Grass Fires Taking Toll

Following very close on the heels of a loss of between one-half to one full section of good grass land last week by Mr. Bobby Field of Bronco, another fire broke out in another of his pastures this week.

Early Wednesday afternoon a grass fire, cause of which is not as yet determined, started just about one-quarter mile east of the refinery which lies on the highway a few miles west of Bronco in New Mexico.

The Tatum and Plains Fire Departments were immediately called to the scene to attempt to squelch the fire, the heavy grass feeding the flames and very high winds made it impossible for them to bring it under control.

Consequently, fire trucks from both Lovington and Denver City were also summoned to the scene as were three county maintainers.

With the combined efforts of all these units, the fire after spreading all the way to the newly-paved state line road was brought under control.

Many observers felt that with the strong winds even the four units and the road graders that the fire would have possibly remained out of hand had the pavement and bar ditches not been there to serve as a good wind break.

In this fire, however, an estimated two and one-half mile by four mile strip was completely cleared by the fire. Several fence posts were burned completely up, showing the intensity of the heat that was being generated.

SLATE CUB SCOUT TRAINING MEET

A training meeting for the adult leaders and prospective adult leaders in the newly-reorganized Cub Scouting program will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

Bob Ioe, the new Pack Master of O Mastd Master of Plains Pack 778, and Mr. Odus Walsler who is the neighborhood commissioner in Plains, both emphasized the importance of and the great need for some local women to be Den Mothers for the estimated four dens which will comprise the local pack.

They emphasized further that it would be very desirable for several women to take this course so that a back log of possible Den Mothers who at least know something of the Cub Scouting Program would be available in Plains.

DIAL-A-PRAYER--Is now back in operation after being sent back to the factory for repairs. Pete St. Romain manager of Roamin telephone company is shown with the unit which is now back in operation and can be used by local residents by their dialing 6-4700. St. Romain said that he would be very pleased if all Plains and area ministers would take advantage of the unit by coming by and transcribing short meditations on the unit.

INTERIOR OF REST HOME---These two scenes show just a very small portion of the modern and up to date facilities which have been included in the Plains Convalescent Home which reports have will be opened and receiving occupants this Monday. A formal opening of the facility is expected to be announced also in the very near future, possibly within the next week.

School Trustee Election Sat

Election in which four trustees for the Plains Independent School District's board will be selected is slated for this Saturday.

The four present incumbents whose terms are now expiring are T. J. Murphey, Foye Powell, Garland Swann and Ty Field.

Each of these four incumbents is seeking re-election to the school board and one other candidate is also seeking one of the posts. He is Mr. Jack Pierce, a former head coach here at Plains High, who presently is engaged in the insurance business here in Plains.

In Plains Independent trustee elections, candidates do not run for a particularly numbered post, but four trustees will be selected out of the field of five candidates on the basis that the four receiving the most votes will be members of the board.

In order to vote in the election, voters must reside in the legal limits of the Plains Independent School District, and must also have paid their poll taxes.

Ballotting will be done at Plains High School in the library. Also at the same time this election is taking place, voters who reside in precincts 1 and 4 will be asked to ballot on a trustee for the county school board. Only the incumbents of these two posts are seeking election.

During the political season we hear more cheap talk than we do free speech.

Our religion should be the steering wheel with which we guide our life along the way; not a spare tire to be used when there is a blowout.

Our Christianity should be the bread to sustain our daily life, not just a dessert for special occasions.

The worst trouble with the younger generation is that we don't belong to it anymore.

If you bought an article some years back for $10 and it now costs $15 to get it reprinted, then you know for sure that we have inflation.

Tower Attacks Import Policies

Senator John Tower said today the Administration of President Johnson is being inconsistent in permitting excessive imports of oil and beef while launching a massive war on domestic poverty.

Recently announced increases in residual oil imports, said Tower, "cannot help but strike a serious blow at the domestic oil economy."

Secretary of Interior Udall recently announced that residual oil imports will be increased by 23 million barrels. Tower said the move will increase joblessness "throughout the economy."

"This presents a very strange picture," he said. "On the one hand we have the Administration making headlines daily with its so-called war on poverty. This entails the expenditure of a tremendous sum of tax money, and the creation of new federal jobs to see how the money is to be spent. On the other hand, the Administration allows foreign production of oil and cattle to capture larger shares of the domestic market, thereby displacing more and more American workers."

Blockade Running Along the Texas Coast

A pilot boat, displaying the flag of truce, came forward from Galveston harbor and asked to know the mission of the newly arrived U.S.S. South Carolina. Commander James Allden, captain of the Union vessel, answered by displaying a copy of President Abraham Lincoln's declaration of a blockade and by stating that his objective was to enforce the presidential decree. It was early July of 1861: the blockading of Texas had begun.

For the first two years of the war additional Union ships arrived in Texas waters until the blockading squadron came to approach thirty vessels in number. During this period, however, there was actually very little blockade running along the Texas shoreline. With Cuba as their great base of operations, most blockade runners headed for nearby southeastern Confederate ports. Also, the sandbars along much of the Texas coast encouraged the use of small schooners with very limited cargo space over the employment of more sizable ships. Finally, Texas had an overland outlet to international trade through Mexico—the only neutral nation bordering the Confederate States of America.

By 1863, however, the situation was changing. Heavy blockading efforts to the east caused many runners to head towards the more difficult-to-patrol coast of Texas. And, a number of key ports in the southeast had fallen into Union hands; within the year only Charleston, Mobile, Wilmington and Galveston would remain as major ports under the Confederate flag. Then, too, by the middle of the war, Texas overland trade through Mexico was seriously disrupted by drought conditions and by a transportation breakdown. Because of these factors, heavy sea traffic developed between Galveston and Havana. While it is difficult to gauge the size of this commerce, Galveston wharves were busy with the unloading of critically needed consumer goods and military supplies, and with the loading of thousands of bales of valuable cotton. Because cargo space was at such a premium, screw jacks were used to compress bales of cotton into holds. In fact, it soon became a source of pride among stevedores to force the greatest number of bales into a given ship. One unfortunate vessel was sunk when over-ambitious bale handler compressed the cargo right through the bottom of the ship.

The Havana-Galveston voyage normally took three days, and the captains hoped to approach the Texas port on dark nights when the waters were smooth. By using sounding lines, the runners could determine their nearness to the shore and still gain maximum benefit from the darkness that concealed them from lookouts on Union blockade ships. On stormy nights, when soundings were inaccurate and the danger of running aground was greatest, the evasive ships from Havana would anchor some thirty miles out in the Gulf and would nervously await the return of normal weather conditions. While thus standing by, the runners would keep a very close watch for other ships and would keep their boilers well fired (with hard coal that burned with a minimum of smoke) in case it became necessary to outrun suspicious Union craft. When the weather finally settled, the cargo ships would take advantage of the next evening dusk to move close enough to shore to allow its lookouts to spot the tips of the blockaders' masts. At this point anchors were again dropped and the sailors once more waited for the time to pass so that their entry into Galveston Bay would occur just at the right moment. During this period of riding at anchor just beyond the reach of the Federal fleet, extreme cautions were taken to facilitate a rapid escape. The entire crew remained on an alert status. Men with sledge-hammers stood by the anchor rigs ready to knock out the chain shackles and to abandon both anchors and anchor chains if rapid flight became necessary. Engineers worked throughout these hours to keep the steam level right up to the blowing-off point. Finally, about two hours before dawn, the ships would grope their way forward guided by lead weighted lines. Their aim was to glide silently past the blockading ships and to reach the outskirts of the harbor just as the first rays of the new dawn were breaking.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER

One of the pictures that I remember from childhood is the artist's conception of the last hours of Socrates. Condemned to drink the fatal hemlock, he is the calmest one in his cell as the sentence is carried out. On his "magnificent ugly face" as one has described it, there is not the trace of fear, as he takes the proffered hemlock, and lifts the other hand in gesture grave as he discourses to his friends upon the immortality of the soul.

But Socrates and the many others who have had intimations of eternal life could not be sure if Jesus had not risen from the dead. But the tomb of man's lost hope has become the birthplace of his immortality. I can only leave in his misery the man who denies this.

Notwithstanding the wonder of the assurance that we shall never, never die, the promise of mere never-ending existence and nothing we can realize that without redemption from sin eternal life would be a greater tragedy than eternal death. For what would the resurrection be worth if a man should be left to depart from God ever more and to be a sinner through eternity.

So thanks be to the Father in heaven that as Christ has risen from the dead and that we may stand with him one day, amid the glories of ten thousand worlds.

JERRY SADLER
Democratic Candidate For Land Commissioner

Jerry Sadler, candidate for Land Commissioner, is of a pioneer family who figured in Texas history before, during and after the Texas Revolution.

Commissioner Sadler was born in Kirbyville, Texas, and attended grade school and high school in Anderson County. He managed to pay his full expenses while attending Stephen F. Austin College at Nacogdoches. This struggle for an education has caused him to help hundreds of other college students with their financial problems.

Sadler completed his professional preparation with a law degree from Jefferson University.

He served as a young recruit with the United States "horse cavalry" on the Mexican border in the 1920's, as a member of the historic Twelfth Cavalry.

Sadler announced his candidacy for the Texas Railroad Commission in 1938 as an unknown. But his experience in the State's oil fields won the post for him. He took office in January, 1939 as the youngest elected commissioner.

He resigned from the Railroad Commission to enlist as a private in World War II. He was discharged as a colonel following service in Asia, where he received a citation for his work.

Sadler served in the Legislature from 1954 to 1960, as representative from Anderson County, an office once held by his great grandfather.

In 1960 Sadler was elected Commissioner of the General Land Office.

He is married to the former Laura Jones of Fort Worth. Their two sons—Bill, 17, and Sam, 13—attend Slocum schools and are active in athletics.

Sadler is a member of the Methodist Church, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion and the Palestine Lions Club.

Repentance unto life

Moments of Meditation
by Fredna W. Bennett

When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life. Acts 11:18

When criticized for preaching to the Gentiles, Peter replied: "Forasmuch then as God gave them the like gift (of the Holy Ghost) as he did us, who believed on the Lord Jesus Christ; what was I, that I could withstand God?"

"When they heard these things, they held their peace." The Jews dared not criticize God's work of grace and mercy to the Gentiles; but glorified God saying: "Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life!"

It was God who granted the Gentiles the "means" of repentance by sending His ministers among them.

It was God who granted them the "grace" of repentance by giving them the gift of the Holy Spirit.

When God grants us repentance it is unto eternal life. If we truly repent of our sins, we will show it by living a new life, a holy life, a God centered life. If we truly repent of our sins, we shall be restored to God's favor, be assured of the pardon of our sins, and be given eternal life.

Repentance is God's gift. It is His mighty grace that works repentance in us by taking away the heart of stone, and giving us a heart of flesh.

How comforting to know that God hath exalted Christ "to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel. . . . And to know "that the Gentiles should be . . . partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel!"

"My last article was on the Church as the greatest organization on earth. Jesus paid the price for our sins on the cross and gave us a job to do for our fellow man.

"The happenings of November 22, proved the challenge as never before. We the people of the United States have been challenged as never before. We are proud of the telegrams that have been sent to our Sovereign Grand Master showing how our order, in the various jurisdictions, have extended the common bond of friendship to the family of our late President.

"Regardless of political beliefs and differences with our late President, the action of our members showed that Oddfellows and Rebekahs believe in what our order teaches, the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man.

"When we are giving thanks to God for his blessings to us may we remind ourselves that hunger and disease, poor housing and lack of educational opportunities feed anti-democratic causes, also, that we remind ourselves we have a moral and spiritual obligation and we cannot afford to be complacent while youth gangs flourish and people cheer when others die. "We are prone to condemn, yet one city is not to be blamed for what did happen. Each of us who failed to some extent in teaching and leadership in social strata is partially responsible.

Some atheist some time back ask the highest court in our land to rule on the constitutionality of prayer in our schools, and they ruled that it was unconstitutional to have prayer. I think that they had better take another look at it. Our forefathers framed the constitution on the Holy Bible and they believed in prayer. The next thing the atheists will ask is that "In God We Trust" be taken off our coins, and "One Nation Under God" be removed from our Pledge.

The world has stodd on the ten commandments for centuries and will continue to stand as long as we put God first and love our fellowman. Let us as Oddfellows and Rebekahs lead the way to friendship, love and truth by practicing what we preach. To live a life of love we will not deplore, push and knock down, but will lift up and move forward to build a better world to live in. We will not take part in a mob nor ruthlessness but will be desirous of treating all mankind as beings and creatures of God."

FARMERS UNION SLATE MEETING

The regular meeting of the Yoakum Co. Farmers Union will be held in the clubroom April 9, at 8:00 p. m. All Farmers Union members will be interested to know that we have been advised by National Farmers Union that

Are You Allergic?

Are you allergic to something? If so, you have a lot of company. About half of us are allergic to something.

Pollen in the air can start hay fever, certain foods may start hives. Possible allergens are countless, house dust, animal fur, feathers, cosmetics, bleaches, medicines, foods, pollen. Some people even are allergic to heat, cold or sunlight. And wasn't there a case some years ago of a wife who was allergic to her husband?

Most common result of allergy are four illnesses, hay fever, asthma, skin ailments and digestive disturbances. Hay fever is an inflammation of the eyes and nasal passages. Asthma is a disease of the bronchial tubes of the lungs. Food allergies, a sensitivity to one or more foods, can affect the skin, the digestive tract or the respiratory system. Skin allergies cause itching sometimes a rash.

Reaction to an allergen varies with individuals. One person may be only slightly upset by eating an egg. Another could become violently ill from the small trace of egg in salad dressing.

There still are many unknown factors about the reason why someone suddenly becomes allergic to something. Allergic diseases are not usually fatal, but they cause untold discomfort and suffering. Although worry and stress may be a contributing factor, allergy is not an imaginary illness. It is very real to the sufferer.

Sometimes the allergen is known and can be avoided. Sometimes many tests by a physician are required to arrive at the true cause. Medical care is necessary in all cases for relief of discomfort and for protection against future attacks.

If you suspect you are allergic to something, see your doctor. Self-diagnosis and treatment is not only futile it might even be dangerous.

MAHON TELLS OF CASTOR BEANS

Following memorandum was received here by Mr. Bill Overton, Yoakum County ASC Office Manager, from Rep. George Mahon of the 19th Congressional District:

"Over a period of weeks I have been in touch with the Secretary of Agriculture and others in regard to the planting of Castor Beans on diverted feed grain acres. A couple of days ago the Department of Agriculture decided to modify the regulations. The effect of the modification is that farmers who wish to plant Castor Beans on diverted feed grain acres will receive 50 percent of the payment which they would receive had the beans not been planted on the diverted acres."

Danger Signs Of Cancer

Whom does cancer hit hardest, men or women? What part of the body is most vulnerable? Can cancer be cured?

Medical scientists know the answers to these most frequently asked questions about cancer, but do you?

Does cancer hit men or women hardest? The race is close but records show that younger women fall victim to the disease more often than men. In 1963, over 11,500 people died of cancer, the number 2 killer in Texas.

More older men than older women die of cancer, but between the ages 40 to 50, there are more cancer deaths among women than among men.

Between ages of 35 and 45 more women are killed by cancer than by any other disease. About 17 percent of all women's deaths are attributable to cancer; about 14 percent of all men's.

What part of the body is most vulnerable? At the top of the fatality list is cancer of the digestive organs, which alone accounts for about 35 percent of cancer deaths.

Among women who die of cancer, the breast and the uterus are the most frequent sites, while cancer of the lung and of the stomach take the greatest toll among men. More than twice as many men die from lung cancer as from all forms of tuberculosis.

Can cancer be cured? There is no cancer cure-all, but early diagnosis and treatment saves lives. The rule that saves countless cancer victims and that could save countless more is "find it early." Yet without periodic examinations this is hard to do in cancer, since first symptoms usually come some time after the disease has totted a start.

Pain and fever, those two alarmists of most other illnesses, do not appear until much later in most cancer cases. The only way to be on the safe side is to go at regular intervals, at least once a year, for a complete check up.

In between regular physical examinations watch for the 7 danger signs of cancer: unusual bleeding or discharge, a lump or thickening in the breast or a sore that does not heal, persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing or a change in a wart or mole.

In any of these signs continue for 2 weeks, see your doctor to find out if this means cancer or not.

Why not save the moving expenses?

Only California makes it a "must" for every school child to participate in a daily fitness program. What about the program in your school? Don't judge it by varsity activities alone. Contact Lenses Recommended

The eye was hit by a small dart, but a contact lens prevented any injury.

This was reported by Dr. Newton K. Wesley, president of the National Eye Research Foundation, in a recent article published in the American Journal of Optometry and Archives of American Academy of Optometry.

Although the dart actually cracked the contact lens, the thin plastic material prevented any physical damage or loss of vision.

Dr. Wesley also pointed out that contact lenses can help restore vision, in some cases where no other devices or treatment was effective.

Reporting on a survey of 130 ophthalmologists and optometrists attending a recent National Contact Lens Congress Dr. Wesley noted that the doctors knew of 238 eyes which were saved by contact lenses or could have been kept from injury if contact lenses had been worn.

He cited records in which eyelids were cut and the lenses scratched in automobile accidents without damage to vision.

The same 130 doctors reported that 10,700 eyes were helped by contact lenses in cases where they could not have been satisfactorily helped otherwise.

To the question: "Should the public be apprehensive about wearing contact lenses?" the doctors replied that barring pathologic difficulties they would recommend and prescribe properly fitted contact lenses.

Dr. Wesley also observed that contact lenses are becoming more widely used by baseball and football players who need visual correction and protection from impact injury.

Commenting that some 7 million Americans are now wearing contact lenses, Dr. Wesley noted that deleterious effects on the eye from meth-acrylic acid in the lens are practically impossible under modern manufacturing with properly controlled testing.

The plastic material used in contact lenses is chemically inert, Dr. Wesley added.

"Contact lenses properly fitted and with periodic check ups minimize the problems that may arise when any prosthetic device is worn," he said.

He recommended regular eye examinations for all persons whether they wear contact lenses, spectacles or neither.

"Contact lenses have made us more aware of eye care," he concluded. "This in itself is an important contribution. More will be heard in terms of eye care in future years."

Highway Patrol Accident Rep

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated three accidents on rural highways in Yoakum County during the month of February, according to Sergeant A. E. Roberts Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for three injured persons and an estimated property damage of $1,700.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county for the first two months of 1964 shows a total of four accidents resulting in no persons killed, four persons injured and an estimated property damage of $2,300.00.

"Fantastic? Yes, but true," stated the veteran patrol supervisor of this area. In all of its glorious history Texas reached its darkest hour in traffic fatalities during 1963 with the preliminary death count now standing at 2,703 which is 282 more lives lost than in 1962. Also, this is 92 greater than the previous all time high of 2,611 in 1956. It is estimated that when all reports are received for the year 1963, the death figure from traffic accidents in Texas will reach a staggering count of 2,725.

"The death count for the year 1964 now exceeds 400 which is an 11% increase over the same period for 1963. With these facts in mind, we wish to appeal to all Texans to recognize the seriousness of the traffic situation with which we are faced. If the present 11% increase continues we will kill in excess of 3,000 persons in traffic accidents in the year 1964," said the patrol supervisor.

What About Inheritance Tax?

Uncle Joe, a widower, had more money than he would ever need. This enabled him to make generous gifts over a period of years to a number of friends and relatives.

When Uncle Joe died and his estate was probated, the heirs were shocked when the federal Treasury Department levied estate taxes on all the gifts made during the past 3 years. How could this be?

The tax law is clear: Any transfer of property within 3 years preceding the date of death, except on a bona fide sale for adequate and full consideration, is presumed to be in contemplation of death and taxable, unless shown by the donor's estate to the contrary. But any gift or transfer more than 3 years before death is not taxed as part of the estate.

This law has a valid public purpose. It is aimed at preventing people from avoiding estate taxes by giving away their property before they die. Of course, one seldom knows exactly when he will die, but an older person or one with an illness may reasonably know that his years are limited. Thus the law raises the presumption that any transfer within the 3 year period is in contemplation of death.

Anyone can make gifts of his property at any time. Those gifts other than purely nominal ones must be reported for gift tax purposes. Sizeable tax exemptions are allowed for gifts, but the tax laws are so contrived as to prevent a wealthy person giving away all his property before death tax-free.

In Uncle Joe's case the gifts will be taxable unless the estate can rebut the presumption that they were made in contemplation of his death so as to avoid the estate tax or as a substitute for a will.

City Election Tuesday

Following the opening of the many occasions on which voters will have the opportunity to cast ballots this year, in the two school board trustee elections on Saturday, the second round of voting for Plains residents will come on Tuesday of next week.

At that time, Plains voters will go to the polls in this year's City election.

Mr. J. D. Brown, vice-president and cashier at Plains State Bank, is running unopposed in his bid for the job of Mayor of Plains, which is currently being held down by Mr. Lonny R. (Buddy) Hanna.

In the race for City Marshall, incumbent B. C. Mc-Donnell is being opposed in his bid for re-election to the post by Mr. L. B. Hobbs.

Then, finally, in the race for City Aldermen, two of which will be elected, there are four contenders for the two posts.

Only on incumbent Alderman, Mr. Ed Hunter, is seeking re-election.

The other three contenders for the two posts are Vennum Fitzgeralds, Roy Edwards and R. S. Faulkenberry.

To qualify as a voter in this election anyone must be a resident within the corporate limits of Plains and be a holder of a "paid" poll tax receipt.

214 REPAVING BID, $368,941

In about thirty days the reworking of highway 214, the part which lies between Plains and Denver City, is expected to get underway, according to District Engineer, O. L. Crain of the State Highway Department.

Bids were opened on the project in Austin last week and low bidder, out of the 5 bids submitted, is apparently Boswell & Crafton, Inc. of Lubbock.

Crain said that usually work is begun between 30 and 60 days after the awarding of the contract which is expected to take place within the next few days.

He said further that work on the repaving project should be completed by late summer or early fall, depending upon weather conditions.
