Plan fund campaign for cotton classing office

GERALD BUNDY received multiple bruises and a fractured bone in his back Saturday night when he was thrown from the car he was driving as it overturned two and one-half times, demolishing the 1953 Oldsmobile. The accident occurred about one mile west of Plains on the Lovington road. According to investigating officers, Bundy evidently lost control of the car when he ran off the pavement and hit loose gravel. He was taken to the Yoakum County Hospital in Denver City by Barrett Funeral Home ambulance, for medical treatment and observation. He was released and returned to his home in Plains Monday.

A group of interested farmers and members of the Plains Chamber of Commerce met in the City Hall at Plains last Friday night to draw plans for a county wide campaign to raise money for a cotton classing office to be located in Brownfield and serve Yoakum, Gaines and Terry counties.

A spokesman pointed out that the government will pay the operating expenses for the office but will not build the building, which will cost an estimated $70,000. A pro-rata part of $10,000 is the goal set for Yoakum County.

Enthusiasm has been evident on the part of a number of farmers and businessmen because of the belief that the cotton from the three counties classed separately will be more uniform and have an over all higher grade and staple. Another important consideration is the fact that stripper harvest usually begins about two weeks earlier in the northern counties, which tends to give a grade basis break.

It has been estimated by cotton buyers that a classing office will increase the value of the cotton from $2 to $4 a bale and with the 35,000 bales produced last year would mean an additional $100,000 to Yoakum County. It would leave better than a half million dollars in the tri-county area.

The contributions are entirely voluntary; however a proposal has been submitted asking farmers to give on the basis of 50 cents per bale on last year's crop. D. N. Taylor, president of the Plains Chamber of Commerce, stated that a number of businessmen and land owners have also signified an intention to

County charity board named by commissioners

Members of the new county charity board, which will act on requests for relief assistance, were named Monday morning at the meeting of the commissioners' court.

Burford Dulin, who is county service and relief officer, will serve as chairman. Working with him will be two sub-committees, one from Denver City and the other from Plains.

On the Denver City committee are Ed Gayle, local businessman, and Mrs. J. E. Woodward, with one member yet to be named. Serving on the Plains group are A. E. Carpenter, farmer, Roy Stockstill, educator and Robert Young, businessman.

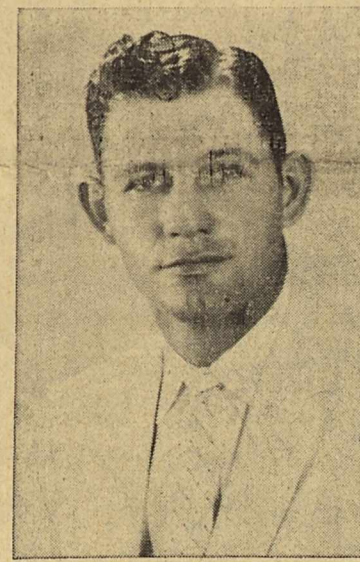

County Judge Don Hancock explained that the board will serve in an advisory committee, reviewing requests for county relief and making recommendations as to whether they should be allowed. Persons in need of assistance will contact Dulin, as they have in the past, who in turn will present the case to board members from the area involved.

It is expected, Judge Hancock said, that the new procedure will result in a more effective means of issuing relief, since more study of the legitimate needs of each case can be made.

Although it is not fully determined, it is probably that board members will serve for one, two and three year terms, after which all appointments will be for three years. The board will probably meet on a call basis, following necessary organization sessions. Members will receive no pay for their services.

In other action, the commissioners awarded the bid for drapes for the two libraries to Fowler Furniture and Upholsters, at a cost of $403.62, and

AF jet plane crashes; pilot is killed

An F-100 Super Sabre fighter plane from Cannon Air Force Base at Clovis, N. M., crashed near Plains Friday about 2 p.m., killing the pilot, 1st Lt. Bernard L. Martin, 26, Fort Covington, N. Y.

The plane crashed seven miles north and two and a half miles east of Plains, while on a routine training flight, digging a deep hole in the freshly listed ground on the G. R. Todd farm only a quarter of a mile northwest of the house. However, no one was at home at that time.

A helicopter, medical team and fire trucks were dispatched from Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock. The entire incident was immediately designated as "classified," and no civilians were allowed near the area at all. Photographs were especially forbidden, and the "press cameraman, on the scene just shortly after the crash, was instructed several times that there could be absolutely no pictures taken. Even highway patrol were not allowed close to the plane.

Bob Loe, an eye witness to the crash, said he was working in his field about two miles south-west of where the plane crashed when he heard the roar from the jets. As he looked up, one of three jets flying in formation started in a flat spin to the ground. "It resembled a leaf coming down through the sky," he recalled.

Loe said the plane hit at an angle, exploding immediately and strewn wreckage over a wide area. Smoke, fire and dust erupted some 1500 feet into the air. According to Loe, the plane canopy was ejected while it was still some distance from the ground, but the ejection seat for the pilot evidently failed. Pieces of the pilot's body, the largest of which was a hand still clutched around a control, were found over a 25-acre area.

The crash dug a hole in the earth about 12 feet deep, large enough, it was reported, that a car or tractor could be driven into it.

The other two jets who were traveling with the one that crashed, circled the area until it was ascertained help had arrived.

The area was posted by Air Force personnel until Sunday, when the wreckage was removed. The pilot, Lt. Martin, resided with his family on the base at Clovis. Survivors include his wife, Carol Sue, two sons, Michael Floyd, 2, and Pat, 1, and his father, James A. Martin, Fort Covington, N. Y.

It is a symbol of God, a symbol of Christ, a symbol of the Christian church you attend every week. What would the church be without The Cross! Where might your steps lead were you to forget the Crucifixion! What might happen to your family and to the families of all your friends were it not for the influence of the allumed Cross in their lives. If you would have tomorrow remember you; if you would have your golden years filled with peace and hope... then Keep The Cross Before You Every Day.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met in regular session April 1 in the home of Mrs. Charles Williams, at 7:30 p.m.

Mae Gainer brought the inspiring devotional and worship study from Isaiah 40:12-17 and 26-29. The lesson, on "Rapid Development of Foreign Nations and Their Cost To Gain Their Freedom" was thoroughly explained by Dr. Gainer. Many of these nations, seventeen of which have been under foreign control for years, want the Americans to leave their own religion for them feel that they have had Christianity rammed down their throats, while others realize and appreciate the value of Christianity in their education and enlightenment. A special prayer was offered for these nations.

Smith; vice-president, Mrs. Wayne Chadwick; treasurer, Mrs. Joe Cheek; recording secretary, Mrs. Leo White; secretary of promotion, Mrs. James Warren; missionary education and service, Mrs. Kenneth Hale with alternate, Mrs. R. Post office to issue new stamp

The Post Office Department will issue the 4 1/2 cent "The Heritage" ordinary postage stamp, in coils, perforated at the top and bottom of the stamp, on May 1, 1959 through the Denver, Colo., post office on the occasion of the 10th annual Rocky Mountain Philatelic Exhibition.
The stamp features "The Hermitage", home of President Andrew Jackson, and the design is identical to the 4 1/2 cent issue of the regular size currently in use.
Collectors desiring first-day cancellations of this stamp may send addressed envelopes together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed to the Postmaster, Denver 2, Colo. A close-fitting enclosure of postal card thickness should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. Envelopes submitted should be ordinary letter size and each must be properly addressed.
An envelope must not be sent for return of first-day covers. Orders for covers must not include requests for uncanceled stamps. It is recommended that no more than two stamps be requested for affixment to each cover, as it is practically impossible to attractively cancel a longer strip. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 4 1/2-cent Coil Stamp."

Five suits filed in district court

One suit for damages, one for collection of a debt, a compensation case and two divorce suits, were filed in district court this week.

Walter F. McCune of Denver City is seeking $5,000 in damages from Yoakum County Gas Company as the result of an alleged incident which occurred last January 21. According to the case, McCune asserts that Mrs. McCune and minor child were asleep at their residence the afternoon of January 21, and had an open space heater, three gas burners on the cook stove, and the gas water heater in operation to supply heat and hot water. Without notice, the suit alleges, an employee of the defendant turned the gas off at the meter, stopping the flow of gas through the lines. A short time thereafter, it is alleged, an employee of the defendant turned on the gas and allowed the gas to flow through the lines, escaping into the home for a period of 30 minutes to an hour unknown to the mother and child. Negligence is charged in turning of the gas off and then on without notifying occupants, and it is alleged that this was the direct cause of health damages sustained by the mother and daughter.

William J. Gray has filed suit to collect on two notes, allegedly issued to BHB Superior Well Service in 1956, and not paid, in the amount of $2,050, plus 10 percent interest. The plaintiff asserts that he has $600 paid by the defendant to apply on the amount when either or both notes are paid in entirety. An additional 10 percent of all interest and principal is also asked for collection fees.

P. H. Puls, resident of Gaines County, is seeking compensation of $35 per week for 401 weeks as a result of injuries allegedly received November 1, 1958, while in the employ of Stafford Construction Co. as maintainer operator.

Divorce actions were filed by Henry Williams against Edna Pearle Williams, and by Deloris Inila Haney against Louis Edward Haney.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherm Tingle and sons spent Sunday in Big Spring visiting relatives.

Mrs. J. W. O. Aldredge returned home Monday after spending several days in the Yoakum County Hospital.

Andre Lou Sledge, Jere Sink wed on Saturday in rites at Big Spring

Miss Andre Lou Sledge and Jere Sink exchanged wedding vows in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring Saturday, April 4, before an altar of white gladioli, green fernery and massed arrangement of Cathedral tapers.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sledge of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sink, Plains.

The double ring ceremony was read by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church.

Mike Jarrett, organist accompanied Carolyn Duckett as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chapel length gown of Chantilly Lace and Net over taffeta. Hundreds of seed pearl outlined the lace design applied on the skirt which her mother made. Lillies of the Valley surrounded the white orchid which she carried on a white Bible.

Andre's gown was something new, the Bible was borrowed, an herloom pin was something old, the traditional penny and blue garter were also there.

Rosemary Donica was maid of honor, Koila Grant, bridesmaid, and Carla Sledge, sister of the bride, and Mike Sink, brother of the groom, lighted the tapers. The girls were identically attired in blue crystalline over taffeta. George Goforth served as best man and Derrell Sanders as groomsmen. Guests were seated by ushers George and Gerald Martin.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Sledge chose blue embroidered satin and Mrs. Sink wore navy silk with white.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the Fellowship hall.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Robinson, Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Sledge Jr. Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sladek, Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sladek, Knox City, Mrs. S. D. Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Haight, all of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rummage, Denver City, Richard and Barbara Meil and Royce Farquhar of Plains.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 605 East 15th in Big Spring until they complete the school year.

She is a senior in Big Spring High School and he is attending Howard County Junior College.

Choose a Heavy-Duty JOHN DEERE KILLEFER WHEEL-TYPE HARROW

Watch the John Deere-Killefer "HD" Series Harrow at work; it's then you'll really appreciate what we mean when we say—it's tough . . . it's heavy . . . with plenty of get-up-and-go!

Toughness and weight go together. Husky frame of the "HD" Series is constructed of 6-inch structural steel. Curved gang supports are welded to the frame . . . hold the gangs to the rear of the frame for extra clearance. Well-balanced weight assures deep penetration . . . even, full-width cutting.

There are other important reasons for owning an "HD" Series—big capacity . . . deep disking . . . wheel-carried design. Five sizes from which to choose . . . for tractors having 28 to 62 h.p. Let us tell you the whole story, come in this week.
