

Cowboys to Begin Football Practices

Minus 13 stalwart performers who have departed via the graduation route, the Plains Cowboys begin two-a-day practices for the 1961 football campaign at 8 a.m. Monday.

Less than three weeks later, on Sept. 1, the Cowboys plunge into a rugged 10-game schedule, easily the roughest in the history of the school.

All 13 of the gridders who graduated were starters, either on offense, defense or both on the 1960 club which marched undefeated through a regular 10-game schedule, won the bi-district and regional before bowing to Stinnett in the state quarterfinals.

Three regulars return from last fall's champions. Dennis Hickman, 172-pound junior tackle who may see backfield duty this year; Sam St. Riman, 175-pound senior guard, and Ronnie Hendricks, 146-pound junior halfback, are the three returning regulars and around this trio the 1961 edition of the Cowboys must be moulded.

Captains for the coming season are Walt Hawkins, senior fullback, St. Romain and Hendricks.

For the first time since the Cowboys moved up from the Class B ranks, there will be no Class B school on the Plains schedule. Wilson, last year's lone Class B foe, has been dropped in favor of Class AA Friona.

In fact, the Cowboys play two Class AA outfits, Friona and Crane, and a New Mexico school with an enrollment equivalent to Class AAA in Texas, Portales. All other opponents are Class A and three of them are selected in the pre-season top 10.

Wink, which plays here Sept. 22, is being picked as the No. 2 team in Texas. The Wildcats return all regulars from last year's district 7-A champions who bowed to Plains twice, once in the regional. The Cowboys, by the way, are one of only two teams which hold a lifetime edge over the Wildcats, having won both of the games played between the two schools.

Farwell, an Oct. 6 foe in the Farmer County city, is groomed for the No. 8 spot. The Steers have one of the state's brightest performers in Jerry Lovelace.

Biggest date on the Cowboy slate is likely to be Oct. 27. That's the date Plains goes to Seagraves. The Eagles are loaded again this season and are rated in pre-season form sheets as the state's No. 7 team. They were the state's only unbeaten Class A team last fall, but failed to win the district since Plains claimed a 4-3 penetration edge after the two teams had battled to a 20-20 standstill.

Two new coaches join the Cowboy coaching staff this fall. Jerry Stockton, a 1961 graduate of Texas Tech and a standout guard for the Red Raiders for three years, will

NUMBER 32

Rodeo Continues Through Saturday

Performances Are Scheduled For Each Night at 8

What has been described as the biggest rodeo ever held in Plains was scheduled to get underway at 8 o'clock tonight (Thursday) and will continue through Saturday night.

Performances are slated for 8 p.m. each evening, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Quite a number of ropers from the Plains area have indicated that they will compete.

Produced by Ratjen Brothers of Happy, the rodeo will feature bull dogging, bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, team roping, calf roping and ladies' barrel racing.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. A ticket to the Saturday rodeo also entitles the purchaser to admittance to the barbecue at noon Saturday.

The barbecue will be held in the park, beginning at 11:30 a.m. Saturday. The huge chore of barbecuing five beefs will begin Friday. Five local ranchers, Gene Bennett, John E. Fitzgerald, Sperm Henard, M. W. Luna and Rusty McGinty, have each donated a beef for the event.

The Roping Club, which along with the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club is sponsoring the event, will sponsor a dance following each night's rodeo. The dance will be held in the Quonset building at Newson's Gin. Jimmy Mackey of Brownfield will provide the music. Admission will be $1.25 per person.

One of the highlights of the rodeo celebration will be the crowning of the rodeo queen during Saturday night's performance. Four girls are competing for the title. They are Betty Hamm, Ethel Martin, Dianne Fitzgerald and Ann Lattimore.

Candidates have been engaged in a lively vote-getting contest for several weeks. The winner will be the girl who garnered the most votes—each vote representing a ticket sold on a saddle.

Winner of the queen contest will succeed D'Lynn McGinty, last year's winner, who is reigning over festivities this year.

The saddle also will be given away Saturday night. It is a handsome, hand-tooled item which has been on display at various business firms in town for several weeks.

State Line Church Plans Meeting

The following message is from H. Jearl Hayes, pastor of the State Line Baptist Church of Bronco:

"We are looking forward to a great revival in our church with Brother J. C. Quarles of Levelland doing the preaching, Aug. 9 through Aug. 20 will be the dates to remember.

"Brother Quarles has had much experience, both as pastor and evangelist. He has pastored churches in Lea County and started work at Hillcrest Church in Lovington, N.M.

"God has blessed this man in a wonderful way. He is truly called of God and will have a message for you and yours.

"Singing will be led by Terry Bacon, who has proved to be a blessing in this ministry. His wife, Mrs. Billie Bacon, will assist him with the special music each evening. They will enrich your life with their messages in song.

"You come and be with us in this special effort. State Line Baptist Church welcomes you. Services for morning worship begin at 10 a.m., evening services at 8 p.m., Aug. 9 through Aug. 20."

28,000-Bales Cotton Guess

First official production estimate of Yoakum County's 1961 cotton crop has been placed at 28,000 bales as the crop entered the critical month of August in a stage of rapid progress.

The estimate was compiled by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Production last year was 23,827 bales in Yoakum County so the recent estimate is a healthy increase over 1960's actual figure. Nevertheless, some local farm observers are more liberal with their guesses and are predicting a production of more than 30,000 bales.

Accounting for the rosy predictions, in addition to the excellent condition of most of the crop, is the fact that Yoakum County acreage is up considerably over a year ago.

A good supply of subsoil moisture built up during the pre-planting period and rains later in the season gave the crop as a whole ample moisture to "load up" well. A few isolated areas in Yoakum County received too much rain and there was some hail damage, but overall, conditions have been highly favorable.

August, which most farmers say "can make you or break you," is traditionally regarded as a "critical month" in the making of a crop in this area.

Cotton that is blooming can quickly deplete moisture in the top two feet of soil. And cotton may shed many of its forms in August if ample moisture is not available.

But with much of the crop under irrigation and good moisture under the dryland crop, Yoakum County farmers are in this crucial month with excellent prospects.

A timely rain within the next week or so would help insure a good dryland crop.

Cotton insect infestations so far this season have been practically nil. But hoe bills are adding substantially to the cost of producing the crop.

George W. Pefiffenberger, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, said Saturday that optimism still prevails that this will be an active marketing year for Plains cotton.

"We think the market for our cotton is going to be pretty good," he said. "With the export subsidy we have for this season, we should do a good export business."

Texas cottons are in short supply in carryover stocks and prospects are good that qualities of the kind produced in large volume in this area will sell above the government loan.

Higher prices to producers and prospects for a near-record production could mean that the total gross value of the crop to farmers this year will easily be a great deal more than it was in 1960.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Cogburn and children, Karren and Duane, of Colorado Springs, Colo., were visitors in the Foy Cogburn home Sunday until Tuesday.

Oilfield Worker Dies as Result of Rig Accident

Billy G. Sifford, 30, of Midland died at 5:24 p.m. Thursday in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, following surgery for injuries sustained in an oilfield drilling rig accident Wednesday.

Sifford's brother, Clifford E. Sifford, 42, of Hobbs, also was injured in the accident.

Billy Sifford was transferred to the Lubbock hospital from Denver City Thursday afternoon.

He and his brother were hurt when struck across the back by drilling tongs at 3:15 p.m. last Wednesday while working on a McFarland Drilling Co. rig 11 miles west of Plains.

The death was the third oilfield fatality in the Plains area in the past three weeks. Two men were burned to death July 18.

Mrs. Truman Fambrough of Seminole will give a book report on "To Kill a Mocking Bird," a Pulitzer Prize winner, at the Tsa Mo Ga Clubhouse here Aug. 24.

Mrs. Fambrough, librarian of Seminole public schools, is one of the area's best-known book reviewers.

Her appearance here is being sponsored by the First Christian Church Building Committee.

In case you missed it, James Warren, Johnnie Fitzgerald, Archie Whitaker, Ethel Martin, Betty Hamm, Ann Lattimore, Dianne Fitzgerald, D'Lynn McGinty, Joyce and Joetta Warren appeared on channel 13's "Names in the News" to get in a few publicity licks for the upcoming rodeo.

Getting a lot of attention over at Brownfield these days is a conservative movement involving hundreds of that area's citizens.

Senator Preston Smith

Being Governor of Texas Aug. 4 was one of the most exciting times the Preston Smith family has ever enjoyed.

By all estimates, there must have been 400 to 500 South Plains people in Austin last Friday, for the Governor-for-a-day festivities. During the reception in the Governor's office, 3 hours in the morning and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m., Ima, Mickey, Jan and I met and talked to hundreds of visitors, and dozens of newsmen from throughout the state.

To all those who made this event possible, and to those who came to Austin or were among the thousands who sent telegrams and messages of congratulations, the Smith family thanks all of you very sincerely. You helped to make August 4 truly one of the biggest events in our lives.

High point of the day was the banquet that night, at which more than 900 persons jammed the main ballroom of the Austin Hotel. Speakers were J. Ed McLaughlin, Ralls; David C. Casey, Mayor of Lubbock; Joe Anderson, Seminole; State Sen. Martin Dies Jr., Lufkin; Wilmer Smith, New Home; and Waggoner Carr, Lubbock.

Movie Star Chill Wills was master of ceremony.

The gifts presented to us were wonderful. Irma was presented a sterling silver tea and coffee service and a punch bowl set. Mickey received a very nice 35 mm camera, Jan a wrist watch, and I received a very-much desired set of Ben Hogan golf clubs in a beautiful red and black bag, and a wrist watch.

Among all the other very nice gifts of the day were the good wishes of friends, the warm smiles and friendly handshakes and the good will exhibited toward us. For all those things we thank you very sincerely.

Scouts to Sell First Aid Kits

Beginning next week, Plains Boy Scouts will be selling first aid kits to residents of this area.

Profits made from the sale of the kits will be used to help meet the current budget of the troop. Scout leaders explained that the group seldom solicited funds in this manner, but usually depended on contributions of organizations for their support.

Johnson and Johnson is selling the first aid kits to the scouts at cost. Arrangements were made through Curry-Edwards Pharmacy. Retail prices of the kits range from $1.50 to $3.75. In between these two figures are kits for $2.95 and $3.98.

WHY?

The proposed $57,000,000 tax assessment will burden the taxpayers with an additional $120,000 for 1962 operations. To get these funds, the taxpayers must also pay the State an additional $46,200.

IS THIS INCREASE NECESSARY?

- Why pay more taxes when our county, compared with surrounding counties:
- is spending more per capita?
 - is spending more per mile for road maintainance?
 - is employing more people per capita?
 - has more road maintainance equipment than four out of five?

SHOULD WE INCREASE TAXES?

when the debt service for existing bond issues is $3,140 less? and not apply some of the money to retire our current county deficit?

WHAT CAN WE EXPECT?

for the additional tax dollars? The taxpayers should demand that our county government return to a sound economic and businesslike basis.

Below is a comparison of the Road and Bridge maintainance costs for 1960:

COUNTY	ROAD AND BRIDGE MAINTAINANCE COST	MILES OF CO. MAIN. RDS. (1)	COST PER MILE
Yoakum	$310,768	367	$847
Gaines	$379,796	596	$637
Cochran	$186,506	445	$419
Terry	$255,306	900	$284
Hockley	$376,768	1,239	$304

A More Economical Approach To Our County Government Would Provide Improved And Increased Service For Fewer Tax Dollars.

Shyness Flies . . .

A strange sense of terror gripped Ronnie Katz every time she felt someone had discovered her secret. She is a diabetic.

Then one summer her illness came into focus for the first time when she was attending camp NYDA, (New York Diabetes Association) and she was no longer afraid.

"Being with other diabetic children made me realize I wasn't really alone with a problem and that I had nothing to hide. We aren't different from other people. It's the diet that's different and half the girl's in the world are on diets. If I can't have a soda, I pretend I'm on a diet, too," explains the pretty, petite 15 year old, a junior at Jamaica High School on Long Island.

Ronnie's problem had been so acute she couldn't even tell the secret to her best friend. "One day when I was with my friend, I passed out. She didn't know what to do. I was lucky that she called my mother." A diabetic needs quick treatment when she is in shock. After that her friend shared the secret, and Ronnie didn't feel alone.

"Some kids don't understand. They think diabetics are weird like people with hair on the palms of their hands. One day my friend and I tested a girl. We told her that I was a diabetic and my friend had caught it from me. She ran away," she says.

Ronnie doesn't know what she was trying to prove, but she no longer has a chip on her shoulder.

"After that month at camp NYDA last year, I wasn't ashamed anymore. I came back and told everybody."

At NYDA she was taught to accept her diabetes and live with it. "It was like a miracle finding out that I am not really different from other people."

At camp she became self-sufficient in administering her own insulin and learned to control her diet and to engage in sports and other activities.

"This summer I'll be at camp for two months," she says happily. "It'll be wonderful. I just can't wait."

Ronnie will be a kitchen helper. She'll put out food, clean silverware and do other little chores, and she'll earn $50 for the season. The coed camp is free for those who cannot afford to pay.

"The camp has taught me a lot," she points out, "but I still have more to learn. I know how to balance my food so that occasionally I can have sweets."

Her sister Gale, 11, also a diabetic, will attend this year.

Few regular camps accept diabetic young people because there are special requirements for diet and control of insulin shock. The camp at Burlington, N. Y. was the first non-profit camp for diabetic children in the country. Since it was established 25 years ago it has been the model for 39 other camps in this country and Canada.

SOIL Conservation NEWS

By C. MURRELL THOMPSON

New conservation plans worked out and signed this week were Arnie (Pete) Todd, A. L. Pace farm with Charles Roseberry operator, J. B. Ashburn and a revision of Tommy Ashburn's plan.

Planting grass for pasture and installing underground high pressure irrigation pipe are two main parts of the plans. Conservation crop rotation, crop residue management cover crops and proper use of grass land are also a very vital part of most good conservation plans.

This past week brush control work on Johnnie Fitzgerald, Clyde Coke, Rusty McGinity, Ty Field and Chesley Bedford places was reviewed. A record of weather conditions, soil moisture, amount of brush and results is being made. This information will help us to learn more about brush control work locally.

The end of Bermuda grass planting season is fast approaching. Several land owners and operators are very busy getting land planted and new planting watered. Leon Huff, Pete Todd and T. A. Elmore are a few who are sodding Midland this week.

Watering around the clock on cotton now is the main job. Several local farmers have received assistance in checking their irrigation systems to determine how much water they were applying.

Tips From Moths

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Air Force studies on moths, beetles may result in new aircraft equipment, a research executive says.

Brig. Gen. Benjamin G. Holzman of the Air Force says studies of the moth's ear show that if it were copied electronically, the result would be a cheap and efficient high-frequency microphone.

As a result of studies of a beetle's seeing apparatus, he says, the Air Force is developing the most accurate ground speed indicator ever devised for aircraft.

Fall Fashion Flares Front, Side

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Fall fashion will have its side effects this year.

Not content with what they have been doing backwards and forwards and up and down, the 31 designer members of the New York Couture Group showing their collections during Fashion Press Week here are now working sideways and diagonally.

A side kick is their chief ally to the hip flare silhouette of the past two seasons. Although fall suits and dresses still flounce and pleat all the way around, many more swing full from the sides. In some instances softly rolled or stitched down pleats edge to the thighs and then fall loosely. Or inserted gores and box pleats start from side hip height.

Waistlines wander high and low, but very often both ways at the same time. On soft wool jersey and crepe daytime dresses tucks and pleats drop away from obliquely divided middles.

Formal wear too is designed with side glances in mind. Filmy fabrics cut on a bias are tucked and draped from one shoulder, (the other probably bare) molded subtly over the figure, and topped by diaphanous stoles that tie at the neck and flutter cloudlike from one side.

Even new capes which evolved out of last winter's tent-like coats hang slim without a single fold front or back, with all the fullness cut into the shoulders for side-rising wings.

But do not let it be said that back and front styles have remained status quo. Some Couture members still cling to the simplicity of bare-armed, bare-necked "nothing" dresses in their collections, despite potential wintry chills. But others go to extreme by slashing dress backs to a spine-chilling depth. While still others reverse the procedure by wrapping up necks in double ring collars or noseticking fur.

In the war between fit and ease, the most cautious coat and suit makers compromise by fitting in front, easing in back.

In terms of color, fall collections are a shadowy, ecliptical contrast to the florid prints and violent hues of spring and summer.

Except for a few flashes of red, rust, moss green, and a rare bit of Kelly, fabrics are defiant of city soot in black, more black, and almost black browns, blues, greens maroons.

Even plaids and tweeds are in subdued hues, making up for lack of brightness with texture. Wool and test-tube versions of it are nubby or ribbed, never sleek, short-haired or strictly long hair.

And hair — fox, mink, chinchilla, even bunny — become elegant linings in reversible coats. Furry pelts are also abundant on dresses and suits.

If the flare enthusiasts have made it easier for women to step high, stride wide handsomely and modestly during the day, the designers make up for it on a glamorous evening.

Metallic or beaded and sequined gowns fall from throat to the floor in a column of unrelenting slimmness. Some have less than a foot of moving room at the hemline. But then women are not supposed to need to walk in these — just to stand there looking glamorous enough to attract the crowds to them.

Bible School Grads Honored

Graduation exercises for students at the Vacation Bible School of First Christian Church were held at 7:30 p. m. Sunday with approximately 90 persons in attendance.

Many of the projects completed by the children during the five-day school were on display Sunday night. Each department had an individual part on the program. Karen Anderson, secretary of the Bible School, awarded the diplomas.

The Bible School, which was held Monday through Friday of last week, had a total enrollment of 73.

The Rev. Johnnie Moore, pastor, stated that since response was so good, the church probably would make a practice of holding its Bible School in the month of August.

MR. and MRS. OTIS NEWBERRY

Heald-Newberry Marry

Miss Louise Heald and Otis Newberry exchanged vows Sunday, Aug. 6, at 3 p.m., in the Hillside Church of Christ, Plains, Travis Boyd, minister of the Acuff Church of Christ, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Heald and Mr. Newberry is the son of Mrs. Annie Newberry and the late Jack Newberry.

The wrought iron wedding arch was gardened with greenery and accented on each side with large arrangements of shaded dahlias with a huge basket of dahlias centered at the back of the archway. Mrs. Robert Young and Mrs. Foy Cogburn picked the prize winning dahlias from their flower gardens. Miss D'Lois McGinty, graduate of Benz School of Design in Houston, did the floral arrangements. Pews reserved for the family were designated with large white satin bows and greenery.

Mrs. Viva Hale sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin. The princess style gown was enhanced by a short bolero jacket featuring a stand up collar and long sleeves that tapered to petal points over the hands.

The bouffant skirt had a bustle effect in back and was made and styled by Mrs. Foye Powell. A queen's crown of seed pearls and sequins held her double tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried an arrangement of white rosebuds centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible with satin streamers and love knots.

For something old the bride wore a hoop slip that belonged to D'Lois McGinty. Something new was her wedding dress, something borrowed was her strand of pearls and something blue was the traditional blue garter worn by Jo McCollough when she and Dr. Bill were married. For good luck she wore two pennies in her shoes, dated the years of their births.

Miss Sharlyn Heald, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of light blue imported pima cotton fashioned with a square neckline which dipped low in the back. The full skirt was accented by a wide lace midriff with contrasting velvet belt. Tiny lace gauntlets and a scalloped brim picture hat made of lace like that of the bridal gown completed her attire. She carried an arrangement of white gladioli in a lace covered basket.

Bridesmaid was Miss Pat Winkles. Her dress was of light blue polished cotton designed with a square neckline with white accessories featuring a corsage of white gladioli.

Debbie Newberry of Abilene, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her head piece consisted of white feathered carnations and she carried a miniature basket made of lace from which she strewed the aisle with rose petals.

Best man was J. R. Ray of Aspermont, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were James Ray, nephew of the bridegroom, and Foy Streetman.

The bride's mother wore a beige lace over taffeta dress

Local Cowboys Are Awaiting Rodeo

Several cowboys from the Plains area probably will participate in roping events at the Plains rodeo this week. An official list of entries with orchid accessories and the groom's mother selected a beige dress with a lace bolero. White gladioli corsages completed their attire.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Plains Clubroom. The table, covered with a nylon lace cloth over blue, was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and flanked by double candelabras with blue tapers. A three tiered wedding cake ornamented with blue roses and the traditional bride and groom was on one end of the table and a crystal punch bowl on the other. The white napkins were inscribed in silver with the names, "Otis and Louise," along with the date of the wedding. Miss Naomi Maynard registered 175 guests. Serving punch and cake were Miss Beverly Gober of Hobbs, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sandra Lewis.

After a wedding trip to Blossom, Texas, the couple will be at home at 207 East 11th in Plains. The bride chose a beige silk organza shirtdress with brown and beige accessories. She added a white orchid from her bridal bouquet for traveling. The bride is a 1961 graduate of Plains High School and is employed by Curry-Edwards Pharmacy. He is a graduate of Aspermont High School and is employed by Dunigan Oil Co.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Troy David and Terry; Beverly, Lillah and Patricia Gober; Mrs. Minnie Bray; Mrs. Gladys Longan; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Van Matre, Karen and Vickie; Bennie Robertson, all of Hobbs, and

Shower Honors Mrs. Kissinger

Mrs. James Warren was hostess Thursday to a coffee honoring Mrs. Donnie Kissinger, the former Miss Nancy Taylor of Denver City.

The bride's chosen colors of pink and white were used in decorations.

Coffee, Cokes, cookies, mints and nuts were served from crystal appointments to 20 guests who called.

Hostesses were Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Neil Parks, Mrs. Jimmy Warren, Mrs. Joe Curry, Mrs. Paul Cobb and Mrs. Don Cooke.

Hostesses' gift was a set of Mel-Mac dishes.
