

The YOAKUM COUNTY REVIEW

STREET LIGHTS NEXT

Plains residents can be mighty proud of their town—it's growing leaps and bounds with no stopping in sight. New buildings and new businesses have been springing up every week, keeping our record of two new businesses a month still up there. Maybe we can break the record and have three or four new businesses a month for the remainder of the year.

With the new business activity going on the local Chamber of Commerce has their eyes on the future. Their plans for street lighting is reaching completion—except for the money-raising.

We're in hopes that every one will chip in and back the project as the entire town will benefit from the lighted highway. An attractive business route means more attractive buildings—and makes business sites more valuable.

Business firms, and individuals wishing to donate money towards this project are urged to call the Chamber of Commerce. Remember once we have the lights installed there is no more initial cost. The city has agreed to furnish the electricity free of charge.

We need to keep Plains growing and helping finance the street lights will be one way which every local citizen can help.

Don't put off calling in your donations—do it now.

Four new businesses open

Business activity in Plains has continued to roll right along. In the past two weeks three new businesses have opened and one is scheduled to open next Monday. Also new building activity has kept pace with one new structure in Plains and one in Bronco.

the old bank building on the Brownfield highway. Opening plans call for two days activity with guest registering on Monday and Tuesday, July 18, 19. A $50 gift certificate will be given away Tuesday evening at a drawing.

Mrs. Gray said her shop would carry a complete line of ladies ready-to-wear in all sizes. She added that she would have several lines of western wear and sports clothes for both women and girls.

The grocery store was opened in a new concrete block building with a red brick front and is located next to the Texaco station. Billings said they would carry a complete line of groceries with items in the hardware and dry goods lines.

Ragsdale said that they would serve lunches, breakfast and dinners and would specialize in good steaks and pastries. Hours of the cafe are from 6 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Highway lighting topic of CofC monthly meet

Discussion of the proposed highway lighting was the main business discussed Friday night at the Plains Chamber of Commerce meeting. Roger Curry presented figures on erecting poles and wiring the fixtures. The total cost is estimated to run about $200 per light. Discussion was given on the number of lights it would take to light the highway from intersection to intersection and the manner in which they would be placed.

According to the unusual layout of the highway an actual survey would have to be taken to establish each location. Initial plans call for the lights to be alternated along the route.

Curry added that several businesses have offered to provide funds for the erection of light fixtures near their place of business. Those wishing to help with the lighting project are urged to call Roger Curry or Johnnie Fitzgerald.

Committees were named to help with the rodeo. Members are urged to contact their work chairmen to work out details of their projects.

Delegates were named to represent Plains at the state highway meeting in Austin next week. The meeting is being held to hear reports on the proposed Federal highway. Plains, along with Brownfield, Tatum, Lubbock and other parties, will meet with the group and give reports.

Four cases were dismissed in county court Tuesday by County Judge Don Hancock.

In the case of the state against Dale Dwaun Miller, charged with driving while intoxicated, the suit was dismissed on the request of the arresting officer.

The suit of negligent homicide against William Howard Teaff was dismissed on the request of the arresting officer, since the defendant has settled all civil damage claims.

The charge of driving while intoxicated, filed against George Gaston Moore, was dismissed upon request of the arresting officer, since the defendant has since suffered a heart attack and is still unable to drive a motor vehicle, and in the opinion of the officer, nothing was to be

County librarian is hired

Yoakum County has scored a major coup over the rest of Texas.

Witt B. Harwell, state librarian for more than the past seven years, has been named by the Yoakum County Commissioners as the new County Librarian.

Harwell, approximately 60 years of age, will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Bill Harwell, Denver City, three weeks ago. Mrs. Harwell's resignation became effective on June 30.

The new county librarian will take over his duties in Yoakum County on September 1, according to County Judge Don Hancock. He is retiring from employment with the state.

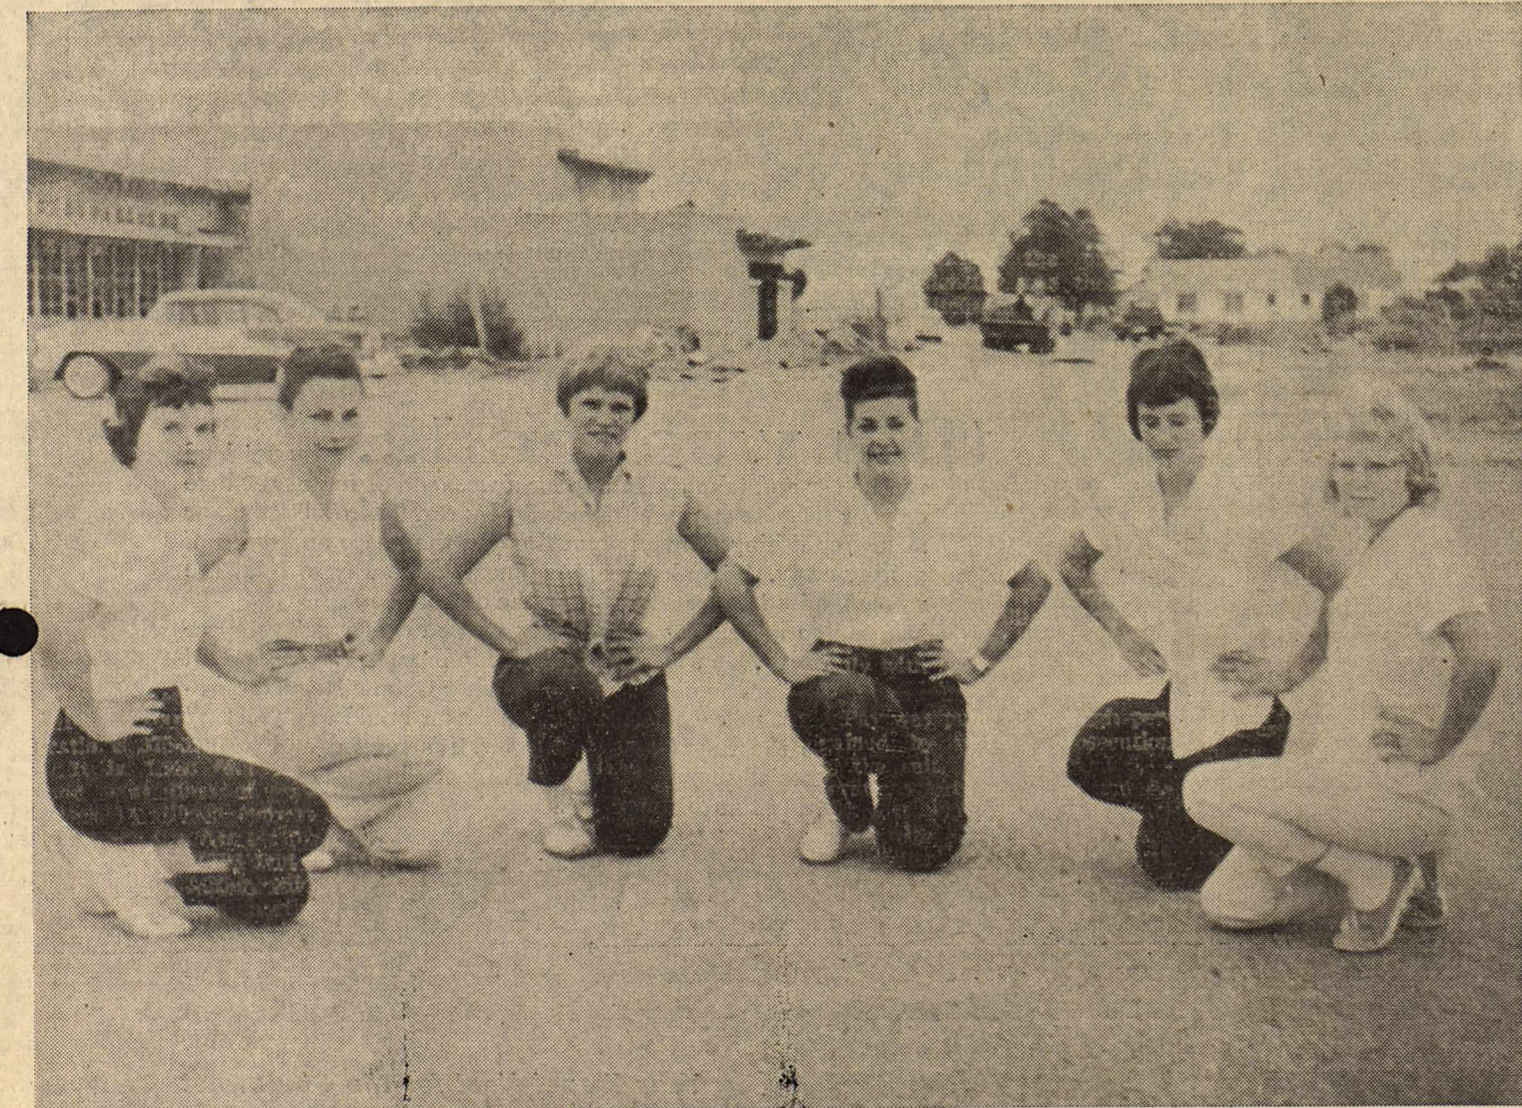

Harwell has been in the employ of the state for the past 30 years, having had experience in numerous state offices. He worked for a number of years in the State Comptroller's office, auditing appeals work.

Harwell's salary will be $4,800 annually, according to Hancock, with no car allowance. The previous librarian received $375 monthly including $50 monthly car allowance. Harwell is a native of Winnesboro.

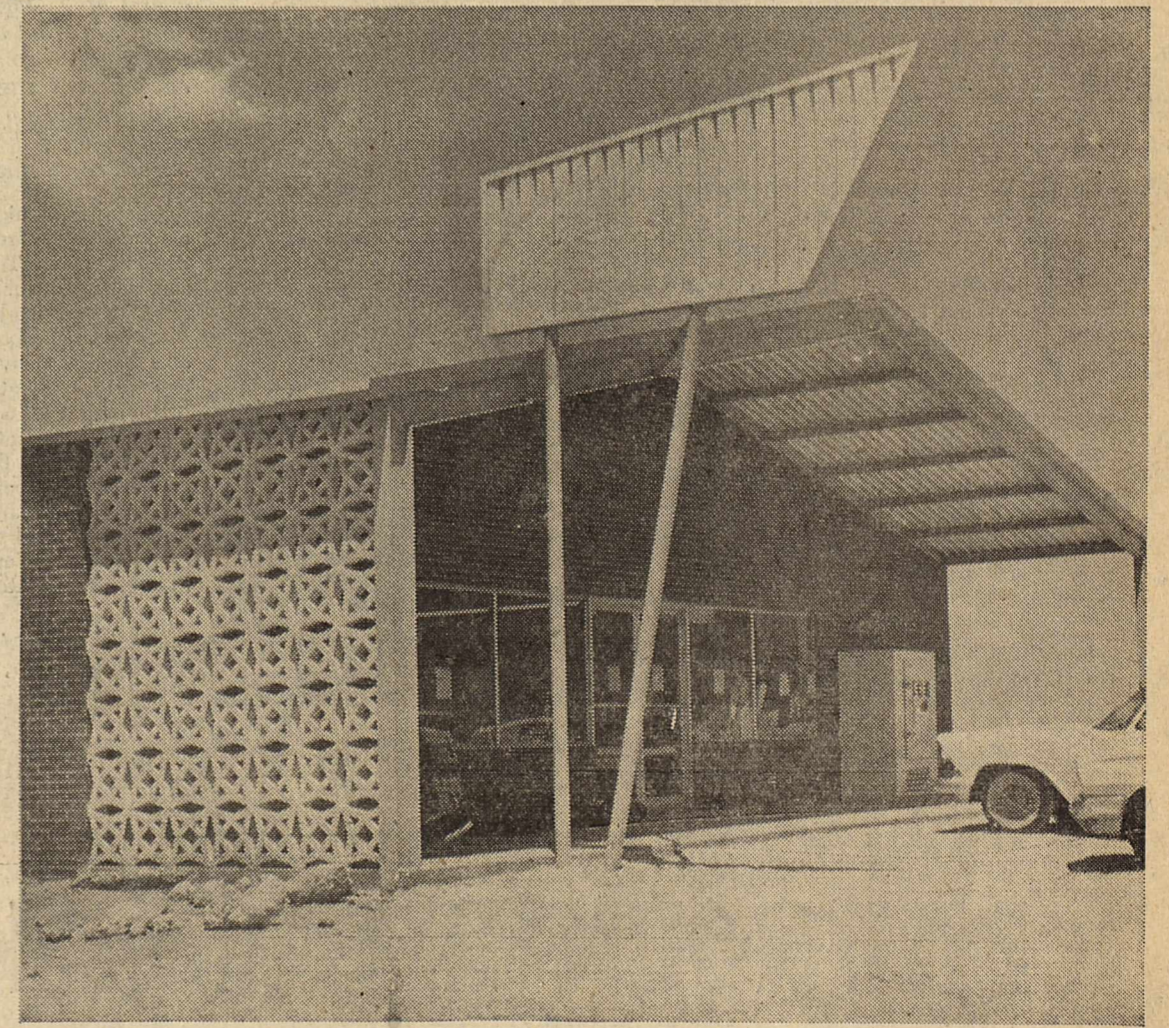

Mrs. Harwell, who is not related to the former state librarian, was appointed county librarian last July following the resignation of Mrs. Bert Bartlett of Plains. The Denver City woman submitted her resignation to the county commissioners on May 23.

ACROSS THE Cattle Guard

by LEO W. WHITE
County Agent

Reports are still coming in about the rain. It seems that the moisture that fell since July 4th is something unusual for this county. Old Timers say they have never seen this much rain in July. It has rained 10 or 12 inches in the Spring or the Fall but never before in the middle of the growing season.

Some farmers were hollering calf rope before it came that last gully washer but the ranchers were smiling and saying "Let'er come". Everybody was talking about the amount they had received. Newspapers, radio and television were reporting amounts that had fallen and the roads that were closed to traffic. Some reports were of damage that was done to crops. Usually the benefits from moisture far exceeds the damage so very little is ever said about damage.

Even though Yoakum County soil absorbs water very rapidly, it can finally reach the saturation point and hold no more. When a hard dashing rain falls with the soil already filled to the brim, there is bound to be some damage. Recent rains came with that condition existing and, as a result, we have many fields where large gullies will cause a problem for many years. Some of these gullies are narrow and deep while others are shallow but very wide.

Some earth moving may have to be done to correct the deeper gullies. Pushing dirt into the gully will make it possible to cross the field with the regular farming equipment but it still a waterway for the next rain and could easily wash out again. The best thing to do is to handle the wash separate from the rest of the field. Fill it in and farm it up and down the slope. Get a solid growing crop on it as soon as possible. A thick stand of sorghums or sudan planted with a drill will prevent another washout if it can get established in time. Then, if stalks are left for the Winter and Spring, it would catch enough blow sand to a few more inches of top soil and change the course of the water.

The wide and shallow washes are an even bigger problem. Usually the floor of the gully is solid clay which is almost void of organic matter. In order for this soil to grow crops again it will mean that top soil will have to be replaced. The clay subsoil will not do a very good job of raising a crop this year. It looks like cotton burs might be the best answer. That means waiting until Fall or Winter and then the big hauling job begins. A layer of burs in these flat gullies will change the structure of the soil a great deal in one good sand storm.

Usually we never have a good sand storm but next Spring there might come a few dandies for the farmer who is prepared for them. We have seen a few clay spots build up as much as 6 inches in one year after an application of burs. Sudan straw will do the same job. Anything to catch some soil is the main object. Tumble weeds would do the job if they would grow there and stay put but all the thistle seed has been washed to other parts of the field.

The July rains will be a big help to the growing crops and they will certainly lower the expense of producing the cotton and feed in 1960. An added expense will come along by filling the washes and keeping the soil in a productive state. Farmers

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. ... I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right; takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

"I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-go delivery."

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

JURIES, OLD AND NEW

Speaking before juries — the beginning of jury trials — goes way back to Greek colonies about 600 B. C., in lawsuits over land seized by tyrants.

Soon afterwards Athens itself took over lands seized by tyrants. Soon afterwards Athens itself took over such oratory, but seems never to have worked out rules of evidence or control of the trial by a judge.

Jurors often booed or cheered the parties, talked together, and shouted at speakers. What one man knew or thought he knew about the case he told his neighbor.

All evidence could go: Personal knowledge, hearsay, prejudice and a juror's opinion.

The Athenian juror had power: Each "dicast" (a juror chosen by lot) was both juror and judge.

Jurors sat in many courts; the smallest had 201 dicasts, the largest one such as tried Socrates had 601. (The odd man broke tie.) The jurors heard and decided their cases out in public, often amid swarms of citizens and foreigners.

One day to each case; and the accused — like Socrates — had to prove his innocence.

Each juror earned one obol a day — about three cents.

Each juror swore: "I shall vote according to the laws of the Athenian people and the Council of the Five Hundred; but as to things about which there are no laws, I shall judge as best I can without favor or enmity. I shall judge as to things at issue and shall listen fairly to both the accuser and the defendant. These things I swear by Zeus, by Apollo, by Demeter. May there be blessing on me if I keep my oath; but if not, let there be ruin for me and my family."

Today as yesterday our juries are under fire: Some say juries waste time, people won't serve; jurors make stupid mistakes. Let experts do justice, critics say.

Such things hold true only if citizens forsake their right to serve.

Only a free people can enjoy the privilege of jury duty. A Greek thinker once said that the mark of a citizen, as opposed to an alien, was his right to share in administering justice.

When jury duty calls, think of yourself as seeking truth, hearing all the evidence, heeding the court's instructions, following the lawyers' arguments, and laying aside prejudice.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Eight active rigs listed in latest county survey

Rotary drilling activity in Yoakum County took another slight drop last week, according to the weekly survey of drilling activity in the Permian Basin by Reed Roller Bit Co., Midland.

Or July 7 there were eight active units in the county, according to the survey, compared with nine during the preceding seven-day period and 10 during the week which ended on June 24.

The drop in Yoakum County was in line with a general decline throughout the basin which saw 224 rigs working on July 7, a decline of six from July 1 and a drop from 360 one year ago.

Lea County, N. M., with 28 active units in the latest count, maintained its lead in the Basin. Andrews County replaced Eddy County, N. M., in second place with 24 rotaries making hole with Eddy County, N. M., reporting 21, a drop of three from the 24 reported the preceding week.

Gaines County remained in fourth place in the survey with 16 rigs working, followed closely by Pecos County with 15. The nearby county counted 17 in the preceding survey, and Pecos county drilling increased from 11 during the week NAMED TO THE ALL STAR Pony League team are two youngsters from Plains, Bob Parker and Jack Lowe. Tournament competition will start next Tuesday night.

Staggering statistics stated for Scouts' National Jamboree

Aladdin and his magic lamp had nothing on the Boy Scouts of America.

When the Fifth National Jamboree gathers for a week of festivity and friendship at Colorado Springs July 22 to 28, a magic city will arise on the site of 2,000 acre Reverse J Diamond Ranch. Actually, not magic, but more than a year of intelligent planning and a lot of know-how and cooperation are behind this gigantic project.

The brain has to stretch itself to comprehend the magnitude of the Jamboree in its scope, service, and supplies. This city of thousands of neat tents will be divided into the equivalent of 39 villages, each with its own health lodge, water supply, shower baths, and commissary.

There are many towns without the complete facilities the Jamboree will offer — police and fire departments, water-works, hospitals. Jamboree-town will have its own bus lines, radio and television facilities, a daily newspaper, post office, telephone exchange, telegraph office, trading posts, and mammoth arena theatre, that can hold about 55,000 jamboree participants.

It takes 630 men in general headquarters to administer the Jamboree, with more than 6,000 men, mostly volunteers, supervising the encampment.

More than 500 correspondents will tell the Jamboree story for major newspapers. Three thousand Scouts will cover for their hometown papers.

Sixty-eight special trains will carry 35,000 Scouts and their leaders to the Jamboree. Buses, planes, and cars will transport the rest.

Imagine having this bunch for dinner? Bids were secured for fantastic quantities. Oren R. Felton, Chief Commissary Officer, has a shopping list for 1,650,000 meals.

Here are just a few of the fabulous figures: More than a half million pounds of charcoal briquets will be used for outdoor cooking, with 8 million paper plates and cups. Breakfast will call for 9,985 cases of cereal, 2,525 cases of canned fruits, 5,567 cases of canned vegetables. For the steak lovers, there will be 25,741 pounds. There will be plenty of calcium in the 577,960 quarts of milk and lots of Vitamin C in the 43,980 quarts of fresh orange juice.

Dessert, anyone? Pass the 10,224 pies and 77,400 bananas.

Three members of Boy Scout Troop 77, Denver City, will be among the more than 55,000 youths at the Jamboree. They are Don Criswell, Joe Wheeler and David Snyder. The latter will be an accredited Scout Correspondent at the Jamboree and will write first-hand reports for readers of the Denver City Press.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my many thoughtful friends for the lovely clothes and gifts of money presented me following the loss of my wardrobe by fire.

I shall love and appreciate you always.

Hickerson-Lattimore vows repeated Friday

At home at 2020-B 17th Street in Lubbock are Mr. and Mrs. William G. Lattimore, Jr., as they return from a honeymoon to El Paso. The couple was married at 7 p.m. Friday, July 8, in First Baptist Church at Plains.

The bride is the former Miss Darla Joann Hickerson of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oran Hickerson, Seagraves. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lattimore of Plains. The Rev. C. J. Coffman read a double ring ceremony.

As she was escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of pure silk organza over taffeta which was designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. An extended scalloped waistline complemented the fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt that swept to a chapel train. She carried a white cattleya orchid with streamers of Stephanotis centered on a white Bible.

Mrs. Jack Huckaby of Tatum, New Mexico, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Shelia Smith and Miss Barbara Roberts, both of Lubbock.

Attendants wore sheath dresses of pale blue cotton satin with organza overskirts. They carried identical cascades of white carnations.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Jimmy Warren.

Ushering duties were assumed by Cordell Huddleston and Dor. Cooke with Pete Timmons of Meadow and Donnie Kissinger as groomsmen.

Candles were lighted by Ann Lattimore, sister of the bridegroom, and Dennis Hickerson, brother of the bride. Rhonda Huckaby of Tatum, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Junior Huckaby of Tatum, nephew of the bride, carried the rings. Organist was Miss Jeanine St. Romain and wedding solos were sung by Claude Lee.

A reception in Fellowship Hall followed the ceremony. Assisting with hospitalities were Mrs. Jackie Hayes, Santa Rosa, New Mexico; Mrs. Jim Barron, Big Spring; Mrs. Laura Lee Rackley and Mrs. Irene McMillan, Denver City; Mrs. Harold Owens and Miss Jeanie Cleveland, Lubbock; Mrs. Leland Ellison, Miss Judy Love and Mrs. L. STATE CAPITAL
Highlights AND Sidelights
by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Things are rather quiet around the State Capitol these days.

For one thing, it's the "off season", the hiatus that regularly occurs between state elections and the convening of a new Legislature.

For another, it's vacation time with a part of almost every agency staff off to forget it all for a time.

But mostly, for this week, the Austin lull stems from most people's suspensful interest in the activity of Texans in Los Angeles. Gov. Price Daniel, vice chairman of the Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention, and numerous others have been away for several weeks working in behalf of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's nomination for the presidency.

Despite these distractions, state government goes on. Studies are under way on many subjects, on budgets, tax plans and other future legislation. It's important work, but quiet, during this digging and analyzing stage. It'll break into the news next fall as reports are made and trial balloons are run up on bills to be introduced in January.

Surest indication that state government is still on the job is that even now it's hard to find a parking place near the Capitol or the adjoining state office buildings.

During the summer a dozen or so parking slots by the Capitol's east entrance are set aside for tourists. As a rule, tourists don't keep them filled, and Capitol guards are regularly beset by the persuasiveness of local people who need a place "just for a minute."

NO TURNING BACK — Child adoption procedures, under Texas law, are about as final as a thing can be — more so than marriage or divorce.

Texas Supreme Court underlined this in a recent decision that denied the right to change her mind to a mother who had given written permission for her children to be adopted.

In the case at issue, the mother, a widow, gave written permission for her two children to be adopted. Two months later, having remarried, she sought to regain the children.

Lower courts held in favor of the natural mother, but the Supreme Court ruled that only fraud could be a basis for revoking of adoption consent.

Said the court opinion of the adoption laws: "The Legislature had the safety, education, care and protection of the children, uppermost in mind and not primarily the contentment or welfare of either the natural or adoptive parents."

NO MISUNDERSTANDING — In another ruling involving adoption, the Supreme Court held that an adopted child could not inherit a trust set up for a direct descendant.

As a result, a four-year-old boy lost the chance to claim $830,000.

In the case originating in Dallas, lower courts had upheld the child's claim to the money from his late grandfather's estate.

In his will, the grandfather had instructed that the $830,000 trust be set up if "any child of my son is born after my death." High court ruled that this made it highly unlikely that the maker of the will intended the money to go to a child born to persons other than his son and daughter-in-law.

ROAD CLOSED — If Texas'

truck licensing law had a loophole you could drive a truck through, the State Supreme Court has, in effect, halted the traffic.

High court ruled that a motor freight line cannot register and pay license fees on its trucks in Texas and use Mississippi licenses on its trailers. Texas' fee for a truck trailer is $226, compared to $10 in Mississippi.

High court ruled that if the truck line is resident in Texas, it must pay the Texas fee for the trailers, even if it pays in Mississippi, too. Result: $20,000 more taxes owed by the line in license fees to the State Highway Department.

OIL ON THE HIGHWAYS? — On the heels of a U. S. Supreme Court decision that Texas owns its tidelands 10½ miles out comes a ruling that the state also owns the right-of-way along public roads.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the state, not the county, owns the road right-of-way and that the counties cannot lease the land for mineral development.

Whether the state should exercise its right and lease right-of-way lands for oil and gas exploration probably will not be decided until the Legislature sets a policy. Involved in some 1,200,000 acres of land or 228,000 miles of public roads, some of it across areas with oil-bearing strata.

READING, WRITING AND DRIVING — State Board of Education took a jaundiced view of a proposal of state-supported driver education in public schools. Plea for driver education, one of the main planks in Governor Daniel's program for increased traffic safety, was presented by Brad Smith, director of the governor's Highway Safety Commission.

"Driver education in the schools is the only way to reduce the flow of uneducated drivers into the stream of traffic," Smith declared. A state-wide driver training program has been the goal of the huge Texas Federation of Women's Clubs for some years.

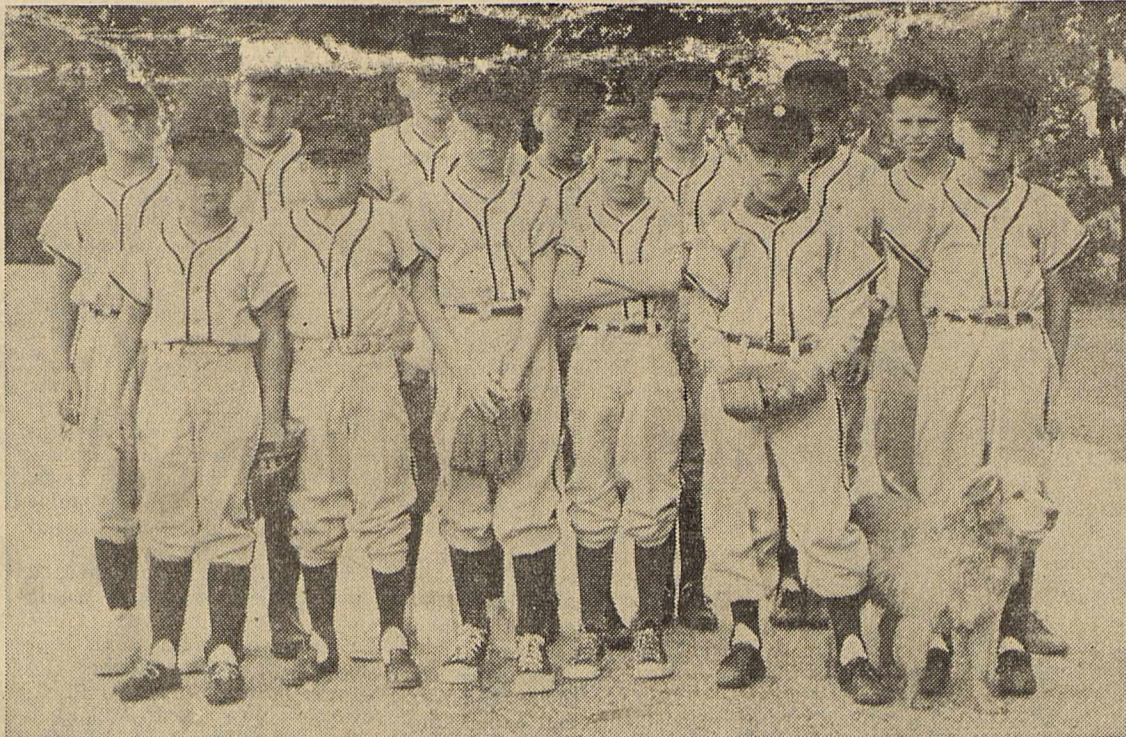

Board members said they felt the matter did not properly belong in a school curriculum. They declined to make a recommendation to the Legislature.

LEGAL TEST PROBABLE — Board of Education decided to consider again in September the dilemma of school districts which stand to lose their state aid money under terms of a 1957 law governing school integration.

Under this law, districts which integrate without approval in a local election automatically lose state aid.

Dallas and Houston schools are under federal court order to integrate this fall. Houston voters turned down integration. Dallas' election is set for Aug. 6.

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said he had written Houston and Dallas school authorities telling them their state aid would have to be cut off if they integrated without a voter mandate.

Board discussed seeking an attorney general's opinion on the problem, probably in September after the Dallas election.

Mrs. J. H. Jost and Mrs. Pearl Williams spent last weekend at Carlsbad where they were guests of Mrs. Jost's nephew and family.

Giants named champions

The Giants, coached by Duane McDonnell, Bobby Kinsey and Tommie McDonnell, were named Plains' Little League Champions this week. The boys have turned in a commendable record of 11 wins to 3 losses. J. E. Todd leads his teammates with the highest batting average.

McDonnell pointed out that he had an exceptional pitching staff consisting of: Todd, David Lusk, Roger Seals and Robert Myers with 11 other good players giving full support throughout the season. He expressed appreciation to all parents for cooperation in getting their boys in for practice and all games, to the fans for their support of the program and to the opposing teams and their coaches for the fine sportsmanship and interest shown as all times. We could not have won this coveted honor had it not been for all these factors, he added.

Four boys rames on the All-Star team are: Myers, Wilkins, Lusk and Todd with Tingle and Stroud named alternates.

Bobby Stroud, Robert Myers, Eddie Tingle, David Lusk and J. E. Todd will join the ranks of Pony Leaguers next summer and will be missed by the Giants. However, some excellent players are growing up to take their places.

Grasshoppers continue to plague county cotton

Grasshoppers continue to cause trouble for Yoakum County cotton farmers, although the rains of last week should slow down or halt the migration.

This information is contained in the weekly Cotton Insect Situation Report prepared and compiled by the Extension Service of Texas A&M.

According to the summary, the rains which fell last week increased the prospects for good crops.

It is urged that cotton plantings be watched closely for flea-hopper population increases. Control measures are urged as soon as population numbers warrant this action.

Floyd County is being plagued by heavy aphid infestations; boll weevils have been picked up in cotton in Coleman, Jones, Collingsworth and Wichita counties; bollworms have been reported in Jones county and webworms have been reported in Wilbarger and Jones counties.

Control recommendations for all cotton insects are contained in a manual, "Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects," published by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Copies are available from County Agent Leo White.

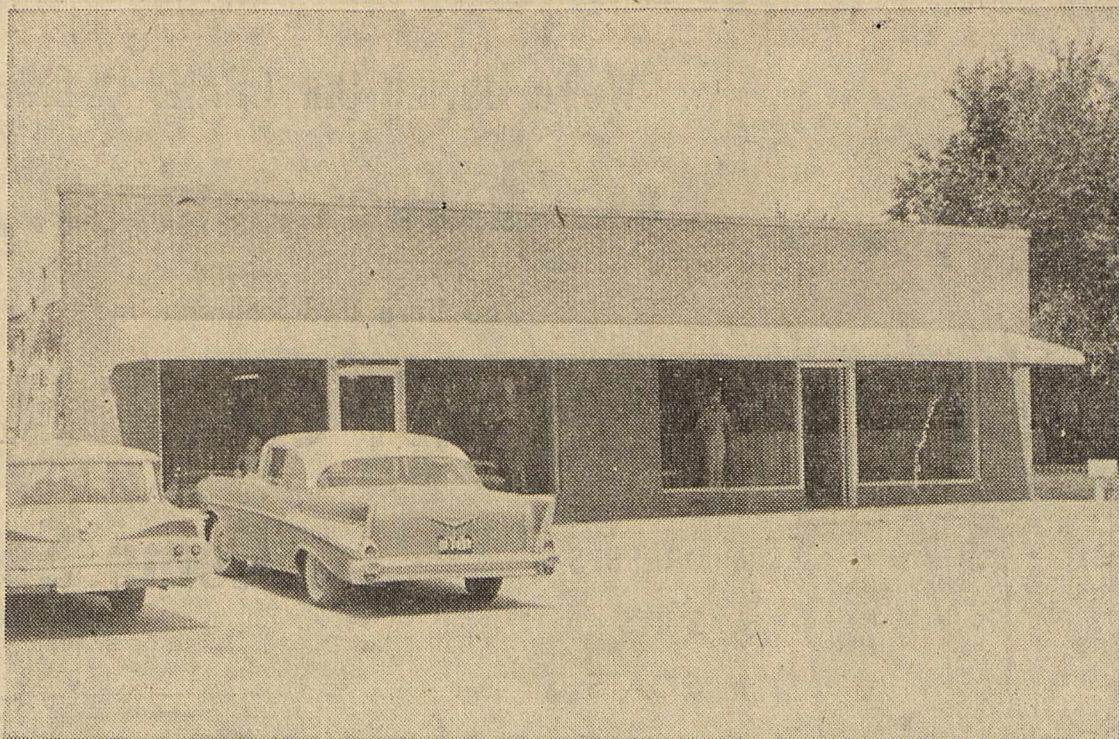

Information contained in the insect situation report is compiled from reports from county agents, vocational agricultural teachers, personnel of Texas A&M College system, U. S. D. A. branches, commercial cotton inspectors, chemical companies and others.

New awnings were added to the front of the newly remodeled Moore and Oden and to the new building housing The Elsorita Shop. Moore and Oden have completely remodeled the front of their building with wide show windows and a red brick front added.

The Elsorita Shop moved into their new building around the first of July. They have been holding informal style shows during the month as part of their opening.

Gin fire origin study conducted

Every year, Texas gimmers suffer sizeable losses as a result of gin fires. In an effort to determine the causes of these fires and the effectiveness of recently developed preventive devices, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station conducted a study of fires in approximately 10 percent of the State's gins.

Five types of gins were selected to make the reports: those with green boll or rock traps only, those with magnets only, those with rock trap, or both, and a control group without any of these devices.

Matches were found to be, by far, the greatest cause of fires. This can only be attributed to carelessness on the part of cotton pickers. No device has been developed to trap matches, and the only practical means used by gimmers to reduce these losses is the distribution of safety matches to pickers.

The gins with no devices at all had one of the best fire loss records. These results could be due to chance, or because of too small a sample or too short a test period.

Complete results of the study have not been published. This publication may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for MP-436.

Deep plowing urged now to stop cotton root rot

College Station. — Deep-plow 1961 root rot infested cotton land as soon as possible. This advice comes from Dr. Harlan E. Smith, extension, plant pathologist.

Deep plowing is most effective in reducing root rot if no rain occurs for at least two weeks after plowing according to Smith. A lot of hot, dry weather generally occurs during July and August thus making them good months in which to deep plow.

Smith goes on to explain that drying out the soil for 2 weeks or more after plowing helps to kill the root rot fungus by drying, aeration and killing roots of susceptible weeds.

Checking the long range weather forecasts and try to select a time for deep-plowing when dry weather is expected, he advises. Deep-plow 10 to 14 inches or deeper with a mold board or disc type plow. Bedding or listing is ineffective in reducing cotton root rot.

Because of late cotton harvests in north Texas, many growers deep-plow small grain stubble or early grain sorghum land during July and August. This land is then used for cotton the following year. Ask local extension agents for a copy of MP-361 "Root Rot Losses of Cotton Can Be Reduced." Smith suggests that renters of cotton land send a copy of the publication to their landlord. Landowners will be interested in helping carry out a cotton root rot reduction program because it will increase the farm income and increase the value of the land.
