MODERN PARABLE

Behold a ball team went forth to play a game of ball. Just as the umpire was saying "Batter up," the catcher for the home team arrived and took his place. The center fielder and the second baseman didn't arrive until the middle of the second inning. The first basemen didn't come at all, but later sent his regrets and said that he had to go to a chicken dinner at Aunt Mary's. The third baseman likewise failed to show up, having been up late the night before and preferring to spend the day in bed. The left fielder was away, visiting another ball game across town. The shortstop was present but left his glove at home.

Verily, when the pitcher entered the box he looked around to see his team-mates, and lo, his heart was heavy when he saw many empty places in the lineup. The game had been announced and visitors were already in the stands to see the game. There was nothing left for him to do but go ahead and pitch and hope for the best.

So the pitcher tightened his belt, stepped into the box and did his level best to put one over the plate. But for some strange reason he just couldn't find the groove. Some of his teammates began to ride him for wild pitching and loud boos began to come from the stands. At the close of the game, the home team (what there was of it) was mercilessly beaten.

The game produced a considerable amount of discussion and when the rest of the team heard about the disgraceful defeat, everyone decided that something ought to be done about it. They finally came to a unanimous decision. A new pitcher was hired. It must have been the old pitcher's poor pitching that lost the game.

Behold, a preacher stood up to preach... but that's another story.—Author Unknown.

LOTS OF ACTION---The picture above shows just a bit of the action in last year's edition of the Yoakum County Rodeo. This year's promises to be even better and livelier.

Tri-City In Semi-Finals

Tri-City All-Star team, composed of players from Plains, Seagraves and Denver City, are presently in the area Babe Ruth tournament being held in Levelland. Last Saturday night the team was defeated in the opener against Post. The local team got no runs on seven hits and committed two errors. Post got five runs on six hits and made three errors. Losing pitcher was Gregg Black of Denver City. Then on Tuesday night Tri-City's opponent was the Frontier team from Morton. In that game, in which Tri-City scored twelve runs on eight hits and committed six errors to Frontier's three runs, four hits and five errors, Alvie Faulkenberry of Plains was the winning pitcher.

Last night (Wednesday) they came up against Lamesa who they beat four to two, and got seven hits and made four errors while Lamesa got three hits and made two er-

Rodeo About Ready To Roll

Work Days Named

It was announced earlier this week that certain work days have been set up to aid in getting everything ready for the Yoakum County Rodeo which is set to be staged on July 25, 26 and 27.

This Saturday at 8 a.m. has been set as the time to butcher the five head of cattle that will be served at the annual barbeque on the 27th. Several men will be needed to help in this undertaking at the slaughterhouse operated, locally, by Plains Frozen Food.

Furnishing the cattle this year are R. N. McGinty, Dick McGinty, Sherm Henard, Gene

Bennett, and M. W. Luna. Monday and Tuesday, July 22 and 23, have been designated as work days at the rodeo arena. All who are willing to help are urged to be on hand those two days.

The saddle being given away this year at the final performance to someone who has purchased a ticket from one of the four Queen Candidates, is being displayed in the Plains State Bank.

The pace of selling derbys and tickets by the queen hopefuls has certainly picked up this week as the deadline is drawing near.

Hospital Rate Change Told

Room rates at Yoakum County Hospital will be increased, and there will be an advance payment of $25 on all admittances, effective August 1, Mrs. Helen McMahan, hospital administrator announced this week.

Explanation was that rates had to be increased to meet the cost of operating the new annex.

Even so, says Mrs. McMahan, county rates will be well below those of many area towns.

Up until the new annex was opened, the hospital had only one kind of accommodation to offer and the daily room rate was $12.

New rates are as follows:
Ward - $12.
Private room - $14.
Room with toilet facilities - $16.
Room and private bath - $20.

Announcing about other procedures in connection with admittance which also will go into effect on August 1, Mrs. McMahan said patients are to bring to the office the name of their insurance company and policy number, also claim forms if possible to insure faster filing.

Senior citizens having Old Age Insurance (OAA) should have their card sent to the office so the hospital can notify Blue Cross of the admission.

Postal authorities issued a reminder to local post office patrons this week to start using Zip Code numbers on all mail.

Plains' Zip Code number is 79355.

A second reminder has been placed in every one's post office box.

With the initial announcement on July 1, the post office department became its on largest customer with 72 million cards, the largest single mailing in post office history.

Postal authorities are urging patrons to use the Zip Code on return addresses on all mail and to inform all correspondents of their code.

Millions of Americans Skip Duty of Voting

By Richard M. Scammon

Chairman, President's Commission on Registration and Voting Participation

Back in 1960, when the Kennedy-Nixon Presidential contest brought out a record number of American voters, some 40,000,000 of our adult population failed to cast a ballot. Last year, in our "off-year" Congressional vote, less than half our citizens voted.

This record contrasts with the experience of our friends overseas. Elections last spring in Italy and in Austria brought out more than 90 per cent of the voters in those countries; in Canada last April, better than 80 per cent baled to choose their country's new government.

To try to find out why this contrast exists is the main job of the new Presidential Commission on Registration and Voting Participation. Appointed last March by President John F. Kennedy, the Commission is a bipartisan group of Americans whose job will be to spell out the "why" of American non-voting and suggest ways in which the voting record of our country might be bettered.

Naturally, a big problem with which the Commission will be concerned is that of registration. Generations ago there was no registration required in America. A man simply went to his local voting place, picked up a ballot, and voted. But this kind of system often produced fraud, so registration was introduced as a protection for the ballot. However, the very fact of registration has very naturally cut down turn-out in our elections. Especially has this been true where there are long delays between the closing date for registration and the actual date of the vote itself.

But there are problems beyond registration which will concern the Commission as well. Location of polling places, hours of voting, length of the ballot, ease of voting—all of these problems will be within the scope of its work. So too will be such new proposals as voting on Sunday, or voting by mail, or voting on two days instead of one.

The Commission will also have a task beyond the purely mechanical aspects of voting. Problems of voter apathy will be examined with an effort to determine the causes for indifference to elections. Is such apathy due to a feeling everything is going along well enough? . . . Or does the voter feel his single ballot isn't going to have much weight? . . . Or is he just uninterested in public affairs? These will be some of the "non-mechanical" aspects of the problem of non-voting which will be investigated in detail during the summer.

In the fall, a report and recommendations will be submitted to President Kennedy. Since the great part of American electoral administration is under State and local control, the recommendations of the report will undoubtedly be forwarded as well to those who supervise the election-day operations of our voting system at the grass roots level. In the final analysis it is here at the grass roots that both the mechanical and "non-mechanical" problems of voter turn-out will have to be met and solved.

Richard M. Scammon

From Parson Jones

Dear Mr. Publisher: I hope this summer weather is treating you all right. It's right peaceful out here in the country. Nothing unusual happened unless it was this week's Sunday School lesson I Don't exactly remember what the lesson was about because we didn't stay on it long. We talked about politics, the new taxes, and the heavy traffic of the highways. Then we got off on the New English Translation of the Bible. (Can you imagine folks discussing the Bible in Sunday School?)

Rufe's wife was teaching the class and she told her pupils she liked this new translation cause it was in up-to-date language that she could understand. She said that the "these and thous and thys" always confused her.

Right away Hezekiah jumped to his feet. (You could tell that a serious discussion was on its way.) He objected to the New English Bible cause it was translated in England and us Americans ought to have something a little more American. He said he preferred the King James translation cause it was in up-to-date language that she could understand. She said that the "these and thous and thys" always confused her.

Right away Hezekiah jumped to his feet. (You could tell that a serious discussion was on its way.) He objected to the New English Bible cause it was translated in England and us Americans ought to have something a little more American. He said he preferred the King James translation. His wife jerked him by the coat sleeve and whispered, (loud enough for everybody to hear), "Don't make a fool of yourself - the King James was translated in England, too." Hezekiah turned right red in the face and sat down-grumbling and grunting to himself.

Another feller took sides with Hezekiah and said that he didn't like that New English Bible cause it don't have two columns like the King James. The book wasn't no Bible unless it had two columns in it. I piped up and said that the original manuscripts didn't have two columns, but that just went in one ear and out the other. (Later I heard that the preacher was just trying to show off his book-Learnin.)

One woman got up and said she didn't like any of these new translations--New English translation, Revised Edition, Moffit, Goodspeed, Phillips; you name them, and she disliked 'em all. She said (with a holy look in her eye), "Why, some of these books don't even look like a Bible." When she told the class that some of the women nodded their heads in holy disapproval.

Well, Mr. Publisher, by this time I had taken all the law will allow, so I took the floor. (I'll have to admit it took a lot of courage--being such a controversial issue) I told the folks that the Good Book wasn't made to argue over but to live by. I pointed out that if they wanted the original Bible, they would have to go back to the Greek and the Hebrew. Then I proceeded to tell em that the values of the Bible didn't depend on how many columns a page has or whether the cover is black or orange. (It could be polka dot for all I care.)

While they were still squirming, I went on to say that it seemed to me that any translation of the Bible was correct enough to go by if we'd only take time to study. It seems to me if folks spent just half the time studying the Good Book as they do arguing about it, they'd be a sight better off. Why most of my folks don't know the ten commandments either in the King James or the Revised Edition and I don't know whether my speech did em any good or not. I did notice that Sister Nell had dusted of her Bible Monday evening when I visited. And

Guest Editorial Spies at the UN

It is not surprising that our government has found more Russians using the United Nations as a spy base. Not only the U.N. but also every Russian embassy in the world serves the same purpose.

Inasmuch as the United States Treasury pays as high as 40 per cent of some U.N. functions, our own government is in the ridiculous position of financing its own destruction--all in the alleged interest of "world peace."

Even if we decide to try and execute these diplomatic rats, the damage will have been done. We may never learn what vital information they have collected and dispatched to Moscow. It is conceivable that the secrets they have stolen and sent back to the Kremlin could betray millions of innocents in this country. Such is the nature of espionage.

It was at the U.N., remember, that Red Russia and Red China learned of our disastrous "no-win" policy in Korea that resulted in 144,000 American casualties.

Our concern with that international structure located on American soil in our greatest commercial city is not limited to Russian spies. Plenty of disloyal Americans--dedicated to the same old way of life--wormed their way into position of influence when the U.N. set up shop on the East River. They are still there, sipping drinks with Russians in the bars and transmitting information that may never come to light.

If this keeps up, the time is not far off when we will have to get out of the U.N. or it will have to get out of the U.S. Our sovereignty and security are more important than the fuzzy efforts of 124 nations to devise some kind of international order.

May God preserve J. Edgar Hoover and the F.B.I.—The Dallas News.

yesterday I saw Hezekiah a-totin a New English Bible under his arm. Wonders will never cease.

Well, Mr. Publisher, I've got to sign off now. Hope to see you next week. I've got to go to town now. I want to swap that New English Bible I got the other day for another one. I hadn't noticed until today this one has a green cover on it.

Yours truly, Parson Jones

State SCD Report Told

Thirty members of the Texas Great Plains Conservation Program Committee, representing most of the agencies, groups and associations working in the field of soil and water conservation, met in Pecos area June 26 and 27, reported H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Jack Stone, supervisor of the Toyah-Limpia Soil Conservation District, talked to the group and showed pictures of work done on his ranch with Great Plains Conservation Program assistance. Stone explained how he spread runoff water over flat draw - type ground that had been root-plowed and seeded to such grasses as Johnson and blue panicum. Stone stated that he was very proud of the results and invited the group to tour his ranch.

Midge Threatens Grain Sorghum

Delbert Langford, Associate Agronomist of the High Plains Research Foundation, located on the High Plains of Texas, announced that Midge is now infesting grain sorghum throughout the area. Langford has alerted farmers to take measures to protect their crops. This insect can completely eliminate a grain sorghum crop. Midge infestations have invaded the High Plains Research Foundation, July 9 is the first this insect has put in an appearance here this year. The adult Midge itself will not do any damage, but will lay eggs in the bloom of the grain sorghum head. As the larva grows it eats the grain; thus leaving only an empty hull.

The first application should be made about two days after the head emerges from the boot. Some of the Chemicals recommended for spraying are Endrin, Sevin, and Toxaphene. Farmers should contact local dealers for application rates and methods. In years past with plantings of may 15, and earlier, there had been no damage to grain sorghum by Midge due to an early blooming date, and having the crop into a hard grain stage by the time Midge arrived. Some farmers have planted early this year in the attempt to get the grain sorghum past Midge. This present infestation is about one month earlier than in 1962. Langford, says that the infestation will keep building up and gaining momentum until the last grain has bloomed.

IRRIGATED PASTURES MARK WORK HERE

Three new regular Soil Conservation District plans one of which is a Great Plains Conservation Program contract were completed this week. W. H. Tudor of Brownfield who farms 320 acres South of Plains, and D. W. Eubanks of Post who owns a 320 acre farm South West of Plains operated by Louis Eubanks, his brother, have new conservation plans. Robert and Tom Box who farm west of Plains received assistance from Wilson Duke in working out a conservation program and a Great Plains contract to assist them in carrying it out. Work continues with the local land owners and operators who have irrigated pasture in the form of watering. Fertilizing and grazing of these planted pastures. If a good ground cover, economical returns and long time grazing programs are to be achieved and maintained there is much to learn about when, how and what to do in pasture management.

James Abbot of the Soil Conservation Service reported on progress and accomplishments of the GPCR. He said that approximately 900 contracts had been signed since July 1, 1962, obligating just under three million dollars on over a million acres of farm and ranch land. It was also noted that the Soil Conservation Service had about 300 proposed contracts on hand for which cost-share funds would not be available before July 1. This backlog of contracts illustrates the tremendous build-up in interest in the GPCR that has taken place in the past four or five years. Abbott also said that 209,000 acres of cropland have been planned for conversion to other uses, such as pasture and rangeland. This represents over 21% of all cropland placed under Great Plains contracts. Brush control has been carried out on over one million acres with assistance from the GPCR with an average cost-share assistance of $2.35 per acre. It was pointed out that since 30,68% of the total cost-share assistance had been spent on brush control, which is a disproportionate share of the available funds, a priority limitation had to be placed on brush control.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Trout, Cote and Rodney, were accompanied to Ruidosa and the Mountains for the weekend by her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Nicholson and granddaughter of Novice, and the Nicholson's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Springer and daughter of Hale Center. The Nicholson's are spending this week here.

Spending the weekend at Lake Thomas were Mr. and Mrs. Dery Anderson and children, Mrs. and Mr. Leon Huff and daughter, and Miss Caroline Crutcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lewis and daughter of Hamlin visited in the Ray and Charley Jones homes over the weekend then drove to Ruidosa for several days vacationing.

Following the business session, the committee toured the James P. Goode and Allgood and Avery farms near Barstow, George Avary and Mrs. Anna Herring ranches near Ebyte, Edd Cox ranch at Monahan, A. J. Hoelscher at Coyansoa and the Winfield Estate Ranch at Fort Stockton. Many outstanding examples of conservation were observed on each farm and ranch.

Others participating in the meeting were: Dr. R. E. Patterson, Dean of Agriculture, Texas Tech College; Harvey Davis, Executive Director, State Soil Conservation Board; Ben A. Jordan, Jr., State Director, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation; J. D. Prewitt, As-

Inside Insurance in Texas

(Editor's note: Insurance is now the second largest industry in Texas, second only to petroleum. This informative series of articles is written especially for The Plains Record by the author of the book, "The Story of Insurance in Texas.")

By HUGH WILLIAMSON
What are the chances that the insurance business in Texas will hit a plateau or go into a decline? The answer is that the odds against it are a million to one, or nil. The alternative is true. The insurance business is going to get bigger and bigger.

That statement is true because the population of Texas is expanding all the time; also because the greater numbers of people are finding ever greater needs for insurance protection. Even, so, the question has been asked a good many times. A citizen will look in the yellow pages and find a great many listings under "insurance."

"There are so many," he says to himself. "How in the world do all these people make a living?" The insurance companies, the agents, the salesmen, make it — most of them make it very well as substantial citizens of their communities — because the citizens, the great increasing numbers of them, are aware of what insurance has to offer them, and they demand more policies of widening scope.

At the moment, another phase of the "population explosion", about which we have heard a great deal, is imminent. The "war babies" are growing up. To quote Dave Smith, executive secretary of the Texas Legal Reserve Officials' Association: "They tied the school system in knots in the Forties and Fifties. Now, in the Sixties, they will finish school, find jobs, get married and another population explosion begins all over again."

Smith writes in the magazine West Texas Today: "Helping the war babies expand the insurance market are the thousands of people who annually move to Texas from other parts of the country. Texas' population has increased 24.2 per cent in the past decade. It is the third fastest growing state in the nation..."

Not only are there more Texans today than ever before — also, they have more possessions. They have more cars, better homes. They have boats and cameras and power tools and you name it. And they have more insurance. They have three times as much as they had a decade ago.

Getting at some figures, life insurance in force in Texas reached a record high last year of $33.6 billion, as compared with $30.8 billion in 1961. Ordinary life purchases were $3.4 billion in Texas last year, 4 per cent over 1961. There will certainly be another increase in 1963.

Here is a comparison to show increasing insurance protection. In 1951 the average family in Texas owned $3,800 worth; ten years later it was up to $10,300. The figures demonstrate that people have confidence in life insurance, that their recognition of it as a need

4-H Girl Gives Demonstrations

Cassandra Bridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Bridge of Tokio, presented the demonstration for the regular meeting of Turner Home Demonstration Club, July 3 in the home of Mrs. Amos Smith.

"Children need milk in their diet each day, she told the group, and sometimes in it is necessary to camouflage it with chocolate or other favorites to encourage children and adults to drink enough. She prepared a banana milk shake and served it with a tasty sandwich. Milk shakes of many varieties offer mild as well as other foods such fruit that help to make a well rounded diet for all, she pointed out.

Mrs. Bridge joined the club and was served refreshments of dainty cracker - filled sandwiches, angel cake and frosted lime punch with members, Mrs. L. L. Smith, Mrs. Carl Lowery, Mrs. John Cutris, Mrs. William Worsham, Mrs. Reg Martin and Mrs. Smith and visitors Cassandra Bridge, Ann Martin, and Edith Worsham.

President Mrs. Lowery presided for the business session, following the roll call and reading of the minutes, Council delegate, Mrs. Worsham reported on the July 2 Council meeting.

The discussion on helping serve the dinner at the Annual Stockholders meeting at Tokio Coop Gin was continued until the next meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. W. O. Spencer.

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

If you suffer from "mid-morning hunger," better revise your breakfast habits, State Health Department nutritionists advise.

More and more people are falling into the habit of skimpy breakfasting. Surveys have shown that two out of every nine children leave for school without breakfast, and four out of ten workers leave for work with nothing to eat.

Within the next decade about 30 million women are expected to be holding down jobs, says the U. S. Department of Labor. Women now make up about one-third of the total labor force of 75 million. Modern invention and technological advances will add new jobs to the wide span already being filled by women. Many positions are and will be in the home economics field. Employers indicate that more professionally educated women are needed, and those trained in specific skills as well.

Educators Urge Early Career Choice

Today educators urge students to complete high school, and make an early choice of career so that later training and education can be planned accordingly. One group of young women who have a head start, reports the National 4-H Service Committee, are 4-H members.

1.3 Million Girls

At some time during club membership, nearly every one of the 1.3 million girls now enrolled in 4-H receives some training in her dual role of future homemaker and career woman.

Sewing, meal planning, nutrition, home management, interior decoration, fashion and consumer education are among the projects in which 4-H Club members participate.

They start in 4-H as young as 9 years of age, and many remain for as long as 10 years. Volunteer adult and junior 4-H leaders supervised by the Co-operative Extension Service head the local clubs.

Helping to encourage these future home economists, scientists, writers, mothers, teachers and business women are two corporations that annually contribute funds, educational literature and technical assistance to the national 4-H clothing and the foods-nutrition programs.

Scholarships Help

They are Coats & Clark Inc., which this year will help 12 girls with their college education by way of $500 national clothing scholarships. General Foods Corporation will give six $500 scholarships to top-ranking club members in the 4-H foods-nutrition program.

Chicago Delegates

Both firms will bring to Chicago as delegates to the week-long National 4-H Club Congress state award winners from all 50 states and Puerto Rico—102 in all. Here they will be honored by their hosts at elegant parties and banquets.

During the week-long congress these talented teens will hear prominent educators and noted speakers. Along with 1300 fellow 4-H'ers they will participate in several challenging and inspiring events. For most, it will be the first trip to a big city.

Coats & Clark and General Foods are but two of hundreds of private enterprises helping the youth of this country achieve future goals.

Hillside Church of Christ Plans V.B.S.

Mr. Joe Chisholm, minister of the local Hillside Church of Christ announced this week that a Vacation Bible School is scheduled to begin at that Church on July 22 and conclude on the 26th. It, Chisholm said, will begin each morning at 9 and continue through 11 a. m., and he pointed out that all area children are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane McDonnell and Pam returned home early Tuesday from a ten day trip through Northern New Mexico and Colorado.

Enjoying themselves at the Lake Thomas this week are the L. D. Hamm's and Jana, Joyce, and Joetta Warren.

Mr. Pete Dyer was in El Paso Sunday and Monday of this week.

"Our nature study group is VERY popular this year!"

Charcoal broiling brings out exceptional flavor in poultry, too. Safeway Stores packs Man-of-House baby turkeys especially for barbecuing. They're a convenient size, quick frozen and ready to cook.

For pinpoint control of the annoying little fires caused by barbecue drippings, try a child's water pistol. It extinguishes the flames without scattering ashes or drowning the bed of coals.

"Mid morning hunger" is the expression nutritionists use to describe the feeling which comes after an inadequate breakfast. Victims usually feel weak and giddy by mid-morning. They may be hungry, yet have not taste for lunch. Or, if they are able to eat a big lunch, they may feel sleepy by early afternoon.

Midmorning hunger therapy, nutritionists say, calls for the "patient" to eat a solid breakfast. The extent of breakfast consumption varies from person to person. Individuals with special problems or modified diets can be guided by their physician.

Many Texas teachers and school nurses place special emphasis on breakfast. One school nurse had a breakfast contest in the elementary grades. Near the end of the school year a mother telephoned to report on the improved breakfast habits and general well being of the whole family. Before the contest, the mother said, none of the family ate breakfast. Her child, involved in the school breakfast contest, insisted on having a good breakfast. Eventually it caught on and the whole family began eating breakfast and feeling better.

It is a false idea that skipping breakfast is a good way to reduce. If anything, this highly injurious practice adds pounds. It works like this:

Skip breakfast and by noon you have lost your appetite or else are afraid to eat for fear of being groggy all afternoon.

Then for supper you eat the food your body has been demanding all day. Now you go to bed and your supper is converted into fat rather than energy as would have been the case had you eaten properly during hours of greatest activity.

An adequate breakfast pattern can be adapted to any age, budget or cultural pat-

"Or who hath been His Counselor?"—Isaiah 40:13-44

St. Paul, in his epistle to the Romans pointed out the depth of the wisdom and knowledge of God and, in a sense that we should not expect to understand everything that we know about God.

As Paul suggests, it is sufficient we know that all things come to us from God and that God is master over all. As master, God does not consult with anyone. He moves without the counsel of a board of directors or any type of advisory group.

This is not too difficult for modern-day Christians to understand. The example of the life and death of Jesus Christ has for centuries reminded mankind that God is good; God is just; and that all men have equal opportunity to share in God's kingdom.

The Bidding:

West	North	East	South
pass	1♦	pass	2NT
pass	3♦	pass	4NT
pass	5♦	pass	6NT
double	pass	pass	pass

Opening lead: Five of clubs.

East played high with king and South won with ace. South returned ten of hearts and when West played low, let it ride. The ace of hearts, then a small heart to the king made five heart tricks. South next took six diamond tricks to make contract before East or West could get in with clubs or spades.

COMMENT: South was lucky to find North with two long suits; otherwise there was no hope for the six bid.

ITEM: White has become a very popular roof paint in the past few years as householders have learned that interior temperatures can be reduced as much as 20 degrees by painting a dark roof white. Non-chalking paint is recommended to prevent the body of the house from being stained.

ITEM: Most trees would fare better from youth through adolescence if they had an area of mulch at their feet. A mulch reduces thermal fluctuations in the root area, permits better aeration, and prevents bumping trunks of trees with a lawnmower. A rule of thumb is this: If a tree trunk is 2 inches in diameter, the mulch area should be two feet in diameter.

NOW DESIGNATED---The Yoakum County Court House in Plains has now been officially named as a fallout

C of C Report Supplement

Your Secretary is so low she has to look up to see down. Went fishing with daughter Mary June Lovelace and family at Lake Brownwood on July 7-9th, and everybody had luck except me. Five of us fished the early morning hours before dawn Tuesday the 9th, and came up with a total of 37 nice bass. After taking the count, Grandson Larry Lovelace said "Just think Grandmother, 37 fish and one of them is yours".

Then I came home to find I had made several omissions in the list of business as published in our June bulletin, resulting of course, in hurt feelings. My humblest apologies to these fine people of whom we are sincerely appreciative. Omissions that have come to my attention are:

1. Barker's Variety Store

Barrett assured me it would be opened again as soon as possible, even if he had to move down himself.

4. Left off the list too was Yoakum County Federal Credit Union. This little community owned savings and loan institution is slowly but gradually growing. To be a member one must own shares in it. Share holders were paid a 4% dividend in 1962. Once a member, one is eligible to borrow at an attractive rate of interest, and loans are interested, and loans are insured.

5. Here the laugh is on me! I omitted my own business, Retail Merchants Association. Quite a few of us think this business too is rendering a valuable service. Never a day goes by but that we make credit reports on individuals in our trade territory. Some wanting to buy appliances, automobiles, homes, or maybe just wanting to open a monthly charge account. The individual makes his own credit rating, reporting it is our job.
