by Johnnie Moore

Dial 4700 on your phone here in Plains and see what happens. It might just be worth your time.

We have had many requests of late to run the school lunch menus in the paper each week for the coming week.

I think all the details are about ironed out and we will learn definitely if it will be possible to do so by the next issue for sure.

We thank each of you who has written and called us concerning this.

We certainly welcome your questions for the paper.

Coming up in November, in general elections held here this time will be the voting on several proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Texas.

These were published recently for your consideration by the State. One of those amendments proposed, Proposition 14, it is, needs a great deal of mighty careful consideration before voting either for or against it.

Our opinion is that it would be a very bad thing for us Texans if it passes and we're going to vote a mighty big no on it.

It has to do with Trials de Novo where decisions of various kinds by different groups of authority, such as school boards, city councils, county commissioners courts and many others are concerned. Consider the discussion which follows:

Proposition 14
TRIAL DE NOVO APPEALS FROM RULINGS OF ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCIES
Proposition 14 (House Joint Resolution No. 32) would give the Legislature authority to provide for trial de novo when an appeal is made to the courts from any and all actions, rulings or decisions of the administrative agencies and executive departments of the State of Texas or any of its political subdivisions.

This amendment would add a new Section 2 to Article II of our Constitution. Article II sets out the powers of government and has only one section. Section 1 provides that "the powers of the government of the State of Texas shall be divided into three distinct departments," which shall be the legislative, executive and judicial. It states that "no person, or collection of persons, being one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly attached to either of the others, except in instances herein expressly permitted."

This is, from a constitutional viewpoint, the most important of all the proposed amendments to be voted on in November. It would result in a substantial change in the constitutional division of power between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of our government. There is no similar provision in our national constitution or that of any other state.

The dictionary defines de novo as meaning "over again." These Latin words also have a particular legal import, meaning "anew," "afresh." A trial de novo means that the court hears a case and reaches its own decision as if there had been no prior consideration of it. Under this amendment the Legislature could provide "for such appeals to be tried completely de novo and independent of any administrative or executive action." On appeal de novo under this amendment the court would be required to substitute its judgment as to both policy and its application for that of the responsible executive or administrative agency.

Administrative agencies for which statutory provision has been made include, according to Texas Jurisprudence 2d, "the board of control, county commissioners' courts, housing, authorities, the public welfare department, the soil conservation board, the state board of health, the state anatomical board, and zoning commissions. "Agencies having regulatory powers with respect to professions and occupations include the board of architectural examiners, the board of barber examiners, the board of chiropractic examiners, the board of dental examiners, the board of embalming, the board of law examiners, the board of library examiners,

NEW CITY SECRETARY--Bob Long assumed his duties this week as City Secretary for Plains. He was appointed by the city council to the position following the resignation of Bob Loe.

City Hires Long To Replace Loe

Mr. Bob Long, a resident of Plains since November of last year has been officially named Plains City Secretary to replace Bob Loe who resigned from that position two weeks ago.

Long has been previously employed by the Goodpasture Grain and Milling Co., Inc., in Plains, and he officially assumed the City Secretary's duties on Monday of this week.

Long is married and has two children, Bruce, a sophomore in Plains High School and Pam, a Plains freshman.

Loe is remaining available for an as yet unnamed period of time so that he can orient Long as to all the duties and responsibilities that he has inherited with the new position.

Long was hired as a full-time City Secretary and will be employed in only that capacity, whereas Loe had been employed only as a part-time Secretary by the Plains City Council over two years ago.

Loe, it is reported, now plans to devote his full time to his farming and ranching activities. Loe has also stated that as soon as the rather indefinite term of his further employ with the City is terminated, he will wish to make a formal statement concerning his resignation.

SCS Supervisor To Be Elected

Supervisor to be elected in zone 4 which is the north-east part of the local Soil Conservation District. Charles Williams is now serving out the term of the late Earl Bryson. Charles was elected by a large majority at an election last January held in the office of the CG&S Gin. This is an election for a regular five year term. Leo White, County Agent will serve as chairman and also show some very interesting slides on plant food in soils.

This election is to be held at the CG&S Gin on Tuesday October 2nd at 8 PM. All land owners and their wives are both encouraged to attend.

Plains Weather

Temperature extremes for the Plains area are as follows for the past week:

	Max.	Min.
September 19	91	5
September 20	86	6
September 21	86	5
September 22	89	5
September 23	84	6
September 24	82	5
September 25	72	5

Total rainfall for the above period as measured by John Hague, Plains, official Weather Observer, was 1.41 inches. Rainfall from September 1 to Sept. 25 was 2.66 inches and for the entire year, January through September 25 has been 11.39.

Court Session Still Going

A rather lengthy session of District Court is still in session here in Plains this week. The session of 121st District Court was begun last week on Monday and is still faced with a rather long list of cases to be heard and decided upon.

Last week final decision was made in the case of Mayben versus O'Neal and a judgement against O'Neal was issued in the amount of $1,250.

A motion for dismissal was made in the case of Annett Ethridge versus B. L. Ethridge, Divorce, as the couple is now reconciled.

In the case, Reba King, et al, versus Mesa Trucking Company, which took up most of last week, the jury found that both drivers were negligent but their decision seemed to weigh in favor of the conclusion that Linton, driver for Mesa was more negligent than was King, who was killed in the accident.

They ruled that in their opinion both drivers failed to keep sufficiently careful lookout for approaching vehicles.

They also ruled however that Linton, in their decision, was over the middle stripe and that this was one of the primary causes of the accident.

It was their recommendation that Mrs. Reba King, the widow and plaintiff in the case be awarded $75,000 in the case and that each of her three children be awarded $20,000 each.

Judge Ledbetter, however has not as yet issued his final ruling on the matter.

Plains Cowboys Trounce Friona

Plains mighty Cowboys are idle this Friday, but they were sure anything but idle last week in their tilt against the Friona Chieftains.

Plains racked up a mighty impressive shutout score of 51 points.

The Chieftains were just unable to overcome the defensive wall that Plains threw up despite some mighty valiant attempts on their part.

This was Friona's 17th straight defeat and that's a mighty long dry spell for any team. Despite the obvious amount of defeatism that can creep into a team that has been on the short end of the scoring column so long, the Chieftains handled the ball and moved it down the field remarkably well.

Just to illustrate the prowess of the Plains defense, though, there was a time in the third quarter of play when Friona had six plays inside the three yard line in which to make a tally, in fact four of these play's series started on the one foot line. To make a long story short, what began on the foot line wound up four plays later on the eight yard line with Plains in possession of the ball. Ronnie Hendricks, Plains scabbard racked up a tremendous 33 points to his credit and an unheard of 325 yard rushing. Hendricks was again this week, third week in a row by the way, named the Cowboy's Outstanding Offensive Player of the Week and even received a fine piece of recognition in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal over his performance Friday night.

Ernie Anderson who was real power house this week was named Defensive Player of the Week. Ernie was in on 11 tackle and was a real war horse a defensive end.

Plains gained 79 yards passing and a big 687 rushing for 766 yard total, but was penalized for 165 yards bringing the net back to 601. This is a mighty big total of yards for any team.

The Cowboys made a total of seven touchdowns, one safety (2 points), kicked one extra point and ran over three times for six extra points.

The Cowboys don't play this week, but meet Sudan here on October 2.

Progress Report Plains C of C

The next edition of THE TEXAS ALMANAC should mention PLAINS, and its Museum which was awarded a Historical Medallion by the State Historical Survey Committee. We sent a copy of the PLAINS RECORD write-up on this event to Mr. John Ben Sheppard, a member of the Historical Survey committee. Mr. Sheppard is also President of the Chamber of Commerce at Odessa.

"No Go" on the matter of establishing a Travel Information Bureau in Yoakum County. The State Highway Department says we do not have enough traffic to warrant it. They plan only one in the next two years, and that in all probability in Amarillo. We have a new traffic count map in the office, should you be interested in seeing it.

We asked District Engineer, Mr. Crain at Lubbock about one or more roadside parks near Plains. His reply is to the effect that they think only one would be warranted, and suggested that it should be on Hwy. 380, between Plains and Tokio.

Rural And Urban Residents Observe Farm-City Week

Efforts to improve understanding and appreciation between rural and urban families were given a big boost today with the announcement by the Texas Commercial Agriculturalists Council that it has established a Speakers Bureau for National Farm-City Week in Texas.

National Farm-City Week, which this year will be observed Nov. 16-22, is directed by a National Farm-City Committee made up of representatives of 150 businesses, industries, farm, professional, trade, church, youth and service groups, education institutions, governmental agencies, publishers and broadcasters. Kiwanis International is the coordinating agency. Dolph Briscoe, Jr., of Uvalde, immediate past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, is serving as Texas Chairman.

L. O. Tiedt, agricultural manager of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, and chairman of the Texas Commercial Agriculturalists Council, said the purpose of Farm-City Week ties in closely with the objectives of the TCAC, "...fostering better business and agricultural relations."

The TCAC has members throughout the Lone Star State, and they have played a leading role in developing the Farm-City Week Speakers Bureau, Ralph Russell, Agricultural Manager, Waco Chamber of Commerce, and TCAC secretary-treasurer, who has coordinated the work of the TCAC members, said the Speakers Bureau was established primarily to help fulfill requests for agricultural speakers by organizations and civic clubs participating in Farm-City Week activities, but that it would function throughout the year. Correspondence should be directed to Ralph Russell, Waco Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1220, Waco, or to Henry Biederman, editor of the Cattleman, 410 East Weatherford Street, Fort Worth.

Record Grid Contest Winner

Winners in this week's Football Contest are as follows: First Place - Dick McGinty - $5. Second Place - Jack Hayes - $3. Third Place - Jack Lowe - $2. Hayes and McGinty each only missed two of the games winners in their predictions but McGinty was two points closer to the tie-breakers score, Plains vs. Friona than was Hayes.

Third place winner Lowe missed only four of the winners in his guesses.

This week another contest is on tap in this issue of The Record. Just circle the team in each box that you think will win, pick the score of your choice on the tie-breaker game and sign your entry. Then either bring it by the office of the Record or get it postmarked before 7 p.m. on Friday before the games.

$25 bonus prize is being offered each week to anyone who is able to pick all the winners correctly. This bonus hasn't as yet been won, but just two misses is mighty close to it, and who knows, maybe next week.

Bob Loe operator of a 2 section place northeast of Plains has brought the old conservation plan up to date by completing a good conservation program for each field and pasture.

B. F. Lowery and Tom Gray are working on a new conservation plan with Soil Conservationist Wilson Duke.

Cover crops are really making good growth in Supervisor Bob Jones place where he seeded follow land and land where feed grain and cotton was plowed up. the board of medical examiners, the board of optometry examiners, the board of pharmacy, and the board of veterinary medical examiners.

"Agencies exercising powers in respect to commerce and industry include the commissioner of agriculture, the finance commission, the industrial commission, the industrial accident board, the board of insurance commissioners, the liquor control board, and the railroad commission."

In addition to these, other agencies for which statutory provision may be made hereafter by the legislature, the elected officers of the State and other officials and departments of all the State's political divisions would be among those referred to in this amendment.

Over the last few decades there has evolved a considerable body of what is called administrative law, particularly at the federal level. The courts have turned to the judgment of administrative departments whose specialized experience is assumed to be better prepared to understand the facts and fashion the proper remedies for the type of case which the law says shall first be decided by them. A feeling of distrust of administrative law and procedure has developed a demand that each person have his day in court. Probably the major reason advanced for this amendment.

Administrative law has had a limited growth in such laws as unemployment compensation and workers' compensation trial de novo is an appeal from administrative decisions and eligibility of an individual for compensation. These are factual and legal decisions similar to court action. It is important to note that the proposed amendment is not limited to such situations. Courts could be deciding all sorts of details of administration. Trial de novo could apply to "any and all actions, rulings or decisions of administrative agencies and executive departments."

Courts and court facilities and adjuncts would have to be multiplied many times over if such procedure were adopted. The courts, especially in the most populous counties, are already overburdened and if they should be further burdened by a multitude of such administrative details, some feel that this could result in a virtual breakdown of our whole judicial system. It has been pointed out that there are thousands of administrative agencies, administrators and executives from whom an appeal could be taken whereas the entire State has only 161 regular civil district courts.

The daily details of work by executives and administrators in government, as in a business operation, are informal, based on experience and facts which it would be difficult and oftentimes impossible to get before a court completely under the technical rules of procedure. Sometimes quick action is imperative. At the best, carrying all these matters to court would be a slow, cumbersome and costly process.

The proposed amendment contains a most unusual provision. It provides that in the absence of legislation enacted after adoption of this amendment "all such appeals" shall be handled in the manner now provided by law as interpreted by the Appellate Courts on the date of adoption. The interpretations of "the Appellate Courts of Texas" as of the date the amendment was passed would in effect become a part of the Constitution unless and until changed by later enactment of laws by the Legislature.

The broad grant of power given to the Legislature is not limited to the de novo provision. The Legislature would be given complete power to provide for appeals to the court under such provisions and limitations as it deemed necessary and desirable, and the courts of Texas would have no power or authority to refuse, deny or change the manner of an appeal made from the action of administrative agencies and executive departments if brought in the manner provided by general laws. A future Legislature might conceivably strengthen the decisions and rulings of executives or administrative agencies and render them less subject to appeal to the courts even though previously recognized constitutional rights of citizens were taken away from them.

A distinctive feature of the American Constitution, copied by the states, was the restrictions which its framers imposed on those who would exercise power. Not only were many specific rights spelled out and guaranteed to individual citizens but three separate branches of government were set up to avoid excessive concentration of power — the Congress, the executive and the Supreme Court. This balancing of power followed a practical line, which has been in many ways responsible for the success of our form of government. Actions of the executive department and its administrative agencies are subject to court restrictions if the actions are arbitrary or if they exceed the authority vested in the executive or the department. On the other hand, the courts maintain their objectivity in interpreting and enforcing the law by not being burdened with all the details and decisions necessary to running a city, a school district, a county or a state.

Proponents of this constitutional amendment believe the jurisdiction of administrative agencies should be strictly limited. They believe the trend of administrative law is to invade the field where courts should operate, and that the courts on appeal should hear such cases completely anew, as a protection of the rights of those who appeal.

Opponents feel that the proposed amendment goes too far — that it does not simply set out stricter controls over administrative agencies but would result in administrative chaos for the State government and all its political subdivisions — counties, cities, school districts, water districts, levee districts, etc. One of the inherent dangers in an amendment of this type, they point out, is that the Legislature might take approval as a mandate to enact legislation to the limits of the authority granted.

They say that all the related facts based on experience and daily familiarity with the subject which enter into a sound, consistent policy of administration can never be presented to a court in a single case, and point out that appeals by different parties on the same subject might go to different courts and receive entirely different answers. They argue that de novo rulings by the courts in all the situations allowed by this amendment would make it impossible for the average citizen to know what his rights were or what he was supposed to do.

"American Heritage" Program Theme Of Tsa Mo Ga Club

The Tsa Mo Ga Club members answered roll call with a resume of their own Heritage. Some of the members could give their family history dating back to 1782 and others gave account of the early days of Yoakum County and the starting of Plains, Texas.

Mrs. P. W. St. Romain, program director presented Miss Cooke in song, with her mother Mrs. J. E. Cooke, accompanying Sue at the piano. Sue sang two Texas numbers "The Yellow Rose of Texas" and "Cowboy Joe." Sue was attired in Western style and enacted the part of our western sire.

Mrs. M. W. Luna, President of the Yoakum County Historical Committee, gave a resume of "The Building Medallion." The building medallion is an important program that is being put on by the Texas Historical Survey Committee of Austin, for the preservation of the Texas historical heritage, said Mrs. Luna. 1,000 building medallion will be awarded to houses and buildings meriting preservation, a goal for 1962, stated Mrs. Luna. Mrs. Luna had on display the coveted Medallion that was presented to the Tsa Mo Ga Memorial Museum "Bonus Shack" August 18, 1962, in Amarillo at a Texas Historical Regional meeting. Mrs. Luna urged each member to be present for the erecting program of the Medallion that is to be held in the very near future by Mr. John Ben Sheppard of Odessa. Also that each member be responsible in extending the invitation to all interested persons to attend this celebration.

Mrs. St. Romain, Caprock District Chairman of Texas Heritage gave high-lights of the department. The Texas Heritage Department consist of eight divisions: Cattle Brands and Ranch Histories; Historical Tours; Markers and Monuments; Old Forts and Missions; Old Homes and Buildings; Texas Parks and Pilgrimages; Pioneer Families and Personalities; and Texas Art, Music and Literature. Mrs. St. Romain stated that the new Texas State Federation President had asked that the Texas Heritage Department work in conjunction with the Historical Committee and Highway Department in bettering and preserving our Texas Heritage. In doing so our Tourism dollar would grow and also be preserving our wonderful Heritage for the future generation.

The hostesses, Mrs. Garland Swann and Mrs. Paul Cobb served refreshments from a fall centered table arrangement to members during the social hour. Other fall arrangements deck the club room, with the Texas and United States flag flying high from a mesquite stump centered on the Presidents table.

Giving thanks always for all things.—(Eph. 5:20)

The giving of thanks is so rewarding that we all want to take an active part in thanks giving. If we have an experience that makes up happy, let us tell God that we are thankful.

"Savings Bonds are an investment in the future. For 21 years the Treasury Department sold bonds as a doorway to opportunity -- a new home, college education, retirement, or some other dream of the future.

But today the future itself is threatened. With the dawn of the missile age, the world is suddenly aware that one more war could be the last. The hope of the age is for peace -- for some guarantee that there will be a future to look forward to. We must have PEACE POWER -- the strength to keep the peace; the knowledge to make it lasting. Savings Bonds, in building economic stability, help strengthen America's peace power," Mr. Moorehead concluded.

Increase In Compensation For Service-Connected Disabled Veterans

Public Law 87-645 will provide increased compensation payments to almost 2 million service-connected disabled veterans. All veterans with service-connected disabilities will receive an increase under provisions of Public Law 87-645, with the more severely disabled receiving the highest percentage increases. The law was approved by the President on Sept. 7, 1962, and will be retroactive to July 1, 1962. This raise in disability payments will not necessitate any effort on the part of the eligible veterans. The average raise will amount to about 9.4%.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wool consumption in the United States last year added up to 12 pounds per family, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Four pounds of U. S. wool and 4½ pounds of imported wool went into each family's clothing, blankets, draperies and upholstery. The remaining 3½ pounds, almost entirely imported, was used for floor coverings.

Progress Report--

and that we must meet two requirements as follows:
1. The site must be made available without cost to the Highway Dept., and
2. They must have available funds with which to build the park, after a location has been acquired.
They state they will be happy to come out and inspect a tentative location should we find one.

The latest on the Extension of Federal Highway 82 from Lubbock, through Brownfield, Plains, Lovington, and points west to Las Cruces, is that New Mexico still has not done the required repairs which prevented Federal Designation last year.

We can't let this month pass without giving a great big vote of thanks to EVERYONE, for the fine job done on our annual rodeo. Despite some rainy weather, the net profit to the Chamber of Commerce on this project was $600.00. Many, many thanks to the rodeo committee Dick McGinty and Johnnie Fitzgerald, to publicity chairman Elmer Huffman, to Anne Green and Dorothy Hickman as queen committee, to Rod Duff and Neil Taylor for their TV advertising, to President Frank Whitlock for his splendid job of appointing the right people to the right posts, and to absolutely every other member of the Chamber of Commerce for their help at the gates and at the barbecue. I believe in this, our one big annual event, that without exception every single member of the Chamber of Commerce rendered service in some capacity.

Now -- let's do as much for the programs now under way. They may not be quite as much fun, but a row of white lights all up and down "Main" would look mighty pretty and make our streets safer. New street markers sure would help us in directing new comers to our town. Some sort of trades day promotion ought to bring in our rural friends. In the NE part of the county they go to Brownfield to trade, in the SE part they go to Seagraves and Denver City and even to Lovington and Hobbs. (Plumb out of Texas) Can we get them started to Plains?

Again this year, we gave $50.00 to the man bringing in the first bale of cotton. This year it was Mr. Roy McGehee, who moved into our tradeterritory only this year. Newsom Gin did the ginning.
