moved to West Texas, settling at the old Rising Star community in Jones county. There they established a ranch home which Mrs. Harvey continued to occupy for three years after her husband's death.

She had been a member of the Church of Christ since girlhood and held membership in the Highland Avenue church here.

Children of Mrs. Harvey are: Mrs. J. V. Wright and George W. Harvey, Nugent; Dabney Harvey, who lives here at family home; B. C. Harvey, Nugent; Mrs. A. C. Manly, H. C. Harvey, Mike Harvey, and L. H. Harvey, Abilene; J. D. Harvey, minister of the Church of Christ of Colorado; Mrs. Earl C. Hays, Clyde. Twenty-eight grandchildren, seven great grandchildren, four brothers and one sister also survive. The brothers are Ida Dabney, Eldorado; Dr. T. H. Dabney and Ed Dabney, Granbury, and A. G. Dabney, Cisco. The sister is Mrs. Hal F. Brandt of San Angelo. Mrs. P. H. Creath of Abilene is a sister of the late Mr. Harvey.

Active pallbearers were Mrs. Harvey's six oldest sons. Honorary pallbearers were Dr. J. M. Alexander, Dr. C. L. Pritchard, Easton Manly, Dennis Manly, C. B. Manly, Ben H. Manly, Hollis Manly, Cline Manly, T. C. Campbell, Harvey Hays, B. F. Shepherd, Dr. C. B. Leggett, W. H. Free, G. C. Helvey, T. A. Russell, Paul Jones, O. B. Chambers, Kit Bell, Dr. L. W. Hollis, Sr., J. S. Arledge, Clyde Echols, A. R. Lawrence, G. B. Tittle, Merrick Davis, Abilene; J. W. Watson, Colorado; George Anderson, Alex Ward, Cisco; Plein Dabney, Sweetwater; Dr. H. F. Lewis, Monroe Higgs, Nugent; Luther B. Creath, Coleman.

Out of town relatives here for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dabney and E. C. Dabney, Granbury; C. R. Dabney and Miss Cleora Dabney, Eldorado; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ward, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, Luther P. Creath, Plein Dabney; Mrs. J. Blackwell, Brownwood.

Stamps for New Fag Tax Being Printed
In Waco, Law Effective August 22nd

Colorado soda sheets had just as well begin now to practice in the art of licking stickers for application onto fag packs, along with the new departure of extracting a few additional pennies from purchasers of the ciggies. Cigaretts in stock by local druggists at time the law becomes operative and not having the required tax stamp, must have the tax affixed before going on sale.

One hundred and two million stamps are in process of making at a printing plant in Waco to be delivered to State Treasurer Charlie Lockhart in Austin before the State cigarette tax law goes into effect on August 22. These stamps will be in sheets of 100 each, with 100 sheets to the package, and 10 packages to the block for shipping. Some of the stamps may be distributed to various points in Texas to cover the supply on hand when the law becomes effective.

There will be approximately 1,162,000 cigarettes, or 58,100 packages on hand by dealers of San Angelo when the State tax goes into effect in the latter part of August, it is estimated by retailers of the city. Nor do they know just what application of the tax is to be made regarding these. It is not known just how many cigarettes dealers of Colorado will have on hand at that time, but it is believed the stock will be allowed to get low, to save trouble and expense of affixing the stamps on the cellophane wrappers.

Should the retail dealers be furnished with stamps and demanded to stick the three cents payment on each package the total payment, estimated, would be $1,745. Or it is possible the ciggies will be checked back to wholesalers, who in turn will have the stamps applied, some retailers advance an opinion.

The new stamps, according to description in the Waco News, bears a Lone Star, State emblem, in a wreath and the number of cigarettes contained in a pack, with amount of tax charged for each. The stamps are being made in two classes, designated as class A and class B. In the former there is a madderlake- or, dull red-colored stamp for package of five cigarettes on which a three fourths cent tax is levied; a Van Dyke brown one and a fifth-cent stamp for a package of eight cigarettes; a blue 1 1/2 cent stamp for packages of 10; a red 1 3/4 cent stamp for packages of 12; a green 3 cent stamp for packages of 20 cigarettes; a 7 1/2 cent orange stamp for packages of 50.

Class B stamps for more expensive cigarettes are all cerise. They are for packages of five, eight and 10, for which taxes of 1 4/5c, 2 88-100c, and 3 3/5c taxes are levied. oneandtaxas

MITCHELL COUNTY
FARM NOTES

W. E. Jackson of Hyman is probably the only man in West Texas growing his own beet seed. Last year he grew some of the long type beets and he let them grow on through the winter and this year they made seed.

W. A. Reid, H. B. Wilson, Hugh Hallmark, Lex Jarratt, T. C. Wilson and C. W. Palmer of Losaine report rabbits damaging crops in their community. Mr. Reid, Mr. Hallmark and Mr. Wilson are poisoning them, using one ounce of strychnine to 30 ounces of salt, placing in holes in two-by-four's, wetting the poison so it will not blow away, and placing along the trails.

After having tried the self-feeder method of feeding hogs for two years, R. E. Bennett of Loraine said Thursday, "It is the only way I have been able to get a hog fat on maize." Bennett is feeding three hogs on ground threshed maize and a mixture of equal parts of tankage and cottonseed meal in a self-feeder. He plans to add ground wheat to the ground threshed maize.

"I terraced a piece of ground the second year it was in cultivation and it never has had a wash in it," said W. C. Hooks of Buford. "There is no use in this land out here ever washing if it is properly terraced."

"Sore shin," a common cotton disease in poorly drained sections, is showing up in cotton here this year. It is caused by a fungus that chokes the root of the plant, causing it to break off when an attempt is made to pull it up. In the field one stalk may have made a normal growth while the affected cotton is only 2 inches high. The disease is worse in wet land. After a time the affected plants develop new roots and grow off all right but the plants are several weeks behind the others. Crop rotation, later planting and a frequent cultivation help to control the disease.

A. R. Trice of Horns Chapel reports an interesting test in plowing cotton last year. He has two acres that were plowed only once and that was with a go-devil. Weeds were kept down by hoeing. This piece was picked separately and made 1200 pounds seed cotton, or 600 pounds per acre. Adjoining cotton plowed in the usual manner made 499 pounds seed cotton per acre. He is repeating the test again this year. This test is right in line with results secured by experiment stations and they advise plowing only when it is necessary to control the weeds.

FOR BETTER FOODS

Many scientists who devote all their time to food research also discuss their latest findings before the Convention. These included the following from the National Canners Association laboratories in Washington, D. C., and San Francisco, Calif.:

The writer has decided to use for his column this week a little "pot pourri" by Lee Taylor Casey of The Denver (Colo.) News:

THE LITERACY QUESTION
A correspondent takes me to task, politely but rather severely, for some recent observations.

"Wasn't it rather absurd," she asks, "to say that a person's originality dies when he learns to read and write? Have our original achievements come from the illiterate—is the ability to read and thereby to learn what others have done a handicap to great men?"

In the first place, I didn't say that ability to read was actually a handicap; I only suggested that the ability should be exercised judiciously and with discrimination.

Years ago, Jim Wong, the venerable sage and steward of the Denver Press Club, said of the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen: "Him read all time; don't know dam thing for himself." And I believe the dangers of too much literacy are illustrated by other examples.

Fortunately, I find support in the American Bar Association Journal, which contains an article by Walter P. Armstrong on "Public Men as Readers of Books."

Armstrong recalls that a parliamentary critic said of Great Britain's war-time premier, "I believe Mr. Lloyd George can read, but I am perfectly certain he never does."

This criticism actually increased Lloyd George's popularity, because of the popular view as to the incompatibility between reading and public affairs.

Washington mentions as having read before the Revolution a history of England, and copies of "The Spectator." With these exceptions his reading, up to that time, apparently was confined to works on agriculture, though perhaps not with the same strictness as that of Parnell, who was said never to have read any book but "Youatt on the Horse."

After his return from the army, Washington consistently purchased books, chiefly dealing with biography and military history, but there is no indication he read them. It seems probable that they were shelved, for in 1797 he wrote:

"It may strike you that this detail (of how he occupied himself) no mention is made of any portion of time allotted to reading. The remark would be just, for I have not looked into a book since I came home, nor shall I be able to do it until I have discharged my work."

LINCOLN'S READING
Edgar Lee Masters' classes the popular conception of Lincoln as a reader with other "myths" about him, and says that, while he was an indefatigable newspaper reader, he cared little for books, and lists the famous books published after Lincoln had reached maturity and when he had ample time for reading, and which he apparently ignored.

Governor Smith; says Armstrong need not lack distinguished precedents, if he is, correctly reported, by a friendly biographer:

"I never read books. I never have read books. In all my life I have never read for amusement or to pass the time away. Life furnishes me with all the thrills."

Colorado's own Governor Adams is like Smith in that he has learned from life rather than from dusty tomes.

Of course there are exceptions. Macaulay devoured whole libraries, and he records that on a voyage to India he read "insatiably the Iliad, the Odessey, Virgil, Horace, Caesar's Commentaries, Bacon's De Augmentis, Dante, Petrarch, Ariosto, Tasso, Don Quixote, Gibbon's Rome, Mills' India, all the 70 volumes of Voltaire, Sismondi's History of France, and seven thick volumes of the "Biographies Britannia."

CREAM GRADING LONG STEP FORWARD

There was a time in the Southwest when buyers of cream paid for it on a hog-round basis just as cotton was sold. This method of buying, penalized the producer of good cream in order that the careless producer could be paid.

As in everything else, the Southwest is making progress in handling of cream and other dairy products. Cream is being purchased on the basis of quality. Manufacturers are rightfully assuming an attitude that will eventually, we hope, keep off the market that kind of cream that can go into nothing but low-grade butter placed on the market that has an influence in decreasing the consumption of dairy products and increasing consumption of butter substitutes.

In making this criticism, Farm and Ranch is not unkind of the difficulties many dairy-farmers must contend with during the hot summer months. Ice is not always available, flies are bad and dust blows, yet, no one must expect to receive the same price for a second grade article as he would for a higher quality.

There are a few simple rules which, if followed, will greatly aid in the production and marketing of good cream. First the cows should be thoroughly clean before milking. The milker should have clean hands and clean clothes. The milk pail should be of approved type and absolutely free of dirt, made so by a thorough washing and scalding and by sunshine. It is very necessary that the cream separator be given the closest inspection. Every precaution should be taken to assure absence of grease or dirt of any kind.

After passing the milk through the separator the cream should be placed in a can, or preferably, a large stone jar and placed in a cool place, being covered to keep out dust, insects or other foreign matter. If ice is not available, a tank of cool water will do. This cream should be stirred at least three times a day. It should be marketed at least twice a week during the hot months, and when placed in a can for delivery, the can should be wrapped with a wet cloth. The cloth should be kept wet until the cream is actually delivered. Evaporation will keep it cool.

That seems to be a lot of trouble strategists that Caesar had used to seize Verrecingetorix and his army!

We have examples in other fields, including that of actually producing near-literature.

I recall the opinion of a highly successful Denver publisher, who announced one day to his staff: "There's been altogether too much grammar in the paper lately. People aren't interested in grammar and things like that. Let's have no more of it in the paper."

For a good many years his advice has been observed fairly consistently.

to go to at a time when prices are unattractive, but we must remember that if we keep low grade products off the market, consumption will increase, which in turn will improve the price situation.—Farm & Ranch.

CHANGE THE NAME

If, as the mayor and members of the council relate, the only reason for "firing" Roy Hesteg as director of the Colorado Municipal Band was in the fact that Colorado had no municipal band, why not remove the technicality and merely announce that the school musical organization shall hereafter be known as the "municipal band." What is in a name, anyway? It is the point of efficiency that counts, and certainly every citizen of Colorado who entertains room in his make-up for a bit of civic pride would expand his chest when reference to the school band is made.

The record agrees with the mayor and those members of the council who have expressed themselves that "Hester is certainly not to blame."

MISDIRECTED CIVIC ZEAL

"The cities are full of pride, challenging each to each; this from her mountainous beach," sang Mr. Kipling a long time ago.

The cities have not changed any since Mr. Kipling wrote his immortal lines. They are still full of pride—and who shall say it isn't a wonderful and beautiful thing?

A couple of weeks ago the State highway department stationed men at strategic points on all principal highways, with instructions to make a careful count of all automobiles traveling past their stations.

Several towns and cities in Texas, learning what was up, proceeded to pad the figures for their communities, by inducing citizens to drive out at frequent intervals past the counters. Local autoists, according to highway officials, were stirred up to put on these special parades, with the result that in some cases hundreds of cars passed a given point where only a few passed normally.

But the deception was discovered and a recount of traffic will be taken at all such points—without letting the local boosters know the time or the place.

WIFE OF MAN WHO RETURNED CUSTER'S FLAG IS HONORED

Mrs. Ora McClinton, of Pharr, Texas, recently received from the United States War Department a citation which her late husband, a United States cavalryman, won fifty years ago for recapturing the flag taken away from Custer when that officer and his men were massacred. The flag was recaptured in the Indian village of Slim Buttes and the officer, William J. McClinton, slashed his way through the Indians to retake the flag.

CLOCK 160 YEARS OLD

A clock said to be 160 years old is owned by John Trimmer, who is postmaster at Bland, Bell county. All of the ancient timepieces' works are constructed of wood, with the exception of the weights. In spite of its great age, the clock keeps perfect time. According to Mr. Trimmer the clock was brought to Texas from Georgia in 1835, and was even then an aged relic.

It is said that the clock was acquired by Mr. Trimmer's great-grandfather about the close of the eighteenth century. It is of Seth Thomas make. Some time ago Mr. Trimmer wrote the company, giving a description of the timepiece and asking for an estimate of its age. He was informed that the clock was at least 159 years old, as none of that model had been made since the year 1770.

TRAVEL LETTERS "UNCLE FRED" "THE BIG BOSS" And Whose Legal Title Is F. B. WHIPKEY

After a week's stay in Washington, D. C., we visited many of the public buildings and interviewed many prominent men and politicians. We drove out to Seaside Park on the Chesapeake bay, through historic Southern Maryland and enjoyed a salt-water bath. We drove to Morgantown on the Potomac, across the historic Anacostia bridge, and again enjoyed a sea food dinner and a plunge in the salt waves.

Now we start for Texas, with Amarrillo as our objective.

Drove down to Richmond, Va., the State capital. As it is a two-days' drive through Virginia and the old State is so full of notable places and historic events, I shall probably not get out of the State by close of this letter. Visited the State Capitol, begun in 1785 and finished in 1792. Plans were furnished by Thomas Jefferson when he was Minister to France. Visited the White House of the Confederacy, built in 1818 and occupied by Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy during the war between the States.

It is now the Confederate Museum. No one should be in Virginia and not visit the great University of Virginia, within whose walls scores of America's greatest men were reared and grown. The University was designed and personally superintended by Thomas Jefferson in his later years, 1820 to 1826. Basset Hall, house of President James Tyler and occupied by him in 1841 when he was elected President. At Jamestown we visited the old ruined church tower, surviving relic of the first English settlers in America, who arrived May 14, 1607. The tower probably dates from 1647 when the fourth church was built by the settlers, though it may date from 1617. It was in the second church, 1614, when Pocahontas and John Rolfe were married. All traces of the first and second churches have been swept away by the tides.

Driving from Richmond, headed west on a delightful drive through the beautiful Shenandoah Valley, where "Stonewall" Jackson with a small army wrote some of history's most brilliant pages. Jackson's military strategy is a classic studied by experts the world over. On the valley drive are found many jeweled crystal caverns, mysterious grottoes and scintillating formations make up a subterranean world of infinite beauty and exquisite charm. From great forests, fields of flowers and winding streams is woven the mantle covering this impressive drive. We made our first stop at Shenandoah Cavern. Nowhere in the realm of nature can there be found such varied features as those in Shenandoah Caverns. The Diamond Cascade, a translucent cataract suggesting a spillway of diamonds; the Hunter's Lodge whose walls are adorned with trophies of the chase; the Leaning Tower, a huge stalagmite defying the laws of gravitation; the Indian Wigwam, a reminder of the days when the slopes of beautiful Shenandoah Valley are dotted with other wigwags; beautiful Rainbow Lake, a crystal pool reflecting a myriad of stalactites that hang in gorgeous disarray from the ceiling of the room; the Grove of the Druids—an alcove recalling the days when Celtic priests performed their rites in Britain's woods; these and many other gorgeous formations impress upon the visitor a full realization of the beauty of the Shenandoah Caverns.

Probably no section of America, and assuredly no portion of the South is as rich in historical lore as the Shenandoah Valley and from the time when Governor Spotswood and his Knights of the Golden Horse shoe first saw its sylvan slopes from a Blue Ridge Mountain peak, over two centuries ago, until the sons of the hardy folk, who a half century later carved this Virginia Eden from its native forests, went out to die in the Forests of Argonne, the Valley has been the theme of the historian and the inspiration of the romanticist. From the summit of Caverns hill one can see a hundred slopes which were incarnadined with fratricidal blood shed in the days of '61 to '65. New Market, where the cadets from the Virginia Military Institute won immortality and a victory, is nearby. Rude's Hill where Blue and Gray grappled in one of the hard fought skirmishes of the war is but a few hundred yards to the east. Cross Keys and Port Republic, where the brigade of Gen. Jackson added lustre to his fame and made "Stonewall" the synonym of strategy, are but a few miles away. To the north, and on the highway to the Caverns, are Winchester, Kernstown, Cedar Creek and Fishers Hill, each a reminder of the clash of arms when Northern hosts under Sheridan, Banks, Milroy and Shields sought the destruction of the "Granary of the Confederacy" as the Valley of Virginia was aptly designated.

The sons of the Valley not only saw service under the Stars and Bars which waved over the legions of Lee, but they served under Stars and Stripes in the days of the Revolution, in the War of 1812, with Taylor in Mexico and on the crimson-dyed field of France. It was at Woodstock, but 15 miles from Shenandoah Caverns, that Muhlenberg doffed his surplice as a minister of the gospel and stood before a startled congregation in the garb of a Continental Colonel to begin recruiting of one of the pioneer regiments of Washington's army. Whittier has immortalized this episode in verse, and motorists on the way to the Grotto of the Gods pass within a few yards of the site of the church where the preacher mingled his very earnest prayers with patriotism and went forth from worship to engage in war.

Leaving the Valley and Caverns, we drove on into West Virginia and on into Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, where we stopped for the night, and my next letter will be from this place.

CHRISTMAS DAY IN TEXAS

(From Beaumont Enterprise)
Ninety-four years ago Texas celebrated its first Christmas. Religious services were held in the small settlements of the State, none of them at that time large enough to be regarded as cities. Some, indeed, were true "outposts of the wilderness."

General Sam Houston, the idol of his fellow Texans, made a speech at Washington-on-the-Brazos in which he said a republic could be founded only by a sober and industrious people. The hero of San Jacinto knew the value of sobriety, although in his sometimes turbulent and always picturesque career, he frequently forgot to practice it. General Houston was also pleased to tell his audience in the stragling little settlement on the Brazos that Santa Ana, whom he defeated in the battle of San Jacinto, was a prisoner of the American government.

There was no prohibition law in Texas then, and after Gen. Houston finished speaking, a big party was held. Eggnog flowed freely and the revelers danced late. Simple presents were exchanged. Transportation difficulties were such that the early Texans had to resort to many makeshifts. Texas was farther away from the country's center of population then, because of poor transportation facilities, than Europe is now.

Even if the toys were few and most of them handmade, the children and the young people had a good time. Christmas was celebrated mainly by eating, drinking and merrymaking.

A single musical instrument, a fiddle, belike, would furnish music enough for a dance that might be rude and boisterous, or even culminate in a fight, but the upper stratum of Texas society comport itself with dignity befitting its position. Chronicles of the time describe social events that were quite elaborate, all things considered. Some of these affairs may have been exaggerated, somewhat in retrospect, but it should not be forgotten that Sam Houston was a national figure before he went to live with the Indians and turned up in Texas, to found a new republic and a new State of the American Union. Houston was at home in the select society of Washington, a close personal friend of President Jackson, an imposing figure in Congress and a Governor of Tennessee.

The commentators say the Christmas of 1836 was very cold. Rains made the roads more impassable than they usually were and further contributed, to the discomfort of travelers. Indians, however, Texans gathered about roaring fires, sang, danced, ate wild turkeys and other fare and had a good time. Transportation had improved a little in 1838, so that a Texan could vet his favorite brand of liquor from New Orleans, Memphis, Nashville or some other big distributing point. Christmas day was observed quietly at Washington-on-the-Brazos that year. Christmas supplies could not be obtained from New Orleans, Galveston or Indianola. In 1840 the French tricolor and the American flag were raised in front of the capitol of Texas, denoting that the infant had been recognized by France and the United States. In 1846 Texans rejoiced at the news that the United States had ratified the Texas annexation bill.

By Christmas, 1850, Texas had begun to put on airs in good earnest. Masque balls and confetti carnivals were the order of the day. Luxuries were more common, in some of the larger towns and cities. Texans danced the square dance, the Virginia reel and other dances of the period. The official caller was an important functionary, and he often had as much liquor in his stomach as he had that useful organ could conveniently carry. Christmas trees were numerous. The young gentlemen and ladies wore dazzling costumes, the young men going in rather strongly for mustaches and whiskers.

And Texas celebrated Christmas through the years when it was a young republic, when it was younger member of the American sisterhood of States, through trying periods of the Civil War and reconstruction on down to modern times. Texans have ever loved good cheer. They still love it.

BARGAIN TICKETS FOR FAIR

DALLAS, Texas.—Plans for a whirlwind campaign during the last ten days of the "summer rate"—five for one admission tickets to the State Fair of Texas—have been made and will be carried into every city and town in Texas where there is a railroad, it has been announced here by T. E. Jackson, president of the State Fair, and Hugo Schellkopf, director in charge of the campaign.

Ticket agents of every railroad in Texas are selling the tickets. During the last ten days of the campaign which ends at midnight on July 31, these agents will give opportunity of purchasing admission tickets to the

I was very restless, and could not sleep at night. My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. State Fair of Texas at a reduction of 60 per cent over the regular admission prices, to every person in Texas.

"We want everyone to have an opportunity of purchasing the tickets," Mr. Jackson said, "and for that reason have extended the campaign to every section of the State. It is the first time in the 45 years of the State Fair that such an offer has been made and we have made it because we want everyone to have an opportunity of visiting our exposition more than one time.

"We have worked hard this year and believe that when the visitors come to the State Fair of Texas, they will agree with us that we have the best balanced program of amusement features, educational attractions, and general exhibits they have ever seen."

The bargain tickets are on sale in addition to the railroad offices of Texas in department stores, drug stores and other community centers of Texas.

Pass Your Dollar Along!

THIS matter of spending is a "round robin" in which the dollar or its equivalent in wages, profit, value or gratified desire returns to the original spender. But when one of us breaks the chain by keeping the dollar in his pocket and refuses to pass it along influences others to do the same thing and leaves the next in line totally without means to continue the chain.

"Keeping money in circulation" implies just what it says... the circulating of money. When you buy, the merchant requires more goods to replace what you have taken away. He draws on the manufacturer; the manufacturer increases production and employs more labor; the laborer earns more, he buys more clothes, food, furniture, amusement... the commodities which you sell or produce and hence the dollar you spend comes back to you.

We've started on the up-grade to resumption of Prosperity now. A noted economist said in convention in Chicago the other day, "Americans today are consuming more goods than are being made up for replacement at present." This is the fore-runner of increased production and increased employment.

Continue spending and the wheels of commerce and industry will soon be humming in the key of prosperity but it's the degree in which you circulate your dollars that will determine the tempo of our return to normalcy.

Years Have Wrought Changes In Names Appearing in Old Record

Names which have become only a memory through death, names which have become unfamiliar because they have long since been changed through marriage, names whose bearers have been absent from Colorado for years, and names which still appear in the chronicles of every-day life in Colorado dot the society page of the Colorado Record for Friday, July 19, 1907, and bear mute witness to the changes the years have wrought since this yellowed sheet was "news."

Mrs. J. G. Merritt, then as now, was society editor. Mrs. A. H. Simon and Mrs. C. T. Harness had entertained with a reception on Thursday afternoon, July 11. Mrs. M. Carter and Mrs. A. J. Payne met the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mesdames A. H. Simon, C. T. Harness, C. C. Blandford, J. W. Person, Brooks Bell, Clara Boren, Willis R. Smith, and Robert M. Webb.

Mrs. J. W. Smith and Mrs. Samuel Gustine led the way to the dining room, where Mrs. R. G. Pearson and Mrs. W. A. Crowder presided. Mrs. Holmes Nichols next led the way to the punch room, where Mrs. W. K. Heiman, Mrs. H. B. Smoot and Mrs. Robert Terrell gave a royal welcome and conducted those present to the punch bowl. Misses Jeanette Roe, Belle Chaplain, and Bessie McMurry (now Mrs. J. A. Holt of Alpine) served.

The record contained the following local items:

Miss Isla Smith had entertained on Tuesday evening with 42 and a vocal and musical program. In the card game Miss Byrd Adams won the royal prize, and Mrs. Brooks Bell the consolation prize.

Mrs. J. T. Griswold gave another reception on Monday afternoon, honoring her sister, Mrs. Charles Scott Ellis. Mrs. Willis R. Smith received the guests, and Baby Lena Griswold received the cards. Mrs. M. K. Jackson presented the receiving line, composed of Mrs. Griswold, Miss Vinta Knott, Mrs. J. A. Buchanan, and Mrs. J. O. McClellan. Mrs. W. L. Doss conducted the music of the afternoon, and Misses Etta Doss, Exa McClure, Ethel Majors, Lula Merrill, Pearl Ruddick, Jessie Mae Griswold, Lola Vaughan, Jennie Knott and Ruth Graves had parts on the program. In the dining room Mrs. R. A. Jeffress and Mrs. J. F. McGill presided in the dining room. Mrs. H. E. Grantland and Miss Julia McClure met the guests at the dining room door, and Misses Etta Doss, Angie Buchanan, Nell Ruddick and Iva Wulfsen poured punch.

Either by intention or by chance, the meeting of the Progressive Club (chamber of commerce) was put on the society page. Dr. P. C. Coleman presided at the regular meeting on Monday night, and J. Max Thomas filled his capacity as secretary. The following were selected as an executive committee to serve for one year: A. S. Henry, Robt. M. Webb, J. E. Hooper, F. M. Burns, A. J. Coe, W. B. New Hope Tidings

By FLORENE FIELDS

The crops are getting a little rain now. They were in need of it. The grasshoppers and other insect pests are damaging the crops, a good bit here. It is reported feed crops are suffering from these depredations more than the cotton.

Rev. J. F. Fields and Geo. Sweatt reported a good meeting at County Line the past ten days. Mr. Sweatt said it was the best meeting he had ever attended or sung for. There were 19 conversions. They were baptized Sunday evening by Rev. J. F. Fields.

Mrs. Denver Hayse has a big boy at her home, born Thursday morning.

Mrs. Burrow of County Line is spending this week at New Hope with friends and relatives to attend the Methodist revival meeting.

Mrs. Herman Byrd has a big girl who arrived Thursday morning.

Grandma Franklin has returned from Big Spring.

Mrs. Hightower visited the Fields home Sunday.

Miss Bernice Sweatt spent Sunday with her cousin, Marie Ellett.

Mrs. Adams, Mrs. F. P. Murphy and Leonard Young have been away the past ten days attending the conference down South.

Mr. Hayse has been on the sick list for the past ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Green Sweatt are off visiting relatives this week.

Miss Florene Fields spent the past week helping her father in a revival meeting.

Rev. Mr. Fields is now holding a meeting at Pleasant Valley. We wish him success.

The Methodist revival meeting started here Friday night. Services have been fine so far. Christian people are still praying for a good meeting. If you care to help us out, come at 8 o'clock for prayer services, and 8:30 o'clock for preaching. We ask the prayers of all Christian people for the success of this meeting, and would like to see visitors from Colorado as well as surrounding communities.

CHEVROLET SALES SHOW NO SIGNS OF DEPRESSION

Large industries in their purchases of automobiles in fleet quantities for commercial use apparently are paying little attention to "buying lulls" and depressions, a survey of Chevrolet's fleet sales for the first six months of the year discloses.

During this period fleet sales increased 9.4 per cent over the same period last year, 71 per cent over the first six months of 1929, and came within 2,000 units of equaling the figure for the year of 1929. The figures include passenger cars and trucks purchased by large companies and contract to take a given amount of equipment within an agreed period.

The gain already recorded this year over previous years is expected to be maintained throughout 1931 in line with the domestic sales expectations recently expressed by H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager.

Hyman Happenings

By MRS. EDGAR ANDREWS

The Hyman Home Demonstration club women and their families had their annual picnic last Friday afternoon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis Coles and little son, Mr. and Mrs. I. Smallwood and children, Mrs. Frank Andrews and children, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lowery and Lavoyce and M. C. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Boyd and children, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. VanZandt and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. SKIPPY TO BE SEEN IN COLORADO, THURSDAY AND FRIDAY OF THIS WEEK

There is an actual living and breathing, in the flesh "Skippy" who while he could not possibly appear in the Paramount picture version of this famous syndicate feature, opening Thursday and Friday, July 23-24, at the Palace Theatre, nevertheless has imbued the scenes with all the realism of life permitted by his size and age.

The one and only real "Skippy," according to close friends, is none other than Percy Crosby, cartoonist whose facile pen and ready wit have made "Skippy" in newspaper form a national favorite.

But Crosby is 36 years old and is nearly six feet tall.

Jackie Cooper, who plays the title role in the picture, was chosen because he was a copy of the original lovable little rogue, and no small weight in the decision was carried by the opinion of those who best know Crosby, the boy and the man. Many of his friends shook their heads and sighed that Crosby could not throw aside the years and play "Skippy" himself.

They recall his swinging, dynamic, boyish carriage; his nervous face and impudent eyes, the small boy dressed up to look solemn and adult, but whose youthful spirit bubbled over and beamed out over a massive brow.

In charting the life of "Skippy," Crosby puts his whole spirit in his work. It is absolutely impossible for the artist to like anything, think anything, do anything, in a half-hearted fashion, with "Skippy." He is in it up to his neck and ears, or out of it entirely. He has made him a palpable influence on American life and thought.

"Skippy" is classed as a four-star movie by all the leading magazines, delighting both old and young.
