Last Of NRA Posters Gone Before Local Cooperating Employers Receive Supplies

There was a big rush on at the postoffice Tuesday morning. Colorado employers eager to make public manifestation of their desire to cooperate fully with the National Recovery Act, stood in line to receive allotments of the colored posters and stickers for display in their places of business, on motor cars and in homes.

Uncle Sam only furnished Colorado with 115 of the sets and these were gone long before all employers had been supplied. Order for an additional fifty sets was forwarded to Washington in the next mail.

And the employers were just as eager to get their posters on display as they were to sign up and receive them at the postoffice. By mid-forenoon the colored insignias were to be seen in practically every show window in the downtown district. By early afternoon the smaller stickers were to be seen from numerous homes in the city, occupying a place of prominence in a front room window.

SEVERAL ADDITIONAL MEN MAY BE PUT ON PAYROLL CITY'S LARGEST INDUSTRY

Col-Tex Moves To Comply In All Respects With NRA Code On Employment

Col-Tex refinery, largest industrial enterprise in Mitchell county, is expected to add several additional men to payroll as provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act is placed in operation there.

Officials of the plant began Monday to contact men who have been either laid off or were not listed as applicants for employment with the view of increasing the number of workers.

Every department of the large plant will be adding a considerable number of employees, as the special code affecting the refining industry is finally worked out. Earl Gunn, an executive official at the plant, stated Tuesday afternoon that it was not known at that time just what effect the new code would have on the plant.

In addition to the large number of men given employment at the refinery plant at West of Colorado, the corporation has a number of other employees in the field where crude is collected and piped in to the refinery.

Employees Of City, State Not Effected By Recovery Codes

The National Industrial Recovery Act campaign is not intended to include either city or state employees, according to statement received Monday morning by Mayor Sadler.

The information was received from officials of the League of Texas Municipalities at Houston, of which Colorado is a member, following telegram to the league from Washington.

The ruling settled considerable speculation at Colorado, according to Sadler. Municipal and county officials had not been directly informed as to provisions of the law as affecting employees.

Definite instruction, with blanks, went out the first of the week to all Texas farmers who have collateralized cotton with the Texas Cotton Cooperative association and the crop production loan bureau, advising them to set a date for the sale of their cotton.

Information received by The Record indicates that all borrowers who collateralized cotton must notify the government when to sell. A. M. Cooper of Sweetwater, field representative for the government in this territory, is confident that producers directly concerned will make reply without delay.

Order rescinding previous sale of the cotton to a governmental agency was recently annulled, putting the cotton back into hands of the production loan group.

PUBLIC REMINDED THAT DRIVING CARS ON FIRE HOSE IS NOT ALLOWED

Again, the public is warned against the practice of driving motor cars of any kind across lines of hose during a fire. Last week F. W. Major, member of the city commission and fire commissioner, ordered that further violations of the law would mean prosecution.

The fire commissioner stated that considerable damage had resulted to hose lines through carelessness upon the part of motorists who sped to location of fires when an alarm was sounded. Recently a line of hose was cut into when a car loaded with "light seeds" was driven across it.

HIS PHONE NUMBER NOT CONNECTED WITH ISSUE TO RETURN LEGAL BEER

Just because his office telephone happens to be listed in the directory, as No. 32 does not indicate by any manner of means that the number is suggestive of a title of a beverage that is demanding national attention just now, Judge Chas. C. Thompson stated the other day.

The local attorney gave out that information with considerable emphasis when someone called him on the telephone to ask whether or not the number of his phone had any connection with beer.

"My name is listed immediately preceding 32 in the telephone directory alright, but that is no indication I am trailing around after 32," the former Mitchell county judge informed.

EVERY STALK OF COTTON MUST BE DESTROYED OR NO PAYMENT TO BE MADE

Central Committee Is Given Specific Instruction In Wire From Capitol

Every stalk of cotton on acreage sold the government must be completely destroyed or there will be no remittance checks from the government.

The central committee Thursday morning announced that Secretary Wallace wired them from Washington Wednesday that under no condition would the government accept carry over contracts as having been carried out by the producer until every stalk on the acreage affected had been plowed under. Scattered stalks of cotton left in the field can only mean delay in receiving the check and additional work for the committee. Telegram received from Washington follows:

"Acreage offered the government must have stalks completely plowed up, and where there is open cotton or mature bolls, the cotton must be plowed under. We want to make sure that absolutely no cotton is to be picked later from the acreage sold to the government."

In a number of instances members of the committee have been called upon to make from two to three visits to the producers' field, due to the fact he was not at home or that the cotton had not been completely destroyed.

W. S. Foster, county farm agent and director for the government in concluding the plow-up campaign in this county, made appeal Thursday morning that producers notify their local community committee when they are ready for inspection. Cooperation upon the part of every interested citizen is essential in closing out the work on schedule.

Practically all contracts numbered from 199 down have been received from Washington and the producer, by making reference to his contract number as given on yellow copy of permit, may ascertain whether or not his acceptance has been received at the central committee of file.

A total of 149 contracts have been forwarded to Washington up to Thursday, after final approval by the central committee. Remittance checks are expected to begin arriving within the next week.

There will be no services at the Baptist church Sunday evening, due to four county prohibition rally scheduled for the tabernacle. Charge that certain interests were moving to take advantage of the act to hike commodity prices was made Tuesday afternoon by R. S. Brennand, chairman of the central committee. Such a policy, Brennand declared, cannot be considered by the committee and any group submitting schedule calling for unwarranted advance in wholesale or retail commodity quotations will have the code rejected, he stated.

Hyman community had prior to that time received but little rain during the year. Showers had fallen in some localities but farmers there were in the midst of hard plowing. The rain assures crops in that part of the county.

WOLF PACK SHUNTED BACK INTO FORMER RENDEZVOUS AS CLASS B IN CONFERENCE

Big Jim Cantrill and his Wolf pack have enough of football in Class A conference. After facing the gaff of overwhelming odds during last season in competition with such clubs as Sweetwater, Big Spring, Van Angelo and others, the Wolves have been content to return to their former haunts and effective with opening of the 1933-34 season will play in the lower bracket, Class B.

Authorization to go back to the lower conference rating was received Thursday from Roy Henderson of Austin, executive secretary for the Interscholastic League. Application for the change was filed by local school officials several days ago.

"Our team is not strong enough to compete with some of the Class A conference grid organizations in this district," John E. Watson, superintendent of the schools stated Thursday afternoon, in announcing the change.

Among the Class B teams that have in other years given Colorado something to worry about are Snyder, Roscoe, Roby and others. There are a total of 10 Class B teams in this district.

heretofore listed at 35 cents, were boosted to fifty cents under the new order of things. List of prices covering all other barbor work is on file with the central committee.

In order to meet requirement for shorter hours and increased pay envelopes, dairymen serving Colorado have advanced retail price of milk and cream to a higher level. Jim Bodine, among the larger dairy operators, stated Monday afternoon that code covering this industry specified a price of 12 cents per quart for sweet milk, delivered. The commodity will be sold at forty cents a gallon.

The electrical contractors have submitted a code specifying a maximum of 35 hours per week for journeymen and helpers. A scale of $1.00 per hour is the wage scale for journeymen electrical workers and helpers are to receive 40 cents an hour.

Drug stores are to open at 8 a. m. and close at 9:30 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week-day under the code as submitted by the retail druggists association and approved by the central committee. On Saturdays the drug stores are to remain open until 10 p. m. Sunday closing agreement calls for opening at 8 a. m., closing at 10 a. m. and open in the afternoon from 4 to 9:00 o'clock.

Working scale of 40 hours per week with the blanket code requirement of $14 wage scale was adopted. Every druggist in Colorado gave endorsement to the code.

Operators of Colorado beauty shops offered code similar in many respects to that outlined and accepted by all classes of work done in these shops were listed in the code submitted.

Mechanics employed in motor car repair shops adopted code calling for a 40-hour week and a minimum wage scale of 40 cents per hour for mechanics and 35 cents per hour for helpers. The code specifies that all shops must be open 60 hours during each week.

Colorado tailors and dry cleaners submitted code calling for their places of business to be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., except on Saturdays, when the closing hour is set at 10 o'clock p. m. A uniform price schedule covering all classes of work done by the concerns is given. Special prices are to obtain for hotels, rooming houses and stores. Five local concerns signed the agreement.

Steam laundries now operating on the commission basis are to be permitted to continue on that wage scale, on motion approved by the central committee. The blanket code as to hours, however, was made a part of rule governing employees of these concerns. All such plants not operating on commission basis must comply with provisions of the general code as to wage schedule.

Code covering wage and weekly hour schedules of the affiliated tradesmen of Colorado, including carpenters, brick workers, plasterers, painters, tile setters, paper hangers, rock workers, cement workers and all metal workers, provides a uniform minimum of seventy five cents per hour, seven hour day and five day week, except in emergencies. All work contracted for on and after August 1 must be governed by conditions of the code. All contracts in force prior to that date are to be concluded as original conditions specified.

P. A. Burnett, president of the local Restaurant and Cafe-Owners association, presented code as proposed by operators of those concerns. Schedule setting prices for service and setting up wage schedule is incorporated. A total of 19 operators are affected by this code.

The retail grocers, market and fruit dealers announce that provisions of the blanket code as to minimum wage scale and hours per week for employees went into effect Tuesday morning but other that no code has been adopted. Some confusion has developed as to neighborhood grocers operating gasoline service pumps. Whether these are to be closed on Sundays remains to be seen.

Sam Bedford was elected chairman and Clyde Broadus secretary of the grocer group. An executive committee composed of J. W. Rannum, J. E. Pritchett and Philip Beraman has been elected to work with the central committee in ironing out difficulties and working out details under which the unit is to operate.

Hardware dealers have done nothing more than perfect unit organization and announce that every provision of the blanket code is to be complied with, J. Riordan, chairman, stated Wednesday morning. Fred Eves Hutchinson is secretary of this group.

Dry Goods dealers have not yet perfected an organization but the minimum wage scale and weekly hour provisions affecting employees is being observed.

Other industrial groups represented in Colorado are uniting to cooperate fully with the law, according to statements coming from them. Codes affecting all should be going into operation within the next few days.

Public utility corporations and some of the major oil companies have announced no specific code, pending advice from headquarters offices. Resident managers of these concerns state that their corporations plan extending full cooperation to the president.

Here is the map of the red trail of the "Bloody Barrows," Clyde and Buck, West Dallas killers. It begins in the office of Sergeant D. E. Walsh, head of identification of the Dallas police department, who has kept the trail from the beginning of the Barrow careers until today. Six little black pins scattered over Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri represent murders; nine green pins in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana indicate auto thefts; eleven red pins in Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas stand for assaults to murder; three yellow pins in Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana indicate kidnapings; and seven blue pins in Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas are for robberies. A red string traces the trail in chronological order. "I guess the little ball of twine will represent Clyde only in the future," said Walsh, when Buck Barrow died in Iowa.

REVIVAL MEETING CLOSED AT LORAIN LAST SUNDAY NETTED 200 CONVERSIONS

Campaign To Be Remembered Among Most Successful In West Texas Area

One of the greatest revival campaigns Mitchell county has experienced in a considerable time was concluded at the Loraine Methodist church Sunday night. Under the forceful preaching of State Evangelist Frank M. Neal a total of 200 conversions and reclamations resulted from the two weeks series. Forty seven new converts were united with the Methodist church and many others are placing membership with other congregations there. "One of the greatest victories for righteousness I have ever witnessed," was statement of the Rev. J. E. Harrell, pastor of the Loraine church. "The gospel preaching of this strong man of God has not only strengthened our own church but influences of this revival will find lodgement into every other church of this community." The song services were directed by J. B. Bruce and Philip Smith. Other pastors and members of their congregations at Loraine united for work in the two-weeks campaign.

Mysteriously Killed

The confession of a negro suspect has solved the mysterious murder of Mrs. Alma Dell Cabbie, whose dead body was found last week in an unoccupied apartment in San Antonio. The negro, June Wollfolk, junior of the fashionable apartment house, told police that he read Mrs. Cabbie's advertisement for employment in a newspaper and telephoned her to come to the vacant apartment for the desired position. He said a white man planned the murder and helped him kill the woman, but detectives think the story about a n assistant is fictitious. Mrs. Cabbie's husband is a private soldier at Kelly Field. Her body was not found until several days after the brutal murder.

The swimming pool at Ruddick park is in excellent condition, as to both sanitary condition of the water and surroundings and water temperature, Dr. C. L. Dr. Root made the inspection and subsequent report after rumors had been circulated that water being used in the pool contained disease germs. He declared in the statement that not one germ was found in the water examined by him.

PUBLIC ASKED TO NOT PENALIZE CONCERNS IF 'BLUE EAGLE' MISSING

There are several Colorado business concerns, including some of the most responsible houses in town, from whose show windows no "Blue Eagles" are being displayed. This is no fault of the management and the public should not penalize them out of the fact Uncle Sam failed to furnish an adequate supply of the posters here. After the 115 poster collection had been given out at the post office Tuesday morning there remained a long line of employers eager to get the insignias. They are just as patriotic and just as enthusiastic in cooperating with the president as are those who came early and were supplied. Additional insignias will be on display in Colorado as soon as they may be received from Washington.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE WILL BE CONVENED WITHIN FEW WEEKS TO CONSIDER CODE

NRA Administrator Assured Of Full Cooperation At The State Capital

A special session of the Texas Legislature is to be called within sixty days, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson Friday telegraphed Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator under the national recovery act.

Johnson had telegraphed the Governor asking as to the intention of holding a special session, presumably to amend or suspend the antitrust laws of the State as an aid to industrial recovery. The reply was that such a session was considered inevitable within sixty days. Mrs. Ferguson already has pledged herself to call it if needed. It is expected to assemble Sept. 5 or 12.

"There will be no need of a session until after the Aug. 26 election," said James E. Ferguson, as the Governor nodded assent. "General Johnson indicated that his desires will be met if the session comes within two months. That will make one session serve all purposes, including the vitalization of the $20,000,000 State bond which should be voted next month and such other matters as are made necessary by the election and revenue situation."

Ferguson said he expected to campaign in behalf of the bond amendment as well as repeal ratification. He discussed the proposed speaking tour of United States Senator Morris Sheppard against repeal. He poked fun at Sheppard's sound wagon, saying Chesley W. Murney had tried it ineffectually in an effort to be elected Congressman at Large.

Ferguson took exception to a statement by Edward Craige of Dallas, former university regent, that an effort will be made to make the university purchase the bonds, that this course is not contemplated. He predicted there would be plenty of buyers and that the university fund would not be called on.

Employers Receive Code Agreement In Mails Here Friday

Friday morning's mail taken from an early west bound Texas & Pacific train was heavier than usual. President Roosevelt's official notification of the re-employment agreement under the recently passed National Industrial Recovery Act. Copy of the agreement, to be signed by the employer, along with a personal letter from the President, was enclosed in envelopes addressed to "Every Employer."

Enclosed with the agreement and certificate were self-addressed envelopes for mailing the signed agreement. The envelopes were addressed to the Department of Commerce at Houston.

The Certificate of Compliance must be presented at the local post office on or after Aug. 1. When it is presented insignia of membership will be delivered.

The Re-Employment Agreement is prefaced by this message:

"To Every Employer:
"1. This agreement is part of a nation-wide plan to raise wages, create employment and thus increase purchasing power and restore business. This plan depends on united action by all employers. For this reason I ask you, as an employer, to do your part by signing.
"2. If it turns out that the general agreement bears unfairly on any group of employers they can have that straightened out by presenting promptly their proposed Code of Fair Competition."
"Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Colorado Citizens Have Part In Capture Of 'Wild Bear' In The Davis Mountains

A story of interest to Colorado people came out of Fort Davis the other day. It had to do with a "wild bear" that chased members of the Civilian Conservation Corps, stationed near the Prude ranch headquarters for a considerable distance before the animal, a pet, was roped by John Prude of Colorado. The article follows:

This little mile-high mountain town is chuckling over its latest bear story.

About eight months ago a pet bear belonging to Mac Sproul, the noted bear and panther hunter, escaped from its chain and took to the woods. The other day it came prowling down out of the mountains again, perhaps hoping for an apple or some cabbage leaves.

Now the Davis Mountain C. C. C. camp isn't far from the A. G. Prude ranch in Limpia canyon on the new state park highway, past the Prude place and on into the altitudes.

A bunch of young fellows were on the slopes hiking gaily along when they saw a bear coming toward them with hungry, red, slavering jaws. They hollered and threw some rocks, but the bruin came right ahead, with eager grunts that sounded hungry to the contingent of the tree army. The boys couldn't stand it. They turned and fled and the Sproul pet bear with a noisy woof took after them in earnest.

The Prude family and their summer boarders, including Lieut. M. L. Skinner, commander of one of the C. C. C. companies, and Mrs. Skinner who board at the ranch, heard a racket coming down the canyon that sounded like a cross between crashing army tanks, an angry mob and a storm. They hurried out in the otherwise peaceful Sunday afternoon, in their Sunday go-to-meetin' clothes, and beheld the spectacle of stalwart young men taking downhill strides that seemed to split them to the neck. These boys looked as if they were made of nothing but heads and legs and arms. And the Mexican black bear was after them, slavering for cabbage leaves.

The cowboys around the ranch leaped on their waiting steeds and went to the rescue. Johnny Prude was the first to do his nose on the bruin. But any chestiness he might otherwise have felt ebbed away when he realized he had roped Mac Sproul's erstwhile home-grown pet bear.

The cowboys led the roped animal to the C. C. C. camp only three or four miles away and there he is, yet a mascot and honored guest.

NO PAY TAXES, NO SELL BEER

McALLEN, Tex. (UP)—"Pay your delinquent taxes or there will be no beer sold in McAllen."

That was the ultimatum handed prospective purveyors of the nation's new 3.2 brew by Mayor John W. Ewing of McAllen after studying the city's delinquent tax record.

Mayor Ewing looks to the return of beer as a help in providing cash for the city's exchequer within the next few weeks through sale of city licenses.

"But," the mayor declared, "no city license will be issued in McAllen until the licensee has paid his city taxes in full. It may be against the rules, but that rule is going to stick in McAllen. No pay taxes, no sell beer."

MORE ADVERTISING REVENUE DALLAS, Texas. (UP)—If Texas legalizes beer on August 26, a new flood of revenue will ride the crest of the 3.2 wave to the coffers of WRR, municipal radio station.

INTERESTING WOMAN

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Brief biography of Sor Juana Ines de la Cruz of Mexico, so-called "first feminist in America," was recently written by Dr. C. E. Castaneda, Latin-American librarian at the University of Texas here.

She was the most noted Mexican poetess of the Colonial period, possessed a library of 4,000 volumes and the most valuable collection of musical and scientific instruments of her day.

She was the first woman in America to "bob" her hair, Dr. Castaneda believes. When the viceroy of Mexico demanded to know why she had cut her hair, she is said to have replied, "A head that has nothing within needs no adornment without."

A bishop's reproof of her interest in literature converted her to a champion of women's rights. Dr. Castaneda found from an examination of the Garcia Collection of Mexican historical material in the university here.

The Mexican poetess was able to read and write at the age of four years, penned her first poem at the age of seven, and had gained a general fame in the arts when she was 14.

Under The Dome At Austin
By Vernon A. McGee
AUSTIN, Texas. (UP)—A new State official today sat in the Banking Commissioner's office in Travis county's old courthouse.

The old building has been remodeled by the State government for its use. But E. C. Brand of Sweetwater, successor to Jas. Shaw, apparently does not care whether the room he occupies was once a county clerk's office, or a court room that echoed the harangues of criminal lawyers.

Commissioner Brand does care a great deal for the job at hand, for his four daughters and for fishing. He is a conservative, quietly forceful man of medium build and graying hair. His keen eyes see deeply without staring. He is determined to understand his job thoroughly before announcing the assistants who will aid him in keeping Texas banking on an even keel.

For two days he sat in his office, courteously receiving all callers and "absorbing atmosphere," as he described it.

His chief hobby is not fishing, but getting ready to go fishing. The excitement of gathering tackle and sorting hooks, of packing a hearty luncheon, and escorting his party off

Cisco Church, Club Leader Well Known Among Coloradoans

Mrs. R. Q. Lee, widow of the late Congressman Lee, who died at her home in Cisco Saturday morning, was well known in Colorado. Mrs. Lee, prominent in church and club affairs in Texas for a number of years, had visited with friends here upon several occasions.

Mahon of Colorado announced his candidacy for the office several weeks and has already opened campaign. SEVERAL COLORADOANS IN SWEETWATER FOR ANNUAL IOOF AND REBEKAH MEET

Sessions Called To Order Wednesday Morning For Two-Day Gathering

Several Coloradoans were in Sweetwater Wednesday and Thursday to attend annual sessions of the West Texas I.O.O.F. and Rebekah associational meeting. Approximately 15 West Texas counties were represented with more than 400 delegates registered.

Annual convention was opened Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock with a call to order by Mrs. Martha Archibald of Abilene. After officers were seated music was rendered by the Hubbard Orchestra of Sweetwater. The Hon. J. P. Majors, mayor and for many years a resident citizen of Colorado, welcomed the visitors in behalf of both the host city and lodges. Mrs. Lillian Bryant of Sweetwater delivered address of welcome in behalf of the Rebekahs. Response was given by A. H. Balsh of Abilene.

Among those prominent in the fraternity in attendance was W. A. McIntosh of Gilmer, Grand Master of Texas, and E. Q. Vestal of Dallas, Grand Secretary. Men and women prominent in the fraternity from many parts of Texas were also among the registered delegates.

One of the key convention addresses was delivered by Mr. Vestal, speaking from the subject of "Odd Fellowship."

A general business session was in order Wednesday afternoon. That evening, at the junior high school building, impressive memorial services were held.

LOCAL INDUSTRY SUPPORTS NRA WITH UNITED FORCE

COLORADO EMPLOYERS IN ACCORD WITH ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGN ON DEPRESSION

Mass Meeting Here Thursday Afternoon Endorses Plan By Unanimous Vote

Colorado employers are expected to extend unanimous cooperation with President Roosevelt in his drive to rout depression, C. C. Thompson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, stated Thursday afternoon following adjournment of mass meeting convened at the Palace Theatre. Call for the meeting was issued Thursday morning following receipt of telegram from Director Johnson of the National Recovery Act, requesting that immediate steps be taken looking to placing the codes in operation here.

More than 200 Colorado citizens, representing practically every business and industrial concern in the city, attended the meeting. Resolution pledging unqualified cooperation with the administration was adopted without a dissenting vote. A central committee, composed of Thompson, R. S. Brennan, T. B. Russell, Nat Thomas and T. W. Stonerod, was announced. Duties of the committee will be to offer assistance to the several industrial groups here in drafting plans under which their respective codes are to become operative.

Principal address was delivered by John Hendrix, manager of the Sweetwater Board of City Development. Hendrix has given considerable study to provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act and recently had organized Sweetwater employers for purpose of adopting the codes there. Others to address the meeting included Thompson and Jim Greene, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

"Colorado was ready to fall in line with employers throughout the nation when the blanket code went into effect Tuesday morning," statement from the Chamber of Commerce outlined. "Loyalty of the American people in every part of the country in standing by our chief executive in this momentous campaign is surely being exemplified in Colorado. Benefits of the new order of things are already being felt in this city."

Following closely upon heels of action taken by the Mitchell County Retail Druggists' association, which last week announced that code affecting operation of drug stores and soda fountains, was to be complied with, the retail grocers convened to perfect organization for the purpose of meeting conditions under which these business enterprises are to operate. S. H. Bedford was elected president and Cly Broadus secretary.

Other lines of business concerns are completing organizations to place the new law in effect. In some instances more than one meeting has been necessary in order for the employers to fully understand meaning of the blanket code, but discussion has failed to develop.

Wild West Antics Of 'Gentle' Mare Fail To Dislodge Boy From Astride Her Back

Mighty "Midnight," the ebony colored Canadian horse that during the past ten years was never ridden, might be given something to seriously think about should Weldon Miles, 6, son of Keith Miles of Looney community, elect to mount the well-known rodeo horse.

At any rate this Looney boy is not to be outdone in contest of riding skill pitted against all the snorting, bucking defiance that a pitching steed may be able to muster. Weldon demonstrated his ability as a bronco buster Monday morning—and he won against odds.

Returning home from the neighborhood store astride the back of a trusted family mare, Weldon was somewhat chagrined to find that his mount suddenly elected to run away. After establishing what is believed to have been a new speed record down the Robert Lee highway, the mare, evidently not satisfied with determination of the boy to stay with his leather, stopped and began to buck.

The animal stirred up a dense cloud of dust as she rose high into the air and maneuvered from one side to the other with all the grace of a trained rodeo bronc in vain effort to dislodge the boy. He was still in the saddle when citizens of the community arrived at the scene and took charge of the show.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS ASSURED COOPERATION OF WEST TEXAS PRESS ASS'N

Meeting Here Friday Called By Shuffler Works With Unity Of Purpose

Forty-four West Texas newspaper and commercial printing establishment representatives Friday afternoon telegraphed President Roosevelt that the administration industrial code would be supported one hundred percent, including influences to further plans of the National Recovery Act through publicity and such other means as may be available. Such pledge was made at called meeting of the association held here.

The meeting was presided over by Ralph Shuffler, publisher of the Odessa News and president of the West Texas Press Association. A total of twelve newspaper men, representing executive board members and area representatives were in attendance and proxies from thirty-two others were given the president. Considerable time was given over to discussion of the blanket code and proposals to be considered for incorporation into code to be later adopted by the publishing and printing industry.

Telegram sent the president follows:

"In special session here today to consider code, West Texas Press association membership unanimously voted to wire you cooperation and acceptance of blanket code until such time as our industry may have code adopted and approved officially. Our influence will be used to further plans of the National Recovery Act through publicity and such other means as our disposal."

The meeting was convened at the Colorado Hotel at 10 o'clock A. M. During the forenoon time was devoted to discussion of wage scales and working hours as prescribed in the blanket code. Publishers attending the meeting were unanimous in expressing belief the act would do much to stabilize the printing and publishing industry in this State. The afternoon session was devoted to committee reports and further consideration of the code.

Sixty-seven newspaper and commercial printing offices, identified with West Texas assn. were taxed sums ranging from $2.50 to $7.50 to pay cost of sending representatives to Washington this month for conferences with Director Johnson for the purpose of drafting code for use in the industry. Shuffler returned recently from Chicago where he spent several days in conference with representatives of the printing and publishing industry throughout the country on proposed code, to be adopted at the Washington meeting.

"The president may rest assured that newspaper men and commercial printers in the territory our association represents will extend every cooperation in this drive to restore better business," Mr. Shuffler declared following adjournment of the meeting Friday afternoon. "I am confident that every person directly connected with the industry in West Texas will come up with his share of responsibility in carrying out provisions of the National Recovery Act."

Newspaper men attending the meeting included Mr. Shuffler, R. H. Shuffler, Odessa, secretary of the West Texas Press; D. W. Starcher, Spur; C. J. Glover, Merkel; J. C. Smythe and J. W. Roberts, Snyder; T. Paul Barron, Midland; J. W. King, Lorraine; E. E. Butler, Clyde; Joe Galbraith, Big Spring, and W. W. Whipkey and W. S. Cooper, Colorado.

'STICK 'EM UP' ORDER ANSWERED BY INTENDED VICTIM WITH GUN FIRE

W. A. Sheets, operator of a Big Spring cafe, proved to be not such an easy prey when two hi-jackers accosted him at the garage in rear of his home late Sunday night and commanded that he "stick 'em up." One of the mean threatened Sheets with a pistol.

As cool as a cucumber Sheets drew his own pistol and emptied the chamber at the men who fled down an alley. Running under a clothes line they lost their hats, bearing name of an Oklahoma City dealer. One of the men was heard to yell as the intended victim of their hold-up took deliberate aim and fired at the pair.

Heated Political Campaign Over When The Record Went to Press 21 Years Ago

Texas voters had just concluded one of the State's most intensified political campaigns as The Record for Friday, August 1, 1912, went to press. The newspaper, in making reference to the Democratic primary held on Saturday before, expressed satisfaction in results noted.

O. B. Colquitt had won over Judge W. F. Ramsey for governor and Senator Sheppard was leading Jake Wolters over 40,000 votes for the United States senate. The Honorable William R. Smith of Colorado was being returned as member of congress from the Jumbo district. W. P. Leslie, youthful attorney who had located at Colorado four years before, after leaving his duties as school master in Coke county, had been elected district attorney. The newspaper predicted great possibilities for Leslie.

Other successful candidates included A. J. Coe, county judge; G. B. Coughran, sheriff; Earl Jackson, county and district clerk; T. J. Coffee, county attorney; J. E. Stowe, county treasurer; R. E. Callaway, tax collector, and U. D. Whitgen, Preston Phenix, B. O. Joyce and W. B. Wimberley, county commissioners.

John Moody was painfully injured that week while cutting feed on the R. G. Anderson place. He was using a sliding cutter and one of his feet caught underneath a blade. The entire heel tendon was cut off.

RAIN EXTENDS OVER WIDE AREA IN WEST TEXAS AND SOUTH PLAINS TERRITORY

Property Damage At Snyder Estimated At $15,000; Gale Blows Here

Rainfall that ranged from light showers to heavy downpours of two and three inches covered much of West Texas and the South Plains territory Sunday and Monday. The rain was heavier North and south-west from Colorado and in some communities was accompanied by strong wind storms, rendering damage to property.

Snyder was hard hit by a wind storm late Sunday afternoon. Two inches of rain fell there within a short time, turning creeks and lowlands into seething torrents. Property damage from ravages of the gale is estimated at $15,000. Several buildings were unroofed and trees were uprooted. Building at the Snyder airport was demolished.

The rain at Sweetwater was light but south from there heavy downpours are reported. Merkel received an inch but the precipitation was lighter at Abilene. Roscoe and Lorraine received light rains and west of Colorado more rainfall was registered. Westbrook received a good rain. Hail accompanied the rain in scattered localities, damaging out-buildings, motor cars and growing crops.

one or two ugly wounds in her back. Dr. J. Melvin Crymes was called out of sleep and came to his downtown office to make repairs to the battered combatants. One breast was practically cut away from the Kirkland woman, the physician stated. Court charges were filed against the pair.

FINES, PRISON TERMS ARE PROVIDED FOR VIOLATORS OF RECOVERY ACT CODES

Administration Drive Against Depression Backed By Law With Ample Power

Local authorities who have given study to the administration's industrial recovery act, find that President Roosevelt in leading drive to rout depression is backed with a law with ample power. Both fines and prison sentences are provided for violations of codes.

There is a fine of $500 for each violation of the terms of a code approved and promulgated by the President. No provision is made under this section for imprisonment, but each day that the offense continues is regarded as a separate violation.

Also, violation of any standard set by a code is considered a breach of the Federal Trade Commission law, punishable like any violation of the anti-trust statutes.

When the President finds its necessary to impose licenses on any business because of activities contrary to the policy of the industrial law, persons who continue operating their business without obtaining a license are liable to be fined not more than $500, or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, each day again to be considered a separate offense.

Violations of regulations proclaimed by the President, such as those now set up for application of the voluntary re-employment agreements, also are punishable both by the $500 fine and six months' imprisonment, but no provision is made for each day's violation being considered a separate offense.

This last provision has been interpreted by the Recovery Administration as applying to any one fraudulently displaying the Blue Eagle insignia devised for those who sign the re-employment agreement.

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels. It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced. Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it.

Six Hundred Texans Expected To Vote In Special Elections Coming Aug. 26th

Approximately 600,000 Texans are expected to participate in an interesting experiment in psychology on August 26 at the same time they cast their ballots on proposals for changes in the national and state constitutions.

For the first time the ballots will be arranged in such a way that a person can cast a straight "for" vote or a straight "against" vote.

The returns will give insight into the extent to which voters consider amendments separately and the extent to which they are content or dissatisfied generally.

It is pretty unusually taken for granted that the vote on ratification of the proposed 21st amendment to the federal constitution and that on the 3.2 beer-wine amendment to the state constitution will be about the same.

Of the other state amendments to be voted on, chief interest attaches to the proposal to authorize relief bond issues not exceeding $20,000,000.

The estimate that 600,000 persons will vote in the election is based on the poll tax payments.

Judge Brooks Back Into Profession As Practicing Attorney

Judge Jas. T. Brooks, presiding over the 32nd Special District court during the past two years, Monday returned to his former place as a practicing attorney.

The Big Spring jurist has been popular in Mitchell county through a number of years. Soon after this country entered the World War Brooks organized a company from Mitchell and Howard county for service along the front in France.

The retiring district judge has filled several political offices in his home county of Howard and this judicial district.

The same power to counties. It also holds out the possibility of a combination city-county government. It is the saving in operating costs by such combination that was argued as the chief benefit of the proposal before the legislature.

The other state amendment will probably be decided by people who have no interest in it. It is merely an amendment to the amendment adopted a year ago freeing $3,000 of the taxable value of resident homesteads from state taxation.

The estimate that 600,000 persons will vote in the election is based on the poll tax payments. Reports show that nearly 646,000 voters paid poll taxes in time to be qualified this year.

An effort to open the vote to all who paid the poll tax before July 15 was made in the last legislature but failed.

San Antonio Judge Rules 3.2 Beer Is Within State's Law

Sale of 3.2 percent beer gained ground in San Antonio Friday by a court decision in which a district judge refused to grant an injunction against a cigar store where the brew had been sold.

Judge W. W. McCrory dismissed the city's injunction action when he ruled they failed to prove beer sold at the Marr Cigar Store there was intoxicating. The city attorney introduced evidence the brew seized had an alcoholic content of 2.78 percent. Witnesses for the defense declared it was not intoxicating.

Judge McCrory explained the state has its remedy at law under the criminal statutes which was interpreted as additional reason for refusal to grant the injunction.

In view of the definition of intoxicating liquors in state statutes the state has recourse in criminal prosecution. The judge said, "The defense has met the issue raised by the prima facie case. The witnesses have proved that the beer is not intoxicating. Therefore I refuse the injunction and let the case remain as is to be tried in the October term of court."

The state election on August 26 may end the case, attorneys indicated. Attorneys for the defense said the Dean Law was in conflict with national statutes which ruled 3.2 percent beer was not intoxicating. Witness for the defense said the brew was not intoxicating, one saying he drank ten bottles without effect.

TO THE MEMORY OF IDA BELLE

(The late Mrs. Millard Smith)
By her sister Lillian R. Bean
If I were to ascend to the highest star
And go to the Land where my sisters are,
I'm sure I'd find them happy there
With a golden halo 'round their hair.

Their angelic faces are wreathed in smiles
And golden sunshine gleams for miles;
'Tis the Land of Peace and Joy, and Rest,
And with these things my sisters are blest.

God took her out of this miserable place
And gave her a crown and an angel's face;
There'll be no burdens up there to bear,
No sorrow or grief or lone despair.

Here she was queen of her little throne
In a neat little cottage that she called "Home";
Here were two sweet children dear,
A loving husband and friends so near.

But "God knows what is best" they say
And I guess he does, and so some day
I hope to go to that Land above
To be with my sisters that I so loved.

If God my selfish grief will pardon
I want to go to that beautiful Garden,
For my sisters are sweet little rose-buds there
With a golden halo to crown their hair.

Howard, In 32nd Judicial District For Many Years, Passes To Another Tuesday

BIG SPRING.—Without pomp or ceremony, Howard county Tuesday passed from the old 32nd into the 70th judicial district of Texas.

Nearly half a century has lapsed since Judge William Kennedy convened the first session of the 32nd court here. Friday it will have been exactly 48 years and three months since Bailiffs S. H. Barlow and J. M. Pittman cried "Oyes" for the court.

The transition of Howard county from one judicial district to another also marked the death of another court. The unique 32nd district special court became history Tuesday, its two-year term having expired.

Howard county, under a bill enacted by the last state legislature was transferred into the 70th district, replacing Andrews, in order to give this county a larger amount of district court.

Taking Howard out of the 32nd district leaves much more time to Nolan county in that district. With Howard, Nolan demanded most of the year of court.

Judge A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater remains on his 32nd bench with less worries. Judge Charles Klapproth of Midland retains his office as judge of the 70th district, his duties materially increased. Judges T. Brooks, Big Spring, returns to private practice. His was the 32nd special court.

Originally Howard fell under the 12th judicial district with Judge T. B. Wheeler of Eastland presiding. Mitchell county officials served as Bailiffs and clerks.

May 4, 1885, Howard county witnessed the first term of 32nd district court here. Judge Wheeler returned to his district later running for lieutenant governor of the state. Judge William Kennedy, first jurist to preside over a 32nd district court in this county, was the father-in-law of a former citizen and now prominent member of the Abilene bar, Ellis Douthitt.

Since Judge Kennedy's time, distinguished jurors have served in his capacity. After Kennedy came W. R. Smith, who strangely enough was the father of Bob Smith, the new district attorney for this county. W. R. Smith, Jr., prosecuting attorney of the 70th district, is almost certain to ascend to the position of federal district attorney having received endorsement from both Texas senators for that place.

W. W. Beall, who during last year succumbed to illness, followed Judge Smith. Resolutions on his death were read before the last meeting of the Big Spring bar.

W. P. Leslie, then from Colorado, succeeded Judge Beal. Leslie is now Justice Leslie of the 11th court of civil appeals at Eastland.

Fritz R. Smith of Snyder, father of City Judge Tracy T. Smith, was next man to occupy the 32nd bench. He died suddenly while still serving as judge, being succeeded by A. S. Mauzey of Sweetwater.

Judge Mauzey was returned for his first elective term during the last primaries.

Texan Gets Initial Check For Payment Plowed Up Cotton

President Roosevelt started a flow of $100,000,000 into the cotton producing sections of the South Friday when he handed to William E. Morris, farmer of Nueces county, a check for $517. The transaction took place at the White House soon after the Texas farmer had arrived from his home in South Texas by airplane.

Morris received his check in the flare of cameras and the clicking of news reels before officials of the agricultural division. Morris achieved this distinction by being the first cotton farmer in his county to sign a cotton reduction contract, and the first farmer in the country to begin plowing his cotton field.

PATRIOTISM PREVAILS

Following after the rays of hope, promising better times for them and the business interests they represent had something to do in urging Colorado employers Thursday afternoon to unite in pledging to the president full cooperation in the administration's campaign against depression. But, be it said to credit of these local captains of industry and commerce, they were influenced by an even greater and more lofty ideal—patriotism. The characteristic patriotism that has ever dominated the average West Texan, in support of his government, prevailed among those more than 200 men and women as they assembled in mass meeting at the Palace Theatre for the purpose of notifying their chief executive they were standing by him as one of the greatest legislative acts ever enacted in America became effective.

Coloradoans are going to be just as patriotic in support of their government during the days that are to follow as they evidenced openly Thursday afternoon. Never before in history of the community have leaders in industry become so closely affiliated into one great brotherhood, each graciously acknowledging that the interests and welfare of his neighbor are his own. It was a demonstration of that kind of cooperation that never accepts defeat for an answer.

The Record sincerely trusts that every employer in this county will fall in line with the big parade, believed headed direct for a general revival in industry in all its different phases. Every employer and employee entering into agreement with the president to maintain conditions of the blanket code must realize that his honor is at stake. Colorado and the other communities of Mitchell county have never faltered in the past. They will not do so now.

That the National Recovery Act, program is going through to success is just as sure as was America assured that her Liberty loan drives would be successful. It was the spirit of enthusiasm and patriotism that made the former outstanding in the annals of true Americanism. The same will apply in this most recent case.

There are already veiled rumors of those who are casting about for a loop hole through which to attain evasion of the united charge against depression. Perhaps there are those who will attempt, through sinister motives, to reap selfish gain from the administration program, but such a venture is more likely than not to end up in serious trouble for the person responsible. The Record sincerely hopes that such a charge may not sustain here.

What we need is an automobile that is afraid of trains.

Good news is The Record advertising news.

of frozen assets in the United States and it ain't no wonder that business of ever sort is purty nearly paralyzed when there is that much assets frozen in the nation. But really, I thought the last three months of terribly hot weather was enuff to thaw out most anything regardless of how cold it was.

This frozen asset bizness is probly the reason why my 2 bankers, Moore Cash and N. Treast, has been cold towards me lately. You can't be surprized at the "icy" stare the banker gives you when you realize his bank is full of frozen assets. And I guess my storekeeper is in the same sort of fix as the banker because he says it is going to take "cold" cash to do bizness with him from now on.

But things is going to warm up and improve now because Mr. Roosevelt has got a lot of the big boys together and they are tryin to build a fire under these frozen assets and get them thawed out so the stream of prosperity can get to flowin agin.

The situation reminds me of a poem I have just read, which is a rich contribution to the literature of the present generation. It is very timely and fitting for ever line of bizness that does any credit bizness these days. Here it is:

"The rose is red, the violet is blue; This little bill is over-due. Please pay it now, don't wait til when The roses and violets bloom again. For if you do delay it thus: No violets will bloom for us; Unless you pay the roses will rest Upon your fair and manly chest. The birds will sing, but what of that? We'll not hear them where we are at. So come across, we need the dough. Not in the spring, but now, you know.

The rose is red, the violet is blue, Do we need cash? I'll say we do. If you don't pay, well, oh well—I'll see you soon, down in—Distress" And so says all of us who has about decided that is more blessed to "receive" than it is to "give."

But there is a lot folks in this old land of sorrow and low cotton prices who is sitting on the stool of do-nothingness and waiting for Lady Luck to come along and crown them with success. We have some of them fellers in our neighborhood like old Polk A. Long, I. Doolittle, Will Bungle and E. Z. Mark. Some chap with a desire to serve and please has worked out a calendar that would just suit this bunch and their sort. It is about as follows: One-third of the 365 days should be spent for sleep. And since a feller ought to have 8 hours a day for play that takes up another one-third of the year. This leaves 121 days for work but no one should work on Sundays and that cuts the work time down to 69 days. But 26 more days must be taken off for Saturday half-holidays which will leave but 43 days for work. Of course, it is necessary to take off one hour and a half a day for meals and this with the usual holidays cut the workin time to 15 days. Everybody tho is entitled to 2 weeks of vacation and that leaves just one workin day which is Labor Day and its a cinch nobody is goin to work on that day.

Regardless tho of what else may be said and done, hard work and careful, sensible spending is the twins that is going to solve this depression riddle. Therefore, let us cooperate in the "Buy It Made In Texas" movement as that will afford more work for more peepul and will furnish more money for wise spending.

And speaking of buying stuff and spending money reminds me of how crazy it is for folks to fall into the habit if it is a bad one. It is also true that everybody wants to take up ever new fad and style that comes up. And there ain't no doubt but what takin up the habit of tryin to be in style is one of the main reasons for the length and severity of the present so-called depression. Peepul has hollered about hard times until they honestly believe it and have got the bankers, promoters and other bizness leaders sold on the idear.

Of course, there is lots of evidence of the depression and hard times. Here is a few of them: A few weeks ago 81,000 peepul paid about $125,000 to see Birmingham lick Houston for the Dixie Championship and about 40,000 folks paid about $150,000 to look at the first world series game at St. Louis. The picture show is runnin on Sunday in our town in order to serve all the customers, and a tent show carried out about $1500 for three short performances a short time ago. The roads and streets is so full of cars that it is dangerous to cross em. Yes, sir, habit and style can bring about terrible things, hence the depression rages on.

There ain't nuthin more impressive of the present financial condition of the country than the constant odor of moth balls that you run into ever way you turn these days. The moth-ball scent means that father has decided that the old suit and overcoat can be made to do thru another winter. All this reminds us that most everybody seems to have a key to the depression situation—but there ain't none of em that can find the key hole. It is a cinch that when we do find the combination to unlock the door of prosperity once more the main letters of the combination will be WORK.

In these times we are all learning that the living that the world owes us is just about as hard to collect as any other bill. We are also finding out that all the gold there is at the end of the rainbow is just what we collect and save on the way there. But the sunshine is beginning to break thru the clouds in spots. Folks is beginning to complain less and are startin in to make the best of a bad situation. And the prices of most everthing is beginning to come down except taxes and football tickets.

But I see where the paper says there still is 8 billion dollars worth may, right is right, and wrong is wrong. There is simply no right side to the whiskey question. When the people of this nation vote to destroy the Eighteenth Amendment, they bring calamity upon calamity. There is no sound foundation for the arguments which are put up in favor of booze. The revenue derived from legalized booze will be required at someone's hands.

Repeat means that this nation is "going backward and not forward," as stated in the text at the head of this article. It is heart-rending to see a people clamoring and shouting for an evil thing while in the midst of this suffering and distress than this nation has ever known.

Whiskey, more whiskey, or legalized whiskey will not bring about better times. Hear me, People—It is a trick of the Devil by which he intends to drag more souls of men down to the Pits of Hell. The writer knows many arguments which are put forth in an effort to justify the return of legalized booze, but not a single one of those arguments are based upon the Bible, while on the other hand, the Bible is full of condemnations of this very move which Repeatists are making.

Booze means blood and tears, sadness and sorrow, poverty and misery, widows and orphans. There is no good in an evil thing, and the more evil we have the less good there will be.

National Prohibition would have proved successful some day, even though if it had taken a generation or two to prove it a success. It would have been worth all the cost and efforts of right thinking people. Murder is a crime and is in violation of the laws of both God and man, but just because men violate the law against murder, would we even think for a moment of doing away with the law against such and declare that it could not be enforced completely and therefore was of no avail?

Everyone knows the danger of a rattlesnake, but nevertheless there are some rattlesnakes just the same, and I want to ask you the question, gentle reader, "What would you think of a man who would turn loose ten thousand rattlers in your neighborhood and then defend his act by telling you that there were already fifty-five rattlers in your neighborhood, and that therefore ten thousand more rattlers could not make the danger greater? Listen, man you would. More rattlers, more danger. More booze, more sorrow. More booze, more blood. More booze, more tears. And last, but not least, more booze, more souls of men cast down to Hell!

Ye men of America, are you going to act like cowards and stand idly by while the Devil is making his mad charge against your homes, against your church, against your family, and against your America, which has been handed down to you from your fathers? Are you going backward? God forbid!

Let us repent and look to our God in this time of trouble. America needs to repent, otherwise God's judgments are coming upon us and Oh, how terrible!

ic person, but when I see danger ahead I feel that it is my duty to flash a warning signal as best I can so that no man's blood may be required at my hands, and just because the Devil has taken advantage of conditions as they are today in which to make his mighty drive for repeal is no reason why good people should fold their arms and grant him full right-of-way. The writer knows that he may be severely criticized for and because of this article, but let that be as it
