PLAINS, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1961

NUMBER 19

PLAINS By Wendell Faught Talk

Before the formal opening of the Tumbleweed, Mr. Weed told me that he had sold over 600 19-cent hamburgers in 19-56 when he held a grand opening at his Levelland drive in.

"I hope this one goes over as well," said he.

Well, after the big day was over, here is how the count stood:

A total of 2,033 hamburgers, made, sold and consumed, each accompanied by a bag of potato chips or Fritos.

Forty gallons of ice cream given away.

Twenty dozen doughnuts given out.

Numerous gallons of free coffee consumed.

These are the figures for the 10-hour period between 11 a. m. and 9 p. m.

The Weeds had help in staging this give-away. Morton's furnished the potato chips, the Fritos were gifts of the Frito company, Bell supplied the ice cream, Rainbo bread gave the doughnuts and DeCoty furnished the coffee.

Plains fans have put up the moo-la for each of the three Cowboy coaches to get new suits. The action is in appreciation of district championships in football, basketball and track, as well as the many other things the coaches have done.

Coaches have asked us to express their appreciation to the fans---for the suits and for the many other things they have done.

One of the most unusual ads it's ever been my pleasure to accept appears today on page 6. It was prepared and bought by Foy Cogburn of Cogburn-Young Hardware and is a tribute to the advertising value of this newspaper.

To one who has depended on advertising revenue for a livelihood for nearly two-thirds of his life, it is most gratifying when one of his largest advertisers spends his own money to tell the public how effective advertising benefits the customer as well as the merchant.

Instead of making machines to explore outer space, why not just climb to the top of the national debt and take a look?

Vaccinations For Dogs Set

Dr. A. J. Mabry, Seminole veterinarian, will be in Plains Saturday morning to vaccinate dogs for local citizens.

Anyone owning a dog which needs vaccinating can take the dog to the City Hall where Dr. Mabry will be headquartered between 8 a. m. and noon.

A city ordinance requires that all dogs be vaccinated.

In Austin . . .

A three-man delegation left Plains Wednesday afternoon for Austin and a conference with Attorney General Will Wilson in connection with creation of a hospital district embracing the Plains area.

Complete details of the mission were not revealed, but will be reported upon the return of the group.

Taking part in the session are Dr. Bill McCollough, Archie Whitaker and Johnnie Fitzgerald.

Junior-Senior Banquet Is Set

One of the most treasured events of the crowded schedule of end-of-school activities comes off at 7:30 Saturday night with the annual junior-senior banquet.

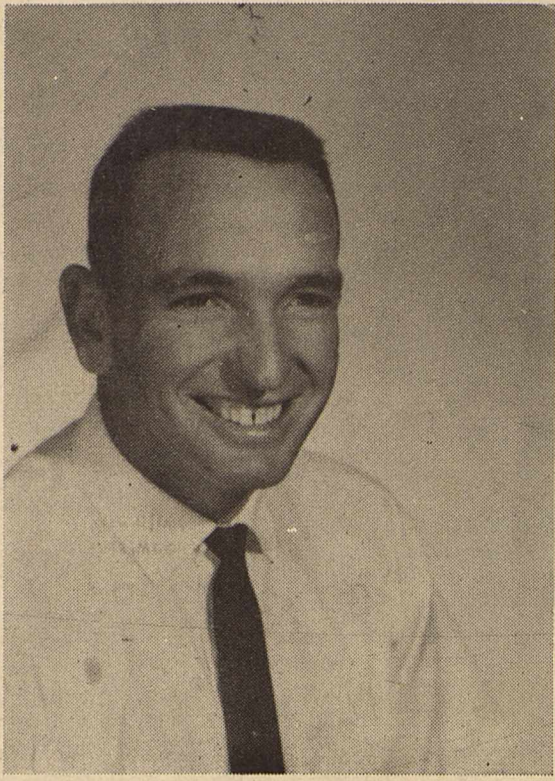

As has always been the custom, members of the junior class honor their departing comrades with this social affair.

Walter Hawkins, president of the junior class, will serve as master of ceremonies. Developed around a "Showboat" theme, the students will present the program, which will consist of musical numbers, skits and speaking. Mothers of the hosts will prepare the meal.

Special guests will be members of the school board and their wives, high school faculty members and their husbands and wives, and principals of all schools.

Following the banquet, the annual junior-senior prom will be held in the American Legion Hall.

SAM MOSLEY

Mosley Takes Ft. Worth Post

Sam Mosley, an assistant coach in the Plains school system for the past two years, has been named to a coaching position at Brewer High School in Fort Worth. He and his family plan to move to Fort Worth next month.

At Brewer, Mosley will be a first assistant in football, coaching the line, and will be head track coach.

The Fort Worth school, a Class AAA outfit, has hired a complete new coaching staff in hopes of building up its athletic fortunes. New head coach is Caddo Sanders. The football team had registered 1-9 records in each of the past two seasons.

Mosley expressed regret at leaving Plains. He said he had enjoyed his two-year stay here but felt that elevation to a first assistant's post with a much larger school was too much of a promotion to resist.

The coach has enjoyed tremendous success during his tenure here. In addition to helping coach the football team to a 20-2-1 mark, the basketball team to two district titles and the track team to one, he has handled junior high and B team coaching duties.

This past season, the junior high football team won six and lost two. Last year, the record was 7-2, giving him an overall record of 13-4, probably the best in the school's history. His seventh-grade basketball team won 22 and lost only 9 during the past two years and the eighth-graders posted a two-year mark of 18-13. The junior track team won the district this year and took titles at the Plains and Brownfield relays.

As coach of the Cowboy B team in basketball, Mosley led the cagers to marks of 16-3 and 14-5 during the past two years. Both times they won the unofficial championship of district 5-A.

Mosley came to Plains in 1959, coming here from his hometown of Hillsboro where he was coaching. He was an all-round athlete in high school and participated in track, football and basketball, earning all-district honors in the two latter sports.

After graduation from high school, he entered Hillsboro Junior College on an athletic scholarship. He was an all-conference end in football and twice was named to the all-conference basketball team. He later transferred to Southwest Texas State at San Marcos where he continued to play both football and basketball.

Mosley and his wife, Libba, have three children, Karen, Judy and Mike.

Day Off

Beginning this week, Alma's Restaurant will be closed all day each Wednesday.

The restaurant will observe its regular hours during the other six days of the week.

New Saddle To Be Given During Rodeo

A new saddle will be awarded this year to the holder of the lucky ticket in the rodeo queen contest, while the winning queen gets a $40 gift certificate and belt buckle.

These and other details concerning the April 10, 11 and 12 rodeo were worked out Monday night when members of the three sponsoring organizations met in the Commissioners Court room. Sponsors are the Roping Club, Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce.

After considerable discussion, which carried over from a previous meeting three weeks ago, the group voted to conduct a beard-growing contest again. However, regulations in this contest were relaxed considerably.

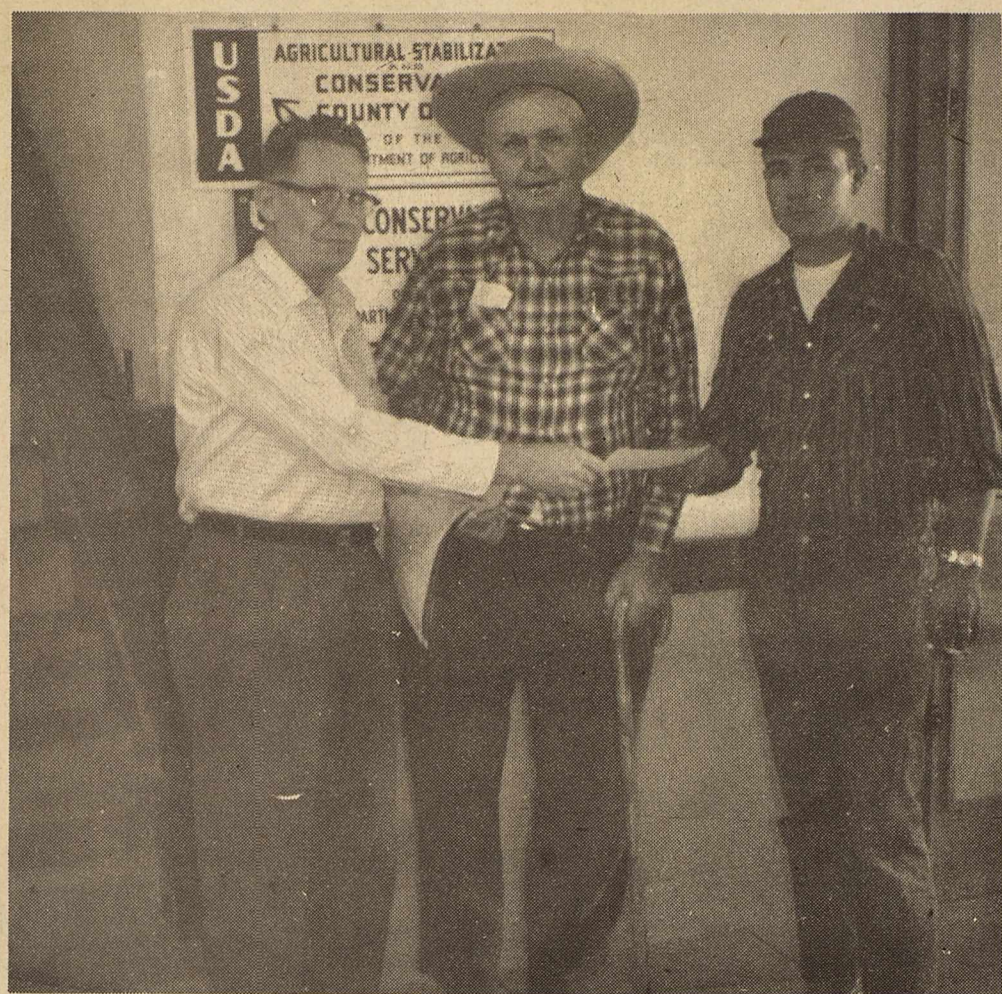

Beard growing will begin July 1. But shaving permits, costing $5 as they did last year, will entitle the purchaser to five votes for the queen candidate of his choice. In this way, a person buying a shaving permit can also participate in the queen contest.

Every person who votes for one of the queens will receive one chance on the saddle for each vote. The award will be made on the final day of the rodeo.

Sponsors also voted to award belt buckles to winning contestants of each rodeo event, as well as to the runnerup in the queen contest. All queen candidates will receive prizes, but it has not been decided what those finishing below the first two will get.

As was announced earlier, various organizations of the area will sponsor queen candidates and work in their behalf. This year, two organizations may go together in sponsoring a queen candidate. This idea was approved since so many clubs have members who also are members of other clubs. The Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce, for instance, with a great duplication in membership, will sponsor a candidate jointly. Several women's clubs are faced with the same situation and probably will elect to undertake the project in the same manner.

Dick Ratzen of Happy will produce this year's rodeo. Events will include bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, bulldogging, barrel racing, team roping and bull riding.

RECEIVES CHECK---Shown receiving the first check issued in Yoakum County for diverting 20 per cent of his grain sorghum land to conservation crops is Lary James, whose farm is in the southeast corner of the county. In the center, is Lon Light, landlord. Making the presentation is W. M. Overton, office manager of ASC.

New Sanctuary

Church Plans Building

It was revealed this week that the Board of Elders and Deacons of the First Christian Church of Plains recommended to the congregation that they enter into a building program.

Recommendations call for erection of a new sanctuary to be built perpendicularly into the existing building. The present building would then be partitioned off to provide more Sunday School rooms and a Fellowship Hall.

The partition between the new sanctuary and the remodeled Fellowship Hall would be large accordion-type doors, which when the need arose could be opened, providing seating for overflow crowds in the case of funerals and such.

Plans include new furnishings throughout the entire church. The outside wall construction called for will be of stone siding, with the inside finished in solid Manila panelling.

Date for construction has not as yet been determined as the project is still in its planning stages. A large portion of the cost of the new building will of necessity be received before construction will begin. It is hoped that the necessary funds can be raised in about 12 months.

The Rev. Johnnie Moore, pastor of the congregation, stated that already, even in these very early planning stages, a great amount of help and encouragement had been received from the members of the local church and from many other persons.

A great many of the materials have been volunteered and most others have been offered at cost to the suppliers.

Rev. Moore stated further that it is certainly gratifying to see the manner in which people respond to any church as it plans and works in trying to improve its ministry in the community.

It was revealed further that the amount of money needed in the building fund is approximately $12,000. "This we know is a great undertaking, which will ask our people to sacrifice. But we firmly believe that when we attempt great things for God, we can expect great things from God," said Rev. Moore.

As Commissioner

Mrs. Loe Named

Mrs. Paul Loe was appointed Monday to fulfill the unexpired term of her late husband as commissioner of precinct 4.

Appointment was made by County Judge Don Hancock during the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court. Members of the court unanimously passed a resolution endorsing the move.

Mrs. Loe probably will be sworn in to office at the meeting of the court next Monday, according to Hancock.

Her husband, a veteran county official who was elected commissioner three times, died of a heart attack May 4. He was elected to a four-year term in 1958. The unexpired term extends through 1962.

SQUARE DANCERS---These youngsters, representing the General 4-H Club finished second in the Share-the-Fun Festival in Lubbock Saturday with their square dance number, "Little Red

Address to Be Given By Lubbock Man

Baccalaureate services for this year's graduating seniors will be held Sunday at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Roy Ford of Lubbock. All persons in the area are invited to attend.

Program for the event was announced this week by school officials. Miss Judith Clingo will play the procession and the Rev. C. J. Coffman will bring the invocation.

The Fine Arts Choir will sing "My God and I", with Mrs. Jack Pierce accompanying. The Rev. Johnnie Moore will introduce the speaker. Following Rev. Ford's message, the choir will sing "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind." The Rev. E. L. Witt will bring the benediction. Miss Clingo will play the recessional.

Rev. Ford is pastor of the Lubbock View Christian Church. Although he has been with the church for just a little over a year, he is well known in this area, having served for a number of years as pastor of the First Church in Hereford.

Very active in youth activities, he has counselled many times at the summer camp at the Ceta Glen Christian Camp near Happy.

At various times, both Ford Mrs. Ford have held various state offices in the Dilectus of Christ Brotherhood. Mrs. Ford is at present a state director of youth work.

Commencement exercises for the 1961 seniors will be held May 19. Junior high graduation rites are scheduled for May 23.

Services For Paul Loe Held

Funeral services for Paul Loe were held Friday afternoon in the Plains Methodist Church. Cecil Allen, minister of the Saint Jo Church of Christ and a former Plains minister, officiated. Vernon Holt, minister of Hillside Church of Christ assisted.

Burial, under direction of Brownfield Funeral Home, was in the Plains cemetery.

Pallbearers were Johnnie Fitzgerald, T. A. Elmore, Earl Bryson, Homer Sudderth, W. O. Spencer and Alton Loe. Honorary pallbearers were M. W. Luna, R. N. McGinty, A. B. Carpenter, W. M. Overton, Jim Burt, Bill Loyd, E. W. Craig and Raymond Bearden.

Loc. 54, died following a heart attack at his home here on Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. T. C. Hightower was admitted to a Lubbock hospital Wednesday where she will undergo tests for the next several days.

Library Plans Read Program

A summer reading program will be conducted by the Yoakum County Library in Plains, beginning June 1.

Sponsored by the Texas State Library, the program will continue through Aug. 29.

Arrangements for 100 junior readers and 50 teenage readers have been made by library personnel.

It has been pointed out that average daily circulation during the month of April was 51. Four books on Texas, written by Nordyke, have been donated.

The library has received "A Texan at Bay" written by former West Texas newspaperman Paul Crume. The author now writes the "Big D" column for The Dallas Morning News.

IT NEVER FAILS

Popular Feeder Day Is Monday

Cattlemen will be able to see actual results of good feeding practices --- from trough to dinner plate --- when Texas Tech holds its annual Cattle Feeders Day Monday.

Dallas Powell, animal husbandry major from Plains, will report on his research in comparing different silages in cattle rations. He will do graduate work in animal nutrition at Texas Tech next year.

The most massive exhibit will be at a local meat packinghouse. Each of the 96 steers in Tech feeding experiments will be presented.

A photograph of the live animal will be shown beside half its carcass. Data on each carcass will be displayed giving bone, muscle and fat cut-out information.

One display will include a steer killed and quick-frozen on the hoof, a companion steer with wholesale cuts reconstituted in live position, and a third display showing the retail cuts and where they come from on the steer. A hog, killed and quick-frozen is also to be displayed.

Principal speakers will be John Pierce of Washington, D. C., deputy administrator for the Livestock Division of the Agricultural Marketing Service and Bill Zmolek will talk on Corn Belt feeding practices.

In other talks, Tech researchers will report on experiments involving silage and various feed additives.

More than 500 persons are expected for the Feeders Day, sponsored by the Tech animal husbandry department. Dr. Ralph Durham is in charge of arrangements, Powell will assist Durham in presenting research material and in the demonstrations.

The preparation schedule for Feeders Day calls for each of the 96 steers in Tech feeding experiments to be scored May 3 as a live animal for grade. The public is invited to participate in the scoring which will begin at 9 a.m. The animals are to be slaughtered at a local meat packing house May 4, graded May 5 and prepared for exhibit. The public is invited to view any of these preparations.

Forty-eight Angus and 48 Herefords are included in the feeding experiments to be reported.

Tsa Mo Ga Hears Report on Libraries

Mrs. Ty Field, program director, gave an interesting talk on "Look to Your Libraries." Library history is deep-rooted. Even the ancient Babylonians made tablets of clay. They used these tablets to keep records and write messages. Many large collections have since been dug up and preserved.

The Egyptians learned to make beautiful writing material from the papyrus plant. The Chinese built libraries as early as 300 B. C.

Public libraries had their beginning in the United States tax free in New Hampshire in 1833. The library of congress was established in 1800 with approximately 5,000 books. It has grown to the present size with the building having 36 acres of floor space. The Library of Congress has the largest collection of books on aeronautical subjects and research is open to all scholars but is designed mainly to assist congressmen in preparing laws. Mrs. Norelle Sloan, assistant county librarian and librarian of Plains Library spoke on "The Yoakum County Libraries." Mrs. Sloan said our libraries make accessible the accumulated experience of all mankind, from which present and future generations may derive the wisdom and understanding vital to our national survival. Freedom of the press and freedom to read are two of Democracy's most cherished liberties. It is only through an enlightened and educated public that our democratic way of life will be preserved and protected.

Development of life time reading habits is vital to the continuation of our society. Mrs. Sloan gave the state report given by the Yoakum Co. Libraries, Circulation in Plains was 11,530, Denver City, 21,816 for 1960. An average per day for Plains is 46 books and Denver City 74. Books purchased in Plains 436, Denver City 681. Books donated in Plains were 365 and Denver City 186.

There are between 10,000 and 11,000 books in both libraries. The state has donated between 400 and 500 in the junior departments of the libraries. The budget set for the two libraries is $15,000. This figure is inadequate for both libraries to operate successfully but will remain the same unless interested people ask for more able support.

July is the time for setting the budget, there will be no donations of state books next year and as long as the judge and Commissioners Court receive no complaint they take it for granted that everything is fine. About $2,000 is divided between the two libraries for books and supplies. It is a rewarding and a very interesting position to be Librarian, said Mrs. Sloan.

In the absence of Mrs. Don Lackey to give her talk on "Finland - A New Era Ahead?", Mrs. C. F. McCargo gave an interesting talk on Abilene's West Texas Rehabilitation Center. Contributions from ranchers made it possible to have a new therapeutic pool. Brands of 250 Texas Ranchers adorn the walls in ceramic tile. The center was opened in 1953.

At present it has 22 staff members, five are physically handicapped, and it boasts a staff of 140 volunteer workers. The center cares for 359 patients who come from a wide area of West Texas. One in five of the patients is an adult. The basic admission of a handicapped patient is a complete examination and referral by a medical doctor. A statement declared by one of Abilene's backers said, "It's a living example of democracy in action. We have shown here that people can do things for themselves. It is a working answer to Socialism."

Report of the 64th annual State Texas Federation Convention held in Midland, May 1 - 3 was given in roundtable discussion by Mrs. Garland Swann, Mrs. R. B. Jones, Mrs. M. W. Luna, Mrs. Ty Field and Mrs. P. W. St. Roman. The convention theme "Action Guided by Knowledge." Mrs. Harry Griffiths of Austin, TFWC president, has chosen Finland as the subject of the international understanding study program for her two-year administration, now at the half-way point. The government of Finland has invited her to open the fairs in Helsinki and Mikkeli and to bring a party of Texas club women with her. Mrs. Griffiths and club women will be honor guests for "Texas Days" at the fairs, June 16, 17 & 18. They will be guests in the homes of the Finnish people.

It was a wonderful convention and the Tsa Mo Ga Club brought home its share of awards. Tsa Mo Ga won first place with its yearbook, course of study has been "Great Decisions-1960-61." A first and sweepstakes was awarded to their Press Book. In the Civil War Centennial awards were first place on the Civil War Press Book, compiled by Mrs. Gene Payne, first place for attending the Civil War Centennial lecture and tour at the West Texas Museum at Tech and first place for the overall program on Civil War Centennial. Public Affairs department, Responsible Citizenship Division took a first place and a $3.00 cash award. Home Life Department, Crafts division took a first place, pertaining to the annual Bazaar.

Hostesses Mrs. R. H. Melxner and Mrs. Virgil E. Wade used our General Federation President's motif for their decoration theme, pinkroses. Frested punch, dainty sandwiches and cake were served to club members.

13 Scouts Are Honored

Named to Band Faculty

Mrs. Gene Young of Plains, a former McMurry College "Maidenette" has been named again this year to the faculty of the McMurry College Summer Band and Twirling School, scheduled July 16-29 on the Abilene campus.

Mrs. Young will instruct in twirling. Dr. Raymond T. Bynum, director of the summer band program and director of the McMurry College Band, said that 16 faculty members had already been named.

The school is staffed by some of the top band teachers in West Texas.

These instructors will deal mostly with the individual instruments, and much of the emphasis is in the McMurry school is on this phase of work.

Several hundred young high school, junior high and college band students are expected during the two-week period, Bynum said.

The Scout Hut was the scene last Thursday evening of a very impressive ceremony in which 13 boys received their first rank, the Tenderfoot Badge.

Gene Young, Scoutmaster, Johnnie Moore and C. L. Faubus, Assistant Scoutmasters, conducted the Court of Honor, which is the first such ceremony to be held here in quite a period of time.

It is reported by the troop leaders that the troop is becoming quite active and that interest among the boys is at a very high pitch. Several of the boys who just received their Tenderfoot rank will be receiving their Second Class badges within the month, as they have already begun work on those requirements.

Other activities now in progress for the local troop, No. 778, include a reconditioning of the scout hut by the boys themselves, the making of 6 Indian teepees and getting ready for their annual summer camp.

The camp this year will be at Camp Post near the city of Post and is now planned for the last week in June. Boys who are planning to attend will be required to have passed at least their Tenderfoot requirements, have their uniforms and their parents permission along with a Doctor's certificate.

The local troop meets each Thursday at the Scout Hut at 7 p. m. All boys of the area from 11 years of age up are urged to come. Attendance at the meetings is now ranging between 20 and 30 boys a week, which is very encouraging to those concerned with Boy Scouting in this area.

Science Club Member Writes of Trip

By ROBERTA SNODGRASS
I. INTRODUCTION

The main objectives of this trip were to study life under natural conditions, or field biology and to study plants and animals in relation to their environment, or ecology. We observed how plants, altitudes and climate help determine the community types and enviorment, and we also studied four of the major vegetational areas of the world. We visited the scientific laboratories of the University of California at Los Alamos, New Mexico.

II. DATA

The first day we traveled to Santa Fe where we spent the night. From Plains to Vaughn, we crossed over a short-grass prairie, one major vegetational area. We stopped at the Pecos River and observed the features of a slow-moving stream and discussed the life found there. Here the oxygen content in the water was low and much life was present.

When we arrived in mountainous country that night and the next day, we compared the swift-water stream with the slow one. Here the oxygen content was high since cold water holds more oxygen than does warm water. There is very little plant life near these streams and few animals.

The next day we visited Los Alamos and were given a guided tour of the whole settlement. Research projects and work on weapons, nuclear rocket propulsion, metallurgy, health, thermonuclear reactions, and the use of mathematics and computers were briefly explained to us on a tour confined to the bus. We were then shown some color slides of instruments and machines used inside the laboratory buildings.

From here we traveled north toward Taos. We checked in the hotel and went up to Hondo Ski Lodge for supper and a lecture by Ranger Sontag on watersheds. He stressed their importance in conserving our much needed water supply. The vegetational area up the Hondo Ski Valley was classed as Alpine Coniferous forest.

The next morning we visited the Red River Trout Hatchery and then went on to Dunn's Bridge where the Rio Grande and Hondo rivers meet. The area on top of the gorge here is known as a "cool" desert. The rest of the morning was spent at the lodge skiing and eating lunch. We left Taos that afternoon for home.

Throughout the trip we observed plants and animals. On the short-grass prairie near Vaughn, we saw and photographed antelope. The main plants here were various kinds of grasses. Near the slow-moving streams we found willows and "salt cedars". Rodents, turtles, frogs, toads and snakes were the main animals to be found here. Near the swift-moving streams, we saw trout, Planaria and beaver, but very little plant life except for moss and algae. The "cool" desert was much like the short-grass prairie so far as animals were concerned. However, there was mainly sagebrush instead of grasses in the way of plants. In the mountains we photographed deer. The plants varied with the altitude. From 3,500 to 6,000 feet there were juniper and pinyon pine. Then, up to 8,000 feet there were Ponderosa pine and various species of fir, and from here up to, about 11,000 feet there were different kinds of spruce. Above this was the Alpine Tundra, the other vegetational area we studied but did not visit.

III. CONCLUSIONS (Questions and answers)

1. What is the most apparent difference in slow-moving and swift-water streams?

A slow-moving stream has sand present in great quantity, while a swift one has large rocks with no soil on them and the water is very pure.

2. Is the work in the Laboratories at Los Alamos devoted much to weapons?

No. Today only about half of it is devoted to weapons. Instead the main work is on problems of controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of useful power.

3. About how many pounds of fish are produced each year at the Red River Trout Hatchery?

About 175,000 pounds a year at 22¢ per pound.

4. What do Planaria in the swift-water streams live on?

They feed on microscopic organisms.

5. Why is it necessary that we keep vegetation on watersheds?

To prevent the erosion of soil and to make the soaking of the water into the ground gradual.

IV. SUMMARY

By studying organisms in their natural environment we get a better understanding of their habits and enjoy studying about them much more than in a regular class. Also, we are better able to remember about the animal and plant life of various regions of the country. By visiting the laboratories at Los Alamos, we are helped to understand our nation's peacetime programs, and some students may be encouraged to make such work their career.

Little League Tryouts to Be Held Friday

Little League hopefuls will display their best stuff before the watchful eyes of managers Friday afternoon.

Occasion is the annual tryout camp at which all boys planning to participate in the summer baseball program are invited. Boys are to report to the new Little League field at 4 o'clock.

Managers will make choices of boys they would like to have on their teams. About a week later, player assignments will be made.

This year's managers will include Jack Lowe of the Yankees, Jack Holder of the Indians, Junior Van Liew of the Cubs and Slim Randall of the Giants.

The summer program is sponsored by the Plains Lions Club and Gayle Craft is league president. Team sponsors are Iota Pi, Tsa Mo Ga, 07 Ranch and A&S Trucking.

League play will begin the week after school is out.

Farmers Begin New Soil Practices

By C. MURRELL THOMPSON

This week started off with more new interest in conservation work. Earl M. Fox of Brownfield has purchased a section of land about four miles north of Plains. He is plowing his land according to the type of soil based on the standard soil survey. Maps have been ordered and a conservation plan for his farm will be written as soon as the plan maps are received.

Paul Cobb, who owns land south west of Plains, says he is planning to plant some Midland Bermuda grass to give his farm a better balance. He will still have enough crop land to have a good conservation cropping system.

Spraying of shinnery is due to start last of this week or first of next. Several land owners plan to spray. Chesley Bedford plans to spray about 2,800 acres, Ty Field, Clyde Coke and Johnnie Fitzgerald are a few of the local conservation ranchers who plan to spray.

Leon Simpson should bring in his new irrigation well this week. Leon plans to do some irrigation farming on his new farm and put most of his dry-land place to grass.

Club Sets Out 1,200 Plants

Members of the Plains Dirt Gardeners Garden Club have planted more than 1,200 plants in the past few days on the school grounds and on the triangle owned by W. C. Wilmeth at the intersection formed by the Roswell and Lovington highways.

Plants were planted in carrying out the club's annual Civic Beautification project, with cooperation of school officials, Wilmeth and Raymond Bookout, member of county Commissioners Court.

Members gathered at the area wearing assorted garbs of jeans, oversize shirts, bonnets, sun hats and gardening gloves, bringing their shovels, hoes, sharpshooters, rakes, spading forks and trowels. The soil was deeply dug after the addition of peat moss and commercial fertilizer.

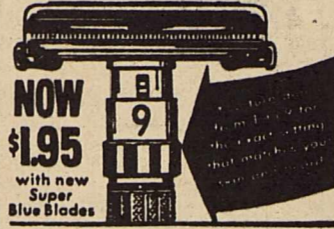

Plantings include several varieties of chrysanthemums and iris, petunias, carnations, baby's breath, creeping phlox, cannas, violets, lantanas, Vanda and ornamental grass.
