Soil Conservation District News

Irrigation systems are being operated to replace moisture in the upper portion of the soil profile. Hot weather and high velocity winds have helped in depleting soil moisture near the surface. Many acres are practically air dry for a depth of six to twelve inches.

The objective of farmers is to apply irrigation water to as many acres as possible to bring soil moisture back up to or near field capacity. To realize this irrigator must know how much moisture his soil will hold in the root zone and how much moisture is present in the root zone at the time of irrigation. The difference between these two figures is the amount of moisture that needs to be replaced.

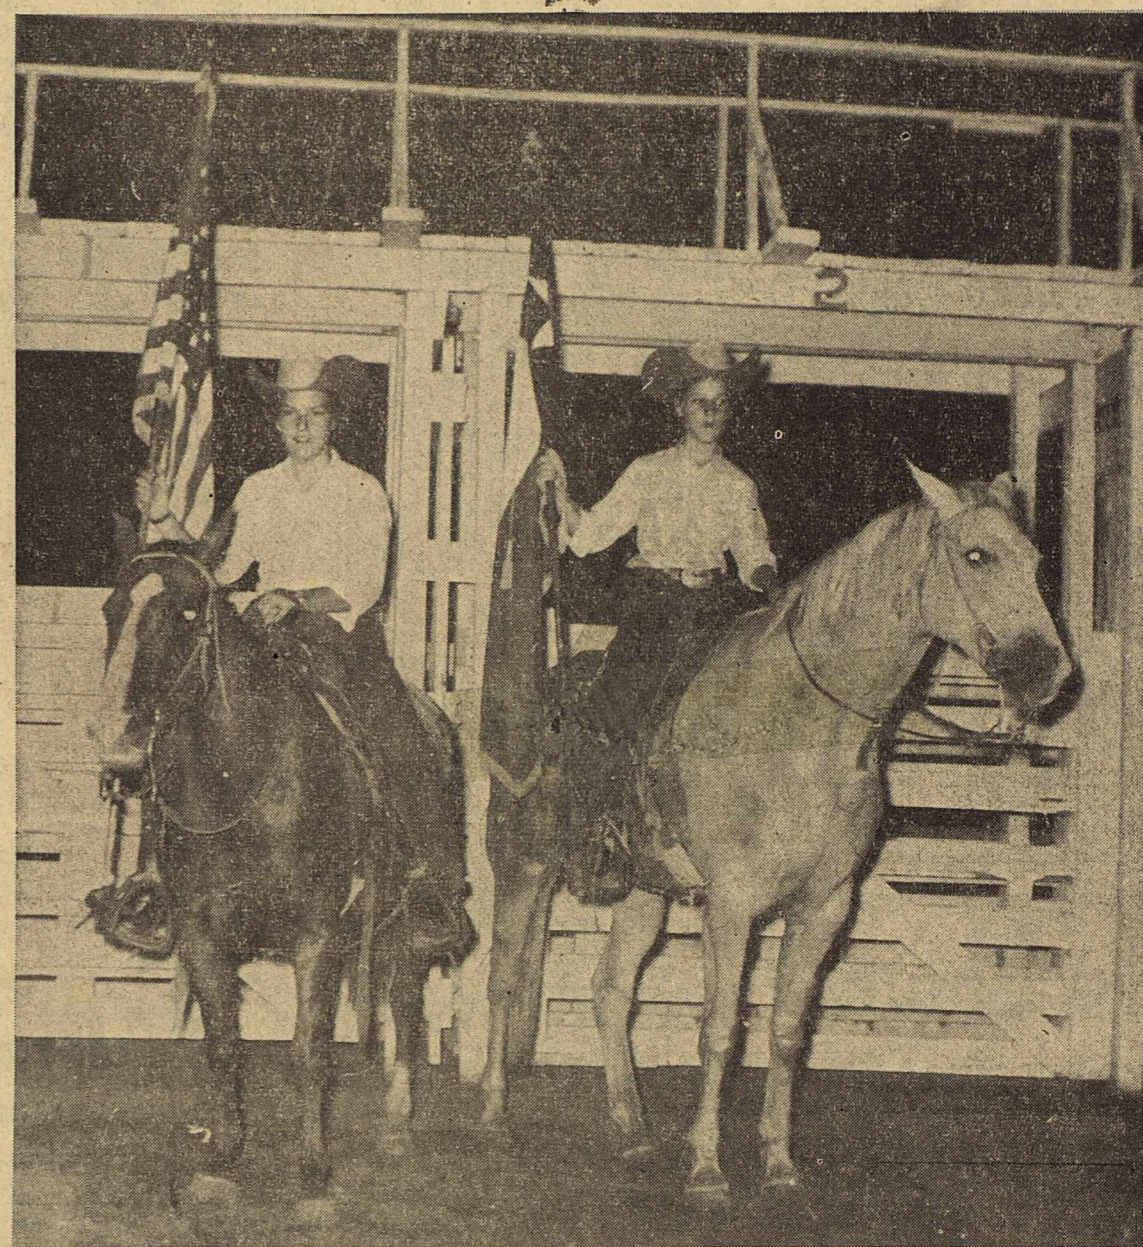

In order to do an efficient job of replacing soil moisture by irrigation, the irrigator must know his irrigation system and how to operate it efficiently. It may be difficult to operate some systems efficiently under existing conditions of water supply, delivery system and soil conditions. Assuming the irrigation system can be used to efficiently apply irrigation water then it is up to the irrigator to use the irrigation system in a way that will apply the desired moisture with the highest degree of efficiency.

The irrigator must understand the rate at which the irrigation system will apply water, the minimum application that may be applied and the time required to apply the desired amount of irrigation water.

Any quantity of irrigation water applied in excess of that required to bring soil moisture up to field capacity, which is the root zone, may be considered as wasted. Uneven applications of irrigation water may also cause the irrigator to over irrigate near end in order to get water to the far end of the run. Excessive differences in operating pressures of near and distant sprinkler heads will give unequal applications of irrigation water. It may be necessary to over irrigate with the near sprinkler in order to apply with the distant sprinkler an application that will

Rodeo and old settlers' reunion gets underway

night at the rodeo. The annual event still has two more performances, on Friday and Saturday nights. REVIEW Photo

The big three day sixth annual rodeo and old settlers reunion sponsored by the Yoakum County Roping Club and held at the club arena in Plains was to get underway tonight (Thursday) with rodeo contestants showing their skill in taming wild and elusive stock.

Two more rodeo performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights beginning at 8 p.m.

Saturday, June 26, will be the major day for the event, with a parade led by D'Lois and D'Lynn McGinty, flag bearers, beginning at 10 o'clock that morning. Rodeo officials have asked all persons interested in riding in the parade to assemble in front of the Plains high school building at 9:30 a.m.

Gene Bennet, secretary of the Roping Club is urging all businesses in both Denver City and Plains to have something of interest in the parade. He also stated there is no entry fee for exhibits in the parade.

The parade will proceed down Main Street in Plains, turn north at the Texaco station for one block, then turn back east and continue to the Agriculture and Exhibit Building, where the bountiful barbecue dinner will be served. The Roping Club will be assisted in serving the dinner by ladies of Plains who will furnish potato salad and cherry cobbler.

Calves for the barbecue, donated by Gene Bennett, Sherm Henard, Murphy Luna, Ty Field and Rusty McGinty, were butchered Tuesday. Aiding in the butchering were Bennett, Pat Henard, Robert Henard and Dick McGinty.

Tickets for the rodeo are $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. One ticket Saturday will entitle the bearer to attend the barbecue at noon and the rodeo Saturday night.

Charles Wooten of San Jon, New Mexico, is providing the stock for the rodeo this year, and a good many top notch riders and ropers are expected to be on hand to compete in the various events. Excitement especially for the young at heart, will be provided by the clown, Jake Mitchell.

One of the climaxes of the rodeo will come Saturday night when the Rodeo association will give away an N Porter Saddle to the lucky ticket holder, and the Lions Club will award a Shetland pony which was donated by K. O. Hendricks.

Loan approved for Romain Telephone for Sligo system

P. W. St. Romain of the Romain Telephone Co. received telegrams this week from George Mahon, Lyndon B. Johnson and David Hamill, administrator for R.E.A. telephone division, announcing that a loan to help build a telephone system in the Sligo community has been approved. A part of the loan will be used to enlarge the cable line in Plains and also build another building.

Bids will be open for construction about September 1. When the new plant is completed it will mean about 50 more telephones or families having new modern telephone service into the Plains exchange.

Are home from vacation trip

Mrs. Gus Malmsten and Miss Guinilla Malmsten returned home Friday from an extended vacation trip to point in New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Nevada and California.

In Arizona, they visited in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Al Wolfenberger, Bowie, Mrs. and Mrs. Ray Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Adams, Phoenix, and T. E. Wilkinson of Superior.

They were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore in Burbank, California.

Other points of interest on the return trip were Las Vegas, Boulder Dam, Grand Canyon and Old Town in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Election interest is high

A surge of absentee voting and a stepped up tempo in the race for county offices marked the local primary campaign this week.

With Tuesday midnight the deadline for absentee voting, the county clerk's office reported a total of 180 requests for the ballots—what is believed to be an all-time high.

An above average turnout is expected Saturday as Yoakum County voters go to the polls to cast their ballots for their favorite candidates in the election. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Yoakum County has a total of 2,077 eligible voters who have paid their poll tax, with that number swelled somewhat by those residents holding exemptions. In the last major election year of 1956, a total of 1650 votes were cast, and predictions are that this number may be exceeded Saturday.

In 1954, poll taxes were paid by 1856 persons in the county, with the vote that year running at 1778. Absentees counted for 106, according to the records. In 1950, the total vote was 1456, with 77 absentees voting.

In the Democratic Primary Saturday, Yoakum County voters will find 47 candidates on their ballots (not including precinct chairmen), including 15 contested races. Twenty-one candidates are entered in district and local races.

Incumbents unopposed in their bid for re-election are George Mahon, U. S. Representative from the 19th Congressional District and R. L. Bowers, Jr., state representative from the 89th district. Truett Smith is also unopposed in his bid for district judge of the 106th judicial district, but is making his first run for the office. Judge Louis B. Reed is not a candidate for re-election.

There are three candidates in the race for county judge of Yoakum County, all seeking the spot which currently is filled by Judge Paul New, who was appointed last year and is not a candidate for election. Those on the ballot include:

John Derryberry, former county judge and local real estate dealer; Jerry Paquin, city attorney for Denver City; and Don Hancock, local attorney.

J. W. O. Alldredge, present county and district clerk, is seeking another term to that office, and is opposed by Harold Watson, Denver City businessman.

In the county treasurer's race Mrs. Susan V. (Vicie) Hinkle is seeking her second term, and is running against Mrs. W. R. (Maurine) Wehrend of Denver City, who is making her first bid for political office.

Oscar had gone out in the pasture alone to bring more horses to the house when the accident occurred. After the horse fell, Oscar caught the horse, mounted him and rode back to the house.

He is receiving medical treatment at the Yoakum County Hospital.

Members of the family report that he is doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long and family returned home Sunday from a week's vacation trip spent in Brownwood.

Farmers' meeting on grain sorghum set for Thursday

All Yoakum county farmers are invited to attend a grain sorghum meeting next Thursday evening at 8:30 p.m. in the District courtroom. This meeting is called to acquaint farmers with the workings of a grain sorghum producers association according to Leo White, local county agent.

Mr. Bill Nelson, a representative of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association with headquarters in Amarillo will be present to explain the program next Thursday night. Nelson met with the grain sorghum committee on July 7th and they felt that there was a need for all the farmers of the county to come together and learn about the work of this commodity group. It is very similar in its organization to the Plains Cotton Growers Association. The main purpose is to make it more profitable to produce grain sorghum in this area.

Reporters busy checking farm cotton acreage

Crop reporters have checked approximately 65 percent of the cotton acreage on Yoakum County farms according to W. M. Overton, ASC Office Manager. Four reporters are working in the field. They are Phillip Wilson, Kenneth Blount, Carter Snodgrass, and Harold Smith. Approximately 60 percent of the cotton farms measured to date have been overplanted.

Most of the other farms have near their cotton allotment planted. A small percent of the cotton has been destroyed by wind, hail, rabbits or grasshoppers.

Farmers who are overplanted have 15 days after date of official overplanted notice in which to destroy the excess.

Farmers that do not destroy the excess will be subject to a tax on their excess cotton at a rate of approximately 19 cents per pound.

All farmers are urged to notify the County office within the 15 day time limit if they destroy their excess cotton otherwise under the regulations the farm will be considered an overplanted farm.

It is expected that all farmers in the County will comply with their cotton acreage allotment. No farms in the County remained overplanted in 1957.

Yoakum County has 369 farms with 1958 cotton allotments, 48 wheat allotments and 3 peanut allotments.

bring the soil moisture up to the desired point.

Since with most irrigation systems the total amount of irrigation water applied is a function of time, any over irrigation waste time as well as irrigation water. The objective of the irrigator is to efficiently irrigate as many acres as possible with the available water and to get water to the crop before it suffers. Any waste of water by over irrigation of inefficient application will reduce the amount of land that may be irrigated before the crops suffer and also reduce the water available to irrigate with.

Irrigators that have any questions concerning their irrigation system or the soil moisture of their land should request assistance from Soil Conservation technicians assisting their Soil Conservation District.

Europe duty is offered enlistees in army option

Three reasons for social security taxes explained

When asked why social security taxes were taken out of their pay envelopes many workers recently queried could not come up with the three main reasons, John G. Hutton, district manager of the Lubbock social security office said today.

Most of them knew about old-age benefits, but fewer were aware of survivors' benefits—payments to a worker's dependents in case of his death. Some did not know about disability insurance protection or the worker, and for disabled children.

"Every working person and his family should know that, through his social security tax payments, he is building three-way protection. He should realize that the modest deductions from his pay envelope can provide a monthly income if his earnings are cut off either by old-age, disability, or death," Hutton pointed out.

Social security insurance payments are only a partial replacement of lost earnings. Because most working people are compelled by law to pay social security taxes the measure of protection afforded is greater than it would be if the system was on a voluntary basis—that is a system in which the worker could "join up" and pay the tax, or stay out and pass up protection. By joining with other workers in the social security insurance program and paying social security taxes, all workers share the risk and receive a greater measure of personal and family protection at less cost, Hutton declared.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Denver City on July 31, 1958 at 1:30 p.m. at the City Hall and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to Social Security.

Pest control means higher profit for farmer

Higher net profits may be the reward of Texas High Plains farmers who go all-out to control insect infestations and weeds to produce high quality yields—especially in cotton, W. O. Fortenberry, president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said today.

Fortenberry said there are a number of excellent reasons why cotton growers should take every effort to control weeds and insects this year; for it will pay big dividends to see that a full cotton crop gets to the gin rather than be consumed partly by insects, or choked out by weeds.

First, producers are assured a minimum price of at least $190 per bale (Middling inch) for lint and seed in 1958. The Government loan insures the grower this amount and cotton can sell higher.

Also the subsoil moisture is the best in many years. Farm officials say that subsoil moisture is adequate to insure a better than average crop. With timely rains on non-irrigated land, a record breaking yield could be made.

Cotton insects can be counted on to be a limiting factor in production if they are not controlled. There has been plenty of host plants for the thrips, aphids, fleahoppers and even bollworms to hibernate in or feed on this past winter and spring. Cotton plants will grow and fruit much during June. This is a critical month for these insects to build up. With favorable fruiting and growing conditions, condition also are favorable for insects and the grower must, therefore control insects or have them take a terrific toll from his crop this year.

Weeds also must be eliminated since they rob cotton plants of precious moisture. Fred C. Elliott, Extension Cotton Specialist, says the second highest cost item in cotton production is for grass and weed control.

Last year, Elliott said the cotton producers saved an estimated 16 million by using rotary hoes, chemicals and oil in efforts to keep weeds and grass under control.

Another loss that could be costly to Texas High Plains farmers is lower grades caused by insect "spots." This often amounts to more than $25 per bale and in most cases, the cost of insect control is more than paid for by the reduction in "spots," alone.

Fortenberry also reminded growers that 1958, more than in recent years, is the time to market high quality cotton. "With the demand good and parity higher than last year, the farmer with better quality cotton is certainly going to have higher net profits from his 1958 cotton crop," Fortenberry concluded.

DC-Hobbs will meet in Pony final

Denver City and Hobbs will clash at 8:00 Friday night in the finals of the area Pony League baseball tournament being played at the local ball diamond.

The Denver City team pushed the tournament into an extra game by upsetting the Hobbs line, 4-2, Thursday night. Hobbs had previously defeated the local squad in the tourney 12-5.

Lovington was eliminated in the tournament in the first game Thursday night by the Denver City team, while the Roswell squad was taken out of the running Wednesday night. Pony League tournaments are run on a double elimination basis.

Denver City had to fight an up-hill battle to push the tourney into the extra night, because they had to win both ends of the Thursday night double header to do it. They knocked off Lovington, 14-4, in the first contest, and then took on Hobbs in the night cap.

Buddy Stephenson pitched 2-hit ball for the Denver Citizens against Lovington Thursday night, while his team mates were getting 12 off Jerry Akin and Gary Justis. Mike Hubbard homered for the local team, while Leldon Masters hit a round-tripper for Lovington.

Carl Wendell Beattie hand-cuffed the Hobbs team with only two hits until the seventh inning when he tired and they got two more. He was tough in the clutch and had fine backing from the rest of the club. Denver City scored three times in the fourth and added another in the fifth, while Hobbs made single runs in the third and seventh innings.

Two hits combined with a pair of Hobbs errors gave the local club their scoring in the fourth, and three straight hits in the fifth added another run.

On Wednesday night, Hobbs ran away with the locals, 12-5, when the New Mexicans had two big, five-run innings. Joe Esparza pitched for the local club, and was relieved by Sammy Faulkner in the seventh frame.

In Denver City' first game, on Tuesday night, the local team shut out Roswell 3-0, on a five-hitter by Carl Beattie. James Hooper homered for Denver City in the first inning, and they also scored runs in the second on a walk and a double, and in the fourth on a single and double.

Attendance at the tournament games has been excellent, with a large crowd on hand each evening. The event has progressed smoothly as far as planning is concerned, with much credit due to C. W. "Skin" Rohman, tournament manager, and his assistants.

'Macabre' hits high point in horror; scheduled to be shown here July 27-28

A new high in suspense entertainment is found in Allied Artists' "Macabre," a masterpiece in screen thrills and horror, which will open here on Sunday, July 27, at the Mac Theatre for a two day run, according to the management.

This is the film linked to an unusual life insurance policy. Producers of the picture have undertaken to pay $1000 in the event of death by fright of any member of the audience during the performance.

Arrangements have been made through one of the largest insurance firms, Lloyds of London said the manager. The policy is valid to all except those known to have a heart or nervous condition, the theatre owner said.

A copy of the insurance policy will be available to all residents the manager said, so that persons attending may fill out the insurance form ahead of time. Additional copies will be available at the theatre the nights of the performance, he said.

The picture's superb cast is headed by William Prince, long identified with the stage and screen, who portrays a kindly young doctor against whom multiple tragedy brushes, and Jim Backus, law enforcement officer who once was madly in love with the doctor's wife.

The film opens to reveal the deaths of the doctor's wife and sister-in-law are blamed on his negligence, and as it unfolds there are more mysterious deaths as well as the strange disappearance of his young daughter.

Suspense mounts with the unrolling of each reel, an excitement reaches a high pitch during a midnight search in a fog-shrouded cemetery for the little girl.

Included in the brilliant cast are Philip Tonge as the father of the dead sisters, Linda Guderman as the little girl, Ellen Corby as the housekeeper, Susan Morrow as the widow in whom the doctor finds a romantic interest, and Jacqueline Scott, his nurse who is in love with him.

For the excellence of this picture credit must go to William Castle, who both produced and directed it, and to Robb White who wrote the scenario basing it on a novel by Theo Durrant. The fine photography and brilliant music are a credit to cinematographer Carl Guthrie, Music Composer Les Baxter and Music Editor Sam Waxman.

As a companion feature will be "Hell's Five Hours," starring Stephen McNally, Coleen Gray and Vic Morrow.

The picture a nerve-shattering drama of a crazed "human bomb" who holds a woman and her young son hostage and threatens to blow up the entire community, has been hailed by reviewers as one of the screen's all-time great suspense stories.

"Hell's Five Hours" tells how McNally, manager of a large plant that manufactures a secret rocket fuel, lives through a terrifying nightmare when his wife, Coleen Gray, and young son played by Ray Ferrell are kidnapped by the insane killer, Morrow and held hostage on the grounds of the plant.

Motor vehicle safety responsibility law only moderately understood

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported today that a Texas law, only moderately understood by the general public, has directly affected one-fourth of our drivers since being passed six years ago.

The law is the Motor Vehicle Safety-Responsibility Act which went into effect Jan. 1, 1952, requiring drivers and vehicle owners involved in traffic accidents to show proof of financial responsibility.

The information released by J. B. Alderdice, manager of Safety Responsibility, states that more than 550,000 traffic accidents have come under the law since it has been in existence. Specifically, the law requires drivers and vehicle owners to show proof of financial responsibility, that is, the ability to pay damages—if traffic accident damage to the property of any person is 100 or more or if a person is injured or killed. It applies to all drivers and vehicle owners, regardless of fault, involved in such accidents.

This is apart from the requirement of another law for a person to file an accident report with the Texas DPS when involved in an accident in which there is a minimum of $25 aggregate, or total, damage to property, or if a person is injured or killed. This report merely lists the facts surrounding the accident, vehicles and drivers.

The Safety-Responsibility Act is designed to protect the rights of the driving public. It requires the operator of a vehicle, who is to blame in an accident, to show he is financially able to satisfy any judgments for damages assessed against him.

A driver, or vehicle owner, is not affected by the law until becoming involved in a traffic accident. When the accident occurs, the driver and the vehicle owner may satisfy the requirements of the law by doing one of the following things: (1) showing that he is properly covered by a motor vehicle liability insurance policy, (2) depositing with the Texas Department of Public Safety sufficient money to pay any judgment for damages up to $15,000 resulting from the accident as may be recovered against each operator or owner. (This deposit will be refunded after one year when satisfactory evidence has been filed with the Texas DPS that no action for damages has been started during that period.), (3) showing that he has been released from liability by all injured or damaged persons, (4) showing he has been finally adjudicated not to be liable in a civil suit for damages in a court of competent jurisdiction, or (5) showing he has signed a written agreement with all injured or damaged parties providing for payment of an agreed amount in installments of all claims up to $15,000.

No action is taken against the driver or owner if he complies with one of the five items. Should he fail to comply, the operator's license of the driver and the registration of all vehicles of the owner will be suspended as required by the act.

The suspension will remain in effect for one year from the date of the traffic accident provided no civil suit for damages has been filed against the vehicle owner or driver. If a legal suit has been filed, the suspensions will remain in effect until the case is tried.

Should a judgment for damages be rendered against the driver and/or owner, the suspension will remain effective unless the judgment is satisfied. If he does not satisfy the judgment within 60 days, he will be faced with the additional demand to show proof of future financial responsibility with the Texas DPS.

This proof may be shown by

(1) obtaining the proper liability insurance, (2) depositing $15,000 in securities with the State Treasurer, (3) filing with the department a real estate bond signed by two persons, each owning real estate valued at $15,000 and free of encumbrances. This proof must be maintained for three years from the date required.

The minimum insurance policy required by the Safety-Responsibility Law is what is commonly known as five, ten and five—$5,000 covering injury or death of one person, $10,000 covering injury or death of two or more persons and $5,000 covering property damage.

In another provision of the law, the Texas Department of Public Safety is required to suspend the registration of all motor vehicles registered in the name of a person convicted of any motor vehicle felony. This type of felony includes such items as negligent homicide, driving while intoxicated, hit and run and aggravated assault with a motor vehicle.

The convicted person may retain his vehicle registrations however, if he immediately gives and maintains for three years, proof of financial responsibility with respect to all his motor vehicles. In such cases, his driver license will be returned at the end of the mandatory suspension period.

Political Announcement

Dear friends of Yoakum County:

I started this campaign with the intention of trying to see every one in Yoakum County if possible. Now that the time for the election is drawing near, I feel certain that I will not be able to; for this I am very sorry. I have made an effort, but somehow there was not enough time without neglecting the work in my office.

I am so very grateful for having the honor and privilege of serving as your County Treasurer for this term. Won't you please re-elect me for a second term?

Very sincerely,
Mrs. Susan V. (Vicie)

Membership drive is currently underway by cemetery association

The membership drive is still being conducted by the Cemetery Association in an effort to gain more members and bring the total to 200.

The Yoakum County Cemetery Association was organized late in 1957 with G. W. Cleveland, Jr., being elected president.

The purpose of the organization is to administer and enlarge the cemetery at Plains. The original five acre plot, donated to the public by the late W. J. Luna in 1907, will be inadequate in a very short time. In order to obtain more land, we must have a membership of 200. The dues are $5.00 annually per household. I am deeply grateful for the friendship and loyal support the people of Yoakum County have given me. I have endeavored to merit that support by assuming and performing the duties of the office of County and District Clerk honestly, efficiently and courteously. The Auditor's Report shows all fees accounted for, our books in balance and our records in excellent condition. Liability policy most important car insurance

Of all the kinds of insurance you buy for your car—collision, comprehensive, fire and theft, medical payments, etc.—bodily injury and property liability policies are the most important, according to the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. In a copyrighted article appearing in the February issue, the editors declare that the hazard these liability policies protect against is by far the most serious.

Perhaps you could survive the loss of a $3,000 car, even though it would be a heavy blow. But one careless second, one unexpected mechanical failure could lead to a $50,000 damage suit and financial ruin, the editors go on to say.

In two states, Massachusetts and New York, you can't register a car unless you have liability insurance. Most other states require that any driver involved in an accident must either produce a liability policy or post a large sum of money or property. Thus the average car owner is in effect required to carry it, even though he cannot technically become a law violator until he is in an accident.

How much should you have? A $5,000/$10,000 policy, for instance, would protect you up to $5,000 for injury to anyone person and up to $10,000 for anyone for any one accident. Either a 5/10 (as these policies are described), or a 10/20 with $5,000 property-damage protection will satisfy legal requirements in most places. But say the editors, 5/10 is not enough, and 10/20 is skimpy. Any average driver should carry at least 25/50, if he can possibly swing the premium and 50/100 wouldn't be out of line. People of even modest means should consider going higher than that, claim the editors.

Once juries awarded $5,000 or $10,000 for bodily injuries. Nowadays verdicts of $25,000 or $50,000 are not uncommon, and 000 are not uncommon, and awards have run as high as $100,000 or more.

Fortunately, the additional protection is not expensive. The big amount comes in the basic premium; pushing the limits of liability up a notch costs relatively little. For instance, rates for this kind of insurance in one locality increase only 21 per cent from 10/20 to 50/100, but the increase in protection is a whopping 400 per cent.

Don't compromise on liability protection in order to carry physical-damage protection or extra endorsements, warn the editors. Adequate liability insurance always comes first.

Tuesday morning officers were elected as follows: Michael Say, Groves, Texas, Chieftan, and Ronald Meeks, Gainsville, Texas, Boy Chaplain.

At the UN, Mr. Orloff, a chief interpreter, told them some interesting facts about the interpretation of the speeches into the five official languages.

After lunch a member of the Secretariat explained the technical assistance program of the UN. A UNICEF representative told them what the UN is doing for the children of the world. Again they attended a session of the Trusteeship Council.

Tuesday night they ate supper at the International house, home of 525 foreign and American students from sixty-seven countries.

On Wednesday they had a session with a representative from the American Association for UN, an organization whose purpose is to inform the American public about the participation of the US in the UN and they talked with a representative from the United States mission to the UN. In the afternoon, they took a three hour boat around Manhattan Island, and in the evening, saw a Broadway play.

Thursday the group was divided into nine parts and each group visited two different missions of UN's member countries. Thursday night, they were taken on a guided tour through Rockefeller Center and the Texas delegation saw the Andy Williams' TV show.

Friday morning at the UN, Mr. Weatherington told them about the operation of the UN Emergency Force.

After lunch at Sloane House, YMCA, the group was divided into five parts for a speaking contest. The subject of a speech was, "What about the UN impressed me most." A best boy and girl speaker was chosen from each group to compete in the finals. The best girl speaker of the week was Mary Ester Bazaldua of San Antonio, Texas, while Mark Price of Oklahoma was chosen the best boy speaker. Friday night at Radio City Music Hall, they saw Extravaganza of Rockettes, a stage show and movie.

Roosevelt Estate and Vanderbilt mansion at Hyde Park, Niagara Falls and Lake Ontario, the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, Michigan, the Lincoln Memorial and Lincoln's home in Springfield, Illinois and the Will Rober's Memorial in Claremore, Oklahoma.

Brenda stated that the true value of such an experience cannot be expressed in words. From it was gained many new friendships and a better understanding of the purposes and abilities of the United Nation in establishing lasting world peace.

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Loyd were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Carr of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. John West and son of Wink.

THIS I Believe :

A County Judge is a COUNTY servant and he must work for the common good of all the people of the County.

The people of this County and of the United States must develop leaders, as well as scientists, for tomorrow.

Giving young people responsibility is the best way to make them good citizens and leaders of tomorrow.

Any job seeker should be able and willing to grow to his job and then to develop himself for bigger jobs.

Incentive in a public servant is your guarantee that his job will be done well.

Since everything about us is moving forward, we must go forward also or we are actually going backward.

Any worthwhile job should be pushed — not ridden.

Yoakum County is one of the most Democratic, soundest, fastest growing counties in the U.S., and needs aggressive, intelligent leaders and representatives.

A County Judge should be a Mayor, a one-man Chamber of Commerce, a Judge and an Older Brother to children in trouble.

To lead, a man must have his finger on the pulse of the present — not the past.

A County judge should provide positive Leadership for the county.

The United States should give on-the-job training to its leaders of tomorrow — as well as its scientists of tomorrow.

A man who asks for an opportunity to serve is Duty-Bound to serve with his whole heart.

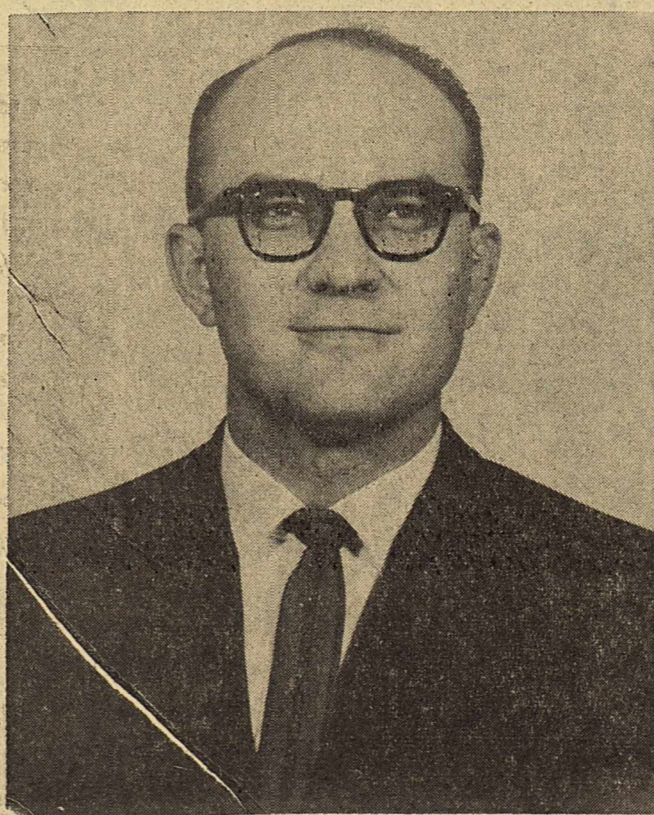

A County judge should be a peacemaker — with a spine.

A County Judge should be able to solve ANY problem of the people or of the county.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Everyone loves a picnic. And this is the picnic season!

Some outdoors lovers are content to make it a twosome. Hundred of families make it strictly a family affair. Also there are some mighty big Texas-size picnics—when as many as a dozen families get together to make a full day of it.

Whether you prefer a party or a huge crowd, the time for full enjoyment of the great outdoors in Texas has arrived. Tie it in with boating, skiing or fishing and it will be even more enjoyable.

For outdoor fun at its best take along a tent and camping gear and make it a real weekend of honest-to-goodness relaxation. Thousands of Texans discovered long ago that camping is an exciting and economical way to spend an enjoyable vacation. So, don't overlook the possibilities of several days or even weeks of camping out under the Texas skies.

Texas has 49 State Park of which 32 have camping facilities. There are hundreds of lakes and rivers plus the magnificent Golden Gulf Coast. Add to these attractions the beautiful forest of East Texas and the beautiful mountains of West Texas—and the Longhorn State seems to possess most everything. All tempt the tourist, the camper, and the picnic lover.

No wonder the interest in our great outdoors is on the increase. It is there to be enjoyed—and our people are enjoying it.

Try it yourself at your very next opportunity.

PICNICS MADE EASY—Dehydrated foods are making it easier on the outdoors people. These packaged products have proved very helpful to the picnickers and overnight campers who have their own camp stoves.

Quick-fix drinks, soups, and milks are mighty handy for the camper. Nowadays you can get "instant" tea, coffee, cocoa, milk and malted milk. Almost any kind of soup is available. Texas' own Lipton Tea Co. of Galveston produces a wide variety of soups in envelopes of 2 and 4 oz. weights that will serve up to four people per envelope. All you have to do is add water and heat to a boiling point.

Today nearly any grocer can supply you with instant mashed potatoes, instant rice, etc. Ketchup, jellies and jams also are available in space-saving plastic envelopes. In fact new foods or old foods in new packages—ideal for campers—are coming in the market almost every week.

To add further pleasure and convenience to your picnic the Coleman Co. now has a Pak-Table—a folding picnic table that's truly remarkable. When the table is collapsed it measures only about three feet square by a few inches thick. Yet it contains four folding seats and enough space to stow cooking utensils, tableware and groceries. Furthermore it more it makes a very attractive package.

Coleman also has a new cooler, the Snow-Lite. It comes in flashy pink or green. The cooler is light weight yet rugged.

Although it is designed primarily to keep drinks and food cool Coleman has a good suggestion for fishermen. Their recommendation is that fish be cleaned and iced just as fast as they are caught.

All that's necessary is for the fisherman to place a layer of ice in the bottom of the cooler, then take the cooler along with him in the boat. As he catches fish, he simply cuts around the gill collars and down the belly, twists off the head, rinses the stomach cavity and pops the cleaned fish into the cooler. No trouble, no spoiled fish, and half the cleaning chore done before he gets home.

Sure beats lifting a stringer in and out of the water every time you make a catch or decide to move to a new location. Most important, however, is the fact that it keeps fish as fresh as when they came out of the water.

Any cooler will do, of course, but Coleman's plastic-lined cooler is ideal for this purpose because it's easy to clean. A spoonful of ammonia in the wash water and an hour in the sun will remove the fish smell.

Incidentally, this Wichita, Kansas, firm has a free 40-page booklet entitled "More Fun Outdoors." It contains many fishing, camping, cooking and travel tips.

OCEAN CRUISE—Two Texans both Admirals in the Texas Navy, are England bound in an 18-foot boat powered by outboard motors.

The 4,200 mile voyage will be made in a fiberglass cabin cruiser, the newest product of the Whitehouse Boat Co. of Fort Worth. Whitehouse calls it The Lark Liner. The Admirals have named it The Dream Girl. It is equipped with two 35-hp Buccanier motors, made by Gale Products Co. of Galesburg, Ill. Special tanks have been installed in the stern of the boat to provide for 420 gallons of gasoline.

James Pirtle and Roy Sutter are the two ocean-crossing Texans who are making the long voyage out of Cambridge, Mass. They expect to make the trip in 10 days.

BETTER EATING—Next time you land one of those big yellow cats and want to make it into one of the juiciest meals, drain the blood through his tail before you cut him up.

Usual procedure is to make the kill with an ice pick through the top of his head, between the eyes, then slice off the tail just above the tail fin and hang him up by his head. All the blood then will drain through the tail and make for better looking, better tasting meat.

SKINNING THE CAT—Most fishermen skin the catfish before storing in the deep freeze. But not many of them skin their bass.

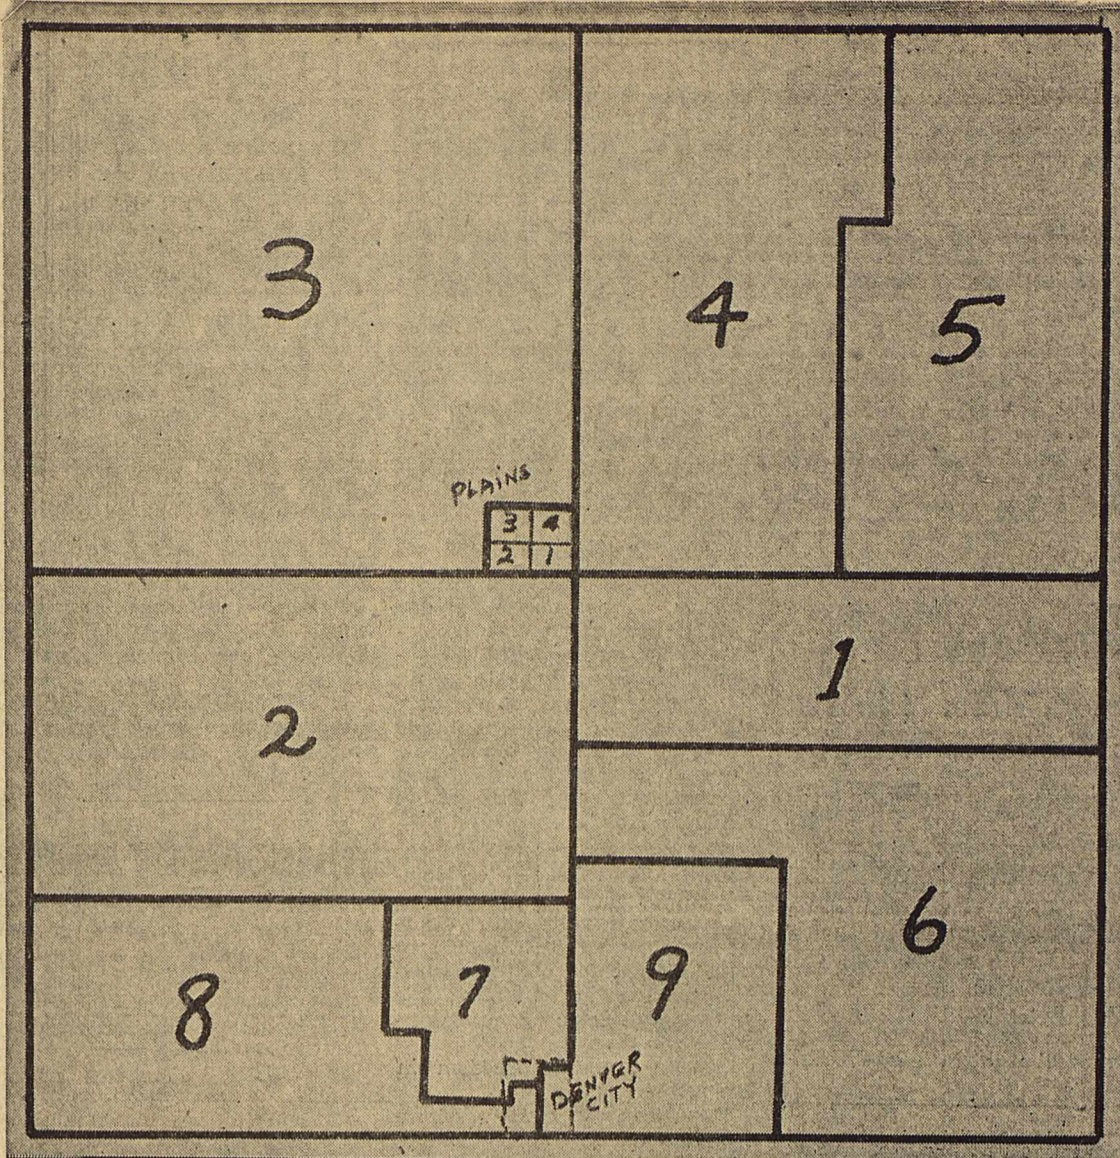

Here's how one fellow does it. He follows the usual procedure of removing the fish's insides and head—but he doesn't scale it. Instead he wraps the fish in foil with scales on, and drops it in the deep freeze. When he is ready to cook he peels the skin, scales and all, off the fish, much like you skin a catfish. Much quicker, much easier than scraping off the scales, he says, and better eating too. Ever try it?

in Judea

This is he of whom it is written, the voice of one crying in the wilderness and saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom is at hand. Here John, a great preacher, warned the throng to prepare the way of the Lord, to make His paths straight. Great preachers today plead with us to be ready, for we know not the hour when the son of man cometh. Here, as in Judea where John spoke, men openly defy God, attack His church and its program of service and display contempt for His cause on the earth. Woe be it to those who take Him lightly, or to those who never take Him at all. Worldly gain at the expense of Heavenly loss, isn't much gain. You may be sure, Brother, at the opportune hour, His chosen moment, — He, whose fan is in His hand, will thoroughly purge His floor.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

By Sen. Lyndon Johnson

American forces were sent to Lebanon for one reason and one reason only—to preserve the independence of a strife-torn nation. The action was taken on the appeal of the Lebanese government. It followed a tragic series of events in the Middle East—an area of the world that is crucial in the struggle to maintain freedom.

The armed forces of the United States have been committed. At the present time, no one can foresee the future clearly. But, whatever the future may hold in store for us, the American people will be united. We will make it clear to the aggressors that this country is determined to maintain freedom in the world.

Free men are capable of attaining the highest form of unity and of meeting any test no matter how severe.

The cold war continues. The basic communist objective in this cold war is the isolation of the United States. The communists have made frightening progress during the thirteen years since the end of World War II. If they now succeed in their aim of isolating the United States, we will have lost the cold war.

And if we should lose the cold war, we will have lost just about everything that is important to us, except life itself, without a shot having been fired.

World trade is a potent weapon in the cold war between the free nations and the communist areas. In addition, the two-way flow of trade between the United States and other countries vitally affects the economic well-being of our people.

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program, up for consideration in the Senate this week, was initiated in 1934 and has been extended at regular intervals since then. It is an important and necessary program, one of tremendous importance to the Nation and of particular importance to Texas.

Many jobs in Texas depend—directly and indirectly—on the buying and selling of goods between the United States and other nations. These jobs are in industry, in agriculture, in the important Texas ports and in business organizations that sell products and services to Texans employed in foreign trade occupations.

The one purpose of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program is to increase the flow of commerce between the United States and other nations. It is based on the simple fact that if we are to be able to sell to other nations we must be prepared to buy from other nations.

The trade program works. The United States is now selling some twenty billion dollars worth of goods annually to the rest of the world.

Lions Club meets Thursday noon

Regular meeting of the Plains Lions Club last Thursday was attended by quite a number of members and guests.

Following the luncheon the group heard a fine report on the United Nations Pilgrimage by Miss Brenda Sudderth. Brenda's trip to New York by way of Washington, D. C. was sponsored by the Odd Fellows and Rebekah. A complete account of her travels may be found elsewhere in this issue.

Plans were completed for sale of tickets and presentation of the pony donated by K. O. Hendrick to the club. The pony will be given away next Saturday night at the rodeo to the person holding the winning number drawn.

The Lions Club will have charge of the gate and for parking at each performance of the rodeo.

Thoughts by Jerry

The frantic scurrying of the candidates is nearly over for the first round. The worries, qualms and wondering are now seizing your otherwise calm candidates. All, including me, are hoping for the best and fearing for the worst. BE SURE and cast YOUR vote.

If you fail to vote for the candidates of your choice, you are voting against him or her by not voting. Figure it out. If five people were for A and five for B, and the five for A all voted and only four voted for B, then A would win because of the person that failed to cast a ballot. This has been a vigorous campaign and a wonderful experience. I feel that I know Yoakum County better and have met a lot of fine folks.

I have promised to make a fair, impartial county-wide judge for everyone, to work hard and be a FULL TIME county judge. I have promised to work diligently on our county problems, especially our growing juvenile problems, and to be available to counsel with you at all times. With God's help, I will try to make you a good judge.

Thanks to all the people who have given me encouragement, been friendly, and otherwise assisted me.

'Agricade' to be farm show theme at state fair

The astounding transformation of the Texas farm during one almanac existence into a dynamic mechanized activity will be the dramatic theme of the State Fair of Texas' 1958 Agriculture Show in Dallas, Oct. 4-19.

Title of the 1958 farm show will be 'Agricade—A Generation of Farm Progress.' Ray W. Wilson, State Fair's agriculture manager, announced this week.

"The 1958 Agricade will portray the vast changes that have swept through Texas agriculture during the last 33 years, specifically since the industrial awakening after World War I."

He pinpointed mechanization as the key to all the drastic farm changes, "the galvanizing force that has during a single lifetime jerked agriculture from the practices of the Medieval Ages."

"Agricade's central exhibit will contrast today's machines against yesterday's crude horse and hand-powered tools," he said.

"Utilizing models and antiques in colorful contrast, the central exhibit will run the full agricultural scale from preparation and cultivation of the land through harvesting and transportation, improved crops and livestock, to the farm and the farm home, itself."

Mr. Wilson said that the central exhibit faithfully would depict the tremendous changes in farm size, population, tenancy, tractors and horses and mules. "During the last generation the number of farm in Texas has dropped almost one-half—from approximately 2,340,000 to 1,250,000," he continued. "And the size of the farm has doubled from 251 to 498 acres."

He said the number of farmers has dropped from almost 500,000 to fewer than 30,000. Tenancy has declined 75 percent from 300,000. Tractors have increased almost 650 per cent—from 37,000 to 277,000; and horses and mules have declined from 1,800,000 head to 300,000.

"The 1958 Agricade will depict faithfully the social conditions resulting from the full impact of these changes. In addition, the Agricade also will present the colorful, 3-dimensional story of the twelve Texas Agricultural Extension Service Districts in the state," Mr. Wilson concluded.

PCG directors hold important meeting at Lamesa; record turnout reported

Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. voted Thursday night to support the principles and objectives of cotton legislation that would most nearly conform to those set forth in the American Cotton Producers Associates' bill, commonly called the Compensatory Payment bill.

The PCG directors vote came at that group's called July Board Meeting held in Lamesa. It was the largest attendance ever recorded at a PCG Board Meeting. Ninety-three directors, members and visitors attended.

W. O. Fortenberry, PCG President, in explaining the group's position on cotton legislation said that directors had instructed the legislative committee and Executive vice President George Pfeifferberger to work with other cotton groups for the best legislation possible.

In referring to present legislation, Fortenberry said the PCG neither endorsed nor condemned the Senate bill. He explained High Plains farmers were concerned over abandoning the parity principle and would favor a provision or amendment on light spotted cotton in connection with the Senate bill.

Wilmer Smith, Vice President, said it was the consensus among cotton producers present at the meeting that they would like to see the Senate bill introduced and brought onto the Senate floor.

Roy B. Davis, Lubbock County PCG Director, expressed the opinion that the most important feature of the Senate bill was the abandonment of parity as the base for price support and he warned farmers to consider this point before giving parity up. He also added that the proposed cotton acreage cut in 1959 if no legislation is enacted might not be as great as some cotton leaders fear. He explained that acreage allotment might fall between 14 and 15 million acres down from the present 17.4 million acres.

Frank Moore, Hale County producer, suggested the PCG not endorse any particular cotton bill, but work toward the best bill possible. Roy Mack of Western Cotton Oil Co., Lubbock, said his organization had taken no position on the Senate bill, but would like to see it put on the Senate floor for further discussion and possible amendments.

In other PCG business Thursday, directors approved a by-laws change so that producer members only would elect producer directors in each county and businessmen only would elect the businessman director in each county. Previously farmers and businessmen could vote for each other. Smith explained this by-law change would give the PCG a true farmer delegate, named and elected by farmers only.

Other PCG business consisted of reports on membership, education and promotion, Bracero Committee report, research projects, including the pilot spinning plant at Texas Tech, the AUSTIN, Tex.—Focus interest in Texas this week is not on the State Capitol.

It's all over Texas in a school building or a fire station or a church house—wherever a man stands in a little pasteboard booth with a piece of paper and a blunt pencil.

In the booth is a man who looks like an average unimportant sort of guy. Chances are he's not very rich, not very interested in politics as a rule. But John Q. Poll-Tax-Payer is the most important man in Texas this week. With a few strokes of his pencil Saturday he'll decide who'll be who in Texas for the next two years or more.

When John Q. glances down the ballot he may see a number of names he's never heard of. He'll pause scratch his head, wonder which name "sounds best," finally shrug, make a mark and go on.

High Plains Field Station at Halfway, and the fertilization program at the Lubbock Experiment Station.

Officers announced the PCGs annual meeting will be held at 10 A. M. August 29 in the Municipal Auditorium on Tech Campus. Details on this meeting will be announced shortly.

E. D. David and Ben Dopson, Dawson County PCG Directors, served as hosts and arranged the Lamesa meeting. Future PCG Board Meetings will be held in other area towns.

Such a possibility gives office seekers the cold shakes. For fear their name may yet be unknown to some, they'll try to be everywhere at once this week.

In addition, a lot of people will be pleading with John Q. to come back to the polling place Saturday evening for his Democratic precinct convention. Gov. Price Daniel, supported by moderate-conservative party officials, is asking him to come and vote for "majority rule." Opposing the governor are the liberal Democrats of Texas who want John to join their drive to assure that "only real Democrats shall participate in Democratic party affairs."

Nobody can positively predict what John will do. Past records show that some years he feels liberal; some years conservative. And some years, both ways at the same time.

OIL QUOTA UP AGAIN—Texas oil allowable for August will be 328,185 barrels a day more than for July—a hopeful sign for an industry that's been "in the dumps" for more than a year.

Railroad Commission set next month's allowable at 2,978,058 barrels daily. Number of producing days will be increased from 9 to 11. Last month production rose from its all time low of 8 days.

Reason for the increase was not so much the disturbance in the oil-producing Middle East, said one commissioner, as the fact that Texas had finally reduced its excess oil stock to correct level.

INSURANCE BOARD UPHELD—State Insurance Board finally scored a technical knock-out in its prolonged bout with an Austin district judge.

Texas Supreme Court ruled that Judge Charles O. Betts did not have authority to name V. F. Taylor receiver for insurance cases in his court. High court says the receiver must be the state liquidator appointed by the Insurance Board.

Board had appointed C. H. Langdeau as state liquidator. Judge Betts said he did not regard Langdeau as acceptable. He named Taylor receiver for cases in his court.

Supreme Court also ruled void Betts' action in raising salaries of liquidation attorneys working on cases in his court.

Division of authority between the courts and Insurance Department over insurance company liquidation has been a source of dissension for years.

50-50 PLAN—State Highway Department will reimburse cities and counties half the court costs of securing land for state and U. S. highway building.

Up until last year costs of obtaining right of way were borne solely by local governments. Last Legislature passed a law authorizing the state to share the cost 50-50 with cities and counties.

At first this was construed to mean the state would pay half the cost of purchasing the land. Now it has been expanded to include half of court costs and appraisers' fees.

MORE PRISON COTTON—An increase of 10.88 per cent has been ordered in the Texas Prison System's cotton acreage allotment.

Officials of the Texas system had been actively dissatisfied, contending the prison farms had been dealt a bigger-than-average cut. Less production means less money for operating the prisons, they pointed out, and, hence, greater cost to Texas taxpayers.

On their behalf, the Texas Attorney General's Department appealed to the Agricultural Stabilization Committee and, finally, to federal court.

Adjustment obtained will mean 384 more acres of prison cotton can be harvested. It'll save $100,000 in tax money, prison officials estimate.

CITY TAX PROPOSALS—City officials are laying plans to ask the next Legislature to extend and adjust city taxing powers.

Legislative committee of the League of Texas Municipalities has drawn up a two-pronged proposal to:

1. Allow cities to broaden their tax base and lighten the burden on property owners.

2. Substitute another tax to be collected at time of auto registration for the present "unworkable" property tax on cars. SCHOOL FUND FIGHT—A rough-and-tumble time can be expected next year when lawmakers consider just how permanent the permanent school fund should be.

Rep. Louis Dugas of Orange has announced he will introduce a bill which would allow the state to use part of the revenue from school lands for current expenses instead of putting it all into the permanent fund.

Dugas was author of a bill last session to divert 1 per cent of the permanent fund each year to the available fund.

State School Board and numerous other school officials have come out strongly against all moves to tap the school's multi-million-dollar endowment. They compare it to "eating the seed corn."

REPORT ON 'RAINY DAYS'—Texas Employment Commission's report for the first half of this year showed that 185,000 Texans received jobless benefits.

Payment totaled $38,164,378 for this period.

Advanced course in science, math finished by Pierce

Jack Pierce, of Plains, has recently completed an intensive course of advanced mathematics and science instruction provided by S. F. Austin State College under a Federal government grant. Mr. Pierce was one of 50 persons selected from hundreds of applicants for training June 5 to July 15 at the summer mathematics and science institute at SFA. He received a grant sufficient to defray the costs of room, board, tuition, travel expenses.

The $50,000 grant by the National Science Foundation to SFA was the second in as many years.

Dr. Harold Abbott, head of the SFA chemistry department, served as director of the institute, which was designed to give high school and college mathematics and science teachers instruction in the latest educational developments. Prominent teachers from throughout the nation served as visiting lecturers.

The first few days of the institute were devoted to a study of general mathematics and scientific concepts. The remainder of the time was devoted to concentrated study in one of the fields of biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics.

Mr. Pierce concentrated in chemistry.

ACROSS THE CATTLE GUARD

by LEO W. WHITE
County Agent

4-H club members came into the Livestock Exhibit Building last Saturday morning with 43 head of beef calves. Every calf was weighed before they were taken to the judging arena in three groups for some practice showing. All eight of the calves being fed for the State Fair in Dallas were there. Thirty five of the 49 calves being fed for the local show were present for the July weigh day.

Standing first, second and third in the gain contest were two Fitzgerald girls with three calves. Dianne Fitzgerald has a Hereford steer named Hot Shot that gained 226 pounds during the 63 days of the contest. Her calf started the contest on May 17th weighing 375 pounds and weighed in last Saturdays at 601. His daily average for the 63 day period is 3.58 pounds, which is exceptionally good. We cannot get an accurate comparison with the calves last year because we did not weigh the calves last year on the 63rd day. The third weighing last year was 78 days after the beginning of the contest and the leading calf had gained 240 pounds for an average of 3.08 pounds per day.

In order to gain three pounds a day during this 63 day period, a calf would have to gain 189 pounds. Six of the calves brought in last Saturday had gained in excess of three pounds a day. They were: Hot Shot owned by Dianne Fitzgerald, 226; Bingo, 203 and Buck Shot, 195, both owned by Linda Fitzgerald; Billy, owned by Frances Henard, 192; Champ, owned by Jack Sprawls, 191; and Play Boy, also owned by Frances Henard, gained 190 pounds.

The calves, as a group, are doing very well with only five animals falling under the two pounds a day mark which is usually considered satisfactory feeding. Loretta Taylor, who had the high gaining calf last month, was not present and there are four calves entered in the gain contest that have never been weighed since the beginning date. It is quite possible that we will have to reset our goal after this year. The way it looks now, there is a possibility of much as 700 pounds between the third Saturday in May and the February weigh-in.

The gains have been lighter on the eight calves being fed for the Dallas Fair in October. Most of these calves can gain another 150 pounds before they leave here on October 12th. Here is how they weighed in last Saturday morning: Margaret Henard, 894; Marsha White, 834; D'Lois McGinty, 773; Harold Lee Swann, 754; Jay Bryson, 733; Rex Swann, 735; D'Lynn McGinty, 728; and Kenneth McGinty 654. Most of these calves were put on feed in December and January and they have more finish than the other calves which makes for slower gains.

We know from experience that the calf which gains fast during the early part of the feed period does not always continue at that rate and come out the winner. Some of them fatten earlier than others which slow down their gain during the latter part of the feeding period. The calf that usually wins is one that starts out at a moderate rate and winds up with a bang. The last usually tells the story but there are exceptions to all rule. We will weigh every month but we cannot tell who wins the gain contest until the weigh-in at the show next February.

County raises bounty on rabbits

The rabbits may not know it yet, but the price on their heads (or rather, ears) has been doubled.

Meeting in a special session Monday, the commissioners' court decided to raise the bounty on jack rabbits to 10 cents per pair of ears, effective August 1. It had previously been set at five cents.

At the same time, the commissioners discontinued the bounty paid for coyotes.

Authorization to pay the planning fee of $1,286.70 for the Plains Clinic to Stiles, Roberts, Gee and Messersmith, architects, was given, and the court approved payment of $56.80 to the hospital and $30 to Dr. J. E. Sharp for medical bills of J. F. Webber. The court also okayed payment of $202.30 to the hospital, $12.50 to Dr. R. E. Tinley and $75 to Dr. Keller Greenfield on the account of Willie Navarette.

Homespun Hints

By Myrna Marshall
County H. D. Agent

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station released the results of research on floor coverings often used in homes. They tested the wearing of six types: solid sheet vinyls rubber tiles, vinyl-asbestos tiles, linoleums, and cork and asphalt tiles.

In the tests rubber tile and solid vinyl showed less wear than any material tested. Linoleums, vinyl-asbestos tile and cork didn't wear as well as rubber tiles and solid vinyl, but showed less wear than asphalt tiles.

Most housewives think that waxing will increase the ability to withstand wear. Only linoleum and cork withstood wear better when waxed. Asphalt tiles tended to wear more when mopped and waxed often.

The time for freezing fruits and vegetables for the home food freezer is here. A timely bulletin entitled Frozen Foods is available in my office.

Mrs. T. E. Coke, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coke of Midland, is taking an extended trip through south Texas and part of Louisiana, visiting relatives.

Shell Pipe Line to build extension

The Shell Pipe Line Corporation yesterday announced plans for construction of a crude oil pipe line extending its facilities from Colorado City, Texas, to fields in the Borden-Garza County Area of West Texas.

The project will consist of approximately 43 miles of 8-inch diameter trunk line and tankage will be located at the Northwestern terminus of the trunk line, in Garza County.

Construction will start in about six weeks, with completion scheduled for December 1, 1958.

Two feature races on tap at 'Downs'

"The Bright Eyes" and "The Jim Carter Oil Co. Handicap" are featured during the three days of racing coming up at the 'Downs' July 25, 26, and 27. The Ruidosa oval moves into its ninth week-end of racing with the running of the Quarter Horse Stakes, honoring Bright Eyes, the glass-eyed mare who raced her way to a place as one of our all-time greats.

The early favorite for this event appears to be Vanetta Dee, classy daughter of Vandy, belonging to Mrs. Betty Jo Kiser of Los Alamitos, Calif. This steady running mare won over $16,000 during the '57 season and was good enough to turn back the mighty Go Man Go this spring in the Los Alamitos Quarter Horse Championship. This feat netted her the tidy sum of $11,200.

Blonde Joan, representing O.

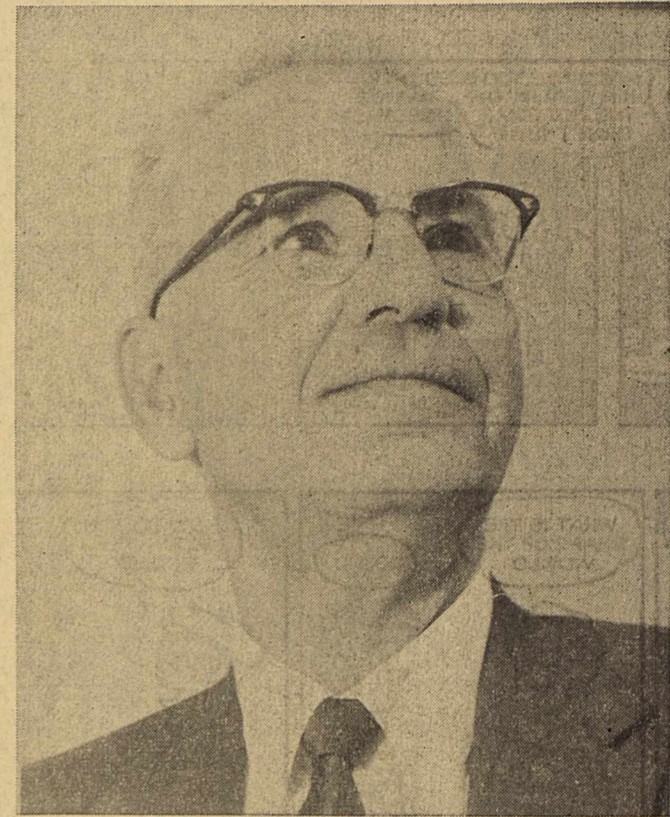

S. Carlton III of Houston, Texas, is another eligible for the race, and should she improve a bit from last year's form might be formidable competition for any horse. Winner of six races and over $8,000 in '57 this fine filly has started only once this year. Doll Up, owned by J. T. Rice of Windermere, Florida is capable of running with the best. Trouble Gal, racing for Greet Lewis of Nogales, Arizona, was a winner at Alamitos the past meet. Lady Leo winner of the '56 Ruidosa Quarter Horse Maturity, would have a chance on one of her better races, Easter Rose, Cherry Barta, Garcia Doll, Baby Duchess and Allie Whit are other possible starters.

The "Jim Carter Oil Company Handicap" will be decided at the popular sprint distance of 5 1/2 furlongs and will bring out the best sprinters stabled at the 'Downs'. Liveitup owned by R. E. Hirst, has been the horse to beat in the majority of the better ones, this season and will probably be the best liked horse in a event. A jewel of consistency, this hard running son of Fair Truckie is always hard to beat and seldom runs a dull race. Sistory, belonging to J. R. Bassett of Globe, Ariz., prefers this short distance and when everything is just right is hard to down. Dream Mint representing C & M. Davis of Dexter, N. Mex., is about the most improved horse at the 'Downs' since her coaching is being done by ex-jockey R. D. Hay. This six-year-old daughter of Gray Dream continues to move up in class and humble her competition. No Gal is improving and must be conceded a chance in this kind of a race.

STOCKS AND BONDS

The phrase "stocks and bonds" is pretty familiar to most Americans whether they own any of them or not. The phrase has been used so often that many persons don't realize that there is a difference between stocks and bonds.

When you buy a share of stock in a corporation, you become a part owner of it. You own a share of everything the corporation has. If there are 1,000 shares outstanding and you own one share, you have an "undivided" one thousandth share in the corporation. This means that no particular piece of the corporation's property is yours but that you have an interest in every piece of property.

When you buy a corporation's bond, you are lending money to the corporation. You do not own any part of it. The corporation promises to pay you interest on the loan and to return your money the bond "matures."

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder usually has no voice in how the corporation is managed or in selection of the corporation officers. However, the bondholder receives his interest payments before any money is paid to the stockholder. He must be paid even if there is then nothing left to pay dividends to the stockholders.

If the corporation quits doing business or goes bankrupt, the bondholders are repaid for their loan before any of the investment of the stockholders is returned.

Perhaps you have heard of "preferred stock." Usually preferred stockholders have a right to collect a particular fixed amount of dividend before the "common" stockholders receive any dividend. There are many possible preferred stock arrangements. But frequently in return for their first chance at the profits the preferred stockholders give up any voting rights or ability to control the company.

If it turns out that the corporation is fabulously successful and earns huge profits, most of the profits will go to the common stockholders. The common stockholders take a greater risk with their investment but stand to make a greater profit.
