Range Cattle 'Shrink' But No Losses Reported To Thursday Noon

Gripped in throes of the most severe blizzard within three years, Coloradans Thursday afternoon were giving consideration to hope that Friday would bring an abating temperature from the biting cold that since Monday midnight has prevailed. The blizzard is the most severe recorded here since January, 1930, when the mercury dropped to 10 degrees below. Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock a reading of 6 below was registered here.

The cold flurry swooped down on this section Monday night. At 11 p. m. the gentle south breeze that had prevailed some days, bringing with it typical Indian Summer weather, suddenly gave way to a blast out of the north. Before morning a drop in temperature of 35 degrees had been brought about. 4 above zero was registered at 7 o'clock Tuesday.

Through Tuesday the weather continued cold, with occasional snow flurries adding to zest of the severe wintry blast. The mercury continued to hover around seven above zero through the day. Soon after nightfall the weather grew colder, and at 6 a. m. Wednesday the low mark of six degrees below zero was reached.

No losses had been reported by Mitchell county cattlemen up to Thursday at noon, although range cattle suffered considerably from severe cold. Cows and calves were drawn but due to fact they were in excellent condition came out from effects of the blizzard little worse from the experience.

Damage reported from freezing automobile radiators and engine blocks constituted principal loss due to the blizzard. Several Colorado motorists report damage to their machines. Water pipes were frozen and burst in a number of homes.

The freeze has come as a boom to Mitchell county fruit growers. Trees, some of them already showing signs of beginning to bud, have been set back several days. There is small probability that the fruit crop will be killed by frost or freezing this Spring.

Farmers having small grain crops will bear brunt of losses to be credited to the blizzard. These crops were badly damaged.

Abilene reports the coldest weather in 34 years, with the mercury dropping to 5 below zero Wednesday morning. Lubbock, with a temperature of 17 below, was said to be the coldest place in Texas Wednesday. Freezing temperatures were reported at Brownsville and other locations in the Lower Valley region.

HOMES AT DEPRESSION PRICES

It is a known fact that Colorado has for many years been considered one of the best towns in West Texas. Lots of our good citizens have talked about the depression hitting us, but as we look at Colorado with no vacant dwellings, it is convincing that the depression of Colorado is similar to that of a tornado which swoops on a country, lifts and goes away.

Colorado has a population of approximately 6000 people, yet there are more than 500 families who rent their homes. Today is the day for each renter to purchase himself and family a home, one that in his declining years will belong to him and when he looks back over his life or has crossed the great beyond he can say that after all the depressions he provided a home for his wife and children.

Statistics show that approximately 85% of the people who have died left an estate of less than $5,000.00—the chances seem to be 15 for and 85 against you and unless you make an effort when the opportunity is right you too may leave your estate in the same condition.

We are listing below a number of good dwellings that can be purchased for less than the original loan and while an opportunity of this nature is for you we feel sure it is the time to make a start to own your own home. Inspect any one of the houses and if interested call at our office.

M. E. Church Notes—Our Sunday School was well attended Sunday. Mr. Neely's class graded highest and was awarded the banner for first Sunday of contest.

Church services were well attended. Rev. Harrell's subject "Running Life's Race," found in Heb. 12th chapter 1st verse. "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us and let us run with patience the race that is set before us."

This verse if we all would live up to it would make our lives more worthwhile. As we visit a sick room of one who is a shut-in and see how patient they are it makes us want to be more patient and run the race God has laid out for us.

Mr. Lester Jarratt, Otis Muns, Harold Martin composed the orchestra at the morning service and it was enjoyed by all. We hope they will play every Sunday.

Evening service was well attended and the subject was "Doom of a Sinner." The text was the 24th to 28th chapters of St. John. Rev. Harrell's message was enough to touch the hardest heart. We as Christians must pray earnestly for lost souls and pray that our lives may count as Christian ones that we may not be a stumbling block in a sinner's life.

League was well attended with Mrs. Johnson as capable leader. Prayers are ever with her young people.

Prayer meeting every Wednesday night.

PULLMAN FARES ON T-P AND OTHER LINES DOWN TO REDUCED SCHEDULES

Week-End Rates on Berils Are Cut When Used With Roundtrip Ticket

Beginning Friday there will be a 25 per cent reduction in sleeping car fares when tickets are bought in connection with weekend rates offered by the Texas & Pacific and other railroads serving West Texas.

Tickets on sleepers can be bought for one and one-half fares when used with roundtrip tickets good for Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. The railroad tickets to Texas destinations at weekend rates cost one fare plus 25 cents.

Co-operation of the Pullman Company in reducing rates is interpreted by railroad men as additional evidence that the railroads are trying to offer as economical transportation as possible, thereby improving the condition of railroads. Passenger departments are experimenting in various ways, attempting to provide a lure for the public, which has been weaned away from riding on railroads by private automobiles and buses, especially the former.

Public response to the sale of scrip books, providing a 25 per cent reduction in railroad passenger rates, has been satisfactory. This was disclosed Tuesday at ticket offices here.

High Vitamin Foods Essential For Hen If She Be Expected To Maintain Record

In connection with the poultry clinic to be given in Colorado Saturday afternoon it might be well for interested poultry breeders of this county, especially those who would cooperate with biddie in her effort to maintain mass egg production to consider what foods are best adapted.

Yellow corn, though hundreds of times as rich in vitamin A as white corn, is not an adequate source of this vitamin for laying hens. According to recent experiments by R. M. Sherwood and G. S. Fraps, of the Texas Experiment Station, a laying hen of average weight must eat one-sixth of her own weight of yellow corn every day in the year to secure enough vitamin A from this feed to remain healthy and to produce an average of 240 choice eggs.

An experiment to determine what proportions of the vitamins consumed are used for body maintenance and for egg production showed that it required twelve times as much vitamin A to produce 20 choice eggs per month as is needed to keep the hen in a healthy condition. Large amounts of this vitamin are required for egg production because, as the experiment showed, the average hen must consume 6.3 units of vitamin A for every unit that is stored in the egg yolk.

The supply of this vitamin is not adequate, egg production not only falls off but the eggs are deficient in this vital element. Nutrition experts have long been recommending eggs as an important source of vitamin A in the human diet with out realizing that there are "eggs" and "eggs" and the value of eggs from the vitamin standpoint depends upon the kind of feed supplied to the hen that lays the eggs.

To produce choice eggs of high vitamin content, poultrymen must look for feeds rich in vitamin A. For this purpose, nothing was found to equal growing grass and other green feeds. Green spinach for example, contains about 80 times as much vitamin A per pound of dry matter as does yellow corn. This emphasizes the importance of keeping green feed available to the flock, not only for high production but also to produce eggs rich in vitamin A. When green feed is not available, dehydrated alfalfa leaf meal, which was found to be 14 times as high in this vitamin as should comprise 5 to 10 per cent of yellow corn, is recommended and the mash.

ANOTHER LANDMARK OF 'COLORADO CITY' GONE NEVER TO COME AGAIN

"Woodman, spare that tree; thy ax shall touch it not!" But no, such was not to be. The aged shade tree that through so many years had stood in front of the post office building had been doomed and Thursday it was hewn down and its once proud trunk and limbs carted away to be converted into fire wood.

Thus another landmark of "Colorado City" passed. A few years ago several of these stately old locust and cotton wood trees stood along the curb on Walnut, planted there by enterprising citizens who began fifty years ago to make their homelands a place of civic attractiveness. One by one they have disappeared.

OLD DOBBIN SMILES AT CHAGRIN OF MODEL 'T' ON ROBERT LEE FARM

Old Dobbin is having his day on a farm near Robert Lee. It all came about through another fulfillment of the old adage, "necessity is the mother of invention."

The farmer, being unable to purchase 1933 license plates for his Model T, and facing the additional handicap of finding that the old family bus was badly in need of repairs before the motor would run fitted a tongue onto the car and now driving into town by motor car, with a span of sleek horses as the motive power.

COLORADO GIRLS SHOW IMPROVEMENT IN CAGE ARENA; DEFEAT ROGERS

The Colorado high school basketball sextet is showing marked improvement, Red Coffman, coach, stated Tuesday morning. The night before his charges drubbed Rogers girls 37-13. That the Coffman aggregation stands a good chance to annex pennant at tournament here next week is encouraged.

Colorado took another victory from Rogers Monday night. In a game staged between the Jackrabbits and Rogers boys the former won by the close margin of 9-8.

Faye Pennington

Here are three people who figured in the murder of Deputy Sheriff Joe Brown at Khamo, Texas, and the subsequent manhunt. Above is Sheriff Mote of Childress county, who arose from his sick bed to capture Mrs. Ida Hunsucker and Faye Pennington, who stopped in Childress in their effort to evade the law after Brown's murder. Mrs. Hunsucker admitted being the mother of Glen Hunsucker, allegedly one of Brown's killers. Miss Pennington is said to be Hunsucker's "girl."

MOVIES

When Will Rogers and his family got through "seeing Paris" in the comedian's first talking picture, his troubles seemed to be solved. But they were nothing compared with the new ones he finds in his latest vehicle, "Down To Earth," which shows Thursday and Friday, Feb. 9 and 10 at the Palace Theatre, with the Peters family back in Oklahoma. Again Irene Rich and Theodore Lodi of the earlier film portray the former roles, with Dorothy Jordan and Matty Kemp as the juvenile lovers and a supporting cast that includes Mary Carlisle, Brandon Hurst and Clarence Wilson. Homer Croy, who wrote "They Had To See Paris," likewise is the author of this new story which is directed by David Butler.

A star by public demand, John Wayne comes to the Palace Theatre screen for the first time in a starring role. His first starring vehicle is "Ride Him Cowboy," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre, Saturday, Feb. 11. In this picture John Wayne is supported by one of the best casts ever used in a western picture. It's a four star western with Ruth Hall, Otis Harlan, and Henry B. Walthall supporting Wayne in his successful first attempt to thrill and gain the admiration of the public. "Duke, the Devil Horse" plays an important part in this picture of the real west.

A suave, fast moving comedy drama, of considerable wit and charm will flash on the screen of the Palace Theatre, Sunday and Monday, Feb. 12 and 13, under the name of "Night After Night." Taken from the story by Louis Bromfield called "Single Night," the film relates, in none too serious a manner, the efforts of the young proprietor of a high-class speakeasy to ingratiate himself with a mysterious young lady from Park Avenue—efforts which are successful only when he reverts to type. The film is well worthy of the very interesting story which inspired it. George Raft has made Joe a human, likeable, romantic young pirate, and Constance Cummings has done wonders with the aloof, sophisticated girl from Park Avenue. The other leading characters are Wynne Gibson as Iris, Mae West as Maudie and Alison Skipworth as Miss Jellyman. It's a cast that is nearly perfect, and it helps to make the film the superior piece of entertainment that it is.

"You Said A Mouthful" came to the Palace Theatre in a gala of laughter, on the regular Palace Bargain Nights, Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 14 and 15. Everybody knows Joe E. Brown to be one of the funniest of the funny. You've seen nothing yet until you see him in this new picture. Is Joe a swimmer? If a beach is not handy Joe will invent methods of his own to practice. Our little colored friend Farina supports Joe in the comedy throughout the picture. The supporting cast is headed by Ginger Rogers, Preston Foster and Sheila Terry.

In "Prosperity" coming to the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday, Feb. 16 and 17, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran pick up where they left off in "Reducing" and "Politix." This is undoubtedly the picture that the theatre-goers have been waiting to see. Dressler and Moran are supported in this picture by Norman Foster and Anita Page. John Millan also has an important part in the picture.

SPECIAL NOTICE MIDNIGHT MATINEE

Starting promptly at 11:30 p. m. on Saturday, February 18th, the Palace Theatre will give a special

Yawning is a distinct benefit to a human being. It tends to restore the equilibrium of the air pressure between the middle ear and the outside air and often produces a feeling of relaxation.

Sargon Soft Mass Pills are not like any laxative you have ever taken. They are so gentle and thorough in their action that there is nothing about them to retard you that you have ever taken a medicine, and most remarkable of all, their directions call for a gradual reduction of the dose until the point is reached where you no longer require a laxative of any kind. This remarkable medicine may be obtained at Colorado Drug Co.

The price of a cut of cherry pie . . .

When dining out the meal is usually tapered off with a cut of pie . . . it's the natural thing to do. Besides, 10 cents is not big money to satisfy a sweet tooth—unless you have stopped to reckon with the purchasing power of a penny.

For this same dime you spend for cherry pie, you can cook 10 good dinners with natural gas; or heat enough water for 20 baths; or operate a gas refrigerator for more than three days. By simple comparisons you will agree that natural gas service is the cheapest thing you buy or use.

Achievement Day Results Catalogued By Miss Emma Gunter, County Demonstrator

During the Summer of last year, within a short time after adjournment of Short Course at College Station, plans for Achievement Days were formulated by agents of the Extension Service for the purpose of demonstrating to housewives of the community what might have been accomplished by the club demonstrators and co-operators.

Due to conditions over which the club members and the county home demonstration had no control, however, these demonstrations, originally planned for late Fall, had to be postponed. Yet hopes of staging the programs at deferred dates were maintained and the agent planned to make visits to homes of some of those who had completed a special study.

Beginning Wednesday of this week visits are to be made to the home of Mrs. H. H. Salley, of the Spade club, Mrs. Frank Andrews of the Hyman club and Miss Elzie Vanzandt, 4-H club winner of the Hyman club.

In discussing projects of these club leaders, Miss Gunter said:

Mrs. Salley, to begin with, had a bare, unattractive room badly in need of papering and other things to make it more comfortable and attractive. She had one iron bed in the room, a closet without shelves and no dresser. So she and her husband added shelves to her closet and fixed places for storage of quilts. A dressing table was added by making it from materials on hand. Mrs. Salley made some window curtain from sugar sacks and dyed some material for the dressing table, chair seats and covers. All of the above improvements only cost 25 cents, which was spent for dyes. Mrs. Salley said that everyone in her local club had seen her bedroom but she was willing to have other visitors to see what she had done some eight months past.

Mrs. Andrews, having a large family and a heavy daily routine of housework, did not get to finish all of her improvements but she accomplished quite a bit and will continue to work along this line for 1933. She added more shelves to her linen and clothes closet, made some curtains for her windows and finished her floor. She, of course, had a heavy canning program going at the same time as was the 4-H pantry demonstration.

Elsie was the demonstrator in her 4-H Club and she entered the girls State contest. One of her greatest accomplishments was to build a small closet to hold her clothes and a place for her hats and shoes. She made a quilt, a shelf for books to go above her desk and rearranged her room for the best advantage of ventilation and light.

While at Mrs. Andrews a special visit will be made to see her well-filled pantry which is a cellar in this case. She planned her canning according to a budget this Spring and has arranged her canning on shelves in like manner, as leafy vegetables, starchy vegetables, other vegetables, fruits, preserves, pickles etc. She has her shelves so labeled and any child can go into the cellar and place their hand upon what was sent to get. Each can is best labeled with individual label so that no mistake can be made in getting just what was wanted for that particular menu.

Had it not been for Mrs. Andrews garden being near the house and watered from the windmill her can would not have been filled today. She completed her budget this January when she had a meat cutting and canning demonstration held at her home. It is estimated if a family of five buy all of their groceries for a year it will cost around $500. We feel the grocery bill of Mrs. Andrews will not run over $150.00 for a year since she has her own staple foods in tins.

Other women have accomplished various things in club work this year and from time to time accounts will be given in the paper of the interesting things carried on by the women.

DEMONSTRATION COUNCIL LAUNCHES PLAN OF WORK AT CONFERENCE SATURDAY

Miss Emma Gunter Presides At Meeting of Women Rural Leaders

Regular meeting of the Mitchell County Home Demonstration Council was convened Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in offices of Miss Emma Gunter, home demonstration agent. Club presidents and other rural women club leaders were present from several communities.

Importance of such an advisory group was stressed by Miss Gunter. The clubs receive more information from contact with the agent and other club leaders than is possible to receive otherwise and through members of the county council facts obtained at the meetings find their way to each individual club member.

The president and one other member, to be designated by the club membership are recognized as delegates to the county conference. Among the problems studied Saturday was year books, fairs encampments and county contests.

"In order to have a well organized county—one that would aggressively sponsor a strong extension program, the council must function as the advisory committee," Miss Gunter stated. "Be sure to see that your club is represented at the next meeting so that you may rest assured the work being carried out among your club members is standard."

Men From 3 Sunday School Classes In Joint Meet Program

Members of the Amegos Bible class of First Baptist church and the Young Business Men's Bible class of First Methodist church, visited with the men's Bible class of First Christian church Sunday morning, for a joint study of the lesson topic. Dr. C. C. Klingman, pastor of the host church, delivered the lecture address.

The visiting men were welcomed in a brief address by R. P. Price, president of the host class. Sam J. Smith directed the musical program and invocation was offered by Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of First Baptist church.

The cooperative lesson study bringing members of the three classes together had its inception in influences of the recently organized county federation of Sunday schools.

Judge Coe Named On Star-Telegram 'Old-Timers' List

Another Colorado pioneer to be entered on 'Old-Timers' roster of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram is Judge A. J. Coe, who has been a resident citizen of Mitchell county for many years.

Judge Coe came to Colorado soon after the Texas & Pacific had reached banks of the Colorado river in its push westward. He was connected with the railroad for a time during those early days.

Twenty years ago he was judge of Mitchell county. In more recent years he filled the office of Mayor of Colorado.

Progress Noted In Improvement Work At Municipal Park

Good progress is being noted in improvement projects at Ruddick municipal park, Colorado's attractive recreation property located along banks of Lone Wolf Creek at eastern terminus of East Seventh street. Under cooperation by the city and R.F.C. committee a total of twenty four men are employed there.

Among the attractive features nearing completion is the series of fourteen rugged stone terraces graduating from in front of the band shell to crown of the elevation. Each of the terrace levels are to be planted in grass.

Above the dam Lone Wolf Creek channel is being widened and silt collected to gradually fill the pool is being removed. A modern masonry swimming pool is being considered.

Plant To Manufacture Farm Products Of This Territory Being Built By Kyle Co.

An industrial enterprise through which products from the farms of Mitchell county may find their way into commercial channels in the form of manufactured goods is being built by the Kyle Distributing Company, at 243 Oak street. Mill for the manufacture of high quality corn meal, dairy and stock feeds and other items has already been installed and the management plans incorporating additional milling facilities.

Mill products to be manufactured and sold by the company will be offered the public under a registered trade-mark name, Chas. Kyle, manager of the plant, stated Friday. "Blue Bell" dairy feed and "Blue Bonnet" stock feed are two of the registered names already announced. Meal to be manufactured and sold through merchants of this territory will be put up in attractive lithographed bag containers under the trade name of "Pure Corn Meal."

In addition to the varied line of mill products to be manufactured by the Kyle company, custom grinding will be offered farmers and others of the general public.

"We are confident that operation of this plant will bring better marketing conditions to the farmers of this territory, and certainly, we accept that products manufactured from our own grains will find favor with the public, when we propose to offer a high quality mill product at quotations meeting any legitimate competition," Mr. Kyle stated.

Sterling Keathley has recently become associated with the company. The mill department is housed in a two story brick erected in rear of the office and warehouse building. Products of the mill are being sold at wholesale as far west as Big Spring, east to Roscoe and north to Snyder. Kyle states that when the mill is placed on capacity operation this territory is to be enlarged.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whipkey and daughters were in Big Spring Saturday afternoon to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Buchanan.

WESTBROOK FARMER IS PLEASSED WITH SIZE OF EGGS BEING PRODUCED

Bert Armstrong, farmer of the Westbrook community, reports that he has at least one hen in his poultry flock that is determined to go in for mass production. At any rate an egg recently laid by this hen is one of the largest ever seen here. It weighs four and one half ounces and measures seven inches around one way and eight inches the other.

Last April Armstrong purchased 200 baby chicks from Logan & Sons at Colorado. They were of the Rhode Island strain. The hen producing the large egg grew up from the flock.

BUFORD SCHOOL SPONSOR FOR NEWLY FORMED CLUB TO PROJECT 4-H PROGRAM

Seventeen Members Placed on Club Roster By Home Demonstrator

Principal J. V. Glover and other faculty members of Buford school last week evidenced they are strong advocates of 4-H Club activities. Through cooperation of these teachers, Miss Emma Gunter, Mitchell county home demonstration agent, formed tentative organization of a club with seventeen members.

Organization of the Buford 4-H club is to be completed at a later date, when officers and demonstrators will be elected. The club will be sponsored by Miss Fanny Fay Womack, teacher in the school.

Students enrolled in the club are Vernon Feaster, Ludena Feaster, Charlene Felts, Fay Bedford, Cleo Franklin, Opal Rogers and Nadine Hammond as second year members, and Maxine Hunt, Doris House, Genevieve Campbell, Doris Hammond, Majory Redman, Maxine Jones, Ada Neal, Dorothy Fay Feaster, Mildred Feaster, and Madrine Hammond as first year members.

Demonstrators are to be elected after the girls have discussed the club program with their mothers to determine whether they may be able to carry out the three required projects: bedroom improvement, clothing and 4-H pantry and gardening. Loraine 4-H club girls were in a most interesting session Friday. At a previous meeting they elected officers, as follows:

Lula Mae Brazil, president; Estella Walker, vice president; Jimmie Ruth Glass, secretary, and Jean Lawyer, reporter.

Additional 4-H clubs are to be organized as soon as Miss Gunter may be able to contact prospective members. There are a number of girls attending rural schools of the county who are understood as being anxious to take up the special work. Miss Gunter urges cooperation and encouragement upon the part of parents.

Citizens Were Concerned About Repairs To Clock In Court House 21 Years Ago

Coloradoans were much concerned in fact the old town clock, that for so many years had measured correctly the passing of time from its perch atop the court house, had stopped. The Whipkey Printing company, entering Colorado a few years before as a corporation, had dissolved articles of its charter grants, the paper stated. T. H. Roe, a familiar figure in Colorado during those days, had accepted position as manager of the Kelsay-Hawes Lumber company. One Jim Bellah had been placed under arrest charged with burglary of the Burns & Bell store. $6 was reported taken from the cash register. The bar associations at Colorado, Big Spring and Gail gave strong endorsement in that issue of The Record of W. P. Leslie, who was candidate for district attorney.

Mitchell County Sunday Schools Reach Only Twenty-Two Percent of Population

Out of a total population of 15,000, there are only 3,151 people identified with the Sunday schools of Mitchell county, the recently organized federation of Sunday schools has found. The figures show that only twenty-two percent of the county's population, including children and enrollments in the cradle roll departments, have any connection with this feature of religious activity.

Average attendance upon the Sunday schools is given at 2,242. The report includes records from every school in Mitchell county.

Colorado is shown to have a total enrollment of 1,760, with attendance last Sunday reaching 1,231. First Baptist leads with an enrollment of 650. The First Methodist reports 600 enrolled; McCall Mission church, 50; Church of Christ, 195; First Christian, 120; All Saint's Episcopal, 31, and First Presbyterian, 114. The two negro Sunday schools have an enrollment of 85, with 65 in the Baptist and 20 in the Methodist. The local Mexican school reported an enrollment of 126.

"A study of these figures will impress us of the need for giving greater consideration to the Sunday school and its place in the church," W. W. Porter, president of the county federation, stated. "There are hundreds of adults, young people and small children in this county who by all means should be brought into the Sunday school. This is the goal to which our organization is building."

Sunday school enrollment reported at other schools was as follows: Loraine, 220; Westbrook, 153; Fairview, 82; Cuthbert, 50; Buford, 96; Hyman, 55; Bethel, 45; Payne, 80; Spade, 75, and Horn's Chapel, 30. Fairview Sunday school with an enrollment of 82, is the only school showing attendance for last Sunday in excess of the enrollment. 83 people attended the school there Sunday morning.

COURT HOUSE BUILDING IS PLACED IN A-1 CONDITION BY PUBLIC AND RFC FUNDS

County Temple of Justice Is Made Like New; Other Work Is Planned

The Mitchell county court house building is in A-1 condition throughout, the result of cooperation between committee directing labor expense of the county's R.F.C. allowance and members of commissioners' court. The former authorized labor expense and materials used were purchased by public fund appropriated by the latter.

The building has been thoroughly renewed on the interior and outside all woodwork has been repaired and painted. County Judge King stated Friday morning that he considered the expense incurred one of the best investments that the court could have made.

Stone trim on exterior of the building may be worked over, should plans now in tentative form be consummated, the county judge said. Judge King and J. H. Greene, the latter directing emergency employment for the local committee, have been in conference as to advisability of this work.

INITIATIVE OF DALLAS OIL OPERATOR SEEN AS DAWN OF NEW RURAL PROGRESS

Extensive Irrigation Project Launched At Hyman By H. L. Lockhart

Initiative of H. L. Lockhart of Dallas in developing near Colorado, one of the most pretentious irrigation projects in West Texas is becoming generally accepted as the beginning of extensive farming under that method in the Colorado territory. Lockhart, prominently identified with the Texas oil industry for several years, is building near Hyman a model for advanced irrigation farming.

Field crop and truck farm cultivation under irrigation is not new to Mitchell county. Several land owners have produced crops under irrigation during the past several years. The projects have ranged from large farms to small truck crops. Quality of commodities grown on these plots have rated unusually high. However, the Lockhart project is the most extensive ever undertaken in this section of the State.

Lockhart owns extensive farm interests along the banks of Hackberry Creek, twenty five miles southwest from Colorado. During the past year he has expended a considerable sum of money in building a large masonry dam to impound water in the creek channel. He is now constructing a modern water distributing system preparatory to irrigating some 400 acres of land.

Recently he and Mrs. Lockhart selected site on which a modern home is to be erected there. The building will be constructed of cement brick made on the site. The home site is on an elevation overlooking the lake and much of the surrounding territory.

"Yes, I have expectations of making this my home some of these times and hope to spend about eight months out of the year right here on the farm," Mr. Lockhart stated while in Colorado this week. "I have great faith in possibilities of farming under irrigation there and nothing affords greater satisfaction than to spend these days on the place working and planning for the improvements contemplated."

The Lockhart farm is located in what is generally known as the Hyman community. Farmers of that section, along with interested citizens from this and adjoining counties, are watching developments there. From his initiative it is accepted that a number of irrigated farms may spread into such localities as are favorably situated as to water supply.

Mrs. Farr holds the position of bookkeeper at the Penney store. She was formerly assistant secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Editorial—
 As one of the students remarked rather dryly the other day, "Life is just one six weeks' exam after another." This student will not be exactly happy to note that the first of the six weeks' exams of the new semester will be in full sway next week.

Walk down any winding trail next week during the "wee hours of the morning" and you will discover any of the Freshmen studying as enthusiastically as possible underneath the public street lamps. (Note to the faculty: As the depression is on, "midnight oil" will be saved in this manner.)

Promptly at fifteen minutes of nine each morning of next week pupils will be seen to march in single file, attired in the blackest of mourning, to the rhythm of funeral marches, into their respective rooms. After exams are over, the bands will sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold" while the rest will sing "Ain't We Crazy?" with all due respect, of course.

But do not feel as if we are discouraged. We are not. Every six weeks' exam makes us more determined, more ambitious, to be more successful during the remaining weeks of school, and to acquire an average worthy of the effort put forth in obtaining it.

Wolves Down Eagles—
 The Colorado Wolves met the Abilene Eagles Friday night for a basketball tilt. The Eagles approached the Wolves in a very brave manner but were taken under by a score victorious for the Wolves.

The Wolves played a good game led by Stagner, who made many points.

The Colorado Jackrabbits scored two games by defeating the Junior High School Cubs by 21 to 13 and Rogers 27 to 25.

The Colorado girls seemed to have hard luck at the Roby tournament, where they lost their first game.

The gym turned into an uproar of laughter Saturday night when the Colorado Colored school played the Abilene Colored school. Colorado boys won but the girls were defeated.

The Colorado Wolves go to Abilene Tuesday night to play the A.C.C. Freshmen.

The Magnificent Ambersons—
 "The Magnificent Ambersons," by Both Tarkington, is the story of the downfall of a prominent American family.

In 1873 Major Amberson made a fortune when other people were losing theirs and the magnificence of the Ambersons began.

Major Amberson built a park of 200 acres at the end of a street which became known as the Amberson Boulevard. He reserved 4 acres for himself on which he built the great Amberson mansion.

George Amberson was the only grandson of the Major. Until George was 12 his education was cared for at home. Always he was pampered and petted, people prophesied that he would some day "get what was coming to him."

George fell in love with Lucy Morgan but Lucy would not love him because he never worked or planned to work.

The Amberson fortune began to dwindle. Isabel, George's mother and Major Amberson died before the last of the great fortune disappeared. Finally George was left to work his own way out. At last George had "gotten what was coming to him."

He took a job in a nitroglycerine plant where high wages were paid because the work was dangerous. George was not hurt here but an automobile ran over him, seriously injuring him.

Prowess of Colorado Wolves Turn Eagle Quintet Into Defeat Here Friday Night

Abilene's much touted Eagles emerged from an engagement with the Wolves here Friday night to find themselves outclassed and outplayed in every department. The locals won 29-36 in a fast cage contest in which the Cantrellmen led from the first play.

Lucy Morgan and her father found George in a hospital where Lucy and George became very happy.

FRANCIS WILLIAMS.

Jokes—
 Mr. Croslin: "What can I do to get order in this room?"
 Elvey S.: "Offer prizes."
 Bud Loving: "Do you think you could be comfortable with five thousand a year?"

Betsy Anne Page: "What, men or money?"
 Doc Bridgeford: "You should place your hands over your mouth when you yawn."
 Weldon Kellett: "What! And get bitten?"

Mumps Wallace: "Why do they call you a 'yes' girl?"
 Frances E. Price: "I simply don't 'no!'"
 Central: "Number please?"
 Snooks Smith: "Number, the dickens, I put my nickel in and I want my chewing gum."

Home Economics News—
 The Home Economics girls are entering two contests in order to raise enough money to pay for the electric machine and to help send the girls to the State Home Maker's Rally.

The first contest is sponsored by the Rumford Baking Powder Company. The three girls making the best cakes will receive a prize offered by this company. The cakes will be on display at the Piggly Wiggly Store, Saturday, February 18. Buy a cake and help send the girls to the State Home Maker's Rally.

The second contest is sponsored by the McCall Pattern Company. They are giving a prize to the three girls making the best doll dress. The patterns are furnished by this company. The stores in town are offering a prize to the girl making the best doll dress that was made from the material bought from that store.

Banquet—
 The Juniors are looking forward with much pleasure to the banquet to be held this month in honor of the Senior Class. It is being given much earlier this year than last year, but as there are so very many activities toward the last of school that it was decided that the banquet would be more enjoyed at this time of the year.

It is to be held at the Baptist Church, however a definite date has not as yet been set. The girls of the Junior class voted to wear print dresses, thus changing the old custom of wearing evening dresses at this formal occasion.

Party—
 Miss Memphis Porter was hostess to eight couples Friday night in her home. Bridge, "42", and other pastimes were the diversions of the evening.

The hostess was assisted by six members of the C.B.C.
 Refreshments of cheese-pimento sandwiches, hot chocolate and coconut macaroons were served. Plate favors were red valentines.

And They Called Me An Old Man!
 Says the Man at the Keyhole, plucking the grey hairs out of his eyebrows. More love affairs! Even the Old Maestro has changed his theme song—instead of playing, "I ain't got nobody," which is the bankrupt mortician's song, he's switched to, "This is no Dream." Old Kringlein, himself! You know—one minute to live!

Tsk, Tsk, here I thought it was spring, and the weather man runs in a blizzard on me. Darned clever, these Chinese. This is the Amalgamated "Snatchit" Corn Medicine hour, the medicine that satisfies—bringing you the voice of Wudy Vallee, our inhibited tenor. Heigh Ho, everybody, this is Wudy Vallee: before using "Snatchit" Corn Medicine, I had three corns, since using three bottles I have five fine corns—all doing nicely, thank you. Be proud of your corns—use the medicine that satisfies. Show your friends you can have corns too. They left when I sat down at the piano.

But now before Uncle Amos tells us our bedtime story, let the Man at the Keyhole reveal a bit of this and that. Well, I hear that Tate and Blackard are getting interested in each other. And Hester and Melton like each other more than is generally known. Mr. Croslin took Miss Jennings to church last Sunday. Max Martin took Mertice. Burrus went to church with Dorn again—and so he married the girl! Some big crack-ups in local love affairs were indicated by who took who to church last Sunday night. I noticed Homer flirting with Kelley in the hall Tuesday. Hot Cha Hughes says he's invented a stationary elevator—the building goes up and down. I learned late yesterday that Popeye has been subsidized by the Amalgamated Spinach Industry.

A.C.C. KITTENS WALLOP WOLVES TUESDAY NIGHT

The Wolves went down in defeat before A.C.C. Wildcat freshmen at Abilene Tuesday night. The score was 36-15. The Kittens have not lost a game during this season. Coach Walter Adams stated that the Wolves were the best high school team he had played during the year.

Red Church was unable to be in the game, due to illness. Shelton counted eight points and Stagner seven.

CANTRELL FIELD MADE ONE OF BEST IN WEST

Cantrell Field has been improved into one of West Texas' best football gridirons. New earth placed on the grounds a few weeks ago has been leveled and the outside racing track practically rebuilt. Labor was authorized by the R.F.C. committee.

STERLING CITY CAGERS TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Sterling City cagers, among the strong teams in this district, are coming to Colorado today for a game Friday night with the Wolves. Sterling boasts one of the fastest teams in this area. Twice before they have engaged the Wolves. In both the locals emerged victorious by the marginal lead of two points.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARM NOTES

Sam Wulfjen has built a self feeder for calves under a shed and is feeding about 25 head.

C. L. Grable killed, cut up and cured three hogs the new way last week.

W. W. Anderson is planning to run some more terrace lines the last of the week. He says the meat that he cured out the A. & M. way is fine.

A number of farm building plans are available at the county agent's office. Among them are plans for hog waterers, self feeders for hogs and cattle; hog-scalding vats; other hog killing equipment; branding chutes; cattle guards; homemade hot water heater for washing; homemade machine for removing seeds from vegetables and fruits.

Tom Jackson of Carr says his terraces broke pretty bad in the heavy rains last summer. Asked if he was going to build them back he said, "You bet I am. Do you remember those ditches that were there when we ran the lines? Well they are not there now."

C. P. Thompson, Oklahoma Hog Specialist says where brood sows are fed on corn alone only 40 per cent of the pigs are normal their experiments show. When milk or tankage is added to the grain ration, 95 per cent of the pigs are strong and weigh 15 to 20 per cent more at birth.

Albert Reights of Valley View will terrace 35 acres more of his home place this winter.

CARD OF THANKS
 With these few words I wish to express my deepest appreciation and thanks to the Fire Department and the men of Westbrook who fought so gallantly the fire that destroyed, on Wednesday 1st, about 10,000 bundles of feed. My barn, full of feed would have burned had the fire truck not arrived.

It is More Economical to Make Full Use of Electric Service

Electricity is no longer a luxury and electric appliances are no longer considered something to display, but never to use. The modern housewife has found that the electric way of doing things is the cheaper way. For a few cents she saves her time, her strength and her health. She knows that there is no excuse for a woman doing hard work that a small electric motor can do for a fraction of a cent an hour.

The Texas Electric Service Company gladly will prove to any customer why it is more economical to make full use of electric service. A nickel or two is pitifully small when it prevents eyestrain and headaches caused by reading in a poor light. A few pennies to operate an electric fan during warm evenings, to clean the rugs in the morning, to wash the clothes once a week are insignificant compared with the comfort they give and the amount of labor they save.

So it is with all electric appliances. Household electric appliances have been designed for specific needs and have demonstrated their value over a period of years. Their very usefulness has caused them to increase in popularity. The idea that such appliances are luxuries has long been thrown into discard.

Electric merchandise sold through the Texas Electric Service Company must give customers the greatest degree of service and dependability at the lowest possible cost. Only merchandise of high standards which has met exhaustive tests of our own engineers is placed in salesrooms of the company.

Loraine Girls Cop Victory In Battle With Local Misses
 Loraine high school girls sextet walked off with another victory annexed to their belt Friday night after drubbing the Colorado Misses 29-19. The locals, coached by Red Coffman, held the visitors from Eastern Mitchell county until fourth quarter when Loraine spurred ahead.

The game was well balanced with both teams exhibiting some strong technique. Walter Adams of A.C.C., Abilene, was official referee in charge.

In another basketball game staged at high school gym Friday night the Jackrabbits won over junior high by 21-13.

Abilene, Colorado Negroes Give And Take In Tilts Here

Saturday night brought one of the most amusing athletic features Coloradans have been privileged to enjoy this season. It was a double-header basketball game between negro boys and girls representing Abilene and Colorado.

Both schools lost a game and took one. The Abilene boys were defeated by the locals 19-9, while the girls from that town won over the local sextet 6-3.

Among unique characteristics of the two tilts was appearance of pep squads on the gym floor between halves. The dark skinned peppers did not fail to impress the galleries that they were bubbling over with enthusiasm.

One of the largest crowds attending a cage program at the gym this season was present.

 After many years of use we would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine.

ORGANIZED CHURCH WORK

The recently launched county federation of Sunday schools is getting off to a good start. Superintendents of several member schools are already realizing that through this special cooperative effort enrollment in the schools is going to be enlarged and objectives of this important branch of the church given greater impetus.

"This is just what we have been hoping for," said R. P. Price, president of the men's Bible class of First Christian church, Sunday morning as he addressed members of his own class and the Baptist and Methodist men's classes. The three groups were meeting together at the Christian church. "The men represented in this gathering here this morning hold within their reach the power to take this community for the church."

Mr. Price was right in his statement. Unified program, with Sunday schools of every community of Mitchell county cooperating to reach those who now are found without the school and the church; will bring definite results. Men who might dismiss passively the invitation extended by an individual member of Sunday school class to affiliate will find himself held in a stronger urge when he comes to realize that the Sunday school of his preference has support of the others in extending that invitation.

THE T-P NOT TO BLAME

A sense of regret is ever brought into realization as the sequel to tragedy, especially when the toll exacted is life itself or the lesser feature of maiming a human body. Caution against accident should be practiced more universally among we Americans than daily losses in life and limb suggest. The heavy exacting toll will continue to be in vogue so long as we are prone to take a chance.

Sunday two accidents were enacted on the Texas & Pacific railway within thirty miles of Colorado. At Sweetwater a former service man lost his life when ground beneath the wheels of a moving freight train. At Loraine a lad, whose home is in Michigan, had one of his feet ground away through the same process.

Too often the public is wont to place blame for these accidents at door of the railway corporation. The Record takes it that the Texas & Pacific was not to blame in either case. It is a pity that fate held such tragic decree for these two men. If you must ride a freight train do not forget to employ every precaution to safeguard your life. You might, as did these, fall underneath a moving train some day.

MILK A PUBLIC UTILITY?

Progress of the political dictator to "relieve" the farmer,—relieve him of about all that he may possess—is being given a boost by certain demagogues up in New York State. It is proposed to bring milk sales under strict State regulation by having the commodity declared a public utility.

It is amusing to find there are men holding positions of power and political prestige who actually fall for such legislation. And New York does not stand alone in this category. We of Texas find ourselves beset with the same type of "statesman."

The average Mitchell county farmer knows more about the operation of his own business than the politicians who have at times seen fit to meddle with farm affairs. What we need in West Texas is more pay rolls supported by industries taking raw materials from the soil. The farmer will take care of himself any make business better for everybody else if given opportunity to prosper through an equitable market for the commodities he produces.

THE BITTER, THE SWEET

Tuesday morning—one could hear numerous expressions suggestive of that old adage that the sweets in life are often mingled with the bitter. Motorists who found their cars damaged by freezing, worried over the expense that must be met in exchange of repairs. The garage operator and parts dealer found himself the recipient of an unusually good business spurt.

Of course the latter, entertained a degree of sympathy for his fellow townsman, but the motorist's hard luck was accepted as just another of those incidents in life. Loss to the one meant profit to the other.

TRAINING FUTURE LEADERS

It is to the future that every individual and every organization should look for success and certainly no better time in which to begin building for greater effort presents itself than now. In community, State and National life, much depends upon the character of leadership that this age is developing.

The Abilene Morning News gives some pertinent philosophy in keeping with that thought. In editorial comment upon recent organization of a junior chamber of commerce in that city, The News says:

Put down as one of the encouraging signs of the times the organization and launching of a junior chamber of commerce in Abilene.

It is not a new movement in American civic life. It has been tried elsewhere with very great success. There is no reason why it should not meet with equal success in Abilene.

The junior chamber of commerce idea utilizes the youth and enthusiasm of the younger business and professional men in the upbuilding and development of the city. It swings them into action as a unit, and serves to vitalize the civic spirit. The coming of the junior chamber to Abilene is particularly encouraging and hopeful at this time. The city has many tasks ahead of it. It must "beat back" from the slump which the depression exacted of every community in the country. That the junior chamber will be of material value in this all-important battle those who are in position to know about its work elsewhere are willing to guarantee.

The organization should have the best wishes and the loyal support of the entire citizenship in its laudable work.

There is the Colorado bass stoic who denies that he recently bought a bottle of patent medicine known as "Dr. Bass's Remedy," in order to improve his musical qualities. The preparation was used to relieve a throat ailment occasioned by cold.

We might answer the interested lady enquirer that the Lions Club does do many things aside from getting its name in the paper. Ministers, bankers, business and professional men, fifty strong, unite in acknowledgement that Lionism is doing much for this community.

Renewals and new subscribers continue to be received at The Record office. And each of them came without solicitation. Why should not the publisher feel proud to do business among such a loyal citizenship.

After all the fellow who dug up money enough to register the old family bus for another year is better off than we who did not. April 1 will soon be here and then our worries will begin.

The chamber of commerce has a strong directorate for 1933. The organization can, and will, be lieve, register consistent leadership along the lines of material progress.

There's big news for you in the advertising columns.

READ A GOOD BOOK

Will Rogers says all he knows is what he reads in the newspapers. Bacon tells us, "Reading maketh a full man, conference a ready man, and writing an exact man."

Someone has said to avoid a colorless life that one must "Keep in the pink of condition, be well read, do things as brown and treat his fellow man white."

We must choose Bacon's philosophy and keep ready by reading rather than the philosophy of the modern college student which is somewhat as follows: "The more you read the more you learn. The more you learn the more you know. The more you know, the more you forget and the more you forget the less you know."

Shakespeare's description of the man who does not read is: "He hath never fed of the dainties that are bred in a book, he hath not eaten paper, as it were, he hath not drunk ink, his intellect is not replenished, he is only an animal only sensible in the duller parts."

Alger speaks of the reading man as one "banqueting with gods on the ambrosia and nectar of the mind." Spurgeon, who was the greatest preacher since the days of Paul, said, "Paul had a few books which were left perhaps wrapped in the cloak of Timothy was to be careful to bring them. Even an apostle must read—he is inspired, and yet he wants books, he has a wider experience than most men and yet he wants books, he has been preaching for 30 years and yet he wants books, he has seen the Lord, and yet he wants books, he has been caught up into the very heaven, and has heard things which it is unlawful for a man to utter, yet he wants books, he has written the major part of the New Testament, yet he wants books. The apostle says to Timothy and is handed on down to us, "give thyself unto reading." The man who never reads will never be read, he who never quotes will never be quoted, he who will not use the thoughts of other men's brains proves that he has no brains of his own. You need to read.

Carlyle speaks of "graceful, ingenious, illustrative reading." Sir W. Hamilton admonishes us to "read much, not many books."

Dugald Stewart says, "Nothing in just has such a tendency to weaken not only the powers of invention, but the intellectual powers in general, as a habit of extensive and various reading without reflection." It is far better to take smaller quantities of intellectual food and digest and assimilate it than gorge our intellectual appetite.

Goethe says, "There are three classes of readers, some enjoy without enjoyment, and some there are who judge while they enjoy, and enjoy while they judge, the latter class reproduces the work of art on which it is engaged. Its members are very small." Ray reading certainly does not belong to the latter class.

To derive profit from our reading and to show proper respect for the author's right we must read with discrimination. Longfellow says, "authors have a greater right than any copyright, though it is generally unacknowledged or disregarded. They have a right to the readers civility. There are favorable hours for reading a book, and to these the author has a claim." This article is not concerned about the authors but the profitable reading.

Coleridge tells us there are four classes of readers. "The first may be compared to an hour glass, their reading being as the sand, it runs in, runs out, and leaves not a vestige behind. A second class resembles a sponge, which imbibes everything and retains it in nearly the same state, only a little dirtier. A third class is like a jelly bag which allows all that is pure to pass away and retains only the refuse and dregs. The fourth class may be compared to the slave of Golconda, who casting aside all that is worthless, preserves only the pure gems."

Milton speaks of a person who is "deep versed in books and shallow in himself." Evidently he had not read the right type of books. We cannot read everything nor would we lament our inability to do so, since many books are not worth reading. A person with limited time and means must be exceedingly careful in the selection of books.

There are two extremes both of which are to be guarded against in the selection of books. The first is the disposition to reach for new books. Some become infatuated with an author and make a specialty of his books to the neglect of many others often more valuable. Selecting a book is a fine art and when once organized one can almost invariably get the best of the average author in one volume. It is
