SCS Supplies Mulch Equipment Here

The board of supervisors of the Yoakum Soil Conservation District wants to remind everyone in the district that the stubble mulch equipment which was loaned to the District is still available for use.

This stubble mulch equipment can be used to good advantage on the grain sorghum stubble to leave the soil in excellent condition to take moisture and with the stubble remaining on the surface to help control wind erosion.

The plow, which consists of a carrier and five flat, 30 inch sweeps, can be pulled with a four row farm tractor. These large sweeps tend to break up any hard-pan which may have developed and loosens the surface soil so that it will readily take any moisture which falls on it. This can be much more effective than listing since the stubble is not disturbed on the surface and the entire surface is plowed whereas with a lister, strips between the lister furrows are left undisturbed.

DIVORCE CASE, SUIT FOR DAMAGES FILED HERE IN DISTRICT COURT

Two cases have been filed in district court, one for divorce and the other for damages.

Suit has been filed by Rose Murphy, asking for a divorce from Glen Murphy. The couple was married in Pitcher, Okla., in 1941, and separated February 9, 1957. The plaintiff asserts that the defendant has been guilty of unkind, harsh and cruel treatment, and that he threatened to take her life and on numerous occasions struck and abused her, that he continually drank to excess and failed to support her. The plaintiff further asserts that at the time of their separation in February, the defendant did strike the plaintiff, causing contusions and lacerations and breaking a tooth.

The suit sets forth that the couple are parents of a son, now residing with the plaintiff in Denver City, and that she is able to rear the child and provide for his needs. The plaintiff asserts that the defendant is an able bodied man, capable of earning at least $400 per month, and that he ought to be able to pay $50 per month as child support.

The plaintiff also asked for a temporary restraining order to prevent the defendant from molesting her in any way.

In the other suit, G. C. McBride of Waco is asking a total of $7300 in damages against Landa Oil Company and Coats Drilling Co., Inc. for alleged injury to land when the defendants drilled an oil well.

According to the plaintiff, he was owner of surface estate of Section 774, block D, John Gibson survey, in Yoakum County and cultivating the section in March of 1955; that the defendant, Landa Oil Company acquired by virtue of an assignment from Honolulu Oil Company, leasehold interest in and to the southeast quarter and east half of the southwest quarter of Section 774.

That the defendant, Coats Drilling, moved in on said section, during March, 1955, an oil well drilling rig and necessary equipment and deposited on the grounds at site staked and marked by Landa, wholly disregarding the plaintiff's rights in and on the surface of said land; and Coats by trucks, and motor vehicles moved and carried drilling equipment across and on land when said section was prepared for the cotton crop, knocking down and breaking irrigation ditches, cutting up and tearing up and causing ruts in and upon soil and killing and destroying all vegetation trampled and run over by vehicles all without the consent of the plaintiff.

The suit further declares that Coats Drilling carried and moved rig and equipment to a site selected by Landa, and commenced to drill a well and remained on the site until the well was drilled, and used six acres of land that was to be planted in cotton, when only two acres or less was necessary to drill a well. That the defendant made pits, excavations and use of the area away from well site and in a larger area than was necessary.

That the plaintiff on January 2, 1956, sold Section 774 and but for the damaged six acres caused by using more land than was necessary, would have received $150 per acre for the section, but with damage done and knowing the six acres would never produce cotton or any money making crops, the plaintiff received only $140 per acre. That such action was the sole and proximate cause of damages suffered, amounting to $6400. The plaintiff was further damaged in that but for these negligent acts and using by defendant of more than necessary land to drill a well, Section 774 had in past years and would yield a bale and a half of cotton per acre, and plaintiff would receive $150 per bale over and above expense of planting, etc., annually.

That plaintiff during 1955 planted cotton and because of damaged six acres which were portion of section which yielded the larger quantity and better quality of cotton, the plaintiff was denied the use of six acres not only for planting, etc., but was denied the use of six acres for growing any crop, and as result the plaintiff suffered additional damages in the amount of $900, the reasonable value of cotton that could have been harvested from the six acres.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Simpson of Channing spent the weekend visiting in the home of their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McGinty.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion McGinty were Brownfield visitors Monday.

Mrs. Sid Mayfield underwent surgery in the Treadway-Daniel Hospital Tuesday morning.

EXPERT WARNS OF WATER SHORTAGE IN SOUTH PLAINS AREA OF TEXAS

The United States is not running out of water, an expert said this week, but some areas must act to prevent shortages. The greatest danger is in the South Plains of Texas and New Mexico where increased well drilling is draining an underground supply which won't be replaced for centuries, said Albert G. Fielder.

Real problems also exist or threaten, he said, in Long Island, Miami, the Roswell basin of New Mexico; parts of Minnesota Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa, underlain by artesian sandstone; and the Yazoo Delta of northwestern Mississippi.

"We have no reason at this time to fear that our nation or our planet is gradually drying up," declared Fielder, who is assistant chief of the U. S. Geological Survey's grand water supply branch. His paper was prepared for the American Society of Civil Engineers.

"Our national water supply is not diminishing, so far as we can ascertain, but is remaining about the same over the long term. There are wet and dry cycles ranging in length from a few years to a few decades that must be reckoned with, and also definite wet and dry trends which may have periods of 50 or 100 years or more."

In the South Plains, sinking of irrigation wells "has accelerated at a rate unmatched elsewhere in the nation," said Fielder. Each year a new record is set in the numbers of wells in use and quantity of water pumped. He said most of this has been in Texas.

Because the area was cut off centuries ago from the Rocky Mountains, insofar as underground movement of water is concerned, large scale pumpage in the area "is to mine it out for good."

He said precipitation is light, evaporation high, and the subsoil tight, with the result only a fraction of an inch of moisture per year penetrates. "No one knows exactly how this region is going to meet the problem of depletion of stored ground water," he said. "If events are allowed to run their course, irrigation from wells will have to be abandoned in areas that will begin at centers of heavy pumping and will grow outward from those centers as the water is depleted."

Storage of surface stream water is not the answer because there is not enough of it, he said. The area is part of the severe drought country recently inspected by President Eisenhower. Importation of water from more humid areas he described as "still a dream of the future as is conversion of what-ever saline water may be present."

Fielder said the solution will "involve means that have never been used before because a problem of this kind and on this scale has never been faced before."

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Field and family, Mrs. Ty Field and Mrs. R. B. Jones spent Thursday and Friday in Amarillo. Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Ty Field, Mrs. Bobby Field and Mrs. Jones attended the District Convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs of the Seventh District.

The Yoakum County Review
Dear Friends,
The directors of the Yoakum County Livestock and Agriculture Improvement Association would like to express their thanks for the free publicity and all the other favors which the Review extended us before and during the recent livestock show and sale.

We believe our program is a great help in preventing juvenile delinquency, because everyone knows a busy boy or girl is a good boy or girl, and that is the kind who grow up to be dependable citizens and the kind that we can be proud of.

Again we say thank you.

Senator Preston Smith

With three separate investigating committees functioning in Austin, more arguments appear daily in favor of Gov. Price Daniel's proposal that the state authorize a law enforcement commission for Texas.

The foundation for such a commission would be grand jurors selected from the 11 state judicial districts. This would do away with many one-shot investigating committees appointed in the House and Senate.

At present, two such investigating committees, one from the House and the other from the Senate, are looking into the ICT Insurance situation while a third committee is delving into the alleged offer of Rep. Cox to commercially withdraw his own bill which threatened to outlaw the practice of Naturopathy in Texas.

There is no question of the sincerity of the nine House members who are conducting the Cox inquiry, or of the two committees investigating the ICT situation.

But there are arguments, however, against the type of committees they represent.

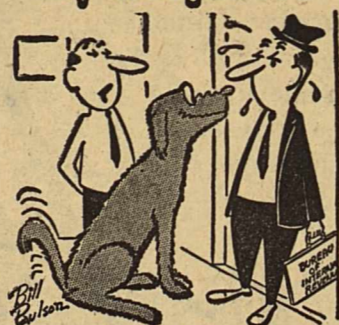

The mere mechanics of appointing a House inquiry group resulted in a wide breach in that body. Some of this stems from jealousy of individuals who wanted, and even asked for places on the committee, and were not selected. Some of it stems from sincere protests of East Texas legislators that they have no representation on the committee.

The investigating committee members themselves are in jeopardy of being criticized by the House as "witch hunters" or for attempting to advance themselves politically. This breach in the House caused by the Cox affair could very well have some effect on the legislative program.

These and other current events have influenced support for the Governor's law enforcement commission to replace many single-shot investigating groups.

Because of the stepped-up fight against cancer, led by the American Cancer Society, one in every three cancer patients is being saved. This compares with one in every four saved a few years ago.

My Neighbors

"As a matter of fact, I DID list him as a dependent. Any objections?"

ACROSS THE CATTLE GUARD

By LEO W. WHITE
County Agent

It is good for a person to get out and visit his neighbors once in a while. He can find out what is going on outside the bounds of his own place. He can see how he compares to his neighbors in the various phases of his work. This is true with organizations as well as individuals. I was of the opinion that the Yoakum County Junior Fat Stock Show was exceptionally good this year and I more sure than ever after visiting two neighboring shows last week.

I was over at the Gaines County Show on Friday of last week and I tried to make a comparison of their show with ours. For some reason, they do not have as much interest in livestock shows in that country as there is in Yoakum County. The crowd attending the show was pretty slim. Of course, their facilities are not like ours but I doubt if that is the cause of their low interest. The exhibitors made up the big portion of the crowd. There was a few parents there but the interest of the parents in what the young folks were doing seemed to be lower than that it is in this county.

When I looked over the exhibitors I found that it was all boys. Not a single girl participated in the show. I wonder if that fact had anything to do with the interest of the parents. I know that parents are prone to let their boys do things for themselves at an earlier age than the girls. I know that the Mothers usually take an active interest in the work of the girls whereas she will leave the boy's work up to the Father. I think that the whole thing is a family affair and that the entire family should take an active interest. I am really pleased at the interest the parents have shown in this county as far as the livestock feeding program is concerned.

The Gaines County Show is handled a little different from ours and there was a difference in the quality of their animals. They have ruled out milk-fed calves and mutton type lambs in their show so that it looked like we had better animals in those two divisions than they did. They had some barrows that compared favorably with ours if you take the group as a whole. The top individuals in their pig show seemed to be better than ours so we learn from visiting other shows that we have room for improvement.

Rusty McGinty, Pat Henard and I went up to Morton last Saturday and visited their sale. The show had been held the day before and they started the sale on Saturday morning. We thought that we had a good sale and we did have a good one but Cochran County had a good sale too. They sold 18 lambs, 65 hogs and 11 calves in about three hours time and they averaged a little higher than ours all the way through. They sold two calves for 27c a pound and everything else sold for more than 30c a pound. Several pigs sold for 35c a pound but none of them went below that figure.

When you visit with your neighbors you sometimes find that you are real proud of the way things are going at home and you sometimes find that you need to come back and set your sights a little higher.

County Livestock Group Has Annual Meeting Monday

The annual membership meeting of the Yoakum County Livestock and Agriculture Association was held Monday night in the district court room at Plains.

About 70 persons were members of the board of directors sent for the session. Five members were re-elected for a two year term, including Johnnie Fitzgerald, Harvey Stotts, G. W. Cleveland and Pat Henard.

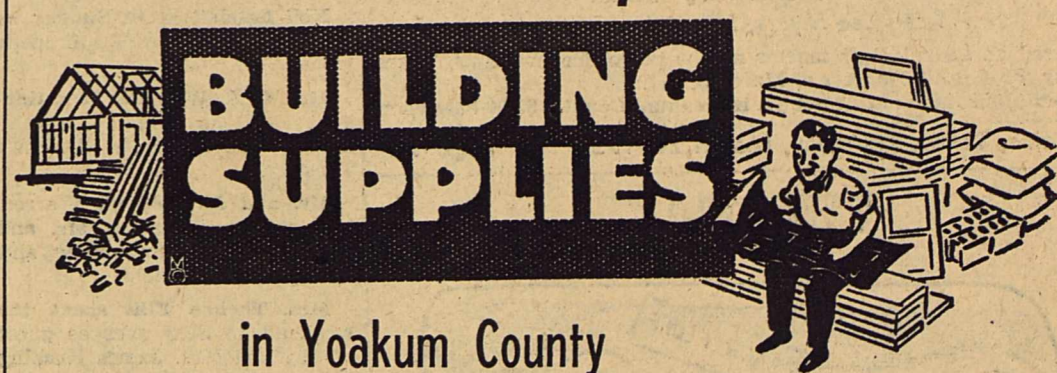

One new member, Harold Watson of Denver City, was also named. These men will serve with Gene Bennett, Tom Warren, Rusty McGinty, Gene Payne and Bill Powell, all of whom have a year remaining in their term of office.

Motion films of all previous Junior Livestock shows were shown, and Wyatt Lipscomb of the Soil Conservation office, reported the ten first place winners in the essay contest on "Soil Conservation", which was held recently. He also presented a plaque to Shirley Gayle of Bronco, first place winner in the competition.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Jones on Sunday were, Mr. and Mrs. Howard of Quannah and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Stoveall of Lubbock. Other guests on Monday were, Frank Jones and Guy Weeks of Lamesa.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Newsom were Mr. and Mrs. George Fulton of Donie, Texas. Mrs. Fulton remained in Plains for a few days visit with the Newsoms.

A REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

By R. L. Bowers, Jr.
House of Representatives

The Investigation Committees have continued their work this week. The work of the Committee investigating the I.C.T. Insurance Company grows larger and larger. We should have a report from the Cox Committee next week.

The biggest news this week is that the House approved a record two billion dollar major appropriation bill after fourteen hours of almost continuous debate.

This was accomplished by staying in session until ten minutes to one Friday morning. The bill passed substantially as it came out of the committee. There were three amendments adopted which added to the two-year spending budget proposed by the House Appropriations Committee. They were $2,154,497 for expanded county agriculture extension services; $35,750 for a cotton marketing research at the University of Texas; and approximately one million dollars to add 200 beds to the operation of John Sealy Hospital at Galveston. The Comptroller estimates that there will be approximately forty million dollars in the State Treasury.

We are looking forward to getting on to the remainder of the bills now that the Appropriations Bill has passed. Because of the long session on the Appropriation Bill, the calendar is quite crowded, and we are anticipating a lot of work in the next few weeks.

Sincerely,
R. L. Bowers, Jr.

GOOD POLICING-

is good preaching. Good preaching is also good policing. Either would suffer much more trouble without the other. Society has placed in the hands of its honored judges and police officers the power on which we all must lean for protection, security, peace and justice. You and I and 160,000,000 people speak in the voice of the judge, and we walk with the guardian of peace as he covers his beat. A good police officer is steady and strong and is waiting to be your friend. He may help the pastors preach as well as the pastors may help control his beat. Here he is passing on to interested youngsters the wisdom of going straight. It is better to be in the hands of Him than to be in the handcuffs of the law. Let the church help you keep your life clean and your direction straight. ### TSA MO GA CLUB CONDUCTS PANEL DISCUSSION ON TEXAS MARCH 18th

The Tsa Mo Ga Club held a panel discussion on Texas for its annual Texas Day Program, at the club house on March 18th. The panel consisted of Mrs. Raymond Bookout, Mrs. James Warren, Mrs. Ruth O'Neal, and Mrs. J. R. Robertson. Mrs. Bookout talked on Music in Texas. She stated that Texas held second place in the nation in professional symphony orchestras. Amarillo, Austin, Dallas, El Paso and Houston all have symphony orchestras. Mrs. Warren spoke on the importance of gas and oil in Texas. She also stated that Texas was changing from a farm and ranch country to an industrial state. Black gold has contributed to the educational, industrial and cultural growth of Texas. Mrs. O'Neal spoke on Texas industries. "Next to oil, natural gas and gasoline, sulphur is the most important mineral produced in Texas, and in 1946 the state produced over 77% of the sulphur in the United States", Mrs. O'Neal said. "The most important manufacturing industries in Texas are devoted to processing the minerals produced in the state," she continued. Mrs. Robertson's paper was on religion, homecrafts and cultural development of Texas. Mrs. Glenn Cleveland acted as moderator of the panel and program director for the evening. She introduced the honored guests, Mrs. Jo Verden Brown, Instructor of Home Economics in the local High School, and Miss Willie Mae Addison, Texas' Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow winner. Mrs. Cleveland paid a special tribute to Mrs. Brown on her many accomplishments in her field of endeavor. Miss Addison, in her charming manner, told the club members how she became the state winner. Mrs. R. K. Field, club delegate to the District Convention held in Amarillo last week, gave a report. She was proud to report that the Tsa Mo Ga Club won first place in the district on the three minute report. This report consists of a summary of the years work. Other awards won by the club were: in Communications, third place; Libraries, second place; Education, third place; Second place overall winner in the Public Affairs Department; Religion, third place; first place overall winner in the Americanism department and first place winner in the American Shriners Division; Historical Restoration, first place. Mrs. C. F. McCargo, club chairman of the Public Affairs Department, made a report of programs presented during the year on Public Affairs. She read all papers sent in for competition to Mrs. M. B. Hood, of Plainview, District Chairman of Public Affairs. Divisions of this department are: Citizens, Indian Affairs, National Defense, Safety, Savings Bonds, Status of Women and Veterans Division. In the District, the Tsa Mo Ga Club made the largest donation to the Hungarian Relief. Sue Stevens, of Allred, contributed $100 in the name of her Club, the Tsa Mo Ga. Mrs. Ty Field, District Chairman of scholarships, reported thirty-two federated clubs participated in the Lola B. Mundy Scholarship Fund, and a balance of $627.11, after paying $150 to a student attending Texas Tech. Local members attending the District Convention in Amarillo were: Mrs. M. McGinty, Mrs. Gene Payne, Mrs. Ty Field, Mrs. R. K. Field and Mrs. R. B. Jones.

Dance Recital To Be Presented Here Friday Night

The pupils of Mrs. Barbara Crawford will present a tap recital Friday night, March 22, in the Junior High Auditorium at 8 p.m. Pupils from Plains who will participate in the recital are Jana, Joyce and Joe Warren, Carolyn Warren, Robert Field, Sheila Wagley, Sarah Field, Lidna and Pamela Johnson, Rodney Trout, Shirley Burors, Faye Bradshaw, Jennie Procto: and Dana Dyer. Students from Denver City will also participate in the recital. This program will climax only six months work for most students. However a few of the children have been taking for two and three years. Jeannie St. Romain and Mrs. Roland Johnson will be pianists for the program.

Assembly Program Presented Monday

The Plains High School and Junior High presented an assembly program Monday afternoon. The Plains seniors gave a one act play which they were to present Tuesday night in French. The play presented Tuesday night will be a contest in one-act plays. The junior high chorus presented a musical program also at the assembly. The chorus is made up of Kay Gibson, Carolyn Bass, Sue Bookout, Ivy Beggs, Linda Fitzgerald, Jene Kelly, Dixie McClellan and Carolyn Murphy. Willie Mae Addison was presented a letter from Betty Crocker and also a plaque as Texas homemaker of the year. The presentation was given by Mr. Taylor. Mrs. Joe Brown was also given a plaque recognizing her as one of the best homemaking teachers in this area. Mr. Cotton Farmers:
With acreage control limiting your cotton acres, why don't you do as others are doing all over Texas and Oklahoma and plant these limited acres in our State Registered Northern Star No. 11 Cotton Seed and increase your cotton profits on your farm.
Northern Star No. 11 cotton is a cotton that combines the good quality of heavy fruiting, early maturing, good staple and grade, and good lint yield better than any cotton we know of. Northern Star No. 11 cotton seed were put on the market in 1954, and is an improved strain of our original Northern Star.
Do not be satisfied to plant your limited cotton acres in any inferior variety of cotton but do as others are doing and plant State Registered Northern Star No. 11 cotton seed and increase your cotton profits. Be sure you understand the difference in State Registered cotton seed and State Certified cotton seed before placing your order for any variety of cotton seed.
Place your order for these fine seed now, at Winkle Bros. and Tri-County Feed & Implement Co. while State Registered Seed are still available.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Irrigating or Spraying Water

Irrigation wells are being started up and systems put into operation to apply a preplanting application of water to cropland. Have you made a plan to guide you in applying this and future applications? Do you know how much water to apply without waste or leaching? Do you know how to estimate the moisture in your soil? Do you know whether or not your irrigation system is operating as it should to put out the most water with the least pumping cost? If your answer to the above questions is, "no" or "I am not sure," then the chances are that you will not realize as much profit from your irrigated acres as you should. In many instances a negative answer to one of the above questions could contribute to a loss from farming operations.

You should have a plan to use as a guide in applying irrigation water. The plan should be based on your soil, topography of the land, amount of water available, crops to be grown, and the type of irrigation system to be used. You should include in your irrigation plan when you expect to irrigate and approximately how much water you expect to apply at each irrigation. It should indicate what course will be taken in case of a pumping plant failure or a substantial decrease in the capacity of your water supply. If your plan of irrigation includes crops that require different amounts of water it should guide you in when and how much to apply to each. These and many items should be pretty well worked out and written down before the irrigation season is too far along. The plan should be definite, but it must be flexible enough to allow revisions necessitated by weather, insects, unforeseen conditions of crop growth, tillage operations and other factors that might influence farming including market conditions.

More than likely you are getting along with a preplanting irrigation. Are you applying the proper or desired amount of water or are you making too heavy an application? Too much water will penetrate below a point where it can be recovered by plants. As water goes into the ground it dissolves and carries downward a lot of plant nutrients. These nutrients may be carried out of reach of plant roots if too much water is applied. At the same time too little water applied at that time may be insufficient to prevent plants going into stress from lack of moisture before the next planned irrigation. Enough water should be applied at this time to bring the soil profile for the plant water extraction zone up to field capacity. What depth does this zone reach? Take a look at your plan to see what crops will be planted on each acre and how deep the roots are expected to go. The water holding capacity of the soil is also an important factor in determining how much water to apply. Future applications will be controlled largely by, among other things, what yield is expected from the crop and the fertility level of your soil.

There are several mechanical and electrical instruments on the market that will help determine soil moisture. Most of these are expensive and require variable amounts and expense for maintenance. A reliable method of estimating soil moisture is the "feel" or ball method. Details of this method of estimating soil moisture are available at the office of your local Soil Conservation District or from Soil Conservation Service technicians as-

MISSISSIPPIAN CALLS FOR "FARM PROGRAM TO LET FARMERS FARM"

Rep. Jamie L. Whitten (D. Miss.) called for a farm program that would let farmers farm in an address Monday (March 18) in Lubbock before the first annual meeting of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.,

The Mississippi Democrat spoke to more than 500 PCG members, directors and officers from a 29-county West Texas area on present farm laws and proposed legislation.

The Congressman called for a complete new look at the agricultural program of our nation, including price supports. His talk came after a morning session in which a business report on the PCG was given and a meeting in which the current officers of the organization were elected again.

The three top men named to serve another year include W. O. Fortenberry, Lubbock, President; Wilmer Smith, Wilson, Lynn County, Vice President; and M. A. (Rip) Elms, Jr. Littlefield, Secretary-Treasurer.

A. B. Carpenter and D. P. Moorhead are Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. from Yoakum county.

Whitten, Chairman of the powerful Agricultural Appropriations Committee, who was the first to insist that the Department of Agriculture sell its surplus cotton in world markets at competitive prices, said this sales program had done lots of good and if continued would relieve some of our problems.

He insisted, though, that there were many defects in the present law which have become apparent after years of experience. "First," he said, "we have learned that controlling acreage will not control U.S. Production and we also have learned that reducing U.S. production will not reduce world production.

"It is my belief," he said, "that we must rewrite our farm legislation so as to reverse the present approach, which leads to less and less farming on a more and more expensive basis.

"We must start out with the premise that any farm program, to be worthwhile, must let the American farmer farm.

"I am preparing a bill which will be introduced shortly, wherein the American cotton farmer will be given support on his share of the domestic market, figured in term of bales or pounds. Such supports on the farmers share of the domestic market should be on the basis of 100 percent of parity. Under such a bill, the farmer will be released from acreage controls and any cotton that he produces beyond his share of the domestic markets would be available only for world trade
