OUR 34th YEAR

Cowboys Travel To Post

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal sports department has picked the Plains Cowboy - Post Antelope game as the game of the week this week.

Plains is travelling to Post for the game and looking at all indications, it should really be a fine game.

Post has not fared too well so far this year, but the Antelopes have really had some tough opponents in their schedule.

Coach Rip Sewell reports that the Cowboys are going to Post at full strength with no one out because of injuries or the like.

Post plays a game mainly centering around ball control, but they also have a quarterback who is mighty capable of tossing the long bomb or of diving his opponents crazy with short flat passes.

Post, it is thought, has just a little more total team speed than does Plains and they are some heavier than the Cowboys are.

To all intents and purposes, the Cowboys will have their hands full Friday night in Post, as they go against a team bent on showing everybody that they have a really good team and have had, as some fans believe, just a run of rough luck.

Some interesting statistics are available on the performance of the Cowboys up to now, in their first three games.

Six backfield men have done the major part of the work as far as carrying the ball is concerned. Their records for these three games is as follows:

Joe Dan Cooke has carried the ball 61 times for a total yardage gain of 304 yards and for a per carry average of 4.98 yds. Ronnie Elmore carried 15 times for 143 yards and a 9.6 yard average.

Gregg Jones has carried the ball 18 times for 118 yards and an average of 6.55 yards.

Jack Lowe, with 20 carries, has gained 27 yards for a 1.35. Dennis Crutcher has carried 13 times for 45 yards and a 3.46 average.

Alvie Faulkenberry has run with the ball 10 times for 22 yards and a 2.2 yard average.

Plains has had six pass completions for 143 yards and a per pass average of 23.8 yards.

SHELL MEETING SET HERE FRIDAY

A special meeting has been called for tomorrow (Friday) by some of the regional executives of Shell Oil Company.

Purpose of the meeting, a noon luncheon, at the club room here, is explanation of the waterflood project which Shell is currently undertaking in Gaines and Yoakum Counties.

Many objections, on the part of local citizens, businessmen and farmers, have been heard, because of the fact that Shell is planning to use and has already leased the rights on a large amount of fresh water of the Yoakum County supply.

Invited to the meeting are Yoakum County Commissioners, Plains Mayor Johnny Brown, Chamber of Commerce President Bob Long, Plains State Bank President Bill Loyd, G. W. Cleveland who will be representing Yoakum County Water Conservation Association, and Johnnie Moore, Editor of The Plains Record.

THE PLAINS COWBOYS---will try out their new, just-received gold uniforms this week as they travel to do battle with the Antelopes of Post in what has been selected by the Avalanche-Journal as the game of the week.

Tell Football Contest Winners

Odds-makers in this week's edition of the Record's football contest had a pretty rough time with their prognostications.

There were upsets all over the place last week and a few of the games listed were just plain hard to decide who might come out on top.

Most guessers missed from seven to 10 games, with two missing 12 games each.

Johnny James was first place winner with only four misses. (I think Jack Pierce owes him a cup of coffee too).

Second place winner was Jack Pierce with six misses.

Mike Mix copped third with six misses also. However, he missed the tie-breaker score by 17 points while Pierce missed it by 16.

Cordell Huddleston gets an honorable mention also for only missing six, but his tie-breaker guess was off 21 points.

Another interesting and very challenging roundup of contests is listed again this week on page four of this issue.

Try your luck with them.

Change Booster Meeting Place

It was announced today that the decision had been made by members of the Plains Booster Club to change their meeting place.

The club has been holding its weekly meeting in the school cafeteria.

Beginning this Tuesday night at 8 p. m., however, the meetings will be held in Alma's Restaurant.

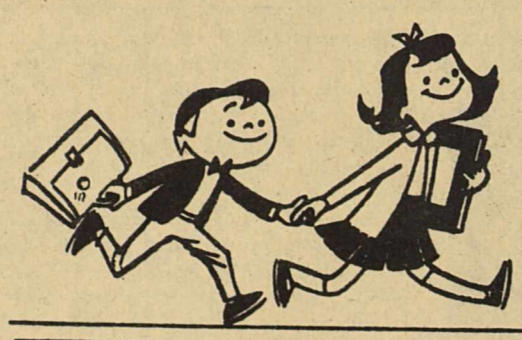

Anyone interested in seeing a film of the previous week's game, get a chance to talk the game over with other spectators and the coaches, and hear the scouting report on the following Friday's opponent, is welcome to attend the meetings.

Report Co. Bond Sales

Mr. D. P. Moorhead, Chairman of the Yoakum County Savings Bonds Committee, announced that the county's Aug. bond sales totaled $2,078. Sales for the first eight months of this year were $46,690 which represents 66.7 percent of the 1964 goal.

Total sales in Texas for the first eight months of the year were $100,643,333 or 67% of the state goal. Savings bond sales have increased approximately $900,000 compared to the same period in 1963.

KIDS EVERYWHERE!

GO SLOW... SCHOOL'S OPEN

LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS---have underscored the fact that a great many local people aren't paying too much attention to the school zones located here, especially as regards the school crosswalks. When school kids are out and the crosswalks are in use the speed limit is 20 miles per hour and all motorists must stop when approaching a crosswalk in which there is a person or one which is about to be entered.

Report Diverted Acres Land Released For Grazing

The local ASCS office has been advised that the Secretary of Agriculture has approved the request that the release date for razing diverted acres under the feed grain and wheat program be advanced to October 1, 1964.

The approval for grazing the diverted acres beginning on October 1 has been approved only for counties that have been designated as eligible for emergency grazing; as it is determined the shortage of forage in these counties is severe and such action will be helpful in maintaining present livestock herds.

Farmers with diverted land in other counties should check with the ASCS office there before grazing diverted land since only a few counties in this part of the state have been approved for the October 1 release date.

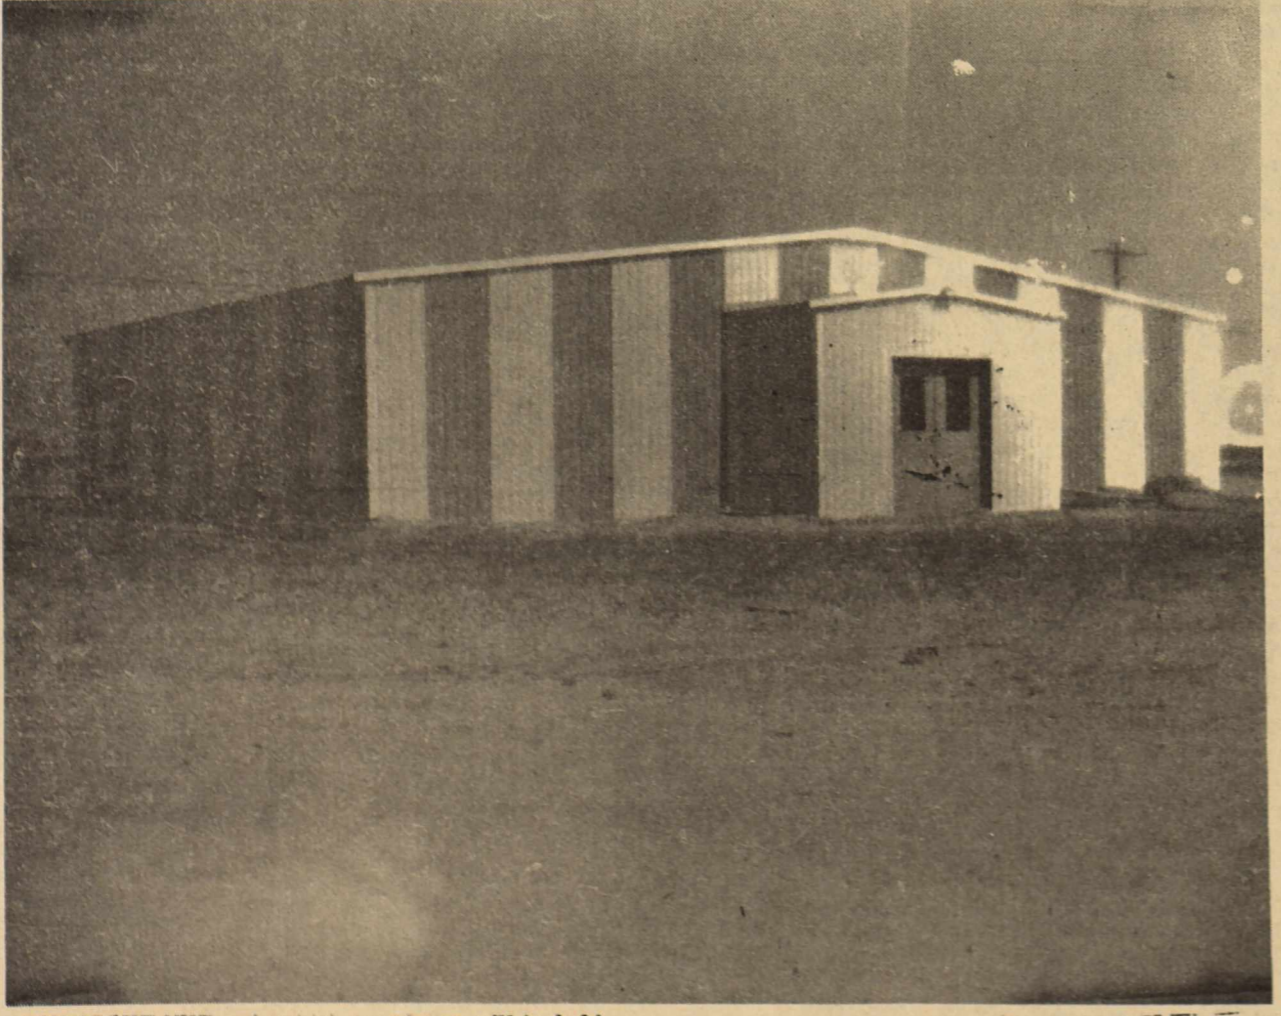

All farmers that have diverted land should keep in mind that it is their responsibility to properly care for the land so as to protect it from wind and water erosion and to keep the weeds under control so as not to damage the diverted or other land.

Payments are being made, however, this does not release the producer from the responsibility of properly caring for the diverted land.

The October 1st grazing approval does not include Soil Bank land; however, it may be grazed if application for grazing is requested and approval granted by the county ASCS Committee. In these cases a payment rate is approved and will be deducted from the Soil Bank payments due the producer.

BOY SCOUT HALL---in which open house will be held by Plains Boy Scout Troop 778 Monday night. The public is invited to the meeting which begins at 7 p. m. It also was noted that Plains Lions Club will, at a later date schedule a formal dedication service for the building.

Christians To Have Layman's Sunday Here

"Able to Stand" is the theme this year at the annual Layman Sunday observance at the First Christian Church here.

The special services, in which laymen of the church will take charge, are to be held this Sunday, October 4, at the regular worship hour, 11:15 a. m.

Three sermonettes will be given on the theme. The first one will be given by Mr. Doyle (Hoss) Newsom; the second by Mr. Roy Edwards, and the concluding one by the Pastor, Rev. Johnnie Moore.

Other laymen participating in the morning's program will be Dick McGinty, John Anderson, Bob Gross, Dickie Green, and Otho Clendenon.

All area citizens are invited to share in this worship service at First Christian.

Fire Department Reports On Truck

The City of Plains was, for a short period of time without very much fire protection one day last week.

The newest truck which the fire department here has had to be taken to Hobbs for some much-needed repair work, in exchange for it though, a truck was loaned to the city by the firm doing the repair work.

The truck that was loaned to Plains then quit and no fire-fighting equipment was available had a fire broken out.

After several hurried calls, though, a truck was loaned to the local fire department by the City of Seminole.

The Plains truck is back in use now and all is well. Delivery on the new $21,000 fire truck for Plains is expected to be made within the next 8 to 10 weeks.

A politician's worst nightmare would be to dream that the money he was spending was his own.
William (Bill) Timmons, author of "Twilight on the Range," was 14 when he met Charles Goodnight and went to work on the Goodnight Cross J Ranch shortly thereafter.
This narrative emphasizes the good men of the west or the men whose lives had influence on the lives of others.
This book was placed in the Library in memory of Henry Reck by Bert, Marianne and Peggy Woodridge.
"The Age of Fables," by Bulfinch, is not for the learned, nor the theologian, nor the professor, but for the reader of literature of either sex, who wish to comprehend the allusions so frequently made by public speakers, lecturers and poets and those which occur in polite conversation.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

Traffic fatalities increasing
A steadily-increasing highway death rate is bringing demands for corrective action.
The rate is up 14 per cent from last year. Total number of fatal accidents is up 13 per cent. There have been 1,860 fatalities this year, compared with 1,631 in 1963.

Parks program
J. Weidman Weston, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, says improvement at Lake Whitney, Falcon Dam and B State Parks have reached the point where he foresees complete improvement program before next summer.
Parks people said the first day of the dove season proved a definite success as hunters "generally" obeyed the law, and most hunters apparently got their limits since birds were plentiful.

Employment
The advent of cotton-picking in Texas offset the decline in the number of workers employed in vegetable, fruit and nut activities from mid-June, and the Texas Employment Commission reported that farm employment ran 46,300 workers by mid-June and total employment in the state rose for the seventh successive month to a total of 3,622,600—an increase of 2,100 from June and up 60,800 from July, 1963.
The Commission also stated that only 4.2 percent in July, 1963, and 4.4 percent in June, 1964.

Water Proposals
Another bid to capture flood waters of the Colorado River above the Highland Lakes has been submitted to the Texas Water Commission by the Menard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1.
Menard County W C and District No. 1 wants to study the possibility of a dam site on the SanSaba River four miles above Menard.

Mental Health planning
A year from the date when Gov. Connally asked interested citizens to develop a moderate, comprehensive program of mental health services for the State, a 112-member committee, headed by Judge C. L. Abernathy of Hale County, was ready to review its steering committee's hefty volume of "a nearly-complete working draft" of a new Texas Plan.
Central theme of the 298-page document is that of treating mentally ill persons in or near their home communities, rather than sending them off to a mental hospital far from home and isolating them from society.
State psychopathic hospitals still would be needed for many thousands of patients each year, but the community plan is designed to provide an emergency care formula for some patients who would not need to be institutionalized with early treatment, and for those discharged from mental hospitals who need a "half-way" house to help them back to normal living.
Committee's completed set of recommendations will go to Connally and to the 1965 Legislature for implementation action.

Independent oilmen seek relief
Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) says independent producers are in "deep trouble," and the organization's executive vice president has recommended a program of state and federal government action to help them.
W. Earl Turner says the oil industry is suffering from "a grave monopoly trend." He believes the trend is partially due to imports, sharp competition in marketing, and failure of prorating states (including Texas) to get their share of U.S. production.

Short snorts
Personal incomes of Texans gained 5.2 percent to a total of $11 billion during the first half of 1964. A total of 326 new lawyers will be sworn in Sept. 21.
Allan Shivers will be master of ceremonies at a banquet Oct. 16, where Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will be honored as a distinguished graduate of the University of Texas.
A defendant can be assessed only one jury fee, though his case is retried, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr told Navarro County Atty. Jimmy Morris in an opinion.
Texas Water Commission is engaged in budget discussions aimed at stretching available funds to cover work on a state water plan.
Liquor Control Board reports collections totaling $41,115 resulting from 809 convictions and 22 jail terms for liquor-law violations during July.
Commissioner John C. White is visiting trade fairs in Turkey and Yugoslavia as a representative of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Parole supervision helps
Fewer boys are being sent back to the State Training School due to better parole supervision, Youth Council Director James Turman reports.
Rate of return has dropped to 26 per cent, lowest in history, Turman told the Council. He calculated the dollar saving for the last year at $217,000.

Buses argue for rate boost
National Bus Traffic Association, representing some 31 Texas bus lines told a State Railroad Commission examiner that operating costs justify a 10 per cent rate increase for most types of interstate service.
Rates requested would apply to passengers, charter and express service.

Pollution board challenged
State attorneys claim district court has no jurisdiction over the Texas Water Pollution Control Board in an oil company's suit challenging the agency's authority to regulate disposal of oil field brines and waste.
Superior Oil Company sued the board in 53rd district court here, claiming the Railroad Commission is the proper agency to regulate oil field brines and waste disposal. District Judge Herman Jones agreed to consider the suit questioning board jurisdiction.
The state moved for dismissal, claiming such an action could be brought only with legislative permission.

Meat cutter in Oklahoma City lost his job when a meat-packing plant shut down and dismissed several hundred employees.
A waitress in St. Louis had to quit her job because she couldn't earn enough to support her family.
An elevator operator in Los Angeles found himself without work when his job was "automated."
They are typical of hundreds of thousands of Americans who are unemployed because their jobs have been taken over by a machine, or their employer has moved his plant to another city, or the demands of modern technology called for new skills.
Thanks to legislation pushed by the Kennedy-Johnson administrations, these people can now be retrained to take on new jobs. They can be sure of earning a decent living for themselves and their families. They can earn allowances while in training. They are equipped with skills for which there is a market in today's world.
All of this has been made possible by the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962. Under this legislation, the Oklahoma City meat cutter has learned a new trade as a sheet metal worker, the St. Louis waitress has become a practical nurse, and the elevator man has been trained to operate a tractor on a Los Angeles farm.
President Johnson recently signed amendments to the man-power training law to enable some 93,000 young people of 17 and 18 years of age to benefit. They account for 16 percent of our unemployment. Before that the age requirement began at 19.
The new legislation not only reduces the eligibility age but opens the retraining program to those who earlier couldn't make the grade because they lacked sufficient knowledge of the three R's. President Johnson put it this way:
"We are making it possible for those who lack sufficient education to take advantage of the SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT"

Urban Sprawl Has Led To Commuter Crawl
By U.S. Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.)
Speaker of the House of Representatives
The urban sprawl has produced the commuter's crawl. With seven out of every ten persons now living in urban areas, this Nation has been rapidly blocking itself into a state of virtual immobilization. Very few metropolitan areas have anything approaching adequate transportation facilities—whether it is streets or highways, buses or subways.
Today, millions of working people spend from one to two hours every day getting to and from work—agonizing, frustrating, costly hours. If a person could cut even a half-hour off from his daily transportation time, this would be the equivalent of a three-week vacation in one year's time.
Today, the problem is serious. Tomorrow the problem can be appalling. Today, we have 192 million people. By 1980, we shall have more than 250 million people. By the year 2000, just 36 years from now, we shall have more than 350 million people—twice as many as we had in 1960.
And more than 75 percent of these people will be living in urban areas.
Public and private indifference has aggravated the problem.
In the last ten years, use of public transportation declined about 40 percent. More than 200 rail and bus lines were abandoned—many of the remaining ones are deteriorating fast. Increased use of cars has produced unimaginable congestion of streets and highways with the added residual dangers of smog and air pollution.
During the Eisenhower-Republican years, Democrats pushed and supported mass transit legislation. Efforts were made to educate the rural areas which are unaware of the problem and to enlist their support.
Finally, after these many years of effort, the Johnson Administration and a Democratic 88th Congress passed the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964. As President Johnson said when he signed the bill into law on July 9, "This is, by any standard, one of the most profoundly significant domestic measures to be enacted by Congress during the 1960's."

State Requests C Of C Brochures
Highway Department of the State of Texas this week requested that 30 descriptive brochures of Plains and Yoakum County be sent to them so that they might fill requests for same that are made to them.
Acting secretary, Pete St. Roman forwarded he folders.

Manpower Training and Development Act
To obtain the basic education that is essential to undertaking and profiting from occupational training.

So it is that school dropouts, among others, are being turned into automobile mechanics, electrical appliance repairmen, clerks, and stenographers. With their new skills they can pull their weight in a labor force which needs to keep pace with new industrial and technical patterns. What is important is that the manpower Act specifically seeks to prepare unemployed workers to fill jobs for which there are a known demand and known vacancies.

A 3-year goal to train and place 400,000 unemployed workers in new jobs is making heartening headway. Experts estimate that the annual income of each newly trained worker will increase by an average of $1,300. Each man and woman trained and placed in a new job means one more name lopped off the unemployment or relief rolls.

More important, the new wage-earners can hold up their heads in their neighborhoods. They have new hope and new purpose.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
ELECTION AND ELSE

IF YOU were to ask me if I would vote Democratic in the coming national election, I would imitate a certain Englishman who was asked if he would vote for a certain candidate and he replied "I will." Whereupon there was great applause from the candidate's followers. But the speaker continued, "Not." Whereupon there was great applause from the other side. But the speaker was not yet done. "tell you," he concluded. He thus won applause from both sides and told them nothing.
So if you were to ask me if I would vote Democratic in the coming national election, I would reply, I will not tell you. And now, that I have exercised the right of privacy in my voting, I would call your attention to a more important matter for your decision.
It is the answer to a question asked a long time ago — Jesus asked, "What think ye of Christ?" Regardless of the circumstances under which the question was asked, here is a query that stands alone — "What think ye of Christ?" Unlike our usual elections, the answer to this question does not decide the issue for the person whose name is up, but it decides the eternal destiny of the man who votes.

HD Clubs Having Exchange Meets

The various Home Demonstration Clubs of Yoakum Co. have, in the past week, been participating in inter-club exchange with one club hosting another. At each of these exchange meetings, the host club has been serving a luncheon made up of foods from foreign countries.

On Tuesday of this week, the Staneline Club played host to the Stanford Valley club in the home of Mrs. Leon Thompson.

Italian food was on the menu for that meeting. For lunch, the Staneline Club served:

Chicken Italiane', Italian Potato Salad, Tuna and Tomato Salad, Tossed Salad with Anchovie Dressing, Italian Bread, and Bics Tortoni, and iced tea.

For the program Mrs. Margaret Box gave a brief history of Italy and the ladies played some games relating to Italy.

Then on Wednesday, Turner Club hosted the Denver City Club in the club room in Plains. Menu for the day was built around Swedish foods. It consisted of:

Stuffed peppers, Swedish meat balls, scalloped potatoes, vegetable and relish plates, cheese arrangement, fruit soup, Limpa, coffee and tea.

Mrs. Amos Smith gave the history of Sweden in a very brief form. Mrs. Gus Malmstern, a special guest at the meeting, then conducted a question and answer period about Sweden.

Enjoying an Italian Luncheon are members of the Stanford Valley and State Line Home Demonstration Clubs.

Household Hints

BY JOAN MARCH WORDEN
Director, Pine Cleaner Information Center.

Working wife? There are more than 15 million of us. "Going to work" plus keeping house really equals two full-time jobs—but if you apply business practices to your household operation, you can short-cut your at-home worktime without short-changing your family. Here are five thought-starters for becoming an "organization woman" in your own home:

1. Memo-ize. Write memos, keep continuing lists for the grocery store, drug, department stores and milkman, then when you're ready to order you'll have the week's needs all in one place. If you can never find a pencil and pad try one of the magnetic combinations which includes a pencil on a chain and tack it up near the telephone.
2. Put your telephone to work for you. First, tape a small file card with most-called numbers near each phone. You'll save time and energy if you buy your groceries, household supplies and whatever else you can sit down with telephone in hand. When shopping for groceries stock up on staples and you won't have to shop as often.
3. Install a bulletin board in your kitchen area. If you don't have a special place for a board, use the side of the refrigerator. You can attach notes and lists to it with miniature clothespin magnets. Good place for appointments, family job assignments and shopping lists, too!
4. Keep all appliance instructions and information in one place even if it's a brown envelope in the kitchen drawer. That way you'll be able to spot minor repair needs as they occur, and also refresh yourself from time to time on caring for your equipment. This cuts down on service calls and on the frustration of inactive household machinery.

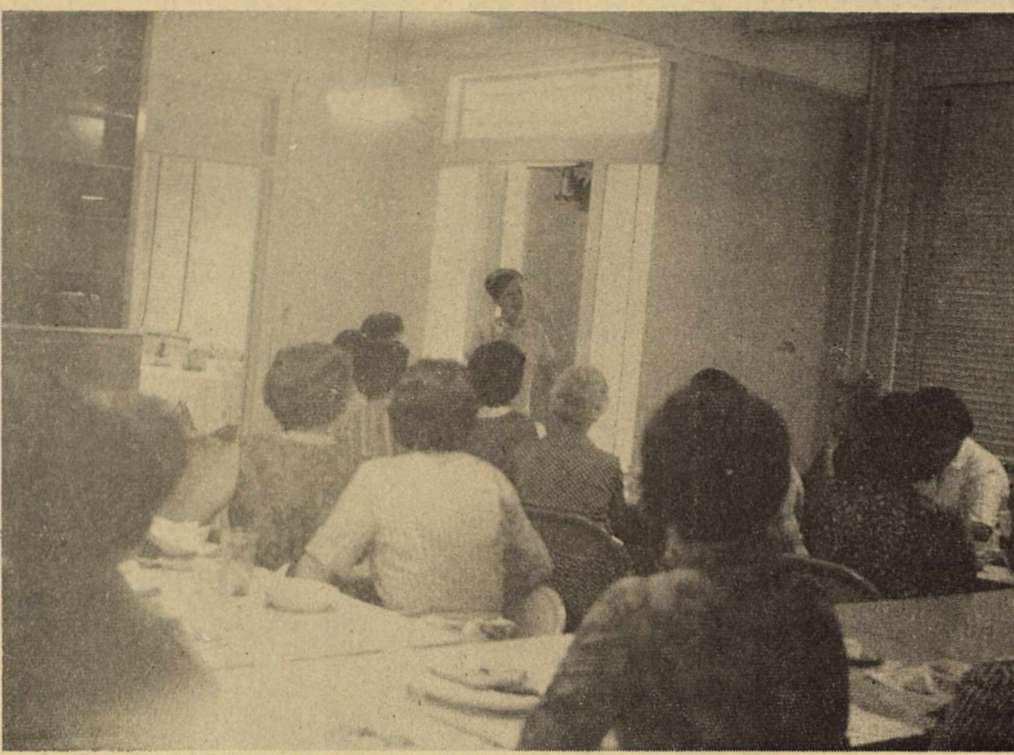

Another tip: Make a list of errands and services and write it on the outside of the envelope.

5. Organize your cleaning products to save steps. Put small items in a portable tote of some kind and include versatile products—one product that will do the work of two or three means less work for you. For example, a high-concentration pine oil cleaner will clean, disinfect and deodorize all in one operation. You can use this triple-duty product in every room of your house—even in the laundry room—as an addition to the wash water to cut down germs present in every family's wash.

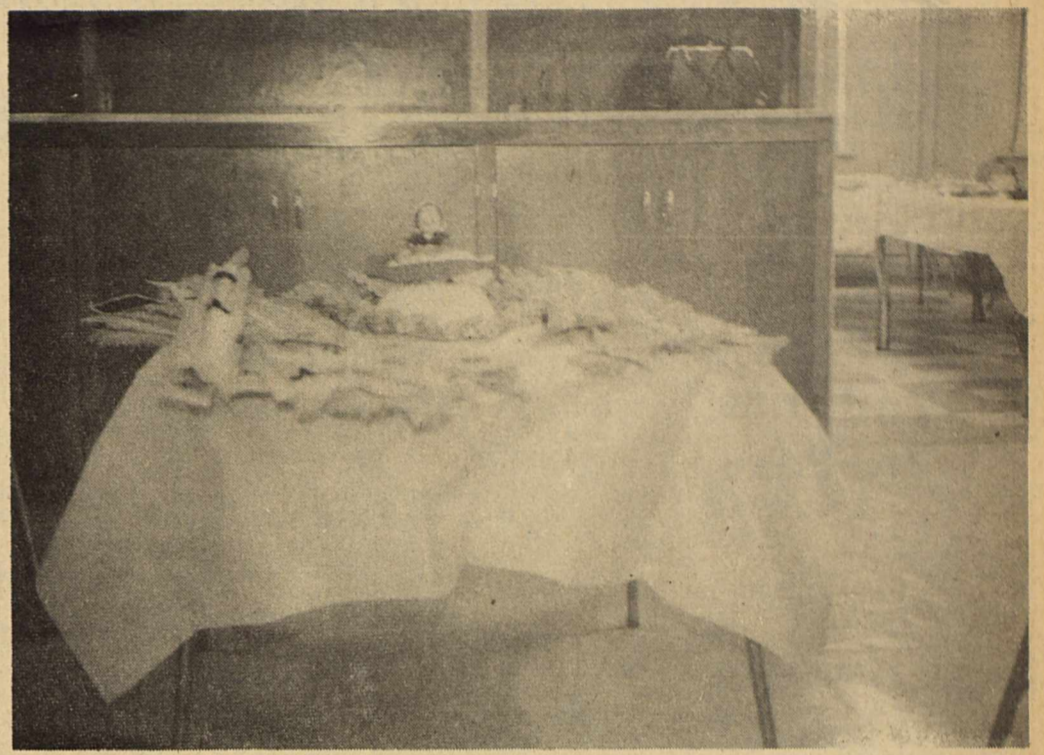

All these tips will help short-cut the working gal's homemaking time and at the same time streamline housekeeping for the at-home homemakers.

More ideas in a later column.

Special guest at the Turner-Denver City Home Demonstration Club Exchange Meeting was Blanche Malmstern who answered questions of interest about Swedish customs.

As a centerpiece for the table at the Turner-Denver City Exchange Luncheon a Swedish doll was used with blue and yellow flowers to represent the Sweden colors.

Kittens to Cats

by H. JACK MIDDLETON, Purina Cat Care Center

The Expectant Cat

Motherhood comes naturally to cats. You needn't do much to help them, but a few precautions make an expectant cat's job easier.

About a week before kittens are due, Mama cat is likely to search for a suitable place to have her kittens. To simplify her search, take a box, line it with a clean old towel, and place it in a warm, dark, quiet corner of the house.

Next, bring the cat to the box, place her in it and pet her reassuringly. She may welcome this "maternity ward,"—but don't be surprised if she decides that another spot is more to her liking. Cats can be extremely independent about these matters.

The Purina Cat Care Center recommends leaving a cat alone for a few hours after she has given birth. Her box may be a trifle soiled but don't let this bother you, this is normal.

After about three days, however, your efforts to aid in house-cleaning will be welcomed by the new mother—and she'll do her part by washing the kittens and disposing of any mess they make. New kittens should remain in semi-darkness for about 2 weeks because light can hurt their eyes.

For the first week or two, bring your pet's food to the box. Mother cat is busy with her offspring, and your attention will save her trouble and enable her to spend more time bringing up her children.

DiETING Do's and Dont's

Trying to lose weight? Here's a list of simple do's and don'ts for every daily dieter.

1. DO eat protein. It speeds up weight loss. Highest in protein are milk, eggs, fish, poultry, veal, lean beef and lamb, and cottage, pot and farmer cheese.
2. DO eat frequent small meals. A number of small meals are better than fewer large ones.
3. DON'T eat quickly. The slower you eat the less you'll eat.
4. DO eat Aids. The special low-calorie caramel candy-like appetite depressant containing vitamins and minerals to combat excessive hunger pangs. They satisfy and control your appetite without adding weight.
5. DO exercise regularly. Doctors say the main cause for overweight is too much food coupled with too little exercise. Walking is one of the easiest and best ways of exercising.
6. DO control your weight in early adult life. It's safer and easier than trying to reduce later on.
7. DON'T skip breakfast. It should supply about a fourth of the day's food requirements. And an adequate breakfast helps prevent overeating at lunch-time.

Farmers Able To Harvest Crops Up To 20% Faster In 1964

Fields faster has been available, but farmers have had to throttle down because grain loss climbed sharply as ground speed was increased. If farmers wanted to harvest their crops faster, they had to invest in bigger model combines.

With the new cell-type grate, farmers will be able to move at faster ground speeds without suffering higher grain losses. The harvesting capacity of every size of combine—from the smallest pull-type drawn by a tractor to the largest self-propelled—will be stepped up as much as 20 per cent.

The grate, like most inventions, is relatively simple. But its development required intensive studies of the functioning of a combine.

As a combine gathers crops, it feeds them between a threshing cylinder and a grate, called a concave because of its shape. This separates up to 90 per cent of the grain from the straw and husks. The remaining grain slides with the straw across flexible rolls, called finger extensions, or so "raw walkers." As the straw is "walked" out of the combine, the action is designed to separate the remaining grain.

Through extensive tests of each of these sections, John Deere engineers found that as the ground speed of the combine was increased, the straw moved across the walkers faster and more grain was lost.

They concluded the easiest solution was to separate more of the grain before it reached the straw walker area. They replaced the flexible finger extensions with a rigid cell-type grate. Now as the straw passes under a heater onto the straw walkers, the grain hits cross bars in the grate and is deflected downward and is saved.

Less grain now reaches the straw walker area, and it is possible to step up ground speeds without suffering higher grain loss.

This cell-type separating grate in 1964 Combines will help farmers harvest up to 20% faster.

A major engineering breakthrough in the design of combines will make it possible for a farmer to step up his harvesting capacity as much as 20 per cent in 1964 without buying a bigger model combine.

Engineers at the John Deere Harvester Works in East Moline, after years of intensive research, have developed a cell-type separating grate which solves a problem that has plagued harvesting operations since the advent of power farming. The power to move through

Letter To The Editor

Plains, Texas
Sept. 30, 1964

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,

The civic clubs, local organizations and the school administration have always reserved Wednesday night for those who wish to worship on that night.

Evidently the school teachers of our schools have not been informed or do not care why Wednesday night is left open.

Of the 50 families contacted 48 said the teachers of their child or children always gave more homework on Wednesday than any other day. And teachers have made the remark to their students that there is nothing going on that night, therefore, they should have plenty of time.

If the teachers of our schools are going to keep us and our children at home on Wednesday nights, and eventually close the doors of our Churches, why not allow the civic clubs and others to use that night too.

A Confused Patron

P. S. Surely some non-church going teacher can reply with an educated answer.

Cover crops continue to be the number one thing going on in the way of conservation in the Yoakum SCD.

Many local farmers and ranchers are planting or getting ready to plant small grain for cover crops and also possibly for some grazing this winter and spring.

Mr. W. F. Upton is real pleased with his cover crops and he is assured of a cover during the critical white erosion period. J. P. White, Jr. is in the process of planting 200 acres of wheat and rye on his land west of Plains. He also is going to plant about 200 acres of cover on the J. P. White, Sr. land, which he operates.

Wallace Randolph is still planting rye as a cover on some of his land.

Foye Powell has cover crops up and doing good.

Bill Gray was in looking for rye to drill for cover.

J. B. Ashburn has just finished planting small grain for cover and soil improvement.

Many others have planted or will be planting small grain this week and the one following.

Now is the time to rest your irrigated pasture in order to get some growth before frost and to insure plenty of residue for erosion control, and also so the grass will be in good condition starting next spring.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON REPORT

U.S. Farm Exports Now Six Billion Dollars

By U.S. Rep. Carl Albert (D.-Okla.)
House Majority Leader

Largely unnoticed by most people is one of the most significant developments in American agriculture. And it has all happened since 1961. It is the spectacular expansion of farm exports.

Not many people realize that today agriculture leads all other American industries in total exports—more than $6 billion during fiscal year 1960, ending June 30.

This new peak represents an expansion in U.S. agricultural exports of 20 percent in a single year and it represents an expansion of 35 percent above the level four years ago when this Administration took office.

In terms of the individual farm family, one out of every five acres of cropland production now goes into the export market.

Commenting on the new export record, President Johnson said:

"Once again American agriculture has demonstrated its ability to succeed in highly competitive world markets.

"The trade surplus in agriculture last year (commercial exports versus competitive imports) was over $2 billion, the highest in 50 years. This represents a substantial contribution to the plus side of our balance-of-payments ledger."

The increase in trade surplus in agriculture is 300 percent over that of 1960.

The year's agricultural export total of $6,076 million was comprised of $4,494 million in dollar sale commercial exports, plus $1,582 million in Food for Peace shipments to less-developed countries. Practically all of the $1 billion gain occurred in dollar sales.

The biggest export gain in FY 1964 was in cotton, up 36 percent. Next, animals and animal products (meat, meat products, poultry, dairy products, lard, tallow, hides and skins, etc.), up 28 percent. Third largest increase in a commodity group was grains, up 23 percent.

New export records were set for many individual commodities, including feed grains, soybeans, rice, wheat, tallow, non-fat dry milk, variety meats, dry edible beans, and hides and skins.

Exporting of U.S. farm products has become big business. It provides jobs and income not only for the 1.6 million commercial farmers who produce 90 percent of U.S. agricultural output but also for the hundreds of thousands of business organizations and workers in the "agri-business" area who process, transport, finance, and sell the products that go abroad. Practically every community in America feels the favorable impact of this successful export operation.

John Payne, Lisa Kirk and Laurence Naismith head the Broadway cast of "Here's Love," coming to Dallas as the State Fair show at the Music Hall for 24 performances, Oct. 9-25. This delightful musical of Meredith Willson's is based on the movie, "Miracle on 34th Street," in which John Payne also starred. It is a heart-warming story about the reality of Santa Claus, with Laurence Naismith playing the Kris Kringle role he created on Broadway.
