MOORE

Or Less

by Johnnie Moore

A candidate for a naval commission was undergoing an oral examination.

"Tell us," said the chairman of the board, "what kind of animals eat grass?"

The candidate didn't answer; just fidgeted with his tie and turned red.

"Come now," urged the chairman. "Surely you can answer a simple question like that. I will repeat: What kind of animals eat grass?"

"Animals!" exclaimed the candidate with obvious relief. "I thought you said admirals."

It is real gratifying to see the manner in which people all over the country are standing behind the President in his stand that he announced on Monday on Cuba.

People everywhere seem to be relieved that the U. S. is finally adopting a policy of sternness with the Reds instead of what has too often been a policy of appeasement.

Of course, none of us wants to get into a war, but there are also other considerations to be looked at.

A man in New York, I've been told, has made a small fortune for himself selling small car stickers with the inscription on them, "Better Dead Than Red."

Now this is a pretty stern little motto, but it certainly has a great ring of truth to it. We had certainly just as well get the thing threshed out now as to let Reds just move in on us and take us over by degrees. I really believe that I had just as soon my heirs would perish in an atomic holocaust as to have them grow up under communism.

Several have expressed the hope that the President's action was not too late. I think this is a little nearsighted, to say the least. He, above any other person in the U. S. is most qualified to say when such action should be taken, as he alone has all the facts concerning the situation.

Also, we need to consider another item along that line very carefully. President Kennedy, in his famous speech made it quite clear that the action is being taken because of the presence of "offensive" weapons in Cuba. Certainly no matter how much we might deplore the situation there, we would have no right to interfere with a country, any country, arming itself with weapons of strictly a defensive nature. We can't deny any nation the right to defend themselves. The arms build-up in Cuba had to reach the point of no longer being of a defensive nature, and had to become offensive, before we would conceivably have had, any right at all to forcefully object to their presence.

I certainly haven't always agreed with the present administration, in fact, I have disagreed more often. But, I certainly think every American will stand behind our leaders in this crisis as well as the others that are sure to follow.

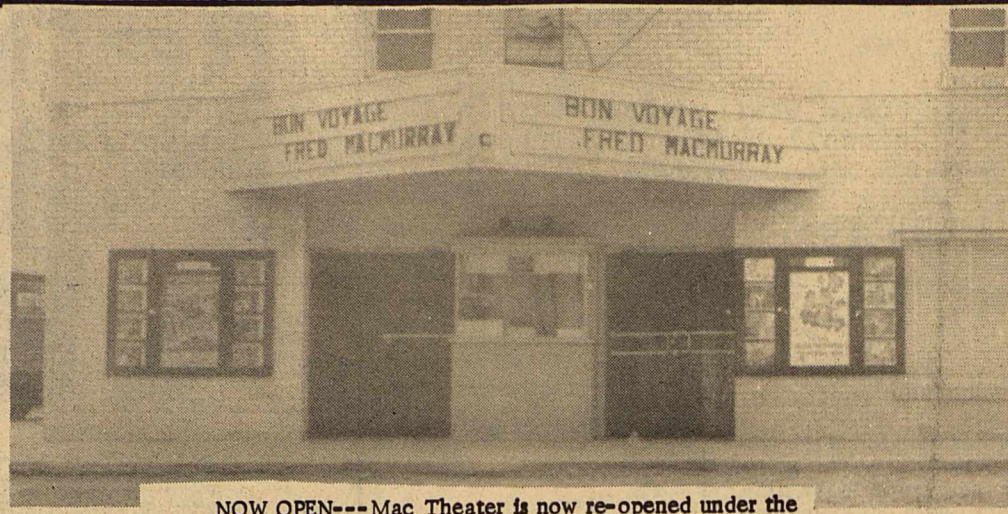

Mahon Issues Statement

In a statement made by Congressman George Mahon Monday night following the speech of President Kennedy, he stated the following:

The President is our spokesman in foreign affairs and I shall support him to the limit. I am pleased with the decisive action which he has taken. It was made mandatory by a recent assessment of developments in Cuba.

It is fraught with grave risks, but it is safer than a policy of weakness.

Cowboys Rip Tahoka

Plains Travels To O'Donnell

Plains fans were treated on Friday night to a real fine display of the ability of the Cowboys this year.

Plains, operating for the first time this year without the services of scabback Ronnie Hendricks, managed to hand the Tahoka Bulldogs a sound defeat by a score of 20-0.

The Bulldogs only managed one penetration, and then only to the Plains 19 yard line. Balance of the game was seen with the Cowboys usually in complete control of the ball.

In the first period, Plains' first touchdown came about on a fine pass play from QB, Mike Field to wingback, Jimmy Harris for 30 yards and 6.

Also in the first quarter, Harris again scampered across the goal line from eight yards out to leave the score at 12 for the Cowboys and 0 for Tahoka.

In the second period, Harris received a severe ankle sprain and was out the balance of the game as he probably will be this week.

Plains' final TD came in the last quarter of play on a pass from QB J. B. Wilson to Tailback, Roland Faires. The same combination Wilson to Faires netted the Cowboy eleven their only extra points of the contest.

Final score in the game was Plains 20 and Tahoka 0.

It should also be noted in last Friday's game that Faires who was called on to do a big job filled the slot in a big way. Of the 213 yards gained by Plains in their rushing attack, 113 of them were gained by Faires.

In their defensive activities the Cowboys only allowed the Bulldogs 99 yards total both rushing and passing combined. Plains, on the other hand, totaled 213 rushing and an additional 100 yards in the air.

For his efforts, Faires was chosen the Outstanding Offensive Player of the Week, while Jimmy Kerby was given the Defensive Player honors.

Mention should certainly also be made of the fine defensive efforts of Dennis Hickman who made many really fine and key stops. Also, Ty Earl Powell did a fine job as did Ernie Anderson. It could, in fact be said that the entire Cowboy lineup did a bang up job against the Bulldogs.

The high flying Cowboys of Plains face their second conference foe when they go out of town this week to face the O'Donnell Eagles on their home field. Game time for this, as well as the balance of the district games will be 7:30 p. m.

The Cowboys will be lined up somewhat different than usual, especially in the backfield department. Roland Faires will move to the wingback slot and fullback will be Clyde Lynn. The tailback position will be filled by previous fullback, Tetum Perrin.

Reports have it that injured Jimmy Harris will most probably be back in action next week when Plains will meet the Eagles from Seagraves in the Plains homecoming tilt.

Hendricks may also be running well again by that game. The Cowboys can look to face, in the O'Donnell team, a team with a lot of speed and a big passing potential.

1963 Upland Cotton Allotment And Quota Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced on October 15 a national marketing quota of 14,367,000 bales and a national acreage allotment of 1.6 million acres for the 1963 upland cotton crop. December 11 was set as the date for grower referendum on 1963 marketing quotas.

The announcement also said an additional 310,000 acres would be available as a national reserve to be used for establishing minimum farm allotments. It was further stated that it is not anticipated that this will be the final national acreage authorized for 1963 since new legislation to be recommended to Congress by the President.

The 16 million acre allotment is the maximum permitted under present law in view of the present supply-demand situation. It now appears that more than million bales will be added to the carryover and increase it to 8.7 million by August 1, 1963.

The President has stated that he will recommend to remove the inequity in the present two-price cotton system and has requested the USDA to make recommendations to him as to the means for accomplishing that purpose. This legislation would increase the domestic use of cotton and may also contain other provisions which would permit increases in acreage, to be planted.

In the December 11 referendum, a two thirds majority of those voting is needed to make marketing quotas effective on the 1963 crop. If the marketing quotas are approved price support to cooperating growers will be available at a level to be announced. It can range from 65 to 90% of parity. The parity price of cotton is now 39.51 cents per pound.

If quotas are not approved for the 1963 crop, allotments will remain in effect and price support at 50 percent of parity will be available to cooperators. Details on the allotments and referendum are available from local ASCS.

Salt Water Pollution Study Completed

Consulting hydrologist, Ed Reed of Midland, Texas, has completed his findings and has submitted them in report form to the Yoakum County Water Conservation Association, responsible for retaining his services to determine the amount if any, of pollution taking place from oil field brine to the fresh water supply in the area.

In his conclusions in his report, Reed states as follows: Based on this study of ground water conditions in Yoakum County, it is my opinion that the practice of using open unlined pits for the disposal of oil field brines has resulted in the pollution of the ground water in the areas of the oil fields. It is my opinion that this pollution has been accomplished by the vertical percolation of such brines to the water table...

He goes on further in his recommendations to say:

"It is my recommendation that this problem be brought before the Texas Pollution Control Board in a formal hearing in the hope that the various state agencies involved will see fit to provide for an order eliminating the use of open unlined pits for the storage and disposal of oil field brines."

Rod Duff and G. W. Cleveland, president and treasurer of the local association respectively, are to travel to Lubbock this week to confer with George McClesky, the attorney for the local group, to discuss particulars of the presentation of the case to the Texas Pollution Control Board.

Hearing has been set in Austin for the Yoakum County case for 9 p. m. on the morning of November 7.

It is hoped that the results of this hearing will be direct recommendation of the Control Board to the Texas Railroad Commission, which it is in turn hoped will issue something like a 60 to 90 day time limit for the complete discontinuance of the use of unlined salt water disposal pits.

Cash Drawing Set For Sat

It was announced earlier this week that the next in the series of drawings being held by the Yoakum County Federal Credit Union will be held at Pic and Pay Grocery on Saturday, October 27.

be asked for our idea of a solution. It will be no good to place the blame here and there most of which must fall on We The People. The preachers of today can find a lot wrong with our spiritual condition, and they are so right. Every Christian should pray that God would hold back the hand of the enemy, and forgive our nation for its mistakes and sinfulness.

Again in our day, the crying need is for a great leader. For someone to stand for us against the Lord, saying, whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then we are being slowly but surely backed into a corner, and unless we side-step or fight back soon we will be too late. We need a man as we think of our need to stand for a great leader. Our need one for someone to stand for us against the forces of evil that are stand-off our people. Our leaders have become politicians instead of statesmen. This is our great problem that our victory over the enemy was greater than expected either party, but each must take that we had won the war to end their half of the blame.

In this generation we rallied with hope to the leadership of President Roosevelt. In his burning desire to lead us from one peril to another we have embarked on a road from which we may never be able to turn back. A road leading to security instead of freedom and credit instead of cash. His intentions were perhaps good, but the desire to create prosperity throughout his long stay in office led us far down the road toward inflation. The mess could be left to the next administration.

Then came our rally behind Mr. Eisenhower. He was honored by most Americans and many looked with hope to his leadership. Again, like others before, the people were given the easy way. There must be no panics, no depressions, no wars, and no dissatisfaction during these terms or the other party would make a grab. We The People have been petted and spoiled beyond almost any hope.

Some looked with new hope toward the new frontier and the voice of youth as hope sounded so real in the promises of Mr. Kennedy. For the sake of personal prestige and future elections we continued our battle for political party leadership. Where and when will it all end? Certainly not until We The People quit demanding more than we are willing to work for.

Things will not improve a great lot until leaders come forward who are determined to put loyalty to our country ahead of party promises. Our two-party system has played a large part in making our country great and Lord pity us if we ever come to the point of only one choice. But, in the very heart of both parties seems a threat to place party loyalty ahead of our national welfare.

When it comes to foreign policy both parties, for the most part, seem to want to place our security first. This needs to be true also in regard to our economic stability.

Most of the blame falls back on Mr. Average Citizen. We vote for the man who promises an administration based on honesty, and saving policy toward our tax till . . . As soon as he is elected we begin urging that he go along with the spending of public monies for all manner of local business boosters as well as some measure that might hold forth a degree of personal security.

Those who are past fifty years of age have seen this country go

Golf Course Plans Are Revealed

Speculations as to the possible construction of a nine hole golf course just outside, north of town, of Plains were making the rounds this week. Reports have it that land enough to build it on can be secured at the Plains airport, and that several other items, including possibly the irrigation pipe and some volunteer help from the county in the dirt moving that would need to be done, had been offered.

Plans now stand at the place that individuals will have to make their wishes known concerning the project.

The course would also, of course need a small clubhouse and in order to construct this and get technical assistance in the actual construction of the links, membership dues would, in all probability be in order to secure at least a portion of the needed funds.

Receipts Increase in Lubbock Cotton Office

Sample receipts continued to increase this past week at the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office, according to Mr. W. K. Palmer, officer in charge. Palmer said the rain which began Tuesday night would slow receipts for awhile.

The Lubbock office classed 23,000 samples this week. The Amarosa office 6,600 and the Brownfield office 8,200.

Classing at all three offices totaled 80,000 samples to date. Last year 228,000 samples had been classed at this time.

Quality improved slightly this week. Middling counted for 60 percent of that classed at the Lubbock office.

Average staple length was 30.2 thirty seconds of an inch this week.

Movement of cotton on the Lubbock Market improved this week with the Lubbock Cotton Exchange reporting 4,260 bales purchased. This compares with 523 bales reported a week ago and 12,300 bales for the same week a year ago. Prices remained stable this week.

Plains Lions Consider Scout Hut-Lions Den

Board of Directors of the Plains Lions Club entered into serious discussion concerning the possible construction of a combination Scout Hut-Lions Den at their regular monthly session last Friday.

It was decided, after viewing preliminary plans for the proposed 50' x 60' structure, to take the matter directly to the entire club, by calling the proposition to a vote of the whole membership.

If the matter is approved by the club, bids will be sought for the construction of the building and other bids sought on the sale of the property where the present scout facilities are located.

REASONS For OPPOSING

TRIAL de NOVO

On the November 6 General Election ballot will be 14 proposed amendments to the State Constitution. Amendment No. 14 (last on the ballot) is the most important.

It would grant the Legislature unlimited and unprecedented control over administrative functions of cities, counties, school boards, water groups, hospital districts and state agencies by subjecting their actions and orders—even those of a minor nature—to litigation in courts for "trial de novo."

"De Novo" means "anew." Thus, when any decision is taken to court for "trial de novo," not only is the decision of the administrative body disregarded, but it cannot be mentioned that such a decision was reached or the facts cited that led to such decision.

This amendment should not pass because:

- (1) It destroys one of the fundamental principles of American Government—balance of power between the executive, legislative and judicial branches.
- (2) It would make administrators of court judges— a task neither sought nor desired by members of the judiciary.

(3) It could clutter already crowded court dockets with minor administrative matters—decisions on which rightfully rest with administrators.

(4) It would make meaningless any decision reached by a City Council, school board or any other agency in the State. (The result would be the courts' determining issues that are now determined by local, elected officials).

(5) It would burden judges and juries with fact-finding duties—purely an administrative function.

(6) It would hold up important projects while litigation is pending or on appeal. (This will greatly increase the cost of state and local government because many actions would be appealed for the sole purpose of harassment and delay.)

It is imperative that this amendment be defeated. This can be done if the general public becomes aware of the wide and drastic effect "trial de novo" will have on established administrative procedures of government at the various levels.

A Cross Section of Views on Amendment 14

"I want no part in changing our fundamental concept of a democratic form of government operating under the present check and balances designed to prevent any one branch from becoming the master and dictator of the other two."—Texas Supreme Court Justice Meade F. Griffin.

"Nowhere in these United States, or in the various state constitutions, is there any provision such as proposed."—H. P. Kucera, Dallas City Attorney.

"This proposal can be made to sound very good to the people, but when they get the true facts, they will vote against it.... Amendment 14 would bring chaos to state government.... You simply cannot turn all government over to the courts."—Governor Price Daniel.

"If this amendment is adopted, municipal officials may as well close down everything but the City Jail. Even the granting of a dog license by city agencies could be made subject to review in the courts."—George E. Murphy, President of the Texas Municipal League.

"This is the most serious and dangerous proposal to come before the people in my lifetime.... Under this amendment, any crackpot with a $15 to $20 court deposit could file a law suit and delay a $15,000,000 project for years."—Victor W. Bouldin, Houston attorney.

"I am interested in frontyard government, where the people can be as close as possible to the government, but this proposal will open the door to the destruction of local government."—Abner V. McCall, president of Baylor University.

"This amendment could destroy the effectiveness of all administrative boards and commissions.... If you are going to take away all of the power of administrative boards, with their vast store of technical knowledge, what is the use of having them?"—W. St. John Garwood, former Justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

"Historically and practically our courts and jury systems were not designed for the making of efficient and timely administrative decisions."—Paul B. Horton, Dallas attorney.

"This amendment would destroy the most fundamental principle of our government—that of checks and balances between the legislative, judicial and executive branches of government."—J. E. Sturrock, manager of the Texas Water Conservation Association.

"There may be certain ills that exist in some of the administrative boards and commissions and every effort should be exercised to correct them; however, this amendment is too far-reaching."—Robert W. Spence, Austin attorney.

"Unless its (the amendment) defenders can refute the serious charges made against it to the satisfaction of the voters, its chances of adoption may be slim."—The Houston Post.

Tsa Mo Ga Panel Discussion Views America

Tsa Mo Ga Study Club presented its program on Americanism on Monday, Oct. 24. A six member panel composed of Mesdames Bill Loyd, Buddy Hanna, P. W. St. Romain, Wayne Chadwick, Bob Blundell and R. K. Field discussed what America might become according to the findings of the American Round Table.

Mrs. J. M. Tippett was moderator for the group. She stated, "the ingredients are all around us these days for high level worrying about the state of American ideals and morals. Globally we are too apt to despair and to be fatalistic over friction every where." This was the somber introduction given before going into the discussion of the complex problem of precisely what is wrong with America and where our weaknesses are showing.

negative view of government. In a complex age in which government become more and more important, we need a more positive view of its possibilities.

Mrs. Wayne Chadwick's topic was self-indulgent mediocrity. It was stated by the panel she said that there is no more searching or difficult to identify, nurture and wisely use its own talents.

Mrs. Loyd discussed conformity in today's society. She defined conformity as the condition of being too much in agreement.

Mrs. Hanna spoke on Irresponsibility in an individualistic society. "She said, according to the critics, the chief ailment of the American creed has to do with freedom and individualism."

Mrs. St. Romain spoke on Cynicism. She said, "the round table decided inadequacies in characteristic American concepts have much to do with present moral difficulties."

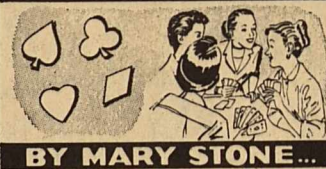

Mrs. R. K. Field discussed the panel's findings on prejudice and bigotry. She said, "we are too inclined to just a problem for a free people than to identify, nurture and wisely use its own talents."

Mrs. Bob Blundell spoke on anti-intellectualism. In her summary of the report she said "In order to eliminate this problem in a democracy, nothing less than elevation of the general level of education as well as prestige of learning would seem necessary."

Mrs. Tippett made a summary of the report. She said, "studies show only 50% of the peoples are interested in international questions in times of crisis."

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

Every Date Ends In An Argument

By C. D. Smith

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 15 years of age and the boy I am going with is 19. My problem is that everytime we are together we end up getting mad and saying things that we do not mean. I have been going with him more than two years and going steady for over a year. I like going with him very much, but I am getting awful tired of the way we are doing. Do you think we should break up? Do you think the reason we argue so much is due to the difference in our ages or have we been going together too long?"

OUR REPLY: The difference in your ages is a handicap, but it should be no more a handicap than it was two years ago. You made your first mistake dating at thirteen a boy four years older than yourself. We won't go into the old, persistent question of when a girl should begin dating, but a girl of thirteen should not start dating "older" boys. It is impossible to enjoy being with someone if arguments are inevitable. When more time is spent "fussing and fighting" than enjoying one another's company, it's time for a change.

We are all human and consequently have disagreements or become displeased with someone we like or someone we love. But, this should be the exception rather than the rule. If we are fond of someone, we learn to "give" as well as to "take." We consider "their side" as well as our own whenever there is a difference of opinion. We want to see them happy, not unhappy. We want to do things for them, not to them. This is how it should be.

Marriage partners who make life miserable for one another have a problem. The boy and girl who can't get along as "steadies" should do something about their problem before it gets too serious.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

—Vern Sanford

When I was a young boy, fishing was a hobby. In the days when he was young, Hal's as well as he can be and you can't have it all.

There are a number of reasons why fishing is much better now than it was in frontier times, and why it's going to keep on improving as the years go by.

These factors are contributing to the angler's joy:

1. Construction of lakes and farm ponds.
2. Introduction of new varieties of fish.
3. Research work done by scientists in the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

When Grandpa was a boy there were relatively few lakes in Texas. Perhaps the most significant was Caddo, where the crappie were to be found.

Now there are lakes all over Texas. They have been created by dams that have been built for water and soil conservation purposes, for irrigation, and for the production of low cost electric power.

These lakes also provide more stable conditions for fish, which formerly suffered (1) when the streams and creeks dried up during droughts and (2) from floods when the rains came.

There were, in the pioneer era, only a few near-ideal places for fresh water fish to live.

Example — the spring-fed streams along the Balcones Fault, where the water flow is fairly constant out of the Edwards Plateau limestone.

When the new artificial lakes came into being, crappie were introduced in them from Caddo. They flourished... thus to provide a new area for the fisherman's pleasure.

White Bass Expansion

Perhaps the most spectacular development has been the spread of white bass in Texas lakes. They were in Caddo lake, as were the crappie, having reached the lake from the Mississippi drainage system via the Red River.

In 1928, fisheries introduced 28 white bass from Caddo Lake into Lake Dallas. They multiplied fast. From Dallas they were introduced into other lakes, with the same result.

Except for Texoma, all of the white bass in Texas lakes originated with those original 28 in Lake Dallas. And there were plenty left over to give to our friends in Arizona and California for their stocking purposes.

Texoma's white bass reached there the same way they entered Caddo... from the Mississippi via the Red River.

White crappie are decreasing in numbers, while the black crappie are increasing. That's due to the change in water caused by drainage differences after the construction of Texoma. The water is less alkaline now and more acid. White crappie like alkaline water. Black crappie thrive in acid water.

While we're on the subject of introducing exotic fish into Texas waters, we'd better mention the carp, although some people would rather not.

An Asiatic minnow, the carp was imported to this country in the 1870's and spread all over the nation.

It is now an important commercial fish, condemned by some anglers and blessed by others. It depends on the point of view.

Anyhow, the carp, which propagates fantastically, can get out of hand numerically. It thereby endangers the existence of other fish by consuming so much of the food.

Texas Game and Fish Commission scientists came up with an answer to that problem in rotenone.

They worked out a system of poisoning with a rotenone solution that will kill carp and other rough fish — such as shad and buffalo — without destroying the game fish. This process has been followed on several lakes with excellent results.

Killing the shad is a fine idea as far as sports fishermen are concerned. Shad are fine food for bass, which often gorge themselves on these bait fish. Then the bass won't respond to the angler's lure.

Remove the shad and the bass have to search for something else to eat. Then they find the anglers' lure.

Another fish that has moved around some is the Rio Grande perch.

This is a fish that likes warm water. He can live in your lake or pond, unless it gets too cold. Then he gives up the ghost.

He can live perennially in places where there are springs that give the water a more or less constant temperature.

The Rio Grande perch is another fish about which there is some controversy as to whether he is desirable or not. Personally, I like him. He grows to a decent pan size. He is eminently edible. He will readily grab a worm, when he is of such a mind. And he is as full of fight as a bluegill.

Whether we like it or not, he is here to stay — having found his way from the Rio Grande into more northern waters.

Other importations to Texas have found conditions here not much to their liking.

There are a few trout that thrive in the Guadalupe Mountain streams. Smallmouth bass simply won't do in Texas waters. Northern rock bass have been tried and now live happily in one or two isolated places. Wall-eyes are not for us.

Everything considered, though, we are in pretty good shape as far as our fishing business is concerned.

In addition to the species mentioned above, Texas has the gallant largemouth bass, the tasty and often hefty catfish, the hard-fighting, delectable bream, and the rugged, sizeable freshwater drum.

It ought to be enough to make a fisherman happy, just to contemplate his prospects.

But to add to his contemplation, he can think about going to the Gulf Coast, where there are more than 200 kinds of fish. These include the speckled trout, the redfish, the pompano, the drum, the ling, and the mackerel.

Also there are tarpon, sails, and others... for the sportsman who wants something really big.

Actually — there are about 450 species of fish in Texas waters, both fresh and salt water. Two hundred or more of these are in the fresh water.

For example, there are 30 species of the sunfish, which include the basses, the crappies, and the bream. There are about eleven different kinds of catfish, including the spoonbill, or paddlefish, which is not properly a catfish at all.

The spoonbill is a relic of prehistoric ages, found in the lowlands of East Texas. It's valued for its roe, which goes into making caviar.

Also in East Texas is the little pickerel, only representative of the pike family in this state.

We haven't mentioned gar, which some fishermen pursue for sport; and we haven't said anything about the minnows, which are part of the picture and indispensable as bait.

Yep, we're in a good shape for fishing in Texas and — as we said — it's getting better all the time.

General 4H Club Elects Officers

The General 4-H Club met in their regular session for October on Monday.

Officers were elected as follows:

President, Kenneth McGinty; Vice president, Coy Lowrey; Sec-Treas., D'Lynn McGinty; Reporter, Helen Clananah; and Council Delegate, Sylvia McGinty.

QUEEN CANDIDATES—Jr. High Carnival Queen hopefuls, Phyllis Kreig, Janie Pierce, Melanie Hardin and Carolyn Crutcher.

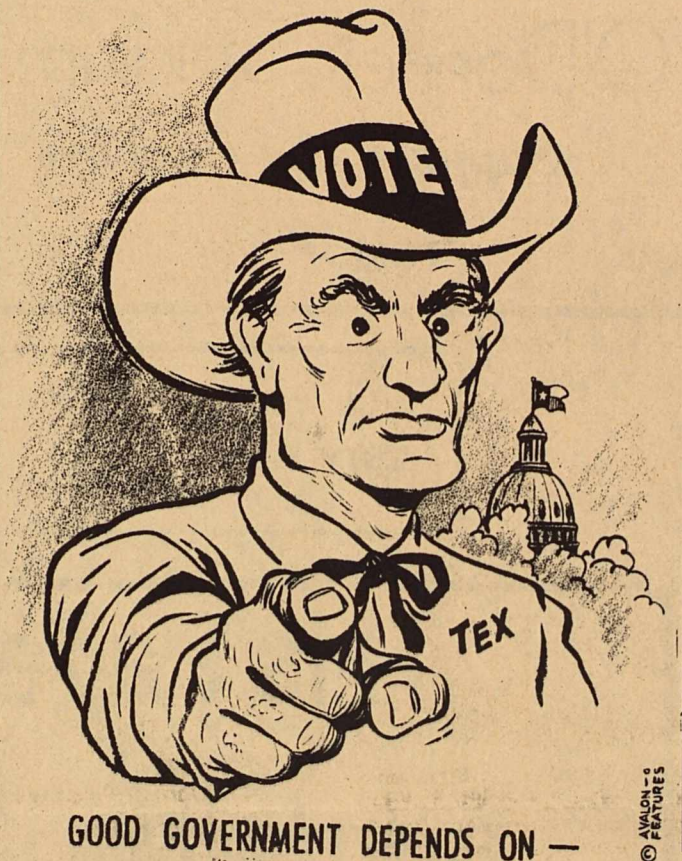

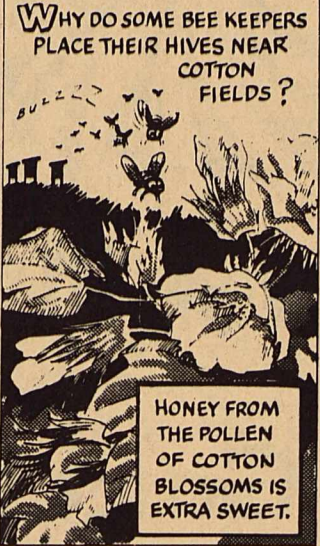

Contest Winners Name Football

Dick McGinty was the uncontested winner in this week's Record Football Contest, only missing two winners out of the 20 games listed.

Picking second and third place winners got to be just somewhat more complicated, as six people each missed only three games in their guesses. These were Jack Pierce, Ronnie Hendricks, Carolyn Culwell, Gene Young, Rod Duff and Rip Sewell.

Second place went to Jack Pierce as he hit the tie-breaker right on the nose; and third place goes to Carolyn Culwell who missed by only four pts.

ITEM: Protection and longer life for spark plug wires is promised by manufacturer who has spent seven years perfecting molded, high-temperature plastic shields or tubes which extend from the coil to the distributor and from distributor cap towers to and over the first two ribs of each spark plug. The plastic material withstands temperatures well above those normally found under the hood and is unaffected by oils, fuels, greases or any other solvents or cleaners used in automotive work such as degreasers and detergents. Fleet operators already using the tubes report they insure all-weather starts.

ITEM: Nutritionists report that many homemakers don't realize importance of Vitamin C—or ascorbic acid. Lack of vitamin C may cause spongy, swollen, bleeding gums, yet a shortage affects the whole body. Youngsters need this vitamin because it enhances the absorption of iron from the intestine and plays an important role in tooth and bone formation. You can get it in a pill, vitamin supplement, or in such foods as tomatoes, raw cabbage, salad greens, sweet peppers, cantaloupes, strawberries, oranges and grapefruit.

ITEM: Half as thick as cellophane, yet one-third as strong as sheet metal. Such is the claim for a completely waterproof clear plastic tape made from a polyester which the manufacturer claims is strongest man-made film. Retail Credit Conference

Mrs. Mollie Courtney who is manager of Plains Retail Merchants Association, attended the Panhandle South Plains Credit Conference in Plainview on October 20 & 21.

The usual credit problems were aired, but special emphasis was put on three comparatively new problems that are now, and will continue to face the creditor, namely:

1. The vast markets that are going to be required to service the exploding population from now through 1970.
2. The necessity of preparing for more luxury trade. We have more money to spend than ever before, and demand more and better goods.
3. The increase in teenage credit. Is it good or is it bad? It is a disturbing problem, but one that the group felt must be met.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald and Linda traveled to Portales over the weekend to attend the ENMU homecoming, Vic, grandson of the Fitzgeralds, is a freshman there.

Boy Scouts "Go" Roundup

The Boy Scouts of America is now conducting its "Go" Roundup. Throughout the nation 132,626 Scouting units are opening their doors to new members. Leaders of the movement have taken as a personal challenge the making of the programs of Scouting even more significant to an ever-increasing number of boys in the days ahead.

Astronaut John Glenn, who has first-hand knowledge of Scouting since all in his family are active in its work, has made a fine contribution by being active in the "Go" Roundup.

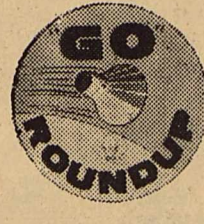

He says, "Our family has been very active in Scouting. My son David just received his Eagle rank in his Explorer Post, and I am very proud of that fact. My daughter Lynn has obtained the curved bar in her work in the Girl Scouts. My wife Annie was a Den Mother in Cub Scouting for a number of years, and I am presently an Associate Advisor of an Explorer Post. We believe in Scouting and the direction and purpose it gives to you."

Astronaut Glenn also believes, "All the science in the world doesn't do much good, unless we have people of the caliber and of the type who can make proper use of this, and that's one of the big benefits of Scouting as I see it."

Through the past 52 years there have been 34,524,815 Americans identified with this largest youth movement in the history of the world in which youth participates voluntarily. Almost every American family has felt its influence.

The training Scouting gives to the youth of America is one of the finest ways we know to assure the perpetuation of good citizenship and ideals. The Scout membership this year stands at 5,210,294 boys and adult volunteer leaders.

We hope that every boy in America who wants to be affiliated with the Boy Scouts can be given that opportunity. We wish that more men of character, institutions, and groups interested in youth will give their active support.

Vaccine OK'd For Children Only

Official word was relayed to this paper by Dr. Squires of Denver City, spokesman for the Five-County Medical Society, that was forwarded for distribution to the public from the Surgeon General of the United States in regard to the administering of type III Sabine Oral Polio Vaccine.

The immunization clinic, originally scheduled for this Sunday, in the School Cafeteria in Plains, as well as other places in Denver City, has been called off.

The type III vaccine, set to be given at that time, has, by the Surgeon General, been cleared for use only with children, 16 years of age and under.

Plans now underway call for the serum to possibly be administered through the two school systems. It was pointed out, however, that before a child may receive the vaccine, written permission must be on hand from the child's legal guardian.

A clinic at a later date, as well as more particulars on the administration of the vaccine to children will be released at a later date.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Two new Great Plains contracts were worked out this week and mailed to the area office for typing. They are the Toy Keller place east of Denver City operated by Albert Williams and the E. A. Frith place west of DC. Both places are to plant considerable grass and reorganize the irrigation systems by installing underground high pressure pipe lines.

Two new Great Plains applications were received, one on the Tom Lesh track northwest of Denver City and one on the W. C. Wilmet farm west of Plains.

A new soil conservation district plan was completed on the O. G. Lewis farm. He plans to do conservation cropping, cover crops and crop residue management.

Some excellent green manure crops are being turned under by conservation farmers all over the district.

Truitt Jones has turned over about 200 acres of cowpeas that weighed nine tons per acre. Jimmie Cox is turning under about three tons of Sudan and grain sorghum residue per acre on a 320 acre dry land tract north of Plains.

Land left rough or cloddy will hold for a good part of the winter and then more tillage will be necessary to control wind erosion.

Cover crops are looking real good with the recent rain and Hayden Box has more than anyone in his area that looks real good. Homer Nelson also has a pretty field that is also being farmed by Box.

Welder Bob Jones has some wheat inter-planted in cotton that looks real good—and a lot of people still say it won't work. J. B. Ashburn reports his rye planted by airplane is doing real well in his cotton.

AUTUMN LEAVES

THERE is something about the Autumn that cannot all "be expressed yet cannot all be concealed." Have you not seen someone shrug his shoulders as he told you there was a touch of Fall in the air? Yes, you have, and there was something indefinable in the air.

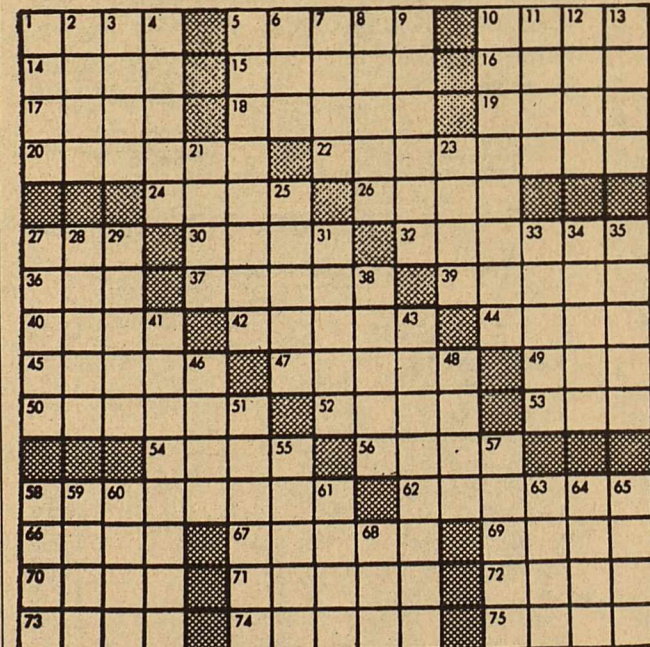

And then the autumn leaves seemed to prove what you felt in your very bones—that some kind of wondrous change was to come over the earth and withal an expectancy of something new and good that would come to you. The change that comes over the woods and the trees around your home is remarkable.

JUST A THOUGHT:

Many of us set the stage for disappointment by expecting too much of others and giving too little of ourselves. Success, in life or in any individual endeavor, must be sought after; it does not come to those who merely wait.

Some years ago, a magazine of national scope carried a story about the "psychology of yellow" and why the color seemed so unpopular. It was not really a favorite color with me then but since it has become beloved in the goldenrod and other bright flowers of the field.

Though I have not found an answer to the question whether the Bible states that the time will come when men will be able to distinguish between summer and winter only by the falling of the leaves, I know that we can expect that winter will be followed by the springtime and tender green leaves and the blessed hope of immortality.

Junior Class Slave Day

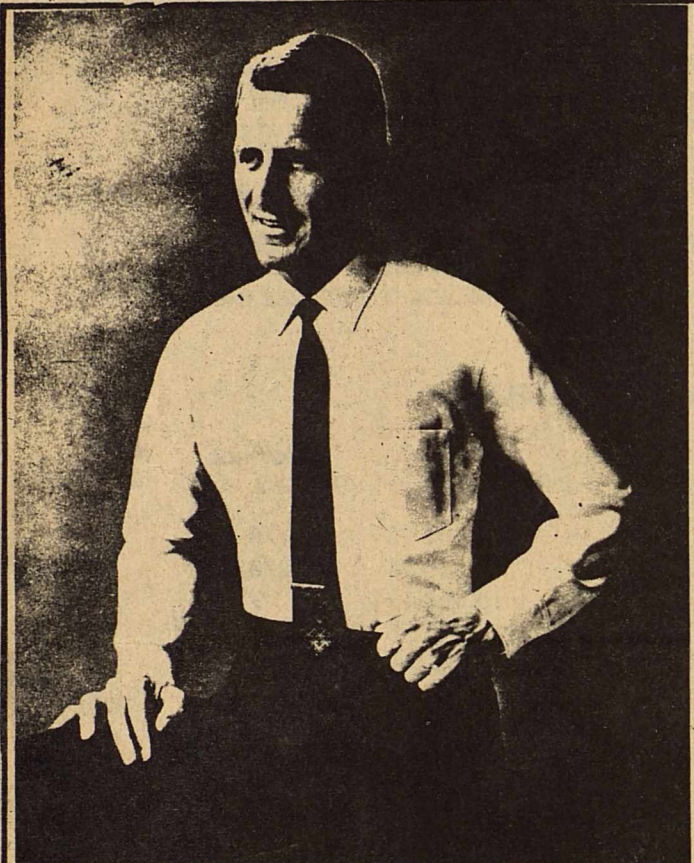

Plains area citizens have a golden opportunity Saturday to get all those nagging little jobs around the store and the house done without expending too much personal energy.

The Junior Class of Plains High is having a "slave day" to raise money for their Carnival Queen Candidate.

Just contact any member of the class and a job will be attended to on Saturday. After the work is done, pay the "slave" whatever you think his or her services were worth.
