

Heart Attack Claims Life Of Paul Loe

A heart attack Wednesday afternoon claimed the life of Paul T. Loe.

Loe, 54, was a county commissioner of Precinct 4. Death came at 2:45 p. m. at his home. He has suffered a heart attack a few minutes earlier.

Loe had suffered a severe heart attack in January, but recovered well enough to resume his duties as commissioner a few weeks later.

A member of Hillside Church of Christ, the Masonic Lodge and the Plains Lions Club, Loe had been a resident of Yoakum County since 1948. He moved here from Bailey County. He was a native of Haskell County where he was born on June 13, 1906.

Loe was serving his third term as commissioner. He was elected to two two-year terms in the early 50s, retired from public office and then was elected again in 1958. His present term runs through 1962. County commissioners will be required to appoint a successor to Loe.

Funeral services have been set for 2 p. m. Friday in the Plains Methodist Church. Burial, under direction of Brownfield Funeral Home, will be in the local cemetery.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Bob Loe of Plains; one daughter, Mrs. A. J. Williams of Olney; one brother, Irving Loe of Spur; six sisters, Mrs. Edna Pinkerton of Rochester, Mrs. J. D. Williamson of Brownfield, Mrs. Emma Lee of Spur, Mrs. Joe Collier of Las Vegas, Nev., Mrs. W. R. Stafford of Midland and Mrs. Homer Anderson of Lamesa, and five grandchildren.

Hospital Rejected By Overwhelming Margin

Issue Fails Despite Big Plains Vote

In an extremely heavy vote for a special election, Yoakum County voters turned thumbs down on a $195,000 bond issue for a county hospital in Plains. Final unofficial vote showed 762 against the proposal, and only 427 for.

As was expected, voters in the north half of the county gave a hearty endorsement to the Plains hospital, while the heavier populated Denver City area voted even stronger against it.

Plains' four boxes gave the hospital a 350-31 margin. Voters in precinct 1 favored the hospital 106-3, in precinct 2 it was 67-13, in precinct 3 it was 100-11 and in precinct 4 the vote was 77-4. Precinct 5 also gave the proposal a firm endorsement, 24-2, but the vote was heavily one-sided in the other direction in the county's other four boxes.

In Precinct 6 it was 4-16. The county's biggest box, No. 7, showed a resounding 25-308 defeat of the bonds. No 8 had 6 for and 104 against and precinct 9 stood 15-296 against. Of eight absentees, there were 3 for and 5 against.

Defeat of the bonds dealt a stunning blow to Plains interests which had been laying the ground work for the election for the past two years. Though disappointing, the defeat itself was not surprising, but the margin of defeat virtually threw a wet blanket around any hopes for a county hospital here in the near future.

Tentative plans, subject of course to approval of the bonds, had called for a 14-bed hospital addition to the existing county clinic in Plains.

Members of the Plains Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the hospital move along with other organizations, will discuss other plans in the near future. Several possibilities of a hospital for Plains will be studied.

Most popular of these plans at the present time appears to be a special hospital district embracing the Plains area. Creation of a hospital district would have to come through constitutional amendment and approved by state voters in a general election. Such a procedure would seriously delay the project.

Plains will be host at 7:30 tonight (Thursday) to a meeting of the Yoakum County Teachers' Association.

LEAD VICTORY---Todd Southern, left, and Clyde Lynn display the plaque won by local Explorer scouts in the swimming contests Saturday. Both boys won individual firsts.

Swim Meet Won By Explorers

Explorer scouts from Plains walked off with top honors in swimming contests held in Lubbock Saturday. Scouts from throughout the 25-county South Plains Council participated.

Plains captured two individual firsts. Todd Southern was tops in the 25 yard free style at 12.1 seconds and Clyde Lynn's 13.1 second effort beat all others in the 25 yard breast stroke.

In addition to the individual firsts, Plains took top honors in two relay events, the 100-yard free style and baloon relay.

All first-place winners and members of winning relay teams received medals. Ribbons were awarded to second and third-place winners. The Plains post was presented a plaque for the team championship.

Plains boys competing were Ernie Anderson, Olan Smith, Robert Taunton, Bob Parker, Jimmy O'Neal, Billy Stockstill, J. B. Wilson, Fred Blount, Milton Watson, Larry Coffman and John Robertson, in addition to Southern and Lynn. Post advisor is Virgil Wade.

Another explorer, Watson, also took top honors on carbine firing contests held at Reese Air Force Base. Watson tied for first with a score of 48 out of a possible 50. He was given a medal for his efforts.

After the contests, the Plains boys ate supper at Reese before returning home.

1,850 Extra Acres Allotted

County Gets Additional Cotton

An additional 1,850 acres of cotton has been received by Yoakum County farmers under a relatively new law authorizing the voluntary release and re-apportionment of cotton allotments.

A law which went into effect last year contains a provision whereby farmers may release cotton acres to their county ASC committee for re-apportionment among other growers. The additional acreage boosts the county's allowable planting this year to 38,883 acres, according to W. M. Overton, ASC office manager.

This figure is considerably higher than last year when the county had an allotment of 31,864 acres in addition to 1,777 B plan acres. The B plan ended last year.

Overton said the additional 1,850 acres would be distributed this week to old growers who had requested increases in their allotments. Only those who already have filed requests will be considered.

All South Plains counties shared in the increase, but Yoakum's total was among the greatest. Only Hale County, with 1,900 was higher. Bailey, Castro, Cochran and Parmer matched Yoakum's 1,850.

New Tumbleweed Drive In Plans Formal Opening

Formal opening of the new Tumbleweed Drive In will be held next Wednesday, according to Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Weed, owners. The drive in has been operating for the past several days in completely remodeled quarters.

During the day Wednesday, customers will be able to buy a hamburger and a package of potato chips for 19 cents. Free ice cream, coffee and doughnuts will be available for visitors.

The firm, which is open from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m., features Jersey Freeze ice cream, super dogs, hamburgers and a complete line of fountain treats.

Weed, born in Eastland and reared in the Lubbock area, moved here four years ago from Levelland. He operated a Tumbleweed Drive in in Levelland and also in Hobbs before moving here.

Mr. and Mrs. Weed have two children, Don, serving with the Navy in Charleston, S. C., and Mrs. Wayne L. Carter of Houston.

To Appear

Dr. John R. Hilliard, head of the biology department of McMurry College, will speak to Plains biology students at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

C-C Honors Pete

St. Romain Is Top Citizen

Most outstanding citizen in the Plains area is P. W. (Pete) St. Romain, businessman, booster, civic worker and all-around good fellow.

That was the opinion of those who voted in the Chamber of Commerce's first annual Outstanding Citizen Contest. St. Romain was announced winner of the honor during the Chamber's annual banquet Friday.

St. Romain was not in attendance since he had been called to Alexandria, La., to attend the funeral of his father.

The Outstanding Citizen has lived in Plains since 1946 and since that time his name has been connected with just about every worthwhile project this area has encountered.

He has been active in the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Credit Union, Cemetery Association, Little League and several other organizations.

He has been chairman of the street naming committee, street marking committee, street lighting project and is currently serving as treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Lions Club, secretary of the Little League and president of the Credit Union. He helped organize the Credit Union in 1950 and has held every office in that organization.

St. Romain is an active member of the St. William's Catholic Church, a member of the choir and president of the Men's organization.

He moved to Plains in January of 1946 after purchasing the local telephone, water and gas franchise. The water and gas were later sold but he remains head of the telephone company. Under his direction, the telephone system has kept pace with the rapid growth of the area. Plains was one of the first small towns to install the dial system.

A native of Louisiana, St. Romain started to work for Humble Pipeline Co. in 1929 and remained with that firm until he moved to Plains.

He and his wife, also a tireless civic worker, are the parents of four children, Jeanine, a student at Eastern New Mexico University; Sam, Suzahn and Joe.

C-C Banquet Enjoyed by 175

More than 175 persons attended the annual banquet Friday night of the Plains Chamber of Commerce. It was probably the largest group ever to attend the event.

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce and one of the area's outstanding speakers, delivered an inspiring address, preceded by a barrage of well-told jokes which kept the audience laughing.

Citing suspicion as the nation's chief enemy, Downing blasted those who believed themselves patriotic by spying and condemning their fellow Americans.

He also expressed great concern over the fact that this country is not looking far enough ahead in the field of education. "By 1970, only about 25 percent of the qualified students will be able to attend college because of lack of room."

On the local level, Downing said he hoped that every person present was proud of the fact that he or she was from Plains.

"If your Chamber of Commerce does nothing more than to create pride within its people, each person's investment will be returned many times."

Program for the evening was presented by the Ambassador Quartet of Brownfield, composed of Jack Christie, J. W. Hawkins, John Hansard and Bill Denton. Accompanying this group was Mrs. Pat Ransour, also of Brownfield.

Wilda Scott also appeared on the program as she sang, "Summertime" and "Indian Love Call." She was accompanied by Gene Young, who also played dinner music.

Soil Conservation Gets Boost from Ministers

By C. MURRELL THOMPSON

Conservation work should get a boost this week as considerable emphasis is being placed on it. Tours for ministers of Plains and Denver City are being held. The Plains tour was held Thursday of this week and the Denver City group on Friday.

New conservation plans are being written each week. This week Wendell Tooley of Littlefield received assistance in working out a Great Plains program on his place east of Denver City. Wendell wants to put some underground pipe to facilitate moving his cotton and improve his conservation cropping system.

Your Board of Supervisors met in regular meeting Tuesday night and among other business approved conservation programs for A. E. McGinty, W. G. Wilmeth and James C. Boyd. They also received the route to be taken on both tours and what will be seen.

J. Presley White Jr. received assistance this week in planning a conservation program on his place west of Plains. Presley plans to plant some Bermuda, put in some underground pipe and do some crop rotation.

Application work was started on two underground irrigation jobs this week. The Blue Bonnet Land Corp. on its farm east of Denver City operated by Kenyon Banks, is installing about 3,000 feet. E. S. Wilkinson is installing 2,789 feet of pipe on his place northeast of Plains. Both these landowners can do a better job of water conservation and conservation crop rotation when the pipe is installed.

Moore Attends Convention

The Rev. Johnnie Moore, minister of the First Christian Church, attended the spring convention of District II of Christian Churches of Texas.

Also attending were Mrs. Moore, Wanda Anderson and Kenneth McGinty. The convention was Sunday afternoon and evening at the First Christian Church of Lubbock.

The Rev. Moore reported that it was a very excellent gathering, with some 200 workers and delegates from churches of the South Plains. He also revealed that he was privileged to teach and lead in one of the three interest groups that were attended by delegates.

You can't duck the fact that "dough" begins with "do" . . . Who says business is bad? The Shaeffer Pen Co. reports consumer demand for red ink declined 8% last year . . . Mr. Farmer

We have a crop hail policy that we feel will meet, beat and compete with any coverage offered by any other companies or bureaus.

In order that you might have sufficient early coverage on your cotton crops this year it will be well worth your time to talk to your Panhandle Mutual agent, or many Panhandle Mutual neighbors. We offer two cotton policies this year which particularly stress early coverage.

The managers of Panhandle Mutual Hall Ass'n all farm cotton, wheat and sorghum crops and have for many years, therefore they have tried to design hail policies that will best fit the climate and growing conditions in West Texas.

Our cotton policies provide coverage forty-eight hours after stand date if insured after cotton is up. However by writing your insurance prior to stand date you have coverage 24 hours after your cotton is up. It seems to us that this beats the 96 or 120 hour waiting period offered by other companies.

College Heads Ask Sales Tax

AUSTIN, April 17.—Heads of two state-supported schools took the almost unprecedented step Monday of telling the Senate state affairs committee they thought a sales tax would be the best solution to Texas' money problems.

Dr. James Cornette, president of West Texas State College at Canyon, and Dr. A. B. Martin, president of Amarillo Junior College, appeared at the request of Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, who had heard them discuss the tax situation at public meetings.

They testified as last witnesses on the only bill the House has sent the Senate. The committee immediately sent it to a subcommittee. Cornette said in response to a question he was speaking both as an individual and as a representative of his institution.

Senator Jep Fuller of Port Arthur commended him for speaking out on a topic most state employees shun.

Report Given.

Cornette reported on a study made for the Southern Regional Education Board set up several years ago by governors of 16 Southern states.

It showed that no revenue proposal other than a sales or income tax can produce enough money to meet Texas' needs. And he commented the federal government has pre-empted the income tax field.

Cornette, a native of Kentucky, also told how that state adopted a sales tax, repealed it and then recently readopted it.

He answered numerous queries of committee members, but declined to reply when Senator Hubert Hudson of Brownsville asked if Governor Daniel was not being a "political hypocrite" in opposing a sales or income tax and at the same time advocating "all this spending."

Martin, who spent eight years in Florida while it was initiating its sales tax, said citizens there are "happy" with it.

He said the state had been able to cut property taxes and levies on automobiles since adopting the sales tax.

Letter Read.

Hazlewood, an ardent foe of higher taxes on industry, read a letter to the committee from the Holly Sugar Corporation, saying it would like to install a beet sugar plant in the Panhandle but would make no decision until the tax picture is cleared.

The tax bill originally was estimated to produce $43,280,000 in the coming biennium.

However, witnesses at hearings last week attacked several features, directing their heaviest fire at the proposal to utilize $12,000,000 of the permanent school fund and to levy a state gift tax at half the federal rate.

The vote for subcommittee study Monday was for Committee Chairman Wardlow Lane of Center to serve as head of the group and to name four others to work with him.

Plains FHA Girls Receive State Degrees

By KAYE SPENCER
Early last Thursday morning, Annette Sudderth, Kaye Spencer and their sponsors, Carolyn Nelson and Judy Poole, traveled to Dallas to the State FHA convention to receive state degrees.

After arriving in Dallas and staying in the Adolphus Hotel, group went to the State Fair Music Hall for practice of the State Degrees of Achievement ceremony. After the practice, the girls toured Dallas and visited Love Field and watched the amusing jets.

Friday morning, the first general session convened at 9 o'clock. State FHA president, Donna Wickerson of Lubbock, presided at the opening ritual. The presentation of colors was by the ROTC of Arlington State College.

Following the presentation, greetings were given by Ray Wilson, manager of Youth Activities of the State Fair, Hollis Allen, assistant superintendent of Dallas school, Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education of Austin, president of FFA, Joe Dan Penn and Melvin Hatchett, president of Distributive Education clubs of America.

Next, Sherry Burgany from Friendship sang. After the solo Mrs. Billie Davis, writer, lecturer and Christian education consultant for Latin America, spoke to the group of over 3,000 girls. Her topic was "Life China Closet" and was a very interesting and inspiring speech.

In the afternoon session, Kaye and Annette, along with 300 more girls from Texas, were presented their State Home-maker Degree of Achievement. Each girl was presented a certificate and a torch to connect to the FHA pin. This degree is the highest honor an FHA member may receive.

Succeeding the degrees, a National Civil Defense alert was given. The girls remained in the Music Hall for 30 minutes and listened over the radio to Conalrad and a speech from county and city officials and also a speech from President Kennedy.

Following the alert the girls were dismissed for the afternoon until the next meeting which was held Friday night at 8 o'clock and was a musical program for entertainment.

The third general session was held Saturday morning and consisted of the meeting of the House of Delegates, reports of committees, introduction of the National Wool Clothing Contest winner, Mary Britton of Ysleta, and the beautiful installation of the 1961-62 state officers, then the closing ritual.

The group was dismissed at 12 o'clock and the afternoon was filled with shopping, packing and the Plains girls visited the Dallas Home and Flower Show. They left Dallas around 6 p.m. and spent the night in Snyder, then returned to Plains Sunday morning.

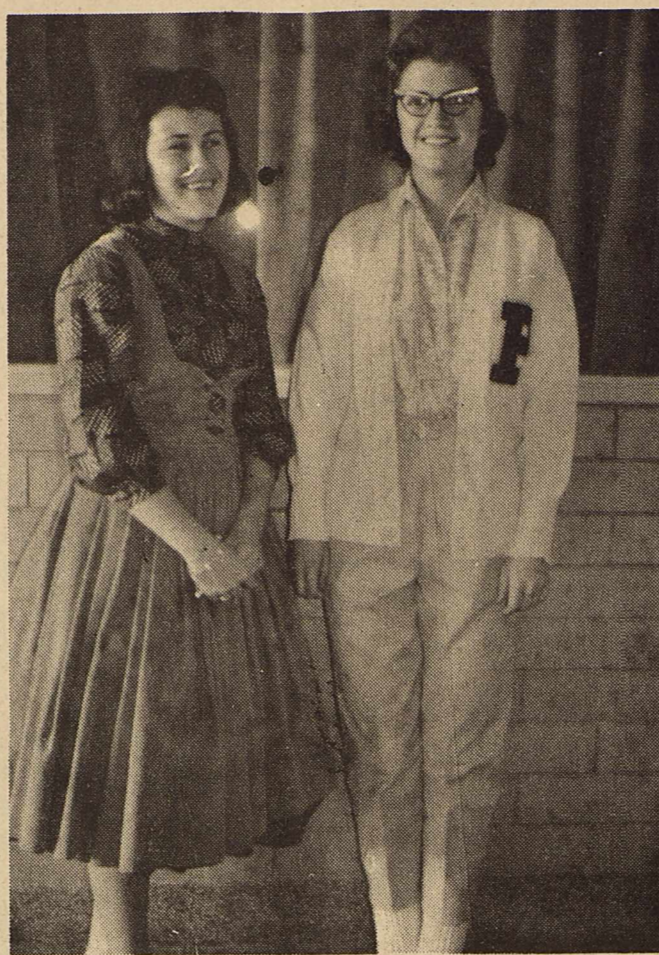

Shirley Gayle was supposed also to be presented her degree but attended the volleyball tournament instead of the State FHA met.

The Rev. Roy Ford of Lubbock will bring the address at the baccalaureate services here May 14.

The Rev. Mr. Ford is pastor of the Lubbock View Christian Church.

Teague Anniversary Brings Back Memories

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Marjorie Lindsey Brewer, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Teague. Mrs. Brewer, a freelance writer, lives in Tulsa.)

On Sunday, April 23, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Teague, whose most treasured memories cover their horse-and-buggy-day courtship and marriage, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at their home in Plains.

About one hundred relatives and guests called to congratulate the couple, wish for them many more years together and bring gifts of appreciation.

"This is the happiest day of my life," Mrs. Teague said, "even more exciting than fifty years ago."

The couple's children, Mrs. W. C. Lightsey of Amherst and Bernis of Plains, who helped with the celebration activities, said it was one of the grandest days of their lives too. They were especially happy to have had this experience which so few children have, that of witnessing their parents' fiftieth year of marriage celebration.

At the ages of 17 and 19, respectively, Donnie Webb and Eugene B. Teague were united in marriage, April 23, 1911, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Webb of Hooleyann, near Quanah.

About nightfall and in order to evade the charivari crowd, the newlyweds slipped away and drove in their buggy at top speed north toward Red River. Some of the horseback riders managed to cut through and overtake the couple.

While discussing this pre-charivari race with some of the participants who were present at this latest celebration, Teague said, "I still believe we could have made our getaway, but the river was up and we were afraid to ford it in the dark. There was nothing to do but to go back and hand out the candy and cigars bought for the occasion, in case we were caught."

The young couple settled on a farm in Hooleyann Community which had been named for Ann and Hooley Clement who had sold out their ranch in quarter sections to farmers, where the couple lived and prospered for many years though prices for farm products were low. Cotton sold for as little as five cents per pound but usually averaged about seven cents. Cotton had to be hand-picked because no gin was equipped to take out the burs. The things they bought were low priced too. A 48 lb. sack of flour sold for 75 cents and a pound of coffee for a quarter.

"I've never had a rough day in my life," Teague told some of the relatives and friends at this Golden Wedding Celebration. "I was always willing to work and not uneasy about the next meal. I didn't complain if it was mush and milk. I usually worked for myself and didn't worry about low wages but did work out some for fifty cents a day."

Mrs. Teague says that she has greatly enjoyed being a housewife and never has minded the many activities required to keep the home in order. Those who know her best do not doubt this as she is an excellent housekeeper. She also says that rearing her two children has afforded some of the greatest pleasures of her life.

Mrs. Lightsey, the daughter, says, "Life has been wonderful. I was brought up in about the sweetest harmony any home ever had."

Those who know how gentle mannered and even tempered both her parents are know this is true.

After having lived 21 years in Hardeman County, in Hooleyann, the family moved to Hale Center. Twelve horses and mules were brought on this move and used for farming until a tractor was bought in 1936. One year was spent in New Mexico and several at Morton, before the family moved to Plains. Here Teague has served the city as judge and in other capacities.

Mr. and Mrs. Teague, members of the Baptist Church of Plains, say they get a great deal of joy from their church membership and activities, especially their Sunday School classes. The youngest lady in Mrs. Teague's class is 66, so Mrs. Teague confided.

Upon being asked for their recipe for happiness, they replied that they have always worked their problems out together.

"We are just hoping that we will have many more happy years together," Mrs. Teague said.

It appears quite possible that their wishes along this line may come true. Both are quite vigorous and young looking, much more so than most people of their ages. Then too, they have been greatly blessed with good health. During the fifty years, there has never been any serious illness in the family.

Coffman Ends Nevada Meet

The Rev. C. J. Coffman of the First Baptist Church of Plains has been serving as evangelist with the First Baptist Church of Ely, Nev., in the simultaneous revival that has been conducted in that state since April 19.

Last services conducted by Rev. Coffman were held in the Ely church on Sunday evening.

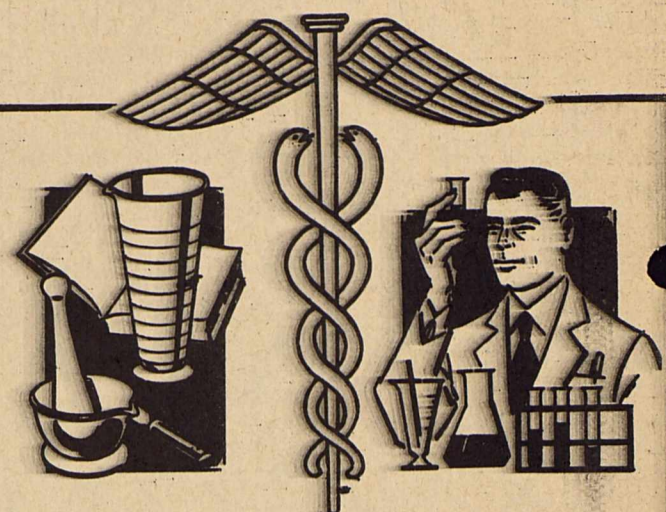

The Ely church is but one of 14 Southern Baptist churches and missions of northern and central Nevada participating in the crusade.

The Rev. Coffman has been very effective in his work in the eastern Nevada city, it was reported by the pastor, the Rev. Foy O. King.

A birthday supper was enjoyed by some 20 persons in Stanford Park Tuesday evening.

The picnic was for Russell Faulkenberry. Among the guests were his mother, Mrs. E. A. Faulkenberry and his brother, Jim.

for Want of a Nail

For want of a nail, a shoe was lost;
For want of a shoe, a horse was lost;
For want of a horse, a rider was lost;
For want of a rider, a kingdom was lost.

Through the centuries this bit of philosophy has been used to bring home a fact we've all observed... how an insignificant event can lead to more and more important occurrences... and eventually to great calamity... or to great good.

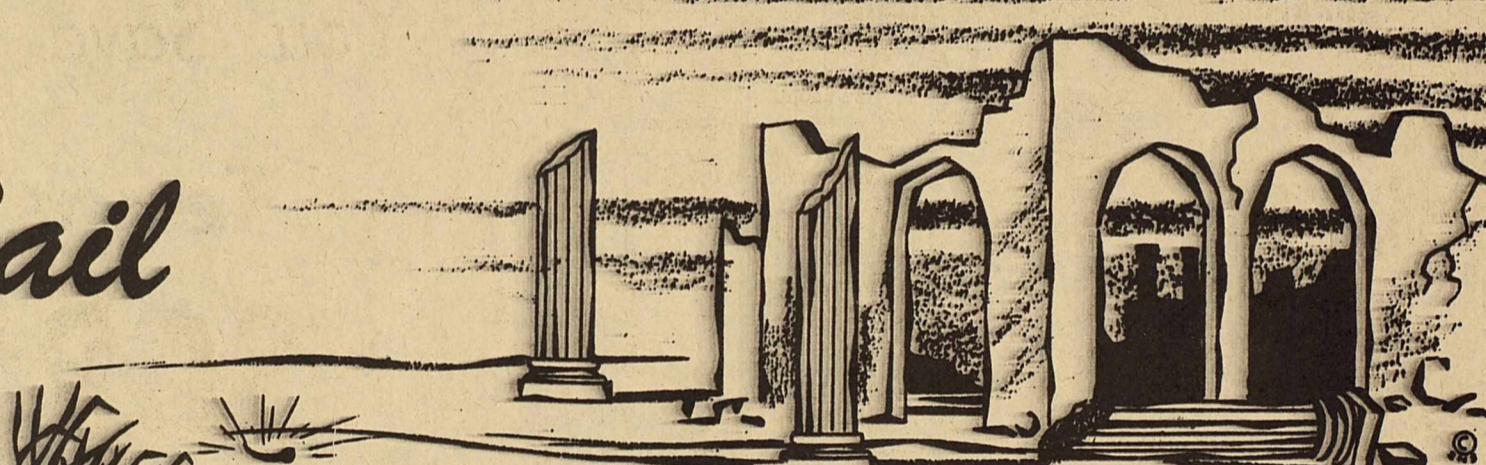

► The casual purchase of a pair of shoes... a garden hose... an occasional chair... a tube of toothpaste... multiplied thousands of times... is the base upon which the prosperity of every community is erected.

► Better paying jobs, more profitable business, more valuable property... better schools, stronger churches, fuller living... depend on these thousands of little transactions... each one important as each brick is important in a great structure, and as the fabled nail was important to all the people of a kingdom.

► One drop of water out of the ocean makes it a smaller ocean; every penny of local money that is spent in some other town makes this community smaller and less prosperous... and every penny that is spent here at home means a little better place to live for all of us who make our homes here.

Witts Attend District Council

Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Witt just returned from the West Texas District Council of the Assemblies of God Churches which convened in Big Spring April 24 through April 27.

There were approximately 1,000 ministers, delegates and visitors attending.

Guest speaker of the district-wide meeting was the Rev. E. S. Williams, Springfield, Mo. The Rev. Williams was for 20 years the general superintendent (highest office of the denomination) of the Assemblies of God, and since retiring from that position has been very active as special speaker at many conventions similar to this one.

In his opening address, the Rev. Williams cited the alarming trend in American higher education away from the fundamental truths of the word of God, including Divine creation of the universe, inspiration of the Scriptures and personal relationship with Deity. He made a plea for revival among Bible-believing Christians of today.

Also featured in convention services were the Ambassadors trio of Southwestern Bible Institute, Waxahachie, along with talent from the district.

The International organization known as the Assemblies of God is slightly over 45 years old. However, compared to other denominations, it ranks ninth in total number of churches with over 8,000 in continental USA, and over 13,000 abroad, eighth in the number of ordained ministers and first in Protestant Bible Schools on foreign soil, with over 60 schools. There are over 700 missionaries under direct appointment of the denomination's national office.

Visitors to the council sessions in Big Spring came from New Mexico, North Texas and Oklahoma. The Rev. J. A. Thomas, incumbent district superintendent, presided.

TO MARRY---Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Addison have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Willie Mae, to Mr. Kenneth Engle of Canyon. The groom-to-be is the son of Roy Engle of Canyon. The wedding will be June 16 at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. C. J. Coffman officiating. The couple will live in Canyon.

PLAINS By Wendell Faught Talk

I'm not one of those guys who enters a lot of contests, but I hardly ever fail to file away an advertisement announcing fabulous prizes for doing this or that. I seldom find time to do anything about it, but I do a lot of day dreaming when such an advertisement catches my attention.
I've often wondered if all these prizes actually are given away. Of course they have to be, or the Federal Trade Commission would interfere with the sponsors.

Encouraged by big cash prizes, I once went crossword puzzle-crazy, only to be met with one disappointment after another.

As a high school senior I entered a national contest which offered new cars to each of the six contestants who could make the most words of letters used in the spelling of a well-known brand of peanuts.

I worked on it every night for weeks. I ordered a copy of the dictionary which the contest rules stipulated would be used to determine the winners.

When I finally mailed my entry I was so sure I had won that I already was visualizing just what the new car would look like.

Needless to say, I never heard from my entry. I was discouraged, of course, but I still mail in an entry to another contest every now and then.

My wife has met with a little greater success. About three years ago when a TV program offered 1,001 prizes each week for writing the names of songs in appropriate squares of a homemade Bingo card, she mailed in an entry.

A few days later, a postcard from New York arrived, notifying Pat that she was a prize winner. The prize, the card said, was being mailed from Providence, R. I.

We tried not to expect too much. When groups of prizes were displayed on the TV screen the least expensive item we could see was a portable TV set. So we tried to make up our minds that we would expect the TV set, and then could be surprised if it was anything bigger.

Our vacation was coming up in a few days. We hoped it would arrive before we left town. Our friends, many of whom had entered the contest also were excited.

When the prize failed to arrive by the day we were to leave on our vacation, we even thought about staying home a few days.

On our return, there was the package from Providence, small enough to fit in the mail box. Immediately, we suspected disappointment, and that's exactly what it turned out to be. Inside the small package was a quite ordinary bracelet, worth perhaps a few dollars to some people, but absolutely worthless to either of us.

Like so many things which find no use around our house, it was added to the kids' toy box collection. I ran across it this week, buried in the bottom of the box alongside a couple of fruit jar caps and an empty razor blade dispenser.
