OUR 34th YEAR

THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1964

NUMBER 27

The Texas Department of Public Safety appeals to all drivers to mark this Fourth of July weekend as a time to review their driving habits in light of the fact that traffic accidents are at an all-time high. Serious accidents are more frequent in holiday periods, and it is estimated that 32 persons will be killed in traffic from Friday, July 3, through Sunday, July 5. This doesn't have to happen! Tragedy can be averted by remaining constantly on the alert for dangerous situations, by not taking chances and by driving in accordance with laws of safety.

"Operation Motorcide"

While the drivers of Texas are making plans for 4th of July trips, the Texas Department of Public Safety is getting ready for "Operation Motorcide", a three day vigil of tabulating all traffic deaths in the State. Major Harry Hutchison, Regional Commander of this area reported today the State is approaching the mid-point in the year amid definite indications that traffic deaths will hit an all time high again in 1964.

If we continue to take lives at the present rate, 1964 will become the most deadly year in Texas history for traffic fatalities," he said. He stated further that "Operation Motorcide" will be put into effect from 12:01 a. m. Friday, July 3rd and continue through 11:59 p. m. Sunday, July 5. In order to focus attention upon the added dangers of holiday travel when traffic is at a peak and as an integral part of the operation, which calls for maximum enforcement, additional personnel from other uniformed services of the DPS will augment the regular Highway Patrol force. These patrolmen have been instructed to be extra alert for and direct their enforcement efforts toward those violations which are most often cause factors in traffic accidents, in addition every effort will be made to remove drinking drivers from the highway.

"Since police traffic supervision cannot cover the entire street and highway system in the State every minute of the day, the big hope for safe driving and accident prevention rests with the individual motorist," Hutchison concluded.

Plains Firemen Put Out Rural House Fire

Spectators Nuisance

Monday evening Plains Volunteer Firemen answered a call to another rural house fire. This one was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Houck, located near the Bronco Gas Company about 12 miles west of Plains on the Tatum highway.

Evidently, it was reported, the fire was started by the explosion of the hot water heater in the house.

The fire spread quickly in the house, but due to the fact that there was no wind and to the fast and efficient action on the part of the local firemen, about one-half the house and most of the furniture was saved.

This is the second such fire in as many weeks in the Plains area. In the fire last week, though, one man, Mr. Doyle Leonard, who was sleeping in the house, lost his life. No one was at home in the Houck family when the fire broke out.

TPA ADOPTS RESOLUTION

The following resolution was adopted by Texas Press Association delegates at the 85th Annual Meeting of the Association in Houston, June 20m 1964:

WHEREAS, Texas, after 119 years in the Union, has achieved the proud distinction of having a Native Son and lifelong resident as Chief Executive of the United States and he is giving the Nation the same outstanding service as President he has given during his years as Congressman and United States Senator and as Vice President; and

WHEREAS, all Texans and particularly those who are members of the Texas Press Association are proud of this distinction; and have a personal love and admiration for the President, as well as a loyalty to him personally and to his high office; and

WHEREAS, it is the unanimous feeling of members of the Texas Press Association in convention this 20th day of June, 1964, our views should be made public and likewise conveyed to the President, Lyndon B. Johnson;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be distributed to all member newspapers, the press associations, and a copy mailed President Lyndon B. Johnson.

SCHEDULE BAND DANCE FRIDAY

Mrs. Wallace Randolph, who is the sponsor of the local Youth Center, announced this week that the Center will have a band dance this Friday night, July 3.

She said that the Twiliters from Brownfield will furnish the music and that the dance will begin at 8 p. m.

MR. JOHNNIE BROWN---Mayor of Plains and President of the Plains Lions Club spades out the first shovel-full of dirt in several shovel-fulls to follow in what will be the foundation and footings for the new Lions Den-Scout Hut which has just been begun, and on which construction is expected to be completed in about six or seven weeks.

BEGIN CONSTRUCTION ON SCOUT HUT

LONG AWAITED DREAM-- is about to become a reality, in that actual construction work began on the combination Lions Den-Scout Hut that has been in the planning stages here for around two year.

Building committee, appointed by former Lion Boss, Rod Duff, who initiated the project during his tenure of office as head Lion, is still composed of Chairman, Bob Loe, G. D. Kennedy and Johnnie Moore.

The building, which is to be located on the north side of town just west of the Foy Cogburn residence, will be built of enameled metal put pu in alternating sheets of white and green.

Contract for the actual construction of the building itself was awarded to McCort Construction Company which is located in Brownfield.

Other work on the structure is being done by Faulkenberry Builders Supply and Mr. Billy Kennedy, both of Plains. Glenn Walsler, forman for McCort, stated this week that if all goes well, their part of the construction, the actual putting up of the super-structure and the outside metal, is to be completed by August 15.

Faulkenberry stated too that the finishing work would then take about another three weeks, which means that the building should be ready for use by at least the middle of September by both the Scouts and the Lions Club.

RODEO DATE CLOSE AT HAND

Dates for the 11th Annual Yoakum County Rodeo and Old Settlers Reunion, July 30 and 31, and August 1, are just around the corner and the people in the Rodeo Association tell us plans and preparations are very rapidly taking shape for the big annual affair.

The three Rodeo Queen candidates are really out and selling tickets trying real hard to beat out each of the others and to become this year's Rodeo Queen. Each $1 ticket that one of the candidates sell gains her one vote toward becoming Rodeo Queen, plus the fact that it entitles the purchaser to one free chance on the $300 western style saddle that is to be given away during the final night's performance of the Rodeo.

C. C. Copeland is the man in charge of selling advertising for the Rodeo programs this year and local merchants can expect to see him coming around real soon.

Producer of the show this year is to be Dick Ratchin of Happy, Texas.

Another big barbecue is also on tap for this year at noon on Saturday, August 1. It has been pointed out too that the purchase of an admission ticket to the Saturday evening performance of the Rodeo also entitles the purchaser to the barbecue and trimmings at noon.

The local Rodeo Association is made up of three Plains clubs, Yoakum County Roping Clubs, Plains Lions Club, and Plains Chamber of Commerce.

The gate, after all expenses are paid, plus the money from the sale of queen tickets, and from the concession stand is divided equally between those three clubs.

It has been pointed out that it takes the efforts and the cooperation of a great many people to bring about a really successful rodeo each year, and that most of the funds raised through this effort each year are used by these three clubs which make up the Association to carry out some really worthy projects throughout the balance of the year.

LOCAL GROCERY CHANGES HANDS

It was learned a few days ago that the local Pic and Pay Grocery had been sold by Mr. J. S. (Starks) Wagley and the new owners had taken over the management of the business last Thursday.

New owner of the store is Mr. L. L. (Buster) Boulter of Denver City, who formerly ran Boulter Tire Store there.

Boulter stated that he along with his wife and their son, Dale, who is to attend ACC for a second year in the fall, plan to move to Plains just as soon as they can dispose of their home in Denver City and get one purchased here to move into.

Boulter revealed that he is a long-time resident of Yoakum County, having moved to Denver City in 1937.

The Boulters are members of the Church of Christ. Both Mr. and Mrs. Boulter extended a very cordial invitation for Plains and area citizens to come by and get acquainted.

supplemental budget request, Mahon said he is optimistic that favorable action will be taken in the Senate and that the funds will be provided in the final version of the bill to be worked out in a House-Senate conference.

COUNTY BOND SALES REPORT

May E and H Savings Bond in Yoakum County totaled $6,243, according to Mr. D. P. Moothed, Chairman of the County Savings Bond Committee. This figure represents 48.8 per cent of the 1964 sales goal.

Savings Bond sales in Texas for the first five months of 1964 totaled $63,926,046, which represents 42.6 per cent of the state's goal of $150,000,000.

"United States Savings Bonds, though young in years, already have served four generations of Americans and offer opportunity for generations of Americans yet unborn," Chairman Moothed stated.

LUBBOCK RESIDENT INJURED---Dr. Wayne A. McMurry of Lubbock, 89 years old, was injured in the car shown above when the car turned over about four times 7 miles west of Plains on the Lovington Highway. McMurry was listed in serious condition when he was admitted to Yoakum County Hospital. The wreck occurred last Tuesday at about 9 a. m. according to investigating officers.

Report On Boll Weevil Control

Washington, D. C. -- July 1 Congressman George Mahon appeared Monday before the Senate Committee on Appropriations to urge the inclusion in a Senate money bill of $1,000,000 to be used for the purpose of combating the advance of the boll weevil into the High Plains area.

The President last week sent the $1 million budget request to Congress for the boll weevil program. Mahon, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, had asked the President and the Secretary of Agriculture several weeks ago to approve the request for the necessary funds. The funds would be available only if matched by a similar amount from area farmers, and High Plains farm groups have made such commitments.

The House of Representatives on May 20, despite the absence of a budget request, approved for the same purpose a sum of $200,000 in its Agriculture Appropriation Bill. If the Senate approves the increase of $800,000 above the House bill, it will then be sent back to the House for further consideration.

Actions taking place in Washington are an outgrowth of the discovery last spring that the boll weevil had wintered on the fringes of the High Plains. Farmers became concerned and formed a boll weevil committee to push for action. Last April Mahon joined an area farm group, backed by the Plains Cotton Growers, and appeared with them before the House Appropriations Committee to ask support for a cooperative program between farmers and the Dept. of agriculture to combat the weevil threat.

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER
FLOODS

Having been a lowlander the greater part of my life, I have a first-hand knowledge of floods. Along the Mississippi men have been wont to speak of the June-rise. And of late other sections of the country have known the disasters of flood.

Once when there was a great flood along the Atchafalaya River the Southern Pacific kept its track open west of New Orleans. A passenger on the train one day, about twenty miles west of Morgan City I saw a native who had paddled out in his pirogue and was gathering "roasting ears" from half-submerged corn. Heroic thing? It was the practical thing to do.

Another time I made a trip in overflowed country along the lower Red River. Embarking in a slim flatboat with an outboard motor, several men and I had quite an interesting day. At one point a man shot at a rabbit perched on a limb. I was glad he missed. Shortly afterward, a great bird came crashing through the treetops. "That's an eagle!" exclaimed my hosts.

Finally we came to a houseboat with a line of clothes stretched over the water for drying in the sun. The boat-dwellers welcomed us and his wife served the blackest and strongest of dripped coffee. Then my flatboat host proposed a religious service with myself as leader. And I had literally the opportunity of cast-bread upon the waters.

And live sublime from day to day.

One can put a shirt, a pair of overalls, or a reputation, but it's mighty hard to keep it from showing.

If you can't find it in the dictionary, the atlas, or the encyclopedia, then ask for it at today's super market.

The average man is made up of among other things around sixty-five pounds of muscle, likely not over three pounds of brain. Small wonder he has to work most of the time.

How Long Do We Support Him?

Government is a lot like our digestive system-if its working right we hardly know we have it.

Life must be worth living-even though the cost has tripled in the last few years no one wants to give it up.

There are two kinds of secrets-those not worth keeping, and those too good to keep.

It's better to be glad for the things we didn't say than to be sorry for the things we did say.

Money may not help us to buy happiness, but some folks think it helps them to look for it in more interesting places.

Too much of the time the things we say are not worth saying over again.

One of the main reasons that the lives of so many folks are out of tune is that they haven't learned the score.

It is said that some folks spend six week-days sowing their wild oats, and then attend church on Sunday and pray for a crop failure.

You've got to watch your can'ts and cans;
You can't aim low and then rise high;

You can't love sin and walk in light;
You can't throw time and means away;

to develop "drawn" cotton which can be grown, probably in narrow-row or broadcast systems, without loss of either quality or yield. At Halfway, the tack here is to reduce the size of the cotton plant through chemical sprays immediately following emergence, while the SPREC has developed an undersized cotton plant through breeding.

Reflecting concern in the area over declining water tables, a number of irrigation and water conservation studies are underway at both the above research stations, at Texas Tech, at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Spru and at the Southwestern Great Plains Station at Bushland.

At Bushland the project has a double objective in studying the chemical control of annual weeds in cotton--reduction of both water use and labor requirements. The Halfway group is looking at water use with an eye to getting maximum irrigation through various systems which call for interplanting cotton with grain sorghums and castors. At Spru, which is located in the center of a large dryland area, conservation of rain fall through bench leveling and making full use of water from contributing watersheds is being accentuated.

researchers approaching from slightly different angles. The objective here is to gain vital knowledge which will help overcome production difficulties stemming from short growing seasons and cool nights on the High Plains.

Both the Foundation at Halfway and the SPREC are working on soil fertility research with the Lubbock Center concentrating on investigating new fertilizer material and refining the nutrient requirements on various High Plains soils as well as studying micro and secondary elements. The Halfway request for support is based on the need to know the extent of fertilizer carryover from year to year, investigation of the interaction of irrigation methods and fertilizer levels and the effect of starter fertilizers applied with the seed at planting.

One of the more intriguing studies going on is an attempt

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

Senator Says American Foreign Policy Successful

By U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.)

American foreign policy in the years since World War II has been successful.

We have not always made as much progress as we would have liked to make and perhaps sometimes greater progress could have been made, but taken all together, I think that Americans can take great pride and consolation in the manner in which we have assumed our international responsibilities.

Eugene J. McCarthy

In evaluating the success of American foreign policy, we must keep in mind our primary objectives in international affairs and the measure in which they have been achieved:

First, our defense position is of such strength that we have been able to take the initiative on the testing of nuclear weapons, cutting back the production of fissionable materials, and reducing at least the rate of production of conventional armaments of other kinds.

Secondly, we have been concerned about the preservation, strengthening and protection of Western civilization. We need only look at Europe today to realize that we have measured up very well on this count: Germany is more a part of Western Europe than it has ever been; France has secured greater political stability than it has had since World War I and certainly greater economic strength and military security; England has not only recovered from the strains of the war but in the post-war period yielded up most of her empire, her colonies, and most of her ties within the Commonwealth, and yet remains a great and responsible power in the world.

Thirdly, we have taken on broader responsibilities which reach out and include the entire world--all nations, all races and all continents.

Our responsibilities are not the same in every area because our power is not the same in every area. Our responsibilities are not the same in every area because in many areas the people of the country or the people of the region are not willing or not inclined to accept our assistance, our direction, or to model their civilizations on ours.

The standards by which we judge success or failure in foreign policy, by the very necessity of history are relative in character. When such relative standards are applied, our achievements and successes in the years since the end of World War II can be marked affirmatively.

Most critics, at least the extreme critics, of our foreign policy and of our achievements in that field judge us not against acceptable, reasonable, and proper standards, not against the state of the world today in contrast with the state of the world in 1948 or even in 1958, but rather against the state of the world today in contrast with an ideal which never has existed and which may never exist. There has been no time in the record of the life of man on this earth when one could not make a rather good case against history itself if one could eliminate what had been and what might be.

A Look Back

Looking back about six years ago to the July 3 issue of the Yoakum County Review we find some of the following news bits:

Plains Lions Club had just had a big pancake supper and shown happily lapping up the pancakes in pictures on the front page of that issue are D. N. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Collins, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carpenter, and the cooks shown were Mrs. Jo Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Lowe, Mrs. D. N. Taylor, Mr. Bob Alberding and Mr. Melvin Walsler.

Jimmy Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Warren had just returned from his trip to Boy's State.

Miss Frances Payne was honored with a miscellaneous shower.

In Jerry Paquin's column, 'Thoughts by Jerry,' it is pointed out that the 49th state was about to be added to the union.

able and qualified researchers are constantly being carried out right here on the High Plains. Each year in June Plains Cotton Growers receives requests from research agencies in the area for financial support on a portion of these projects, and each is considered by this committee on the basis of what the results might mean in benefits to the High Plains cotton farmer. Grants have not been made yet on 1964 requests, but the total awarded in 1963 for production research came to over $45,000.

Heading up the Research Committee is Don Jones, Lubbock, a former Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Superintendent whose background gives him exceptional qualifications for the job. Annually the requests for grants exceed the more or less fixed budget, and it is the committee's job to select for support those projects which show the greatest promise.

As an indication of the extent and direction of production research being done in the area, here is a look at some of the work for which support was requested in 1964.

The South Plains Research and Extension Center asked for funds to continue a long-standing project on cotton breeding and genetics, seeking superior varieties of cotton to produce higher yields, better quality and lower cost of production. Emphasis of course is being placed on those varieties which would be suited to High Plains growing conditions.

The Center, too, is working toward solving seedling disease problems, attacking the issue from two sides--chemical control and the development of disease resistant varieties.

Studies on the influence of minimal temperatures on the growth and development of the cotton plant and cotton fiber are being made both by the Center and by the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, with each group of

Oilers Take Lead In Babe Ruth

Monday night here in Plains the Oilers of Denver City took the full measure of the Plains Cowboys, beating the local team by a score of 9 to 1.

Prior to that game, the two teams had been tied for the lead in the Denver City Babe Ruth League.

Now, the Oilers are out in front by one full game, and the Cowboys are tied with the Colts of Denver City for second place, while the Pirates of Denver City are trailing in the league standings.

Thursday night, the Colts are to take on the Oilers in Denver City and should the Colts manage to beat the Oilers, there would be a three-way tie for first place as a result.

Next week, in Denver City will be the annual Babe Ruth League Tournament, and Miss Janie Hamm of Plains is one of the four Yoakum County girls running for the League Queen. Janie may be voted for by purchasing a Queen's ticket from any Babe Ruth player for 25 cents.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex.—A study of the recent party primaries and runoff elections reveals that the number of Republican candidates in the upcoming General Election ballot, in the grassroots area, will strengthen the ever-growing trend toward a complete two-party state.

For example, 18 Democratic business men will face Republican opponents in November. Also, the Republican party is engaged in one county judge race (Lubbock County); seven races for county attorney; two for county clerk; 12 for county tax assessor; two for county superintendent of schools; and 78 for county commissioner.

GOP also as candidates for most top state posts and for more than half of the 150 House of Representative posts. In addition, George Bush will carry the Republican banner in the U. S. Senate race against incumbent Democrat Ralph W. Yarborough.

Railway authority
U. S. Representative Henry B. Gonzalez has asked support from Governor Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and House Speaker Iron Tunnell on his recently introduced bill which aims at creating a multi-state railway authority for Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Gonzalez told them, "This is only a states' rights program. It involves joint investigation and determine their needs in the area of passenger rail transportation. He further stated that "In my judgment, passenger rail transportation has not been adequately developed and is not presently competitive with other modes of transportation — particularly in the Southwest."

Manufacturing plants totaled
Texas had a total of 10,325 manufacturing plants which added $6,400,000,000 of value by processing raw materials into finished goods in 1962, according to the "Annual Survey of Manufacturers," recently released by the Bureau of Census. Figures represent an additional $89,000,000 capital expenditure for new plants during a

This brought the total of seasonal workers to 105,800, or 3,500 more than at this time in 1963.

Water pollution
Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr's opinion committee on the oil-field-waste disposal question may postpone its decision meeting indefinitely now that Superior Oil Company has filed suit against the Texas Water Pollution Control Board, asking for a declaratory judgment against the agency.

A decision by former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the board has jurisdiction over disposal of oilfield wastes under the Water Pollution Control Act passed by the 1961 Legislature.

Railroad Commission asked Carr to issue a new opinion after a group of oil companies raised strong objections to the board's regulatory actions. Superior's filing of the suit may change the picture entirely on any new opinion.

Connally honored
Gov. John Connally returned from the national Governors Conference in Cleveland, Ohio, with an important new appointment. His selection as first chairman of the Democratic Governors Caucus was a unanimous one by the 50 Democratic state chief executives.

Reportedly, Connally also was given some consideration for chairman of the 1965 Governors Conference, although he is in his first term. The governors will hold their first major caucus just before the National Democratic Convention in Atlantic City, N. J., during August.

Fire insurance
After July 1, it will be illegal for an insurance company to charge less than 6 percent interest per year on delayed premium payments for fire insurance, a new State Board of Insurance ruling decrees.

Several years ago, the board issued this same rule, but withdrew it when an objection was made by a company which charged no interest at all for deferred payments. An attorney general has held on two previous occasions that the board has no authority to set minimum interest rates on delayed payments, but Attorney General Carr has advised the board to take a new tack.

Appointments announced
Governor Connally named Tom Pegues of Mineola and Charles T. Wickersham of Orange to the board of directors of the Sabine River Authority. He reappointed Gus Orsborn Jr. of Emory. Appointments extend until July 6, 1969.

Trial publicity explored
Representatives of Texas' four major press associations met here with State Bar officials for the first of a series of discussions about news coverage of trials.

Return of bank loot
Honesty paid off for Daniel O'Brien, 12, of Chicago. He found $3,792 loot from a bank robbery in a box the robber had buried along a lake near Pines, Ind., scene of the robbery, and turned the money over to police.

Thieves make huge haul
Police in Langley, England, are seeking two complete bungalows, the biggest loot ever taken in a robbery in the town.

Court case argued
The State of Texas has asked the Texas Supreme Court to reconsider its decision that the Sunday closing law does not prevent customers buying any article of merchandise on Sunday if they sign emergency certificates.

Employment picture
Texas Employment Commission reports that in April total unemployment declined for the third straight month some 39,300 jobholders increased the employment total to 3,590,700.

Farm employment rose 17,800
Farm employment rose 17,800 to reach 900,700 by mid-April as seasonal workers were hired to plant a variety of row crops.

National Guard concerned
Texas National Guard Association expressed concern over reports that U. S. Department of Defense would stop logistical support to the so-called "reinforcing reserve."

These units, said NGAT, would provide a mobilization base on which the country would build its force in event of large-scale war.

Texas' 49th Armored and 36th Infantry divisions are both part of this "reinforcing reserve" as is the 90th Reserve Division.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

Although dramas of past wars are popular, why not a play about a future war. The scene: Somewhere in America in the paneled field headquarters of an advance GHQ in the War on Poverty. Behind the Sector Commander at his Circassian walnut field desk is a framed motto:

"Ask not what you can do for your country; ask instead what the U. S. Treasury can do for you."

In order of rank around him, seated in leather upholstery, held the deputy campaign chairs are the deputy commander, battalion commanders. As curtain rises, Major X is reporting.

Commander (wrathfully) Major, watch you subversive attitudes. We are at war. If you don't restrain your extreme radical viewpoints I shall have to courtmartial you. Next report."

Commander: "If your people have those ideas, you are not properly educating them. You must explain to these people that this nation opposes Communism, and anything that would deprive Communist Yugoslavia of American Dollars would be a big victory for Communism. Next Report."

"Major Q. sir. Many poverty stricken old people in my area would be comfortable, as their children could help them if they could take credit on their income tax for such help without having to prove that their contributions equalled half their parents support."

Commander (rising wrathfully, slapping boots with riding crop): "Enough, I've heard enough. Gentlemen, you must realize we are at war with poverty. And this war effort cannot be impeded by people helping themselves. I hate war, but I hate logic more. There is only one weapon to win this war... the U.S. Treasury. And I warn you, gentlemen, any ideas to the contrary are treasonable."

AMA Reports On Tetanus Control

Tetanus is one of the most dangerous diseases that can strike a human being. No antibiotic or other drug can halt a full-blown case, and about 60 percent of those afflicted by the disease die.

Yet by means of immunization, tetanus is almost a completely preventable disease.

The seeds, or spores, of tetanus can be found in the cultivated soils of most areas of the United States. They can be picked up by plants or animals, and introduced into the victim's body by something as seemingly inconsequential as the scratch of a thorn or the bite of an insect. Once they enter the body, these spores "hatch" into tiny, microscopic bacteria, which begin to multiply. In the process, they liberate one of the deadliest of all poisons which attacks the nerve centers causing convulsions and muscle spasms--some so severe that victims have been known to fracture a vertebra.

Usually the first nerves affected are those of the head and neck which control the chewing muscles. These turn rigid with spasm, giving the disease its familiar name--lockjaw.

In a clean free-bleeding cut any tetanus spores which might contaminate the wound are usually washed out. Or if they do sprout into bacteria, the micro-organisms may be destroyed by oxygen in the blood.

But when blood flow is slight, as in deep puncture or crushing wounds, or when the spores are insulated by imbedded dirt and debris, the tetanus bacteria, may gain a deadly foothold within the body. This is because tetanus bacteria thrive in the absence of air.

While millions of babies and members of the armed forces have been inoculated against tetanus, the fact remains that about three-fourths of the adult population is lacking in immunity. The reason is that the protection offered by immunization wears off after several years, and must be re-established by booster shots, which most people fail to get.

With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spores of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make the effort to get immunized and keep immunized.

Pasture Mgement Very Important

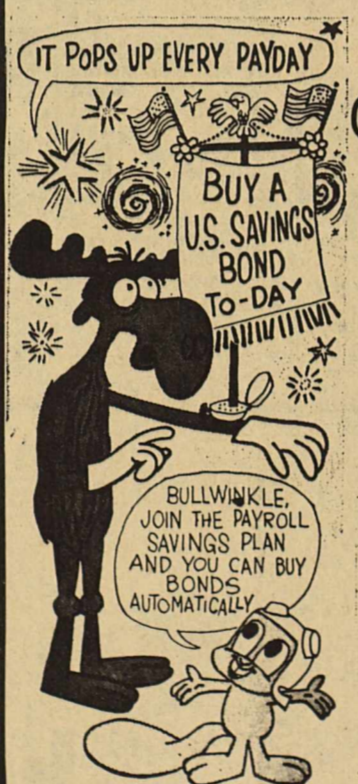

Pasture management is more than buying a herd of hungry cows. It is easier when we get lots of rain, have good growing weather and cattle prices are good. Then along comes a year like this one and the men are separated from the boys. Such things as early watering, proper fertilization and above all the correct amount of livestock become increasingly important. Irrigated pasture is high intensity use of our land $25.00 per acre if fertilizer, $20.00 to $30.00 per acre of water and $300.00 to $500.00 per acre in livestock all adds up to a big investment.

If grass, any kind of grass, bermuda, switch, blue panic, Johnson grass, or what have you, is kept continually grazed close, 1 to 2 inches high, the root system become short and weak. The grass heads out at 3 to 4 inches and has very little leaf surface. It uses only a small amount of the soil moisture and plant food as the roots are shallow. Some have thought that plowing would be the answer but what the grass must have is water, fertilizer and rest if it is to regain its vigor and produce as it can. Paul Cobb is a strong believer in tall grass, rest and proper stocking, and he has the operation to prove his point.

COURT CONSIDERS FIRE TRUCK BIDS Commissioners' Crt. Minutes

In their regular session of Count last Monday, County Commissioners transferred another $10,000 from the general fund to the Officers' Salary Fund.

Authorization also was given for the First National Bank of Fort Worth to surrender to Plains State Bank Receipt No. 58538 due July 15, 1964 in the amount of $100,000.00.

Also bids for two new fire trucks, one for Plains and one for Denver City, were accepted by the Court and are at present being studied by the Court and by members and officers of both fire departments.

A lengthy discussion with the architect, Cantrell and Burns, concerning the exact plans and specifications of the golf course and county park that is to be built between Plains and Denver City in the near future also was a part of the business conducted. Discussion was between the members of the court, the citizens committee appointed to aid in getting the park, and the architect, himself.
