CHURCHES

Church of Christ
The Old year is gone. His locks are frosty and gray. To us he is Old Man 1932. He belongs to a family with a peculiar genealogy. The birth of the one is always preceded by the death of the other. The wailing requiems over the death of the old, turns into the songs of the lullaby over the cradle of the new. While the Old year is gone, his footprints are left. Many a lovely babe caressed by a happy hopeful mother last year is not here. Some beautiful girls and bounding boys whose smiles and shouts of laughter enlivened the home a year ago are not here now. Various articles of personal ownership, now unclaimed—toys, books, clothing or an empty room—are but mute reminders of their presence. One and all they gather up our affections and carry them away, in consequence of which we love the earth less and heaven more. The new year brings renewed responsibilities. We are one year nearer the goal of life and we have one year less in time to finish the work of life. 1933 will be inscribed on the tombstone of some as a marker of our closing.

We invite you to be with us next Sunday. These two subjects will help you. "The End of Faith," morning. "Obedience To Christ," evening.

MOVIES

"Madison Square Garden," drama set against the colorful, ever changing background of Manhattan's world-famous center of social, civic and athletic activities, shows at the Palace Theatre, Thursday and Friday, January 5th and 6th.

Jack Oakie, Thomas Meighan, Marian Nixon, Warren Hymer, William Collier, Sr., William Boyd and ZaSu Pitts have leading roles in the picture.

"The Texan" coming to the Palace Theatre, Saturday, January 7, more than a mere western. It is a Paramount picture, with a real story and a real cast. The cast is headed by Gary Cooper and Fay Wray.

This picture is comparable with the many Zane Grey pictures and such other feature western pictures as "Cisco Kid" and the numerous other, exceptionally good Saturday picture, the Palace Theatre has shown in the past, which has more than the usual amount of thrill and good wholesome entertainment. It's one of the best.

Jack Buchanan, international stage and screen star, adds considerably to his celebrity in "Mighty Night," the United Artists picture, which shows Sunday and Monday, January 8th and 9th at the Palace Theatre. The picture is a distinctly first-rate production, principally for the work in it of Buchanan and his leading woman, Anna Neagle, who is England's reigning cinema queen.

Indeed, the entire production commends itself to discriminating audiences. It is crammed full of romance, tuneful melodies, laugh-out-loud comedy, and its Viennese background lends an unmistakable charm to an already charming love story.

"The Impatient Maiden" which shows at the Palace Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, January 10 and 11, is taken from the famous book size novel by Donald Henderson Clarke. Mr. Clarke has written several of the best read novels, such as "Millie," "Louis Berett," and "Impatient Maiden." The story is well done in the stage play of the same name yet it is more impressive and of a larger scope in the screen play, following the story very closely. The cast is one of the best to be had in any one picture; all the main actors being stars in their own rights. This cast is headed by Lew Ayres, Mae Clarke, Una Merkel (of the southern drawl), John Halliday, Andy Devine, Bertone, Churchill, Ethel Griffies, and Helen Jerome Eddy.

The story from which this picture was taken is widely read, by both young and old, rich and poor, men and women and enjoyed by all. It is indeed a picture for the whole family, and it comes to the Palace Theatre on Bargain Nights!!!

"Kongo," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of mystery and thrills in the African jungle shows at the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday, January 12 and 13. As "Deadlegs" Flint, Walter Huston, in the featured role, reenacts the part he first created in scoring one of his biggest New York stage successes.

Miss Mary Dixon Smith, member of the Rogers school faculty, returned to her work Monday after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith in Colorado.

L. L. Bassham after killing a 600 pound hog said, "I think this is my last big hog."

L. L. Bodine killed a 700 pound hog that made 25 gallons of lard.

In contrast to these big lard type hogs, Fowler McDaniel's bacon type hogs are yielding only about 2 gallons of lard but they are making some of the finest cured pork the writer has ever seen.

After a hog reaches 250 pounds most of the gain is lard and it is generally conceded that it is cheaper to buy lard than to try to produce it on the large hogs. A Mitchell county farmer said last week, "I believe I can raise two 250 pound hogs a lot cheaper than I can one 500 pound hog and I see now that I will have better quality meat from the smaller hogs."

AFRICAN PYGMIES ARE GREAT ELEPHANT HUNTERS. Strange tales about the most unusual tribe of savages in Africa, the Pygmies, are to be related by Carveth Wells, Fellow of the Royal Geographic Society and Continental Oil Company radio entertainer in his regular broadcast Wednesday night, January 4, over N.B.C.

According to Wells, the hunters of this diminutive but very lured race, which lives in the great luri forest of the Belgian Congo, are as agile as monkeys and can kill an elephant in short order by shooting him full of poisoned arrows. They handle a bow so well that they can have three arrows in the air at the same time and hit a target with each of them. Wells also tells about the little known Semang pygmies who inhabit the Malay peninsula.

The Conoco program may be heard by local listeners who tune in on station WFAA, Wednesday night at 9:30 o'clock.

Climaxing his message the pastor said the plan of redemption was finished. Then reminding his people that the year 1932 was finished asked them to make new resolutions for 1933 and then at the close of 1933 we might use the words of our Savior, also of the great apostle Paul, "It has finished his course."

Objectives of the School Outlined by John E. Watson in Lions Club Address

Criticism of the school and the school teacher have ever been popular vogues, so John E. Watson, superintendent of the city schools, declared in an address delivered at the Lions Club Friday. Watson outlined conditions under which the public schools of today are operating. Mr. Watson said:

In a time when criticism is rampant, I should like to talk to you about some of the trends in criticism toward the Public School Systems of our country. Because it has always been pretty generally popular to criticize the schools and school men. Ten or twenty years ago we were severely criticized as a sect set apart, not quite the thing to associate with the ordinary run of men, and it was just as bad if a woman should apply with bobbed hair.

The trend of the criticism toward the schools today might be thought of under three heads: Toward the money spent, the methods and finally the morals taught or not taught. First, under the money or cost, it might be said, by the way, that in all the depressions of the past, and this one is no exception, there have been three things that have not deflated. They are taxes, utilities, and insurance. I say this with all due respect to our Lion utility moguls, and I guess one reason why utility rates are not criticized for not going down is that so many of us own a little of them and it is human nature not to criticize ourselves.

The insurance of our country is another thing that still has the respect and confidence of all kinds of people. It is going the round about taxes is not so original, but is sponsored by such organizations as the Economy League. In spite of the general law that taxes do not go down, the public schools of this town have lowered the budget in three years from $83,000 to $65,000.

The second main trend of criticism is toward the methods of the public school system. We are criticized because we do not teach pupils how to write and spell, when the fact of the business is, as is shown by the data of late surveys, that a child of the fifth grade can write and spell better than the college man of 20 years ago. They also say that we do not teach people to make a living. Said criticism based on the fact that 12 million people are out of work, some of them products of the public schools.

The third pet criticism is that the public schools do not teach morals. A lot of this type of criticism is simply because there are certain classes of people who are naturally the butt of criticism—they are teachers, doctors, preachers and now bankers.

Thoughtless people, since it is popular to criticize, jump on such instances as the morals of certain young people in Houston, and conclude that the public schools are at fault—a preacher in a certain state goes wrong and some people think that something is wrong with most preachers. And we have to remember, too, that in the last ten years there are a great deal more people of all kinds to effect the morals of the schools. Instead of a select few that used to make up the schools, we now have all of them.

And another thing the modern critic should remember is that when a child comes to us at six, it is too easy to observe that his disposition is already formed, and by the home. The child may be spoiled, stubborn, and bad mannered. Then is it not a little hard to expect the public schools to place wings on that child in 7 or 11 years?

The idea of the school system today is not to focus all the lights of the teachers and the system, but like the old line lantern to throw the light more on those about it.

Then finally, we are doing our best to give every taxpayer his money's worth for every dollar paid us, and that we are really striving to help the morals of the pupils, to make them honest, sincere, appreciative of simplicity, and in short, to make them better citizens of tomorrow.

School reopened Monday, January 2, 1933, after a week of Christmas holidays. Everyone enjoyed the holidays but were glad to get back to school.

We are going to do our best to start the New Year off right.

The school ground has been worked on during the holidays. The work has helped it very much. We are now ready to put up our basketball goals and get started to playing ball.

The see-saws are going to be fixed for the children who are too small to play ball. We also have base ball for the ones who don't play basketball.

We are now getting ready for the inspector. We are expecting him any time now.

Have The Doctors Had A Square Deal? These Professional Men Ask of Public

In spite of bumper crops, political turns, and the promise of prosperity being just around the corner, DEPRESSION, hard times, lack of employment and scarcity of money is still stalking through our country. Just how much longer such conditions are going to obtain, or when normalcy is going to return are matters purely speculative, and conjectural. Be that as it may, just a little common sense exercising gives us the assurance that we are facing another 10 or 12 months of the same old drag, if not worse.

Heretofore we Doctors, without much questioning, have gone day or night to care for the sick and injured. We did this work cheerfully, believing that our clients appreciated our needed services sufficiently to pay, at least a substantial part of the bill, when PAY DAY with some, and the Fall of the year came, with others. Some have paid in full, some in sufficient part to be satisfactory, while many others have treated their accounts with total indifference—neither paying a penny nor calling at his Doctor's office to even thank him for his services.

When we see such people at the shows, at the carnivals, riding in new cars, spending unnecessary dollars in many different ways, SURE!! We ask ourselves the question, "HAVE DOCTORS HAD A SQUARE DEAL?"

DOCTORS NOT BUSINESS MEN: We are professional men, and it is a known fact that Doctors, as a class, have less business sense than any other class of men. This accounts for the event that many a Doctor, with extraordinary ability, has given a long life service to the care of suffering humanity and finally died leaving an estate worth less than the original cost of his medical schooling. Our training has not been along business lines. Nevertheless our experiences, during the last two years, in collecting less than 10% of our hard-work earnings have forced upon us the question, HAVE DOCTORS HAD A SQUARE DEAL?

The majority of our number whose names appear below, are reaching that age when certainly we should begin to calculate for some kind of support in old age. We naturally have but little confidence in the public providing for us when decrepitude and age-infirmities have rendered us totally and permanently disabled when that same public is failing to provide for us now while we are yet strong men and working for that public day and night.

A SQUARE DEAL IS ALL WE WANT: We fully realize what the DEPRESSION means to this country. Gladly and cheerfully will we cooperate in every reasonable way to help bear the burdens of those who need and deserve help; but to continue to care for those who arrange at the Bank, at the Dry Goods Store, at the grocery store, at the black smith's shop and elsewhere for their future needs, yet gives the future need of a Doctor no consideration—EXCUSE US PLEASE. If our services have a worth while rating why not plan for such services on a business basis? Suppose you try phoning some Banker and without reference, previous arrangement or security, you demand that he bring you in haste, five, ten or twenty five dollars. Suppose you phone your groceryman some dark, cold night—you already owe him for two years rations—ask him to send out at once a side of bacon, a sack of flour, fifty cents worth of sugar, six bits worth of coffee and a dollars worth of beans. Suppose you want to ask such favors of any other sensible class of men on earth, save the Doctor, WHAT WOULD THE ANSWER BE?

OUR PLEDGE TO CHARITY: As for doing actual charity work, we each hereby pledge ourselves to do twice the amount of charity work as any other class of business or professional man in the county.

BROKEN PROMISES: If promises had any value we Doctors would have our homes paid for, some nice quarter section, well improved farm paid for, a high priced family limousine paid for and money to loan. We are tired of promises that mean nothing, tired of labor without recompense, tired of sleepless nights without remuneration, tired of burning gas and lube and wearing out automobiles and getting nothing in return, tired of assuming grave responsibilities without compensation, tired of wearing our lives away without indemnity or amends—tired of servitude. We have families to support, children to educate, debts to pay, church pledges to meet, taxes to dig up, offices to maintain and a hundred other contingencies to meet, and your good will and broken promise suffices not for these things.

WE ARE NEITHER LEGALLY NOR MORALLY BOUND: There are many who believe that there is either a divine command or a statutory law that says to the Doctor, "Thou shalt go when called, day or night, money or no money." Such law or command exists only in the minds of the ignorant, and has never been found elsewhere.

A BUSINESS BASIS SOUGHT: Why not begin the new year right and go to your Doctor's office and talk business with him. Fix up that old account or note in a business like way that will be satisfactory, and make arrangement with him to do your practice another year on a BUSINESS BASIS. If you fail to do these things HAVE YOU GIVEN YOUR DOCTOR A SQUARE DEAL? A word to the wise is sufficient.

Plan of the Dr. C. L. Root General Hospitalization

DURING this time of economic stress what would a serious illness or accident with the necessity of hospital care mean to you? Many are now living on the closest margin they have known in years with little, if any, saved for an emergency illness. Nevertheless, one is just as apt to be ill or have a serious accident during "hard times" as during "good times." Unfortunately, one can not make the case of his illness wait upon his personal convenience or his financial condition. True, none of us want a hospital experience but at times its need is imperative. You may be a well, strong man or woman today and in twenty-four hours have an acute illness or be in a disastrous accident. In such a case you should be able to go to a good hospital where expert care would be received making your recovery quicker and more complete. Are you prepared for such an emergency? You may be the next person to face it!

Unfortunately even provident people fail to consider the financial discomforts which accompany illness of any sort. The cost of hospital care does not create the financial problem incident to hospitalization but the neglect of the public to take the inevitable into account in preparing the annual budget. No provision is made for hospital care and when sickness or accident does come they find themselves confronted with a serious financial problem which is entirely their own and for which they have made no provision.

On one hand then the problem is one of unpreparedness. On the other hand, with a salary seemingly not large enough to put aside a sufficient sum to cover the unexpected illness it becomes necessary that some plan be devised whereby efficient hospital service can be made accessible to all on terms that are convenient and equitable.

After serious research and study the management of the C. L. Root Hospital has worked out the following plan in answer to the above problem which we wish to submit to you for your serious consideration. This plan is known as General Hospitalization, enabling one to pay a nominal sum during good health and on an earning basis, thereby assuring one of hospital care when ill and his salary stops.

General Hospitalization may easily be compared to fire insurance. The burning of a building without fire insurance would be a dreadful disaster, however, it is not more a disaster than serious illness, as we are just as unprepared for a long siege of sickness and hospital service as we are for a fire. In fact, it often happens that sickness in the home entails a financial loss as great or greater than the loss of the home by fire would entail without insurance.

PLAN OF GENERAL HOSPITALIZATION
The payment of $9.75 a year, payable annually, semi-annually, quarterly or monthly, in advance, assures complete ambulance service and hospitalization in the C. L. Root Hospital on the advice of your own physician in a private room with board, general nursing care and supervision laboratory routine blood count and urinalysis, dietitian, operating room fee, surgical supplies and dressings during a period not to exceed twenty-one days in one year. May be for periods of different durations totaling twenty-one days and a 25% discount will be given for all time over twenty-one days. The service does not include fees of physician, special private nurse, X-Ray, specially ordered laboratory work, anaesthetic fee nor serums. Further information regarding this service will be given with no obligation on your part if you will call at the offices of the Hospital Agency Company in the C. L. Root building, ground floor.

According to endorsement of business men and doctors this is, without question, the best plan devised thus far for hospitalization. Our experience with this plan in the past months has convinced all concerned of its practical value. Many in times of accident and illness have received the needed hospital care without having to worry about paying the bill.

ENDORSEMENTS

It affords me great pleasure to endorse the C. L. Root Hospital plan.

DR. J. P. JOHNSON.

TO MY CLIENTELE:
I have carefully read the C. L. Root Hospital Contract and find no fault with it at all. I believe it the only means at hand to have the hospital survive these hard times. I would advise my clients, each and every one, to buy one of these contracts, and thus be assured if you should be so unfortunate as to need hospitalization, you get it at a cost of approximately nothing.

Respectfully submitted,
T. A. MARTIN, M. D.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
This is to certify that I have read the C. L. Root Hospital Contract, and see absolutely nothing in it that is not fair to the C. L. Root Hospital and the buyer of the contract.

I believe that in such depression-times as we are now going through this contract affords the only means for many to have hospital care who will need to be in some hospital sometime before the year has ended.

This plan to help each other bear the burdens of the unfortunate ones has my hearty endorsement.

R. E. LEE, M. D.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The C. L. Root Hospital Contract has been brought to my attention. I hereby give this plan my full endorsement. It is the only plan I know by which the hospital can maintain its high standard of efficiency and the people can be hospitalized when such an emergency comes.

J. MELVIN CRYMES.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
This contract embodies Galatians 6:2, "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." This contract has my full and unqualified endorsement.

DR. T. J. RATLIFF.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
I have carefully considered the C. L. Root Hospital Contract, and I cheerfully recommend it to my clients.

Year's Municipal Election Expected Develop Interest

'I MAY OR MAY NOT RUN,' MAYOR HUTCHINSON SAYS ANENT MUNICIPAL OFFICE

Secretary, Three Members Of City Council To Be Elected In April

With an array of five municipal offices to be filled by authority of the ballot box the first Tuesday in April, the Colorado voter may safely entertain the expectation that a deal of interest is scheduled to develop.

Mayor Homer L. Hutchinson is not much concerned about municipal politics just now, so he stated to the Record Monday afternoon when asked if he would be a candidate in the April election to succeed himself in office.

Mr. Hutchinson pointed with pride to the financial saving his administration has brought to the taxpayers of Colorado. During the fiscal year ending May 1, 1931, the annual budget for operating this municipality in all departments was $56,000, he said.

"And we have been enabled to slice this expense one-half while reducing the tax levy," he continued. "The city tax rate for 1930 was $1.50 on the $100 valuation of property. In 1931 the rate was $1.40 and last year we were able to cut it to $1.30."

Five Persons Dead After Gasoline Is Used To Start Fire

Walter Hood, 40, Ward county tenant farmer, three of his small children and a child of his brother, Jack Hood, were burned to death near Barstow Tuesday when gasoline was used to start a fire in heater at the Walter Hood home.

The families of Walter and Jack Hood were visiting together during the New Year and all were enjoying the occasion when the explosion turned the small frame building into a mass of flames.

Demonstrations on Butchering the New 'A. & M. Way' Announced by Co. Agents

Practical demonstrations on butchering hogs and beesves the approved "A. & M. way" are to be given in each of the twenty rural school communities of Mitchell county under personal direction of W. S. Foster, county farm agent, and Miss Abbie Sevier, home demonstration agent.

"Starting today meat curing, drying and canning demonstrations will be given in each of the twenty eight school communities of the county by myself and the home demonstration agent," Mr. Foster stated Monday morning.

First of the series of demonstrations was given Tuesday and Wednesday at the farm home of E. S. Miles of Longfellow community. Hogs for the demonstration were supplied by Miles, G. F. Fuller and Kelba Weeks.

In curing and canning pork the plan will be to kill in the afternoon, saw the hogs down center of the backbone, hang and chill over night. The following morning it will be

HALL DEGARMO NAMED ON TEXAS STATE BAND

Hall DeGarmo of Colorado has been selected as a member of the All-Texas band which is scheduled to go to Washington March 4 to officially represent Texas at inaugural of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner.

The band is being selected by Paul Seeds of Wichita Falls who will accompany the musicians as director.

Mrs. J. W. Shepperd visited her aunt Mrs. Harper in El Paso this week.

plished: Eight pounds salt, three pounds brown sugar and three ounces salt peter. This is known as the A. & M. sugar cure. As to beesves, the animals will be killed in the afternoon but instead of being cut up the following morning the carcasses will be allowed to hang for from two to seven days before cutting up, as this improves quality of the beef. Jersey beesves should not be allowed to hang out for more than four days. Calves of strictly beef breeding strains may be hung longer.

After that the beef is cut up it will be canned, dried or corned. In making either corned or dried beef, the following formula is used: One and one-half pounds salt, one ounce salt peter, one-fourth pound sugar and one gallon of water. The meat is packed in a barrel or stone jar and covered with the cure. The corned beef is ready for use in ten to fifteen days. To properly process the dried beef the meat should remain in the cure three days for every pound of beef.

The dried beef has been in cure the required length of time it is taken out and allowed to hang twenty four hours and then smoked. Persons desiring pork or beef demonstrations, or both, should make application to either the county farm agent or home demonstration agent.

Rutherford had been to San Angelo to attend a New Year's celebration. He returned with a friend to Carlsbad and after remarking that he was sleepy and dreaded the drive home, left after midnight. Passing motorists found him near his wrecked machine a few hours later.

DAN CUPID ENJOYED GOOD TIMES DURING 1932 WITH 152 WEDDINGS RECORDED

December Was Banner Month With Total of 42; July Furnished Only Six

Dan Cupid, in taking an inventory of his annual business for the old year, finds that 1932 was not so bad. In fact this ever popular individual succeeded in consummating a total of 152 marriage contracts during the year, a record exceeding those of the past few preceding twelve month periods.

December was the banner month with a total of 42 marriage licenses issued by County Clerk R. L. Templeton. July registered the smallest volume with only 6 of the credentials issued.

State laws requiring medical examination and posting of intention to wed continues to take a considerable amount of this business away from Mitchell county, with New Mexico points receiving the bulk of this patronage. A few of the couples merging into matrimony during the year were wed in Oklahoma and others in Louisiana.

Be it resolved, that we, hereby, as a Lions Club, express our deep and most genuine sorrow in the loss of his most lovable companion;

SECOND NEWSPAPER IS PLANNED FOR COLORADO

W. E. Reid, formerly employed on The Record as a machinist operator and later as editor, has recently moved a printing plant to Colorado from Lamesa and announces that he will launch a newspaper here. Reid stated Saturday that the name of his publication would probably be "The Mitchell County Times."

The office publication will be located in the B. F. Dulaney building on Walnut street. Until a few weeks ago Reid was editor of a newspaper at Fort Stockton.

Political Pot Simmered With Opening of The New Year at Colorado 21 Years Ago

Politics were very much in vogue as the New Year dawned here twenty one years ago. The Record for Friday, January 5, 1912, carried several political announcements and informed its readers that it was most probable that a record number of candidates would be in the running before many weeks had passed.

Among candidates announcing for office in that number were the following:

C. Hooper, for county and district clerk; J. J. Patterson, for county judge; R. F. Calloway, for tax assessor; A. J. Coe, for county judge; E. E. Jackson for county and district clerk; Jack Smith, for tax assessor; G. B. Coughran, for sheriff; W. P. Leslie, for district attorney, and Samuel Gustine, for county treasurer.

Oscar Majors and Miss Effie Lowe were married the day after Christmas at home of the bride's mother in Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Majors have made their home in Colorado during the twenty one years that have followed.

The Record for that week carried story on the front page announcing that J. B. Sneed had found his wife in Winnipeg, Canada, and that Al G. Boyce, Amarillo cattleman charged with having abducted the woman from a Fort Worth hospital, was in jail in the Canadian city.

Monday night of that week flames had destroyed the Cash Market and Beauchamp Restaurant. They were located in the St. James hotel building and for a time the entire structure was threatened.

Looking to publication of a better newspaper, The Record announced that improvements had been made at the office. New equipment had been installed and the front office made more attractive.

Business with Colorado merchants during the week before Christmas was evidently good. One of these reported cash sales on Saturday before Christmas as having amounted to $1,060.00.

"Constable Sparks is a terror to the festive crap shooter," warned The Record in recalling that several arrests had been made during the week.

Randle stated Tuesday that the additional floor space was needed to care for growing business. The store is located in the Earnest block, among the attractive brick business structures in downtown Colorado.

COLORADO RECORD

Colorado—Where The West Is "At"
Our Motto: "Keep Boasting"
Official Paper of Colorado and Mitchell County control both branches of the new legislature we may reasonably look for an amendment to act creating the commission, out of which two or more additional members would be assured.

Liquor, in all its ramifications, is expected to demand the lion's share of attention down at Austin once the legislature settles down to business for the term. Bills, attacking and defending the 18th Amendment and State liquor laws, are expected to become source for much oratory in the halls of both the House and Senate.

Gasoline, the output of an industry already taxed to the point of confiscatory ownership by the government, will be paraded for additional probing by these solons. A little more weight added into its present bulging load will perhaps be suggested.

West Texans stand in a determined mood to fight any proposal having to do with lessening the importance or potential status of Texas as Tech, Lubbock. A few weeks ago a committee recommended that the institution be trimmed of much of its present prestige among the greater educational institutions of Texas.

Abolition of the fee system will be another question about which proposed legislation will be formed. There are other matters of important rank that we might bring up for parade here, but we will await developments down at Austin. In the meantime, you may expect some interesting things. The Record believes they are in the offing.

Information coming from an official source this week depicts an interesting resume for the average Colorado taxpayer. According to this information, and The Record accepts it as accurate, the administration of H. L. Hutchinson has witnessed an annual saving of $20,000 to the citizenship of this town. Two years ago the city's annual expense account was $56,000. Now it is $36,000.

Another feature of 1933 will be the municipal elections due to be staged in April. Coloradans will find themselves facing the responsibility of naming a mayor, secretary and three members of the city council.

The West Texas chamber of commerce is establishing an office at Austin but will do no lobbying, so Manager D. A. Bandeen is quoted in the papers. Wonder why the office, then.

Columnist by Uncle Fred The Big Boss

We had intended to quit writing for this column but so many protests, praise, castigations, etc., have come in that we have decided to again take up the work and if you don't read it you will miss lots.

So this week we submit this locutionary elaboration, a forensic exhalation at body temperature, an effluvia, sometimes called hot air. Lots of our readers are dissatisfied.

It being the first issue in the New Year it is but fitting we should submit a NEW YEAR'S GREETING

To our readers one and all I send a New Year greeting. To the bending sire and fading matron, to the stalwart manhood and beautiful womanhood, to the lithe and active youth and blushing maidenhood, to laughing, gushing, rollicking bright eyed, dimpled cheeked childhood, whether sitting with apron full of dolls, riding stick horses, stroking the kitten or pinching its tail, crooning in crib with chubby feet uplifted or looking menacingly on a new world from a mothers bosom—to all of all ages, sexes, creeds and conditions I send this New Years greeting.

Here is the voice of a mother over her new born babe. The thrill that came to me as I watched over my new born baby girl to see her open her eyes for the first time upon this world and saw the slight quiver of the eyelids followed by their parting, and I looked into her eyes for the first time, that that thrill will always be mine. I know science says that the baby could not see me, though her eyes were open but I could see her through mine. Here was a little bundle of humanity, very insignificant looking indeed, those first minutes, but to me, what possibilities it had. I saw a beautiful young woman walking down the avenues of time side by side with my beloved, who was, at that moment, struggling for a foothold again on this bank of the River of Life and very slowly coming over the low hills bordering the river. Time and space were annihilated. The possibilities of the new, the growing made me almost shiver with delight.

The old year has gone, its course is run, it must pass on, its days slipped away like grains of dry sand through chubby baby fingers and with the dawn of last Sabbath there was ushered into our midst the New Year.

With a song of hope and faith in my heart I greet you, my friends, with that stern determination to not let that which has tended to embitter us against our fellowman and ourselves, we face this year with buoyant expectations not unlike a young couple does their first born. Though we feel a certain emptiness, we pledge ourselves that we will not let hate and regret become our masters for this is the jubilee year in which we are reminded that nineteen hundred years ago, a man who had learned early in life to make wise decisions and live for others, was hanged upon an ignominious cross seemingly to vent the wrath of a frenzied mob, but in reality to accomplish the will of Him who sent this humble carpenter to teach the world how to live, and well did He succeed in that task. Wise men paid Him homage at His birth and on "down through" the ages other wise men have followed their example, in that the world has never ceased to sit at their feet and learn. May you seek truth and be free. May you rid your hearts of all spitefulness and follow the Golden Rule. May you in deed and in truth put first things first, and be reminded that when you do that all is noble and just and kind will be "added unto you" and may all shame and glitter isms and idle dreams be cast, from your mind as shadows that flee before the rising sun, may the aged be secure in their declining years, may the middle aged be assured of that noble confidence that the real America stands for, and may the youth, the flower of our fair land, feel that the future holds a multitude of safe realities. May the farmer go forth with happiness and receive a just recompense for what he produces, may the worker leave a happy home with a song in his heart from that satisfaction of being worthy of his hire, may the sound of the tumbling walls of tariff bring reassurance to all nations that Uncle Sam is to be trusted and loved and most of all to be revered for leadership in the stabilization of the commercial marts, congestion of sword into plow shares and restoration of brotherhood that should exist among the races of mankind; may those who sit in high places both in church and state, set examples worthy of their trusts and strive to be true to the great doctrines for which our forefathers fought, bled and died. May the end of each task and the close of each day be a benediction to a well earned, untroubled sleep caused by the clearness of conscience for having wrought well and accomplished by your best efforts. May sickness and disappointment be unknown within the walls of your home, having been dispelled by health and happiness, peace and prosperity: May we at the close of this year be truthfully able to say, "That we have lived in the house by the side of the road and been a friend of man."

Neither happiness nor suffering is brought by the year itself. It is not the year, but ourselves that are at fault. "There is no new thing under the sun," said an ancient wise man, and years are not to be excepted from that statement. Hope a little, fear not at all, and love as much as you can, the results are in other hands than ours. Pray don't find fault with the man who limps Or stumbles along the road Unless you have worn the shoes he wears Or struggled beneath his load. F. B. W.

Editorial

Be it resolved, in this school of ours, as the New Year dawns bright upon the horizon of time, that this year will find us a more resolute, determined, able-bodied group of young men and women, of golden opportunities and possibilities, so that when the year ends, it may be a beautiful, golden sunset, instead of one clouded by avoidable sorrows and disappointments.

Remember the mistakes of the past year for no other reason than to profit thereby, thus making a better success of the days ahead.

"Not only when the New Year's footsteps sound
 Upon the threshold of my door, shall
 I make resolution . . . every flaming dawn
 Shall find me waiting earnestly to try
 To live the glorious hours of one brief day
 Simply and serenely at my best;
 To serve, if there be need for me
 to serve;
 To rest, if there be need for rest."
 From "Resolve for Every Morning" by Grace Noll Crowell.

Band

The Colorado High School Band will again be ready to enter the West Texas Band Contest to be held in Abilene sometime in the Spring.

The band will not have as many members to enter as last year but every member is entering with the firm determination to win the "Simmons Cowboy Band" cup for the third time and then the cup will be a permanent fixture in our trophy case.

Commercial Department

Everyone is back from the Christmas Holidays reviewing for the mid-term exams. For the first time in quite a while, there was no one absent in either the typing or the bookkeeping classes.

The Vocational class is growing as four new members entered after Christmas, and many of the old students are back, some having been ill with the flu, and others working during the Christmas rush.

Future Farmers—
 Ollie B. Webb, vice-president of the T. & P. railroad, is to speak at the Parent and Son Banquet to be served at the Baptist church, Friday, Jan. 6. There will also be some well known local speakers and entertainers.

J. M. Kirby, president of the local chapter of the F. F. A., is to serve as toastmaster.

The clerk at the little warehouse
 Was a very old man of ten.
 He played with cars and smoked cigars
 And drank a lot of gin.

I walked toward home on horse-back
 And something else went wrong.
 When I arrived at the boarding-house,
 I found that I was gone.

I prepared myself to await my return
 When a knock came at the door.
 You can imagine my embarrassment
 When I saw me there on the floor.

I picked me up and carefully hung myself upon a nail,
 There was somewhat of an argument
 When I carried me off to jail.

The fish were crowing in the streams
 And they hollered with all their might,
 When they found that the sun was shining
 In the middle of the night.

The day was dry and sultry
 Golly, how it did rain.
 If I hadn't been in England,
 I'd have sworn I was in Spain.

I stayed at home and travelled lots
 I enjoyed it with all my heart;
 The more I traveled, the closer I got,
 To the place where I didn't start.

The trip was awfully confining
 Because I never went,
 And I didn't run any errands,
 Because I wasn't sent.

I went to every corner of the earth,
 And looked into ever nook,
 And this was the interesting trip
 I believe I never took.

And now that I'm through traveling,
 I'll remain at home for a while,
 And think of the sight I didn't see,
 When I wasn't on the Nile.

I got me up in a corner
 And took some good advice.
 "Don't ever try to fry bacon,
 On a fifty pound cake of ice."

I've played chess with the king of England,
 Shot craps with Al Capone.
 But the reason that I'm by myself
 Is, because I am alone.

Now if I'd promised to tell the truth,
 I'm sure I wouldn't have lied.
 But something I still can't understand,
 Is the reason that I died.
 Harold Hester.
