ALL MOST---but not quite was pretty well the story Friday night when Plains met Post here and was handed a 9-0 defeat. Cowboys weren't quite able to break loose and get into the scoring column.

Handed 9-0 By Antelopes

Cowboys Have Open Date

The promising Plains Cowboys were handed their second defeat Friday night by one of the finest teams to come out of Post in many a season. The battle raged, mainly in the defensive vein, through three quarters with neither of the teams being able to quite break away and score. The defensive efforts displayed by both the Cowboys and the Antelopes were great. Post displayed a blazing aerial attack that was brought under control only by a great deal of extra effort playing on the part of the Cowboys. Safety, Mike Field, as an instance, intercepted one Post pass and knocked down two more. This was the brand of defensive ball Plains displayed during the entire four quarters. Five fumbles on the part of the Cowboys to only two by the Antelopes about made the difference in the game. Head coach, Rip Sewell said, "We handed the game to Post on a platter without fumbles." He said he felt much more confident this week though, as the entire series of plays planned for use this year have now been put into use by the team. He pointed out that with our open date we have an extra week to get ready for Friona, who come to the Cowboys' home ground for next week's game. He said further that we had better be just as ready for the Chiefs as we possibly can, as they broke a 27 game losing streak, and with two victories under their belts, now already have their best season since 1959. All the scoring in the Post game came in the last four and one-half minutes of the fourth quarter. Post scored two on a safety when the Cowboys were faced with a punting situation on their own six yard line with fourth down and 12 to go. Quarterback Mike Field took the ball for the punt in the end zone, but some Antelopes were allowed to slip through and they blocked the attempted kick and garnered, at that point in the game, a mighty big two point lead. Following the safety, the Cowboys had to kick off to the Antelopes from their own 20 yard line. A little added fire from having scored two points seemed to put new life into the Post team who bounced back and made seven more big ones on a TD and kick.

Boosters Notice

It was announced by Booster Club president, Jack Palmer, that the club will not meet this coming Monday because of the open date in Plains' grid schedule. It was also announced that selection of Players of the week was made for the Post game. A repeater, Joe Dan Cooke, was picked this week as the Outstanding Offensive Player of the Week; and Bruce Long as the Outstanding Defensive Player of the Week. The Boosters will again resume their regular meetings on September 30.

NAME GRID

Winners in last week's edition of the Record's football contest are, Vennum Fitzgerald, first place; Jack Lowe, second place; and Dick McGinty third place. Fitzgerald was uncontested as first place winner with three misses out of the twenty tilts, while Lowe and McGinty tied with five misses each and their respective places had to be decided by using the tiebreaker decided by using the tie-breaker score.

This Friday is an open date for our Plains Cowboys, but our contest will run as usual. For those of you who have forgotten the rules they are the following:

1. Anyone over the age of 14 is eligible to enter.
2. Enter as many times as you wish, but on a separate entry blank each time. 3. Entries must either be in the Record Office or post-marked by no later than 5 p. m. the Friday of the contest. 4. Your choice of winner should be clearly marked by circling the name of team in each of the 20 games listed, you think will win. 5. Three prizes, first $5, second $3, and third $2 will be awarded each week to those who miss the fewest contests. 6. In the event of tie for any of the three places, the tie-breaker game in which you are asked to pick the actual score for each team will decide the winner. 7. In the event an entrant correctly picks the winners in all 20 games in a given week, he will receive a $25 bonus.

Odus Walser Kidnapped, Robbed

As of noon today (Thursday) Mr. Odus Walser, Principal of Plains Junior High School, was one Oldsmobile, a watch, a billfold, and ring and glasses short.

Word was received here by his wife, Kathleen, that he was in a hospital in Carlsbad, New Mexico.

According to officials, he had been taken to the hospital after he had walked up to a filling station on the outskirts of Carlsbad, where, after getting a drink of water, he had collapsed.

Walser, after regaining consciousness, related as many of the events leading up to his predicament as he could remember, as he relates, he was unconscious most of the time.

Shortly after 2 p. m. yesterday, Walser reports he received a phone call at his office by a person as yet unidentified, who stated he was interested in buying the motor scooter owned by Walser's son. He told the individual to meet him at his home in a few minutes, as he had to run an errand to the bank.

He went to his home, and seeing no one there, parked his car with just the hood in the garage. He reports he got out of his car and went into the garage where the scooter was leaned against the inside wall.

He said the family dog was kicking up a big fuss and he went outside and quited him ki down. When he went back in to the garage with his back to a small storeroom, he took hold of the handlebars on the scooter to roll it out. He reports that this is the last thing he remembers until he woke up in a dazed condition in a pasture near Carlsbad.

He then started walking toward Carlsbad where he stumbled into the driveway of a filling station in a state of near-collapse, and asked that someone call the police. Police and an ambulance arrived and took him to a Carlsbad hospital, from which he was brought back to Plains by his wife, Kathleen, and his pastor, Rev. James Bozeman.

Doctor Clyde Lynn of Plains reports that three different abrasions are apparent on the back of his head, where he evidently was slugged three times.

After being slugged in the garage his shoes and clothing showed evidence of his having been dragged across the floor and dumped into the car. The assailant is believed to have then driven on with the unconscious Walser in the car, whom he later finished robbing left to fend for himself. Walser is reported to be in good condition, but is being kept under observation in his home by Doctor Lynn.

Brine Disposal Deadline Near

Mr. Rod Duff, president of the Yoakum County Water Conservation Association, in reporting on a trip he made last week to Odessa had a great deal to say about the real progress being made across the state in connection with the water pollution problems that so many areas are now confronted with.

Duff stated that the meeting of the Anti-Pollution Committees of the state's Soil Conservation Districts.

He said that one of the very encouraging aspects of the meeting was the great amount of support the moves to get the program solved are now receiving. Sportsmen Clubs, Garden Clubs, and many local and area groups all across the state are becoming concerned about the problem.

In fact, according to Duff, a request is to be made of the Texas Water Pollution Control Board which convenes in Austin on October 26, to make it unlawful for brine water wastes from oil field production to be disposed of in open earth pits anywhere in the Ogallala underground water area, which would include an area all the way from the Panhandle of Texas to a full half of Ector County.

Even the highly-regarded High Plains Water District is expected to have a voice in the matter.

Representatives of the local association, including Attorney George McCleskey and, hydrologist for the local group, Ed Reed, are to attend the Austin meet, which is called for the express purpose of hearing any possible exceptions or extensions that should be granted in connection with the pit-stop order for Yoakum County which is to become effective in October.

ANNOUNCE ASCS ELECTION RESULTS

Ray Bearden, Tokio farmer was again elected chairman of the ASCS Committee in the election held September 12, it has been learned.

T. A. Elmore, T. J. Murphey LeeRoy McCravey and Robert Long were again elected to serve as vice-chairman, regular member, and alternates respectively.

County ASCS office manager, W. M. Overton, says, "The ASCS Committeemen are an important and integral part of the farm program. Their duties and responsibilities are many; serving as a board of directors in the same general manner as the board of directors of a Co-Operative or other local organization." The Committee meets at least once a month.

Most area farmers participated in the election. The ballots were tabulated by Johnny Brown, Kenneth Blount and Jack Cobb and they announced the five top men with the following vote: Ray Bearden 202; T. A. Elmore, 174; T. J. Murphey, 146; LeeRoy McCravey, 123; and Robert Long, 122. Thirteen names appeared on the ballot which included farmers from all sections of the county and all received a large amount of votes.

The local ASCS office manager expressed his appreciation for the splendid turn-

FEED GRAIN

Regulations governing the 1964 feed grain program have not been received in the county ASCS office but advance information reflects the following provisions you will probably be interested in:

The feed grain program for 1964 is basically the same as 1963 program. However, some of the important changes are that a producer may divert as much as 50% of feed grain base acreage on the farm, and those who divert 40% of base or more will receive diversion payments at the higher rate for all acres diverted.

YOUTH NOTICE

Mrs. Wallace Randolph, sponsor for the Plains Youth Center has announced that the center will not be open on this Friday and Saturday because of the continuing remodeling of the building. She explained that the floors are now being sanded and varnished and that they will not be dry in time for use this week end, but that they will, in all probability, be ready for use again next week end.

Eligibility for feed grain program benefits in 1964 is not contingent on staying with in the wheat allotment, if any for participating farms; however, maintaining the normal acreage in conserving use under the feed grain program will mean that any planting of wheat in excess of farm allotment on a complying feed grain farm would have to be at the expense of some other soil depleting crop.

Producers that have Soil Bank Contracts must stay with in their wheat, cotton and Peanut Allotments or permitted acres to be eligible for Soil Bank Payments.

Wheat Support

Farms on which the planted acreage of wheat does not exceed the Allotment on the disposition date for wheat, in 1964, will be eligible for price support at 50% of parity.

However, there will be no penalty assessed on wheat acreage planted and harvested in excess of farm allotment. Farms with excess wheat acreage will not be eligible for price support on the wheat produced on farm but can sell the wheat on the open market.

In the event of wheat acreage in excess of the farm allotment it will under the present regulation result in a reduction in the wheat allotment for the farm for 1966 and future years. This wheat regulation, according to W. M. Overton, local ASCS office manager, has been in the wheat law for several years resulting in a reduced allotment if the allotment is exceeded.

If Texas farmers pay the marketing quota penalty on stored excess wheat before July 1, 1964, they may lose part of their wheat acreage base history, says Tom Aaron, extension grain marketing specialist. Since no marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1964 crop, excess wheat released after the July 1 date will not affect the base history and will carry no marketing penalty.

Excess wheat from the 1963 crop or previous crops released by payment of the penalty before July 1, 1964, will reduce the farm's wheat base history. A farm loses acreage history when a marketing quota penalty is paid or becomes due. However, if a farmer has a small 1963 wheat crop because of underplanting or underproduction, he may apply to the County ASC committee to release all or part of the farm's stored excess from previous years without penalty or loss of wheat acreage history.

"If there's any question about the release of your stored excess wheat, check with your county ASC committee," advises Aaron.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Oats of Ralls announce the wedding of their daughter Joy to Mike Sink of Tokio. Vows were read at the Church of Christ in Amarillo.

Each year about this time everyone is thinking about school. Whether we have a youngster in school, grandson or only watch the pupils go back and forth down the street or the school buses passing by it seems that everything reminds us of another school year.

Each year we receive a small booklet entitled Treasured Verses published by Farp Publishing Company whose business is workbooks and the like for schools. In it we always find a treasure of poems and thoughts appropriate for the beginning of school. This time we would like to dedicate the following to all our teacher readers. It is called;

She'll introduce him to great men She fought life's battles with sword or pen. . . She'll guard you from the Gossip's tongue By concealing those Tales Told by Your Young. . . .

Speaking of schools; our mail today brought a letter from Miss Carmelita R. Coloma a Philippine Union College for 1772, Manila, Philippines. She is a Junior and almost nineteen years young. She writes pen-pals in the United States especially Texas. She is studying to be a secretary. Some of you young readers please write to Carmelita. She read one of our poems and a little mention in The Sunshine Magazine. This is our second letter from the Philippines within the last month.

It is not enough that we strive to stamp out all evil, we must also try and do a bit of good. . . .

We never seem to cease hearing from far away places that this column finds its way. We are so thankful for the fact that it does travel so far, and even more thankful for the many readers who have taken the time to write.

Our latest report comes from Mrs. Clarence R. Van Demo 5430 Madison Drive, Toledo 14, Ohio. . . . She states that she never fails to read Plowin' Out The Corners in Southwestern Crop & Stock. . . .

Her hobby is recipes and cook books, but we will let her tell you about it in poetry form:

To you, friends of his column, I'd like to say Hello. And tell you about my hobbies, So here I go: A collector of Cook books am I; Of recipes too, oh me, oh my! To my collection would you like to add? If you'd be so kind, twould make me very glad. Want me to send you some of mine? Just write me a letter—that would be fine. So . . . for anything you wish to do. Thanks a million, and God Bless You

Another reader from far away Chicago ordered our book this week, and we'll bet many of you have used his product. He is Feltor Reiby, president of Precision Equipment Co. 4401 North Ravenswood Avenue, Chicago 40, Illinois. . . . STOP FOR SCHOOL BUSES

Thousands of school children are now trooping back to school throughout Texas. Many of them will be transported by school buses. Most people are careful when approaching a school bus which may be standing beside the road or school to pick up school children or allow them to alight. However, we have already had some very bad accidents this year because a child or a motorist, or both, were careless at that time.

Most Texans are aware of the law which requires a driver to come to a complete stop when overtaking from the rear a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children. After stopping immediately behind the bus, he is then allowed by law to proceed past same at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding ten (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when MEETING a stopped school bus. While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple rule greatly outnumber those who comply. Failure to follow the law in this cause can lead to fine up to $200 even when no accident occurs. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed the penalties are naturally much more serious.

Although the above rule does not always apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious.

When it comes to overtaking and passing moving vehicles, exercise of ordinary common sense will generally keep a driver within the law. For instance, when passing a car it is only common sense to proceed on past it a safe distance before cutting back to the right side of the highway. Also, any driver would realize the danger of increasing his speed while another is attempting to pass him.

In the same category is the prohibition against passing on right under most ordinary conditions. Of course, you may legally pass on the right in a few specific instances, such as when the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn, or upon a one-way street with two or more lanes, or upon a four-lane highway.

However, our traffic law state that even when passing on the right is allowed, it shall be done only under conditions permitting such movement in safety. And, in no event should such passing be accomplished by driving off the pavement or main-traveled portion of the roadway.

Familiar to all are the no passing zones designated by yellow lines placed to one side of the center line on our highways. Not so well known are the restrictions against crossing the center line when approaching within 100 feet of or when traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing.

A driver should never cross the center line of a highway when the left side of the road is not clearly visible and free of oncoming traffic. Generally speaking, when not engaged in passing another vehicle, one should not drive to the left of the roadway.

$10-200 FINE

The Texas Highway Department has added two new methods to its continuing anti-litter campaign: a cartoon character printed on its Official Highway Travel Map and revised highway signs reminding drivers they can be fined from $10 to $200 for littering. The cartoon character, "The Litter Longhorn," pleads with the public to "Help Stop Out Litter." The sign emphasizes that it is against the state law to litter. In 1962 the Highway Department had to spend $1.4 million to pick up litter, an increase of about a hundred thousand dollars over 1961.

Due New Drought?

Farmers in the bone dry, parched areas of Texas are apt to find little comfort in predictions of a Denver meteorologist.

"By 1972 or 1975 we're likely to have seen a drought on the Great Plains more severe and more sustained than the droughts of the 1930's and 1950's", according to Doctor Walter Orr Roberts.

A director of the high altitude observatory at the University of Colorado, Dr. Roberts made his long-range forecast shortly after the end of the disastrous 1950-1957 drought. And now after a six year interval, several South and Central Texas counties are once again being designated as drought disaster areas.

Some hope can be gained from a New Englander, Dr. Hurd C. Willett of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This summer, Dr. Willett said the Southwest should begin to get some relief from its present dry spell before the end of 1963. He qualified his prediction as "off the cuff", however based on a cursory glance at the statistical pattern of dry cycles.

In some respects, Texas is in much better shape to withstand the ravages of a drought than it was at the start of the long scorcher of the 1950's. The Texas Water Conservation Association figures show that in 1950, Texas had only 63 reservoirs with 5,000 acre-feet or more capacity which held a total of 7,400,000 acre-feet of water. Stock and irrigation needs during the seven-year drought depleted this supply alarmingly.

Today, however, Texas now has 116 such reservoirs with a total usable conservation storage capacity of 14,932,000 acre-feet. Twelve more are under construction which will have 9,055,000 acre-feet capacity when completed. Should another long drought be on the way, Texas will have approximately three times more water in reserve than it had 13 years ago.

These figures are reassuring but do little to help farmers in dry land areas which are heavily dependent upon annual rainfall to make a crop. This includes a majority of the Texas cropland. But at least, efforts to increase our storage capacity in recent years has done much to provide adequate municipal water and much livestock supplies.

Area Barbecues Well Attended

Two different public barbecues were on tap Saturday afternoon for area residents to attend.

At 5 p. m. C. G. & S. Gin owned and operated by W. O. Spencer had its annual fete. Then at 5:30 a combination of Dyer Grocery, Hanslick Grain Co., Inc., and New-Tex Gin, all of the State-Line Community held their barbecue, which they stated they plan to make into an annual affair.

Both affairs are reported to have been very well attended.

Score Needs In Education

Most young people, like most adults, rarely operate at full capacity, but parents can take steps to help the child who is classed by educators as an underachiever, according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

An article in the current issue of the magazine states that about half of all able boys and a quarter of all able girls are in this category, bright youngsters whose marks show they are not doing as well as they should.

Most underachieving youngsters need more confidence and understanding, less nagging and reproof, the article advises. Parents who think their child falls in this category should have a conference with his teacher. "The important thing is to find out whether he is producing substantially below his ability and if so, why."

"Lack of interest in school rebellion, frustration and personal psychological problems, are causes of underachievement," the article continues. "So are unsympathetic teachers and unsympathetic parents. Boys need approval from their fathers plus the knowledge that their fathers respect education. They need to gain independence from their mothers. Girls need expressions of love from their fathers, and mothers who are not dominating and not dissatisfied with their role as wife and mother."

Most students in the underachiever category do learn the basic information and skills they need to move up through the grades, the article points out, but the work they turn out is close to the minimum they can get by with and far below what they are capable of.

In boys, the tendency toward underachievement shows up as early as the first grade and usually is pretty clear by the third or fourth, according to Changing Times. Girls are not generally spotted until the sixth grade. "Though many an underachiever appears to be sailing blithely along, most are deeply concerned about failure and are disappointed in themselves, their teachers and their parents," the article notes. "They know they could be doing better but don't know why they could or how to get themselves to make the effort."

Rollin McCord uses rye as a winter and spring cover crop in his cotton. This rye was planted with cyclone seeder mounted on the front of a tractor and one large sweep run in each middle.

SCD Highlights Cover Planting

The question is do you have a drill or something I can plant cover crops with. This question is being asked by more land-owners than any other. All types of small grain, wheat, barley, rye and oats along with a good acreage of alfalfa is being planted this fall. It is not too late yet to plant cover crops to protect our soil next spring. Also if you have been planting cotton for several years on the same soil and have not added cotten burs you probably could use the cover crop as a good source of organic matter.

J. M. Deering, Joe Ancinec

Jr., Tom Box, Johnny Grace, R. C. Young, Wesley Guter, Dorman Scott and Leroy McCravey are a few that are planting cover crops now.

New conservation plans a blue print for conservation on each field and pasture are still much in demand. Kenneth Blount, C. C. Copeland, Don & Bill Lewis, Robert A. Long and a host of others are being assisted in preparing a conservation plan for their place.

Plans approved at the regular board of supervisors meeting this week were Robert & Tom Box, D. W. Eubank Polly Rusing, Posey Henderson, and O'Neal Spencer. Kenneth Blount's conservation plan is number 400. This means that since the beginning of the local soil conservation district program, 400 farms and ranches
