TURKEY AND DEER SEASON OPENING THURSDAY CALLS NIMRODS INTO THE HILLS

Quail, However, May Not Be Hunted Until December 1 In Texas Zones

Scores of nimrods from Colorado and every other part of West Texas Thursday morning were afield in quest of deer, turkey and bear as open season on this wild game was legally opened. The season is to close December 31 except for black tail or mule deer shot west of the Pecos river, where the closing date is November 20.

Sportsmen have every reason to be jubilant this season as turkey and deer are reported to be plentiful. There are said to be more wild turkey this year than last and as for deer, the experience of a San Angelo in counting 23 deer between Junction and Kerrville serves to show their increase. This was on one side of the road only.

Kerr, Mason, Gillespie, Llano, Real, and Comal counties will be the scene of many a deer hunting expedition as in former years. San Saba county, which has had a three-year closed season on deer, should be a favorite location because many deer have drifted there from other counties.

West of the Pecos, where bear hunting holds sway, will also find its deer hunters, chiefly in Brewster, Jeff Davis and Presidio counties. The bag limit on bears is one a season. The bag limit on deer is two back a season (with pronged antler), except black tail or mule deer west of the Pecos, where the limit is one.

The turkey season, which runs from Thursday until Dec. 31, includes both north and south zones of the state, except in those counties where a special law allows hunting only in March and April, or which have no open season. The bag limit is three gobblers a season.

Meanwhile, many a hunter will stick to the lakes and rivers for a continuation of duck hunting, season of which does not close in the north zone until Dec. 31, and which opens in the south zone Thursday to run through January 15. Duck hunters have been successful on many fronts this year.

Those who have a hankering for quail and chachalacas must wait until Dec. 1 to blaze away, as the season in both zones of Texas does not open until then. The quail season runs through January 16. The bag limit is 12 a day and not more than 36 a week.

REMINISCENCES OF 'OVER THERE,' FIRST ARMISTICE DAY ARE PARADED FRIDAY

Impressive Program Given At Lions Club With Elbert Elliott In Charge

The epoch making days of fifteen years ago, marking close of the most devastating war history has ever known, were paraded in impressive vein at the Lions Club Friday. The patriotic program was rendered under direction of Elbert Elliott.

With Mrs. Louis Latham at the piano, Mrs. C. A. Wilkins, popular mezzo-soprano, sang several songs that were popular during days of the World War, including Philip Sousa's famous march, "Over There." To the rear of the musicians on back stage were suspended enlarged photographs of George Washington, Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and scenes of American soldiers in France. A banner carrying the words, "Yest We Forget," stood out prominently across back of the stage.

Following rendition of the musical program, J. B. Pritchett, Coloradoan who saw active service along the front in France, spoke of events leading up to the Armistice.

"The greatest thrill ever coming into my life surged over my being on the morning of November 11, fifteen years ago, as word came to us boys that the armistice had been signed," he declared. Pritchett recalled how that he and his buddies had marched through mud and cold without food and sleep for several hours immediately preceding the call that firing along the western front be suspended.

During the time Mrs. Wilkins sang the familiar songs of war-time days, all ex-service men present were asked to stand. As she concluded her numbers all those present stood at attention and "America" was sung, after which the Rev. Alex B. Hanson, pastor of All Saints Episcopal church, offered the invocation. President Joe B. Mills presided.

George J. Jordan of Dallas, president of district T. X. Lions International, was a visitor at the club but due to little time available was not able to deliver his scheduled address. He spoke briefly of Lionism and of his appreciation of the club here.

Nat Thomas, Dick Billingsley and Louis Latham were voted membership in the club. Application of J. Riordan for re-instatement was read by the secretary. The three men elected last Friday are to be formally presented at meeting today.

RED BARRETT LOCKED UP AFTER SURETIES REQUEST RELEASE FROM $750 BAIL

Taken Into Custody Shortly After Arriving On Early Train From Big Spring

W. M. "Red" Barrett, released from custody of the sheriff late Wednesday of last week, was back behind prison bars again after enjoying several days and nights of freedom. He was surrendered to the authorities by his bondsmen.

Barrett was placed under arrest by Night Patrolman C. O. Harper as he alighted from an eastbound passenger train at 12:40 Wednesday morning. The prisoner was escorted to jail and into his former cell by Harper and "Tiny" Payne, deputy sheriff.

The accused robber of Max Bertram's department store here a few months ago registered vigorous protest against his detention and, according to the officers, announced he would not be placed in jail again. Barrett, however, offered no resistance aside from a verbal barrage at the office.

After a short time after Barrett was taken to the register, he was taken to the jail where he was tried by Judge S. J. Sweeney in the afternoon.

Requesting the officer to take him out to the prospective bondsmen, Barrett obtained acceptable sureties in the amount of $750 and was released.

The American Red Cross is conducting a special membership drive in the rural sections and its drive is to last until Thanksgiving.

The Red Cross needs a humanitarian need that is met by no other organization and is certainly worthy of the public support. Membership fees are only a dollar, but if this is too heavy for any one family it is suggested that two or more families go in together in taking out one membership. A minimum quota of five has been set for each rural community of Mitchell county, and a weekly report of the progress of the drive is to be carried by the local papers. All who join will be classified according to communities. Dink Conaway has been appointed chairman of the membership committee for Conaway. Jimmy Beal is assisting and other assistants will be named this week. The Red Cross helps us, so let's help the Red Cross.

Miss Eunice Barber and Mr. Robert Bolin both of Spade were married in the Baptist church at Spade Sunday and left immediately on the honeymoon trip. They will make their home near Westbrook.

Mr. Johnny Dye, aged 27, of Breckenridge, passed away, November 6, at the Harris hospital at Ft. Worth. Mr. Dye became ill some three weeks before and was carried to a Breckenridge hospital, later being taken to Fort Worth. Mr. Dye is survived by his parents, four brothers and a sister, Mrs. Lynn Halbert of Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Halbert were with her brother at the end. Mrs. Halbert is the primary teacher at Conaway, this being her second year in the school and extend to her our deepest sympathy in her sorrow.

BATTLE OVER BEER

HOUSTON, Texas, (UP)—Under the calm surface of legalized beer in Houston a bitter battle is being fought by distributors.

The spirit of cooperation that ruled over the trade for a short time has been given the gate in a large way, say those who know.

A code of fair practices entered into by 27 leading distributors shortly after beer was legalized Sept. 15 has gone into the discard and the byword is "every man for himself."

As a result of the tense situation, State officials charged with the collection of taxes have expressed fear of a new species of bootlegger whose object will be to cheat the State out of its due.

First skirmishes in the distributors' battle have already been fought. In less than a week the prices of various brands of beer here have been hammered down from an average of $2.65 to as little as $1.40 a case, and from $10.75 to $9.25 a half keg.

Distributors are absorbing the losses, and are bitter about it.

Officials of the State comptroller's department, whose duty it is to collect beer taxes, are watching the situation with interest.

METHODS OF DYING

DALLAS, Tex., (UP)—The prospective 1933 suicide in Dallas, if he would be in the mode, will prefer poison to hanging as a way out.

The slightly less fastidious might use firearms, and doubtless there will be those who will employ gas or enough water in which to drown themselves.

But a rope—only a person who simply didn't care what people would think could dream of hanging himself.

For hanging, according to Miss Birdie Smith, is definitely passe. It went out, approximately, with the horse and buggy. And Miss Birdie should know. She is keeper of the Vital Statistics for the City of Dallas, or something like that.

Her records for the past fiscal year listed 60 suicides in Dallas for the period. Poison was the popular favorite among the 60, twenty-six finding it to their taste. Twenty-three used firearms, probably, it was suggested, because there usually is a gun somewhere about the house while you have to go to a drug store for poison. Six went out sniffling—sniffing gas, and three drowned themselves.

Only two were sufficiently old-fashioned to hang themselves.

Teeth, Adenoids And Tonsils Prominent As Breeding Rendezvous For Ugly Germs

WHAT THE PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT TEETH, TONSILS, ADENOIDS AND FOCAL INFECTIONS
By DR. C. L. ROOT

A few days ago I was asked by a friend what would be the text of the sermon I am to preach today. The question gave me an idea. So today you find my text in the 8th chapter of St. John and the 32nd verse, "And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

These words of Jesus were spoken to the Jews who believed on him. The context from which they are taken show plainly that they had reference to spiritual things. Nevertheless, I feel that I am not sinning against the Holy Ghost when I take this scripture out of its beautiful spiritual settings and use it as a basis for a message of the gospel of Hygiene. To know the truth about any subject that concerns us vitally should be the longing desire of every man possessed with the faculties of reason and judgement. Medical research, in recent years, has been just one long search to know the truth. When the curtains first rise on the stage of history the physicians and the embalmers are seen practicing their arts. Every doctor then was a specialist, and was prohibited from treating any disease outside his own branch. In the days of Pharaohs the physicians were not permitted to treat any case save in the manner prescribed by the customs of the past. This prohibition within itself was an insurmountable barrier to progress. The remedies they used were mostly lotions, teas, decoctions, poultices, etc., made in various ways from herbs, roots, flowers, barks and other agents obtained from the vegetable world. Besides these tangible remedies, for a better price, certain amulets to be worn were given, or prayers made to certain idolatrous gods or some mystic word-charm suggested to be spoken to conjure away the disease imposed by a certain god. One of such chant remedies was "Abracadabra," another "Hax pax max," another "Ista Pista Sista."

The personnel of these old time healers was even worse than that of modern physicians. History says "The medical art of yore was entirely practiced by the haggard old witch or gray-bearded magician, who lived in surroundings calculated to inspire awe in the hearts of their clients." So in reviewing history 'tis clearly seen that such conglomeration of ignorance, blind belief and superstition surrounded the art of healing in those ancient days that they needed to know the truth. It is really remarkable that to so late a date was delayed an earnest search to know the truth about the anatomy and physiology of the human body, the diseases it is heir to and to find rational remedies for these maladies. It was not until the first part of the 17th century that Dr. Wm. Harvey, after a long search to know the truth demonstrated to the world that the blood actually circulates in the arteries and veins. It was not until August, 1865, that Joseph Lister after a long search to know the truth discovered that we are living in a world of innumerable, infinitesimal bacteria. Before the discovery of this truth in surgical wards, death stalked in every gruesome form. The best surgeons of the world lost about 80 per cent of their major operative cases. To know the truth about germs and antiseptics simply revolutionized surgery, and the treatment of open wounds. It was not until Louis Pasteur, after a long search to know the truth, finally in 1885, demonstrated to the world that he had found an infallible preventive treatment for hydrophobia, if taken in due time after the bite of the rabid animal. It would be difficult to overestimate Pasteur's services to mankind. Before he discovered the method of checking hydrophobia by inoculation there was no trustworthy treatment for the disease. Since his discovery perhaps one hundred per cent of those bitten by mad animals can be saved from the most horrible of all horrible deaths. It was not until Klebs, after a long search to know the truth, in 1883, discovered the bacilli of diphtheria, and by his discovery gave the basis for the production of diphtheritic antitoxin which in the prevention and treatment of diphtheria is one of the greatest boons medical science ever gave to humanity. It was not until, after a long search for the truth, in 1842, that Dr. Crawford W. Long of Georgia did the first surgical operation under ether. Before his day the surgical patient was securely strapped to the operating table, and then held by strong men, while the surgeon did his operating just as hurried as possible—removing an arm, amputating a thigh or what not. Since his day, the surgeon may deliberately work for hours if necessary during which time the patient enjoys blissful dreams. Following this almost immediately Dr. Jas. Y. Simpson of Scotland robbed motherhood to a great extent of the execrable pang of childbirth by introducing Chloroform into Obstetric practice.

So in these few instances cited, and in hundreds of other that may be pointed out it is evident that the words of the text, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," if taken in a prophetic sense, and interpreted in terms of medical lore has literally been fulfilled. The truth given to us by Dr. Harvey, Dr. Lister, Dr. Pasteur, Dr. Klebs, Dr. Crawford W. Long, Dr. Jas. Y. Simpson and others is now facing us from the blind belief, ignorance and superstitious conception of the causation and treatment of diseases, freeing us of an 80 per cent mortality in surgical operations; freeing us from the horrors of indescribable death of hydrophobia; freeing us from the scourge of childhood—as old as civilization—diphtheria; freeing us from the insufferable pain and insupportable agony of the operating room; freeing mothers from the hellish tortures of replenishing the earth.

Moreover, in very recent years, medical science searching for truth has discovered that foci or points of infection seemingly insignificant in various parts of the body are playing a major role in producing dangerous diseases in vital organs, distant from such foci. The most usual sites for such focal infections are the tonsils, adenoids, and the teeth sockets, sinuses, cervix uteri and prostate gland. There are some doubting Thomases yet who argue that the child was borne with tonsils and adenoids, that nature never makes a mistake, and 'tis meddling with nature's business to remove them. Mistake or no mistake, there are many unfortunate children born with hare lip, cleft palate, knock knees, bow legs, club feet, disfiguring birth marks, feeble minds and other congenital defects, and if its meddling with nature's business in removing diseased adenoids and tonsils why not denounce it as meddling with nature's business when the specialist in surgery corrects almost perfectly these unsightly, disabling deformities. Perhaps such speculations belong rather to the realm of Metaphysics and further discussion here would be futile.

ADENOIDS:
Adenoids, located behind the soft palate, is a legal inheritance of all children. This natural growth usually atrophies and disappears by time the child is 15 years old, but oftentimes enlarges instead of disappearing 'till by its size becomes a menace to normal breathing, as well as a detriment to the general health in many different ways. Its remarkable how readily school teachers learn to recognize in their pupils, offending adenoids. The open mouth, disturbed articulation, discharge from the nose, pinched face appearance, stupid expression, slight deafness and often a hacking cough make up a distinctive picture. The symptoms usually found in this condition are cough, asthma, laryngeal croup, nasal catarrh, hemorrhage from the nose, aching ears, deafness, nervousness and sometimes incontinence of the urine. Adenoids may become a portal of entry of focal infection and cause serious disease in other parts of the body. There is often a decided retarding of the child's mental development. The growth of the body is often interfered with. Stammering and stuttering, asthma, headaches, night terrors, chorea, grinding of the teeth and even epilepsy have many times been cured by simply removing the adenoids.

These, like the adenoids, are nature's gifts, but of more benefit to the surgeon and hospital than to any one else. It is claimed by good authority that the adenoids and tonsils play an important part in prenatal life, i. e., before birth. Be that as it may, it is a known fact that the tonsils as well as the adenoids do absolutely no good during the post-natal life. Infected tonsils—and their number is legion—are veritable catch basins and automatic traps for over one hundred different kinds of disease producing bacteria. The same germs that usually find lodging in the tonsils and set up tonsillitis have a selective affinity for the valves of the heart and the synovial membranes of the joints and so are picked up by the blood stream and lymph in the tonsils and carried to all parts of the body, but their special love for these tissues set up rheumatism or heart disease.

The anatomy of the tonsils is such as to render it a lurking, hot bed rendezvous for infectious bacteria. It is composed of soft lymphoid tissue which has from 8 to 15 tortuous, corkscrew shaped, channels running from its interior to the surface seen in the throat. These tiny openings are called crypts or mouths. Germs taken in with food, as well as in the air we breathe find lodging in these crooked little channels and set up inflammation there. This inflammation seals up these crypts, and for all time to come, and thus these disease laden germs are secluded in the depth of the tonsil tissue, shut in beyond the reach of the strong arm of the law or the saving grace of the gospel. In this ideal, opulent home, they live, thrive, multiply, liberate a poison—fare sumptuously everyday. The front entrance way to their blissful habitat bolted, barred and sealed by inflammation, they find through the back alley avenues by way the lymph and blood stream, and in the circulation are carried on their way rejoicing to other fields for conquest. They may colonize in the appendix, in the liver, the gall bladder, the lungs, the kidney, the meninges, the brain, the eye, the means everywhere. And wherever they plant a settlement and raise their flag, in that territory there is sure to be some serious trouble. Diseased tonsils should be removed, and if all that really need to be removed were to be removed as early as possible by competent surgeons, these surgeons would be doing nothing else for 90 days, but removing tonsils, and working on the old schedule of the farmers—from sun to sun.

ORAL SEPSIS:
No medical man, deserving the name, will gainsay that oral sepsis—infections are responsible for more of humanity's ills and disorders than all other causes combined. Statistics show that about 87 per cent of all deaths are caused by some kind of infection. The greater portion of this 87 per cent comes from some focal infection somewhere in the body. The sockets of the teeth and gums stand first in place of importance as portals of entry to the general system. It is a matter of fact that dental disorders increase with equal pace as civilization advances. Many preserved skulls of the ancient Egyptians show that good teeth among them was the rule and not the exception. 'Tis probable they made more use of their teeth in eating their food than do people now in advanced civilization. Be that as it may, it is almost unbelievable, the amount of dental work that is needed to be done throughout all civilization.

Just why so many people—childhood, youth, middle age and old age—have diseased gums, crooked teeth, impacted teeth, dead teeth, carious or rotten teeth, loose teeth, abscessed teeth, apical and periapical abscesses, pyorrhea, alveolitis and what not, no one can answer. And when we remember that practically all dental work is caused by infection, perhaps with the exception of orthodontia or the correction of irregularities; that the infection is not by any means confined to the teeth but has usually invaded the bony sockets and the cancellous bone in which the sockets are located—the alveola process, as it is called; and that this alveola process is rich in blood supply and lymphatics, then 'tis no surprise that many of the bacteria causing the dental trouble are picked up by the blood stream and lymph and carried to other organs of the body, perhaps producing ulcer of the stomach, inflammation of the gall bladder, appendicitis, stones in the pelvis of the kidney, meningitis, abscess of the liver, numerous other infections and diseases of different organs of the body, as well as many indefinite symptoms such as high blood pressure, indigestions, weakness, sleeplessness, loss of pep, failing vision, failing in mental concentration, loss of appetite, a feeling of lassitude, etc.

Statistics show that only 30 per cent of the people of the United States consult dentists. And a larger percent of the work done by dentists is reparative work. In fact too much reparative work is necessitated. This comes by too little preventive work. It is a burning shame that so many comparatively young men and women must need have their teeth extracted and wear bridges or plates. The cause of such disaster usually lies in the neglect of the care and training of these unfortunate when they were younger. The public has begun to realize the necessity of preventive measures against disease of the gums and teeth. Such preventive campaign should be backed by parents, teachers, special lectures, literature, and radio programs by the family physician and dentist. If such campaign were persistently enforced the dentists of the next generation would be busy practicing orthodontia and preventive dentistry to a large per cent and restorative dentistry to a smaller per cent. Furthermore, many systematic diseases, and deaths that are now caused by oral focal infection would be averted and thus the average life of man extended. From such spectra of medical knowledge as the Mayo Clinic it has recently been stated that many stillborn babies, miscarriages and abortions are the results of some focal infection somewhere in the body of the mother.

PYORRHOEA:
This is an infectious disease that attacks the root sockets and invades the cancellous bony structure in which the sockets are located. The gums become soft and spongy, bleed easily, and recede from the teeth, the pericementum or delicate membrane enveloping the roots of the teeth in their sockets become enlarged, the teeth loosen and finally drop out. It is estimated by Bass and Johns that about 1 gallon of pus per year is absorbed and swallowed by an average pyorrhoea case. The name Pyorrhoea mean a flowing of pus. Just imagine this poisonous dead tissue that's what pus is) being constantly absorbed by the blood and lymph and also at each meal being pressed out of the pus pockets by the act of chewing and then mixed and incorporated with every swallow of food going into the stomach! For such bolus angel food would be a misnomer, and to say that the breath of such person smells like Eucalyptus would be false representation. Such deplorable conditions could be and should be prevented—prevented by the use of a tooth pick or dental floss and tooth brush after each meal, and a professional call to your dentist's office 3 times a year. Druggists say I'm short on sending my patients to the drugstore—dentist know I'm long on referring them to a dental office.

The practice of medicine and the practice of dentistry should be as closely related as the famous Siamese twins—that is inseparable. The dentist should be constantly sending his patients to the physician, and the physician should be constantly sending his patients to the dentist. Dentists and physicians should be co-partners in detective work in searching diligently for points of focal infection.

Believe it or not, Dr. Chas. H. Mayo recently made a public statement that the average life of man in the 16th century was only 20 years. Medical science ardently searching for truth, and discovering many vital truths since the 16th century has extended life's little span to 58 years. Now if doctors and dentist would take the lead and marshal an everlasting, diligent campaign against the ravages of focal infection from the teeth, tonsils, adenoids, sinuses, nasal cavity, prostate gland, cervix uteri and all other sites known to be favorite haunts of foci of infection, it is not at all impossible that the average span of life may yet be extended during the next 25 years to that proverbial age—three score years and ten. I thank you.

"Night Flight"
Thursday and Friday
"Night Flight." A glorious romance of the skies. A story of the dangers of flying the mail by night across the Pampas and Andes of South America. A hazardous calling! Storm scenes never before attempted in pictures are here presented to thrill you as never before. An absorbing story of lovers that must be denied when duty calls—the perils of the pilots. Bob Montgomery, Clark Gable and William Garagan; the agony and suspense endured by the wives Helen Hayes and Myrna Loy. A great cast and a stellar picture. See it.

"Breed of the Border"
Saturday—November 18
"Breed of the Border" is a sure-fire four star western with plenty of rodeo atmosphere and cattle-running operations. Following an opening rodeo demonstration by Bob Steele, there is a rapier duel and then a speed-race on a mountain road with thrills and action aplenty. The story is chiefly concerned, however, with the cattle stealing of a hard lot of Mexican rustlers, and Bob has plenty to do while curbing their operations. Love interest is supplied by Marion Byron.

"Midnight Club"
Sunday and Monday
"Midnight Club." A crook yarn, offering three or four interesting departures from the prosaic style. The production is mainly dramatic but carries an odd romantic twist and builds into complicated situations which permit some unique comedy. George Raft is an undercover detective, though posing as an ace American thief, and with the aid of two dumb detectives and several Scotland Yard operatives is able to get the goods on a band of English jewel thieves. The cast includes such popular players as Clive Brook, George Raft, Helen Vinson, Alison Skipworth and Sir Guy Standing. Its good entertainment.

"It's Great To Be Alive"
Tuesday and Wednesday
"It's Great To Be Alive." The first half of this picture is a made-to-pattern romantic comedy with girls and tinges of music, but its last part that packs the real entertainment. Ultra-modern in presentation, it is a picturization of what happens when there's only one man left alive in a world of women. Boy what a show. It's great to be alive in order to see this picture when we play it. There are several snappy songs featuring that newcocker, Paul

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Colorado Methodists have a new pastor and with beginning of the new year there should be an overflow attendance at all services Sunday. By starting the year as we should it will not be quite so hard to maintain a commendable record
during the months that are to follow.
Give Brother Wright to understand you are backing him one hundred percent. He is an able minister and with the support to which he is entitled will accomplish much for the cause of righteousness in this community.

THE COMMITTEE.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
We are beginning an intensive enlargement campaign in our church in which we hope to have every active member assist in an effort to reach the great number of unenlightened members of our church for the Sunday school, B. T. S. and W. M. U.
"Let well enough alone," may be a good slogan for business, but it is not a good slogan for a church.
"Never stop until the last one has been reached," is a better one. The church has never needed you so much as you need it now. Let's get along together.

We want to be among the first to congratulate the Methodist folks on their new pastor. We have known him for several years, love him, and look forward to the opportunity of working with him for the moral and spiritual advancement of the community. We hope for Brother Webb and Mrs. Webb a pleasant pastorate at Hamlin. We shall miss them from our midst.
You are welcome at all services
at our church.

DICK O'BRIEN, Pastor.

First Christian church at Honey

Picture Proves Ancient Texas Legend True.

One of the Southwest's most questions has been settled for all time. Legend tells that chaparral birds, or psittacos, or road runners, as they are sometimes called, are natural enemies of rattle snakes. The bird pictured above, caught by dogs on the farm of J. C. Carraway near Robstown, Texas, proves the story, for six inches of 18-inch rattler dangled from its beak.

News of Club Girls And Women

By Home Demonstration Agency
The Plainview home demonstration club met in regular session Wednesday afternoon at the home of their president, Mrs. B. H. Brown, with eight members and two visitors present. Productive poultry topics were discussed, keeping records on flock, how to control insects on exposed and marketing of poultry were also discussed. Miss Gunter gave some worthwhile hints on care of chickens and killing and plucking for market. A demonstration was conducted on sticking and dressing of hens. Mrs. McWilliams furnished the hens as she planned to can them the following day in that her children might have something for their school lunches. Mrs. Hanson served homemade ice cream and a freshly baked coconut cake. The next meeting will be Nov. 24th with Mrs. Tom Daugherty, when a lesson on fish in the diet will be held.

The County home demonstration council will meet Saturday at 2:30 P. M. for the next important meeting of the year. All decisions made will be on time. This is the regular monthly meeting and plans are to be made for the December meeting.

Mrs. Tom Daugherty of Dora community accompanied Miss Daugherty A. & M. College last week, where she visited her son, Jewel, who is a freshman there this year. Miss Gunter attended the conference held at College Station for agents. In next week's paper Mrs. Daugherty will give an account of her trip and explain the management of the exchange houses that afford homes for 120 A. & M. boys this year.

Those people interested in raising beef before December 9th should see either of the county agents if they wish to have any supervision from them. Those who wish to wait until after January first could still up after dates now if they wish.

Any person in the county who has rats on their place should attend one of the rat control meetings next week. Joe Lindsey from the U. S. Department of Agriculture is supervising this work and everyone should get into this campaign.

Helpful Hints For Marketing Turkeys; Feeding Important

It seems a natural thing to the person unacquainted with turkeys to confine them for a few weeks before marketing time, for the purpose of fattening them. Successful turkey raisers have learned from experience not to attempt this. Big turkeys may and should be driven to late in the afternoon toward the end of the season, and given a good feed right and morning. If this is not being done, it should be done now.
The more fattening feed turkeys consume the greater will be their weight when ready for market.

Turkeys must have plenty of exercise in order to be healthy and have good appetites. They will clean up stubble land not only getting all the grain, but also millions of insects during the season.
When driven up at night, they should have a variety of grain, as grain is the most fattening feed available.
If there are trees near the house or barn high enough to keep turkeys out of the reach of varmints, they may be permitted to roost in them.
If there are no such trees, it will pay to erect a roost about four-high to a man.

Many persons who have only a small number of turkeys rear them
at night within a mesh-wire fence, to keep out varmints. Of course, they should have roosts inside the inclosure. After being driven up several nights in succession and fed grain, they will come up for the evening and to roost without being driven.

A good ration of grain twice a day greatly promotes increase in weight, and causes them to put on enough fat to cook well. Late-hatched turkeys lack plumpness and don't carry enough fat in proportion to their weight to please housewives.
Young turkeys are busy growing bones and lean meat, and must be fed quantities of grain before they are in the best condition for market.

At first feed them equal parts of wheat, oats and corn, and as the weather gets colder shift them to an all-corn diet. Buttermilk and skim milk are fattening, and should be placed before them, but they are not likely to drink much of it. Milk is too "civilized" for half-wild birds.

Bad weather doesn't seem to affect turkeys. They will keep healthy in the open, and if left to choose their own roosts will take the highest limb of the tallest tree available.
However, chilly winds consume their body heat, and this loss must be made good with grain if you wish them to grow and fatten. Therefore it is better to supply them with roosts and give them as much protection as they will accept. But the big idea is to keep them eating. The more you let them have their own way, consistent with good feeding,

Plans For Merging Farm Credit Bodies Discussed At Confab Meeting in Houston

Meeting with heads of the farm-credit administration and local officials of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, Texas, agricultural leaders, members of Congress, co-operative heads and directors of regional production and emergency credit organizations Monday participated in preliminary labor's toward co-ordinating one central clearing house for all Government farm credit in the State under the farm credit administration.

Those not conversant with the plans of the new Federal agency will be surprised by the vastness of its scope and the revolutionary character of its provisions. To the extent that the depression progressively has made it more difficult for country banks and other credit agencies to supply the farmers and stockmen's needs the Federal Government has been forced into the banking business on a huge scale, the end of which is not in sight.

One of the far-reaching results of the farm credit administration's adjustments is the early liquidation of the forty-six joint stock land banks in this country, private agencies operating under Federal supervision.
They will have assistance of a fund of $100,000,000 from which to borrow, but they are not to make new loans, and their privilege of issuing tax-exempt bonds has been withdrawn. There are four such agencies in Texas.

All Federal agencies now operating in the field of farm credit in Texas will be brought under sole direction of the farm credit administration. The entire activities of the farm credit administration are to function through the twelve regional departments in which now are located the Federal land banks. This will mean twelve production credit corporations, twelve co-operative banks, and twelve emergency credit agencies.

Federal land banks will continue to make long-term loans secured by first mortgages on farm real estate,
the bulk of their business to be handled in the past through local farm loan associations; the intermediate credit banks operating through agricultural finance and redemptive corporations and do not lend money to individuals, but under the new plan these agencies will rediscuss short-term paper originating in the production credit division.

The bank of co-operatives is to supply credit not to exceed $200,000 to local commodity co-operatives and it will take over and operate the funds left over from the Federal Farm Board revolving fund. Local co-operatives are to buy stock in the regional co-operative banks.

As conceived by Governor Mor-genthau, the new activities of the farm credit administration are to lighten the load on various agencies now carrying farm credit, enabling those wishing to do so to liquidate their loans.

WOLVES ONLY TEAM TO SCORE ON PONIES IN 3 YEARS

'BETTER WATCH COLORADO FRIDAY,' SOUNDED BY FAN WRITER FOR HENNING CAMP

Sweetwater Reporter Depicts Tough Sledding For Home Town Gridsters Today

Millard Cope, editor of the Sweetwater Daily Reporter, warns Mustang fans that the charges of Coach Hennig have not won the district pennant by any manner of means. In his newspaper for Tuesday afternoon Cope calls attention to the fact that Colorado is the only district eleven to score on the Mustangs during the past three years.

"Cantrill has his men in excellent condition for the game in Sweetwater Friday afternoon and he is making no bones about his plans to make the Ponies put up a stiff scrap, if saved from defeat," Cope states in general warning to Sweetwater fans that they had better not be too cocksure. Cope goes on to say:

The only conference football team to have scored on Sweetwater's Mustangs for the last three seasons—the Colorado Wolves—hope to be able to do more than just score out there at Newman field at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The Wolves hope to be first conference eleven to completely halt the Mustangs and Coach Cantrill makes no bones about the wishes of his players.

Colorado looked better against San Angelo than at any other time this season, holding the Bobcats to a 27-to-0 count, and that is quite an accomplishment this season.

You will notice, at that, that the Wolves scored against San Angelo; and that for the first half it looked as though it might be just anybody's ball game.

The Wolves are at full strength for the first time this season and will be able to put a full first string line-up into the game.

Two all-district men are to be presented for approval of Sweetwater fans, if one can take the word of most of the district scribes, who have seen the pair in action. Stagner, an end, and Church, a tackle, are reputed to be the best in the district. Stagner plays all over the field; he may be in the backfield one minute and in the line the next. Colorado fans have sent word that Church is determined to tear up at least one side of the Mustang line.

Too many fans think it'll be an easy job for the Ponies to prance to an easy victory, but Coach Ed Hennig is not of the same mind. He believes the Mustangs will win but not without exerting a lot of energy.

The Colorado fray will be the last game before the annual conflict with San Angelo and he's telling the Mustangs to open up against Colorado with everything they have to see if it will work. He has told them in all frankness, to use every reverse, every pass, formation and play, and every trick. If it won't work against Colorado it will fail against San Angelo and he wants to see just how they'll go.

There's no doubt but that the Ponies are taking the game seriously. Hennig has ordered secret practice all week. Gates are closed and fans are asked to cooperate, as they did before the Big Spring game.

The Wolf-Mustang game originally was set for Saturday, at Colorado, but has been moved up to Friday afternoon and is to be played at the Sweetwater gridiron.

Due to fact employees were at lunch no one was injured. Only one person was in rear of the building, where the explosion occurred, and he was several feet away.

VETS HOLD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING TO LAUNCH ROLL CALL FOR 1934 MEMBERS

Attendance Friday Night One Among Largest In Years; Post Dues Reduced

One of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by Oran C. Hooker Post, American Legion, and the woman's Auxiliary, met Friday night at the Legion Building. The joint session was arranged by John T. Howell, post commander, and Mrs. Tom Hughes, president of the affiliated unit, to launch concerted membership drive.

A typical bean feed, with barbecue, pickles, coffee and other good things to eat, came as the first program feature. Commander Howell then called the assembly to order and presented leaders in both organizations who addressed the meeting.

Mrs. Hughes was the first speaker. After addressing the meeting briefly, she introduced Mrs. J. G. Merritt who spoke at length upon the Auxiliary. The speaker announced that dues in the auxiliary had been reduced to $1.35 annually and called upon every woman present to devote aggressive attention to the duty of bringing members into the organization. Mrs. J. A. Ferguson was another auxiliary member to speak.

Spirited addresses extolling merits of the Legion and reflecting high lights on foreign battlefields were given by John E. Watson, R. H. Raliff, "Shorty" Brady, Captain R. L. Fain of Fort Bliss, and others.

"There should be from 200 to 250 active members in this post and not less than 500 members in the women's auxiliary," Post Commander Howell stated in the appeal that Oran C. Hooker Post be returned to its place as one of the largest and most active in the State. The commander recalled that annual dues have been reduced to $3.00.

Brady entertained the gathering with a 30-minute magic show, after which some of the men and women enjoyed themselves in old fashioned square dancing. Tom Burgess did the calling most efficiently.

PONY EXPRESS TO BE ONE OF STRONGEST CLUBS YET ENCOUNTERED BY WOLVES

Annual Conference Game To Be Played At Sweetwater On Friday Afternoon

One of the strongest opponents to be faced by the Wolves in Conference 3 scheduled will be met at Newman Field Sweetwater, Friday afternoon in annual clash with the Mustangs. The Ponies may not be as strong as they were last year but every indication suggests they are headed for the district pennant again.

Cantrill will take his club to Sweetwater determined to give the Pony Express some worries. The Wolves expect to score on the more powerful machine and hold them to a closely contested melee.

Friday afternoon the Ponies defeated Big Spring 13-0. Sweetwater scored early in the first quarter and again in the fourth, with Virgil Jones of the Ponies being much of the effective fighting. Captain Flowers of the Steers has outstanding on his eleven.

Big Spring made three first downs, all in the first period. Sweetwater made seventeen.

The San Angelo Bobcats won a topheavy victory over McCamey at San Angelo Saturday afternoon. The score was 14-0. McCamey has not yet won a conference game.

The Wolves are to close the season on Thanksgiving in game with the Steers at Big Spring. McCamey will play Big Spring at Big Spring Saturday.

Standing of the district follows:

OXFORD CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF TAMPERING MAIL HERE LAST YEAR

A jury in Federal district court at Abilene Monday returned a verdict of guilty against J. C. Oxford of Colorado, charged with the offense of intercepting mail at the local postoffice. Oxford was found guilty on three out of five counts.

Passing of sentence was deferred by Judge William E. Atwell, sitting for Judge James C. Wilson. This formality, however, is expected to be attended to within the next few days.

This was the second time Oxford had faced trial on the charges. A hung jury resulted in the case a few months ago.

Joe Y. Fraser, Ed Besser and Miss Lottie Pritchett, employees at the post office, called by the government as witnesses in the case, were in Abilene for the trial.

BANK AND C-C CLOSED DURING ARMENICE DAY

The City National bank and the chamber of commerce were closed Saturday out of recognition of Armenice. The postoffice was closed at 1 o'clock for remainder of the day.

Knob Knockers Get $72 From Colorado Laundry Company Office Friday Night

Knob knockers operating in Colorado Friday night succeeded in obtaining $72 in cash from the office of the Colorado Laundry Company. Entrance to the building, located at West Third and Chestnut streets, was effected by breaking a hole in a boiler room window.

J. Ralph Lee, owner of the plant, stated Monday that no trace of the thieves had been announced by the authorities. Cash taken from the strong box was a part of the weekly payroll that had been taken from the bank Friday afternoon.

This was the second time during the past several months that thieves had entered the plant. On the other occasion, however, they failed to break into the safe, evidently having been frightened away after battering the knob.

HIGH SCHOOL PROPHECY

By Lucille Moore

Bombay, India, June 3, 1940.

Dear Friend:
I had the most wonderful experience yesterday. I think you should be interested so I shall tell all about it.

As I was strolling down the street I saw the sign "All Mysteries Explained Here," out in front of an oddly shaped building. On entering this building I found myself being led down a dark passage way by a servant attired in native Hindu costume. Still wondering what it was all about, I saw the thick folds of the heavy sable curtains being drawn back and found myself in a room of many mirrors. I heard a slow, solemn voice saying "See and know all thou desirest." As I had been thinking of the old Westbrook High school days, I silently wished to see what had become of the members of the classes of '34. No sooner was the wish fully formed than the mist which was obscuring my vision lifted and I saw—

Ada Jackson pleading a big divorce case in New York. Sherman Morris was traveling through the country selling mange cure for bald head. Louise Skelton as the head of a big manufacturing company for two-eyed needles. Her advertising slogan was "Miss one eye, hit the other."

As I looked into the oval shaped mirror I beheld Woodrow Leach as a football hero and judging from the "Y" on his sweater, I presumed it to be Yale. An old timer yelled from the grand stand and who should it be but I. D. Lauderdale. Turning around in my confusion, I beheld Marie Gressett crooning a "Mammy Song" to Barb, Jr., while she awaited the arrival of Barb who was then a great contractor in Southern California.

Suddenly the theme was blotted out and before my eyes James Berry could be seen crying out: "Sandwiches, ten cents, one dime." The atmosphere was that of a carnival. This vision passed and in its place came Rue McCarley, now married with several youngsters clinging to her skirts. She was marching down the aisle of the Roxy Theatre in New York. As she neared the front, the curtains rose and to my amazement John Rowland tripped out on the stage, a clown in all his crowning glory. The theater became hazy, a palace took its place and at its entrance a limousine stopped. Who should get out but Mary Florence Van Horne, Hollywood's pet. Vance Armstrong, her chauffeur, assisted her with her poodles.

Next I caught the glimpse of Florence Neal who had become the recent bride of Herman May. Herman May was the director of the popular Broadway Chorus, "The Heartbreakers." The chorus was composed of the following beauties: Jo Nell Anderson, Vestal Smith, Oda Nell Owens and Evelyn Smith.

The "Tin Pan Alley Orchestra," then came in view with its director Johnnie Moore. The member of the band consisted of Ruth Miller, Alene May, and Sibil Holder. Suddenly, like a flash, Garth Faquay came in view. He was in Paris at the head of a beauty culture school and to my astonishment I caught a glimpse of the art of face lifting.

Last but not least Weldon Moore and Herbert Currie, who were always wanting to do something big, were found washing elephants. Wilma Jean Berry was running a pawn shop in Abilene.

The thick curtains again fell into place, and I heard the same voice say, "Thou hast seen what thou desirest."

I hope you have enjoyed hearing about the high school members of '34.

SEVEN WELLS NEWS NOTES

By Jack Wallace
This lovely weather is responsible for some of our school children being in the fields this week. One last effort and the cotton and feed will be harvested in our community.

We had a nice letter from our soldier Mr. John Owens of Abilene. He has promised us a visit before school ends.

The sick among us are Betty Jean Cockerell and G. V. Hulce. H. E. Cockerell went to Wink on business Monday.

Victor McWilliams joined the wolf hunters Saturday night on the Spade ranch. He reports a fine race and a good time.

E. R. Venus and family visited Mr. Venus' sister Mrs. Brown at Spade Sunday afternoon.

Lowell Everett spent Saturday night with his Grandmother Franklin in Colorado.

James Scott and family of Colorado were visitors at A. L. Maines Sunday afternoon.

Pauline Robinson was a week-end visitor at the Hulce home this week. N. J. Adams celebrated his 67th birthday with a family dinner Sunday. All of his children and grandchildren were present to enjoy the occasion with him.

Mrs. M. T. Dossey visited Mrs. Hulce Sunday. Billy Webb spent the week-end at home. He is attending school in Big Spring and is an excellent pupil. He has joined the band and is learning to play his new horn. Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Webb brought Bill home and enjoyed the week-end with Mr. Webb's father and mother.

We have reason to be proud of the young people who attend high school from our community this year. They are all making good. Mr. and Mrs. Kelso Adams and little daughter Joyce were visiting friends and relatives in our midst Sunday afternoon.

We have begun our Red Cross drive. Have had one meeting and appointed a committee to help in the work. I think there is no doubt about our quota in this district being full.

The attitude of our people towards public enterprises is a healthy one. We certainly should not neglect this opportunity to line up with the Red Cross and I'm sure we recognize the fact. We got back in our district $30.00 for every one we put into it last year. Join us in putting over will you not?

FORMER AGENT HERE IS LOCATED AT ODESSA BY EXTENSION DEPARTMENT

H. L. Atkins, former Mitchell county farm agent, and later located at Midland, has recently been assigned to this work in Ector and Andrews county. Atkins and family moved last week from their late home in Dallas to Odessa.

While located at Colorado Atkins was popularly dubbed "Grasshopper Slim," due to his efforts in combatting "hordes" of the insects that during those days did considerable damage to crops.

Leaving Midland several years ago he went to Dallas to accept the position as an associate editor of the Progressive Farmer, a farm and ranch periodical. Lately he has been engaged in government work in East Texas.

REMEDY REMOVES CAUSE OF STOMACH GAS

Most stomach GAS is due to bowel poisons. For quick relief use Adlesika. One dose cleans out bowels, tones up your system, brings sound sleep. W. L. Doss, Druggist.

Printing of the better class at this office.

Sally: "Really? Tell me about it, Helen." Helen: "Well, as I use the car most of the time these days and actually buy the oil and gas, Dick thought it a good plan to turn the car budget over to me entirely." Sally: "How does that give you extra money?" Helen: "I have more time than Dick and have learned some surprising things about the cost of car operation. Dick thought all gas and oil sold at approximately the same price were of equal value. When the motor broke down, he considered it just hard luck and paid the repair bill." Sally: "Isn't it?" Helen: "No! It is poor motor protection. More than half the entire motor wear occurs during the few minutes of starting when the motor is cold. Only one brand of oil—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—penetrates the metal so that a portion of it, nearly a quart, stays up in your motor, greatly reducing the wear. So checking back on repair bills that were paid before I changed to Conoco, we've saved a lot of money this last year." Sally: "What about gasoline?" Helen: "To me that choice depended on quick starting—Dick used to choke the car until he was wild. It wasted so much gasoline in cold weather—ran the battery down and the nerves, too. With Conoco Bronze, the motor starts at the first turn and has power galore—goes further on each gallon and is anti-knock also. So you see how I did it?" Sally: "I certainly do, Helen—and I think you're a very clever girl!"

VOCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

The baby typing class demonstrated their work last Saturday by typing in town. It is believed that this is one of the most progressive departments in high school.

In the vocational department, there have been many absent due to colds and some have obtained jobs. The best class in typing and book-keeping has almost caught up with the day class.

Big Spring has given us an inspiration showing the value of commercial work in high school and how much it does for the citizen. The department has gone to town and checked up on their former students as to their work. The commercial department of Colorado is contemplating the same thing here.

EDITORIAL

The depression is surely over for the attendance at the class plays has shown that people are again becoming interested in school activities. For the three plays that have been given, the auditorium has been filled, not only with students of the schools, but also with the people of the town.

The classes have tried to present comedy type of plays in order to make their audience forget their troubles and it seems they have surely succeeded. Each class apparently has a larger crowd than the one just preceding it. There is just one play left, so buy your tickets and come early in order to get a seat.

AGRICULTURE CLASS BEGINS CALF PROJECT

LOVE'S REPINING

An Allegory

Love was a beautiful water lily in Lake Purity blossoming in the warm Summer sun. Love became a full grown water lily nourished by the plant foods, Sincerity and Confidence. In an adjoining lake bloomed less beautiful lilies. The ugliest of them was named Jealousy, and its exorbitant size made Love unhappy and she began to dwindle in her majestic dignity. The plant, Rivalry, devoured all the plant foods, Sincerity and Confidence, that were available, which were derived from the atmosphere of respect, Devotion, and hero of the story, was a beautiful butterfly, who was loved by both our heroine, Love and the villain. Devotion fluttered from one of the lilies to the other one and this pleased Rivalry when Devotion fluttered to her. Gradually Love was dying away. No longer did she see the beauty in the sunrise each morning. No longer did she smile through the early morning dew. But Devotion did not intentionally try to break Love's heart. As is true of all males, he was sipping too much from the cup of Thoughtlessness and Neglect. He hardly noticed the change in Love's attitude nor the lack of gaiety in her manner. One day, however, at high noon, Devotion fluttered over his lady fair, Love, and found her still upon the waters of Purity. Devotion was stricken with fright as he hurried closer to her. Yes, she was dead, melting away in the waters of Purity, a monument to the womanhood of her kind; Truth, Sincerity, and Faithfulness.

As the sun was sinking slowly in the West, a humming bird fluttered to the scene of Tragedy. There upon the cold still waters of Purity lay side by side, Devotion and Love, companions in death and sharers of Everlasting peace.

POPPIES SOLD

Fifty-seven poppies were sold at Junior High Thursday and Friday, making a total of $5.70. The pupils of Jr. High wish to help the ex-soldiers as much as they can. We are especially interested, since there are 32 pupils in Jr. High, whose fathers were enlisted during the World War. Mr. Cline, one of our teachers also saw service in France.

LEGION VISITORS

They told us about the medals to be given to the one boy and one girl in the seventh grade voted the best citizens at the end of the year. Sergeant Brady talked on one of the five points, "Honor." He also told about the Legion parade in Chicago last summer. His talk on honor had many practical things for the students of Jr. High. At the last of his talk he said, "Honor is having the courage of your convictions and the determination to carry them out." Sergeant Brady has promised to come back and tell us some of his war experiences.

HISTORY MUSEUM

Mr. Cline has completed the case for the History Museum for Jr. High school. It is in the hall of the building.

Anyone who has anything of historical interest and is willing to loan it, is invited to display it in our case. Anything loaned will be greatly appreciated and will be well cared for. These things which are loaned will be returned at the end of school or sooner if wanted. If you have anything to loan us, please notify us or bring your article to the school.

The pupils of Junior High are now practicing for the Interscholastic League Meet, which is to be held in the Spring. Miss Locker has charge of sub-junior spelling. Miss Swope and Miss Greene have charge of the spelling in the sixth and seventh grades. The numbers of spelling entries are shown below.

7th Grade	14
6th Grade	22
5th Grade	20

Miss Davidson has not started declamation yet, but she thinks she will have at least 25 or 30 to try out. Out of these she will get 2 or 3 to enter the League meet.

Mr. Holman has not begun league work in arithmetic yet, but he hopes to have 8 or 10 to enter. These will come from the seventh grade only.

Mr. Cline is in charge of the track events and he will begin practice soon.

Miss Crosthwaite is in charge of picture memory and music memory. Miss Greene is in charge of essay writing.

CUB BASKETBALL TEAM

The Cubs are getting ready for basketball. We have both a junior team and a senior team. Mr. Cline is the coach.

6A also had the second of its contests with 7A. It was defeated, but won over 7A the first time.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

Miss Davidson	$4.18

Miss Locker	1.90
Miss Swope	1.65

Build Up Health and Pains Go Away

WOMEN who suffer from weakness often have many aches and pains which a stronger state of health would prevent. Women in this condition should take Cardui, a purely vegetable tonic that has been in use for over 50 years. Take Cardui to improve the general tone of the system in cases of run-down health and "tired nerves." Women have found, in such cases, that Cardui helps them to overcome pain and make the monthly periods easier. CARDUI is safe and wholesome for women of all ages. Try it!

ARMISTICE PROGRAM

In the assembly auditorium Friday morning there was a splendid Armistice program rendered. Supt. John E. Watson made a talk which was very inspiring and beneficial. It was about the United States flag. Mr. Cline also gave an interesting talk about the signing of the armistice in France, where he was serving at the time peace was declared.

The rest of the time was spent in singing patriotic songs and in learning and giving the pledge of allegiance, under the direction of Miss Davidson. We hope that all the students in Jr. High will always remember this Armistice Day.

GIRLS CHORAL CLUB

The Girls Choral Club is making good progress. The following is a statement made by Mrs. Meskimen, "I think they are making wonderful progress and we are working hard to prepare for a public program to be presented at an early date."

"WEINIES ON WEDNESDAY"

All of the children enjoyed the assembly program last Wednesday very much. A play, "Weinies on Wednesday" was presented to raise money for new library books. The cast was made up of seventh graders and the play was put on under the direction of Miss Davidson. The cast was as follows:

Mr. Foster..... Harry Lovejoy
 Mrs. Foster..... Jane Meskimen
 Marian, the daughter..... Armoria Whitmore
 Jack, the son..... Grover Williams
 Bonnie, the crying baby..... John Colson
 Madame Castanelli..... Willie Belle Kelley

The play was about a family that lived in a small town, and who welcomed a French opera singer with politeness and curiosity. Marian, the aristocratic daughter pictured Madame Castanelli as one who would wear dainty clothes. When Madame Castanelli came down to the kitchen she was dressed in a large robe and big-legged pajamas, with huge men's house slippers. Everything that Madame Castanelli said was contrary to what Marian had expected. The play reaches its climax when Jack goes behind a screen and triumphantly brings out a plate of "weinies" that Marian has taken off the table when she heard that Madame Castanelli was coming. Madame Castanelli amazed them all by expressing a great fondness for that dish and other common foods.

The different rooms had an exciting contest to see who could bring in the most money for the play. Miss Crosthwaite's room won with five dollars. To this they added a dollar promised by Mr. Holman to the winning room. The play was such a success that it was presented again on Thursday for the Hutchinson School pupils. The total amount taken in was $26.13. With this, we are going to put the money given by the P.T.A. organization and many books can be bought.

Mrs. Colson, Mrs. Williams, and Mrs. Whitmore were present at the first performance. They are all members of the actors in the play. We are always glad to have our mothers at our programs.

Westbrook In Urge Relief Leaders Of State Speed Work

Lawrence Westbrook, civil works administrator for Texas, Saturday vigorously urged county relief heads to use all haste in getting work relief projects started.

Westbrook announced Friday that 100,000 men now listed on relief rolls would be given immediate employment on civil works and that when the program got under full headway another 100,000 unemployed heads of families, who were not on relief, would be given employment.

"Your first and immediate duty is to get out and get enough eligible work relief projects to absorb all able-bodied men on your relief rolls," Westbrook wrote county administrators. "We expect at least 100,000 new projects in this office by Tuesday, November 14."

"Call an immediate meeting of your board and get each one to help you accomplish your part. Get your machinery set so that if we wire approval of your projects you can start the men to work on Thursday, November 16."

"Every hour you delay is keeping men off of pay rolls."

 You can't feel well and strong unless your liver furnishes your stomach and bowels plenty of fresh bile every day. Without bile food doesn't digest properly—it just ferments and decays—constipation, gas, sour stomach, headaches and nervousness follow.
 Don't be misled. Calomel, salts, oils, mineral waters, laxative pills, etc. have no effect whatever on the liver. There are only two generally recognized substances which actually cause a sluggish liver to increase its production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of them.

EVERYONE MUST HELP

Not another winter like the last! That was the pledge of the new Administration when it came into office. Every effort is being given to achieve it. It represents the most earnest hope of every citizen.

But government alone can't do it all. We can spend money for relief—and we are, but there is never enough. We can build public works—but there comes an end to that, and the public treasury is not bottomless. A large share of any kind of relief effort must be borne by the individual citizen.

And this doesn't mean charity, vital as that is. The best kind of relief is that which spends money and provides jobs on projects which are permanently valuable, and gives those who pay the bill something really needed. That is true whether the work is done by the Federal government or the state, or John Jones down the street.

A dollar spent for a new house, or to repair an old one, does double duty. An extremely large share of it goes directly to labor in Colorado. The rest of it goes to various industries, through numerous pockets. It touches many states and communities. It is always growing—and by the time it has run its course it has done the work of fifty or a hundred dollars.

GOLD AND EMPLOYMENT

Mr. Roosevelt's latest announcement on gold, in which he pledged the government to offer a market at the world price for as much of the yellow metal as is offered to it, will have a salutary effect on this country.

The purpose of the plan as affecting currency and credit expansion is of only academic interest to most of us.

Its effect will doubtless be an important expansion of mining activities, both here and abroad. Gold is like everything else—the wider and more profitable the market, the more effort will be given to finding and developing the product.

Thousands of men will find new work in the mining industry. Thousands of families will receive their livelihood because of it. And millions of dollars will be put in circulation, to surge through the veins of industry and speed the work of recovery.

A BIT OF CHURCH HISTORY

W. W. Forter has asked me to write a bit of church history and this article is written for him especially.

At the opening of the nineteenth century religious life was at a low ebb in the new nation. The struggles with the forces of nature was turning men's thoughts away from the supernatural. The labor for the bread which perished was making men forget the bread of Life. French rationalism and infidelity were rampant in the land. The students of Yale were called by the names of the most noted French and English infidels. The legislature of Kentucky had abolished prayer to almighty God. The reports of assemblies and church convocations revealed a deep anxiety for the spiritual condition of the nation and the church. Ministers confessed that their hearts were as dry as a Methodist Baptist's and the resources of their minds exhausted.

Then in the solitudes of Kentucky, in the hills of western Pennsylvania and in the mountains of Virginia and Carolina, there suddenly burst forth the flames of a great revival. The preaching of the Word was with power and the demonstration of the Holy Spirit. Ordained ministers could not satisfy the hunger for the Word and illiterate frontiersmen preached to wondering thousands. In every town and settlement, sinners were convicted and called upon God for mercy. Thousands fell to the ground in the camp meetings or in the fields and highways as if they had been felled by some awful unseen hand. The churches were not sufficient for the multitudes and the throngs resorted to the wilderness, where the leaves of the forest shook with their fervent psalmody, as men called upon men to repent.

Ere long the flames began to subside but a mighty work had been done, never to be undone. The nation was saved from barbarism and irreligion, and the church from apathy and unbelief. Instead of a godless, materialistic civilization being built up in the west and the southwest, there was founded a civilization which, with all its crudities and shortcomings, was rich in the fear of God, the only solid foundation of those nations which endure. Those great movements of grace gave the churches the study of the Bible, the prayer meeting and the evangelistic meetings. There too was born the Missionary Movement, the agitation against slavery, and the temperance reform. It wrought, in fact a social revolution whose extent is hidden from us by the fact that we have always lived among its results and do not realize with what a price they were bought for us.

In reading the biography of Peter Cartwright, a Methodist circuit rider, we find that he was the greatest preacher of his day. Now a Methodist preacher in those days, when he felt that God had called him to preach, instead of hunting up a college or Biblical institute, hunted up a hardy pony and some traveling apparatus, and with his library always at hand, namely Bible, hymn book and Discipline, he started and with a text that never wore out nor grew stale, he cried: "Behold the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sins of the world."

In this way he went through storms of wind, hail, snow and rain, climbed hills and mountains, traversed valleys, plunged through swamps, swam swollen streams, lay out all night, wet, weary and hungry, held his horse by the bridle all night, or tied him to a limb, slept with his saddle blanket for a bed, his saddle or saddle-bags for a pillow and his old big coat or blanket, if he had one, for a covering. Often he slept in dirty cabins, on earthen floors before the fire, eat roasting ears for bread, drank buttermilk for coffee, took with a hearty zest, deer or bear meat, or wild turkey for breakfast, dinner or supper if he could get it. His text was always ready, "Behold the Lamb of God." This was old-fashioned Methodist preacher fare and fortune.

Under such circumstances who among us would now say, "Here am

I, Lord, send me?"

The demand for preachers led to the ordination in some of the Kentucky Presbyteries of men who did not measure up to the educational standard of the Presbyterian ministry, and who did not accept in their entirety the Presbyterian Standards, the chief dissent being as to election and predestination. When the Presbyteries were disciplined by an act of the Synod, they withdrew, and in February 1810, constituted themselves into the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. In 1904 the Cumberland Presbyterian Church was reincorporated with the parent body, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

The great revival in Kentucky also played an important part in the establishment of the Christian, Campbelle, or Deciples Church, in 1832, at Lexington, Ky., when the followers of Alexander Campbell and Barton Warren Stone, both formerly ministers of the Presbyterian church, united to constitute the Disciples Church. Soon diversity of opinion sprang up and got into a Babel of confusion. Some preached Arrianism, some Socinianism and some Universalist doctrine so that in a few years you could not tell what was what. They adopted the mode of Emerson, the water-god of all exclusive errors and directly there was a mighty controversy about the way to heaven whether it was by water or by dry land.

The excesses of the great revival led to the formation of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Some of the sinners mocked and shouted and some of the old dignified preachers preached against these exercises. The Presbyterian preachers and members, not being accustomed to much noise and shouting, when they yielded to it, went into great extremes and downright wildness to the great injury of the cause of God.

Universalists, Baptist Abolitionists, Deciples, Calvinists, all preached, and raged. What at that time was called "water talk" of the Baptists seemed to worry them most and one of the great preachers in one of his sermons said:

"Is not the church which has no children in it more like hell than heaven? If all hell were searched, there would not be a single child found in it. But all children are in heaven, therefore, there being no children in the Baptist Church, it was more like hell than heaven."

However much education may be desirable and however much the progress of this age may demand an improved ministry, especially an improved pulpit eloquence. This I would rather have a preacher with the gift of the devil dislodging power, pouring his very soul into his words than all the college lore or Biblical institute learning that can be obtained from mortal man. When God wants great and learned men in the ministry, how easy it is for Him to overtake a learned sinner, and, as Saul of Tarsus, strike him awhile over hell, then knock the scales from his eyes, and without any previous theological training send him out straightaway to preach Jesus and the resurrection.

We all creatures treading every moment upon the slipping brick of the grave, and should be ready every moment to shoot the gulf of eternity, and launch away, to some unknown coast, we ought to stand always in the pasture of serious expectation. Almighty Grace, my soul inspire, And touch my lips with heavenly fire!

Let Faith, and Love, and zeal arise! O teach me that divinest art, To reach the conscience, gain the heart, And train immortals for the skies.

F. B. W.

P. S. The question has been asked why do troubles, sorrow, sickness and death come to the good Christian people. This writer can give but two things. First, Christianity is not offered as an insurance policy against such things. Nowhere in the Bible is there promise made that Christians will not suffer. The second answer I would make is, that such experiences may be the greatest opportunities to manifest the value of the Christian hope.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Many of the Sunday school classes were about 100 per cent Sunday morning with a number of visitors. Our Sunday school enrollment of a little more than 200 and 173 were present. If every Baptist family who should be in Sunday school would come, we could have 330 or more in Sunday school each Sunday. Why not pray and work for more people in our Sunday school.

Sunday evening his subject was "The Sinners Condition." This was a beautiful simple message that even a child could understand, setting forth the sinners condition as being "guilty, condemned and dead." He used scripture to prove these points.

A number absent from B. T. S. Sunday evening, if you like to do things to keep the Association, we should stay on the job. The quartet composed of members from our Senior and Adult units were guests of the Bethel church Sunday evening.

Why not come to Training Service 100 per cent next Sunday at 6:15. At 7:00 o'clock the bell rings for closing assembly. Everyone be assembled by 7:05.

The Senior union will give the general assembly program from 7:05 to 7:15. It will consist of a talk "The Value of Prayer," by Eugene Roberts, "The Value of Daily Bible Reading" by Lois Lucas, 3 minutes each and a quartet on prayer by the Loraine quartet.
